Earl, Chet and Carl Smith, all of this city, are spending their Christmas vacations with their sisters, Mrs. W. V. Imel and Mrs. S. V. Perry at Jackson, Mich.

Mrs. Benj. Brown and son, Floyd, motored to Mancelona, Tuesday to visit relatives. Miss Marguerite Brown, who had been spending Christmas there, returned home with them.

Mrs. Archie Alcox was taken to Grand Rapids, Tuesday for medical attention. She was accompanied by her son, Harry, and Mrs. Chas. Jefferies. Charlevoix friends hope for her speedy recovery.

Charlevoix county's rotary snow plow, furnished by the state highway department for the section of M-11 between Bay Shore and Enstport, arrived last week and is being held in readiness for the first heavy snow storm.

Fine catches of Mackinaw trout are being made in South Arm near Ironton, according to local men who have tried their luck at this sport. Also the small village of shanties on Round Lake is being added to daily and some good perch catches have been reported.

Monarch Brand Goods

In choosing your daily table supplies, it is of the utmost importance that they be fresh, for upon this depends their worth and tastiness.

MONARCH BRAND GOODS ARE ALWAYS FRESH

No matter whether in canned goods or coffees or teas, they will always be fresh and wholesome. This is one of the reasons why we carry a full line of Monarch Goods.

Milton Block

MACKINAW TRAIL WILL BE REROUTED

Six Miles to Be Cut From Distance Between Tustin and Cadillac

The Mackinaw trail is to be straightened between Tustin and Cadillac, according to a recent announcement from the state highway department. As traffic now is running between these two points, west from Tustin and north and the east around the Cadillac lakes, the distance is 17 miles. The new route, cutting off a mile south and three-quarters east from Tustin runs due north into Cadillac, a distance of only 11 miles. This project likely will not be completed before 1928, the field work just being completed. Bids probably will be advertised for and contracts awarded next year.

The survey revealed the original line of the Pennsylvania was laid through this valley, but was abandoned because of the heavy grades at this end. An easy grade all the way will be maintained except at the outskirts of the city.

Farmers along the proposed route six miles south of here are objecting because it crosses their farms, they maintaining the highway should follow section lines. A petition to this effect now is being circulated among the farmers.

MORE ABOUT THE NECKTIE GAME

(Continued from page one.)

unordered merchandise by mail. The Better Business Bureau regards this particular method of merchandising as a nuisance to the public as well as an unfair method of competition to legitimate business. We believe a test will convince you that the average lot of merchandise sent through the mail will not appraise as high in value as similar merchandise purchased from your local stores.

AUTOMOBILE LICENSE BUREAU AT BOYNE

Eastern City Selected as County's Distribution Point

Charlevoix automobile and truck owners as well as all others in the county will the coming year obtain their auto licenses at Boyne City, which has be designated by the secretary of state as the county's distribution point.

Chas. T. McCutcheon, secretary of the Boyne City Chamber of Commerce, has been named branch manager, and his office will be located in the Chamber of Commerce office at the rear of the First National Bank building on Park street.

To accommodate auto owners in this territory, Geo. A. Roderick, county clerk, will receive applications for forwarding to the Boyne City branch office.

The office has been located in Charlevoix, at the county clerk's office, for a number of years, but this year, for some reason or other, the change was made. On page two of this issue further information concerning the situation is explained in an advertisement.

GREETINGS FROM GREENACRE CITY, FLA.

Southern City Now Crowded With Tourists

The Courier has received the following letter from Essie G. Hansen, postmistress at Greenacre City, Florida, who extends greetings to both the Courier and Charlevoix friends. The letter follows:

Greenacre City, Fla., Dec. 23.

To the Editor:

I wish to extend to you my heartiest and best wishes and success to you and my home paper. I watch for it eagerly each week like a visitor from home.

Our season here in the "Palm Beaches" is in full swing and the lovely flowers and sunshine are being enjoyed by winter visitors. Greenacre City is a year old, just outside of West Palm Beach. We already have nearly 2,000 people, six stores and a full fledged postoffice. Any of our northern friends who come here will make a good choice. We have 16 families from Michigan.

Again wishing you a Merry Christmas and a Happy New Year, I remain, Essie G. Hansen.

* * * * * * * * * *
* CONGREGATIONAL CHURCH *
* B. G. Mattson, D. D., Minister *
* * * * * * * * * *

Special services for New Year's Sunday are announced as follows:

10:30 o'clock, morning worship with the sermon on the theme "How to Make the New Year, Anno Domini, The Year of Our Lord; 1927." This service should call all members of the church and all who are in any way affiliated with this church to signalize their sincere interest in keeping the christian religion alive in the world by attending this New Year service.

At 4:15 there will be a musical vesper service at which the choir assisted by other local singers and by a group of musicians from Petoskey will render the Christmas cantata, "The Holy Night," by E. L. Ashford. A hearty invitation is extended to the public generally to be present and enjoy this inspiring musical service.

The services of Christmas observance last Sunday and the Christmas program for the Sunday school, December 24, were largely attended and very enjoyable. The pageant, "The Night of the Star" Sunday afternoon being especially praised for its reverent and artistic impression.

The pastor expects to hold service at Ironton, promply at 2:30 p. m.

The C. E. meeting at 6 p. m. will be led by Miss Virginia Parker.

Christian Science Society
Sunday service 10:45 a. m.
Subject: "God."
Sunday school at 12 o'clock.
Wednesday evening service 7:45.
Reading room open Tuesday and Saturday, 3 to 5 p. m.
The public is cordially invited to attend our service.

Overcoats, Sheepskin Coats, Mackinaws and Sweaters at Cost price Benj. Brown.—Adv. 43tf.

COURIER BARGAIN COLUMN.

Courier Want Advs. are One Cent per word per insertion. Minimum charge is 20 cents per insertion, for anything under 20 words. All Want Advs. are strictly cash in advance except to those who have ledger accounts. Please remember this when sending in your copy.

WANTED—MISCELLANEOUS

WANTED—Old horses at Scar Fox Farm. 44tf

WANTED—Old False Teeth. We pay as high as $10 for full sets. Don't matter if broken. Gold jewelery, crowns, bridges. Western Metal Co., Bloomington, Ill. —5112pd.

1905 1926

Unlocking the New Year's Opportunities

Money in the bank is the key that opens the door to opportunity. Start banking a definite part of your earnings this pay-day, keep right at it, and 1927 will find you prepared both for opportunity and fortified against adversity. A dollar will start you, and the interest we pay, 4 per cent will help you along.

Charlevoix State Savings Bank

CHARLEVOIX, MICHIGAN

W. S. Richardson, President.
A. D. Crimmins, Vice President.
Archie Livingston, Cashier.
G. W. Richardson, Asst. Cashier

NEW PALACE THEATRE

ATTRACTIONS FOR THE COMING WEEK

Saturday and Sunday, January 1 and 2

"Fascinating Youth," a Paramount picture with the Junior Stars of 1926. You have them here, budding artist, each one on the threshold of fame, in a zippy, up-to-the-minute comedy-romance. Bewitching maidens in gorgeous costumes, skiing, tobogganing and a nerve tingling ice-boat race. Want to get into the movies? Want to see how those girls and boys who did get in through the Paramount School can look and act? Want to see some new faces—then don't miss this one.

Also a Fox Comedy, "Mad Racer."

Wednesday and Thursday, January 5 and 6

"Joanna." She's got a million in looks and a million in cash, and she wants to spend it, and get the biggest kick out of it, and she does.. And her big kick is your big thrill because Joanna sure can step, and when she does, don't miss it. With Dorothy Machaill and Jack Mulhall.

Also Fox News and "Felix The Cat."

Preserve Your Health

By keeping your Home warm with our famous

BLUE JACKET COAL

Buy your coal by the size of your ash pile—Blue Jacket—is low in ash, high in heat. It pays—Try it.

Argo Milling Company

Why Not Send Flowers

Whether its around the corner or around the world. We will deliver or wire for you fresh, fragrant Flowers or a beautiful growing Plant. Say Merry Christmas with flowers this year.

In cut flowers we have Roses, Carnations, Lillies, Poinsettias Paper white Narcissus Plant. Cyclamen, Poinsettias, Begonias, Geraniums.

On sale at the Sugar Bowl

Albert E. Edwards, Florist

Member Florists' Telegraph Delivery Association

Phone 374 Charlevoix, Mich.

Washes more clothes per hour than any other in the world No exceptions!

MEADOWASHING! A revelation! I feel confident that I couldn't wash clothes safer by hand... the Bakelite impeller and Udylite tub are as finely finished as table silver. White collars and cuffs come out clean..... No hand rubbing!

DO A WEEK'S WASH FREE.
Know the advantages of a tub that's 2 gallons bigger! Of the smooth glossy Bakelite impeller that won't wear rough in 100 years.... that impells the greatest water action ever seen in a washing machine.

You can't know what your money will buy until you've seen the Meadows.

NO MONEY DOWN
Wash with the Meadows this week FREE. Absolutely no charge. If you decide to keep it, a nominal down payment to cover delivery charges

Meadows

WOOD BROTHERS

Our Every Day Prices

Minnesota Best Flour	$1.35
Macaroni	35c
3 Sunbrig..	25c
1 large box Pride Washing Powder	20c
7 lbs. Cottosuet	$1.00
3 cans Pork and Beans	25c
2 cans Sweet Corn	25c
2 cans Tomatoes	25c
Cornflakes per pkg.	10c
3 cans Oil Sardines	25c
1 pkg. Lighthouse Jello	10c

Otto Smith Grocery

106 E. Lincoln Ave.

ALANSON TEACHER SAVES MANY LIVES

Heroine of Barely Averted Disaster From Flames.

What might have proved to be a very disastrous fire in Alanson, last Wednesday evening, was luckily averted by quick action on the part of Miss Joy Brockway, who gave the alarm and the ready response of a bunch of good neighbors who, in a few minutes extinguished the fire says the Harbor Springs Graphic. The night was most favorable for a conflagration, as the pervailing terrific blizzard was at the height of its fury.

Miss Brockway is one of the very efficient tenchers in the Littlefield township rural agricultural school there and makes her home with Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Coors. She and Mrs. Coors were busily engaged with their work in the room and Mr. Coors was out in the well-house, trying to thaw out the pump when the ladies discovered the fire breaking out above the stovepipe where it entered the chimney. Instantly, they were on their feet and, a few moments later, Miss Brockway hnd dexterously made a run through the accumulating drifts nnd blinding snow storm to the bell tower, over a block away, where with great difficulty she seized the rope and, vigorously tugging away on it, compelled the voice of the bell to call help and give warning to an unsuspecting populnce of impending danger.

BUILT UNDER THE COVERT ACT

(Continued from Page One)

tal of 25,000 cubic yards. The Petoskey cement plant will send 40,000 barrels of cement to the job. The road's total cost will be approximately a half million dollars.

For a distance of three miles the road will go through the Muskegon State Park, and one mile will be through the Muskegon County Park. Individual owners along the road total 48, each bearing his share of the cost according to the amount of his land benefited by the highway. The Covert Act deals with the state and county exactly as with an individual, so each joined in the petition and must share the cost. The payments are to be distributed over a period of 30 years.

The idea to build this great development project has been stirring in the minds of Muskegon county's board of supervisors for ten years or more. They had calculated every phase of the enterprise carefully. From the beginning, these hardheaded men have seen clearly the great promotion value of such a road to their county's shoreline. But they have not jumped to any hasty conclusions nor indulged any wild theories. They have seen how, at Spring Lake and Grand Haven nearby, the Covert Act enabled property owners to profit by increased real estnte values, how even the skeptics were there converted by sheer force of increased demand for their lnnds.

Of course we have no mountainous lands to exploit here in Charlevoix county; but we have Lake Charlevoix, and we have talked for many years of building a concrete road around it. Perhaps we are getting closer to the goal on that idea, when we have the example of other communities who have tackled similar jobs and put them over for the sume end.

METHODIST CHURCH
C. E. Pollock, Minister

"Happy New Year."

Watch night services Friday evening, beginning at 8:30 p. m., with a great inspirational preaching service, following at 9:30 with a fine musical and literary program followed in turn at 10:30 by an hour of recreation and refreshments. At 11:30 p. m., holy communion under the lighted cross. At 12:00 morning Hnppy New Years will be in order. This is an annual event in Methodism and the public is cordially invited to "Watch the old year out and the new year in." Something doing every minute, and the joy of the church nround it all.

Sermons next Sunday "The Greatest Migrant," 10:30 a. m.; "Facing Forward," 7:30 p. m.

Moving pictures for about forty minutes will feature the Sunday evening service next Sunday evening at seven o'clock. Great educational films, "How the other fellow lives and what he sees," will be used. This will be an evening of unusual educational interest and inspiration. The public is cordially invited to enjoy this evening of worship and enlarged vision. A free will silver offering is expected to care for all the expenses.

Sunday school at twelve. The lesson next Sunday, "A follower of Jesus." Watch our school grow by helping it to grow.

The men will meet next Monday evening at seven for supper and program. These are great Monday evenings for men.

The home talent people are making great plans for January 11. Keep the date in mind.

BAPTIST CHURCH

Santa came in generous mood and left a gracious amount of good-will. The Christmas program was greatly enjoyed by a large audience and when Snntn left the children gave him a hearty invitation to come again, next yenr.

Now we enn settle down to some of the sterner things of life. It is not all a play-day, for

"Life is real, life is earnest
And the grave is not its goal
Dust thou nrt, to dust returnest.
Was not spoken of the soul."

Sundny morning the sermon theme will be "The Price of Life" and in the evening the service will be informal. The Bible school will meet at noon, and begin a series of "Studies in the Christinn Life."

The school hns been mnking fine growth and should continue until our rooms nre filled. Many parents seem to fail to see their duty to their children in this particulnr. They owe them this as much ns they do the public week-dny school and should sense the obligation.

Our services have been greatly enriched by the Kirby family contribution to the music. Come and hear them.

For all the news, read the Courier.

Charlevoix Hardware Co.

Happy New Year

After the festivities of the Holidays come the long, quiet evenings of winter. Why not make them the happiest and most worth while of the year?

RADIO WILL DO IT

Tune in and you are practically anywhere you want to be, from coast to coast, from the Gulf to Canada, East and West. You are out in the great, wonderful world among its people.

THE BEST OF EVERYTHING AT THE TOUCH OF YOUR HAND
THE UNEXCELLED ARE HERE FOR YOUR SELECTION

Radiolas have no equal. Not only in musical reproduction do they excel, they are twenty times as selective as the ordinary set. In short, a RADIOLA 20, (with antenna), or a 25 SUPER with a Model 100 LOUD SPEAKER WILL ABSOLUTELY SATISFY. There is no better.

The KOLSTER is unaproachable for POWER. A small mechanism gives them what the makers call "three speeds." Low gear, second and high, and they work just that way.

The Kolster is in a Class By Itself

The following are exceptional bargains:

One Freshman Console, new $98.00
complete except Storage Battery

One Day-Fan Console, new $115.00
complete except Storage Battery

One Day-Fan, Table Model $75.00
complete except Storage Battery

All last has been used but in perfect condition.

These are last Spring's models and some one is going to get a big Bargain.

Radiotrons--Radio Parts--Batteries--Always Fresh

CHARLEVOIX HARDWARE CO.

NORTHERN MICHIGAN'S FINEST STORE
Three Big Departments - HARDWARE - FURNITURE - ELECTRICAL

CONDITION OF MICHIGAN CROPS

WINTER WHEAT REPORTED IN GOOD SHAPE

Twenty-four Per Cent of Bean Acreage Not Harvested—Heavy Losses to Farmers

The acreage of winter wheat sown last full was nine per cent less than than seeded in the fall of 1925. While farmers intended a small increase, the continous rainy weather kept the ground in very wet condition and also prevented the removal of beans and other crops from ground intended for wheat. As a result, 958,000 acres were sown as compared with 1,053,000 in the previous year, according to the December 1 estitmate published by L. Whitney Watkins, commissioner of agriculture and Verne H. Crurch, U. S. Agriculture statistician for Michigan. The acreage thnt was sown made a fine growth aad went into winter in very good condition. However, much was sown late and this portion made but little root or top growth. The crop as a whole shows a condition of 88 per cent, one per cent below the ten-year acreage and seven per cent better than one year ago.

Rye: Michigan growers intended to plant a considerable increase over the 199,000 acres sown in the fall of 1925, but unfavorable weather conditions reduced the actual plantings to 95 per cent of the previous year's or 189,000 acres. This is the smallest acreage of rye in the state since 1905. The condition of the growing crop is similar to wheat and is rated at 88 per cent, four per cent better than one year ago and three per cent below the ten-year acreage. Early sown fields are showing good growth, but a large percentage was sown late and this made very little growth before winter set in.

Beans: The special inquiry on December 1 brought to light additional information concerning the extent of the losses sustained by growers this year. It was found that 24 per cent, or 174,000 acres, were not harvested. Some of this acreage was plowed up early because of poor or damaged stands and was put into other crops. The remainder was lost through bad weather during the harvesting period. Some beans that were pulled spoiled in the fields because of continous rainy weather, and many acres were unpulled when winter weatber aet in. The report also indicated that 20 per cent of those harvested were too wet and too badly dnmaged to be merchantable, reducing the salable crop to 5,299,000 hushels. The average pick was found to be 17.9 per cent which would leavo 4,350,000 bushels of handpicked stock as compared with 6,471,000 in 1925. The average yield was 12 bushels per acre and the total production from the harvested nereage nmounted to 6,624,000 bushels against 8,626,000 last yenr. The heaviest losses were in the east-central counties, nearly 50 per cent of the acreage in Huron and Sanilac couties not being harvested.

Farm Labor: The monthly inquiry resulted in showing the supply to be 83 per cent and the demand 82 per cent of normal, or a ratio of supply to demnnd of 101 per cent. This ratio was below normal throughout the crop months but increased at the end of the season because of the reduced demand in the cities.

ease the pain

Nothing brings such comforting relief as the original Baume Bengué. It starts to drive out pain as soon as you apply it.

GET THE ORIGINAL FRENCH
BAUME BENGUÉ
(ANALGESIQUE)

Babies Love It

For all stomach and intestinal troubles and disturbances due to teething, there is nothing better than a safe Infants' and Children's Laxative.

MRS. WINSLOW'S SYRUP

TEN YEAR GOITRE

Reduced Two Inches. Sault Ste. Marie Lady Wants Others to Know.

Mrs. M. B. Steffens, 169 Denis St., Sault Ste. Marie, Ont., snys: "I had my goitre ten yenrs. Sorbol Quadruple a colorless liniment has also relived me of difficult breathing and severe coughing. I will gladly answer letters if more information is desired nbout this inexpensive trentment." Write Sorbol Company, Mechnnicsburg, Ohio. Sold at all drug stores. Locally at F. J. Fessenden's.

FLIT
REG. U.S. PAT. OFF.
DESTROYS
Flies, Mosquitoes Roaches, Bedbugs
STANDARD OIL CO. (NEW JERSEY)

Dog Owners

Pay Your Dog License to County or Township Treasurer Before Jan. 10th

NOTICE

Dog Law as amended, Public Act No. 322 P. A. 1925 - extracts

Sec. 2.

From and after June 15th, it shall be unlawful for any person to own (or harbor) any dog four months old or over unless licensed.

Sec. 6.

On or before the first day of March, 1926, and on or before the same date of each year thereafter, the owner of any dog four months old or over shall, except as provided in Sec. 14, apply to the County Treasurer in writing for a license for each dog owned or kept by him.

Such application shall state the breed, age, color and markings of such dog, and the name and address of the last previous owner, and shall be accompanied by a fee of two dollars for each male dog, four dollars for each female dog, and two dollars for each unsexed dog: Provided, that a penalty of two dollars be charged for each license applied for after January 10th, for any dog four months old or over on that date, such penalty fees to be placed in the general fund.

Sec. 14.

Every township treasurer in the state shall, on or before December 1st, 1925, or each year thereafter, make application to the County Treasurer for the necessary license blanks and tags for the ensuing year, and after receipting therefor may issue dog licenses and tags in like manner and upon application as prescribed for the issuing of licenses by the County Treasurer.

CHARLEVOIX COURIER

VOLUME 34. NUMBER 2. SIX PAGES — COURIER, CHARLEVOIX, MICH., WEDNESDAY, JANUARY 12, 1927 — PRICE $2.00 PER YEAR

RESULT OF SUPERVISORS' MEETING

AUTHORIZED REDECORATION OF COURT HOUSE

Matter Pertaining to County Road Commission Settled In a Satisfactory Manner.

At the meeting of the Board of Supervisors at the court house last week, a motion was carried to redecorate the interior of the court house.

The contract with Sam Alexander, operator of the ferry at Ironton was renewed and an authorization made to dig a cellar and put a wall under the ferryman's cottage. The board also allowed $50 per year expenses for county road commissioners for administrative work, to be construed as including individual expenses over and above attendance at board meetings, to be paid on itemized bills for the actual expenses of the individual commissioners.

It seems that quite a controversy had arisen over the fact that a member of the county road commission had, in former years, presented bills for services of an individual nature and they were allowed. The records of the board of supervisors' meetings show that over a 4-year period in the neighborhood of $595 had been paid this one commissioner for expense items over and above his fixed salary of $150 a year, for administrative work. This year his bills were not allowed, and the following opinion, rendered at the last meeting of the board by Prosecuting Attorney A. L. Fitch, would lead one to believe that the board had been exceeding their authority, and in view of the fact that the bills were not allowed at the last meeting, it is our opinion that taxpayers will be glad to know that this leak has been plugged. The opinion by Mr. Fitch follows:

"To the Honorable Board of Supervisors, of the County of Charlevoix.

Members of the Board:—At this forenoon session of the Board I gave you verbal opinion relative to certain matters of the County Road Commissioners. Such verbol opinions often give rise to future misunderstandings so I am putting what I said in writing.

"By resolution of your board heretofore adopted, the compensation of the Road Commissioners has been fixed at $150.00 per annum and actual expenses incurred in taking care of the administrative work of the commission. This action of the board carried into effect the laws of the state on the subject.

"The direct question presented is whether a road commissioner may receive compensation for work of an individual character such as personal investigation, inspection computed upon a per-diem basis. I advised you that this could not be construed as administrative service and that such compensation could not be paid. I hereby adhere to that opinion.

"I also advise you that the salary and expenses of the commissioners are properly chargeable and should be paid out the general fund of the county upon bills regularly presented to and audited by auditing committee in the same manner as the salaries of other county officers are paid. That the county road commissioners, as a board, could not legally audit and allow bills or accounts presented by the individual commissioner for services rendered not of an administrative character. All this involves o construction of what is contemplated by the term, "administrative services." I have no doubt that the board of supervisors would have a somewhat liberal discretion in deciding what would be administrative services upon a claim regularly presented to it. Your auditing committee is not vested with such discretion.

"I spoke of the right of the board to adjust the compensation of the commissioners to meet emergency work which some of your number suggested, either by a raise in salary or by an expense allowance. If a raise in salary should be contemplated, it must be understood that such salary increase could not apply to the commissioner whose term of office has just expired. It could not apply to the other two remaining members during their present terms. In regard to the extra expense allowance it is my opinion that such an item would not be construed as salary

(Continued on page two.)

BOARD OF COMMERCE MEETING

ELECTION OF OFFICERS NEXT WEDNESDAY EVENING

Annual Reports, Business Session and Supper in Dining Room of Charlevoix Hotel

Attention of members of the Association of Commerce and all others interested in the work of this important body, is called the annual meeting to be held in the dining room of the Charlevoix Hotel next Wednesday evening, January 19, at 6:30, at which time supper will be served to be followed by the routine work of the association.

At this time will occur the annual election of officers, reading of the financial statement by the treasurer and reports of other officers on activities during the year 1926. We understand that F. E. Cartier, president of the association for the past two years, will not be a candidate for re-election. Fred has headed the association through two of the most uctive and fruitful years in its history and it is our hope that he can be prevailed upon to continue in his present capocity.

This meeting is the most important of the year for the association and should be well attended. An outline of the work to be done during 1927 will be made. The activities of this association are largely responsible for the past successful season, and should be carried on in larger scale during the coming year. If it is your desire to keep Charlevoix on the map as the leading resort city in the north, attend the meeting and do your part to help it along.

LIQUOR LAW VIOLATORS HANDED FINES

Aggregate of $400 Imposes Upon Two Offenders

Judge Parm C. Gilbert imposed fines on two violators of the prohibition law ot a special session af court last Thursday and Friday.

Harold Ainsbury was sentenced to pay a fine of $50 and costs $50. He paid his fine rather than serve 90 days in the county jail. John Harmon, having plead guilty to violation of the liquor law at a former term of court, was sentenced to pay o fine of $100 and costs of $200. In default he will serve from 6 ta 12 months at Jackson prison. The court recommended 6 months.

Will Visit Panama Canal

Mrs. Charles G. Koch of Detroit, formerly Mrs. Fred Clover and for many years a resident of Charlevoix, left January 4 for Los Angeles ond San Francisco, where sho will spend the winter. On her return trip in April she will visit the Panamo canal and other South American points of interest.

W. C. T. U. Banquet, Congregotional church parlors, Tuesday evening, Feb. 1. Reserve this date.—Adv. 2t1.

The ladies of the M. E. church will serve an oyster supper, Wednesday, January 26, at 5:30, in the church parlors. Price 50c.—Adv. 2t2.

NO MORE PIN MONEY FOR AUTO PLATE CLERKS

A Lansing dispatch under the above caption appeored in Michigon daily papers last week. The news item contains information of considerable interest to purchasers of automobile license plates and reads os follows:

"The collection of extra fees for issuing automobile license plates will be prohibited by John S. Haggerty, secretary of state, according to Sidney A. Schulte, deputy.

Mr. Schulte charged that in some branch offices a fee of 25 or 50 cents has been charged for notary or other service. The law provides that the office attendants must perform all duties pertaining to the issuance of the licenses without charge and signs to this effect will be posted, Schulte said."

This is o body blow to ony branch manager who has in the past mode the charges mentioned, and will discourage those who intended to follow out this practice. Tho state demands service to auto license purchasers without extra charges, which they are entitled to. We all agree that the privilege of operoting a car is costly enough without being held up by trifling chorgos of this kind.

CONGREGATIONAL ANNUAL MEETING

HELD IN CHURCH PARLORS ON TUESDAY EVENING

Church Officers Were Elected, Reports Made and a Social Hour Eojoyed

The annual meeting of the First Congregational church of this city was held Tuesday evening, January 11th, in the social rooms of the church, the pastor, Rev. B. G. Mattson, presiding.

The annual reports of the various boards and committees were read and officers elected as follows:

Clerk, Mrs. H. S. Harsha.

Treasurer, Miss Mitchell.

S. S. Superintendent, A. F. Bridge.

Assistants, Mr. Stelter, Mrs. Saltonstall.

Deacon for three years, John Burns.

Deaconesses, Mesdames Elston, G. Swinton, Geneit.

Trustees for three years, George Weaver, E. L. Dawson.

Auditor, A. L. Livingston.

Missionary committee, Mesdames Burns, Dean, Saltonstall.

Religious education, Mrs. Cross, Mr. Alexander, Mrs. Mattson.

Social service, Mesdames Novak, Taylor, A. Campbell.

Music, Mesdames Stelter, M. Swinton, Livingston.

Head usher, George Weaver.

The report of Mrs. Harsha, the church clerk, was complete and interesting and a vote of thanks was tendered for her twenty-six years of efficient service in this capacity. John Burns and W. H. Miller, have served as deacons for the same length of time.

The church membership was reported as 200 with 22 absentees. An interesting item of local church history was given by the clerk to the effect that of the 340 members who united with the church during the first twenty years, thirty are still here and in good and regular standing, and their names were read.

The reports of the trustees and treasurer showed an excellent financial condition with all obligations met in full and about $200.00 on hand. About $500 had been expended for repairs to church and parsonage.

The Sunday school enrollment was

(Continued on page 5)

ADDS SPRAY PAINTING OUTFIT IN WORKSHOP

Leon Atchison Adds New Equipment For Car Painting

Leon Atchison, who operates an automobile repair shop on Mason street, has recently completed installation of a DeVilbiss spray painting outfit for repainting automobiles.

A portion of the east end of the garage has been partitioned off as a paint room and is steam heated and equipped with a special lighting system, consisting of high-power adjustable lights. Paint is put on automobiles through o spruy gun with compressed air, and leaves no brush marks, sags, etc. Mr. Atchison has twa complete air compressing outfits in ease one should go wrong. A suction ventilation system removes all fumes, dust, etc.

Mr. Atchison states that he is in a position to handle any job of car repainting and invites anyone to come in and look over his new outfit.

Dancing party, I. O. O. F. hall, Friday evening, Jan. 14.—Adv. 2t1.

GOV. GREEN'S FIRST MESSAGE

OUTLINES HIS VIEWS AND PLANS IN DETAIL

Wants State's Books Audited to Reveal Actual Financial Condition in All Departments

It is un extremely difficult thing to write a message from the outside looking in, so I am going to refrain from discussing many thing that are of great interest to Michigan until my viewpoint is improved.

It is not possible for me at this time to give you the State's financial condition. I um having an audit made of the books and an inventory of the property. When these are completed, I will give them to you and to the public. I do know that the Highway Department has pledged its revenues in advance; that the State in not paying its bills; that Jackson Prison owes the general fund nearly a million and half dollars; that taxes have been levied and money raised for specific appropriations ond then spent for other purposes. There are many disturbing rumors in regard to the State's financial condition which will only be quoted by an independent audit such as is now under way.

In the future there will be regular reports of receipts and expenditures that will reveal the State's true financial condition. In this connection a statute punishing the juggling of funds in public reports might well be adopted.

Many departments and institutions have failed in recent years to make reports. This will be corrected. I do not believe expensive books with more or less beautiful pictures of officers should be issued, but short, concise, accurate reports are necessary for the information of the public.

At the last election the people refused an increase of pay for members of the Legislature, although the compensation is notoriously inadequate. This vote seems to indicate that the people are not satisfied with the service of our law-making bodies.

How, then, can we better this service? One of the outstanding things that must be done is the curtailment of the activities of lobbyists. One of their vicious practices is to give members bills that appear to be meritorious, but which affect some monied interest adversely. When the bill has been announced as sure of passage, or if it is passed by one house, the lobbyists wait upon the interest affected by the bill and for a consideration offers to see that it is killed. This form of extortion is known by the public generally and brings not only the Legislature but the whole State government into disrepute. You can stamp this thing out. I will help. If some of the notorious lobbyists of the past put in an appearance at this term of the Legislature, I will call your attention to them by name. In this connection permit me to mention for consideration the New York law, licensing lobbyists.

One of the handicaps under which you labor is the fact that so few business men and others come to Lansing and inform you on the subject in which they are interested. They send paid representatives who are actuated solely by a desire to make a showing for their employers. These representatives hang about the Legislature, meddle in things in which they have no personal interest, and generally create an unwholsome atmosphere.

You are anxious for accurate information, and I hope you will be visited by representative farmers, laboring men, women, industrial leaders and other groups, who could render invaluable service by giving first-hand information on the subjects on which they are authority. The Legislature would not intentionally injure any lawful business. Nothing is better for our government than to have business men take a genuine interest in legislative matters and come in person when they are interested in pending legislation. Nothing is more subversive of good government than the paid lobbyist. There is no substitute in government for the keen, honest interest of good citizens.

This Legislature could easily become the outstanding Legislature of the United States with every member going home proud of the achievement and with an acknowledged place in the history of Michigan, if you would proceed to your work on the theory that we need no more laws. Many Legistatures have passed into immediate oblivion because of the quantity of their production. You could become famous if you insisted on quality. Every student of our form of government will tell you that we are as a country, suffering from too much law. Refuse to legislate an any

(Continued on page two)

CAMPBELL GIVEN GOOD COMMITTEE

MADE CHAIRMAN OF ONE AND PUT ON FIVE OTHERS

Heads Important Transportation Body and is on Educational Group and Elections

Sen. Calvin A. Campbell of Indian River and representing the 29th district in the state senate, received marked recognition from Lieutenant Governor Dickinson when the latter announced his committee appointments for this session.

Senator Campbell was made chairman of the transportation committee, which is one of the major posts in the senate and which has to do with all bills in reference to railroad and other common carrier matters.

He is a railroad man himself of long experience, having served a number of years with the Michigan Central and later owning the stone plant at Afton in Cheboygan county.

Aside from the important transportation committee which he heads, Senator Campbell is a member of education apportionment, elections, insurance and state homes, and school, making a total of six committees.

Senator Campbell's district is composed of the counties of Emmet, Charlevoix, Cheboygan, Presque Isle, Alpena, Montmorency and Otsego.

JOLLY PARTY AT LYNGKLIP HOME

Charlevoix Friends and Neighbors Entertained Last Saturday

Mrs. Chris Lyngklip was hostess to a jolly party of Charlevoix people and a number of her neighbors, who gathered at her home near Ironton last Saturday evening.

Four carloads from this city, comprising eleven people were among the guests enjoying the fine old-fashioned chicken dinner served at eight o'clock. Dancing and cards formed the evening's entertainment and the party broke up at a late hour with the unanimous opinion that Mrs. Lyngklip was "some" hostess.

EIGHT PRESENT AT BIRTHDAY OCCASION

Miss Hilda Roen Celebrated Eigth Birthday With Party

Miss Hilda Roon, daughter of Captain and Mrs. John Roen, entertained eight of her girl playmates at a birthday party Monday afternoon at her home an Belevedere avenue.

A large birthday cake with eight candles was a feature at the table where the youngsters enjoyed light refreshments. Games and other forms of entertainment made the afternoon a merry one for the guests, who, in departing, left many nice gifts for their friend.

NOTICE

The annual meeting of the Charlevoix Masonic Building Association will be held in the Masonic Temple, Tuesday evening, January 18th. Supper at 6:30, business meeting immediately after. A cordial invitation is extended to all Masons and their families.

D. S. Payton, Secretary.

Adv. 2-t1.

WANTS THE EARTH AND THEN SOME

SOO GIVEN RAGGING FOR DISPLAY OF BRISTLES

If Possible, Would Hog Not Only New Tahquamenon Highway, But Also the Park

A disposition to hog everything in sight being shown by Sault Ste. Marie in regards to the proposed new highway opening up the newly acquired state park in the Tahquamenon district is coustically commented on by the Cheboygan Democrat in a recent issue. Well, the Soo is not the only berg in northern Michigan afflicted with this some inflated ego. Hurdly a week passes that some berg within a hundred miles of Charlevoix expresses, in some manner or other, that this or that should be handed to them on a silver platter. How they get that way is beyond our comprehension. The Soo-Newberry-Tahquamenon highway controversy follows:

"A heated controversy seems to have arisen between the Soo and Newsberry over the routing of a proposed highway to reach the Tahquamenon Falls district. Last fall certain parties were attracted to the falls in the belief that therein were hidden away in one of Michigan's most inaccessable places a scenic marvel rivaling anything else in the state. The director of conservation and the chief state fire warden lent their co-operation to such a trip and the result of that visit resulted in arousing the interest of P. J. Hoffmaster, superintendent of state parks, to a keener pitch than ever before, however, it was known that he had been planning on visiting the falls district with a view of determining its scenic value, and its park possibilities. Mr. Hoffmaster immediately organized another party, consisting of Raymond H. Torrey, field secretary of the National Conference on State Parks, Mr. Bishops, secretary and manager of the Cloverland Development Bureau, Mr. Amon, Michigan State College Extension specialist together with guides and prominent men of Newberry and this party made a more extensive examination of both the large and small falls, the rapids, and the long stretch of river between Newberry and the lower falls; returning from this trip Mr. Hoffmaster and Mr. Bishop were determined

(Continued on page six.)

NOMAL SITE STILL BOTHERING NORTHERN CITIES

The following caustic comment on ex-Governor Grosbeck's political plaything, the new normal site, appeared in last week's issue of the Cheboygan Democrat:

"Local folks were thrown into about 'leven separate and distinct kind off fits last week when the news trickled through from the frontier of the world) Lansing, that Governor Grosbeck had the Normal School under advisement again, and that Editor Dana Hinekley of Petoskey and Bill Pearson of Boyne Falls, were down there parked on the governor's doorstep to remind him how grateful they and the folks back home would be if he would only dispose of the pesky normal school problem thenand there in favor of the city with the million dollar sunsets, and not leave it as a heritage with other problems the incoming governor will have to wrestle with. It seems Alex came no nearer disposing of the problem at this time than he did at any other time since the bill was first tossed in to the legislative hopper. From that time until his retirement from office the normal school has been the tool with which he has wrought some startling political changes, and again it has been the tool contributing much to greasing the skids down which he shot to his present political oblivion."

Charlevoix, for some reason or other too modest and unassuming to enter this contest, holds the solution of the much discussed proposition. Why not make an effort to locate the new normal on the present school property on the south terrace? There is no better nor logical location in northern Michigan, and if more acreage is deemed necessary, it is there adjacent to the school property for the asking. It appears to us that the time is here for Charlevoix to make some effort along this line inasmuch as our neighboring city, East Jordan, is in the discard as a point af location.

Conspiracy

KIDS — NIGHT - TIME —
IF YUH AIN'T AFRAID, WHATCHA RUNNIN' FER?
I AIN' AFRAID, I'M RUNNIN' TO KEEP UP WITH YOU
INT. INTERNATIONAL CARTOON CO.
J. C. WALKER

The CHARLEVOIX COURIER
Issued every Wednesday at
CHARLEVOIX - MICHIGAN

DuBois & Usher, Publishers
A. J. Usher, Editor and Business Mgr.
Courier Building Van Pelt Place

Entered at the Post Office in Charlevoix, Mich., as second class matter.

Member Michigan Press Ass'n

Advertising Rates

For advertising rates apply for schedule.

Notices of church or lodge socials and entertainments, where admission is charged, regular rates.

Obituary poetry, regular rates.

Card of Thanks, 25 cents.

TERMS OF SUBSCRIPTION

One copy, one year $2.00
One Copy, six months $1.00
One Copy, three months .....$ .60

GOVERNOR GREEN'S FIRST MESSAGE

(Continued from page one.)

subjects except those that history and experience have shown can profitably be the subject of law. Don't make laws against acts that are not of themselves immoral; do not pass laws that have little public sentiment back of them.

Since the State Highway Department was made dependent upon the matters, it has been dropped squarely into the lap of politics with direful results. Contracts have been let to pet contractors who did not even bid on the job, costs have been excessive, reports have been sent out that were not accurate, contractors have been obliged to wait for their money, revenues have been pledged long in advance of their receipt, promises of roads have been made for political reasons, and now there are disquieting rumors regarding the quality of the cement used on some roads. This department is a shining example of what politics can do in the destruction of efficiency. These conditions will be rectified. I advocate a comprehensive plan covering the construction of roads for a term of years laid out by engineers in accordance with our economic necessities. Hard surfaced roads are so necessary and so expensive that the road dollar must give a full one hundred cent of value. It is not doing that now.

The administrative Board Act has failed and should be amended because it places too much power in the hands of the governor. The provision that made it necessary for the governor to sign all proceedings before they become legal made dummies of the other members of the board. These men soon lost interest in the board's actions and it became a one-man affair. Give the members of the board a right to overcome the governor's veto by a substantial majority and this board will operate like the board of directors in a business corporation, as the legislators originally intended.

The State's books and auditing will be returned to the auditor general, but a statute to that effect will not be necessary. However, one may be necessary later to keep them there.

Members of the late governor's law firm and State officers have been appearing as attorneys before State boards and State officers. This practice commercializes political influence. It has been carried on before the Security and Parole officials, greatly impeding just and honest action. I respectfully urge a statute stopping it. A State officer recently received a ridiculously large sum of money for acting as receiver. This is merely a form of political graft and should also be forbidden by law.

No state can boast of a better education system than ours. The people are justly proud of it and vote tremendous sums of money for its support. No step backward will ever be taken, but in these days of heavy taxes every effort should be made to cut down expenses; especially if you can increase efficiency.

We have separate boards over our normals, the Michigan State College, the University, the College of Mines. While they are all a part of one system, there is no unified control. Their activities are limited only by the amount of money given them by the state. Each is now working along its own line, independent of the others, and there is a great deal of duplication. We could improve our education system materially, make it more efficient, cut large sums from the necessary appropriation, if we put these institutions under a single board elected by the people. I would also put the selection of the superintendent of public instruction into the hands of this board, removing this office from politics. Thus you co-ordinate the secondary school system of the state with the higher educational institutions.

Some of our state institutions are in need of repairs and new buildings, but with the limited information at my command I can make but few recommendations regarding them. Neither can I make many recommendations regarding our educational needs.

The Soldier's Home at Grand Rapids is in disgraceful physical condition and should have immediate attention.

The attendance at the College of Mines, an institution where only mining engineering is taught, has dwindled to about 175 students. This institution stands high. It has a splendid superintendent and faculty and an unusually loyal alumni. However there is small demand for mining engineers. The buildings provide ample room for a large number of students with little increase in the overhead. The board of control will ask you for a change in the name of the college to the College of Mine and Technology and for such legislation as will permit them to teach other engineering courses. This will involve an increased appropriation, but we already have a large investment that will be safeguarded and made productive. There are many advantages in having a school of this character located in the Upper Peninsula, and this proposition has my unqualified approval.

Over one-half of the business of the Upper Peninsula consists of copper and iron mining and a large part of the population are dependent upon it. The known reserves of the mer-so as to come under the inhibition of the constitution and statutes of the state but would come under a ruling of the Attorney General holding that compensation on a per diem and expense basis is not a salary. If such allowance is made by your board, it should be fixed as an expense item.

(Continued next week)

RESULT OF SUPERVISOR'S MEETING

(Continued from page one.)

"I am giving this opinion only for the purpose of letting you know in advance what might be done by you in a legal manner and not as suggesting what you should or should not do.

"I am this day advising the county clerk and also the county treasurer of my opinion regarding salaries and expenses of the county road commissioners in the future."

WILL ORGANIZE PARENT-TEACHERS ASSN.

Public Meeting Called Next Thursday Evening at School House

Announcement has been made of a public meeting to be held in the high school auditorium, Thursday evening, January 20th, at 7:30 o'clock.

The purpose of the meeting is to bring the citizens of the city together with the teachers of the public schools, with the ultimate view of forming a Parent-Teachers Association. Mrs. Jessup of Petoskey, will be the speaker of the evening and a program prepared by teachers in the schools will be given. Light refreshments will also be served.

It is surprising that Charlevoix has not had a Parent-Teachers Association before this time, as nearly all other cities in the state can boast of an active and beneficial organization of this kind. Your attendance at this meeting is urgently requested. A Parent-Teachers association would be a step forward in bettering school conditions in Charlevoix and will result in closer co-operation and better understanding between patrons and teachers of the local schools.

CONSERVATION BODY NAMED BY GREEN

Governor Green Picks Seven Men to Handle Department Work

Complete reorganization of the state department of conservation, which he bitterly attacked during his campaign, was completed by Governor Green Thursday with the appointment of a new seven-man commission.

Howard B. Bloomer, Detroit automobile manufacturer, donor of several state parks, is the only member of the commission under Governor Groesbeck to remain.

Other members of the body appointed by Governor Green are James Oliver Curwood, Owosso author; Lee J. Smits, Detroit newspaper man; Harold H. Titus, Traverse City author; Phillip Shumacher, Ann Arbor merchant; Norman Hill, Sault Ste. Marie editor; John Duffy, Grand Rapids manufacturer.

AT THE MOVIES

"Chip of Flying U" Promises to Be a Great Gibson Film

With one of the best known novels ever written in America, one the brightest stars in the cinema solar system, and one of the biggest casts that the star has ever had, "Chip of the Flying U," which comes to the Palace Theatre, Wednesday and Thursday, Jan. 19-20, give promise to being one of the season's best pictures.

The picture was adapted from the novel of the same name written by B. M. Bower. The book ranks as one of the most popular and widely read novels written in the last fifteen years.

Aeroplane Crash Shown in Picture

An Aeroplane accident, in which Doris Kenyon crashes to earth amid tangled wires, broken propeller blades and smashed wings, furnishes one of the biggest thrills of "The Unguarded Hour" which comes to the Palace Theatre next Saturday and Sunday, January 15 and 16. Milton Sills appears in the stellar role, with Miss Kenyon as the featured feminine player.

"The Unguarded Hour" is the story of an American girl who goes to Italy, where she by her modern American methods wins the heart of a woman hating Italian duke. (Milton Sills.)

CHURCH OF GOD

Services held at the Chapel on W. Hurlbut avenue.

Morning service at 10:30.

Sunday school: A time for Bible study at 11:45.

Young people's meeting (good topic) at 6:30 p. m.

Evening service, where all can take part at 7:30.

Prayer meeting: "A time to Tell About It" at 7:30 Wednesday evening.

The Sewing Circle will meet with Mrs. Wm. Shaw Thursday—arrangments have been made to accommodate those who desire to go.

The word of God never changes. Yes, and it should never grow old, stale and irksome to any of us mortal, human beings, who transverse the vale. We all should take time yes, make time to read from its pages of hidden truth. Get acquainted with your Bible—you'll have to meet its words some day. The old family altar seems to be forsaken by some. But a few who feel and see its need. They are reminded of what it says conserving those who forget God, and their duty. May we be wise and take time to worship Him while we have got an opportunity. We cordially invite you to come and get acquainted with the gospel. Act now by being present.

Avoid fire risks from burning-out chimneys by using our honest-to-goodness Soot Destroyer. Charlevoix Hdw. Co.—Adv. 2tf.

SPECIAL NUMBER ON LECTURE COURSE

Brown-Meneley Entertainers' Here Tuesday Evening

The Brown-Meneley Entertainers, an extra number on the Charlevoix Lecture Course program, will appear in the Palace Theatre, next Tuesday evening, January 18, at 8:00 p. m.

The entertainment presented by Brown-Meneley is something new, being a two preson company—a male duo. The many years these young men have been on the platform has taught them what the public really enjoys—and they they have an ideal program.

They play unusually well on their fine set of chimes and Mr. Brown's readings provide the novelty. They have snappy costumes, do some character sketches, and never fail to please.

Special tickets will be provided for this entertainment, inasmuch as it is an extra on the season's program.

Old newspapers for sale at this office. 5c per package.

CONGREGATIONAL CHURCH

B. G. Mattson, D. D., Minister

At the First Congergation church, Sunday morning the pastor will preach on "The Spirit of Moral Adventure." A study of one of the noblest characters in history.

There will be a union Vesper Service at 4:15 in this church under the auspices of the W. C. T. U. in observance of the anniversary of the adoption of the Eighteenth amendment to the constitution of the United States. The public is heartily invited. The program will be of exceptional interest.

Young people's meetings at 6 p. m. The evening service will be omitted.

The pastor expects to hold services at Ironton at 2:30 unless prevented by severe weather.

W. C. T. U. Banquet, Congregational church parlors, Tuesday evening, Feb. 1. Reserve this date. —Adv. 2tl.

One-arm driving may cause a lot of accidents but it has advantages.

Anyone ever hear a flapper sing "Home, Sweet Home?"

PHOENIX HOSIERY

This well known brand of hosiery at moderate prices can be had in the new shades. An all silk hose in service-weight or chiffon at

$1.95

M. A. Levinson & Co.

The
Michigan Bell Telephone Company

Suggests the use of Long Distance Telephone Service as the most intimate way of keeping in touch with your boy or girl away at school. Encourage them to call home frequently at the low Evening and Night rates.

Evening and Night Rates

Reduced Evening rates are in effect from 7 p. m. to 8.30 p. m. on "Anyone" calls. Night rates, which are still lower, are effective from 8.30 p. m. to 4.30 a. m.

There is no further reduction at midnight

Buick
VALVE-IN-HEAD MOTOR CARS
A24-28

Again in 1926, more Buicks toured through Yellowstone Park than any other car except the one of lowest price.

Buick has held this same honor every year since the Park was opened to automobile travel.

Here is convincing evidence of Buick reliability—striking proof of the faith which Buick owners repose in their car.

THE GREATEST BUICK EVER BUILT

Heaton & Hooper
BOYNE CITY, MICHIGAN

Preserve Your Health

By keeping your Home warm with our famous

BLUE JACKET COAL

Buy your coal by the size of your ash pile—Blue Jacket—is low in ash, high in heat. It pays—Try it.

Argo Milling Company

An Amazing Success
Feen-a-mint
"The Chewing LAXATIVE"
Chew It Like Chewing Gum

A pleasure to use. Very efficient. Children love it. No taste but that of sweet mint. The most popular laxative because it's a "satisfier." 15c and 25c. Sold by

VALET
AutoStrop
Razor
sharpens itself

New automobile licenses, income tax payments, Christmas. Wasn't December the gay old month?

LYDIA of the Pines

by HONORÉ WILLSIE

W.N.U. SERVICE COPYRIGHT by FREDERICK A. STOKES CO.

Amos dropped his pipe. "Lydia! You don't mean it! Why, my little girl! Lord, Kent! Isn't she just all right! Make me happy! Why, Lydia, you've made a young man of me—I swan——!"

Kent was holding one hand now, Amos the other. Both looked at Lydia with radiant faces. And she could but feel an answering glow.

"We'll make this up to you, Lyd, old lady," cried Kent. "See if we don't." There was a little pause during which the ice boomed. Then,

"Well, what happens next, now you've settled me?" asked Lydia.

"Something to eat," exclaimed Amos "I didn't eat any supper. I swear I haven't eaten for months with any relish. Lydia, make us some chocolate or something."

That night, after Kent had gone, Lydia stood long at the living-room window which gave on the front gate. The pine, its boughs powdered with snow, kept its lonely vigil over the cottage.

"Yes," whispered Lydia, finally, "your last friend has deserted you, but I guess I'm keeping faith with Kent and dad, anyhow."

Then she went to bed.

For a day or so Lydia avoided Billy Norton. But she was restless and unhappy and found it difficult to keep her mind on her college work. Finally, she timed her return from the dairy school, one afternoon, to coincide with Billy's home-coming from his office and she overtook him just beyond the end of the street-car line.

"Billy!" called Lydia.

He turned and waited for her with a broad smile. "Billy," she said without preliminaries, "I gave in!"

"Lydia!" he gasped.

"I couldn't stand their pleading. I hate myself, but dad looks ten years younger!"

"Lydia!" cried Billy again, and there was such a note of pain in his voice that she turned her face to his with the same dogged look in her eyes that had been expressed in her wnik.

"Lydia, I can't believe it!"

"It's true," repeated Lydia. "I couldn't stand Kent and dad both. And partly I did it for John Levine's memory. I'm not trying to justify myself, Billy. I know that I'm doing something wrong, but I've definitely made up my mind to sacrifice my own ease of conscience to dad's happiness."

"You can't do it! You aren't built that way," exclaimed Billy.

"But I am doing it," reiterated Lydia.

"Look here," he cried, eagerly, "do you expect to keep my respect and yet go on with this?"

Lydia did not reply for some time. They were nearing the cottage, and she could see the pine, black against the afterglow, when she said:

"Well, I'm not keeping my own self-respect and yet I'm glad I'm making dad and Kent happy."

They passed by the gate. Billy looked down at Lydia with a puzzled frown.

"How about 'Dulcit Amor Patriae' now, Lydia?" he asked.

"Oh, I don't know," she sighed. "Good night, Billy."

"Good-by, Lydia," said the young man heavily and he turned away, leaving her standing at the gate.

Lydia went over and over their conversation that night feverishly before she went to sleep. She tossed and turned and then, long after the old living-room clock had struck midnight, she slipped out of bed and crouched on her knees, her hands clasped across her pillow, her eyes on the quiet stars that glowed through the window.

"O God," she prayed, "O God, if You do exist, help me now! Don't let me lose Billy's respect, for I don't know how I can get along without it. God! God! Make me believe in You, for I must have Some One to turn to! You have taken mother and little Patience and John Levine from me! Oh, let me keep Billy! Let me keep him, God, and make me strong enough to keep on accepting that three hundred and twenty acres. Amen."

Shivering, but somehow quieted, she crept into bed and fell asleep.

CHAPTER XIX

The Youngest Scholar

If Amos was not happy after Lydia's concession, at least she never had seen him so interested in life as he was now. Nor had Kent ever been more considerate of Lydia.

All this, Lydia told herself, should have made her happy, and yet she was not. Billy came to see her as usual, and took her to an occasional dance. But he was not the friend of old. And the change was not in any neglect of things done, it was in his way of looking at her; in his long silences when he studied her face with a grieved, puzzled look that made her frantic; in his ceasing to talk over his work with her with any air of comradeship, and most of all in his ceasing to fully her—that inalienable earmark of the attitude of the lover toward the beloved.

March was long and bleak that year, but April came in as sweetly as a silver bugle call. Lydia heard the first robin call, on her way home from college. She had walked up the road ahead of Billy, her black scholar's gown fluttering. Once he would have run to overtake her, but now he plodded along a block behind, without a sound. Lydia did not pause at the cottage gate. The call of the robin was in her blood and she swung on up the road, past the Norton place and into the woods.

There was a log at hand and she sat down, threw her mortarboard on the ground and rested, chin cupped in her hands, lips parted, eyes tear dimmed. She was weary of thought. She only knew that the spiritual rightness with which she had sustained her mind and body through all the hard years of her youth had gone wrong. She only knew that a loneliness of soul she could not seem to endure was robbing her of a youth that as yet she had scarcely tasted.

Suddenly there was the sound of hasty footsteps through the dead leaves. Lydia looked up. Billy was striding toward her. She did not speak, nor did he.

He strode to the log, stooped, and drew Lydia to her feet. Then he lifted her, scholar's gown and all, in his arms and kissed her full on the lips. kissed her long and passionately, then looked deep into her eyes and held her to him until she could feel his heart beating full and quick.

For just a moment Lydia did not stir, then she threw her arms around his neck, hid her face against his shoulder and clung to him with an intensity that made him tremble.

Billy slipped his hand under Lydia's cheek and turned her face so that he could look into her eyes. At what he saw there his own firm lips quivered.

"Lydia!" he whispered.

Then he kissed her again.

"Now," he said gently, with a smile of a quality Lydia never had seen on his lips before, "now, sweetheart, are you going to be good?"

"Yes," murmured Lydia, with a contralto lilt in her voice. "What do you want me to do, Billy?"

"I want what you want, dearest. I want the old Lydia with the vision. Has she come back, or shall I have to look for her again?"

He started as if to take Lydia in his arms once more, but, with a sudden rich little laugh, she stepped away from him.

"She's here—oh, Billy, dearest! How could you let her wander around alone so long?"

"It didn't hurt my cause any for her to miss me," answered Billy, grimly, "though I didn't realize that till a moment ago. Stop your trembling, Lydia.—I'm here to look out for you, for the rest of time."

They walked back to the cottage in silence, hand in hand. They paused at the gate and Lydia pointed through the dusk at the new moon.

"Let's wish on it," she said. "Close your eyes, and wish."

Billy closed his eyes. A kiss as soft as the robin's note fell on his lips and the gate clicked. He opened his eyes and stood looking up the path long after the door closed, his hat in his hand.

Lydia wandered into the dining room quite casually.

"For heaven's sake, Lydia!" cried Amos. "I was just going to start on a hunt for you!"

"I took a walk in the woods," explained Lydia, "and was gone longer than I realized."

"Supper's ready. Sit right down," said Lizzie, looking at Lydia intently. "Seen Kent today, Lydia?" she asked.

After a moment—"Did you speak to me, Lizzie?" Lydia inquired.

"Yes, I did. I asked if you'd seen Kent today."

(Continued next week)

A STATEMENT

By the President of Dodge Brothers, Inc.

Within a few months, Dodge Brothers, Inc., will introduce a new line of motor cars, in no way conflicting with the market for Dodge Brothers present types, but occupying a considerably higher price field and produced in limited quantities.

Combining Dodge Brothers well known dependability with exceptional performance and striking beauty of appointment and design, these distinguished vehicles, we believe, will instantly set a new and higher standard in fine car practice.

Dodge Brothers will continue to produce their present line in maximum quantities to meet a demand which, during the year just ended, was very much the largest in their history, reaching the record total of 330,000 cars.

Edward G. Budd

DB

FLIT
DESTROYS
Moths, Roaches
Bedbugs, Flies
Other Household Insects

Zonite
For Cuts and Wounds
Prevent infection! Treat every cut, wound or scratch with this powerful non-poisonous antiseptic. Zonite actually kills germs. Helps to heal, too.

Rheumatism
ease the pain
Nothing brings such comforting relief as the original Baume Bengué. It starts to drive out pain as soon as you apply it.
GET THE ORIGINAL FRENCH
BAUME BENGUÉ
(ANALGESIQUE)

Babies Love It
For all stomach and intestinal troubles and disturbances due to teething, there is nothing better than a safe Infants' and Children's Laxative.
MRS. WINSLOW'S SYRUP

Raising the Family
Fisher
HA, AND WHAT'S YOU'S COME UP!
FROM THE VILLAGE FOR YA GID!
WELL, WELL— UNCLE PETE!
LIGHT ONE OF 'EM UP GID!
THANKS!
CY MEDDERS BEEN KEEPIN' THAT BRAND IN HIS STORE FOR HIGH 20 YEAR!
I AIN'T SURPRISED! I DIDN'T IMAGINE HE COULD SELL 'EM!
INTERNATIONAL CARTOON CO N Y

CORRESPONDENCE

BARNARD

Mrs. John Walker returned last Tuesday from her visit to Richmond, Indiana.

The Ladies' Aid Society are meeting this week Wednesday with Mrs. William Burns.

We are glad to report that Lena Walker is sufficiently recovered to be at home again.

Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Helse and daughter, spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. James Block and children.

A shadow box social will be held at the Grange hall on Friday evening, January 14th, the proceeds to go toward the building fund. Everybody invited.

NORWOOD

Ice is noticed to be forming fast along the shores of Lake Michigan.

Bailing hay has been the chief industry among the farmers for the past week.

Mr. and Mrs. William Supernaw of Charlevoix, were callers at the Charles Greeley home Sunday.

The grown up folks, as well as the school children are enjoying the skating and coasting at Norwood.

Mr. and Mrs. Percy Empey and family of Central Lake, visited at the Empey home in Norwood Sunday.

Mrs. Albert Parsons and daughter, Ruth, of Ellsworth, is visiting her mother, Mrs. Huskins for a few days.

Mr. and Mrs. Colon McKenzie and two children of Charlevoix, visited Mr. and Mrs. I. L. Dice Sunday afternoon.

Mrs. Joseph Holecheck, visited her grandmother, Mrs. Bluck of Charlevoix, who is in poor health, one day last week.

Keep Fit!

Good Health Requires Good Elimination

TO be well, you must keep the blood stream free from impurities. If the kidneys lag, allowing body poisons to accumulate, a toxic condition is created. One is apt to feel dull, languid, tired and achy. A nagging backache is sometimes a symptom, with drowsy headaches and dizzy spells. That the kidneys are not functioning properly is often shown by burning or scanty passage of secretions. If you have reason to suspect improper kidney functioning, try Doan's Pills—a tested stimulant diuretic. Users praise them throughout the United States. Ask your neighbor!

DOAN'S PILLS 60c

Stimulant Diuretic to the Kidneys

Foster-Milburn Co., Mfg. Chem., Buffalo, N. Y.

BUSINESS CARDS

Farm Property Lake Frontage
A. C. BELDING
REAL ESTATE BROKER
Charlevoix, Mich.
Game Preserves Detroit Property

GLASSES FITTED
Consult
DR. J. LEAHY
OPTOMETRIST
Expert on Eye-Strain.
Petoskey, Mich.
Phone 443 for Appointment

BELLE LOUISE FLEWELLING
Palmer Chiropractor
Post Office Building
Phone 347
Office hours 2 to 5 daily
Monday, Wednesday and Friday
7 to 8

R. J. MADILL
Building Contractor
Ask for Estimates
Phone 121 Charlevoix, Mich.

D. T. McHUGH
General Contractor
Phone 214
CHARLEVOIX, MICHIGAN

R. B. ARMSTRONG
PHYSICIAN AND SURGEON
Special Attention to Diseases
of Eye, Ear, Nose and Throat
Priest Bldg. Phone 255

DR. F. F. McMILLAN
Physician and Surgeon
Office above Postoffice
Phone 17
Charlevoix - - Michigan

A. L. FITCH
ATTORNEY AT LAW
Office in Court House
Phone 48
Charlevoix - - Michigan

Yes the air in crowded cars, shows and shops is laden with countless disease germs. Good resistance is the safeguard. An occasional NR Tablet will help to build up your resistance and prevent such infectious diseases as colds, grippe and influenza. Nature's Remedy (NR Tablets) relieves Sick headaches, Auto-intoxication, Constipation, Biliousness.

NR TO-NIGHT
TOMORROW ALRIGHT

SOLD BY YOUR DRUGGIST
CENTRAL DRUG STORE

Word has been received by relatives here, of the death of Mrs. Arthur Kidder of Cadillac. Mrs. Kidder is the mother of a large family of children and was formerly a Norwood girl, whose parents were Mr. and Mrs. Henry Genett. Friends and relatives at Norwood extend their sympathy to this bereaved family.

MOUNTAIN DISTRICT

We have had five visitors this week of school.

Esther Case went back to school Sunday, after spending a week with her mother.

Oswald Hosegood spent a delightful (?) afternoon in the dentist chair, Saturday.

On Thursday, William Sanderson left for Milwaukee on both a business and plensure trip.

Ernest Staley and Mrs. Case, were the Sunday guests of Mrs. Sanderson and enjoyed a delicious chicken dinner.

Harold Towsley spent a week of his vacation with his cousin, Clare Staley, fishing and enjoying the grent outdoors.

Jim Wilson caught a 9½ lb. trout on Tuesdny and invited a number of his friends to help enjoy the supper prepared by his mother.

We are having a 15 minute arithmetic test each morning in school, to develop accuracy and speed. The pupil having the least mistakes at the end of the month, wins a prize. Bruce Sanderson is now in the lead with Howard Gould only one point behind.

EVELINE

School started this week.

F. H. Skow of Ellsworth, was around in this neighborhood Friday, on business.

Mr. and Mrs. Emil Nasson spent Sunday in Boyne City, with the latter's parents.

Mrs. G. Carlson is visiting with her daughter-in-law in Grand Rapids, who is reported very ill.

Mr. and Mrs. Peter Larson of Boyne City, visited at the home of the latter's mother, Sunduy.

Peter Andersen, who works at the chemical plant in East Jordan, spent Sunday home here with his folks.

Mr. and Mrs. John Knudsen and family from the Loeb Farms, visited Friday evening at V. Pedersen's home.

CLARION

Mrs. G. W. Ruffe was on the sick list last week.

Fotchman's are installing electric lights in their mill yard.

Little Allister Murner, who has been ill, is much improved.

Charles Church of Alma, is the guest of his aunt, Miss Ida Hutt.

Mrs. Moreau continues to be very ill at the home of her son, Don Moreau.

Mrs. Mable Gill and daughter, have secured rooms in Petoskey for a few weeks.

Albert Jubenville has been appointed deputy sheriff by sheriff Dnyid Vaughn.

ELLSWORTH

ATWOOD

Lots of grippe.

About six inches of snow.

Ask Frank Brown about that fox he got.

Geo. Parsons is confined to his hed with the grippe.

John Truman expects to milk 10 cows the coming summer.

It's better to "reduce" than to misrepresent your real weight.

Banks township treasurer took in over $20,000.00 up to Saturdny night last.

Miss Hayes is making her father and mother, Mr. and Mrs. Hayes, a visit for a few days—possibly all winter.

Here is what we got by radio last Sunday from the secretary of a certain M. E. Sunday school: totnl number present, 1427; Total collection, $127.85.

Archie Brown, who has been cutting wood with his buzz machine for Jim Heeres and R. E. Stafford of Norwood, came over to help the Joliffe boys cut about 45 cords of stove wood with his "lizzie" engine.

The L. A. S. held their semi-monthly meeting at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Frank S. Brown on Thursday last "in due form." The next meeting is at the home of Mr. and Mrs. John Bos on Thursday, January 20th. Of course the men have to take their wives this time of the year. Remember the date John.

Eber Joliffe received a telephone message from the Scharl Road Construction company of Grand Rapids to go to Chicago last Tuesday to attend an exhibition of road machinery, but on account of the grippe he couldn't go. He goes to Muskegon some time this week to help get road machinery in working order for the spring work.

METHODIST CHURCH
C. E. Pollock, Minister

Worship hours next Sunduy with sermons are as follows:

10:30 a. m., "Time."

7:00 p. m., "Meeting Mexico."

Church school meets at twelve o'clock.

The Epworth League topic for six o'clock next Sunday is "Shullow or Deep."

"The advancing church" is the text book for mission-study class beginning January 23 in Epworth League.

Each Monday evening at 6:30 the young people's prayer meeting class meets for one half hour. All young people are invited. The pastor has charge of this service.

C. J. Kruse from Petoskey, a former chaplain of Ionia state's prison, will be the speaker at the men's meeting next Monday evening. Supper at seven o'clock sharp. Mr. Kruse's subject will be, "Fact, Fancy and Fun Behind the Prison Bars." He is an accomplished and eloquent speaker, and the evening promises big.

The book committee are planning a great entertainment evening in the church for February 11. Watch for the detailed program.

The county fair shown in motion picture was of great interest and entertainment to a church of people. Home affairs are of vital interest to people and of right should be. The presentation of the "Possibilities for a New School Building" by Mrs. Saltonstall, and "The Equipment of the School of the Future" by Mr. Belding were highly acceptuble and instructed and pleased the many people who came to the "Home Affairs Vesper service."

Much credit is due those who so neatly and expeditiously removed the old ceiling and put in place the new ceiling on the auditorium of the church. Several donated time and labor for this tusk. The work is well done and makes the church safe.

LEGAL NOTICES

Order For Appearance

State of Michigan, the Circuit Court for the County of Charlevoix, in Chancery.

Pearl W. Hall, Plaintiff vs. A. I. Richard Hull, Defendant.

Suit pending in the Circuit Court for the County of Charlevoix in said county, on the 23rd day of December A. D. 1926.

In this cause it appearing from affidavit on file, that the Defendant A. I. Richard Hall, is not a resident of this state, but resides in the state of Illinois.

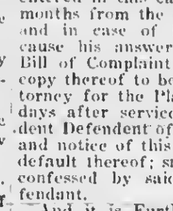
On motion of Arthur L. Fitch attorney for the Plaintiff, it is ordered that the said A. I. Richard Hall Defendant cause his appearance to be entered in this cause within three months from the date of this order; and in case of his appearance he cause his answer to the Plaintiff's Bill of Complaint to be filed, and a copy thereof to be served on said attorney for the Plaintiff, with fifteen days after service on said non-resident Defendent of a copy of said Bill and notice of this order; and that in default thereof; snid bill be taken as confessed by said non-resident Defendant.

And it is Further Ordered, That within forty days the Plaintiff cause a notice of this order to be published in the Charlevoix Courier, a newspaper printed, published and circulated in said county, and that such publication be continued therein at least once in each week for six weeks in succession and that plaintiff cause a copy of this order to be mailed to said defendant A. I. Richard Hall at his last known post office address, by registered mail with postage thereon fully prepnid and demand a return receipt therefore; or that said plaintiff cause a copy of this order to be served on snid defendant A. I. Richard Hall personally at least twenty days before the time herein prescribed for the appearance of said defendant; or that said plaintiff shall cause a copy of this order to be served on the said defendant A. I. Richard Hall by registered mail and demand a return receipt from the post office department at least twenty days before the time prescribed for the appearance of the said defendant.

Purm C. Gilbert,
Circuit Judge.

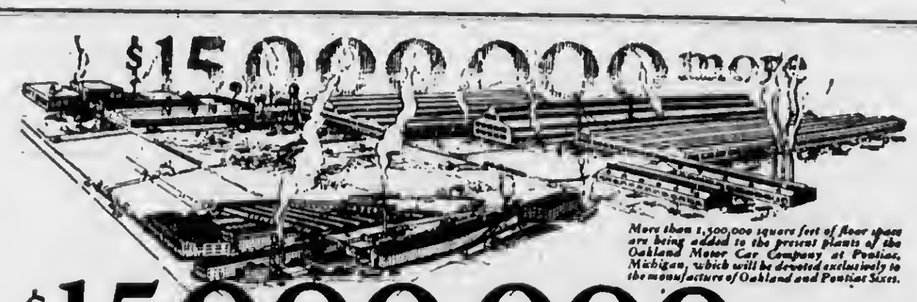
A. L. Fitch,
Attorney for Plaintiff
Business Address., Charlevoix, Mich.
2-16

The Baby's Cold



Continues "dosing" with Drug medicine upsets delicate little stomachs. Treat colds externally with Vicks. You just rub it on

VICKS VAPORUB



More than 1,500,000 square feet of floor space are being added to the present plants of the Oakland Motor Car Company at Pontiac, Michigan, which will be devoted exclusively to the manufacture of Oakland and Pontiac Sixes.

$15,000,000 more to meet the demand for Oakland and Pontiac Sixes

Scarcely twelve months ago Oakland was only one of many manufacturers striving for preeminence. Today it ranks among the largest builders of motor cars in the world. Responsible for this tremendous growth have been a continuous series of triumphs resulting in a record-breaking 212% increase in business over 1925.

212% Increase
1925 Production . . . 43,018
1926 Production 134,089
Oakland and Pontiac Sixes

With the advent of the past year, came the introduction of the Pontiac Six. So great was the demand it created, that in six months Pontiac Six production had exceeded the greatest full year record previously scored by a new make of car. And by the end of the year, with Pontiac production reaching 76,523 cars, that record had been surpassed by more than 100%! In July came the Greater Oakland Six with 77 refinements, featured by that epochal engineering development—the Rubber-Silenced Chassis. And in every section of the land, Oakland sales leaped upward, necessitating the unprecedented production of 57,566 Oakland Sixes—nearly 15,000 more than in 1925—and surpassing any previous record in Oakland's twenty year history.

Now, with its position securely established, Oakland-Pontiac bids for new and greater heights—for over fifteen millions of dollars are being invested to provide for greater production.

In the strictest sense, this huge investment represents more than an expression of confidence by General Motors in Oakland principles of design, manufacture and distribution.

It stands as a tangible pledge to the public at large that in fundamental goodness and fundamental value Oakland Six and Pontiac Six will continue supreme in their fields!

Pontiac Six, $825 to $975. Oakland Six, companion to Pontiac Six, $1025 to 1295. All prices at factory. Bodies by Fisher. Easy to pay on the liberal General Motors Time Payment Plan.

BLOCK & SIMMONS, 113-15 Antrim St., Charlevoix, Mich.

OAKLAND-PONTIAC PRODUCTS OF GENERAL MOTORS
Sixes

Save Money While You Have The Chance

Christmas and New Years has passed and our hundreds of customers favored us with a mighty nice business. Now our desire is to impress on your minds that the Big Two-in-One Sale is still on. You know that every article on sale is merchandise of every-day use—all seasonable goods, and that our prices are so low that it will mean a big saving to you to stock up while the sale is on.

We are very busy right now with our annual inventory. In going over the line of goods, we have discovered greater bargains than previously offered. If rock-bottom prices will sell merchandise, this stock will soon be cleaned up. You cannot realize what these offerings are until you visit the store and look them over yourself.

Here Are Offerings That You Cannot Afford to Miss:

HORSE BLANKETS FOR THE FARMERS

8 Stable Blankets, valued at $3.50 to close out at $2.00

6 large Wool Street Blankets, valued at $9.00 to close out at $5.00

4 large Street Blankets, valued at $6.00 to close out at $4.00

A LARGE ASSORTMENT OF HORSE COLLARS TO CLOSE OUT AT

ONE-HALF PRICE

FOR THE WORKING MAN

$1.50 Overalls or Jackets, closing out price..... 98c

25c Canvas Gloves, to close out at..... 19c

15c Canvas Gloves, closing out price..... 11c

75c Heavy Wool Socks, closing out price 49c

60c medium weight Wool Socks, your choice 39c

The store is full of bargains we do not mention in this advertisement. A greater price reduction is now on. We are determined to dispose of this entire stock regardless of price. Buying merchandise of quality at prices offered during this sale is an opportunity seldom given. Visit the store and see our offerings—THEN BUY WHAT YOU NEED.

BENJAMIN BROWN

SEE US FOR YOUR AUCTION BILLS

THE OLDEST BANK IN CHARLEVOIX COUNTY
FORTY-THIRD YEAR IN BUSINESS

1884 1927

TO THOSE---

who are ambitious for a larger measure of success in 1927, this banks offers the judgment, facilities and finacial counsel essential to success.

Your account is invited and welcomed.

Charlevoix County Bank
CHARLEVOIX, MICHIGAN
Bridge & Company
THE BANK ON THE CORNER

LOCAL NEWS BRIEFLY TOLD

Cet the Habit—Read the Courier

COMMUNITY CALENDAR
January 12 to February 12

Charlevoix residents are enjoying the ansal winter diversion and dates often conflict. There were at least three events scheduled for Tuesday evening, which some people would have enjoyed participnting in and had to make n choice, while perhaps for the balance of the month they will have no evening engagements.

The Courier proposes to carry in its columns for a time at least, a calendar of community activities and invites the various organizations to consult it and contribute to it. The schedule for the next month is as follows so far as we are informed:

Jan. 14, 7:30 p. m. High school debate.

Jnn. 16, 4:15 p. m. Union Vesper service.

Jan. 17, 7:30 p. m. Parent-teacher meeting.

Jnn. 18, 8:00 p. m. Redpath concert.

Jan. 19, 2:30 p. m. Congregational Missionnry meeting.

Jan. 19, 6:30 p. m. Annual meeting Association of Commerce.

Jan. 21, 6:00 p. m. M. E. Club banquet.

Jan. 28, 2:30 p. m. Group W. C. T. U. meeting.

Feb. 1, 6:30 p. m. Community banquet (W. C. T. U.)

Feb. 2, 8:00 p. m. Lecture course number.

B. C. Mellencamp of Boyne City, was a Charlevoix business visitor Monday.

Ed. Hopkie of Indian River, is the hospital this week receiving medical treatment.

Larry Chase, who has been confined to his home for the past week with a severe cold, is reported better.

Mrs. C. E. Heller spent a few days last week at the home of her parents in East Jordan.

A. F. Young of Detroit, arrived in the city Tuesday to spend a short time on business.

Miss Monica Smith had her appendix removed at the Charlevoix hospital Monday afternoon.

Judge Parm C. Gilbert of Traverse City, was at the court house last Thursday and Friday on buisness.

Thomas Meggison of Traverse City, was a business visitor at the court house last Thursday and Friday.

Wm. Brat, age 10, of Ellsworth, was operated on for ruptured appendix Sunday night. His condition is critical.

Members of Pine Lake Lodge No. 122, Knights of Pythias, will have an oyster supper at their hall Thursday evening.

Mrs. Harvey Campbell of Jackson, is visiting at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Cook on Mason street.

Mrs. Nally Cram returned last Thursday from Flint, where she had been spending the past two weeks visiting relatives.

The annual meeting of the Masonic Building Association will be held at the Masonic temple next Tuesday evening.

Sheriff Dave Vaughn and Charles Novak are on a trip to Ionia and Chicago on business connected with the sheriff's office.

Perry Mason, professor in the University of Michigan, is home from Ann Arbor to visit his parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Mason.

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Taylor returned last Friday afternoon from Detroit, where they had been spending the past two months.

Robert Bridge left Monday for Lansing, where he will be joined by wife and go to Detroit to attend a state bankers' convention.

Lee Allard left Monday afternoon for Detroit, where he will receive medical treatment for his eyes at the veteran's bureau hospital.

Nally Cram left Friday for Chicago, where he will work at the Booth Fisheries plant in that city the remaining winter months.

The Literary and Sewing Club of the Methodist church will meet Thursday afternoon with Mrs. Grant Crandall. All members are urged to attend.

The Misses Kathleen McCall and Marion Smith spent the week end in Petoskey and witnessed the Petoskey-Manistee basketball game Friday evening.

Mr. and Mrs. George Glados returned the latter part of last week from points in the southern part of the state, where they had been spending the past two weeks.

Mrs. Art Alcox returned Monday from Grand Rapids, where she had gone for medical attention. Mrs. Charles Jefferies, who accompanied her on the trip, returned also.

Russell Gore of Detroit, member of the editorial staff of the Detroit News has been in the city the past week gathering material and taking photographs for feature stories.

The Missionary Society of the Congregational church will have a luncheon at 1 o'clock on Wednesday January 19, in the church parlors. There will be a program and special music.

Some unusually large catches of perch have been reported during the past week since Round lake froze over completely. Fish weighing a pound and better have been caught in large numbers.

The Odd Fellow hall was crowded last Wednesday evening on the occasion of the joint installation of Odd Fellows and Rebekahs. A social hour was grently enjoyed after installation of officers.

Junior Hebert, 4-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Hebert, had his leg broken last Saturday when he was pushed onto the icy sidewalk in front of his home by a dog which jumped upon him in play. The accident was a very regretable one and will lay the lad up for some time.

The Charlevoix high school basketball team will meet the Bellaire high school basketball team at Bellaire nn Saturday evening of this week in their first game since before the Christmas holidays. The local boys are out to revenge n former defeat by Bellaire earlier in the season.

Charlevoix high school on the negative will debate Trayerse City high school on the affirmative at the Charlevoix high school auditorium, on Friday evening, January 14th. The subject is "Resolved, That the United Stntes Government Should Own the Coal Mines." Charlevnix won a decision over Petoskey on the same question in their last debate.

The Methodist church school elected the following officers at a meeting lnst Wednesday evening: Superintendent, Wm. Black; asst. supt., Archie Belding, sec., Lucina Korth; treas., Charles Arnold; librarian, Orson Everts; pianist, Lucile Belding; orchestra leader, Jones Durance; primary supt., Mrs. Wm. Black, cradle roll supt., Opal Lewis, missionary supt., Mrs. George Russel, temperance supt., Mrs. Edward Stewart.

John Glados and John Moutsatson leave on Friday of this week for Detroit on the first part of their journey to Europe. They will spend until Sunday in Detroit, going from there to New York City, where they will take passage on the steamship Pres. Wilson, Jan. 25. Their distination is Sparta, Greece, their former home. This will he John Glados' first trip to his home land in 22 years and he will visit his mother, sister and a niece there. Moutsatson has been in this country 14 years and this will he his first trip home. Their passport allows them a year's time, and although they did not state how long they would be gone, they intimated that it would be the limit.

It has been the custom in the past for some of our thoughtful citizens to make a practice of feeding the sea gulls making their home with us during the winter. We call this matter to the attention of our readers and urge that more follow this example. An unusually large number are present this winter and food for them is scarce. They are our scavengers of the lakes and renider invaluable service in keeping the waters clean of dead animal and vegetable matter which, if not removed, would make our lakes unsanitary and full of filth. They will eat table scraps and refuse of any kind which would otherwise be buried or burned. One of our readers this morning suggested that if such scraps were left at this office he would see that the gulls got them. A few minutes of your time will help a good cause. Let's see what you can do.

Burning out chimneys caused many bad fires. Avoid this fire loss by using our Soot Destroyer. It does the work. 15c per pound. Charlevoix Hdw. Co.—Adv. 2tf.

SUNDAY BAND CONCERTS APPRECIATED

Community Spirit of Organization Given High Praise

Those who heard the city band play at the Congregational church Sunday night, were delighted with the music. The community spirit which prompts the members of the band to play at the different Sunday evening services, thus giving the people a chance to hear the music in the winter time when the band stands are unvailable on account of the cold, speaks well for the organization.

BAPTIST CHURCH

The Ladies' Aid is meeting todny with Mrs. Richmond on Upright street with a large attendance. They have had a series of stormy days for several weeks back and have shown their loyalty by keeping up the attendance and interest. The prevailing epidemic of illness, has had a marked effect on all departments of our work.

The usunl services will he held next Sunday. Preaching at 10:30 a. m. nnd 7:00 p. m. Bible school at noon. It is n joy to see the younger classes grow, and such fine boys and girls we are proud of them. A hearty invitation to all whose duties do not call them elsewhere.

CONGREGATIONAL ANNUAL MEETING

(Continued from page one.)

reported at 199 with an average attendance of 107. Organized classes have acted as church messengers; donated three dolls and paid travelling expenses to Japan; contributed splendidly to the church apportionment, alsn to Near East Relief funds.

The music committee gave a very gratifying report of the activities of the choir during the year. Tho Missionary committee gave a compilation of the benevolent contributions of the vnrious organizations amounting all tnld to about $800.00

The report of the Ladies' Aid Society and the auxilliary circles was most interesting. About $1,000.00 had been earned for church purposes, the social life fostered, strangers welcomed and the usual friendly cooperative spirit prevailed. The 1927 officers are president, Mrs. O'Neil; vice president, Mrs. Weaver, secretnry, Mrs. Saltonstall; treasurer, Mrs. Parmelee. Circle chairmen, Brewster, Mrs. C. Wood; Pilgrim, Mrs. Shores; South Side, Mrs. Parmelee.

The Woman's Missionary Society reported an interesting year of study with all financial obligations met in full and many special gifts of money and material. The 1927 officers are: President, Mrs. Cross; vice president, Mrs. Burns, Mrs. Cartier; secretary and assistant, Mrs. A. F. Bridge, Mrs. Dean; treasurer, Mrs. Dawson.

The Y. P. S. C. E. report showed the enrollment for 1926 as 39. Average attendance at devotional meetings 18. The stereopticon was rebuilt and two delegates expenses paid to state convention. Officers for 1927 are: President, Georgia Kelderhouse; vice president, Virginia Parker; secretary, George Bergman; treasurer, Maxwell Novak; pianist, Faida Ogden; junior superintendent, Walter Alexander.

At the conclusion of the business session, the Ladies' Aid served refreshments and a delightful social hour was passed.

Dancing party, I. O. O. F. hall, Friday evening, Jan. 14.—Adv. 2t1.

BAXTER RELIEF CORPS INSTALLS OFFICERS

Mrs. C. R. Bellinger in Role of Installing Officer

Baxter Relief Corps installed the following officers at their regular meeting in the Moose Hall, Thursday evening, January 6, Mrs. C. R. Bellinger acting as installing officer:

President, Mrs. Todd.
S. V., Mrs. C. R. Bellinger.
J. V., Mrs. Wakefield.
Chaplain, Mrs. Ager.
Treasurer, Mrs. Nowland.
Secretary, Mrs. Wm. Kibbe.
Con., Mrs. Blissett.
Guard, Mrs. Allison.
Asst. C., Mrs. Pearl.
Asst. G., Mrs. Plum.
Color Bearers: 1, Mrs. Provnst; 2, Mrs. Nowland; 3, Mrs. Cook; 4, Mrs. J. H. Bugbee.

EMMET COUNTY COURT HOUSE DAMAGED

Early Morning Blaze Causes Small Property Loss

A blaze started early last Thursday in the furnace room of the court house, Petoskey, at about five o'clock. It spread to the lower floor and broke through into the prosecuting attorney's office destroying the law library and causing some $500 damage to fixtures and books.

The damage to the building will approximate an additional $2,000. The fire was well controlled as soon as discovered or the biulding would have been razed.

Courier Want Ads. pay.

COURIER BARGAIN COLUMN.

Courier Want Ads. are One Cent per word per insertion. Minimum charge is 20 cents per insertion, for anything under 20 words. All Want Ads. are strictly cash in advance except to those who have ledger accounts. Please remember this when sending in your copy.

FOR SALE—LIVE STOCK

FOR SALE—Pure-bred Jersey heifer calves. Ralph Price, Ironton, Mich. 2t1.

FOR SALE—Two male Collie dogs, three months old. Price $5.00 each. John Klooster, phone 7013F12. 2t3.

WANTED—MISCELLANEOUS

FOR SALE—Five Tube Freshman Masterpiece Radio and speaker. Henry Stephans, Rt. 1, Charlevoix. 2t1 pd.

HELP WANTED.

SALESMAN WANTED—For lubricating oils, greases and paints. Excellent opportunity. Salary or commission. The Jed Oil and Paint Co., Cleveland, Ohio. 2t1pd.

ST. MARY'S CHURCH

Rev. Fr. Odelo, Pastor.
Sunday services 8:00 a. m. and 10:00 a. m.
Services Monday and Tuesday, 8:00 a. m.
Services Saturday 7:00 a. m.
Ladies' Altar Society meets Thursday afternoons.

For all the news, read the Courier

Eat More Fruit and Vegetables

"An apple a day keeps the doctor away" is an old adage. There is a heap of truth in it too. We have the apples as well as seasonable Fruits and Vegetables.

MONARCH CANNED GOODS

If you prefer canned goods, our counters are loaded with the reliable Monarch Brand line. With our complete stock of Fruits and Vegetables, both fresh and canned, we can fill any order placed with us. Try it, and see.

Milton Block

1905 1927

Safety--Strength-Service

When you find a bank of assured safety and unusual strength backed by a service that is friendly, personal and helpful, you've found the bank it will pay you to patronize.

The Charlevoix State Savings Bank, is the bank for everybody. Every account, large or small, is important in our eyes, and your account will have the same thoughtful care and consideration that has gained for us the confidence of Charlevoix people, many of whom have been with us since the bank was opened, twenty-two years ago.

The bank of complete service

Charlevoix State Savings Bank
CHARLEVOIX, MICHIGAN
W. S. Richardson, President.
A. D. Crimmins, Vice President.
Archie Livingston, Cashier.
G. W. Richardson, Asst. Cashier.

None But the Best To be Found Here

Our Groceries and Canned Goods, as well as Meats, will pass the most rigid inspection for their quality. And you will find them fairly priced. Note these:

Grocery Department

The name and fame of Golden Bantam Corn is known everywhere. Per Can 15c. 6 Cans for 85c.

Marcellus Sweet Wrinkle Peas, perfected tender and selected for their fine flavor, per can 15c. 6 for 85c

Lyed Hominy, made from the best hulled white corn, No. 3 Can 15c. 6 for 85c

Natural Brown Rice, the whole of the rice excepting the hull, contains all the bran and a much higher percentage of protein than the regular milled rice, per pound. 20c. 5lbs. for 90c.

We recommend Richelieu Rolled Oats as being the best on the market. Package 30c, 3 for 80c.

Meat Department

2 lbs. of Bologna 35c
2 lbs. Frankfurters for 35c
3 lbs. Liver Sausage for 25c
2 lbs. of Bologna 16c

MARTIN BLOCK
Opposite Post Office Phones 12 and 142

NEW PALACE THEATRE
ATTRACTIONS FOR THE COMING WEEK

Saturday and Sunday, January 15-16

Milton Sills in "THE UNGUARDED HOUR" with Doris Kenyon. He had fought off love—now he is fighting for it—for the kisses of a mad-cap maid. It's calling you, the hour when lovers sometimes forget. The mystic hour when each tick of the golden clock sounds a romantic heart beat. Only once in a long time does a great screen drama get a great combination like Milton Sills and Doris Kenyon. See it—It's Big! Also a Fox Comedy "A Polar Baron."

Wednesday and Thursday, January 19-20

Hoot Gibson in "CHIP OF THE FLYING U." Hoot is a shy cowboy artist afraid of women. She is a woman doctor on a visit to the ranch. Then a series of thrilling scenes, daring stunts, wild horsemanship and Hoot falls for the girl, the girl falls for Hoot and—but you'll want to see it for yourself because it's Hoot's greatest picture. From the famous novel by B. M. Bowers. Also Fox News and "Felix the Cat."

Coming—Gloria Swanson in "Fine Manners."
Coming—"Variety."
Coming—"Man of the Forest."

Brighten Your Home With Fresh Cut Flowers
—OR—
Blooming Plants
Flowers for all occasions
A. E. EDWARDS
FLORIST
We're as near as your telephone

wire your home

Let us do a neat, thorough job, giving you all the comfort and convenience of electricity. Let us install a G-E wiring system throughout—with all materials made by General Electric. It's the most satisfactory system—also the most economical, for it lasts a lifetime.

GE WIRING SYSTEM
—for lifetime service

Wood Bros.

36-74

Since 1857

Eagle Brand has raised more healthy babies than all other infant foods combined.

Borden's
EAGLE BRAND
CONDENSED MILK

BRINGS THEM BACK

Certainly we are anxious to sell a lot of Used Cars! Because we figure that every Used Car of the kind we sell will eventually bring us a New Car Customer.

BENJ. BROWN
Charlevoix, Michigan

A USED CAR IS ONLY AS DEPENDABLE AS THE DEALER WHO SELLS IT

$100

The first cash offer of $100.00 buys the biggest bargain in a piano we have ever seen offered.

WEBER PIANO
MAHOGANY FINISH

Full upright piano, beautifully finished in mahogany, shows hardly any wear, in fact, it looks like a new instrument. We have no room for it and will sell it to the first person who offers us $100.00 cash. Come into the store and look it over. Play it yourself and you will know its true value. It should find a ready buyer at this extremely low price.

S. M. SEE & SONS
Reliable Housefurnishers

WANTS THE EARTH AND THEN SOME

(Continued from page one.)

that the state should acquire at least a portion of the falls territory, and conserve it for our people and for the thousands of tourists who would be attracted there. This action having been decided upon and set in motion a considerable interest has since been created, and already trunk line roads have been built (imaginative) from every city and hamlet as the shortest, most scenic way to the falls. The Soo, rather selfishly, seeks to hog this great natural show place and Newberry has a good right to feel agrieved. Instead the Soo ought to turn in and work tooth and nail to make this Tahquamenon Park a reality and it ought to insist the road to the park lead from Newberry. To center too many of the upper peninsula's great attractions and make them available through but one outlet would be harmful to the whole of the northern peninsula. The Soo has sufficient to attract and to interest all who may visit there. The Tahquamenon falls district would attract tourists to another adventure in the upper peninsula and that rightfully belongs to Newberry. The Pictured Rocks ought to be included in a state park or public preserve and that belongs to Munising, the same as other great things of interest will attract to the other important places of the upper part of the state. The upper peninsula has a world of interesting things to offer the tourist and sight seers, and the quicker these natural advantages are utilized and capitalized the greater will be the trend of summer motorists to that country and the richer the harvest therefrom."

Christian Science Society

Sunday service 10:45 a. m.
Subject: "Life."
Sunday school at 12 o'clock.
Wednesday evening service 7:45.
Reading room open Tuesday and Saturday, 3 to 5 p. m
The public is cordially invited to attend our service.

For all the news, read the Courier.

JANUARY MEETING OF LOCAL W. C. T. U.

Numerous Plans for Future Activities Were Discussed

The January meeting of the W. C. T. U. was held last Thursday afternoon with Mrs. George Russell.

Mrs. Jolliffe had charge of the devotional and prayer service using as her theme: "Speak Unto the Children of Israel That They Go Forward."

Mrs. Jacobs presented a paper of unusual interest on "The Lord's Prayer."

Miss Eva Adams, accompanied by Mrs. Stelter, sang two beautiful and appropriate solos.

The flower committee reported remembering at Christmas time many who were sick or shut in.

Plans were made for financing an S. T. I. essay contest; for placing the "Young Crusaders" in the grade schools; for the annual Union Victory Day meeting on January 16th; for a community banquet early in February; and for co-operating with other womans' organizations in an attempt to preserve to the public the beautiful drive between Harbor Springs and Cross Village. It is reported that the land is for sale and it may result in cutting the timber.

A social half hour was planned and carried out in an unusual way and much enjoyed by all.

Group meetings are planned for January 28th, in six different neighborhoods. The February meeting will be held with Mrs. McMillan. Leader, Mrs. Mattson.

CHURCHES WILL HOLD UNION MEET SUNDAY

In Commemoration of Day Prohibition Became Effective

A union vesper service will be held at the Congregational church at 4:15 next Sunday, under the auspices of the Woman's Christian Temperance Union.

This meeting is being held to commemorate the date when the prohibition amendment to the constitution became effective.

Following is the program planned:
Doxology.
Prayer, Rev. Burns.
Solo, Mrs. Mattson.
Crusade Psalm.
Pageant, "Woman Torch Bearers."
Recitation, Mrs. Stewart.
Offertory.
Announcements.
Address, Rev. Pollock.
Benediction, Rev. Mattson.

Burning-out chimney damage both house and chimney. If you use our honest-to-goodness Soot Destroyer, your chimney won't burn out. 15c per pound. Charlevoix Hdw. Co.—Adv. 2tf.

Attention, Pythians

Oyster supper at 6:30 Thursday evening of this week, followed by regular lodge session with work in third rank. Provision has been made for every member, so be there on time. O. J. Hammond, C. C.

* * * * * * * * * * *
* COUNCIL PROCEEDINGS *
* * * * * * * * * * *

Council Chamber, Jan. 10, 1926

The common council of the city of Charlevoix met on the above date with Mayor Bergeon presiding. Aldermen present: Eckinger, Geiken, Howe, Livingston, Partridge.

Minutes of the meeting held January 3rd, were read and approved.

The finance committee submitted the following bills aggregating $3,778.79 and recommended they be allowed.

To The Honorable:
The Mayor and common council of the City of Charlevoix.
Gentlemen:
Your finance committee having examined the following bills, find them correct, and recommend they be allowed:

Contingent Fund
Arthur Bergeon, salary	$ 31.25
Elmu H. Cook, salary	52.08
D. S. Payton, salary	70.83
Mrs. O. D. Hammond, services	6.00
Bridge Fund
Elmer Johnson, salary	70.83
Police Fund
W. J. Weikel, salary	45.00
Cemetery Fund
Chas. Hyers, salary	2.00
Wood Bros., supplies	.60
Char. Hdw. Co., oil	1.40
Street Lighting Fund
Cent. Sts. Gen. Elect. Supply Co., supplies	4.50
Fire Fund
Chas. Marshall, salary	42.50
Charlevoix Fire Department, Reynolds and Ross' fires	36.50
Highway Fund
Art. Alcock, salary	57.50
Lou Sandle, labor	42.00
M. B. Hooker & Son, team	30.00
Advertising Fund
Wm. Byers, freight	2.50
W. A. Prindle, rent of sign	10.00
Chamber of Commerce, advertising	50.00
Water Fund
Char. Hdw. Co., supplies	6.55
Wood Bros., supplies	.25
Worthington Pump & Machinery Co., supplies	9.36
C. N. Bridge, salary	90.05
Interest and Sinking Fund
City Treasurer, Iron Swing Bridge Bonds, No. 13 and 14	2000.00
Interest on Bonds	120.00
Electric Fund
Graybar Elec. Co., washers	3.35
H. O. Johnston, supplies	21.70
Char. Hdw. Co., supplies	2.98
Chas. M. York, iron	.50
Char. Lbr. Co., lumber	22.30
Argo Milling Co., coal	3.30
O'Neill's Taxi Line, taxi	.50
General Elec. Co., supplies	13.35
Kahler & Friend, alcohol	3.20
Gen. Elec. Co., supplies	210.31
Cent. Sts. Gen. Elec. Supply Co., supplies	26.60
Bert Algos, labor	24.50
Wm. Chatfield, labor	22.38
Wood Bros., supplies	34.57
W. H. Guild, labor	1.00
C. N. Bridge, salary	14.12
Morris Ackert, salary	60.00
Jas. Divis, salary	47.50
Murley Plum, salary	50.00
Allen Ulrich, salary	50.00
Chas. Hyers, salary	48.00
Dan Soule, salary	62.50
Robt. Allspaugh, salary	50.00
A. M. McPherson, salary	21.00
Postmaster, envelopes	68.46
City Treasurer, express	3.84
City Treasurer, rebate on light bill	.77
Mary E. Hamilton, services	7.00
Traverse Bay Telephone Co., rent and toll	20.15
Traverse City Iron Works steel	4.75
Frank Wilks, labor	12.50
Dan Soule, pd. for express and drayage	4.12

Moved by Livingston, seconded by Partridge, that the bills be allowed. Motion carried by the following aye and nay vote:

Ayes, Aldermen, Eckinger, Geiken, Howe, Livingston, Partridge. Nays, none.

On motion duly made the council adjourned.

Chas. H. Lamphear,
City Clerk.
By D. S. Payton,
Deputy.

NOTICE

Of Primary Election and Filing of Petitions

To the qualified electors of the City of Charlevoix:

Notice is hereby given that the annual primary election will be held at the central polling place in said city, on Monday the 7th day of March, A. D. 1927 for the purpose of placing in nomination candidates for the following offices:

Mayor, City Clerk, City Treasurer, Justice of the Peace, Park Commissioner. One Alderman from each of the three wards. One Supervisor from each of the three wards. One Constable from each of the three wards.

You are further notified that under Section 14, of Act. 351 of the Public Acts of 1925, no nomination petition shall be received after four o'clock standard time in the afternoon of Tuesday, February the first.

Chas. H. Lamphear,
City Clerk.
By D. S. Payton,
Deputy.
212

The Charlevoix Hardware Co.

Bargains! Bargains!
WATCH OUR WINDOWS COME INSIDE

Prices are made to move goods this next week:

Heating Stoves Hand Sleighs
Skiis Blankets
Floor and Bridge Lamps

These are a just few. Come and see for yourself to appreciate.

Charlevoix Hardware Company
NORTHERN MICHIGAN'S FINEST STORE
Three Big Departments—Hardware, Furniture, Electrical

W. E. Byers John Boss

BYERS & BOSS
Auctioneers

We will cry your sales and clerk them. Furnish cups for all day sales.

Book sales at Courier Office

or call us by phone. All dates are made at The Courier office, phone 2-J. Phone any one of us and we will take care of your sale.

ONCE-IN-A-LIFETIME-OPPORTUNITY
AT OUR Mid-Winter Shoe Sale

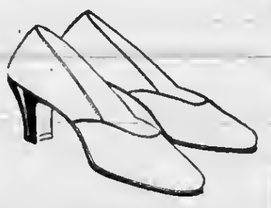
SEE OUR WINDOWS

A quick clearance of all seasonable shoes below factory cost on many lines

Women's Patent One Strap as low as
$2.95

Women's Patent and Satin Plain Pumps
$7.00 value
$5.85



Misses and Children's Oxfords and Pumps
98c - $1.98
$2.98

Boy's Shoes and Oxfords, as low as $2.98

It is sales like this that keep our store in the public's eye

American Boy
Solid Leather
School Shoes
$1.98

People that are worrying about how they are going to shoe up their boys and girls, Don't miss this sale.

JANUARY and FEBRUARY

Men's Work Shoes at half price. We absolutely cut the price right in two.

CAMPBELL BOOT SHOP

CHARLEVOIX COURIER

VOLUME 34. NUMBER 3. EIGHT PAGES COURIER, CHARLEVOIX, MICH., WEDNESDAY, JANUARY 19, 1927 PRICE $2.00 PER YEAR

WORDS OF PRAISE FOR CHARLEVOIX

SUMMER RESORTERS MAKE US A WINTER VISIT

They Claim We Have Natural Advantages For a Winter Resort Unsurpassed In Country

Statements made in the following article are the result of an interview by the Courier representative Monday evening with three prominent Charlevoix summer visitors, who from last Friday until Tuesday afternoon, have "let go" and enjoyed the natural advantages of what they term America's most beautiful summer and winter resort city.

Quoting from the statements of one of these gentlemen: "Charlevoix is the logical Lake Placid of America, and it is up to the city of Charlevoix to make this fact known to the world." If anyone doubts this statement, we respectfully refer them to George R. Hemmingway, Oak Park, Ill., realtor and owner of the Charlevoix County Nursery at Ironton; Homer D. Jones, president of the Western Fuel Company and Sequanota cottage owners and Frank F. Taylor, vice-president of the Illinois Merchants Trust Company of Chicago and Belvedere cottage owner, the last two named also from Oak Park, Ill., who are the three gentlemen before mentioned.

Since their arrival last Friday each day has been one continuous round of enjoyment. The schedule of activities included ice-boating on Lake Charlevoix, a fishing expedition at Ironton where they caught six fine Mackinaw trout, skiing, snowshoeing, etc. The fishing on Round Lake and Lake Charlevoix is an item in itself which attract many winter visitors, according to Mr. Hemmingway, who is an ardent follower of "Ike Walton" and his clan. Excellent advantages for skiing, snowshoeing, ice-boating, sliding, hiking, tobogganning, together with the health-giving ozone of the northern regions are natural resources we possess equaled by no other winter resort in America.

The party carried a movie camera as part of their equipment, and shot views of their activities. "When we reach home," a member of the party remarked, "our friends will be invited to see what we were doing on our northern trip, and you can depend on their joining our expedition next winter." In another statement he remarked: "You have everything that any other winter resort in the country can afford with some extra features thrown in for good measure. Get the people of you town interested in winter sports. Arrange iceboat races, skating races, skiing tournaments and the like among yourselves. Then advertise the fact to the world and when visitors come for winter sports you have something for them to enter into."

Asked what they thought of the school bonding proposition, they were unanimous in their opinion that we should, by all means, take immediate steps to better our school facilities. Every member of the party showed surprise when told that our sewage emptied into Round Lake and adjoining channels, and were gratified to learn that we were taking steps to remedy this condition as soon as possible. Their point of argument was that public improvements of this nature more than paid for themselves in making our city a more desirable place to live in. Each member of the party are city and county tax payers and are therefore vitally interested in any civic improvement made in our city or county.

On the whole their visit here far passed their expectations in point of pleasure returned. They remarked favorably on accommodations afforded at the Charlevoix Hotel where they stayed, and assured us they will return again next winter with a party of friends and look forward with anticipation for next winter's visit.

WEAVER RE-APPOINTED AS POSTMASTER

Affairs of Postoffice Satisfactorily Handled During His Term.

Word has been received from Washington, D. C. of the re-appointment of George W. Weaver as postmaster.

This will make Mr. Weaver's second term in this capacity and during the past four years under his direction, the affairs of the postoffice have been carried on in an efficient and satisfactorily manner.

MRS. LYDIA ALCOCK DIED SUNDAY NOON

Death Closes Illness of Over a Year's Duration

Charlevoix is again to mourn the loss of a beloved citizen in the death of Mrs. Lydia M. Alcock, which occurred at the Charlevoix hospital last Sunday at about noon. Mrs. Alcock had been in failing health for the past year and last week returned from Grand Rapids, where she had been taken for medical treatment.

Deceased was born at Goodwood, Ontario, Canada, October 26, 1865, and was 61 years old at the time of her death. She was married in Charlevoix to Archie Alcock, November 13, 1888 and had lived here continuously since that time. To this union were born two children, Mrs. Clarence Withers of this city and Harry, of Chicago, who, besides the husband, survive. Mrs. Alcock was a member of the Maccabees and was a Past Worthy Matron of the Eastern Star lodge.

Funeral services were held Tuesday at 2:30 p. m. from the home on Hurlbut avenue, Rev. Herman Burns of the Baptist church officiating. Interment at Brookside.

BOARD OF EDUCATION MEETS

PROPOSITION MADE LOOKING TO A SCHOOL NURSE.

Committee of Five Named to Work With Board on New Building Proposition

At the regular meeting of the Board of Education, held in the high school building Monday evening, several propositions were presented and discussed that may result in great good to the community and better health conditions among the students of the schools.

One proposition was that presented by M. A. Levinson, F. E. Cartier and Geo. Weaver, representing the Charlevoix hospital, for a co-operative plan in providing a school nurse, using the unoccupied time of the hospital nursing staff and hospital equipment, which would result, if followed out, in the Charlevoix schools having the services of a school nurse. The proposition was favorably received by the school board and will be worked out and decided upon within a short time.

The board also acted on a petition presented by citizens of Charlevoix, that a committee be appointed to work in conjunction with the school board, with regards to plans for better school facilities. The intent of the petition was that the problem was one concerning Charlevoix as a whole, and that better results could be obtained by having the advice of members qualified to express their opinions along with the regular school board members. Action taken by the school board resulted in the naming of a committee composed of Charles H. Emrey, Allan T. Campbell, F. J. Fessenden, Mrs. Clinton Cooper and M. A. Levinson.

One of the first to be taken by the strengthened board will be to get into touch with leading architects of the state, and familiarize themselves with details of modern school buildings.

In doing this they will be able to present at a later date plans for a school building of a type suitable to our needs, with the exact cost of same. Whether these plans will be carried out in their entirety or on a unit building schedule can then be decided.

Treasurer Oluf Nordrum reported about $44,000.00 in the sinking fund, available for expenditure on any plan of building adopted.

These regular meetings as well as all meetings of the school board are open to all who care to attend. The board welcomes suggestion along the line school administration, and wants everyone to feel at liberty to make them.

BAPTIST CHURCH

The usual services will be held on Sunday and the usual program carried out during the week.

A cordial invitation is extended to all who are not otherwise engaged, to attend all of these services.

Burning out chimneys caused many bad fires. Avoid this fire loss by using our Soot Destroyer. It does the work. 15c per pound. Charlevoix Hdw. Co.—Adv. 2tf.

RED AND WHITE BEAT BELLAIRE

WON THIRD SUCCESSIVE GAME LAST FRIDAY NIGHT

Excellent Team Work and Good Physical Condition Helped Avenge Former Defeat

Charlevoix high school's Red and White basketball team opened the after-holiday season last Friday evening by trimming Bellaire at the latter's gym, by the score of 30 to 23, thus avenging a defeat at the hands of Bellaire earlier in the season on the home floor.

Bellaire, with the advantage of playing on their home floor in their favor, started the game by sinking two field goals in the opening minutes. Charlevoix dropped in one, making the score 4 to 2, which was followed by another basket by Bellaire. The locals at that point in the game, seemed to find their stride and the half ended with the score 12 to 7 in their favor. The Red and White contined their strong offence in the third quarter and held their lead throughout the remainder of the game. Saying they held their lead does not mean that it was a walk-away, however. In the final minutes of the third quarter, Bellaire, by a brilliant spurt, brought the score to 24 to 21 and at the opening of the final stanza, scored another field goal to make the count 23 to 24 in Charlevoix's favor. Six points counted for the locals in the fourth quarter ending the game 30 to 23.

This makes three straight wins for the local five. After losing the two opening games they have defeated Gaylord, Ellsworth and Bellaire in successive games. Excellent team work was a feature of the last game and this statement is verified by the score book, which shows scoring honors almost evenly dived among four players, Higman led with 4 field goals and 2 free throws, Smith had three baskets to his credit, Beaudoine 3 and "Red" McCann 3. Novak and Cooper played good games at guard.

Coach Buchen seems to have his men in the pink of physical condition and says he intends to keep them that way. With three victories tucked away, the locals are looking forward to meeting some of the stronger teams on their schedule with a confident attitude. They play at Gaylord Friday night.

VAUGHN RE-APPOINTS THREE OLD DEPUTIES

Gathers Experienced Men Around Him on Staff

With but two exceptions, the appointment of Albert Jubinville of Walloon Lake and a new man at Boyne City, the same deputies will serve under Sheriff David Vaughn as did under former sheriff, Charles Novak.

We understand that the present deputy at Beaver Island will suceed himself, along with Henry Fike of Boyne Falls, Henry Cook of East Jordan and Charles Marshall of Charlevoix. We commend Sheriff Vaughn on his good judgment in gathering a staff of experienced men around him to make up the county law enforcement body, and feel that the duties of the men will be efficiently taken care of.

They sure do wear—Rollins 89c hose. All colors now on sale for 74c at Campbell's.—Adv. 3t1.

NEW GOVERNOR STARTS WORK

MESSAGE TO 1927 LAWMAKERS A MEATY ONE

Capital Punishment by Lethal Gas Proposed by Sen. Martin—Farmer Elected Speaker

The Capitol is a busy place these days as Governor Fred W. Green and the 1927 Legislature tackle the many important problems confronting the new administration. These officials seem to realize that the public is now watching to see if the campaign promises were made to win votes, or if those who made them really meant what they said.

The fifty-fourth Michigan Legislature convened for the regular biennial session Wednesday, January 5. The chief accomplishments of the first week were the organization of the Senate and House, the selection of officials and employes, and the reception of the Governor's inaugural message.

The spirit of harmony and good will which seems to prevail among the lawmakers and between the legislative and executive branches of the State Government would indicate that during the coming months attention and energy will be directed to constructive accomplishments rather than to fuctional fights and jealous bitterness.

Governor Reads His Message

The most spectacular feature of the first week's session was the joint convention of the Senate and House Thursday afternoon at which Governor Green delivered his inaugural address to the lawmakers, justices of the Supreme Court, other state officials and a large crowd of citizens who packed the galleries and side lines to capacity.

Preceding the delivery of Governor Green's message, Dennis E. Alward, Secretary of the Senate, read the farewell address of former Governor Alex J. Groesbeck. This message declared that state business was "in an unusually healthy condition. Neither deficit, depleted treasury nor the necessity of devising new methods of taxation face the new legislature," he said. Groesbeck praised the present highway system and the conduct of road building affairs. He urged strengthening of the Administrative Board act.

Governor Green's message painted State affairs in very different color. He expressed grave apprehension regarding the condition of the state treasury and finance. He said, "I am having an audit made of the books and an inventory of the property. When these are completed, I will give them to you and to the public. I do know that the Highway Department has pledged its revenues in advance, that the State is not paying its bills; that Jackson prison owes the general fund nearly a million and a half dollars; that taxes have been levied and money raised for specific operations and then spent for other purposes. There are many disturbing rumors in regard to the State's financial condition which will only be quieted by an independent audit such as is under way.

Hits Juggling of Funds

"In the future there will be regular reports of receipts and expenditures that will reveal the State's true financial condition. In this connection a statute punishing the juggling of funds in public reports might well be adopted." Disgressing from his written message, Governor Green informed the legislature that past-due highway bills that he has found on hand since he took office January 1 amounted to more than $4,592,000.

Governor Green's message was a most comprehensive document, setting forth in firm sentences his ideas as to the most important needs of the state. He dealt clearly and convincingly with such problems as educational institutions, prisons, agriculture, taxation, the state police, workmen's compensation, primary elections, conservation and crime prevention.

He advised the legislature to be known for the quality, rather than the multiplicity of their enactments and brought great applause when he said, "There will be no Representative or Senator on the floor of either chamber authorized to speak for me. If I have any communication to make to you, either individually or collectively, I'll make it in person."

Referring to the Administrative Board act, Governor Green urged an amendment to give the members the power to override the gubernatorial veto. He declared, "The provision of the present law that makes it necessary for the Governor to sign all proceedings before they become legal made dummies of the other members of the Board."

(Continued on page three.)

ANNUAL REPORT JUDGE PROBATE

REVIEW OF WORK DONE DURING FISCAL YEAR

Probate Judge S. A. Corrall Itimizes Cases Handled and Disposition of Same

Judge of Probate S. A. Correll has submitted for publication a report of the activities in his office for the fiscal year of 1926, reporting in detail all cases handled and the disposition of same. The article will be of great interest to Courier readers and is as follows:

Determination of heirs, 10.
Testate estate, 11.
Intestate estates, 27.

Insane hearings, five and five persons committed to the state hospital at Traverse City.

Guardians appointed for minors, six.

Adult afflicted persons committed to Ann Arbor for treatment, seven.

Afflicted children sent to Ann Arbor for treatment, six.

Children adopted into homes, four.

In the Juvenile division of the court, forty-two dependent children have been before the court during the year. Two of these were sent to the State public school.

Mother's pensions were granted that covered thirty-seven dependent children.

Thirty three delinquent children have been brought before the court for disposal. Four girls, committed to the Girls Training School at Adrian and nine boys to the Boy's Vocational School at Lansing. Others have been placed on probation and are making good. In one case where there were a large number charged with the commission of crime, the evidence was not sufficient and they were discharged.

The inheritance tax determined in six estates and the amount collected was $3999.94. The exemptions have been increased under the present inheritance tax law. The tax to the widow and children is not as great as formerly.

WILL MEET IN LANSING FEB. 2-4

38th Annual Convention of Retail Lumber Dealers

Retail Lumber dealers, in all parts of Michigan, are looking forward to the Thirty-eighth Annual Convention of the Michigan Retail Lumber Dealers Association which will be held in Lansing, February 2, 3 and 4. This association, while old in years, has within the past three years made such progressive steps forward in promoting the home building idea that it is now classed as one of the most active and influential Lumber Associations in the country. Advance reservations indicate that the convention this year will exceed in number any previous gathering, and a program has been arranged of interest to dealers large and small in all parts of the state.

Charlevoix as well as all northern Michigan will be represented at the convention.

Get your auction bill printed here.

MICHIGAN LEADS IN WILD LIFE

QUANTITY AND VALUE OF GAME EXCEEDS OTHER STATES

Many Moose in Isle Royale's Confines—Partridge on Gain in Upper Peninsula

Considering all types of wild life, including commercial fish and fur-bearing animals, Michigan today leads all other states in the quantity of game and its value, according to the biennial report of John Baird, director of the Michigan Department of Conservation.

Deer, ruffed grouse, prairie chickens, quail, moose, rabbits and fish all showed great increase in the state during the past two years, Baird stated.

Since the passage of the "buck law" white-tailed deer have increased in number nearly equivalent to the supply when there were no state regulations on hunting, the report states.

Ruffed grouse or partridge, now under continuous protection in the upper peninsula, are increasing, although there is evidence of annual reduction in low Michigan, Baird said.

"Diversion of guns to the pheasant, during the last open season, showed a great decrease in the numbers of partridges killed," he said. "Particularly important in the conservation of the bird is the growing enthusiasm among sportsmen of the state for the 'no killing' dog trials. These trials divert from the shooting ranks, many of the best equipped bird hunters with event dates that intrude on the open season. Michigan is being cited nationally as the state best fitted, through abundance of bird, game and nature of covert, for this sport."

The prairie chicken is showing a considerable increase and is becoming more widely scattered, Baird said. The open season of 1926 was given as one of the reasons for the increase in grouse through the shooting of prairie chickens.

Quail are showing considerable increase in the lower peninsula and are fast spreading northward.

Nearly 4,000 moose were estimated by Baird to be under state protection.

"Indications of the presence of moose in Schoolcraft, Luce and Alger counties have been seen, but a count of the animals is almost impossible," he said. "However, we are certain there are now approximately 2,000 moose on Isle Royale."

In reporting the supply of rabbits and hare in the state, Baird said:

"At no time, probably, in the history of Michigan game regulation, have conditions pertaining to the supply of rabbits and hare been more satisfactory. Scattering has been noticeable and each successive season the presence of "cotton tail" is reported farther north. Perhaps both shooting and cotton-tail activities have had a part in holding the hare increase to a healthy status."

Michigan leads the United States in hatchery production of brook trout, wall-eyed pike and various species of bass, Baird said. Within the past five years more perch have been planted in the inland waters of Michigan than in all other states combined, the report shows.

During the fiscal year ending June 30, 1925, the output of state hatcheries was 227,837,413 fish. During 1926 the output was 37,659,766 less or 190,177,647 fry.

The gradual depletion of the amount of edible fish taken by the commercial industries from Great Lakes waters, estimated at 19,288,525 in 1923, was reversed in 1925

(Continued on page three.)

ONE FISH LINE THE LIMIT TO ALL FISHERMEN

Conservation officers are cautioning ice fishermen, who use more than one line in taking fish through the ice, that they will be prosecuted if taken into custody on second offense. The officers state that while it is against the law to drop more than one line through a single ice-hole, it is permissable to attach more than one hook to a line.

It might be well for local ice fishermen to heed this warning. The practice of using more than one line has been followed quite extensively, we understand, in local waters, and a conservation officer is more than likely to make you a call most any time.

Shortening the Long Winter Nights

CORRESPONDENCE

NORWOOD

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Wagner of Charlevoix, are spending a few days with relatives at Norwood.

Mr. and Mrs. Isa Alward of Ellsworth, spent Monday and Tuesday with their mother, Mrs. Haskins.

Mr. and Mrs. Glen Pearl of Charlevoix, visited Mr. and Mrs. Fred Hull and family last Thursday evening.

The hunters are at a loss to know where the foxes have gone, that have always loitered along the Norwood beach, have gone.

Mr. and Mrs. Plenny Genett and also Reid Genett of Bellaire, attended the funeral of Mrs. Arthur Kidder of Cadillac, last Wednesday.

Mrs. Clarence Boomstra of Grand Rapids, was called to Norwood on account of the illness of her mother, Mrs. Haskins.

The Norwood L. A. S. met with Mrs. Frank Richardson last Wednesday at an all day meeting, where a fine pot luck dinner was served During the meeting the ladies made plans for a play to be given sometime in February. A good time was enjoyed by all present.

That wonderful wearing Rollins 89c hose now on sale for 74c. Don't delay your purchase. Campbell Boot Shop.—Adv. 3t1.

CLARION

Eva Hime was quite sick last week.

W. C. Palmer was a business caller in Charlevoix on Saturday.

Charles Church returned to Alma on Sunday.

Mrs. Jean Morcan and Mrs. Colden were in Petoskey on Friday.

Mrs. E. J. Emburg and sister, Miss Ida Huff have been ill the past week.

Mrs. Frank Regan was called to Boyne City on Monday, by the death of her nephew.

Mr. and Mrs. James Hilbert, and Mrs. Hilbert, Sr., of Traverse City were guests Thursday of Mrs. Gladys Palmer.

BARNARD

Lots of grippe in the neighborhood.

Mr. Bank had the misfortune to lose a cow one day last week.

The Grange social drew a good crowd and netted the order over $34.00.

No church or Sunday school on Sunday on account of stormy weather and bad roads.

Rev. DeYoung will preach at the South Barnard church again on Sunday, January 23rd.

ELLSWORTH

FAIRVIEW-BANKS

Lots of snow, and roads are poor,

Peter H. Timmer is on the sick list this week.

Dr. Duffie of Central Lake, was in this vicinity, Saturday.

Walter DeGroot of Atwood, was in this neighborhood Saturday afternoon.

The county snow plow, opened our roads for cars last week Friday. Come again.

ing wood to the Mitchell school house ing wood to the Mitchell school ohuse the past week.

Mr. and Mrs. George Klooster of Ellsworth, visited with Mr. and Mrs. H. DeGroot, Tuesday.

Miss Henrietta Seneker left for the southern part of the state, to visit friends and relatives for a couple of weeks.

Mr. and H. J. Timmer, who have been visiting friends and relatives in Zeeland, Michigan, returned home, Friday afternoon.

ST. MARY'S CHURCH

Rev. Fr. Odelo, Pastor.

Sunday services 8:00 a. m. and 10:00 a. m.

Services Monday and Tuesday, 8:00 a. m.

Services Saturday 7:00 a. m.

Ladies' Altar Society meets Thursday afternoons.

Watch Elimination!

Good Health Depends Upon Good Elimination.

RETENTION of bodily waste in the blood is called a "toxic condition." This often gives rise to a dull, languid feeling and, sometimes, toxic backaches and headaches. That the kidneys are not functioning properly is often shown by burning or scanty passage of secretions. Thousands have learned to assist their kidneys by drinking plenty of pure water and the occasional use of a stimulant diuretic. 50,000 users give Doan's signed endorsement. Ask your neighbor!

DOAN'S PILLS 60c

Stimulant Diuretic to the Kidneys

Foster-Milburn Co., Mfg. Chem., Buffalo, N. Y.

Fine for catarrh when melted in a spoon or snuffed up the nose and vapors inhaled.

Head and Chest Colds Relieved In a New Way

A Salve which Releases Medicated Vapors when Applied Over Throat and Chest.

Inhaled as a vapor and, at the same time absorbed through the skin like a liniment, Vicks VapoRub reaches immediately inflamed, congested air passages.

This is the modern direct treatment for all cold troubles that is proving so popular in Canada and the States where over 17 million jars are now used yearly.

Splendid for sore throat, tonsilitis, bronchitis, croup, head and chest colds, catarrh, asthma or hay fever.

Just rub Vicks over throat and chest and inhale the medicated vapors. It quickly loosens up a cold.

VICKS VAPORUB

OVER 21 MILLION JARS USED YEARLY

NEW GOVERNOR STARTS HIS WORK

(Continued from page one.)

Farmer Elected Speaker

After considerable jockeying and and electioneering, the Representatives, by a big majority, elected Rep. Lynn C. Gardner of Stockbridge, Livingston County, as Speaker for the present session. Rep. Gardner is a farmer who had his first legislative experience during the past two years. His reputation for fairness and good judgment made his election a popular one and augurs well for a harmonious session of real accomplishment. The new Speaker's first job is to select the membership of the sixty-two standing committees of the House. To give him an opportunity to make these perplexing committee appointments, the legislature recessed from Thursday January 6, until Wednesday, January 12.

The full list of committee assignments has already been announced in the Senate. Lieutenant Governor Loran D. Dickinson had been busy on this job for some time before the Legislature convened. A movement was started to take the appointment of committees away from Dickinson and turn is over to a committee of Senators, but this proposal was abandoned, and instead a group of Senators talked the appointment over with Mr. Dickinson informally and it is reported that he made some changes in the original line-up.

Capital Punishment Fight Looms

Even though the general tone of the present session will probably be that of harmony, one measure that is sure to provoke a real battle has already made its appearance. This is the capital punishment bill introduced by Senator Vincent A. Martin of Fruitport. It is much the same as the capital punishment measure which aroused great interest two years ago, except that it substitutes lethal gas for the electric chair. During the past several sessions, the vote on capital punishment has always been a close one and in this session many of those who have led the fight against the measure are said to have decided to vote in the affirmative.

You can save money is you buy shoes now at Campbell's—Adv. 3t1.

MICHIGAN LEADS IN WILD LIFE

(Continued from page one.)

with a gain of more than six million pounds, Baird stated.

"For the first year covered by this report, lake trout showed a gain of 1,222,125 pounds over the preceding year. The catch of white fish was increased 350,000 pounds and herring made the greatest gain with 7,189,425 pounds, as compared with 3,680,294 in 1923," Baird said.

Evidence that the sturgeon is becoming more rare, as each survey is made, is contained in the report which shows that only 17,402 pounds of the fish were taken from Michigan waters in 1925 as compared with 515,760 in 1923. Wall-eyed pike, also show a depletion.

CONGREGATIONAL CHURCH

B. G. Mallson, D. D., Minister

10:30 morning service with sermon on "Joint Heirs of the Grace of Life."

12:00 noon, Sunday school.

6:00 p. m., senior and junior Endeavor meetings.

7:00 p. m. evening service of song and worship with some readings and comments drawn from books of the day followed by a brief gospel address, on the topic, "Peter's Keys."

The pastor was unable to get to Ironton last Sunday because of the storm but hopes to hold service there the coming Sunday.

Read the Courier, and get the news

METHODIST CHURCH

C. E. Pollock, Minister

Sermon and worship at 10:30 a. m. next Sundny. The Juniors are all expected for their sermon and junior hour with their superintendent at this hour.

Sunday school meets at twelve o'clock, with line enthusiasm and good teachers. Come for the lesson study.

The Epworth League which meets at 6:30, will begin its study of the "Advancing Church," next Sunday.

A great Vesper Service next Sunday at 4:15 p. m. Special features of this pleasant and instructive hour will be a good orchestra, special vocal music, sermon, "Mohammed or Christ," rich costuming for a pageant, "A Moslem Wedding," special new slides from our Detroit area office showing the features of Moslem life. This will be a fascinating study, and worship hour for all who attend and all are welcome.

A line men's meeting is planned for next Monday evening at seven o'clock. The special speaker of the evening will be Mr. Charles Gale of this city. His subject will be "The Copper Country." Mr. Gale thinks Charlevoix is the best place ever, but he has eyes and heart for the northern peninsula also. See this great northern country through his eyes next Monday evening.

The pastors lecture this week Thursday evening will be given at seven o'clock sharp. This change of hour is made to accommodate those who wish to attend the P. T. A. at the school house. His subject will be, "The Prophet of Faith." All are welcome.

The big annual club event is a banquet on Friday evening this week. The club ladies will have their husbands as guests.

Young people's prayer meeting each Monday evening at 6:30 sharp.

Rev. C. E. Pollock officiated at the funeral of Mrs. Agnes Cameron in Petoskey Tuesday morning at ten o'clock.

January and February Shoe Sale. Get yours now at Campbell's.—Adv. 3t1.

AT THE MOVIES

Death-defying Leap Taken By Acrobat in "Variety"

"Variety," Paramount's picture, which arrives at the Palace Theatre on Saturday and Sunday, was given a private showing at Atlantic City, New Jersey, some months ago. One of the Paramount advertising men, in an effort to discover the audience's reactions, stopped a few of the guests and asked them to tell, frankly, what they thought of the film.

First and foremost, the thing which seemed to stay with most of the spectators were the scenes at the Berlin Winter Garden. It's no wonder, because in those sequences, thousands of people were used. Every conceivable type was represented among them. The searching eye of the camera discloses both "high-hat" and "low-brow" gentry. Men eating pretzels, and others drinking beer. Here—one leaning over a huge stomach, and there—a long lean personage.

Lots of Laughs Found In New Swanson Film

Under the head of "Etiquette," on a poster advertising Gloria Swanson's latest Paramount starring production, which comes to the Palace Theatre on Saturday and Sunday; the following has been observed.

"Peas should not be eaten with a knife—sword swallowers are de trop in good society.

"Don't drink from a finger bowl—some one may have used it before you."

"If you get a spot on the tablecloth, cover it with your glass."

All of which gives one some slight idea of the laughs in store for the movie-goers, who see Gloria as a little burlesque chorus girl taking a course in "Fine Manners." Eugene O'Brien plays opposite the star. Richard Rosson directed.

CHURCH OF GOD

Services held at the chapel.

Morning devotional worship at 10:30 a. m.

Sunday school at 11:45 a. m.

Young people's service at 6:30 p. m.

Evening service at 7:30 p. m.

Prayer meeting at 7:30 p. m. Wednesday evening.

The sewing circle will meet at Earnest Knoxe's, Thursday, if the weather is favorable. A way is provided for those who care to go.

Come to the services. We cordially invite you, one and all.

And we can be thankful shoes are not like auto tires so we would have to sit down when we get a hole in them.

Get your auction bill printed here.

There's only one Pontiac Six
—and only General Motors could build it

The Pontiac Six swept into the limelight because it came to the public representing all the skill, resources and experience of General Motors. And it has remained in the limelight from the very day of its introduction, because no other car has since appeared which offers so much for so low a price.

Only the economies of General Motors' vast purchasing power could make possible at $825—Fisher closed bodies of such commanding beauty, finished in distinctive Duco colors, and such unusual fine car features as 46 lb. crankshaft, honed cylinders, full pressure oiling, automatic spark control, and bronze-backed interchangeable bearings of the costliest type.

A full year has passed since the Pontiac Six was introduced—and the supreme satisfaction of 60,000 owners lends emphasis to the fact: There is only one Pontiac Six—and only General Motors could build it!

Pontiac Six, $825 to $975. Oakland Six, companion to Pontiac Six, $1025 to $1295. All prices at factory. Bodies by Fisher. Easy to pay on the liberal General Motors Time Payment Plan.

BLOCK & SIMMONS

113-15 Antrim St., Charlevoix, Mich.

PONTIAC SIX

Save Money While You

Have The Chance

Christmas and New Years has passed and our hundreds of customers favored us with a mighty nice business. Now our desire is to impress on your minds that the Big Two-in-One Sale is still on. You know that every article on sale is merchandise of every-day use—all seasonable goods, and that our prices are so low that it will mean a big saving to you to stock up while the sale is on.

We are very busy right now with our annual inventory. In going over the line of goods, we have discovered greater bargains than previously offered. If rock-bottom prices will sell merchandise, this stock will soon be cleaned up. You cannot realize what these offerings are until you visit the store and look them over yourself.

Here Are Offerings That You Cannot Afford to Miss:

HORSE BLANKETS FOR THE FARMERS

8 Stable Blankets, valued at $3.50 to close out at $2.00

6 large Wool Street Blankets, valued at $9.00 to close out at $5.00

4 large Street Blankets, valued at $6.00 to close out at $4.00

A LARGE ASSORTMENT OF HORSE COLLARS TO CLOSE OUT AT

ONE-HALF PRICE

FOR THE WORKING MAN

$1.50 Overalls or Jackets, closing out price 98c

25c Canvas Gloves, to close out at 19c

15c Canvas Gloves, closing out price 11c

75c Heavy Wool Socks, closing out price 49c

60c medium weight Wool Socks, your choice 39c

The store is full of bargains we do not mention in this advertisement. A greater price reduction is now on. We are determined to dispose of this entire stock regardless of price. Buying merchandise of quality at prices offered during this sale is an opportunity seldom given. Visit the store and see our offerings—THEN BUY WHAT YOU NEED.

BENJAMIN BROWN

SEE US FOR YOUR AUCTION BILLS

CORRESPONDENCE

NORWOOD

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Wagner of Charlevoix, are spending a few days with relatives at Norwood.

Mr. and Mrs. Isa Alward of Ellsworth, spent Monday and Tuesday with their mother, Mrs. Haskins.

Mr. and Mrs. Glen Pearl of Charlevoix, visited Mr. and Mrs. Fred Hull and family last Thursday evening.

The hunters are at a loss to know where the foxes have gone, that have always loitered along the Norwood beach, have gone.

Mr. and Mrs. Plenny Genett and also Reid Genett of Belloire, attended the funeral of Mrs. Arthur Kidder of Cadillac, last Wednesday.

Mrs. Clarence Boomstra of Grand Rapids, was called to Norwood on account of the illness of her mother, Mrs. Haskins.

The Norwood L. A. S. met with Mrs. Frank Richardson last Wednesday at an all day meeting, where a fine pot luck dinner was served During the meeting the ladies made plans for a play to be given sometime in February. A good time was enjoyed by all present.

That wonderful wearing Rollins 89c hose now on sale for 74c. Don't delay your purchase. Campbell Boot Shop.—Adv. 3t1.

CLARION

Eva Hime was quite sick last week.

W. C. Palmer was a business caller in Charlevoix on Saturday.

Charles Church returned to Alma on Sunday

Mrs. Jean Moreau and Mrs. Colden were in Petoskey on Friday.

Mrs. E. J. Emburg and sister, Miss Ida Hoff have been ill the past week.

Mrs. Frank Regan was called to Boyne City on Monday, by the death of her nephew.

Mr. and Mrs. James Hilbert, and Mrs. Hilbert, Sr., of Traverse City were guests Thursday of Mrs. Gladys Palmer.

BARNARD

Lots of grippe in the neighborhood.

Mr. Bunk had the misfortune to lose a cow one day last week.

The Grange social drew a good crowd and netted the order over $34.60.

No church or Sunday school on Sunday on account of stormy weather and bad roads.

Rev. DeYoung will preach at the South Barnard church again on Sunday, January 23rd.

ELLSWORTH

FAIRVIEW-BANKS

Lots of snow, and ronds are poor.

Peter H. Timmer is on the sick list this week.

Dr. Duffie of Central Lake, was in this vicinity, Saturday.

Walter DeGroot of Atwood, was in this neighborhood Saturdny afternoon.

The county snow plow, opened our ronds for cars last week Friday. Come agnin.

ing wood to the Mitchell school house ing wood to the Mitchell school ohuse the past week.

Mr. and Mrs. George Klooster of Ellsworth, visited with Mr. and Mrs. H. DeGroot, Tuesday.

Miss Henrietta Senecker left for the southern part of the state, to visit friends nnd relatives for a couple of weeks.

Mr. and H. J. Timmer, who have been visiting friends and relatives in Zeeland, Michigan, returned home, Friday afternoon.

ST. MARY'S CHURCH

Rev. Fr. Odelo, Pastor.

Sunday services 8:00 a. m. and 10:00 a. m.

Services Monday and Tuesday, 8:00 a. m.

Services Saturday 7:00 a. m.

Ladies' Altar Society meets Thursday afternoons.

Watch Elimination!

Good Health Depends Upon Good Elimination.

RETENTION of bodily waste in the blood is called a "toxic condition." This often gives rise to a dull, languid feeling and, sometimes, toxic backaches and headaches. That the kidneys are not functioning properly is often shown by burning or scanty passage of secretions. Thousands have learned to assist their kidneys by drinking plenty of pure water and the occasional use of a stimulant diuretic. 50,000 users give Doan's signed endorsement. Ask your neighbor!

DOAN'S PILLS 60c

Stimulant Diuretic to the Kidneys

Foster-Milburn Co., Mfg Chem., Buffalo, N. Y.

Fine for catarrh when melted in a spoon or snuffed up the nose and vapors inhaled.

Head and Chest Colds Relieved In a New Way

A Salve which Releases Medicated Vapors when Applied Over Throat and Chest.

Inhaled as a vapor and, at the same time absorbed through the skin like a liniment, Vicks VapoRub reaches immediately inflamed, congested air passages.

This is the modern direct treatment for all cold troubles that is proving so popular in Canada and the States where over 17 million jars are now used yearly.

Splendid for sore throat, tonsilitis, bronchitis, croup, head and chest colds, catarrh, asthma or hay fever.

Just rub Vicks over throat and chest and inhale the medicated vapors. It quickly loosens up a cold.

VICKS VAPORUB

OVER 21 MILLION JARS USED YEARLY

NEW GOVERNOR STARTS HIS WORK

(Continued from page one.)

Farmer Elected Speaker

After considerable jockeying and and electioneering, the Representatives, by a big majority, elected Rep. Lynn C. Gardner of Stockbridge, Livingston County, as Speaker for the present session. Rep. Gardner is a farmer who had his first legislative experience during the past two years. His reputation for fairness and good judgment made his election a popular one and augurs well for a harmonious session of real accomplishment. The new Speaker's first job is to select the membership of the sixty-two standing committees of the House. To give him an opportunity to make these perplexing committee appointments, the legislature recessed from Thursday January 6, until Wednesday, January 12.

The full list of committee assignments has already been announced in the Senate. Lieutenant Governor Luran D. Dickinson had been busy on this job for some time before the Legislature convened. A movement was started to take the appointment of committees away from Dickinson and turn is over to a committee of Senators, but this proposal was abandoned, and instead a group of Senators talked the appointment over with Mr. Dickinson informally and it is reported that he made some changes in the original line-up.

Capital Punishment Fight Looms

Even though the general tone of the present session will probably be that of harmony, one measure that is sure to provoke a real battle has already made its appearance. This is the capital punishment bill introduced by Senator Vincent A. Martin of Fruitport. It is much the same as the capital punishment measure which aroused great interest two years ago, except that it substitutes lethal gas for the electric chair. During the past several sessions, the vote on capital punishment has always been a close one and in this session many of those who have led the fight against the measure are said to have decided to vote in the affirmative.

You can save money is you buy shoes now at Campbell's—Adv. 3t1.

MICHIGAN LEADS IN WILD LIFE

(Continued from page one.)

with a gain of more than six million pounds, Baird stated.

"For the first year covered by this report, lake trout showed a gain of 1,222,125 pounds over the preceding year. The catch of white fish was increased 350,000 pounds and herring made the greatest gain with 7,189,425 pounds, as compared with 3,680,294 in 1923," Baird said.

Evidence that the sturgeon is becoming more rare, as each survey is made, is contained in the report which shows that only 17,402 pounds of the fish were taken from Michigan waters in 1925 as compared with 515,760 in 1923. Wall-eyed pike, also show a depletion.

CONGREGATIONAL CHURCH

B. G. Mattson, D. D., Minister

10:30 morning service with sermon on "Joint Heirs of the Grace of Life."

12:00 noon, Sunday school.

6:00 p. m., senior and junior Endeavor meetings.

7:00 p. m. evening service of song and worship with some readings and comments drawn from books of the day followed by a brief gospel address on the topic, "Peter's Keys."

The pastor was unable to get to Trouton last Sunday because of the storm but hopes to hold service there the coming Sunday.

Read the Courier, and get the news

METHODIST CHURCH

C. E. Pollock, Minister

Sermon and worship at 10:30 a. m. next Sundny. The Juniors are all expected for their sermon and junior hour with their superintendent at this hour.

Sunday school meets at twelve o'clock, with fine enthusiasm and good teachers. Come for the lesson study.

The Epworth League which meets at 6:30, will begin its study of the "Advancing Church," next Sunday.

A great Vesper Service next Sundny at 4:15 p. m. Special features of this pleasant and instructive hour will be a good orchestra, special vocal music, sermon, "Mohammed or Christ," rich costuming for a pageant, "A Moslem Wedding," special new slides from our Detroit area office showing the features of Moslem life. This will be a fascinating study and worship hour for all who attend and all are welcome.

A fine men's meeting is planned for next Monday evening at seven o'clock. The special speaker of the evening will be Mr. Charles Gale of this city. His subject will be "The Copper Country." Mr. Gale thinks Charlevoix is the best place ever, but he has eyes and heart for the northern peninsula also. See this great northern country through his eyes next Monday evening.

The pastors lecture this week Thursday evening will be given at seven o'clock sharp. This change of hour is made to accommodate those who wish to attend the P. T. A. at the school house. His subject will be, "The Frontet of Faith." All are welcome.

The big annual club event is a banquet on Friday evening this week. The club ladies will have their husbands as guests.

Young people's prayer meeting each Monday evening at 6:30 sharp.

Rev. C. E. Pollock officiated at the funeral of Mrs. Agnes Cameron in Petoskey Tuesday morning at ten o'clock.

January and February Shoe Sale. Get yours now at Campbell's.—Adv. 3t1.

AT THE MOVIES

Death-defying Leap Token By Acrobat in "Variety"

"Variety," Paramount's picture, which arrives at the Palace Theatre on Saturday and Sunday, was given a private showing at Atlantic City, New Jersey, some months ago. One of the Paramount advertising men, in an effort to discover the audience's reactions, stopped a few of the guests and asked them to tell, frankly, what they thought of the film.

First and foremost, the thing which seemed to stay with most of the spectators were the scenes at the Berlin Winter Garden. It's no wonder, because in those sequences, thousands of people were used. Every conceivable type was represented among them. The searching eye of the camera discloses both "high-hat" and "low-brow" gentry. Men eating pretzels, and others drinking beer. Here—one leaning over a huge stomach, and there—a long lean personage.

Lots of Laughs Found In New Swanson Film.

Under the hend of "Etiquette," on a poster advertising Gloria Swanson's latest Paramount starring production, which comes to the Palace Theatre on Saturday and Sunday; the following has been observed.

"Peas should not be eaten with a knife—sword swallowers are de trop in good society.

"Don't drink from a finger bowl—some one may have used it before you."

"If you get a spot on the tablecloth, cover it with your glass."

All of which gives one some slight idea of the laughs in store for the movie-goers, who see Gloria as a little burlesque chorus girl taking a course in "Fine Manners." Eugene O'Brien plays opposite the star. Richard Rosson directed.

CHURCH OF GOD

Services held at the chapel.

Morning devotional worship at 10:30 a. m.

Sunday school at 11:45 a. m.

Young people's service at 6:30 p. m.

Evening service at 7:30 p. m.

Prayer meeting at 7:30 p. m. Wednesday evening.

The sewing circle will meet at Earnest Knoxe's, Thursday, if the weather is favorable. A way is provided for those who care to go.

Come to the services. We cordially invite you, one and all.

And we can be thankful shoes are not like auto tires so we would have to sit down when we get a hole in them.

Get your auction bill printed here

There's only one Pontiac Six
—and only General Motors could build it

The Pontiac Six swept into the limelight because it came to the public representing all the skill, resources and experience of General Motors. And it has remained in the limelight from the very day of its introduction, because no other car has since appeared which offers so much for so low a price.

Only the economies of General Motors' vast purchasing power could make possible at $825—Fisher closed bodies of such commanding beauty, finished in distinctive Duco colors, and such unusual fine car features as 46 lb. crankshaft, honed cylinders, full pressure oiling, automatic spark control, and bronze-backed interchangeable bearings of the costliest type.

A full year has passed since the Pontiac Six was introduced—and the supreme satisfaction of 60,000 owners lends emphasis to the fact: There is only one Pontiac Six—and only General Motors could build it!

Pontiac Six, $825 to $975. Oakland Six, companion to Pontiac Six, $1025 to $1295. All prices at factory. Bodies by Fisher. Easy to pay on the liberal General Motors Time Payment Plan.

BLOCK & SIMMONS

113-15 Antrim St., Charlevoix, Mich.

PONTIAC SIX

Save Money While You

Have The Chance

Christmas and New Years has passed and our hundreds of customers favored us with a mighty nice business. Now our desire is to impress on your minds that the Big Two-in-One Sale is still on. You know that every article on sale is merchandise of every-day use—all seasonable goods, and that our prices are so low that it will mean a big saving to you to stock up while the sale is on.

We are very busy right now with our annual inventory. In going over the line of goods, we have discovered greater bargains than previously offered. If rock-bottom prices will sell merchandise, this stock will soon be cleaned up. You cannot realize what these offerings are until you visit the store and look them over yourself.

Here Are Offerings That You Cannot Afford to Miss:

HORSE BLANKETS FOR THE FARMERS

8 Stable Blankets, valued at $3.50 to close out at $2.00

6 large Wool Street Blankets, valued at $9.00 to close out at $5.00

4 large Street Blankets, valued at $6.00 to close out at $4.00

A LARGE ASSORTMENT OF HORSE COLLARS TO CLOSE OUT AT

ONE-HALF PRICE

FOR THE WORKING MAN

$1.50 Overalls or Jackets, closing out price..... 98c

25c Canvas Gloves, to close out at..... 19c

15c Canvas Gloves, closing out price..... 11c

75c Heavy Wool Socks, closing out price 49c

60c medium weight Wool Socks, your choice 39c

The store is full of bargains we do not mention in this advertisement. A greater price reduction is now on. We are determined to dispose of this entire stock regardless of price. Buying merchandise of quality at prices offered during this sale is an opportunity seldom given. Visit the store and see our offerings—THEN BUY WHAT YOU NEED.

BENJAMIN BROWN

SEE US FOR YOUR AUCTION BILLS

CHARLEVOIX COURIER

VOLUME 34. NUMBER 3. EIGHT PAGES COURIER, CHARLEVOIX, MICH., WEDNESDAY, JANUARY 19, 1927 PRICE $2.00 PER YEAR

WORDS OF PRAISE FOR CHARLEVOIX

SUMMER RESORTERS MAKE US A WINTER VISIT

They Claim We Have Natural Advantages For a Winter Resort Unsurpassed In Country

Statements made in the following article are the result of an interview by the Courier representative Monday evening with three prominent Charlevoix summer visitors, who from last Friday until Tuesday afternoon, have "let go" and enjoyed the natural advantages of what they term America's most beautiful summer and winter resort city.

Quoting from the statements of one of these gentlemen: "Charlevoix is the logical Lake Placid of America, and it is up to the city of Charlevoix to make this fact known to the world." If anyone doubts this statement, we respectfully refer them to George R. Hemmingway, Oak Park, Ill., realtor and owner of the Charlevoix County Nursery at Ironton; Homer D. Jones, president of the Western Fuel Company and Sequanota cottage owner; and Frank F. Taylor, vice-president of the Illinois Merchants Trust Company of Chicago and Belvedere cottage owner, the last two named also from Oak Park, Ill., who are the three gentlemen before mentioned.

Since their arrival last Friday each day has been one continuous round of enjoyment. The schedule of activities included ice-boating on Lake Charlevoix, a fishing expedition at Ironton where they caught six fine Mackinaw trout, skiing, snowshoeing, etc. The fishing on Round Lake and Lake Charlevoix is an item in itself which attract many winter visitors, according to Mr. Hemmingway, who is an ardent follower of "Ike Walton" and his clan. Excellent advantages for skiing, snowshoeing, iceboating, sliding, hiking, tobogganing, together with the health-giving ozone of the northern regions are natural resources we possess equaled by no other winter resort in America.

The party carried a movie camera, as part of their equipment, and shot views of their activities. "When we reach home," a member of the party remarked, "our friends will be invited to see what we were doing on our northern trip, and you can depend on their joining our expedition next winter." In another statement he remarked: "You have everything that any other winter resort in the country can afford with some extra features thrown in for good measure. Get the people of you town interested in winter sports. Arrange iceboat races, skating races, skiing tournaments and the like among yourselves. Then advertise the fact to the world and when visitors come for winter sports you have something for them to enter into."

Asked what they thought of the school bonding proposition, they were unanimous in their opinion that we should, by all means, take immediate steps to better our school facilities. Every member of the party showed surprise when told that our sewage emptied into Round Lake and adjoining channels, and were gratified to learn that we were taking steps to remedy this condition as soon as possible. Their point of argument was that public improvements of this nature more than paid for themselves in making our city a more desirable place to live in. Each member of the party are city and county tax payers and are therefore vitally interested in any civic improvement made in our city or county.

On the whole their visit here far passed their expectations in point of plensure returned. They remarked favorably on accommodations afforded at the Charlevoix Hotel where they stayed, and assured us they will return again next winter with a party of friends and look forward with anticipation for next winter's visit.

WEAVER RE-APPOINTED AS POSTMASTER

Affairs of Postoffice Satisfactorily Handled During His Term.

Word has been received from Washington, D. C. of the re-appointment of George W. Weaver as postmaster.

This will make Mr. Weaver's second term in this capacity and during the past four years under his direction, the affairs of the postoffice have been carried on in an efficient and satisfactorily manner.

MRS. LYDIA ALCOCK DIED SUNDAY NOON

Death Closes Illness of Over a Year's Duration

Charlevoix is again to mourn the loss of a beloved citizen in the death of Mrs. Lydia M. Alcock, which occurred at the Charlevoix hospital last Sunday at about noon. Mrs. Alcock had been in failing health for the past year and last week returned from Grand Rapids, where she had been taken for medical treatment.

Deceased was born at Goodwood, Ontario, Canada, October 26, 1865, and was 61 years old at the time of her death. She was married in Charlevoix to Archie Alcock, November 13, 1888 and had lived here continuously since that time. To this union were born two children, Mrs. Clarence Withers of this city and Harry, of Chicago, who, besides the husband, survive. Mrs. Alcock was a member of the Maccabees and was a Past Worthy Matron of the Eastern Star lodge.

Funeral services were held Tuesday at 2:30 p. m. from the home on Hurlbut avenue, Rev. Herman Burns of the Baptist church officinting Interment at Brookside.

BOARD OF EDUCATION MEETS

PROPOSITION MADE LOOKING TO A SCHOOL NURSE

Committee of Five Named to Work With Board on New Building Propositino

At the regular meeting of the Board of Education, held in the high school building Monday evening, several propositions were presented and discussed that may result in great good to the community and better health conditions among the students of the schools.

One proposition was that presented by M. A. Levinson, F. E. Cartier and Geo. Weaver, representing the Charlevoix hospital, for a co-operative plan in providing a school nurse, using the unoccupied time of the hospital nursing staff and hospital equipment, which would result, if followed out, in the Charlevoix schools having the services of a school nurse. The proposition was favorably received by the school board and will be worked out and decided upon within a short time.

The board also acted on a petition presented by citizens of Charlevoix, that a committee be appointed to work in conjunction with the school board, with regards to plans for better school facilities. The intent of the petition was that the problem was one concerning Charlevoix as a whole, and that better results could be obtained by having the advice of members qualified to express their opinions along with the regular school board members. Action taken by the school board resulted in the naming of a committee composed of Charles H. Emrey, Allan T. Campbell, F. J. Fessenden, Mrs. Clinton Cooper and M. A. Levinson.

One of the first to be taken by the strengthened board will be to get into touch with leading architects of the state, and familiarize themselves with details of modern school buildings.

In doing this they will be able to present at a later date plans for a school building of a type suitable to our needs, with the exact cost of same. Whether these plans will be carried out in their entirety or on a unit building schedule can then be decided.

Treasurer Oluf Nordrum reported about $44,000.00 in the sinking fund, available for expenditure on any plan of building adopted.

These regular meetings as well as all meetings of the school board are open to all who care to attend. The board welcomes suggestion along the line school administration, and wants everyone to feel at liberty to make them.

BAPTIST CHURCH

The usual services will be held on Sunday and the usual program carried out during the week.

A cordial invitation is extended to all who are not otherwise engaged, to attend all of these services.

Burning - out chimneys caused many bad fires. Avoid this fire loss by using our Soot Destroyer. It does the work. 15c per pound. Charlevoix Hdw. Co.—Adv. 2tf.

RED AND WHITE BEAT BELLAIRE

WON THIRD SUCCESSIVE GAME LAST FRIDAY NIGHT

Excellent Team Work and Good Physical Condition Helped Avenge Former Defeat

Charlevoix high school's Red and White basketball team opened the after-holiday season last Friday evening by triaming Bellaire at the latter's gym, by the score of 30 to 23, thus avenging a defeat at the hands of Bellaire earlier in the season on the home floor.

Bellaire, with the advantage of playing on their home floor in their favor, started the game by sinking two field goals in the opening minutes. Charlevoix dropped in one, making the score 4 to 2, which was followed by another basket by Bellaire. The locals at that point in the game, seemed to find their stride and the half ended with the score 12 to 7 in their favor. The Red and White contiued their strong offence in the third quarter and held their lead throughout the remainder of the game. Saying they held their lead does not mean that it was a walkaway, however. In the final minutes of the third quarter, Bellaire, by a brillinnt spurt, brought the score to 24 to 21 and at the opening of the final stanza, scored another field goal to make the count 23 to 24 in Charlevoix's favor. Six points counted for the locals in the fourth quarter ending the game 30 to 23.

This makes three straight wins for the local five. After losing the two opening games they have defeated Gaylord, Ellsworth and Bellaire in successive games. Excellent team work was a feature of the last game and this statement is verified by the score book, which shows scoring honors almost evenly dived among four players, Higman led with 4 field goals and 2 free throws, Smith had three baskets to his credit, Beaudoinc 3 and "Red" McCann 3. Novak and Cooper played good games at guard.

Coach Buchen seems to have his men in the pink of physical condition and says he intends to keep them that way. With three victories tucked away, the locals are looking forward to meeting some of the stronger teams on their schedule with a confident attitude. They play at Gaylord Friday night.

VAUGHN RE-APPOINTS THREE OLD DEPUTIES

Gathers Experienced Men Around Him on Staff

With but two exceptions, the appointment of Albert Jubinville of Walloon Lake and a new man at Boyne City, the same deputies will serve under Sheriff David Vaughn as did under former sheriff, Charles Novak.

We understand that the present deputy at Beaver Island will suceed himself, along with Henry Fike of Boyne Falls, Henry Cook of East Jordan and Charles Marshall of Charlevoix. We commend Sheriff Vaughn on his good judgment in gathering a staff of experienced men around him to make up the county law enforcement body, and feel that the duties of the men will be efficiently taken care of.

They sure do wear—Rollins 89c hose. All colors now on sale for 74c at Campbell's.—Adv. 3t1.

NEW GOVERNOR STARTS WORK

MESSAGE TO 1927 LAWMAKERS A MEATY ONE

Capital Punishment by Lethal Gas Proposed by Sen. Martin—Farmer Elected Speaker

The Capitol is a busy place these days as Governor Fred W. Green and the 1927 Legislature tackle the many important problems confronting the new administration. These officials seem to realize that the public is now watching to see if the campaign promises were made to win votes, or if those who made them really meant what they said.

The fifty-fourth Michigan Legislature convened for the regular biennial session Wednesday, January 5. The chief accomplishments of the first week were the organization of the Senate and House, the selection of officials and employes, and the reception of the Governor's inaugural message.

The spirit of harmony and good will which seems to prevail among the lawmakers and between the legislative and executive branches of the State Government would indicate that during the coming months attention and energy will be directed to constructive accomplishments rather than to factional fights and jealous bitterness.

Governor Reads His Message

The most spectacular feature of the first week's session was the joint convention of the Senate and House Thursday afternoon at which Governor Green delivered his inaugural address to the lawmakers, justices of the Supreme Court, other state officials and a large crowd of citizens who packed the galleries and side lines to capacity.

Preceding the delivery of Governor Green's message, Dennis E. Alward, Secretary of the Senate, read the farewell address of former Governor Alex J. Groesbeck. This message declared that state business was "in an unusually healthy condition. Neither deficit, depleted treasury nor the necessity of devising new methods of taxation face the new legislature," he said. Groesbeck praised the present highway system and the conduct of road building affairs. He urged strengthening of the Administrative Board act.

Governor Green's message painted State affairs in very different color. He expressed grave apprehension regarding the condition of the state treasury and finance. He said, "I am having an audit made of the books and an inventory of the property. When these are completed, I will give them to you and to the public. I do know that the Highway Department has pledged its revenues in advance, that the State is not paying its bills; that Jackson prison owes the general fund nearly a million and a half dollars; that taxes have been levied and money raised for specific operations and then spent for other purposes. There are many disturbing rumors in regard to the State's financial condition which will only be quieted by an independent audit such as is under way.

Hits Juggling of Funds

"In the future there will be regular reports of receipts and expenditures that will reveal the State's true financial condition. In this connection a statute punishing the juggling of funds in public reports might well be adopted." Disgressing from his written message, Governor Green informed the legislature that past-due highway bills that he has found on hand since he took office January 1 amounted to more than $4,592,000.

Governor Green's message was a most comprehensive document, setting forth in firm sentences his ideas as to the most important needs of the state. He dealt clearly and convincingly with such problems as educational institutions, prisons, agriculture, taxation, the state police, workmen's compensation, primary elections, conservation and crime prevention.

He advised the legislature to be known for the quality, rather than the multiplicity of their enactments and brought great applause when he said, "There will be no Representative or Senator on the floor of either chamber authorized to speak for me. If I have any communication to make to you, either individually or collectively, I'll make it in person."

Referring to the Administrative Board act, Governor Green urged an amendment to give the members the power to override the gubernatorial veto. He declared, "The provision of the present law that makes it necessary for the Governor to sign all proceedings before they become legal made dummies of the other members of the Board."

(Continued on page three.)

ANNUAL REPORT JUDGE PROBATE

REVIEW OF WORK DONE DURING FISCAL YEAR

Probate Judge S. A. Corrall Itimizes Cases Handled and Disposition of Same

Judge of Probate S. A. Correll has submitted for publication a report of the activities in his office for the fiscal year of 1926, reporting in detail all cases handled and the disposition of same. The article will be of great interest to Courier readers and is as follows:

Determination of heirs, 10.

Testate estate, 14.

Intestate estates, 27.

Insane hearings, five and five persons committed to the state hospital at Traverse City.

Guardians appointed for minors, six.

Adult afflicted persons committed to Ann Arbor for treatment, seven.

Afflicted children sent to Ann Arbor for treatment, six.

Children adopted into homes, four.

In the Juvenile division of the court, forty-two dependent children have been before the court during the year. Two of these were sent to the State public school.

Mother's pensions were granted that covered thirty-seven dependent children.

Thirty three delinquent children have been brought before the court for disposal. Four girls, committed to the Girls Training School at Adrian and nine boys to the Boy's Vocational School at Lansing. Others have been placed on probation and are making good. In one case where there were a large number charged with the commission of crime, the evidence was not sufficient and they were discharged.

The inheritance tax determined in six estates and the amount collected was $3999.94. The exemptions have been increased under the present inheritance tax law. The tax to the widow and children is not as great as formerly.

WILL MEET IN LANSING FEB. 2-4

38th Annual Convention of Retail Lumber Dealers

Retail Lumber dealers, in all parts of Michigan, are looking forward to the Thirty-eighth Annual Convention of the Michigan Retail Lumber Dealers Association which will be held in Lansing, February 2, 3 and 4. This association, while old in years, has within the past three years made such progressive steps forward in promoting the home building idea that it is now classed as one of the most active and influential Lumber Associations in the country. Advance reservations indicate that the convention this year will exceed in number any previous gathering, and a program has been arranged of interest to dealers large and small in all parts of the state.

Charlevoix as well as all northern Michigan will be represented at the convention.

Get your auction bill printed here.

MICHIGAN LEADS IN WILD LIFE

QUANTITY AND VALUE OF GAME EXCEEDS OTHER STATES

Many Moose in Isle Royale's Confines—Partridge on Gain in Upper Peninsula

Considering all types of wild life, including commercial fish and fur-bearing animals, Michigan today leads all other states in the quantity of game and its value, according to the biennial report of John Baird, director of the Michigan Department of Conservation.

Deer, ruffed grouse, prairie chickens, quail, moose, rabbits and fish all showed great increase in the State during the past two years, Baird stated.

Since the passage of the "buck law" white-tailed deer have increased in number nearly equivalent to the supply when there were no state regulations on hunting, the report states.

Ruffed grouse or partridge, now under continuous protection in the upper peninsula, are increasing, although there is evidence of annual reduction in low Michigan, Baird said.

"Diversion of guns to the pheasant, during the last open season, showed a great decrease in the numbers of partridges killed," he said. "Particularly important in the conservation of the bird is the growing enthusiasm among sportsmen of the state for the 'no killing' dog trials. These trials divert from the shooting ranks, many of the best equipped bird hunters with event dates that intrude on the open season. Michigan is being cited nationally as the state best fitted, through abundance of bird, game and nature of covert, for this sport."

The prairie chicken is showing a considerable increase and is becoming more widely scattered, Baird said. The open season of 1926 was given as one of the reasons for the increase in grouse through the shooting of prairie chickens.

Quail are showing considerable increase in the lower peninsula and are fast spreading northward.

Nearly 4,000 moose were estimated by Baird to be under state protection.

"Indications of the presence of moose in Schoolcraft, Luce and Alger counties have been seen, but a count of the animals is almost impossible," he said. "However, we are certain there are now approximately 2,000 moose on Isle Royale."

In reporting the supply of rabbits and hare in the state, Baird said:

"At no time, probably, in the history of Michigan game regulation, have conditions pretaining to the supply of rabbits and hare been more satisfactory. Scattering has been noticeable and each successive season the presence of "cotton tail" is reported farther north. Perhaps both shooting and cotton-tail activities have had a part in holding the hare increase to a healthy status."

Michigan leads the United States in hatchery production of brook trout, wall-eyed pike and various species of bass, Baird said. Within the past five years more perch have been planted in the inland wafers of Michigan than in all other States combined, the report shows.

During the fiscal year ending June 30, 1925, the output of state hatcheries was 227,837,413 fish. During 1926 the output was 37,659,766 less or 190,177,647 fry.

The gradual depletion of the amount of edible fish taken by the commerical industries, from Great Lakes waters, estimated at 19,288,525 in 1923, was reversed in 1925

(Continued on page three.)

ONE FISH LINE THE LIMIT TO ALL FISHERMEN

Conservation officers are cautioning ice fishermen, who use more than one line in taking fish through the ice, that they will be prosecuted if taken into custody on second offense. The officers state that while it is against the law to drop more than one line through a single ice-hole, it is permissable to attach more than one hook to a line.

It might be well for local ice fishermen to heed this warning. The practice of using more than one line has been followed quite extensively, we understand, in local waters, and a conservation officer is more than likely to make you a call most any time.

Shortening the Long Winter Nights

LYDIA of the Pines

by HONORÉ WILLSIE

W.N.U. SERVICE COPYRIGHT by FREDERICK A. STOKES CO.

"I? No, I haven't seen Kent. We had a quiz in chemistry today."

"What's that got to do with anything?" grunted Lizzie. But she asked no more questions.

Ma Norton came over during the evening to borrow some yeast. Amos was working over some figures on a bit of paper. Lydia was sitting with a text book in front of her. She had not turned a leaf in twenty minutes, to Lizzie's actual comfort.

"Spring's here," said ma. "Though there's still a bite in the air. Not that Billy seems to notice it. I found him sitting on the front steps with his cigar, as if it was June."

Lizzie gave Lydia a quick look and wondered if she only imagined that her cheeks were turning pinker.

"I can't sit down," ma went on; "I've got to set this sponge to rise."

"I'll walk home with you, Mrs. Norton," said Lydia, suddenly. "It seems as if one couldn't get enough of this first spring day."

"Do!" Ma's voice was always extra cordial when she spoke to Lydia.

Lizzie watched the door close behind the two. "I knew it," she exclaimed.

"Knew what?" inquired Amos, looking up from his figures.

"That there was a new moon," answered the old lady shortly, trudging off to her bedroom.

"Liz is getting childish," thought Amos, returning to his work.

Billy's mother went into the kitchen entrance and Lydia went over to the dim figure on the steps.

"Your mother told me to speak to you," she said meekly.

"I heard her." Billy gave a low laugh. "Come up here in the shadow, sweetheart, and tell me if you ever saw such a moonlit and starlit night."

The night was brilliant and Billy, responding to some little petitioning note in Lydia's voice, did not offer to touch her but stood looking down at the sweet, dim face turned up to his. She lifted her hand, that thin hand with the work calluses on it, and ran it over his cheeks, brushed her cheek against his shoulder, and then ran away.

She finished her studying and went to bed early, only to lie awake for hours. At last she crept out of bed and, as once before, she clasped her hands and lifted her face to the heavens. "Thank you, God!" she whispered. Then she went to sleep.

The next night Kent came out to the cottage. Lydia dreaded his coming so little that she was surprised. Yet this day had been one of continual surprise to her. She had wakened to a chirp of robin songs, and had dressed with an answering song in her own heart. She was as one who had never known sorrow or anxiety. Her whole future lay before her, a clear and unobstructed pathway.

For Lydia had found herself. She was a creature to whom a great love and devotion were essential as motive forces. In turn she had given this, in childish form to her mother, to little Patience and to Levine. One by one these had been taken from her and she had struggled to give this devotion to Kent, but she could not give where there was no understanding.

And now she saw that for years it had been Billy. Billy, who combined all the best of what her mother, her baby sister and Levine had meant to her, with something greatly more—the divinity of passion—a thing she could not understand, yet that had created a new world for her.

Kent tossed his hat on the couch and shook his head at Amos. "Dave's not going to get away with it. He's got some kind of a row going with the Whisky people and he says we might as well count him out. I don't know what to do now."

Amos groaned. "Lord, what luck!"

"Don't let it worry you," said Lydia calmly. "I made up mind today that I'd go ahead and enter on that land just as other folks are doing, in the good old way. I'm going to make a farm up there, that will blot out all memory of what Mr. Levine did. But I'm going to work for it as a homesteader has to and not take any advantage through Mr. Levine's graft. I'm going to homestead for that land." There was no escaping the note of finality in her decision.

Kent's face whitened. He looked up steadily at Lydia. The sweat stood on his forehead.

"You know what that means, as far as I'm concerned," he said.

Lydia, chin up, gaze never more clearly blue, nodded.

"Yes, Kent, but, we never would have been happy. You and Margery were meant for each other, anyhow. Go to Margery now and tell her, Kent."

Kent picked up his cap. "You aren't treating me right, Lydia. I'll talk to you when I'm not so sore," and he walked out of the house.

Lydia turned to Amos and Lizzie. "There," she said, happily, "I've got Kent settled for life!"

Amos sank into his armchair. "Lydia, have you lost your mind!" he groaned.

"No, I've found it, daddy. Poor dad, don't look as if you'd fathered a lunatic! Daddy, let's homestead that land! Let's quit this idea of getting something by graft. Let's do like our forefathers did. Let's homestead that land! Let's earn it by farming it."

Lydia's father looked at her, long and meditatively. He was pretty well discouraged about the probability of ever getting a clear title to the land through Kent or Marshall. And the longer he looked at Lydia the more his mind reverted to New England, to old tales of the farm on which he and his ancestors had been bred.

"A man with three hundred and twenty acres of land is a power in the community," he said, suddenly.

Lydia nodded. Amos began to walk the floor. "I'm still a young man. If I had the backing that land gives a man, I could clean out a lot of rottenness in the state. Even if I only did it by showing what a man with a clean record could make of himself."

"That's just the point," cried Lydia eagerly, "and your record wouldn't have been clean if you'd gotten it through Marshall."

"If I take Brown's offer for the cottage it would leave us enough to get a team, and I bet I could hire a tractor to get to the cleared portion of it this fall. A hundred acres are clear, you know. I might as well quit the factory now, eh, Lydia?"

With a laugh that had a sob in it Lydia kissed her father and whirled out the door. Billy was coming in at the gate. She flew down to seize his hand and turn him toward the road.

"Let's walk! I've such quantities to tell you!"

Billy turned obediently, but paused in the shadow of the pine. "Lydia, I can't tell you what it means to me. No matter what bigger things may seem to happen to me, nothing can equal the things I've felt and dreamed today."

Then he put his arms about Lydia and kissed her, and she put her arms about his neck and laid her head against his shoulder. They stood thus motionless while the pine whispered above them. And in the intensity of that embrace all the griefs of Lydia's life were hallowed and made purposeful.

"Lydia," said Billy, "I want to tell mother and dad. Will you come over home with me now?"

"Yes," replied Lydia, "and then we must tell my father and Lizzie. Oh, Billy, I forgot," as they started down the road, "I've decided to homestead that land."

"But—why, Lydia, dear, you're going to be a lawyer's wife. For heaven's sake, let that beastly land go."

"No, I'm going to be a pioneer's wife!"

There was a little pause, then Billy laughed uncertainly. "Well, I'm not going to talk about it tonight. I'm in a frame of mind tonight where I'd promise you to be an Indian chief if you ask it. Mother and dad are in the kitchen."

She Had Awaked to a Dream of Robin Songs.

They opened the kitchen door and stepped in. Pa Norton was sitting in his stocking feet, reading the evening paper. Ma was putting away the day's linking. She paused with a loaf of bread in her hand as the two came in, and pa looked over his glasses.

"Mother and dad," said Billy, uncertainly, "I—I've brought Lydia home to you! Look at her, dad! Isn't she a peach!"

Lydia stood with her back against the door, cheeks scarlet, golden head held high, but her lips quivering.

Ma dropped her loaf of bread. "Oh, Lydia," she cried, "I thought that numbskull of a Billy never would see daylight! I've prayed for this for years. Come straight over here to your mother, love."

But Pa Norton had dropped his paper when ma dropped her bread and had not paused for comments. He made three strides to Lydia, and gave her a great hug and kiss. Then he said, "First time I saw you carrying that milk for Billy's looks I said, there's the wife Billy ought to have. Ma, wasn't she the dearest—"

But ma shoved him aside contemptuously. "Get over and talk to Billy. This is a woman's affair. Who cares about reminiscences now. Oh, Billy, do you remember I used to worry because she didn't keep the back of her neck clean!"

"Who's reminiscencing now?" asked pa, belligerently.

Everybody laughed. Then pa sighed. "Well, I feel almost reconciled now to Bill's giving up farming. When're you going to be married?"

Lydia blushed. "Oh, not for a long time. Now, let's go and tell my people, Billy."

Out in the night again! Curious how long the short walk to the cottage could be made! Curious how near the stars were—heaven just over the road where the lovers strolled. Not strange that such ecstasy cannot last forever. The human mind could not bear that heaven-born rapture too long.

Lizzie was mending. Amos was sitting in his arm chair, with a bit of paper on which he was figuring. Lydia flew across the room and dropped on her knees beside him.

"Oh, daddy dear, look at me! Billy's here and he's always going to be here. Tell us you're glad."

Amos looked at her with a jerk. First at Billy, standing stalwart and grave by the table, his deep eyes as steady as the hand he held out to Lizzie. Then at his daughter, with her transformed face.

"But," protested Amos, "I thought it was to be Kent."

"Oh, it couldn't have been Kent," exclaimed Lydia. "We never would have understood each other. Kent was for Margery."

A frown gathered on Amos' face. He did not really want Lydia to marry anyone. All that had reconciled him to the thought of Kent had been Kent's relation to the Indian lands. And now he discovered that he didn't want to give his daughter to anyone. He threw a jealous arm about her.

"No, you can't have her, Billy," he said. "Nobody shall have her. She's too good for the best man living."

"Yes, she is," agreed Billy. "But that isn't the point. The point is that Lydia actually wants me. I don't understand it myself, but she does, and I know I can make her happy."

"I can make her happy myself," said Amos, gruffly.

"But you haven't," retorted Billy. "Look at the way you've acted about this land matter. And, God knows, she deserves to be happy at any cost. Good heavens, when I think of her, it seems to me that nothing could be too much for her. I think of her trudging those miles in her patched old clothes to buy her school books—what a thin, big-eyed kiddie she was. Why, even as a cub, I used to appreciate her. And then when she stood up before the hearing, the bravest man among us, and when she got sick trying to earn those silly prom clothes— My Gad, Amos, if Lydia wants me, or the moon, or a town lot in South Africa, it's up to you to give it to her."

Amos did not reply for a moment. Down through the years he was watching a thin little figure trudge with such patience and sweetness and determination as he seemed never before to have appreciated. Slowly his hold loosened on Lydia's shoulders and he looked into her face.

"Do you want to marry Billy?" he asked.

"Oh, daddy, yes," whispered Lydia.

Amos looked up at the young man, who stood returning his gaze. "Take her, Billy, and heaven help you if you're not good to her, for John Levine's spirit will haunt you with a curse."

Billy raised Lydia to her feet and the extraordinary smile was on his face.

"What do you think about it, Lizzie?" he asked.

Lizzie, who had been crying comfortably, wiped her eyes with the sock she was darning.

"I'm thinking that anyone that can bring the look to Lydia's face she's been wearing for twenty-four hours, deserves her. Rheumatism or no, down I get on my old knees tonight and give thanks—just for the look in that child's eyes."

And now for a while, Lydia was content to live absolutely in the present, as was Billy. Surely there never was such an April. And surely no April ever melted so softly into so glorious a May. Apple blossoms, lilac blooms, violets and wind flowers and through them, Lydia in her scholar's gown, hanging to Billy's arm, after the day's work was done.

She seemed singularly uninterested in the preparations for commencement, though she went through her final examinations with credit. But the week before commencement she came home one afternoon with blazing cheeks. Billy was at the cottage for supper and when they had begun the meal, she exploded her bomb.

"Dad! Billy! Lizzie! They've elected me a member of the Scholars' club!"

"For the love of heaven!" exclaimed Amos, dropping his fork.

"Why not?" asked Lizzie.

"Lydia, dear, but I'm proud of you," breathed Billy.

"Professor Willis told me, this afternoon," Lydia went on, "and I laughed at him at first. I thought he was teasing me. Why only highbrows belong to the Scholars' club! They belongs and the best of the professors and only a few of the post-graduate pupils. But he says I was elected. I told him lots of students had higher standings than I, and he only laughed and said he knew it. And I've got to go to that banquet of theirs next week!"

"Fine!" said Billy.

"Fine! Why, Billy Norton, I never went to a banquet in my life. I don't know what forks to use, and I never saw a finger bowl!"

Amos grinned. "What's the use of being a scholar, if that sort of thing bothers you?"

"I might get a book on etiquette and polish up," said Lydia, thoughtfully. "I'll get one tomorrow, and practice on the family."

Amos groaned, but to no avail. Lydia borrowed a book on etiquette from the library and for a week Amos ate his supper with an array of silver and kitchenware before him that took his appetite away. He rebelled utterly at using the finger bowls, which at breakfast were porridge dishes. Lizzie, however, was apt and read the book so diligently while Lydia was in class that she was able to correct Lydia as well as Amos at night.

Ma Norton had insisted on making Lydia a white mull graduation dress. She would not let either Lizzie or Lydia help her. She had been daughter-hungry all her life and since she made her own wedding gown, no bit of sewing had given her the satisfaction that this did.

So it was that Lydia, wearing the mull under her scholar's gown, and with the precepts of the book on etiquette in her mind, attended the Scholars' banquet, timidly but not with the self-consciousness that she might otherwise have felt.

Billy left her at the door of the hall and Professor Willis took her in to dinner. There were only two other women there, but Lydia did not mind.

When Professor Willis was called on for his toast, which was the last one, he responded:

"My toast is to all scholars, everywhere, but also to one scholar in particular. It is to one who was born with a love of books, to one who made books—good books—so intimate a part of her life that she made poverty a blessing, who combined books and living so deeply that she read her community aright, when others failed to do so, to one who is a scholar in the truest sense of the word—a book lover with a vision. I drink to the youngest and sweetest scholar of us all!" and he bowed to Lydia.

How she got through the congratulations and out to Billy, patiently waiting at the main campus gate, Lydia was not sure, for she was quite drunk with surprise and pleasure. After she had told it all to Billy, and once more they were standing under the pine at the gate, she said:

"Billy, will you go up with father and Lizzie and me to open up the three hundred and twenty acres?"

Billy answered slowly. "There's nothing I'd like better. I was born to be a farmer. But, Lydia, it looks to me as if, as a lawyer, I'd be a more useful citizen, the way things are now in the country."

Lydia shook her head. "We've got too many lawyers in America. What I think America needs is real love of America. And it seems to me the best way to get it is to identify oneself with the actual soil of the community. What I want is this. That you and I, upon the ground where poor John Levine did such wrongs, build us a home. I don't mean a home as Americans usually mean the word. I mean we'll try to found a family there. We'll send the roots of our roof tree so deep into the ground that for generations to come our children's children will be found there and our family name will stand for old American ideals in the community. I don't see how else we Americans can make up to the world for the way we've exploited America."

Billy stood with his arm about the slender "scholar." Suddenly there flooded in upon him the old, old call, the call that had brought his Pilgrim forefathers across the Atlantic, the call that was as old as the yearning for freedom of the soil.

"Lord!" he cried, "how glad I'll be to go up there! Think of beginning our life together with such a dream!"

"I believe John Levine would be glad, if he knew," said Lydia, wistfully.

"I know he'd be glad. . . . Lydia, do you love me, dear?"

"Love you! Oh, more than all the world! You know it, don't you?"

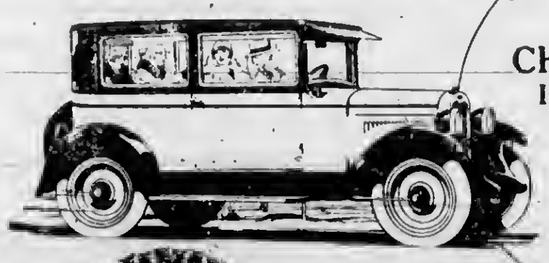
"I know it, but I can't believe it." His arm tightened around Lydia and as on just such an evening, four years before, he said:

"What a wonderful night!"

A wonderful night, indeed! Sound and scent of bursting summer. Syringas coming as lilacs went. The lake, lap-lapping on the shore. The lazy croak of frogs and the moon sinking low over the cottage. Above them the pine, murmuring as of old. Life and the year at the full. A wonderful night, indeed!

[THE END]

The Greatest Sensation of America's Greatest Industry!



The Chevrolet Coach
Improved in Quality

—yet reduced to $595
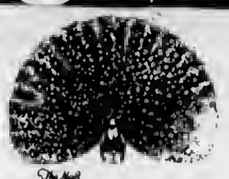
f. o. b. Flint, Michigan
Former price $645

CHEVROLET



The Most Beautiful Chevrolet in Chevrolet History

New and Marvelously Beautiful Fisher Bodies —a host of Mechanical Improvements—New Features found only on the costliest cars

NEW LOW PRICES

The Coach — Former price $645	$595
The Coupe — Former price $645	$625
The Sedan — Former price $735	$695
The Landau — Former price $765	$745
The Touring — Price includes Balloon tires and steel disc wheels. Former price $535 with balloon tires only.	$525
The Roadster — Price includes Balloon tires and steel disc wheels. Former price $535 with balloon tires only.	$525
The Sport Cabriolet — Entirely new model with rumble seat.	$715
1-Ton Truck (Chassis Only)	$495
½-Ton Truck (Chassis Only)	$395

Balloon tires now standard on all models
All Prices F. O. B. Flint, Mich.

Plus an Amazing Reduction in Prices!

America has always expected great things from its greatest industry. But the announcement of the Most Beautiful Chevrolet has been the automotive sensation of all time! Seven superb models styled as low priced cars were never styled before! New bodies by Fisher! And finer quality—the result of a host of improvements such as: AC oil filter, AC air cleaner, one-piece full crown fenders, bullet type lamps and many, many others!

All this is combined to a supreme degree in the beautiful Chevrolet Coach. This most popular of all Chevrolet models is now offered at the amazingly reduced price of $595 and similarly striking price reductions are also announced on other models. Whether you plan to spend more or less than the price of a Chevrolet, come in today and see this most beautiful low priced Coach ever designed.

Admire its marvelous style and grace! Mark its many new fine-car features! Learn for yourself by personal inspection why, at its new low price, it is the greatest sensation of America's greatest industry.

PETOSKEY AUTO SALES
East Mitchell Street, Petoskey, Michigan
BLOCK & SIMMONS, Charlevoix, Local Agents

QUALITY AT LOW COST

BUSINESS CARDS

Farm Property — Lake Frontage
A. C. BELDING
REAL ESTATE BROKER
Charlevoix, Mich.
Game Preserves — Detroit Property

GLASSES FITTED
Consult
DR. J. LEAHY
OPTOMETRIST
Expert on Eye-Strain.
Petoskey, Mich.
Phone 443 for Appointment

BELLE LOUISE FLEWELLING
Palmer Chiropractor
Post Office Building
Phone 347
Office hours 2 to 5 daily
Monday, Wednesday and Friday
7 to 8

R. J. MADILL
Building Contractor
Ask for Estimates
Phone 121 Charlevoix, Mich.

D. T. McHUGH
General Contractor
Phone 214
CHARLEVOIX, MICHIGAN

R. B. ARMSTRONG
PHYSICIAN AND SURGEON
Special Attention to Diseases of Eye, Ear, Nose and Throat
Priest Bldg. Phone 255

DR. F. F. McMILLAN
Physician and Surgeon
Office above Postoffice
Phone 17
Charlevoix - - Michigan

A. L. FITCH
ATTORNEY AT LAW
Office in Court House
Phone 48
Charlevoix - Michigan

Christian Science Society
Sunday service 10:45 a. m.
Subject: "Truth."
Sunday school at 12 o'clock.
Wednesday evening service 7:45.
Reading room open Tuesday and Saturday, 3 to 5 p. m.
The public is cordially invited to attend our service.

Courier Want Ads. pay.

It might be asked if the commotion caused by short skirts is due to the daring of the woman or the inability of the men to mind their own business.

"KIDS"
DONTCHA THINK ITS FOOLISHMENT WASHIN' YER HANS AN' FACE EVRY DAY. GOLLY, THEY ONLY GET DIRTY AGAIN
SURE. MY MOM MUST THINK MY FACE IS MADE O' WOOD THE WAY SHE SCRUBS IT
INTERNATIONAL CARTOON CO. N.Y. 317

The CHARLEVOIX COURIER
Issued every Wednesday, at
CHARLEVOIX - MICHIGAN

DuBois & Usher, Publishers
A. J. Usher, Editor and Business Mgr.
Courier Building Van Pelt Place

Entered at the Post Office in Charlevoix, Mich., as second class matter.

Member Michigan Press Ass'n

Advertising Rates

For advertising rates apply for schedule.

Notices of church or lodge socials and entertainments, where admission is charged, regular rates.

Obituary poetry, regular rates.

Card of Thanks, 25 cents.

TERMS OF SUBSCRIPTION

One copy, one year $2.00
One Copy, six months $1.00
One Copy, three months .....$ .60

THE THINNING RANKS

As the years roll around the ranks of the Grand Army of the Republic and auxiliary, the Woman's Relief Corps, are fast dwindling away. Statistic reveal the startling fact that the average age of the 15,000 delegates attending the sixtieth National Encampment, held at Des Moines, Iowa, September 19 to 24, 1926, was 83 years. The advanced years of the remaining members of this glorious army requires them to pass the duties they have performed for so many years on to members of the younger patriotic organizations—the Sons of Union Veterans, and Auxiliary and Daughters of Union Veterans, which societies are now looking after the greater portion of the details heretofore preformed by the old comrades. These younger organizations are desirous of recruiting their ranks 100 per cent, and ask all sons and daughters of Union Veterans of the War of the Rebellion of 1861 of 1865 to investigate these tents and camps and affiliate themselves, that the work may be carried on in the same thorough and painstaking manner which has characterized this beautiful custom for many years.

CONSERVATION

For a number of years conservation has been one of the most discussed subjects in Michigan. Like Mark Twain's weather, we did a lot of talking, but nobody did anything. Regardless of the efficiency of John Baird, or his inefficiency, the fact remained that the leading conservationists in the state had lost their faith in the gentleman from Zilwaukee, which seriously handicapped much of the good he might have been able to accomplish. With the naming of Prof. Young, head of the forestry department of the University of Michigan, to be director of conservation, much of the objection to the department has been banished. With Prof. Young has been named a commission of real conservationists, men who know Michigan outdoors, and who will bring to the service of the state many sound ideas. Hereafter, instead of being confronted at every election with a horde of petition peddlers, and vote solicitors the people of Michigan are going to be treated to the spectable of men going about their work of restoring the growing trees, the clear sparkling streams, the waters with fish and the opening spaces with wild life as our fathers knew before us. It is a job that every citizen of Michigan can have a part in.

YOUR LEGISLATIVE INTEREST

The Michigan legislature is in session. That will furnish news from now until some time in April. Some days there will be many interesting proposals, some sane and some crazy. Generally the legislature will function as well as could be expected from two different houses, one with a membership of over a hundred.

In his first message to the lawmakers, last week, Governor Fred W. Green told the state solones they had an opportunity to make themselves the most outstanding legislative body in the United States. He pointed out that quality, not quantity, was most desired in legislation. "Don't make laws against acts that are not of themselves immoral; do not pass laws that have little public sentiment back of them," was his warning.

Every community in Michigan is seriously interested in almost every important action which confronts the legislature. We are interested in roads, game and fish, forests and mines, schools and taxes. Nearly every proposed measure during the present session will affect some person or some group of people in this immediate section. Some will not like the laws that will be passed. Some will like them. No one will be injured, if the laws are just, for law is supposed to improve the condition of things and people.

LAWMAKERS WHO BREAK LAWS

The people of the state might well consider the propriety of seating in the legislature a Wayne county representative convicted a few days ago for driving while drunk. The case, we understand, was a clear one. The judge was outspoken in his opinion of the case and immediately sentenced the offending solon to 60 days in prison. The case was immediately appealed, but in the meantime, pending a decision from the higher court the man will take his seat with other legislative members from Wayne county.

But irrespective of this particular case, the time is coming, and it is approaching rapidly, when any public servant who violates the liquor laws will be in disrepute. If there is one place where law should be respected it is in the public service. Those who lift up the right hand and swear to support the constitution and obey the laws of the state or nation cannot violate these obligations without demoralizing themselves. Prohibition laws are laws of the land. For a legislator to violate them is a serious wrong. For a judge to drink and the next day sentence a bootlegger is an inconsistency which if carried to its normal conclusion, would tear down our whole system of law and justice. The public servant who violates the laws sets an example which encourages the sentiment for anarchy.

Gradually the situation is improving. Men in public life are beginning to realize their responsibilities, the influence of example and the force of their obligations. But we haven't gone far enough yet.

WAR AGAINST CRIME

Michigan is not going to be a very healthy spot for the criminal class during the next few years. Governor Fred W. Green made that much plain in his first message to the legislature. As first friend to hundreds of paroled inmates from the Michigan Reformatory, at Ionia, the new chief executive of the state had plenty of opportunity to become thoroughly acquainted with the criminal and his character. Getting paroled from prison during the next few years is going to be a difficult matter, the new governor says, in asking the state solons to provide for more prison room. Gov. Green advocates adoption of the Baume Law of New York. Under this measure, a criminal convicted of felony for the fourth time is automatically sentenced to prison for life. The sentencing judge has no other alternative. Although the law has been in effect in that state but six months, the criminal class is already giving the state a wide berth. Many of them have drifted into Michigan, where our treatment of criminals has been notoriously lax in recent years. Gov. Fred W. Green is a man with a soul as big as all outdoors, but he knows the criminal better than the criminal knows himself, and before any reformation is attempted he is going to be pretty well satisfied that society is going to receive the benefit when a man is released from prison on parole. Under the Green regime the sob sister squad might just as well resign. Their day of influence in Michigan has passed.

NATIONAL THRIFT WEEK

(January 17th to 23rd)

Work and earn
Make a budget
Record Expenditures
Have a Bank Account
Carry Life Insurance
Own Your Home
Make a Will Invest in Safe Securities
Pay Bills Promptly
Share With Others

Perhaps of all things, Benjamin Franklin is most widely remembered for his doctrines of thrift. So simple in practice, so certain in result, they have done much to advance American generations toward the state of financial independence. These doctrines have been tersely expressed in the Ten Commandments of Thrift given above. Measure yourself against them. And adjust your financial program in accord with these admirable precepts so aptly epigrammed by the great American.

The week beginning with Franklin's birthday, Jan. 17th, has been set aside for a specific event. Monday, Jan. 17, is Thrift or Bank Day. Tuesday, Jan. 18, is Budget or Home Economy Day. Wednesday, Jan. 19 is Life Insurance Day. Thursday, Jan. 21, is Safe Investment Day. Saturday, Jan. 22, is Pay Bills Promptly Day. And Sunday, Jan. 23 is Share With Others Day.

There is much in this week that is helpful to every individual who would make the most of American ideals and opportunities. This is an era of national prosperity, and there are heights to which we can climb if we but have the spirit that guided this great American in the first rudiments of financial independence.

FRESHENING BREEZES

Now that we are able to hold telephone conversations with Europe, will somebody think to call up some morning and find out what has become of all the crowd that cheered so loud the day that Pershing said "Lafayette, we are here"?

In spite of every effort to preserve the fish, the state police still persist in dumping captured booze into the first stream that comes handy.

"Green Bares Road Finance."—Headline. We were under the impression that Alex did most of that nudity act.

Judging from the published pictures of Kip Rinelander, the fellow ought to be tickled he's married at all.

The government is devising ways and means to keep poison out of alcohol. Now if the bootleggers will do as much.

Governor Fred Green says paroles and pardons are going to be hard to get during his regime. How about that blanket pardon you promised us, Governor, it we'd start "crouking toastmasters who insist in making all the speeches?

"Consistency, thou are a jewel," was never written of the town booster who lets his wife buy from every peddler that rattles the bell on the front door.

January and February clearing of up-to-date footwear now on at Campbell's.—Adv. 3t1.

An Amazing Success
Feen-a-mint
The Chewing LAXATIVE
Chew It Like Chewing Gum
A pleasure to use. Very efficient. Children love it. No taste but that of sweet mint. The most popular laxative because it's a "satisfier." 15c and 25c. Sold by

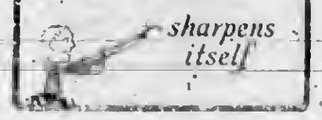
VALET
AutoStrop
Razor
sharpens itself



PHOENIX HOSIERY

This well known brand of hosiery at moderate prices can be had in the new shades. An all silk hose in service-weight or chiffon at

$1.95

M. A. Levinson & Co.

A Sale That is Drawing Value Seekers to Values

The sharp reductions made on our usual low prices represent real reductions on SUITS and OVERCOATS in models that are most popular.

Suits $18.85

If a comparison is made you will notice the difference

O'coats $16.85 SPLENDID PATTERNS

DURABLE FABRICS $19.85

F. E. CARTIER
CLOTHER—DRY CLEANER

EDGAR SMITH SOLD OUT CIGAR STORE

Clarence Bartlett and Vaughn Orvis Are New Owners

Edgar Smith, owner and manager of "Dinty Moore's" cigar store and billiard parlor, sold out last week to Clarence Bartlett and Vaughn Orvis, the new owners taking possession last Friday.

Both Messrs. Bartlett and Orvis are well known local men, the former having recently sold out his interest in a fishing outfit operated by himself and Joe Smith for a great number of years. Mr. Smith's future plans are not known as yet, although we understand that he will move to Detroit.

Campbell Boot Shop Clearing Sale now on.—Adv. 3t1.

COMMUNICATION

The debate at the high school last Friday evening on the subject, "Resolved that the United States Government Should Own the Coal Mines," between Traverse City affirmative and Charlevoix negative teams, was decided in favor of the negative side, represented by Keith Reynolds, Georgia Kelderhouse and LaRue Higman. The young people on both sides were well prepared and presented informing and interesting facts, but less than fifty people all told were present to hear them.

What's the matter with the school spirit that high school pupils did not turn out in force to encourage their side? And why aren't the people of the community as a whole more interested in this interesting feature of our high school program?

ARGO CASH SPECIALS

FRIDAY - SATURDAY
JANUARY 21-22

WHOLEED CORN
$1.80 Cwt.
CRACK CORN
$1.90 Cwt.
100 Lbs. GRANULATED SALT
75c

Argo Milling Company

THE OLDEST BANK IN CHARLEVOIX COUNTY
FORTY-THIRD YEAR IN BUSINESS

1884 1927

WHAT HAS BECOME--

of your last year's earnings?

You probably put in a year of good hard work—

And you probably promised yourself that you would start a Savings Account next payday or next month.

Why not do so today? All it takes is one dollar or more, and two minutes!

Charlevoix County Bank

CHARLEVOIX, MICHIGAN

Bridge & Company

THE BANK ON THE CORNER

LOCAL NEWS BRIEFLY TOLD

Get the Habit—Read the Courier

COMMUNITY CALENDAR
Coming Events

The Courier has received many compliments on its effort to keep our readers posted on coming events. We also received some criticism inasmuch as some minor events were not mentioned, but, confidentially speaking, we expected this. However, we are doing the very best we can, and if something is omitted, remember is was because of lack of information from those interested. The schedule for the next four weeks follows:

Jan. 20. Parent-Teacher Meeting, High School, 7:30 p. m.

Jan. 21. M. E. Club Banquet, postponed indefinitely.

Jan. 23. Vesper service, M. E. church, 4:15 p. m.

Jan. 26. Oyster supper, M. E. church, 5:30 p. m.

Jan. 28. Group W. C. T. U. meeting, 2:30 p. m.

Feb. 1. W. C. T. U. Community Banquet, 6:30 p. m.

Feb. 2. Monthly meeting Hospital Board.

Feb. 2. Third number Lecture Course, Palace Theatre, 8:00 p. m.

Feb. 8. "Neighbors," concert and entertainment, M. E. church, usual hour.

Feb. 22. Fourth number Lecture Course.

Feb. 28. Father and son banquet.

April 8. M. E. Ladies Aid supper.

April 17. Easter Cantata, Baptist church, 4:00 p. m.

O. D. Hammond left Wednesday for Traverse City on a business trip

Clyde Baker of Eastport, was a Charlevoix business visitor Monday

Earl A. Young was in Traverse City on business last Thursday and Friday.

Special communication Charlevoix Lodge 2. F. & A. M., Tuesday evening January 25th. Work in M. M. degree.

Mr. and Mrs. William Wallace and son made a business trip to Manceloua, Tuesday.

Frank Bird and family motored to East Jordan Sunday afternoon to visit relatives.

Painters and plasterers have started work redecorating the interior of the court house.

Clarence Wood left Tuesday for Grand Rapids, called there for duty on the grand jury.

Harold McCann left the latter part of last week for Green Bay, Wisconsin, on a business trip.

Bob Morse left Monday for Lansing, where he will remain while the legislature is in session.

Emil Thorsen of East Jordan visited Sunday at the home of his sister, Mrs. Charles Heise.

Mrs. Richard Rynn left Wednesday for Detroit, where she will visit her daughter for a short time.

Harry Alcock arrived in the city Monday, called here by the death of his mother, Mrs. Archie Alcock.

Mrs. E. C. Sterritt left on Friday last for Traverse City, where she will visit a short time at the home of her sister.

The M. E. Club banquet, scheduled to take place Friday evening, January 21st, has been postponed indefinitely.

W. E. Byers returned Friday afternoon from Chicago, where he had been attending a road machinery demonstration.

Guy C. Eccleston and Claud Greenway, both of Petoskey, attended the K. of P. oyster supper and regular lodge session last Thursday evening.

Mr. and Mrs. H. S. Harshn left Tuesday for Detroit, where they expect to spend the remaining winter months at the homes of their children.

Sheriff David Vaughn, Charles Novak and Sam Hamilton, returned Saturday from a business trip to Chicago, Flint and other southern cities.

The fire department answered an alarm at about 6:30 Tuesday evening when the chimney at the Western Union office burned out. No damage resulted.

The Charlevoix Independent basketball team lost to the East Jordan Independents last Thursday evening at Hooker's garage by the score of 26 to 22.

The Hime Pearl barber shop has been moved from the cigar store in the County Bank building to the store building owned and occupied by L. P. Adams.

Mrs. W. S. Richardson left on Tuesday of last week for Long Beach, California, where she expects to visit among friends and relatives until about the first of April.

In the absence of a home game for the varsity squad, three class games are scheduled at Hooker's garage Thursday night. No admission will be charged and a large crowd is urged to turn out.

Miss Olive Allen, manager of the local Western Union telegraph office, was called to Grand Rapids last week by the illness of her father. Richard Whitehead of South Haven, is taking her place in the office.

The Rebekah Circle will meet with Mrs. Ruby Gimble, 204 State street, Friday afternoon, of this week. Pot luck supper and a special invitation is extended to the men folks. Every member is urged to be present.

The people of the community are reminded of the Parent-Teacher meeting to be held at the high school this week Thursday evening. Mrs. Jessup of Petoskey, will be here to inaugurate the work in Charlevoix.

The annual ice harvest is now in full swing. Heise & Yettaw, local ice dealers, have a large number of men and teams at work on Lake Charlevoix, and are filling the Widdifield ice house at the present time.

A very pleasant evening was spent at the home of Mr. and Mrs Ed. Heise last Friday, January 14, when Mrs. Heise entertained friends at a six o'clock dinner in honor of her husbands's birthday. The evening was spent playing cards and music, all guests departing at a late hour wishing Mr. Heise many more happy birthdays.

For the benefit of those in doubt on what county and trunk line roads to be kept open this winter, we will again mention the following: M-11, from Bay Shore to Eastport; M-57 from Boyne City to Boyne Falls; M-13, from Boyne Falls to the intersection of M-57 near Clarion. The Boyne City-Charlevoix road will be kept open, also the Boyne City-East Jordan-Deer Lake road as long as storm conditions permit. State trunk lines call for first attention and must be kept open. The county is well equipped with plows this winter and little difficulty is anticipated in keeping the highways open for automobile traffic, according to R. G. Davis, who is in charge of the work.

Now is the time to buy shoes at Campbell's Shoe Sale.—Adv. 3t1.

SCHOOL AGAIN ON ACCREDITED LIST

Such is Information Received by Supt. Coverdale

Information that Charlevoix high school has been continued on the accredited list of the University of Michigan was received last week by Superintendent G. H. Coverdale The period for continuation is three years, the longest period that could be granted. The following letter covers the matter in detail:

Mr. George H. Coverdale,
Superintendent of Schools,
Charlevoix, Michigan.
My dear Sir:

At a recent meeting of the University Committee on Accredited Schools, the report on your high school was submitted. I was instructed to notify you that the committee had voted to continue your school on the accredited list of this University for three years, which is the longest term of accrediting. This term of accrediting will expire June 30, 1930.

In re-accrediting your school the commerce desires to urge the importance of the erection of a more commodious school building, and hopes that such a building may be erected before the next inspection by the university.

Very truly yours,
J. B. Edmonson.
Secretary, University Committee on Accredited Schools.

Avoid fire risks from burning-out chimneys by using our honest-to-goodness Soot Destroyer.—Charlevoix Hdw. Co.—Adv. 2tf.

C. H. S. DEBATERS WIN FROM TRAVERSE CITY

Another Victory Will Place Them in Final Elimination Tests

The Charlevoix debating team was again victorious last Friday evening when they met the affirmative team from Traverse City. The debate was held in the local high school assembly room. About fifty attended the event.

Charlevoix was represented in this debate by Keith Y. Reynolds, Georgia Kelderhouse and LaRue Higman. Each one carried out his or her part in constructive speaking, and entered into the rebuttal in a spirited manner. This debate was the closest and most contested this year.

The judges were, Edward Heymen from Bellaire, and the Misses Campbell and Gryant of East Jordan. The verdict was two to one for the Charlevoix team.

Charlevoix still has one more debate but it is not known with whom. In case she wins this last one there is a chance to get into the final elimination contests.

Card of Thanks

We wish to express our sincere appreciation to neighbors and friends, members of the O. E. S. and Lady Maccabees, for the many acts of kindness and expressions of sympathy during our recent bereavement. We feel especially grateful to those making floral offerings and others who rendered other assistance. Archie Alcock and Family.—Adv. 3t1.

UNION VESPER SERVICE WELL ATTENDED

Interesting Program Presented by W. C. T. U. Last Sunday

The union vesper service at the Congregational church last Sunday, given under the auspices of the Women's Christian Temperance Union, to celebrate the seventh anniversary of national constitutional prohibition was well attended and an unusually interesting program was presented.

Rev. C. E. Pollock made the address in his usual forceful manner, using an improvised text, viz: "And Now Abideth These Three—Election, Enforcement and Education—But the greatest of These is Education."

Twelve living pictures were shown representing women prominent in the temperance movement—"Women Torch Bearers"—and there was woven around these the history of the W. C. T. U., the largest international organization of women in the world.

The women realize that the conflict for law enforcement in the United States may be as long and bitter as for constitutional prohibition and they call upon all women who are in sympathy with prohibition and law enforcement to join the union and give their support to the cause.

LOCAL AGENCY SHOWING NEW CHEVROLET

1927 Coach Placed on Display at Their Salesroom

Block & Simmons, local agents for Chevrolet cars, have just received a 1927 model improved coach and have it on display in their sale-room.

The coach has many new improvements over former models such as: AC oil filter, AC air cleaner, one piece full crown fenders, bullet type lamps, and, with the many new features mentioned, a substantial price reduction has been made on this and other models. The coach certainly does take the eye, and Block & Simmons anticipate numerous sales.

COURIER BARGAIN COLUMN.

Courier Want Advs. are One Cent per word per insertion. Minimum charge is 20 cents per insertion, for anything under 20 words. All Want Advs. are strictly cash in advance except to those who have ledger accounts. Please remember this when sending in your copy.

FOR SALE—LIVE STOCK

FOR SALE—Two male Collie dogs, three months old. Price $5.00 each. John Klooster, phone 7013F12. 2t3.

WANTED—MISCELLANEOUS

FOR SALE—Dry block wood. Inquire of Albert Harwood, Rt. 4. Charlevoix. 3t3pd.

FOR SALE—Good Violin, bow and case. Cheap if taken at once. Call at 215 Mason St., or phone 161-J. 3t2.

LOST

LOST—Silver and rhinestone pin, on Bridge or Clinton street, sometime Saturday. Finder please return to Juanita Secord, at school building. Reward.—3t1. pd.

Romance that delights

Alabaster Lamps

By MARGARET TURNBULL

LIFE without romance has little charm, but fortunately the most prosaic life has its moments of romance, when the hard facts of existence are seen through "the mists of alabaster lamps"—or the romance for which the lamps are a symbol. Here is the enchanting tale of a practical man with a hard head and a soft heart, and of the delightful people who led him to his romance in life.

Will be Printed Serially in The Courier Next Week

1905 1927

Safety--Strength-Service

When you find a bank of assured safety and unusual strength backed by a service that is friendly, personal and helpful, you've found the bank it will pay you to patronize.

The Charlevoix State Savings Bank, is the bank for everybody. Every account, large or small, is important in our eyes, and your account will have the same thoughtful care and consideration that has gained for us the confidence of Charlevoix people, many of whom have been with us since the bank was opened, twenty-two years ago.

The bank of complete service

Charlevoix State Savings Bank

CHARLEVOIX, MICHIGAN

W. S. Richardson, President.
A. D. Crimmins, Vice President.
Archie Livingston, Cashier.
G. W. Richardson, Asst. Cashier.

Health-Giving Qualities in These Foods

In the old saying, "We eat to live, not live to eat" there is a lot of truth. Eat good wholesome food and live a healthy life, and do not try to keep yourself in a healthy condition on inferior food stuff. We take a lot of pride in the quality of food we sell.

Grocery Department

Richelieu Pan Cake Flour is made of wheat flour, corn flour and rice flour, leavening and salt ready to use—
5 lb. bag 40c

Wheat Grits, the ideal breakfast food, made of the actual hearts of the very best wheat—
3 lbs. for 25c

Our Apple and Grape Jelly is especially good. Put up in 16 oz. drinking glasses—
Per Glass 30c

Young, tender waxed Beans, cut in pieces about 1 inch long—
Per Can 15c
Snider's Tomato Soup, 3 cans 25c

Meat Department

Bologna and Frankforts, 2 lbs. 35c
Liver Sausage, 3 lbs. 25c
Mild cured Bacon Squares, lb. 20c

MARTIN BLOCK

Opposite Post Office — Phones 12 and 142

NEW PALACE THEATRE

ATTRACTIONS FOR THE COMING WEEK

Saturday and Sunday, January 22 and 23

Gloria Swanson in "FINE MANNERS." Gloria in a luxury love-comedy—Gloria in Paris' latest breath-taking creations. Gloria getting over as only she can. Some "Manhandled" comedy antic of a slangy, east side chorus girl. Also comedy, "A BRINY BOOB."

Wednesday and Thursday, January 26 and 27

"VARIETY" with Emil Jennings and Lya DePutti partners. Boss and Artinelli world's greatest acrobatic duo. Partners—yet deadly enemies. For slim Artinelli has enticed away the soft, dark-eyed dancing girl with whom giant Boss is infatuated. Boss and Antinelli, whirling through their famous trapeze act at the mammoth winter garden, one hundred feet above the audience. Suddenly a hush falls upon the thousands below. The climax of the great acrobat's preformance—the startling three-fold death-defying leap has come. Boss glances down for an instance to the far away sea of fascinated eyes below. Through his jealousy-maddened brain flashes a thought; If Artinelli should fall!—if he (Boss) should miss by a fraction of an inch his partner's wrists as they come flying toward him!— the girl!—the—!! Also life. "RED HOT RAILS" and Fox news. Don't miss this. Prices adults 35c, children 15c.

Anniversary Week
—FOR—
Monarch Canned Goods

Monarch dealers everywhere are observing this event. They rejoice both over the tremendous output and the quality of the goods.

ASK FOR THE MONARCH BRAND

This label assures of the very best canned product. Hundreds of satisfied Charlevoix customers will testify to this fact. Buy the Monarch Brand at all times.

Milton Block

ENGRAVING

Initials or emblems on Watches, Jewelry or Silverware.

Quick service. Write or phone

P. J. MORAN
Phone 127 — 217 Clinton St.

Brighten Your Home With
Fresh Cut Flowers
—OR—
Blooming Plants
Flowers for all occasions
A. E. EDWARDS
FLORIST
We're as near as your telephone

GOV. GREEN'S FIRST MESSAGE

OUTLINES HIS VIEWS AND PLANS IN DETAIL

Wants State's Books Audited to Reveal Actual Financial Condition in All Departments

(Continued from last week)

chantable grades of iron ore within a relotively short term of years will be exhnusted. There are fewer active copper mines todoy than there were ten years ago. Therefore, I recommend an appropriation of $50,000.00 per year for research in iron and copper mining. The return to the State will be many times the appropriation.

There is necessity for the amendmeat of our mining laws. The recent terrible catastrophe in the Upper Peninsuln brings the questlon of state inspection very forceibly to our attention. I helieve there should be a state mining inspector connected with the Department of Labor anu Industry, with provision for State supervision and regulation. It might be well if the county inspectors were seleeted by the board of supervisors of the county in which the mine to be inspeeted is loeated. Inspection and regulntion should include all mines.

The State Tubereulosis Sanitarium at Howell has been neglected until today its physical condition is a disgrace to the State. This is a worthwbile institution in which the Stute has a large investment.

All our prisons are congested and there will be no relief until the new Jackson prison has been completed. When it is ready I shall urge that first offenders be kept in a prison by themselves, protected from the contaminating influence of the hardened criminal. Crime is on the increase and as it will be considerably harder for prisoners to secure their release in the next few years, we may need additional prison spaee.

The Immates of our varlous prisons are well fed, elothed, housed and entertained, but the expense is very high to the taxpayers. Some of the prisoners are engnged in productive industry, some are engaged in road building, some in farming, but a large porportion are kept in idleness. In n prison population of 5,235 there are 1,243 who are not working. Free labor in justly complaining of prisor competition. This is largely because prison products have been sold at prices much below the market.

A large pereentaga of the men in prison are here because they refuse to work; they never learned habits of industry. If these men are not made to work while they are in prison there is little chance of genuine reformation. Prisoners must all work but they should compete with free labor as little as possible, and their product should never be sold for less than the same product manufaetured by free labor.

In the Michigan State Reformatory at Ionia they have established the dormitory system. It groups several hundred inmatea in a large sleeping room. Enough guards can not be placed in the room to prevent numentionable crimes. This terrible condition has been allowed to exi-t over the protest of every warden connected with the institution. I am getting estimates of the cost of replacing the present dormitories with cell bloeks.

Judge Royal A. Hawley, who investigated the escape of 26 inmates, condemns the dormitory system. In commenting upon conditions in this iastitution he says, "Plots and conspiracies are still too rife, eseapes eotirely toa frequent and costly. Offences against prison discipline and crimes against the State are much too numerous."

Judge Hawley also says: "The practice of selecting from the convicts and establishing so numerous a body of "trusties" as now exists shauld be entirely discontinued or most drastically curtailed. Many proofs by way of exampla of the verity of this assertion are contained in tbe evidence. Suffice it to refer to three. Homan, who carried the revolvers mentioned into the prison and delivered them to Andrus, was a 'trusty'. Andrus, who received the revolvers and planned, or assisted in planning, the escape, was also a 'trusty', Johnson, who received and peddled "moonshine" from the Deputy Warden's office and turned that office at night into a place of debauchery, was a 'trusty' in nightly charge of that office."

The new law, providing for one parole commissioner is susceptible of much abuse and it is more expensive than the old three-man board .I would recommend a return to the hoard system.

The parole and pardoning power should be applied in the open, after enreful investigation to undo the inevitable injustico of our police and court systems. Then the man without money or influential friends, but who deserves his freedom, will have a substantial basis for hope. No longer should it be generally understood tbot the first requisite for paroles or pardons is the employing of lawyers with influence in the proper quarters.

The man who carries a gun when committing a felony should be treated as a potential murderer. We should memorialize Congress for a law forbidding the unregulated interstate shipment of pistols.

There are men who make crime their business and who are in and out of prison many times. To cure for these offenders in New York a man convicted of four felonies is automatically sentenced to prison for life. The number of paroles that any one man can have is limited. This law, known as the Baume Law, is a great success. In Ohio a man sentenced to life imprisonment is nat eligible to parole.

Little has been done towards completing the women's prison, although an appropriation was made for that purpose. When in possession of all the facts, I shall lay them before you so that this necessary institution may be completed.

I would respectfully eall your attention to the Mother's Pension Act, which needs strengthening, and which should be made mandatory.

One of the great issues in the United States today is the situation in which the farmer, the producer of the necessities of life, finds himself. For a state administration to promise relief for all that harasses and perplexes the farmer would be folly, but in every department of state government the needs, the rights and the hardships of this section of our population must be kept actively in mind. Those in charge of our finanees, of our institutions of science and learning, of our lnwmaking, and of every other branch of state administration, must do everything, at all times, to snfeguard and promote the farmer's interest, and to co-operate with the national agencies in the improvement of conditions that nre at the very foundation of our eeonomic system.

The tax problem is bound up with the whole unfortunate condition of the state's finances. Lightening the burden of the direct property tax must be the first purpose of every change in our system of taxation, and we must not create any new sources of revenue unless this money is to he used to reduce the property tax. We must exhaust every method of reducing expenditures. Michigan has not kept her faith with the farmer on one hand, nor with business interests on the other, in the matter of taxation.

The stute police hus many things to their credit and many more that are not. They have been allowed to interfere unduly in local mattera in which the state has no justifiable part and individunls have been made to feel their displeasure. Together with other departments, they have been made part of a political machine.

A small body of state police, composed of trained men who could be sent quickly to any part of the state when needed, will serve the atate well. In this body of men ahould be experts along all police lines. They should be equlppped with airplanes for emergeney summons. One or more towna in each county should have flying fields lighted for nigbt use.

The state police should nnt interfere with the local authorities of any county unless sommoned by the sheriff, except where there has been a breaking down of the county law enforeement.

The foct that our Workmen's Compensation Act is inodequate hus been carried by me to the people, and they huve instructed us by their votes to strengthen it. The Republican party has pledged itself to this work, and I know you will faithfully und honestly carry out that pledge. A report mnde by a speeiolly appointed commission to the last legislature will be found helpful.

There are many changes and simplificatinns necessary in our eleetion laws. If possible, there should be some rules governing our primary, looking to the development of u sportsmanlike contest rnther than the present rough and tumble. It should be required that all campaign literature bear the name or names of those responsible for its circulation to the end that it shall be possible to fix the responsibility for any libel they may contain. The public, as well as the condidates, are entitled to this protection. The pre-primary convention is a splendid innovation as it gives political parties, rather thun individuals, an opportunity to draft platforms and mukes it possible to eall for service distinguished citizens who would not inject themselves into a contest.

It is not neeessury to make any law to provide for pre-primary conventions. The Nationnl conventions are conducted under lnws of their own making, and this system has a distinct udvuntuge for it has been proven in Michigan that judges can be found who will interfere with conventions when the hand that makes them asks for political aid. Whatever changes are proposed in our eleetion laws, there must always be given to the people the right to finally choose their candidates.

Conservations interests me intensely, and I shall spare no effort to make our department outstanding in the nation.

I was raised in the north country and have seen the forests disappear. I have seen hardy men move upon these denuded lands, build a little home, clear a plot of ground and then, unable to make even a living, move away and abandon it all. There has seemed little hope for the country that once supported great pine forests. However, with increased prosperity, tourists have started to come for their vaeations to our north country. The upper peninsula is one great natural park, unsurpassed in scenery and elimate. In every part of our state there are beautiful lakes and streams with some woodlund, and in their charm and in our summer climate lies the possibility of making the state more prosperous. The tourists, who furnish to the state its third largest industry, are interested in the fish, the game, the forests and all outdoor life. One live deer seen by the tourists has more advertising value for Michigan than the thousands of dead bucks that come over the Straits every fall.

Game refuges nre necessary. We must have more public parks, and those we already have must be developed. Michigan could do nothing finer for her boys and girls than to make it possible for them to tnke their vncation in these public parks and have a part in reforestation. In this connection I would like to warn against over-doiog the exploitation of wild areas by highway building. Michigan should follow the example of the United States government and preserve tracts of real wilderness in addition to readily accessible parks. Regions that can be entered only by the hiker or the eanoeist have an appeal to the old American spirit of hardhood and woodcraft.

The taking of large tracts of land from the tax rolls for the purpose of reforestation, game refuges and public parks would ereate a hardship in some counties. It would seem fair that the state should pay local taxes on the assessed valuation of these tracts of land.

We are now working in conjunction with the United States Bureau of Fisheries. The bureau began a survey of all our hatcheries on January 1. They have proven conclusively that it is possible to restore fish to the streams, and we are availing ourselves of their wonderful store of information. There is a seemingly unlimited amount of expert knowledge and assistance in Washington that is ours for the intelligent asking.

It is our intention to establish nurseries nt each hatchery so that instead of planting the fry, that hns been such a lamentable failure for all these years, there will be nothing planted smaller than fingerlings. They will be planted at the headwater of feeder streams that will be closed to fishing. We are confident that this changed method of planting there will be fishing for all. While the trout will be cultivated, we will not neglect the bass, the bluegill, the wall-eyes, and the perch. Rainbow trout will not be stripped of their spawn, hit on the heud, and sold for meat. Adequnte fish ladders or other means will be provided for the fish in spawning time. Pollution of streams must have our persistent attention. You will be asked to consider a measure enubling municipalities to charge for the disposal of sewage, as they now do for water service, and such a law would go a long way toword overcoming the grave economic obstacles in the way of cleansing our streams.

Michigan, nearly surrounded by the Great Lakes, has the largest interest in commercial fishing of any of the eight states that nre touched by these waters. It is one of our most important industries. There is a steady decline in the supply and a united effort on the part of all the lake states and Canada should be made for improved uniform fishing laws that this industry may be preserved. The U. S. Department of Commerce is cooperating to move this result.

The farmer, whose rights and interests have been to a large extent disregarded in the conservation movement throughout the country, is vitally concerned. The state should proceed to give him full control of his own property by the strengthening of our trespass laws. Those laws must be tied up closely with our game laws, as has been successfully done in other states. It would be necessary for the hunter to get the farmer's permission to hunt upon cultivated land rather than for the farmer to be obliged to post warning signs.

By combining the best of scientific knowledge with aggressive action, Michigan can hope in the next few years to turn the halance, changing a condition of uncertainty and anxiety regarding conservation into the beginning of a new day of solid achievement and permanent betterment.

You will he asked for a statute which will permit, as part of the punishment of fingrant game law violation, a forfeiture of license and a refusal of license to hunt or fish for a certain definite period.

Punishment without education will never restore the game and fish to Michigan. The Conservation Department will carry out a complete campaign of education throughout the schools of the state. The very foundation of conservation is reforestation. The work has been given a splendid start and plans already laid out will be carried through.

This legislature will receive a report from a commission that has been appointed to investigate the "law's delays" and other kindred subjects. I commend this report to you and hope you will atudy it carefully and make into law such of its recommendations as appeal to you. Personally, I have little hope that the legal profession will furnish adequate remedies for the disgraceful condition we now find in our criminal practice.

One of the first duties of a government is the protection of life and property. In this most primitive and fundamental function our criminal laws and court machinery have not kept pace with modern methods of organized crime. Nothing in modern American life is so weak and incompetent as our criminal courts. No business could survive their inefficiency. While crime is diminishing in every other civilized country in the world, it is increasing here.

Bar associations everywbere admit and deplore these facts, but nothing is done. We leave to them the duty of keeping their profession clean, yet there is hardly a town of any considerable size that does not contain at least one shyster luwyer. In the large cities there are many of them, and the fact of their presence is known to all the legal profession. We need some new method by which this honorable profession can be kept cleun.

By making ignorance a qualification for jury service, allowing endless challenges, allowing technical objections intended solely to keep facts from being brought out, and granting new trials for inconsequential errors, we succeed in preventing justice und allow thousands of guilty men to escape. Our judges are helpless. Justice Taft says the law gives more concern and protection to criminals than to society.

It is estimated by Judge Cavanaugh of Chicago thnt there are 135,000 murderers at liberty in the United States. More men have been murdered in this country since 1918 than we had killed in the great world war. In London in 1924 there were 27 murders; in Paris, 59, and in New York, 333. In Cleveland in 1920 there were six times as many murders as there were in London, which has ten times as great a population.

In Great Britain the ordinary criminal case is disposed of within a few days. As a result, in proportion to its population, Great Britain has one murder to our 52. Crime is less frequent in England than in the days of the Puritans. This difference in the safety of human life in this country and the United Kingdom is brought abuut by the fact that the criminal over there knows that he is going to get an immediate trial, with no technicalities interfering with justice and thut his punishment will surely follow conviction. Speedy and certain justice terrifies and deters. In this country if we succeed in sending the guilty to jail and keeping them there, the performnnce is almost unusual.

Bar associations are splendid organizations and have made many efforts to improve conditions, but up to now they have failed and the condition under which justice is being dispensed, especially in the large cities, has become unbearable. We have called in business men, they have shown us the way out many times; perhnps they could help now. The legislature might well afford to give much of its energy to making Michigan a state where life and property are safe. If you miss this opportunity because of the difficulty involved, you will regret it deeply because it is the outstanding weakness in our government.

One of the problems of administration is to reduce the large number of expensive state employees A supervising official who is employing more help than is necessary is robbing the state and should be dismissed. The people have been advised that we will turn the government at Lansing into a service station, and we must keep that promise.

There will be no Representative or Senator on the floor of either chamber authorized to speak for me. If I have any communication to make to you, either individually or collectively, I shall make it in person.

I do not want to tire you with an exhaustive discussion of too many matters. Later I want to submit a message dealing with the Cement Plant, the Grnnd Trunk Railroad deal, nnd the new prison.

This administration is starting out firm in the belief thut we are all friends working for the common good of Michigan. I believe you nre entering upon your duties with the idea of service. With this as a basis of understanding, I am anxious to work with you to the end that this may be Michigan's outstanding legislature. You will have first call upon my time, and I will give you the best service in my power.

In all our work let us remember "Except the Lord build the house, they labor in vain thot build it."

No Increasing or Continued dosing necessary with NATURE'S REMEDY (NR Tablets). There is no griping, sickening or weakening sensations, for Nature's Remedy produces a natural action, without perturbing or stirring up the intestinal content before elimination, preventing the absorption of the toxins by the circulation—that is the reason why you feel stronger, brighter, animated and rejuvenated.

¶ PROVE IT—Make the Test Tonight—take one NR, drink a full glass of water. Tomorrow you will know what it means to be free from Constipation, Biliousness, Sick headache.

NR TO-NIGHT TOMORROW ALRIGHT

SOLD BY YOUR DRUGGIST CENTRAL DRUG STORE

RECOGNIZING AN OBLIGATION

"No utility is truly successful unless along with its growth in sales and financial standing goes a growth in its standing as an institution in the community—a growth in community respect and community approval merited by its service."—Pres. M. S. Sloan, of Brooklyn Edison Company.

LEGAL NOTICES

Order For Appearance

State of Michigan, the Circuit Court for the County of Charlevoix, in Chancery.

Pearl W. Hall, Plaintiff vs. A. I. Richard Hall, Defendant.

Suit pending in the Circuit Court for the County of Charlevoix in said county, on the 23rd day of December A. D. 1926.

In this cause it appearing from affidavit on file, that the Defendant A. I. Richard Hall, is not a resident of this state, but resides in the state of Illinois.

On motion of Arthur L. Fitch attorney for the Plaintiff, it is ordered that the said A. I. Richard Hall Defendant cause his appearance to be entered in this cause within three months from the date of this order; and in case of his appearance he cause his answer to the Plaintiff's Bill of Complaint to be filed, and a copy thereof to be served on said attorney for the Plaintiff, with fifteen days after service on said non-resident Defendent of a copy of said Bill and notice of this order; and that in default thereof; said bill be taken as confessed by said non-resident Defendant.

And it is Further Ordered, That within forty days the Plaintiff cause a notice of this order to be published in the Charlevoix Courier, a newspaper printed, published and circulated in said county, and that such publication be continued therein at least once in each week for six weeks in succession and that plaintiff cause a copy of this order to be mailed to said defendant A. I. Richard Hall at his last known post office address, by registered mail with postage thereon fully prepaid and demand a return receipt therefore; or that said plaintiff cause a copy of this order to be served on said defendant A. I. Richard Hall personally at least twenty days before the time herein prescribed for the appearance of said defendant or that said plaintiff shall cause a copy of this order to be served on the said defendant A. I. Richard Hall by registered mail and demand a return receipt from the post office department at least twenty days before the time prescribed for the appearance of the said defendant.

Parm C. Gilbert,
Circuit Judge.

A. L. Fitch,
Attorney for Plaintiff
Business Address, Charlevoix, Mich.
2-t6

Order for Publication

State of Michignn, the Probate court for the county of Charlevoix.

At a session of said court, held at the Probute Office in the city of Charlevoix in said county, on the 18th day of Jnnuury, A. D. 1927.

Present, Hon. Servetus A. Correll, Judge of Probate.

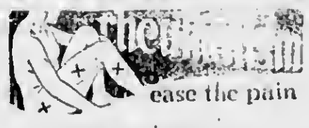
In the matter of the estnte of Helen C. Muves, minor.

The Michigan Trust Company having filed in said court its final account as guardinn of said estate, and its petition praying for the allowance thereof.

It is ordered, that the ninth dny of February, A. D. 1927, at ten o'clock in the forenoon, at said Probate Office, be and is hereby appointed for examining and allowing said account.

It is further ordered, that public notice thereof be given by publicatiou of a copy of this order, for three successive weeks previous to said day, of hearing, in the Charlevoix Courier, a newspaper printed and circulated in said county.

Servetus A. Correll,
Judge of Probate.
Adv. 3-t3.



ease the pain

Nothing brings such comforting relief as the original Baume Bengué. It starts to drive out pain as soon as you apply it.

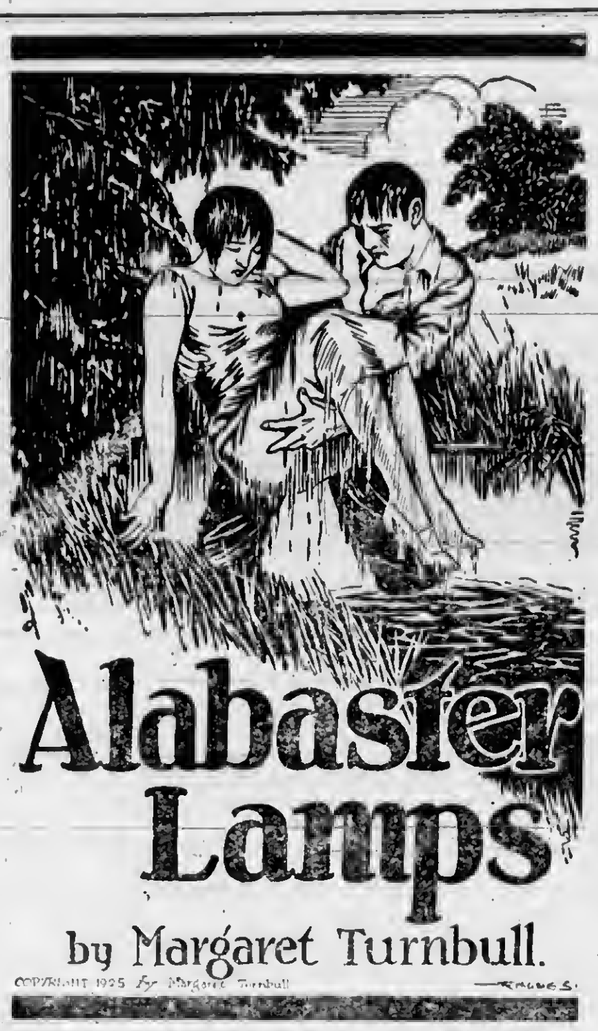
GET THE ORIGINAL FRENCH
BAUME BENGUÉ
(ANALGESIQUE)

Babies Love It

For all atomach and intestinal troubles and disturbances due to teething, there is nothing better than a safe Infants' and Children's Laxative.

MRS. WINSLOW'S SYRUP

Raising the Family- Yes, Pa is a poor Partner!
Fisher
THINGS HAVE WENT FROM BAD TO WORSE- NOW THAT UNREFINED MALE PERSON'S BEEN TEACHIN' GIDEON AN' FANNY TO FOX TROT!
GIDEON LEARNIN' TO DANCE! GOODNIGHT!
KA-FLUMP
NO WONDER YA FELL-ANT, YA GOT A PARTNER?
CERTAINLY I HAD A PARTNER, IKE PRINGLE—
BUT THE MINNIT I STARTED SLIPPIN' THAT SHRIMP DELIBERATELY DISAPPEARED AND LEFT ME FLAT!
INTERNATIONAL CARTOON CO. N. Y.



Alabaster Lamps

by Margaret Turnbull.

COPYRIGHT 1925 by Margaret Turnbull

ROMANCE that satisfies. A love story that thrills. With mystery and humor for good measure. As old-fashioned in flavor as home-grown strawberries on biscuit-dough shortcake. As modern as a long, sleek speedster with balloon tires and a bob-haired driver.

• • •

Read this charming tale by the author of "Classmates" and "Looking After Sandy" as a serial in
THE COURIER, STARTING NEXT WEEK

LIVE STOCK

FARMERS ADVISED TO RAISE COLTS

Farmers will either have to use more tractors five years from now or else start raising more colts, and the wise farmer is the one who will make the decision now, according to H. C. M. Cose, in charge of the farm organization and management department at the University of Illinois. Undoubtedly, the time is fast approaching when there will be a shortage of horses, and the price of work stock is bound to rise in the face of these conditions, he said.

Figures collected by the college from 125 farms in DuPage, Knox, Stephenson, Whiteside and Winnebago counties show that the colts now being raised on these farms will replace only about one-fourth of the horses that may be expected to be lost annually. That this situation is not a local one but that it exists throughout the country is shown by data collected by the federal Department of Agriculture through its 26,000 crop reporters, who for the most part are farmers scattered over the whole country. According to this information, there are only about half as many horses under three years old on farms of the country as will be needed to maintain the present number of horses.

Naturally, a shortage of horses has not been felt in recent years because tractors have been introduced to replace part of the horses. Consequently, even if no colts were raised and horses were not shipped in from the outside for a few years, the shortage would not be noticeable. However, this condition cannot exist indefinitely, and the time undoubtedly is fast approaching when the shortage will be upon us.

While the present price of horses will scarcely pay the cost of production, [illegible] certain to change.

Colts should be looked upon as a kind of by-product on corn belt farms. A colt can be raised while its mother helps care for the peak load of labor in the spring, while it can be fed largely on roughage feeds which are not well utilized on many farms.

SELECT GOOD BULL FOR BEEF CALVES

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)

Buying a good herd bull is the first step in growing better beef calves at much less cost per pound, says the United States Department of Agriculture. In common or native cow herds, calves sired by pure-bred bulls weigh on an average about 125 pounds a head more, when one year old, than calves of the same age sired by the average run of scrub bulls, and they will sell for about two cents a pound more as stockers and feeders. Two-year-old steers sired by good pure-bred bulls weigh on an average about 200 pounds more a head than steers sired by scrub bulls, and sell for considerably more as stockers and feeders.

There is practically no difference in the cost of feed for the two classes of calves up to the yearling age, but from that time on grades develop more capacity and require more feed than scrubs. The difference in cost of feed, however, is a very small item when the values are taken into consideration. The big difference lies in the type of bull used.

Having selected a good bull, he should be the best-cared-for individual in the herd. Not only should he have special feed at times, but he should be kept in a separate paddock or lot and should not have the freedom of the herd except during limited seasons of the year. Unless a special lot can be provided, some means of giving the bull exercise should be devised.

The bull should be well fed during all seasons, but especially so just previous to the breeding season. His ration may consist of roughages mainly, but a small quantity of grain also should be used. The exact quantities of feed that should be given depend largely upon the size, age, and individuality of the animal, and the ration must be varied according to requirements. As a general rule excessive quantities of silage should not be fed to a bull doing heavy service. A safe rule to follow is to feed one-half as much silage as would constitute a full ration for an average cow.

Prevent Pig-Eating by Proper Feed and Care

A sow's desire to eat her pigs may result from a number of causes, although it is not natural for a sow to destroy her young. When the sow is constipated she becomes feverish, develops an abnormal craving or appetite and may kill her pigs and eat them. To prevent this condition the sow should be properly fed during pregnancy. Linseed oil meal in the ration will aid in keeping the bowels regulated. In extreme cases of constipation salts should be used.

The afterbirth should be removed promptly from the pen and burned or buried. If left in the pen the sow is likely to devour it and as the scent of the newly born pigs is similar, some of them may also be eaten.

A sow that has acquired the habit of eating her pigs should be watched carefully to see that her bowels are working properly. When she farrows, rub each pig with a cloth saturated with kerosene so that they will have the smell of the oil. Great care should be taken not to put too much on the pigs as it will blister the skin. When the sow's nose detects the odor of kerosene she will decide not to eat the pigs.

Permanent Pastures for Wintering Beef Cattle

The secret of economical beef production is the maintaining of the breeding herd cheaply—and at the same time keeping them in a thrifty condition during winter. It is true that every farmer has his particular problems relative to feeding and management. However, the following suggestions made by Prof. L. V. Starky, chief of the animal husbandry division at Clemson college, may throw some light on the problems which confront the farmer engaged in raising beef cattle.

The beef herd should be kept on permanent pastures as long as these pastures are sufficient to practically maintain the normal weight. As soon as the permanent pastures become exhausted as a result of frost or otherwise, the cattle should be turned in the velvet bean fields from which the crop has been snapped. The cattle should be left in the bean fields as long as they maintain their normal weight. If rye pasture is available they may then be turned on this pasture. In this way the herd may be put through the winter with practically no additional feed.

Snakeroot Is Poisonous and Will Kill Cattle

White snakeroot is a poisonous plant that is causing some loss to cattle owners in Iowa, according to reports coming in to Iowa State college. A number of calves died in a pasture near Avoca as a result of eating white snakeroot.

Flowers of white snakeroot are white, about one-fourth to one-third of an inch in diameter, and are produced in clusters. The plants grow from two to three feet tall. The leaves are two or three inches long and are ovate in shape. White snakeroot is related to boneset, a plant the pioneers used in making a tea for medicinal purposes. It is very common in wooded pastures and is found in almost every part of the state. If there is fear of the plant being present, cattle should be kept out of wooded pastures.

Cattle have consumed the plant this year partly because of the dry weather and resultant short pastures, according to Dr. L. H. Pammel, head of the botany department, Iowa State college. Cattle are said to show trembles when poisoned by white snakeroot, and the milk from the cows eating this weed is considered injurious to man.

When Young Lambs Start to Eat Provide a Creep

At about three weeks of age the young lambs will start to eat grain and at this time should be provided with a creep, to which the ewes do not have access, where they may be fed grain consisting of oats, bran and a small proportion of crushed corn and also a good quality of second cutting of clover or alfalfa hay. Any feed remaining in the trough should be fed to the ewes twice daily and the lambs given a fresh supply. Young nursing animals make much more efficient use of their feed than do older animals, hence the importance of rather liberal feeding where it is desirable to market the lambs young.

Live Stock Items

A horse's stomach has a capacity of only 19 pints.

• • •

A horse kept shut up away from the sunshine is apt to get nervous.

• • •

The United States Department of Agriculture has estimated that about 43,000,000 baby pigs will be raised during the current year in the corn belt, compared with 47,500,000 last year.

• • •

"Spare the feed and save the pigs," is a good rule to follow the first two weeks.

• • •

The importance of using a pure-bred ram of superb individuality and good shearing qualities cannot be too strongly emphasized.

Turn to the ~~ Re-sale Prices for the Truth

It is common knowledge that Dodge Brothers Motor Cars command exceptionally high prices at re-sale.

As re-sale prices are established by the public—not by the manufacturer—they may be accepted as an accurate reflection of public experience.

Could there be a more eloquent tribute to the stamina and enduring worth of Dodge Brothers product?

Touring Car $865.00
Coupe $915.00
Special Sedan $945.00
f. o. b. Detroit

BENJ. BROWN
CHARLEVOIX, MICHIGAN

Patronize Your Nearest Dodge Brothers Dealer

DODGE BROTHERS MOTOR CARS

Choose Your Winter's Reading Among These

SPECIAL BARGAINS

GOOD ON RURAL ROUTES ONLY

Charlevoix Courier, regular price $2.00
Grand Rapids Evening Press, regular price $4.00 , both for $5.60

Charlevoix Courier, Grand Rapids Evening Grand Rapids Herald, regular price $4.00, both for $5.50

Charlevoix Courier, and Michigan Farmer, both for $2.50

Charlecoix Courier, Grand Rapids Evening Press and Michigan Farmer, one year for $6.10

SPECIAL MAGAZINE RATES

Ask us for cut prices on your magazine renewals. There is hardly a one but what we can save you from 50c to $2.00. Write us a postal card or call at the office.

The Charlevoix Courier
Charlevoix, Michigan

PETOSKEY WOMAN CHARGED WITH ARSON

Admits She Wanted House Burned and is Jailed

Petoskey seems to be blessed with people in the habit of burning or hiring some one to burn their property. The latest to be accused of this offense is Mrs. Dora Grier Nell, who is now under arrest charged with conspiracy to have her large Petoskey home burned that she might obtain the insurance.

According to an alleged confession made by Cook Curtis, who lives near Petoskey, Mrs. Nell promised him $150 to fire the building on December 30. The confession was obtained and arrest were made by Herman Knyes, state secret service operator, and Chief of Police Harter, who worked on the case with Sheriff Carpenter.

It is alleged that on last Sunday morning, in the presence of Prosecuting Attorney Washburne, Sheriff Carpenter, and Mr. Kays, Mrs. Nell asked the sheriff to take her out and shoot her that she would rather be dead than stand the disgrace and that she further threatened that if she had the chance she would make away with herself.

Mrs. Nell admitted that she might have offered $150 to have the building burned, according to her signed statement. She also is reported to have said that the building was a "white elephant" on her hands.

W. C. T. U. NOTES

Prize Essay Contest

The local Woman's Christian Temperance Union has invited several grades of the public and parochial schools of the city to participate in two of the prize essay contests which are being conducted in colleges and schools throughout the United States for education purposes under the auspices of the National organization.

A final prize of $5.00 and a second prize of $3.00 are offered locally in each contest in order to stimulate interest.

The following are the conditions governing the contest:

Seventh and eighth grades; subject, "Why the United States Prohibits the Sale of Beer and Wine." (In the form of essay, story or dialogus.)

National prize, $15.00. Number of words, minimum, 400; maximum, 800. Markings, one half on subject matter; one half on method of presentation and general appearance.

Fifth and sixth grades; "A Temperance Work Book." National prize, $10.00. Details given in subjects and rules leaflet.

Every pupil in the room is expected to take part. Contest closes April 30th.

The ladies of the M. E. church will serve an oyster supper, Wednesday, Janunry 26, at 5:30, in the church parlors. Price 50c.—Adv. 2t2.

STATE INVESTIGATES 474 CHOLERA CASES

Outbreaks Traced to Garbage Feeding and Imported Hogs

A Lansing dispatch says hog cholera outbreaks in Michigan during the past year can be attributed largely to the feeding of garbage to swine that have not been immunized against the disease. Four hundred seventy-four outbreaks were investigated during the fiscal year and 2,959 hogs have been given treatment by state veterinarians.

Another source of infection was found to be imported feeder hogs. While hogs removed from stock yards must be immunized against cholera under the state law, this isolation requirement sometimes is ignored with disastrous results, the department says.

Charlevoix county hog raisers have stood some heavy losses from this disease the last year. We understand the loss was traceable to garbage feeding. In some instances the disease spread to neighboring herds with severe losses. There is also a law which forbids hogs being allowed to run withing a certain distance from slaughter houses, and another ruling that forbids the pollution of streams from hog yards. All the law are intended for the protection of the public, and when disregarded, imperil the herds of others, with accompanying heavy losses. A little precaution and good horse sense will result in the prevention of hog cholera outbreaks.

SEVENTY PRESENT AT MEN'S CLUB MEETING

Former Ionia Rerformatory Chaplain Delivers Address

Over seventy men were present at the Men's Club meeting in the basement of the Methodist church Monday evening, to hear Rev. C. J. Kruse, pastor of the Methodist church of Petoskey, give his address on prison life.

Rev. Kruse was formerly chaplain in the Michigan State Reformatory at Ionia under Alex Groesbeck's governorship. His address was one of great interest. He covered briefly routine life in this great penal institution, and gave out some alarming facts pertaining to the mentality, morality, age and reason for imprisonment of the young men at Ionia. In fact his statements were eye-openers. Few of those on the outside realize the condition on the inside of our state criminal institutions. Rev. Kruse's address was interesting and enlightening—well worth listening to.

Wood Wanted at Charlevoix Coal & Ice Co.—Adv. 3-t1.

Moves Barber Shop

Hiram Penrl, whose barber stand has been located in Smith's cigar store for the past year or more, moved his equipment Monday morning to Adams' cigar store and is now open for business in that location.

Carrying Pregnant Ewes Through Winter Season

Success in carrying the pregnant ewe through the winter to lambing time depends on proper feed and care. The ewe should have a well-balanced ration, which will keep her gaining in weight without becoming fat. The best feeds for this purpose, according to expert feeders, are clover or alfalfa hay, corn silage and a little oats and corn if needed. Corn fodder, straw and other cheap roughages can be used to lower the cost of the ration, but will not do alone.

Give ewes the run of the fields whenever weather permits and see that they take exercise daily even when the weather is bad. Scattering the rough feeds over the lots or pasture is a good way to induce exercise. Salt and fresh, clean water, preferably with the chill taken off, should be supplied regularly.

Old papers for sale at Courier.

GOITRE CAUSED SERIOUS CONDITION

Battle Creek Lady Saved From Operation. A Liniment Used.

Huldah Ashley, 29 Orin St., Battle Creek, Michigan, says she will gladly answer inquiries how she was relieved of stnggering, fainting and choking spells by Sorbol-Quadruple.

Sold by all drug stores, or from Sorbol Company, Mechanicsburg, Ohio. Locally at F. J. Fessenden, Druggist.

wire your home

Let us do a neat, thorough job, giving you all the comfort and convenience of electricity. Let us install a G-E wiring system throughout—with all materials [illegible] the most satisfactory system—also the system under which it has a lifetime

WIRING SYSTEM
—for lifetime service

Wood Bros.

4671

Since 1857

Eagle Brand has raised more healthy babies than all other infant foods combined.

Borden's
EAGLE BRAND
CONDENSED MILK

FLIT

DESTROYS
Moths, Roaches
Bedbugs, Flies
Other Household Insects

LIVE STOCK NEWS

PRIME STEERS FOR WINTER FATTENING

The inexperienced crop farmer who plans to buy a few feeder cattle this fall for fattening during winter will find that steers will fatten as easily as cows and will bring higher prices when finished.

"Old cows of equal breeding with steers will make the same gains but when finished they will not command the same price on the market, due to the fact that much of the fat is laid on as intestinal fat or in other places where the cuts are of low value," says Prof. R. S. Curtis of the animal husbandry department of the North Carolina State college. "With steers, the fat is accumulated over the back, loin, and sides or in the region of high-priced cuts. Feeders should be guided by these facts.

"This does not mean that feeders should not buy females because oftentimes the local market will not pay the price for good finished steers and will take the fattened females readily. It will also require less capital to purchase and feed old cows as they can be bought at a cheaper price. Considering the fact, however, that old cows will often be thin when purchased, they will put on more weight, much of which is known as fill, and can therefore be fed on a less margin. By this is meant that the difference between cost and sale price will be less than with steers. It should always be kept in mind that the old cows when finished can be sold more readily on the local market, while steers go to the more discriminating market of the larger centers."

Mr. Curtis states that the man who takes a pride in fattening cattle, who knows how to get into the market and is acquainted with the channels of trade will find it more profitable to feed steers.

Give Pregnant Sow Care to Insure Lively Pigs

Give the brood sow plenty of exercise; dry quarters, and a well-balanced ration.

J. M. Fargo, in charge of the swine herd at the Wisconsin College of Agriculture, believes that keeping the sows in clean, dry, well-bedded quarters, and feeding them away from houses so they will receive plenty of exercise by walking back and forth for their meals, means stronger and healthier litters. He also advises feeding the following balanced rations with either alfalfa or clover hay in feed racks:

Ration number one is made up of 40 pounds of corn or barley, 30 pounds of oats, 20 pounds of standard middlings, 3 pounds of tankage, 5 pounds of oilmeal, 1 pound of bonemeal, and 1 pound of ground limestone. This ration can be fed dry or as a slop. Just enough of this ration should be fed to keep sows in good flesh. In ration number two, corn is fed in quantities to keep the sow in good condition, and from ½ to ½ pound of an equal mixture of oilmeal and tankage is fed daily to each sow. This mixture should be fed dry.

Wood Wanted at Charlevoix Coal & Ice Co.—Adv. 3-t1.

The young men are urged to learn declamation, and they certainly practise that art every summer on the baseball umpire.

Alabaster Lamps

By Margaret Turnbull

"... while the perfumed light stole through the mists of alabaster lamps."
—Bulwer Lytton

HERE is real romance—old-fashioned romance in a modern setting. A story of whimsical, lovable folk—of old love and new love—in a little town in Pennsylvania; and then of Venice with her drowsy, sunny lagoons and the magic of her blue-black nights.

New Serial for Readers of
The Courier Next Week

NOW ON A SOUND FINANCIAL BASIS

Masonic Building Association in Fine Condition

At the annual meeting of the Charlevoix Masonic Building Association, held in the Masonic Temple Tuesday evening, a most gratifying report of its financial condition was read by its secretary and treasurer, D. S. Payton.

According to Mr. Payton's report, the association has cleared all of its indebtedness with the exception of a mortgage of $7,000 on the building. As the temple has a valuation of $35,000.00, it can be plainly seen that the project has been ably handled and that within a few years the entire indebtedness will be wiped out.

The meeting was attended by one of the largest gatherings in its history. A seven o'clock supper was served by the ladies of the O. E. S., that was in every way in keeping with the occasion.

At the business meeting held at the close of the supper, Oluf Nordrum was elected to succeed himself as president, as were also John M. Eckert, S. M. Rose and W. H. Miller as trustee for a three year term. Archie L. Livingston was also re-elected as a member of the auditing committee for a three year period.

This annual meeting is one of the most enjoyable Masonic gatherings held during the year, and closed with dancing and a good social time.

NOTICE

Of Primary Election and Time of Petitions

To the qualified electors of the City of Charlevoix:

Notice is hereby given that the annual primary election will be held at the central polling place, in said city, on Monday the 7th day of March, A. D. 1927 for the purpose of placing in nomination candidates for the following offices:

Mayor, City Clerk, City Treasurer, Justice of the Peace, Park Commissioner, One Alderman from each of the three wards. One Supervisor from each of the three wards. One Constable from each of the three wards.

You are further notified, that under Section 14, of Act. No. 351 of the Public Acts of 1925, no nomination petition shall be received after four o'clock standard time in the afternoon of Tuesday, February the first.

Chas. H. Lamphear,
City Clerk.
By D. S. Payton,
Deputy.

2t2

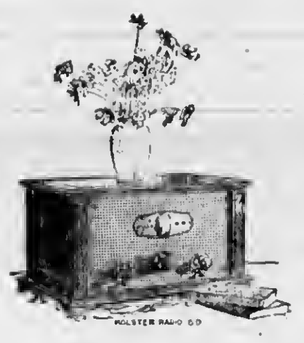
Zonite

For Cuts and Wounds

Prevent infection! Treat every cut, wound or scratch with this powerful non-poisonous antiseptic. Zonite actually kills germs. Helps to heal, too.

The Charlevoix Hardware Co.

The Kolster Radio Sure a Go-Getter



Regular Kolster Table Sets on the Pacific Coast now are getting Tokyo, Japan at 4:30 o'colck, mornings, a despatch reads.

Some neighborhoods set alarm clocks for four o'clock to gather in the proud possessor's home for these unique preformances.

3:30 a. m. Pacific Coast time is 7:30 p. m.; same night in Tokyo where station JOAK, using 1000 watts, broadcasts a nightly program.

CAN YOU BEAT THAT?
WE SELL KOLSTERS AND RADIOLAS

On hand are a couple of very good Radios, last Spring's models. We are discontinuing the lines and offer them at especially attractive prices.

LOOK THEM OVER

Charlevoix Hardware Company

NORTHERN MICHIGAN'S FINEST STORE

Three Big Departments—Hardware, Furniture, Electrical

W. E. Byers — John Boss

BYERS & BOSS

Auctioneers

We will cry your sales and clerk them. Furnish cups for all day sales.

Book sales at Courier Office

or call us by phone. All dates are made at The Courier office, phone 2-J. Phone any one of us and we will take care of your sale.

BEDDING SALE

SPECIAL PRICES FROM JANUARY 20 TO 27 INCLUSIVE

Our line of Double Blankets, Pillows, Bed Pads and Table Mats are being placed on sale right during the time you need them most at greatly reduced prices. You cannot realize the values we offer until you see them. To see them means to buy your needs, while the sale is on, which lasts only seven days.

DOUBLE BLANKETS

All Wool Blankets, regular $10.50 values	$8.40
All Wool Blankets, regular $6.50 values	$4.80
Wool and Cotton, regular $4.75 values	$3.85
Wool and Cotton, regular $4.50 values	$3.60
Wool and Cotton, regular $3.50 values	$2.85
Cotton Blankets, regular $2.75 values	$2.20

BED PADS

Regular $3.00 values sale price	$2.50
Regular $2.75 values sale price	$2.25
Regular $2.50 values sale price	$2.00

PILLOWS

Regular $9.00 values per pair	$7.00
Regular $6.75 values per pair	$5.50
Regular $4.50 values per pair	$3.90
Regular $4.25 values per pair	$3.50
Regular $3.00 values per pair	$2.60

TABLE MATS

Regular $3.50 values sale price	$2.75
Regular $2.50 values sale price	$2.00
Regular $1.50 values sale price	$1.25
Regular $1.25 values sale price	$1.00

S. M. SEE & SONS

RELIABLE HOUSEFURNISHERS

CHARLEVOIX COURIER

VOLUME 34. NUMBER 4. EIGHT PAGES COURIER, CHARLEVOIX, MICH., WEDNESDAY, JANUARY 26, 1927 PRICE $2.00 PER YEAR

NONE OF THEM HAVE US BEAT

LAKE PLACID OR MT. MORITZ—WE BAR NONE

Charlevoix Has More Advantages for Winter Entertainment Than Any Place in America

Right now, January, 1927, Charlevoix is rich in opportunity for a vigorous, exhilarating good time. There never were summer days in Charlevoix, famed through it is as a summer resort, that offered such wide variety of exciting, hilarious fun as do these keen, glorious winter dnys. And, as plnns go forward for Charlevoix's first winter carnival, we stop to enumerate the numerous reasons why this northern city should eventually prove as popular with winter sports seekers as Lake Placid and other famous winter resorts. Few, if any, can lay claim to the wide diversity of means for winter entertainment as Charlevoix. Nature hns provided us with everything other winter resorts have and a few extra features thrown in for good measure.

For instance: You stand on the shore of Lake Charlevoix, near the Inn, at Charlevoix, and you look up the lake toward Boyne City. It's a long way—18 miles—and the hills up there are softly hazy in the distance. It's all sheathed in ice now, that 18 miles that was n glinting, whitecapped blue when you saw it last summer. You remember the keen sport there, then—the yachts with their tall, white sails, tearing gnllantly up the lake with the blue water boiling white in their teeth and in their wakes. You remember the speedboats, too, hurling that white water far each side as they sped along, their keels half out of water, doing thirty-five, forty, forty-five. That was a thrill for the sailor or the onlooking landsman. But here is a winter thrill to match it, or even outmatch it.

The breeze is right, and here is an ice bont. You settle yourself in the cockpit, the sails nre hoisted and you leap nway. No speed boat could hit up such a clip as this! The runners roar nnd clatter over the rough spots. The ice is no more than a blur as it whizzes renrward. The wind roars, too, and tries to knlfe you through the heavy clothing you are bundled in. Before you have more than time to laugh and dash the wind-tears from your eyes, the skipper is bringing the ynoht about at the shore nenr the tannery in Boyne City. Eighteen miles—fourteen minutes!

But ice boating is not the only sport now afforded by the sheeted surface of Lake Charlevoix. Dotted here and there near Ironton and Chnrlevoix on the lake nre the little shanties where the fishermen are hauling the Mackinaw trout through the ice. They fish in comfort, too, for each little shack has its diminutive stove, to keep it snug and warm in there. A day or two before this was written, one man showed us a string of six of the big boys that he had taken in the morning. They run from 3 to 10 pounds each, and they do fierce battle before they are hoisted out on the ice.

Besides this trout fishing there is also the fishing on Round Lake in Charlevoix for the humbler but maybe even more toothsome perch. Here is a sideline of fun that cnn be picked up nny time, to while awny hours between the more strenuous sports. There is a veritable little city there on the ice in Round Lake; sometimes the number of shnnties run to nearly a hundred, each with its little banner of smoke from the stovepipe to proclnim that the angler is comfortnble within.

Hnrdly a day passes on Round Lnke when the fishermen do not take fine hig basket of perch; for this is a dependable, if tranquil sport. The gulls wheel about the little fishing city, screaming nnd watching for a morsel to eat. A fisherman hauls in a perch, and removing the mangled bait minnow from his hook, tosses it nway, through the door. Immediately there is a screaming, flapping pandemonium, with hundreds of gulls diving for the silvery morsel. Kindly citizens hring table scrnps down to the ice, daily to feed these ravenous birds. They gather in raucous, frantic hundreds for these feedings.

Each year some few fishermen with more hardihood than those of Round Lake and Lake Charlevoix, are lured out on the ice of Lake Michigan to try for the Mackinaw trout there. This, however, may fairly be classed as seeking adventure rather than sport. It is true that if a man finds the right spot and the right day, on Lake Michigan, he

(Continued on page six.)

COURIER WANT ADVS. BRING QUICK RESULTS

That "Courier want ndvs. bring quick results" was forcibly impressed on John Klooster, Charlevoix Rt. 4, in a 20 word adv. run lnst week. The adv. was ordered run twice, but Mr. Klooster has cnncelled this order, for the collie dogs were sold from the first adv. wlthin 48 hours nfter the paper was printed. In a letter to the Courier he says:

"In regards to the adv. in the Courier to sell the two Collie dogs, it brought n quick sale. They were sold within 48 hours after the paper wns out. Do not run this same adv. again, but run the one written below in you next issue. Courier advertising certainly brings quick results."

The second adv. referred to appears in this issue of the Courier. If you have anything to sell, trade, or wnnt to buy a certnin item, use the Courier want adv. The results will surprise you.

PARENT-TEACHERS ASSN. ORGANIZED

OFFICERS ELECTED AT MEETING LAST THURSDAY

Aims and Purposes Outlined by Mrs. Jessup of Petoskey, Who Aided Organization

A large number of Charlevoix citizens gathered in the high school assembly room last Thursday evening with the view of organizing a Parent-Teachers' nssociation. Rev. C. E. Pollock presided over the meeting.

After several musical numbers under the direction of Miss Vander-Haagen, Mrs. Grace Jessup of Petoskey was introduced. She outlined the nims and purposes of a Parent-Teachers' nssociation, which nre: to give fathers and mothers the opportunity for better education in homemaking and child nurture, to enable the school and home to come into closer mutual understanding, that they may cooperate more effectively in their common work for children to study community conditions affecting the welfare of the young with the purpose of arousing a sentiment of community responsibility.

Some special features of Mrs. Jessup's talk were: intelligent study of the child; provide for better laws by cooperation; improvement of home and school; medicnl nttention; school nurse; play master; epuipment for work and play; manual training; wnrm lunch for the country child; truant officer, who may be the school nurse.

After the address, a motion to organize a Parent-Teachers, nssociation prevailed. Miss Secord was elected temporary secretary, and the following officers were elected for the year: Pres., Mrs. E. E. Cross; vice-pres., Miss Pearl C. Biggie; sec., William E. Parmelee; treas, Walter Alexander.

It is understood that this associatioo has no connection with the administrative policy of the schools, but the duty of the organization is to socialize the school, to raise the spiritual atmosphere, and supply the school children with those things which school boards cannot agord also to surround the childhood of the whole world with that loving, wise cnre in the impressionable yenrs of life, that will develop good citizens to carry the parent-thought nnd parent-love into all that concerns childhood.

Mrs. George Kelderhouse nnd Mrs. F. F. McMillan, the committee who have hnd this P. T. A. organization under advisement for severnl months, are to be congratulated on the success of the meeting. Refreshments were served by a committee composed of Mrs. Geo. Kelderhouse, Miss Pearl Biggie nnd Mrs. Dick. The next meeting of the nssociation will be held in February.

The Pilgrim Players will produce Zona Gale's "Neighbors" nt the Palace Thentre, Tuesday evening, February 15th. The cnste includes several who were in the play at the Masonic Temple two years ago, and this alone will commend this winter's performance to many. Benefit Congregational Ladies' Aid.—Adv. 4t1

Old papers for sale nt Courier.

WINTER SPORTS-- NOTHIN' ELSE BUT

PLANS ALL SET FOR OUR FIRST BIG WINTER CARNIVAL

Dog Races, Skiing, Tobogganing, Skating Races and Coasting February 11 and 12

Charlevoix has definitely set the date and is going ahead with plans for her first winter carnival. This move is the outcome of action taken nt the annual meeting of the Association of Commerce, held last Wednesday evening.

A committee was nppointed by President Charles H. Emrey to work out details of the carnival, select the date, arrange the program, etc., and they are now working in conjunction with the association's winter sports committee, and they are on the job, too. Friday and Saturday, February 11th and 12th are the days selected. A tentative program of events is now available and the fun will start Friday afternoon at 2:30 with skiing contests and tobogganning at Mt. McSauba. W. E. Byers of the county road commission has promised that the road out around the base of the mountain and back to Godbold's corners will be plowed out so that cars may be driven out to the foot of the slides. A parking place will be cleared and spectators may watch events from their cars if so desiring. In the evening, starting at 7:30, there will be a hockey game between the high school and city "Dependents," followed by fancy skating and ice races at the municipal rink on the school grounds. Coasting on Bridge street will follow.

The program Saturday afternoon starts with dog-sled races on Bridge street, and promises to be one of the best features of the carnival. Many entries have been promised and the event will be a "scream." Skating and skiing will take up the rest of the afternoon. In the evening more skating races and a merry coasting party on Bridge street hill are the order. Participants will appear in costume depicting winter time and out-of-door sports.

Bridge street hill has already been iced for the event. A number of fans have volunteered to clear the ski and toboggan slides at Mt. McSauba and they will be in first class condition in time for the carnival. Liberal prizes will be offered for winners in each event.

It is requested that boys intending to enter their dogs in the dog derby report to Chas. Gale for registration, and have their pictures taken by E. A. Young. Bob-sled owners report to Robert Bridge, toboggan and ski owners to P. D. Campbell and fancy skaters and race entrants to George Beeman. This will give the committee a chance to get a line-up on entries.

The success of this carnival will be just what we make it. Out-of-town visitors are invited, of course, and urged to come, but the main idea is to get started. "Sell the idea of winter sports to ourselves, then sell it to the world."— Business places will be requested to close between the hours of 2 and 5 p. m. Friday nnd Saturday or the whole afternoon if they desire to do so. Forget business troubles and get out and enjoy yourself.

Any changes nnd a complete program of events will be carried in next week's issue of the Courier.

Get your auction bill printed here.

OFFICERS NAMED AT ANNUAL MEET

ASSN. OF COMMERCE BANQUET AT CHARLEVOIX HOTEL

Thirty-five Members Hear Annual Report of Officers and Committee Reports

Thirty-five members and others interested in the work of the Charlevoix Association of Commerce were present at the annual meeting nnd banquet, held lnst Wednesday evening in the dining rooms of the Hotel Charlevoix.

An excellent four-course dinner served by the hotel management opened the evening's activities and was the source of much favorable comment. After dinner, Fred E. Cartier, president of the association, called the meeting to order and gave a brief summary of accomplishments during 1926. Reports by Chairmen S. M. Rose of the harbor committee, A. J. Usher of the advertising committee, W. Gordon Parker of the tennis committee, followed, and from their talks one could see that cooperation had been the keynote of their netivities and accomplishments the result. As is known to all, Charlevoix staged one of the outstanding tennis tournaments of the state last summer and is looking forward to even a more successful one during 1927. The advertising committee report showed they had been unusually active and our successful resort season speaks well for their efforts.

The report of Secretary-Treasurer Robert Bridge, gave out some interesting facts and is printed in detail below:

Financial Statement of the Association of Commerce for the Year 1926:

Receipts

Bal. on hand Dec. 15, '25....$	27.09
Sanford, dues	4.00
Martin Block, dues	4.00
C. N. Bridge, dues	4.00
O. E. Wilbur	10.00
Chas. Gales, merchants' committee, fair	32.33
City of Charlevoix, advertising fund	95.41
L. R. Chase	4.00
Roy Brady	5.00
H. W. Widdifield	10.00
F. S. Myers	5.00
Mich. Bell Tele. Co.	15.00
Received from banquet	93.00
City of Chx., adv. fund	944.00
Dr. B. G. Mnttson	5.00
J. H. Koch	500.00
L. S. Orlowski	10.00
Howard Thormnn	25.00
Chx. State Sav. Bank	50.00
Chx. County Bank	50.00
F. J. Fessenden	25.00
B. A. Herman	25.00
F. E. Cartier	25.00
M. A. Levinson	25.00
Argo Milling Co.	25.00
Charlevoix Lbr. Co.	25.00
O. E. Wilbur	25.00
Charlevoix Hdw. Co.	25.00
Wood Brothers	25.00
S. M. See & Sons	25.00
P. D. Campbell	10.00
J. B. Redpath	10.00
Edward O'Neil	10.00
Martin Block	25.00
Northern Creamery Co.	25.00
R. C. Korth	15.00
Sanitary Eng. Co.	10.00
Adeline S. Holley	2.50
A. E. Mason	10.00
The Inn	300.00
The Belvedere	150.00
Standard Oil Co.	15.00
Northern Auto Co.	6.00
A. J. Usher, advertising in road maps	156.00
L. R. Chase	10.00
A. J. Usher, advertising in road maps	85.00
Charlevoix Beach Hotel	150.00
J. J. Hallett	75.00
Charles Emrey	15.00
Booth & Co.	25.00
Palace Theater	25.00
J. N. Chambers	6.00
A. J. Usher	25.00

(Continued on page 8)

The Trappers

FINE PROGRAM AT ANNUAL LUNCHEON

Congregational Woman's Missinnary Society Observes Anniversary

The annual luncheon of the Woman's Missionary Society, held nt the Congregntional church last Wednesday, wns largely attended and a very enjoyable ocension. Mesdames Bonthron, Faulkner nnd Lewis were the committee in charge.

Following the luncheon came nn inspiring devotional period in charge of Mrs. John Burns; the secretary's report of the activities for 1926; the president's annual message; the program announcements for 1927; a solo by Mrs. Mattson, accompanied by Mrs. Stelter; the presentation of the topic of the day—"Humanizing and Spiritualizing the Missionary Appeal," by Mrs. Saltonstall; and a playlet entitled, "Out of the Waste Basket," in which the characters were: Mrs. Allan Campbell, Mrs. E. E. Cross, Mrs. Geo. Kelderhouse nnd Teddy Mattson.

The woman's missionary societies are study clubs of the first magnitude, and those who attend them become well informed concerning the people of other lands as well as their own.

A FEW FACTS ABOUT TENNIS

W. GORDON PARKER REPORTS ON CHICAGO TRIP

Charlevoix Again to Stage Western Michigan Champoinships—Outlook Is Very Bright

Charlevoix will again hold the West Michigan tennis championships. The state championship event will be held nt Grnnd Rapids and the big national clay court meet will again be played at Detroit. W. G. Parker made this announcement yesterday on his return from Chicago, where he wns a guest of the luxurious Chicago Town and Tennis Club at the nnnual meeting of the Western Lawn Tennis Association Saturday. Dates will he announced later.

"Everything was done to make the trip pleasant," said the veteran. "It was very nice of President Emrey to make me official representative of the Association of Commerce. It helped. Archie Livingston saw to other necessary details, much appreciated.

"Having been a tournament player for so long, I felt there was little I could learn. But I found the game is changing, important questions and policies now are baffling the czars of the game. Chief of these at present is the indecision concerning the proposed meeting for charity between Lenglen and Wills, professional nnd amateur.

"It was admitted that many of the so-called amateurs of the present day could be declared professionals. Mr. Stevenson, General Motors counsel, who is at the head of Detroit tennis, told how two famous playe)rs and their wives included $100.00 extra in their expense list for serving meals in rooms and another large item for 'beauty parlor service.' He declared it outrageous.

"On the other hand, it was freely conceded that celebrated players are necessary to a lucrative gate. It also developed that players are being ranked with amazing accuracy. Their strong and weak points are nnalyzed.

(Continued on Page 8)

CHRISTIAN ENDEAVOR TO FETE ANNIVERSARY

Jan. 30 to Feb. 6 Will Be Observed By 800 State Societies

Five million young people the world over will celebrnte Christian Endeavor Week, January 30 to February 6. In Michigan 800 societies with a total membership of 20,000 will unite in a program for the week as planned by the stnte officers.

Christian Endeavor is celebrating its 46th birthday, having been first organized in 1881 by Rev. Frnncis E. Clark in his church at Portland, Me. It has developed into a great interdenominational movement and is organized in every civilized country nnd most of the protestant mission stations of the world.

In the local society of the Congregationnl church, next Sundny will be observed ns Denominntionnl Day and Miss Georgia Kelderhouse will lead the meeting. On February 6th the members of the society will put on a pngeant, "The Keeper of the Keys," nt the evening church service.

LOOK FORWARD TO ACTIVE YEAR

PRES. EMREY NAMES C. A. OF C. COMMITTEES

Men Who Will Take Lead in Carrying Out Program of Entertainment During 1927

About the first move on the part of Charles H. Emrey, newly elected president of the Charlevoix Association of Commerce, was the naming of the various working committees of the association, whose duties will be to take the lead in the many forms of entertainment provided for our hundreds of summer visitors. It should be remembered, however, that the field is an open one to all all who desire to take active part in the workings of the association, so don't be bashful about getting into the game with the fellows who are carrying the heavy load. The committees named follow:

Membership—S. O. Sorenson, A. Powers, Robert Bridge, Benj. Brown, Don T. McHugh, L. C. Hannah.

Finance and Purchasing—A. Bergeon, A. L. Livingston, H. W. Partridge, F. J. Fessenden, W. E. Parmelee, M. A. Levinson.

Advertising—A. J. Usher, F. E. Cartier, L. W. Russell, E. A. Young, Geo. Priest.

Publicity—P. J. Moran, Ira Adams, W. G. Parker, James Bellinger, L. R. Chase.

Entertainment—A. L. Livingston, Edw. O'Neill, R. C. Hammet, H. R. Fowler, Dr. L. V. Simmons, E. G. Loeb, Robert Bridge, F. F. Bird, Chas. Novak.

Industrial—H. A. Craig, A. F. Bridge, W. S. Richardson, James Bogart, Wm. Parmelee, Allen Cambell.

Civic—A. Bergeon, R. B. Armstrong, E. J. Hiller, L. P. Adams, Jos Foster, Chas. Bellinger, Ernest Howe.

Conventions—F. E. Cartier, A. I. Creamer, J. J. Hallett, A. VonDolcke, Mrs. F. C. Sears, Mrs. C. J. Winders.

Winter Sports—Don T. McHugh, P. D. Campbell, Chas. Gale, Robert Bridge, Geo. Beeman, Richard T. Hammett, Clair Webster, Archie L. Livingston, Edward Edwards, H. C. Ochs, J. W. Richardson.

Fish and Game—C. N. Wood, H. E. Dean, K. A. Usher, Perry Smith, A. C. Belding, Jess Smith, Charles Graves, Albert Staley.

Tennis—W. G. Parker, Harold Hallett, A. L. Livingston, Walker Miles, L. R. Chase, E. G. Loeb.

Base Ball—Ray Ashdon, Geo. Glados, R. C. Korth, Leo Powers, Albert Smith, N. R. Washburn, James Wyers.

Aviation—P. D. Campbell, Claire Webster, F. E. Cross, Henry Partridge, H. C. Ochs, Geo. W. Weaver.

Yachting—Ray S. Hamilton, Sam Hamilton, Roy Ranger, W. C. Bellinger, Frank Sears, Roy M. Brady.

Beaches and Playgrounds—Wm. E. Parmelee, C. N. Bridge, W. C. Bellinger, Dr. F. F. McMillan, R. L. Lewis.

Auto Parks—William Wallace, S M. Rose, Dr. F. H. Wilkinson, L. C. Hannah, Joseph Foster, Hugh L. Brady.

Harbor Committee—S. M. Rose, F. C. Partridge, Oluf Nordrum, G. C. Geiken, O. E. Wilbur, Sam Hamilton.

Legislation—R. L. Lewis, Lislo Shanahan, A. L. Fitch, L. E. Benton.

tontl

Roads—L. S. See, Wm. Byers, O. D. Hammond, E. E. Cross, Geo. H. VanPelt, R. F. Sloan.

Merchants—Chas. Gale, H. B. Jacobs, Martin Block, Benj. Brown, B. A. Herman, J. B. Redpath.

I. O. O. F. dnnce nt the hall Friday evening, Februnry 28. Come.—Adv. 4-t1.

SAMETHING OUR READERS SHOULD BE INTERESTED IN

You may be interested to know thnt out of approximntely 70 schools built or added to last year, 57 included in the plans new gymnasiums. You may also be interested to know thnt in the last four years the number of teachers employed in nll physicnl education work has increased from 500 to 900. This will show you that the question of the health of the children in Michignn is taken seriously by the edventionnl forces and they are doing everythiag in their power to foster and carry on work in this line.

CORRESPONDENCE

NORWOOD

Frank Chvatel visited at the Geo. Hansel home Sunday.

Several of the farmers here have been enjoying the fishing on Torch Lake.

Glen Holecheck went to Charlevoix to work on the snow plow this week.

Charley Alward of Ellsworth, is spending a few days with his uncle Sam Alward.

Ney Smith and a party of three men from Detroit, made a business trip to Norwood Monday.

Lloyd Parsons of Ellsworth, who is home from the U. S. navy, visited relatives at Norwood last week.

Mrs. Ed. Gregory and Mrs. Van Snyder of near Charlevoix, visited Mr. and Mrs. Fred Hull and family last Thursday.

The L. A. S. will have an all-day meeting and pot luck dinner at the town hall, Wednesday, where they are doing work for a bazaar for next summer.

Mrs. Huskins, who has been in poor health for the past few weeks, went to Grand Rapids with her daughter, Mrs. Boomstra, for medical treatment last Wednesday.

Mrs. Harris Pierce gave a dinner party last Sunday, in honor of her daughter, Bertha's 12th birthday. The guests enjoyed the fine dinner including a birthday cake, listening to the radio, and at seven o'clock the younger set were all escorted to their homes by Kenneth Pierce.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Hull received the announcement of the marriage of Mrs. Hull's sister, Irene Holecheck, to Mr. Schwalm, which took place at the Lavenda Inn, Palnverdes, California, December 24. After the marriage a fine wedding breakfast was served. Mr. and Mrs. Schwalm expect to make their home in California.

MURRAY SCHOOL NOTES

7th grade had a test in geography Friday on the North Central States.

We have started a quilt which will be raffled off sometime in the future

The play to be given by Murray and Bay Shore schools is well under way.

The girls have purchased a sewing machine which they expect to use extensively.

The girls have changed their sewing period to Wednesday noon instead if Wednesday after school.

The Bay Shore and Murray schools have started to play basketball. There will be both a girls and boy's game.

Buick reliability is one reason why the majority of new Buicks every year are purchased by old Buick owners.

For they have discovered the great pleasure of owning a car with one safeguard after another in its design, to prevent trouble.

Buy a Buick. It is a more dependable and more enjoyable motor car!

THE GREATEST BUICK EVER BUILT

Heaton & Hooper

BOYNE CITY, MICHIGAN

Yes NR is the most economical as well as the safest and most dependable laxative. It fits in with a thrifty housewife's budget. You get 25 doses for 25c, 60 doses for 50c, 180 doses for $1.00. More real relief than you can get elsewhere for its price—or for any price. Keep the family free from Constipation, Biliousness, Sick headaches. Make the Test Tonight — take one (Nature's Remedy) NR Tablet—Drink a full glass of water—See how much brighter, stronger and better you feel in the morning.

NR TO-NIGHT TOMORROW ALRIGHT

SOLD BY YOUR DRUGGIST CENTRAL DRUG STORE

The boys are progressing nicely in manual training, most everybody having completed their racks and are now making little tables and book racks.

The following pupils have been neither absent or tardy: Doris Anderson, E. Anderson, Viorn Furgeson, Ralph O'Dell, Ward Shantz, LeRoy Furgeson, Margaret Yhor, Dorothy Furgeson, Fletcher Johnson, Arvilla Yhor, Ellen Johnson.

Bay Shore and Murray schools organized a club for the purpose of creating a more friendly relationship between the two schools, also to have a good time by playing basket ball, thus having some play for the boys as well as the girls and some place for recreation. The officers elected were: President, Maxine Whiteland, Bay Shore; vice president Simon Peters, Bay Shore; treasurer, Doris Anderson, Murray; sec., Wolfe Price, Murray. The meetings are to be held every other Friday night. Next meeting is to be held Friday night, January 28, at Murray school.

EVELINE

Will Meggison has a new horse now.

Alfred Williams spent Saturday in East Jordan.

Homer Nasson is on the sick list with the mumps.

Mrs. G. Carlsen arrived home last week from Grand Rapids.

Will Walker and family moved into their new home last week.

Mrs. Peter Andersen spent Saturday in East Jordan on business.

Charles Zitka helped Will Walker finish up his new home last week.

Hans Johnson sold his team of horses to Louis Boyer one day last week.

Russell Thomas and family moved onto the Will Walker farm last week and they are going to make their home here.

A. L. Darbee, who lives in East Jordan this winter, drives his truck down to Eveline Orchards every day on the ice.

MOUNTAIN DISTRICT

Mr. Wilson went to Charlevoix on Monday.

Clare Staley caught a nice mackinaw trout on Saturday.

Jim Wilson is still the champion fisherman of this community.

Mrs. Bert Staley spent the week end with Mrs. Ruby Case of Charlevoix.

Both pupils and teacher would be delighted to see the snow-plow coming this way. Our roads need it.

School was closed on Thursday and Friday as the teacher and several of the pupils were ill with the grippe.

Mr. Sonderson has returned home from Milwaukee, where he spent ten day on business and visiting relatives.

Godfrey McDonald and Geo. Staley have moved their fish houses out to the bar and expect to have better luck in the future.

Our teacher was on the job again Monday, but Clare Staley was the only pupil present, the others being absent on account of sickness.

Albert and Ernest Staley made a business trip to Charlevoix on Monday. The carpenters and painters are busy renovating and re-decorating the new store building and the boys hope to be ready for business by March 1st.

BARNARD

Nice, cold, wintry weather.

More grippe and colds reported.

Katie Pesek spent the week end at the Glenn Cummings home.

Mr. and Mrs. Jesse Gregory and children spent Sunday at Ed. Gregory's.

A small crowd was in attendance at the Grange meeting Friday evening on account of bad roads. Nevertheless a good time was enjoyed by all present.

ST. MARY'S CHURCH

Rev. Fr. Odelo, Pastor.

Sunday services 8:00 a. m. and 10:00 a. m.

Services Monday and Tuesday, 8.00 a. m.

Services Saturday 7:00 p. m.

Ladies' Altar Society meets Thursday afternoons.

Read the Courier, and get the news

FOURTH NUMBER LECTURE COURSE

AT PALACE THEATRE NEXT WEDNESDAY EVENING

How to Choose the Right Vocation Is Subject of Vitally Interesting Lecture

A lecture telling how to choose the right vocation—a subject of vital interest to all—will be given here on the Lyceum course Wednesday evening, February 2, by Chester Milton Sanford, widely known authority on vocational training.

Mr. Sanford has devoted years to the study of young people and their jobs, and his lectures are based on first-hand investigations in many fields of business and professional activity.

"Failures of the Misfits" is the lecture presented on his first appearance in a community. If he is filling a return engagement, he deliveries an equally important lecture supplementing the first one.

Former Governor Harding of Iowa says of Mr. Sanford and his lectures: "It has been my privilege to hear Professor Sanford lecture to half a dozen different audiences. He makes me forget each time about college, about himself, as a professor, and takes me into the realm of the real, the living, throbbing life of industry. I see him as a father who knows boys and girls. I see him as a man who knows jobs and folks—and always in love with both. His round table discussion held after the lecture is something never to be forgotten. There you see young people, middle-aged people and old folks all intensely interested in learning self-analysis."

Every person in the community, from the grammer school boy and girl to the person of mature age, will be intensely interested in what Mr. Sanford has to say. He helps young men and women to analyze themselves, and to select the work in which they are naturally most fitted to succeed.

Everyone in the city is asked to set this date aside and make it a point to be at the Palace Theatre next Wednesday.

Burning - out chimneys caused many bad fires. Avoid this fire loss by using our Soot Destroyer. It does the work. 15c per pound. Charlevoix Hdw. Co.—Adv. 2tf.

CHARLEVOIX FREE LIBRARY

Report of Charlevoix Free Library for one year—January 1st 1926 to January 1st, 1927.

Circulation record:

	Adult	Juv.
Philosophy	55	1
Religion	96	28
Sociology	103	143
Language	23	1
Science	98	29
Useful Arts	103	74
Fine Arts	105	47
Literature	508	130
History	202	62
Travel	128	54
Biography	315	27
Fiction	8367	4395
Total	15,097
Total magazines in circulation	679
Total papers, magazines, pamphlets received	1001
Readers cards issued	335
Total cards in circulation	1,302
Readers:
Men	2,466
Women	3,114
Children	2,044
Total	7,624

Mrs. A. Buttars presented the library with a number of books, and a picture of Charlevoix taken in 1882. Mr. A. J. Usher also presented a picture of a city taken in 1889.

Books recently placed in circulation: Story of Philosophy, by Wm. Durant; Outline of Economics, by Richard Ely; This Believing World, by Lewis Brown; East of the Sun and West of the Moon, by T. Roosevelt; Microbe Hunter, by Paul De-Kruif; Prohibition at its Worst, by Irving Fisher; Big Mogul, by Joseph Lincoln. Page M. Tutt, by Archur Train; Black Hunter, by Oliver Curwood; Understanding Heart, by Peter B. Kyne; Trail Makers of the Middle Border, by Hamilton Garland.

Old papers for sale at Courier.

For Sore Throat

Rub throat and chest with Vicks; cover with warm flannel. Its double direct action (inhaled and absorbed) brings welcome relief.

VICKS VAPORUB

COUPE OR SEDAN $825

Revolutionary then
Revolutionary now

~ask any one of over 60,000 owners

The spectacular success of the Pontiac Six is as simple as A-B-C. When introduced it was a car such as no one had ever seen before—a six developed by General Motors, manufactured by Oakland and offering, at $825, qualities of performance, comfort, beauty, economy and reliability entirely new in the field of low cost sixes.

Yet revolutionary as it then was, the Pontiac Six is even farther in advance of its field today. For not only is it still the lowest priced six with Body by Fisher—not only is its power plant still the largest used in any six selling up to $1000——but the fundamental rightness of its entire design has been proved by actual service in the hands of over 60,000 owners!

Pontiac Six, $825 to $975. Oakland Six, companion to Pontiac Six, $1025 to $1295. All prices at factory. Bodies by Fisher. Easy to pay on the liberal General Motors Time Payment Plan.

BLOCK & SIMMONS
113-15 Antrim St., Charlevoix, Mich.

PONTIAC SIX

FOR LOW COST Battery Service

-USE THE-

WILLARD

No wood anywhere in the Willard battery. Nine less parts. Case and partitions are made from high grade new rubber stock and molded by heat and pressure into a single unite of iron hardness. Acid has no effect on it. Zero weather will not cause it to crack. We believe a Willard Battery will give you longer service than any battery on the market today.

NOTE THESE FEATURES

Heavy Willard plates—lively in action—long in life.

Threaded rubber insulation—withstands acid—uniformly porous—giving greater capacity.

A Charged Bone-dry Battery. Starts its life on the owner's car.

Large terminals and connectors permit free flow of current.

Strong partitions brace the cell spaces and reinforce the case.

High ribs at bottom of cells to support plates and provide ample sediment space.

Handles are securely fastened by screws to metal plates embedded in battery case.

Case designed to fit tightly in battery compartment of your car.

OUR PRICES FOR WILLARD BATTERIES

6 volt, 11 plate, rubber case Willard Batteries for	$11.95
6 volt, 13 plate, rubber case Willard Batteries for	$16.50
12 volt, rubber case Willard Batteries for	$24.60

BENJAMIN BROWN

FLIT
DESTROYS
Moths, Roaches
Bedbugs, Flies
Other Household Insects

VALET
AutoStrop
Razor
sharpens itself

An Amazing Success
Feen-a-mint
The Chewing LAXATIVE
Chew It Like Chewing Gum
A pleasure to use. Very efficient. Children love it. No taste but that of sweet mint. The most popular laxative [illegible] "satisfies." Be and [illegible]

ALABASTER LAMPS

COPYRIGHT 1925 BY MARGARET TURNBULL W.N.U. SERVICE

By Margaret Turnbull.

There was nothing especially romantic to contemplate about Claude Melnotte Dabbs, village grocer, unless it were the first two-thirds of his name. When his doting parents prefixed the cognomen of Bulwer Lytton's hero in the drama, "The Lady of Lyons," to his family name, it may have been an augury or at least an influence; for C. M. Dabbs, while sticking to the hard facts of life and wringing success from his career as a tradesman, nevertheless had romantic yearnings—desire to see existence through "the mists of alabaster lamps."

And his dream came true. Yes, came true to the extent that C. M. participated in a romance in real life that had chivalry, adventure, mystery, beautiful women and all sorts of interesting and delightful people and experiences mixed up in it in about as satisfying proportions as anyone could wish. Right in a little town in Pennsylvania, with its typical and lovable characters, the local butter and egg man became the chief actor in a drama of life in which his humdrum affairs were tinged by that aura of enchantment existing in "perfumed light stealing through the mists of alabaster lamps."

Margaret Turnbull, author of this engaging story, was born in Scotland, educated in New Jersey and lives at Rockwood, New Hope, in Bucks county, Pennsylvania. She has written several successful novels. Her "Looking After Sandy" is still a popular favorite. Her play, "Classmates," was and still is a big success. She has done a number of moving pictures for the big producers. The story, "Alabaster Lamps," was written at Rockwood, on a hill above the Delaware river, far removed from theaters, moving pictures or other accompaniments of city life; hence its peaceful atmosphere and fine strain of pure romance.

CHAPTER I

The grocery store of C. M. Dabbs, at the crossroads, Peace Valley, was astir. This was "late-closing" night. Parked before the door were vehicles of all sizes, sorts and description, from motors to old-fashioned farm wagons and buggies, the patient horses waiting, with drooping heads, while their masters finished their interminable marketing and equally interminable conversations.

Marketing took a long time in Peace Valley. In the first place, on late-closing night it was the custom to "go down along the crossroads and do your 'sloring' at Dabbs'." In the second place, hurry was a vulgar habit that had not yet reached Peace Valley.

One was "in the way of knowing what was adoing" in the village and the surrounding countryside by going to the crossroads store. The news-gathering and distributing took time, for no subject was rashly broached or rapidly discussed. One has only to listen attentively to the apparently monotonous discussions in country stores to discover that, though illiterate and totally ignorant of grammar, these sobers have read deeply in the Book of Human Nature.

Two men alighted from a car just outside the grocery.

One of them, the proprietor of the shop, said: "Leave the bags, Ned. The boy'll bring them in."

He was a dark-haired, rather thickset man. He was not tall. His fine face was reddened like that of a sailor or fireman; round, full and clean shaven. The hair at his temples was graying a little.

It was his eyes that made you look twice at him. C. M. Dabbs' eyes were blue as any Italian sky, and as cold as ice, or as soft and deep as the same sky. It all depended on how Dabbs looked at you.

They were at their softest and deepest now, as he looked at his companion. He was a much younger man, not more than twenty-seven, with smooth brown hair. His clothes were all that clothes should be, and worn by one who thought about them before he put them on, and then forgot about them. He was not the type usually found in a country village and he looked about him with an interest that proved him a stranger.

"Peace Valley!" he said, softly. "It looks like it!" He glanced again at the crossroads, one of which led steeply uphill, while the other wound about the valley until it disappeared behind a tall wood. The grocery store was a great old stone house, the front part of which had been transformed from a dwelling. Next door, a long low building combined the business of blacksmithing, wheelwrighting and motor repairing. The old and the new were mingled peacefully together. The post office, the brightly lighted barber shop and the cobbler's little hovel were all grouped about the crossroads.

"I didn't exaggerate, did I?" asked Dabbs.

The young man shook his head. "Peace Valley," he repeated. "I didn't believe there was such a place!" He glanced at the sign over the door and turned to the older man with a smile.

"C. M. Dabbs, General Store," he read aloud. "You told the truth about that, too. But why 'C. M.'? Come, what is it that distinguishes you from the rank and file of Dabbses? Is it 'Charles' or 'Cyrus' or—"

The older man blushed. "'C. M.' I generally sign myself," he admitted, "but if you really want to know what it stands for—why, 'Claude Melnotte Dabbs's my name."

The young man laughed softly, repeating, "Claude Melnotte."

Mr. Dabbs stalled. "Do you blame me for sticking to 'C. M.' or Mister?"

"I do not." His companion declared emphatically. "Tell me—"

"A traveling company, pretty good one, too, I believe," Mr. Dabbs began hurriedly, "with somebody celebrated as 'Pauline,' came to the county seat and played 'The Lady of Lyons.' My mother—"

"I didn't mean that," the young man assured him hastily, as though fearing obstetrical details. "I meant to ask is there a 'Lady of Lyons' in Peace Valley and is yours called 'Pauline,' too?"

Mr. Dabbs hesitated, shook his head thoughtfully, and said slowly: "I live alone, with Aunt Lyddy to keep house for me.

"'Course, I've always thought it was a blamed silly play. All about a poor boy marrying a lady under false pretenses. Good many years since I read it, though, but as I remember, he made good. I've often wondered if in real life—"

But his companion cared nothing about discussing Lytton's old play. "I say, Claude Melnotte," he interrupted, "is your Peace Valley home lit by 'alabaster lamps'?"

Claude Melnotte Dabbs hesitated. He was home again, after a week of the Wholesale and Retail Grocer's convention in New York. Behind that calm exterior he was greatly excited. Something in the young man's question faintly stirred his memory. Surely there had been mention of "alabaster lamps" in that old play. Vaguely feeling that there was another answer, he took particular pains to be exact.

"We've got an electric light plant for the store only, as you'll notice. In the house we burn coal oil. They're Rochester lamps."

He threw the door wide open and beckoned to his companion to enter, saying:

"Welcome home, Ned. Welcome to Peace Valley and our store."

With their entrance conversation stopped and all eyes turned toward Mr. Dabbs and his companion.

Ned saw what seemed an immense cavern, lit by crudely installed electric lights which shed an garish glow over the huge stock of canned goods, flower pots, cotton cloth, hams, bacon, tea, coffee and other staples which constitute a general store.

"Hello, Sim," Mr. Dabbs began, greeting the big headed, pale-faced man behind the counter who was doling out sugar for a bewhiskered farmer.

But before he could introduce Ned, a clear, girlish voice interrupted:

"I beg pardon, but could—will anyone tell me the road to Clover Hollow?"

The occupants of the store transferred their attention to the girl who, unnoticed, had entered just behind Mr. Dabbs and his companion.

She was a slender, vivid, dark girl. One might suspect, and find, red lights in the brown hair almost hidden by her close-fitting hat, and a fire in the blue eyes that looked out from under long, dark lashes. Everything about her spoke of money and care expended upon every article of her clothing. She had that elusive air of responsibility and knowledge that is so oddly part of youth that the war has left us.

"I beg pardon," Ned began, but the girl looked past him and at the capable Dabbs, who had turned toward her and was peering through the dark doorway as he spoke:

"Go straight along up that road until you pass Brook farm, which you'll know by the little covered bridge over the brook. Cross the bridge, turn to the right and keep on up the hill and away from Peace Valley and you'll be on the only road to Clover Hollow."

The girl thanked him briefly, though cordially, and went swiftly out. Ordinarily the crowd would have discussed her, her destination and her likelihood of being a "stayer" or just a visitor at Clover Hollow. But now there was another stranger present, and they turned their attention to Ned.

Mr. Dabbs introduced him briefly: "My nephew, Ned Carter, come to stay awhile."

Then, as the store began to wake up and get ready for speech, he turned to Ned with a curt, "Come in and meet Aunt Lyddy."

Ned followed without knowing that he had left behind a seething mass of curiosity. Dabbs knew it. That Claude Dabbs had an unknown nephew was unthinkable, and unsupported by the facts concerning the Dabbs family as known in Peace Valley.

Jim Farnum made one brave effort toward putting things on the proper Peace Valley footing. As Mr. Dabbs led Ned to the door, Jim found his voice:

"Didn't know you had a nevvy, Claude," he called out, "and don't exactly see how you can, either, seeing you're the only one of the hull Dabbs family left."

"My second cousin's boy from the West. He's always called me uncle, though, instead of cousin, owing to the difference in years. Come on, Ned," and Dabbs opened the door.

Ned found himself in a queer, bare little room, almost filled by a big table-topped desk of the vintage of 1860, quite as large as a modern dining table, and a vast armchair that looked even older, though both were in an excellent state of repair. There were no pictures on the wall, only a calendar.

"My office," Dabbs explained. "But come on and meet Aunt Lyddy, one of the best women God ever put breath in, but likely to be flustered if you bring anybody on her—suddenlike."

He opened a door leading into the interior of the house and ushered Ned into the family dining room. Aunt Lyddy sat at the table, a Rochester lamp in the center on an elaborately embroidered centerpiece. The lamp had a white shade, but after the harsh light of the shop, Ned was grateful for the softer glow. Aunt Lyddy was a personable old lady, handsome despite her sixty-odd years, with a great pile of the whitest hair Ned had ever seen. She looked up as Mr. Dabbs entered and scrutinized Ned from over the rims of her glasses.

"Come in and Meet Aunt Lyddy."

"Well, Mister Dabbs, this is a pretty time to come home! Been ajoying around somewhere, as usual, I suppose."

"Brought you something, Aunt Lyddy." Mr. Dabbs patted her on the back and placed a small package in her lap. "Just a little something to satisfy that awful craving you've got for jewelry." Then, before the delighted old woman could open the box or speak, he continued, his hand on Ned's shoulder: "But I brought a bigger present than that back with me, Aunt Lyddy, this is my adopted nephew, Ned Carter."

"H'm, adopted?" As she spoke, Aunt Lyddy's eyes remained fixed on Ned.

"Yes, adopted. But remember, Aunt Lyddy, he's just 'nephew' to those gas bags in the store waiting to be filled and float round town with the news."

Aunt Lyddy nodded. "Well, you showed right good taste in selecting a nephew, Claude. He's a presentable-looking young fellow, I'll say that. If so-be as he treats you as fair as you treat him, he can stay here and welcome."

"Thank you, Aunt Lyddy," and Ned smiled his friendliest. "I certainly mean well!"

"Meaning well's one thing; doing well's another." But Aunt Lyddy smiled back at him so that all sting was taken from the cautious sentence. "Now, what you two rampaging idiots mean coming home at this hour of the night, springing a brand-new relation on me and with no notice to get his room ready for him?"

"Oh, go along, Aunt Lyddy! You can fix the room next to mine in a jiffy while Ned and I are finishing a bite of your lemon pie."

"Pie? Finishing my pie! Who said a word about pie? Who said I made any pie?"

"I did. I smell it."

Aunt Lyddy laughed. "He smelled it. Boy," turning to Ned, "did you ever hear tell of a man like that? Set right down, both of you, and I'll have that pie bring on the table before you can get your hands out of your pockets."

"I don't think I can eat anything more," Ned began as she left the room. "Remember our dinner on the train."

"Jiminy! Even if you weren't hungry, could you resist that?"

Two highly decorated plates, borne by Aunt Lyddy on an old japanned tray, held the largest, thickest and most delicious looking pieces of lemon meringue pie that Ned had ever seen. Aunt Lyddy placed before them the remainder of the pie, a pitcher of cold milk, and a large wedge of cheese. With a hearty, "Enjoy yourselves, boys, while I fix Ned's room," she left them.

Presently Ned could hear her, as she tramped about the "next room to mine" presumably "fixing it." By that time he had tasted Aunt Lyddy's pie. Though she trod like an elephant, yea, even though she snored, he knew now that he would always love her.

"Good, ain't it, Ned?" Mr. Dabbs asked, as Ned took a second helping. Ned nodded, mentally noting that whatever he might have to suffer from country table manners in others, Mr. Dabbs would never offend.

"Aunt Lyddy likes you or she'd never put out the whole pie," Dabbs offered.

"How can you tell? You practically hurled me down her throat."

"Down Aunt Lyddy's throat!" You don't know her. Why, I couldn't make that woman give you any more than a measly little bit of pie if she didn't cotton to you. Aunt Lyddy's a fine woman, but a terror for having her way. She isn't my own aunt. She's an old friend of my mother's and when Mom died Aunt Lyddy made up her mind that I needed looking after and just came along and took possession. I couldn't get along without her now."

Aunt Lyddy returned, announcing that the room was ready and advised Ned to "turn in early." He followed her along the hall. The "room next mine" was a big, airy room, overlooking the garden at the side of the house and far removed from the noises of the shop. Its deep-seated windows indicated the age of the house. The furniture was really old, consequently good and unobtrusive, and the wall paper was a deep cream, with a little border of yellow roses.

The old four-poster looked inviting. Aunt Lyddy padded heavily away and Ned leaned out of the window, conscious of the soft, sweet, damp smell of a springtime garden.

As he left the window he was conscious of voices near him. But the room was empty, so was the hall outside his door. After a moment he concluded that the voices came through an old-fashioned hot-air register in the floor of his room. He heard Aunt Lyddy say:

"Claude Dabbs, I'm a dear lover of truth, and the truth I'll have out of you if it takes me all night. My usual hour for bed is 8:30 sharp, and here it is nearly ten, and gifts of amethyst brooches, though pretty and tastefully chosen I must say, won't blind me to my duty. I've ever been a kinda guardeen for your home since your Mom died. Who's this young man?"

"Why, he's a young fellow I met up with in New York. He's been in the army—just discharged. The very name of Peace Valley sort of hypnotized him. He can't settle down to anything yet, so I asked him down here to look around and—"

"Suffering Saints!" Aunt Lyddy's voice rose to a sort of wail, then sank again. "Where'd you ever find him?"

"Well—I was walking on Riverside drive and—"

"You picked him up! A bum! A park bum!" Aunt Lyddy exclaimed with conviction. "You probably treated him to that there awful swell suit."

Ned, his hand on the register waiting in fitting opportunity to close it unheard, noted that she refused to listen to Claude's protests.

"I know you," Aunt Lyddy announced, "and nothing you do ought to surprise me now, but I declare by Peter and Paul it does at times. Well, don't say no more, nor fix up any pleasant kinda half-lies for me. You don't know nothing about him, and there were some awful bad characters got in the army. We're lucky if our throats ain't slit by morning. I'll lock my room and bolt it, tonight!"

Feeling that he had heard enough, Ned closed the register quietly, sure that the sound would be unnoticed as Aunt Lyddy trod heavily out into the hall.

CHAPTER II

Ned woke next morning to the sound of life and activity below stairs. His first thought was that he was back in camp again. Then he remembered. His watch told him it was seven. Thinking he would surprise Claude Dabbs by his early rising, Ned dressed leisurely and went downstairs.

Aunt Lyddy greeted him without enthusiasm, informing him dryly that Claude had been up for two hours. He was at that moment superintending the unloading of the new Irish potatoes.

The food was delicious, and Aunt Lyddy waited and watched over him at the breakfast table, anticipating his wants as though he were a small boy; yet Ned felt that he was delaying the important affairs of the household.

Still with the air that he was company, Aunt Lyddy informed him: "Claude said to take the car and sail

(Continued on page 7)

What Is a Diuretic?

People Are Learning the Value of Occasional Use.

EVERYONE knows that a laxative stimulates the bowels. A diuretic performs a similar function to the kidneys. Under the strain of our modern life, our organs are apt to become sluggish and require assistance. More and more people are learning to use Doan's Pills, occasionally, to insure good elimination which is so essential to good health. More than 50,000 grateful users have given Doan's signed recommendations. Scarcely a community but has its representation. Ask your neighbor!

DOAN'S PILLS 60c

Stimulant Diuretic to the Kidneys

Foster-Milburn Co., Mfg. Chem., Buffalo, N. Y.

PHONE YOUR CLASSIFIED "AD"

If you're a telephone subscriber, simply lift the hook, ask for 2-J and state your request. It's a service that makes it compartively easy for you to insert your advertisement. And Want Ads offer the solution to many a problem. There's always someone eager to buy, sell or trade; someone who has a service to offer. Results are certain and the cost is quite moderate.

Call Before 11 o'clock Each Wednesday

The CHARLEVOIX COURIER

PHONE 2-J

BUSINESS CARDS

Farm Property — Lake Frontage
A. C. BELDING
REAL ESTATE BROKER
Charlevoix, Mich.
Game Preserves — Detroit Property

GLASSES FITTED
Consult
DR. J. LEAHY
OPTOMETRIST
Expert on Eye-Strain.
Petoskey, Mich.
Phone 443 for Appointment

BELLE LOUISE FLEWELLING
Palmer Chiropractor
Post Office Building
Phone 347
Office hours 2 to 5 daily
Monday, Wednesday and Friday
7 to 8

R. J. MADILL
Building Contractor
Ask for Estimates
Phone 121 Charlevoix, Mich.

D. T. McHUGH
General Contractor
Phone 214
CHARLEVOIX, MICHIGAN

R. B. ARMSTRONG
PHYSICIAN AND SURGEON
Special Attention to Diseases
of Eye, Ear, Nose and Throat
Priest Bldg. Phone 255

DR. F. F. McMILLAN
Physician and Surgeon
Office above Postoffice
Phone 17
Charlevoix - - Michigan

A. L. FITCH
ATTORNEY AT LAW
Office in Court House
Phone 48
Charlevoix - Michigan

It might be asked if the commotion caused by short skirts is due to the daring of the woman or the inability of the men to mind their own business.

GOVERNOR WARS ON LOBBYISTS

WANTS THEM BARRED FROM FLOOR FOR ALL TIME

Legislature Now at Recess While Members Junket—New Income Tax Proposed

Michigan's senators and representatives are scattered to the four corners of the state today. The capitol is almost depleted of lawmakers, as the legislature has recessed from January 20 until February 2 to allow the many legislative committees to visit the various state institutions to secure first-hand information regarding their condition and financial needs.

In the fact of already high taxes and budget requests for the next two years totalling $78,702,025 as compared with $60,446,138 for the past two years, the legislators realize that they must pare these requests considerably. They are now acquainting themselves with the various governmental institutions and activities so that they can pass judgment intelligently when voting away the public funds.

At the end of the first three weeks of the session, 54 bills and several resolutions had been introduced and were pending before committees. During this present recess many members are putting the finishing touches on a whole flock of proposals which will probably be dumped into the legislative hopper on February 2.

Would Allow Income Tax

[illegible] proposal to amend [illegible] constitution [illegible] income tax [illegible] Rep. [illegible] Wayne county. The proposal would authorize the legislature to "classify real estate [illegible] and income for taxation purposes."

[illegible] of the chicken thief situation, Rep. Luther E. Hall of Tonia, has introduced a bill to require every poultry buyer to [illegible] and record on blanks to be furnished by the secretary of state, detailed information regarding each lot of poultry purchased. This information would include; date of purchase, name of seller, his or her residence, color of hair, eyes, height, weight, business occupation, kind of poultry purchased, the number thereof, whether such poultry was raised by such seller or purchased of others, and if purchased from others, then the name of the person from whom so purchased and the date thereof. If the poultry were delivered in a motor vehicle, the purchaser would also have to record the auto license number. This bill will undoubtedly arouse a great deal of support, as chicken stealing is reported to be on the increase in many parts of the state.

May Debar Lobbyists

Governor Green has sent the legislature a special message in which he called their attention to the activities of John L. Lovett, general manager and lobbyist for the Michigan Manufacturers' Association. After calling attention to Mr. Lovett by name, the governor declared, "When any man is a lobbyist, no matter what position he has held or is holding he should automatically be barred from the floor. You are entitled to have your deliberations unhampered by the presence of lobbyists. If your rules are not adequate, permit me to respectfully suggest that they be made to cover this point."

Rep. Burton G. Camerson of Charlotte promply introduced a resolution that the speaker and two representatives constitute a committee to examine and pass upon all lobbyists. However, nothing definite has been yet done in this regard.

The Detroit newspapers were thrown into an uproar when Sen. Peter B. Lennon, who lives near Flint, introduced a resolution to provide for a special committee of four representatives and three senators to investigate conditions in Detroit pertaining to crime, vice, the courts and the police department. The Detroit members did not take kindly to this resolution and Rep. Archie M. Reid of Detroit promply introduced a resolution using almost the same language, but providing for a legislative investigation of the crime situation in Flint, instead of Detroit.

Public Hearing on Mine Disaster

The first public hearing by the 1927 legislature was held January 19 before the Rules and Resolutions Committee of the house. It related to the Barnes-Hecker mine cave-in which occured November 3, and resulted in the death of 51 miners. Rep. John Ireland of Bessemer, sponsoring a resolution asking the state to make inquiry into the cause [illegible] the disaster [illegible] the people [illegible] the Iron Belt [illegible] Peter Lennon of Lansing introduced a bill [illegible] repeal the act passed [illegible] years ago providing for this institution and making the half million dollar appropriation.

Many of the new bills thus far introduced are highly technical in nature and are of interest to but few people. One would repeal the law passed two years ago prohibiting the killing of black bear, while another measure would forbid chiropodists from amputating a foot or toe. Another proposal which will get more newspaper publicity than votes, is Rep. Chas. Culver's bill to allow the trial judge to add to any sentence for murder, attempted murder or assault, ten to twenty strokes of the lash on the bare back, well laid on at the end of each six months imprisonment, the total not to exceed 300 strokes.

ST. IGNACE RESIDENTS WAKING UP

State Ferry Removal Would Greatly Injure Them

Residents of St. Ignace are beginning to interest themselves in the talk of removing the ferry docks, the article below being taken from the St. Ignace Republican:

"The removal of the state ferry dock from its present advantageously central location in the city to some point out on the straits is an impending disaster that St. Ignace must energetically seek to avert. It would be a staggering blow at the newly found source of prosperity for the city, the tourist business which according to the present outlook is to be our main dependence for the future."

* * * * * * * * * *

CONGREGATIONAL CHURCH
B. G. Mattson, D. D., Minister

* * * * * * * * * *

Sunday morning the pastor will preach on "Road Signs on the Highway of Life," and in the evening on "The Gift That Is In Thee," with illustrations from the way folks live today.

Sealed Bids Wanted

The Board of Education of Charlevoix will accept closed bids for sale and removal of houses owned by them known as: Ed. Stewart, stucco; Hanlon and Walker houses. Board of Education reserves right to reject any and all bids.

Board of Education.
H. A. [illegible], Sec.

Courier Want Ads. pay.

CHARLEVOIX LOSES TO GAYLORD QUINT

Play Pellston and Petoskey Friday and Saturday This Week

After winning three in a row, Charlevoix was stopped at Gaylord Friday evening, losing 9 to 12. The locals had defeated Gaylord on the home court previously and this setback comes as a surprise.

Higman led the scoring for Charlevoix with 2 field goals and one free throw. Cooper made one basket and Marshall and Smith each counted a free throw. Novak and McCann held Gaylord from making any short baskets, all their shots coming from the middle of the floor. The locals will play Pellston at Petoskey on Friday evening of this week, and meet Petoskey there the following night. It is expected a large number of fans will follow the team to witness these two games.

ANNUAL W. C. T. U. BANQUET FEBRUARY 1

The annual banquet of the W. C. T. U. is staged for the evening of Tuesdny, February 1, in the parlors of the Congregational church at 6:30 p. m. This is about the biggest event this society sponsors in their many of the year.

The evening will open with a banquet, to be followed by numerous talks on current events. Rev. Herman Burns, pastor of the local Baptist church, will be the leading speaker of the evening, and he has a message of interest to everyone. Other speakers will also participate in the program.

This is an event worthy of your consideration.

[illegible] the Optometrist [illegible] at The Hotel Charlevoix, Monday, February 7. Adv. 4-2c

* * * * * * * * * *

OF INTEREST TO FARMERS

* * * * * * * * * *

[illegible] very [illegible] had [illegible] [illegible] [illegible]

THE OLDEST BANK IN CHARLEVOIX COUNTY
FORTY-THIRD YEAR IN BUSINESS

1884 1927

HAVE YOU EVER--

known anyone who regretted having started a Savings Account?

And you probably never will know anyone who built a Savings Account by waiting.

In fact, can you think of any good reason why you should not start yours today?

Charlevoix County Bank

CHARLEVOIX, MICHIGAN

Bridge & Company

THE BANK ON THE CORNER

LOCAL NEWS BRIEFLY TOLD

Get the Habit—Read the Courier

COMMUNITY CALENDAR
Coming Events

Feb. 2. Monthly meeting Hospita Board.

Feb. 2. Third number Lecture Course, Palace Theater, 8:00 p. m.

Feb. 6. "Romola," motion pictures; Lillian and Dorothy Gish, artists; Methodist church.

Feb. 8. Concert and Entertainment, M. E. church, usual hour.

Feb. 11 and 12. Charlevoix's big Winter Carnival. All turn out.

Feb. 15. "Neighbors," by Pilgrim Players, Palace Theater, 8:00 p. m.

Feb. 18. Colonial Party; all Charlevoix ladies; First Methodist church, 2:30 p. m.

Feb. 22. Fourth number of Lecture Course.

Feb. 28. Father and Son Banquet First Methodist church.

March 2. Ash Wednesday.

April 8. M. E. Ladies' Aid Supper.

April 10-17. Holy Week services at First Methodist church.

April 17. Easter Cantata, Baptist church, 4 p. m.

WEEK-END SPECIAL

Get them while they last

SUN KIST ORANGES

per doz.

30c

PURE STRAINED HONEY

5 lb. Pail

55c

Place your grocery order with us when you take advantage of our week-end specials.

Milton Block

Glen Sherman is laid up at his home with a severe cold.

Don T. McHugh motored to Petoskey Tuesday morning on business.

Mrs. Ed. Bailey entertained at bridge Thursday afternoon in honor of Mrs. Wm. Bailey of Detroit, guest of Mrs. Ed. Bailey. Those present were Mrs. Wm. Bailey, Mrs. Ed. Bailey, Mrs. Wm. Bailey, Jr., Mrs. Ralph Bailey, Mrs. Ed. Bailey, Jr.,

OCCIDENT WEEK

The Flour

Costs More---Worth It

We are assisting the Russel Miller Milling Co. in a house to house canvas during present week.

Customers—Buy More.
Others—Try it Once.

Argo Milling Company

A QUESTION

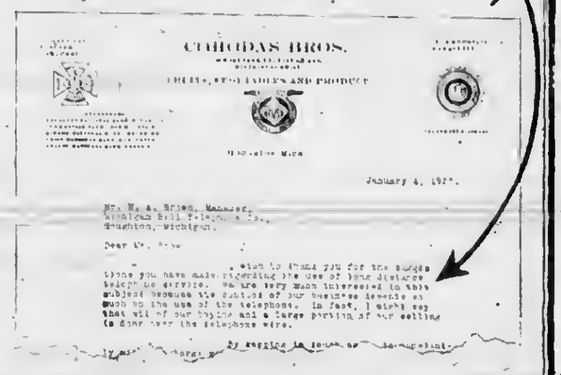
After reading a few of Machiavelli's essays on chicanery, one wonders how long he would last as a modern used car dealer. It would give him a great laugh, we know, to see how conscientiously we recondition our Used Cars before offering them for sale. But the proof of a principle is in its success—and the laugh would be on him, after all.

BENJ. BROWN

Charlevoix, Michigan

A USED CAR IS ONLY AS DEPENDABLE AS THE DEALER WHO SELLS IT

"All of Our Buying—Is Done by Long Distance"



CUBEDAS BROS.
FRUITS, NUTS, CANDIES AND PRODUCE
January 4, 1927.
Mr. Wm. A. Brien, Manager,
Michigan Bell Telephone Co.,
Houghton, Michigan.
Dear Mr. Brien:
I wish to thank you for the hundred dollar check regarding the use of long distance which we discuss. We are very much interested in this subject because the habit of our business leaders as much on the use of the telephone. In fact, I might say that all of our buying and a large portion of our selling is done over the telephone wire.
Yours truly,

These large wholesale grocers know the value of the fastest communication service in their every-day business.

Their customers, and the ultimate consumer, benefit, also.

MICHIGAN BELL TELEPHONE CO.

Let The COURIER Sell IT for YOU

NONE OF THEM HAVE US BEAT

(Continued from page one.)

makes gigantic hauls. If his bait holds out he may bring home a sled-load—twenty or thirty—of the big Mackinaw beauties. But he takes a chance.

No matter if the lake is frozen solid from Michigan to Wisconsin, there is still the possibility that some sudden shift of wind, or some uncanny current beneath the field may set up a movement that will open deadly blue water between the fisherman and shore. Then it's work for the people on shore, maybe the coastguards, if the thing happens where they can see. Out with a boat snaking it across the ice to the water for a rescue. Once it happened that a party of twelve Charlevoix fishermen, three miles out, had to devise their own rescue when the ice opened between them and shore. They worked like beavers with their ice chisels, and cut off a huge cake of ice on which they paddled and sailed to the shoreward rim of the blue water gap.

With all these miles of ice, of course there is plenty of fine skating. Charlevoixans seldom pay much attention to the ice on Lake Michigan, for not only is it apt to be rough there, but the winds get a savage sweep across that great frozen plain. In the heart of the town, the fire department floods rinks, keeping them smooth for the crowds that use them daily. One of these rinks is fenced off for the hockey teams to battle on. Here you may see merchants, bankers, sailors and high-school boys snorting and striving fiercely for the puck, in the midst of bitter melees and scrimmages. While the sticks clash in the tense struggle on the court, the spectators kick the fenceboards and yell gleefully for blood. Out on Lake Charlevoix, where a cove has frozen over smoothly other skaters seek the exhilaration of sail skating. They speed along, leaning into the wind, laughing and shouting and tickling their spills with that peculiarly hardy spirit that winter sports breed.

The fire department also ices a narrow track throughout Bridge street, down the center, the length of the business section of town. There is a hill at each end of this six block section, and sport reigns supreme here, afternoon and evening. It seems incredible that one small city could boast so many great coasting bobsleds as Charlevoix. Down the hill they come in flights, ten to sixteen coasters to the bob laughing, yelling, waving—in complete possession of the town. The impetus from one hill carries them to the foot of the other. Great coasting! Still, nights, when the air is fairly electric with the cold and the stars glimmer like blue steel through the haze of frost, the shouting, laughter and icy clatter of the bob-sled runners keeps on well toward midnight.

The ski-runners have their sport on the terraces in the city and on the timbered lump of Mount Macsauba north of town on the Lake Michigan shore. At this latter place they have cleared a broad track down through the timber of the mountain side. The slope is steep and high the swifts run and the jump make a good test for the skill of the veteran ski-runner—and a stiff school for the nervy beginner.

There are still, fine days, this time of year, when the tracking snow is good and you can hear the voice of the hounds, with occasionally the mellowed report of a shotgun, way off on the hills or in the swamps. Maybe the hunter chases the meek but speedy snowshoe rabbit; maybe the swift and cunning red fox. The rabbit hunter will make a kill and call in the hound about noon, to make a little fire, brew some coffee and eat his sandwiches. The fox hunter has a sterner job. His quarry swings far-flung circles, and will run 29 to 48 hours without a pause. In pursuit, the hunter pushes the miles behind him—miles and more of them—to get a look at the red, red marauder over the sight of his gun.

Each winter a few of Charlevoix's summer friends come up to spend a few days when winter sports are at their height. They find a different and a beautiful world, abounding in health and spirited sport. These days, they make the drive from their city homes easily for the state keeps the trunk lines open for them—plowed clean for speed and smooth driving with the big rotary and planer speed plows. Winter sports fairly possess Charlevoix—in their season; and it is a merry invasion, ended all too soon.

And so, after outlining a few of the pleasures Charlevoix holds in store for the enjoyment of winter sports, we go back to the plans of our carnival with a feeling that no other winter resort in America has more to offer than we.

TIME LIMIT SET AS JANUARY 15TH.

So State Authorities Concerning Auto Licenses

Secretary of State John S. Haggerty, in a statement broadcast to all branch automobile license bureau managers, says positively the last day you can run your car on a 1926 license is January 15. This item of information was received by the Boyne City branch manager, and he in turn requests full publicity of the order.

Why enforce this order in northern counties when still further time extension has been granted in southern counties? In Ionia county the sheriff has stated he will make no effort to enforce the auto license order until the first of February. Other counties have followed suit. We venture to say that not over one half of the 1927 auto licenses in the state are now on the cars.

Locally, where at least 85 per cent of the cars are laid up on account of snow, cold weather and disagreeable conditions, little attention has been paid to this ruling. And why? We use the roads but little in the winter time. Our southern friends use them practically all winter. For this privilage we pay on the same basis for road upkeep. It appears unfair to us, under existing conditions, that we should be hammered on the back about obtaining our auto license, when we wouldn't take our car out on a bet. But such is the law, and as good citizens, we should live up to it, regardless of time or conditions.

AT THE MOVIES

Film Has Setting In Colorful Spain

Spain—land of golden sunlight, flashing eyes, and serenades—forms a gorgeous background for the new First National photodrama, "The Girl From Montmartre," announced for the Palace Theatre, next Thursday, with Barbara La Marr and Lewis Stone in the featured roles.

The play is declared to be an ideal vehicle for the talents of these two popular artists of the screen and to abound in exuberant entertainment.

Zane Grey Western Has Holt and High Romance

A fascinating love story span against the background of the far west, with some of the most spectacular scenic effects ever recorded by a camera. That's "Man of the Forest," a Paramount picture from Zane Grey's novel with Jack Holt, Georgia Hale and El Brendel in leading roles, which opens at the Palace Theatre Saturday and Sunday.

This western narrative of adventurous romance has been treated by the director, John Waters, who also made, "Born to the West" and "Forlorn River," in refreshing fashion. Of absorbing interest, the production is not dependent on freak horsemanship or marksmanship or an exaggerated theme of conflict, but instead, presents a plausible romance in which the wilderness background is only incidental.

GOITRE CAUSED

Choking and Nervousness. Mt. Clemens Lady Tells of Relief From Home Treatment.

Mrs. Monroe Osborne, Mt. Clemens, Mich., says she will tell or write how her goitre was removed by Sorbol-Quadruple, a colorless liniment.

Get more information from Sorbol Company, Mechanicsburg, Ohio. Sold by all drug stores. Locally at F. J. Fessenden, druggist.

COUNCIL PROCEEDINGS

Council Chambers, Jan. 24, 1927

The common council of the City of Charlevoix met on the above date with Mayor Bergeon presiding. Aldermen present: Bridge, Eckinger, Geiken, Howe, Livingston, Partridge. Minutes of the meeting held January 10, 1927 were read and approved.

The finance committee submitted the following report, having examined the following bills find them correct and recommend they be allowed:

To the Honorable:

The Mayor and Common Council of the City of Charlevoix.

Gentlemen:

Your finance committee having examined the following bills, find them correct, and recommend they be allowed:

Contingent Fund
Mich. Bell Tel. Co., rent and toll	$ 12.09
Arthur Bergeon, salary	31.25
Elma H. Cook, salary	52.08
D. S. Puyton, salary	70.83
City Treasurer, pd. for cleaning offices	4.00
B. A. Hermon, supplies	5.65
Charlevoix Courier, printing	5.25
City Band, concerts	100.00
Postmaster, box rent	.60
Amos O'Neill, freight	10.00
City Treasurer, express	1.62
Advertising Fund
Board of Commerce, adv.	28.00
Cemetery Fund
Mich. State Tel. Co., rent	6.00
Chas. Hyers, salary	4.00
R. R. Bonthron, supplies	39.90
Street Lighting Fund
Graybar Elec. Co., lamps	21.10
Fire Fund
Mich. State Tel. Co., rent	11.64
Chas. Marshall, salary	12.50
Albert Cook, gas	1.26
Charlevoix Fire Department, Western Union fire	14.50
Bridge Fund
Mich. State Tel. Co., rental	8.64
Elmer Johnson, salary	70.83
Chas. Lbr. Co., lumber	1.00
O. S. Washburn & Co., washers and labor	1.70
R. R. Bonthron, pipe and labor	3.22
Police Fund
Mich. Bell Tel. Co., rent	6.00
W. J. Weikel, salary	45.00
Park Fund
R. R. Bonthron, supplies	376.30
Highway Fund
Art Alcock, salary	57.50
Lou Sandle, labor	42.00
Geo. Olney, labor	10.50
M. E. Hooker & Son, team	30.00
Sewer Fund
H. D. Marshall, labor	29.84
Water Fund
City Treasurer, Int. and Exc. on water works Ext. bonds	1001.00
Worthington Pump & Mach. Corp., supplies	36.00
Mich. Bell Tel. Co., rent	6.00
C. N. Bridge, salary	67.48
City Treasurer, rebate on water bill	1.25
R. R. Bonthron, supplies	8.49
Electric Fund
Orchard Bay Farm, team	3.00
Char. Courier, printing	13.00
Mary E. Hamilton, services	2.00
Graybar Elec. Co., supplies	44.40
Cent. Sts. Gen. Elec. Supply Co., supplies	49.45
Mich. Bell Tel. Co., rent and toll	10.75
C. N. Bridge, salary	36.69
Morris Ackert, salary	60.00
Murley Plum, salary	50.00
Jas. Divis, salary	47.50
Chas. Hyers, salary	46.00
Allen Ulrich, salary	50.00
Dan Soule, salary	62.50
Robt. Allspaugh, salary	50.00
Wm. Chatfield, labor	1.75
Traverse City Iron Works, supplies	5.05
C. H. Litscher Electric Co., supplies	42.00
H. Channon Co., supplies	5.63
Gen. Elec. Co., supplies	63.27
Southern Pine Manufacturing Co., supplies	26.00
E. H. Maltby, supplies	11.30
H. L. Richards, supplies	9.05
John Clyd, labor	18.00
Illinois Elec. Co., supplies	80.16
C. N. Bridge, freight	4.05
Benj. Brown, supplies	24.37
Wm. Byers, freight	23.96
Charlevoix Courier, printing	84.75
R. R. Bonthron, supplies	117.28
W. E. Parmelee, supplies	12.30
L. I. S. Fund
City Treasurer, W. Upright Ave. Sewer bond No. 6	450.00
Interest on bond	27.00
	477.00

Moved by alderman Bridge, seconded by alderman Partridge, that the bills be allowed. Motion carried by aye and nay vote as follows:

Ayes, Aldermen, Bridge, Eckinger, Geiken, Howe, Livingston, Partridge. Nays, none.

Moved by Geiken, seconded by Partridge, that the application of George Glasgow for license as electrician, with the Southern Surety Co., as surety, be accepted, the license to expire May 1, 1928.

Motion carried.

On motion the council adjourned.

Chas. H. Lamphear,
City Clerk.
By D. S. Puyton,
Deputy.

Read the Courier, and get the news

LEGAL NOTICES

Order For Publication

State of Michigan, the Probate Court for the county of Charlevoix.

At a session of said court, held at the probate office in the city of Charlevoix in said county, on the 24th day of January A. D. 1927.

Present: Hon. Servetus A. Correll, Judge of Probate.

In the matter of the Estate of Elizabeth Newman, deceased.

Llewellyne S. See having filed in said court his petition praying that the administration of said estate be granted to petitioner, or to some other suitable person.

It is ordered, that the 16th day of February, A. D. 1927, at ten o'clock in the forenoon, at said probate office, be and is hereby appointed for hearing said petition.

It is further ordered, that public notice thereof be given publication of a copy of this order, once each week for three successive weeks, previous to said day of hearing, in the Charlevoix Courier a newspaper printed and circulated in said county.

Servetus A. Correll,
Judge of Probate.

4t3.

Order For Appearance

State of Michigan, the Circuit Court for the County of Charlevoix, in Chancery.

Pearl W. Hall, Plaintiff vs. A. I. Richard Hall, Defendant.

Suit pending in the Circuit Court for the County of Charlevoix in said county, on the 23rd day of December A. D. 1926.

In this cause it appearing from affidavit on file, that the Defendant A. I. Richard Hall, is not a resident of this state, but resides in the state of Illinois.

On motion of Arthar L. Fitch attorney for the Plaintiff, it is ordered that the said A. I. Richard Hall Defendant cause his appearance to be entered in this cause within three months from the date of this order; and in case of his appearance he cause his answer to the Plaintiff's Bill of Complaint to be filed, and a copy thereof to be served on said attorney for the Plaintiff, with fifteen days after service on said non-resident Defendent of a copy of said Bill and notice of this order; and that in default thereof; said bill be taken as confessed by said non-resident Defendant.

And it is Further Ordered, That within forty days the Plaintiff cause a notice of this order to be published in the Charlevoix Coutier, a newspaper printed, published and circulated in said county, and that such publication be continued therein at least once in each week for six weeks in succession and that plaintiff cause a copy of this order to be mailed to said defendant A. I. Richard Hall at his last known post office address, by registered mail with postage thereon fully prepaid and demand a return receipt therefore; or that said plaintiff cause a copy of this order to be served on the said defendant A. I. Richard Hall by registered mail and demand a return receipt from the post office department at least twenty days before the time prescribed for the appearance of the said defendant.

Parm C. Gilbert,
Circuit Judge.
A. L. Fitch,
Attorney for Plaintiff
Business Address, Charlevoix, Mich.
2-t6

Order for Publication

State of Michigan, the Probate court for the county of Charlevoix.

At a session of said court, held at the Probate Office in the city of Charlevoix in said county, on the 18th day of January, A. D. 1927.

Present, Hon. Servetus A. Correll, Judge of Probate.

In the matter of the estate of Helen C. Mayes, minor.

The Michigan Trust Company having filed in said court its final account as guardian of said estate, and its petition praying for the allowance thereof.

It is ordered, that the ninth day of February, A. D. 1927, at ten o'clock in the forenoon, at said Probate Office, be and is hereby appointed for examining and allowing said account.

It is further ordered, that public notice thereof be given by publication of a copy of this order, for three successive weeks previous to said day of hearing, in the Charlevoix Courier, a newspaper printed and circulated in said county.

Servetus A. Correll,
Judge of Probate.

Adv 3-t3.

ease the pain

Nothing brings such comforting relief as the original Baume Bengué. It starts to drive out pain as soon as you apply it.

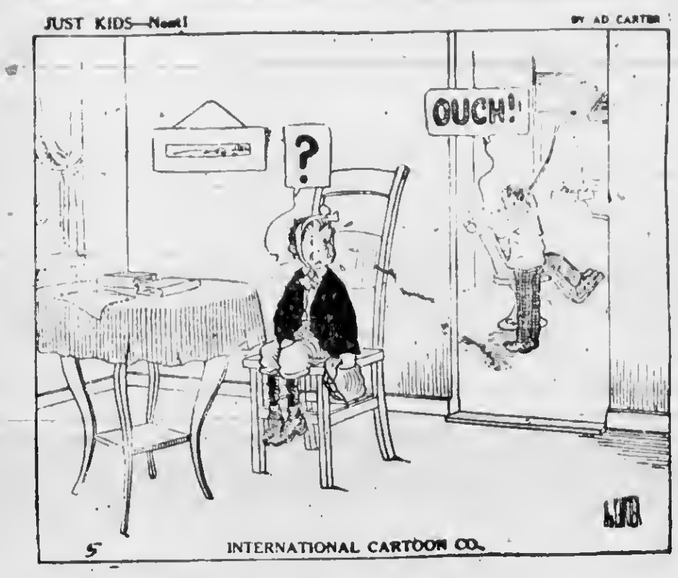
GET THE ORIGINAL FRENCH
BAUME BENGUÉ
(ANALGESIQUE)

Babies Love It

For all stomach and intestinal troubles and disturbances due to teething, there is nothing better than a safe Infants' and Children's Laxative.

MRS. WINSLOW'S SYRUP

Raising the Family
THAT'S A OLD BASHFUL FAIRY BOTHER-HER MAGS OLD FELLO THE DRAWERS CAME FROM ANYTHING IN IT NOBODY KAN FIND IT!
FROM HIS LAST SAT DAY- RIGHT IN THIS BLIND DRAWER IN HIS BACK-
AIN'T IT A WONDER- FUL THING YOU CAN HIDE ANYTHING THERE AND NOBODY'LL KNOW IT!
YEP IT'S A GREAT LIL INSTITOOSHUN MA!
LAW ME! IF HERE AIN'T A TEN-DOLLAR BIL-!
AND NOBODY EVER KNEW IT WAS IN HERE!
FISHER
-TRANSNATIONAL CARTOON CO'N'Y 575



Alabaster Lamps

By Margaret Turnbull

Copyright, 1926, by Margaret Turnbull. WNU Service

(Continued from page three)

around, or do anything you've a mind to do."

"Thanks, Aunt Lyddy, but I think I'll help Uncle Claude in the shop."

Aunt Lyddy's eyes showed surprise and approval.

"Claude Dabbs could do with a little help," she announced. "There's a many leans on Claude, and but few as offers a shoulder themselves occasionally. Not that Claude needs anything to lean on, but the fact that a shoulder is handy kinda keeps a man from feeling lonely. I'm going to say this: you don't look as though you needed any special help to get along in this world. Maybe you do. I ain't inquiring. All I'm saying is that never, since I've known him, has Claude Dabbs shown such admiration for any living soul as I've seen him show for you." Well," her apron waved, expressing what she was unable to put into words, "let me see you worthy, young man. Let me see you worthy."

"Aunt Lyddy," Ned put down his knife and fork, "I don't know that I am exactly worthy, but I will be frank. Uncle Claude can't begin to have the admiration for me that I have for him. Why, he saved my pocketbook, possibly my life, the other night. I was in the park just off Riverside drive, weary of everything. I'd stretched myself along the bench to look at the stars and think out what I should do with my life, when along came Claude Dabbs and sat down on me."

Aunt Lyddy giggled in a peculiarly young and girlish way.

"Of course that went a long way toward making us friendly. While we were sauntering along talking we were ordered to put up our hands. If army experience has taught me anything it is to be leery of pistols in unknown hands. Mine went up at once. But C. M. stumbled accidentally, I thought, which brought him a few steps in front of me, and nearer the other fellow. Of course, C. M.'s hands went up as he recovered his balance. What I didn't notice, nor did the other fellow until it was too late, was that one of his feet went up, too. First thing I knew the other man was down and Claude was sitting on him!"

"And by Peter and Paul, I'll wager Claude never called a policeman!" broke in Aunt Lyddy.

Ned shook his head. "We just took his pistol and blackjack and left him. He was knocked out—stunned by the fall."

They surveyed each other, smiling.

"I suppose you'd like to know a little more about me," Ned said tentatively.

"I kin wait till you tell Claude."

"Claude knows something, and you'll be miserable until you know as much, won't you?"

Again Aunt Lyddy gave her peculiar giggle, and settled back in her chair.

"Get it off'n your chest, son, and don't smooth over nothing for me."

"I drove an ambulance for six months before this country got into the fight," Ned began. "I was hurt a little and had to come home. Tried for a commission in our army when I got well. Had to throw over everything to do it. Family and—girl. My girl was in with a professional-pacifist bunch. Ha—confound them all, they acted as though the rest of us liked war, and had arranged it for our own amusement.

"Well, after I got my commission I was ordered down South by one of our camps. I went, this time I was on my way to France. When I got there, they said that my resignation had been accepted. I swore by everything holy that I never [illegible] but ratiocinated that my resignation had been accepted. I'd better see Washington. I was told.

"I went to Washington. They told me there my resignation had been accepted. I told them I'd never resigned. They listened and said 'maybe not,' but the War department was too busy to bother about my case, just then, or to correct any mistake, if there was a mistake. They advised me tenderly to go home like a good boy, and, maybe some time later, they'd look me up. I went, swearing. I had no home to go to. So I enlisted in a New York regiment and was discharged some two or three weeks ago."

"Satan's minions!" Aunt Lyddy exclaimed. "The armistice signed in November and they kept you in all this time. Well, you certainly got the rough end of the stick. As for that girl, wisht I had her within arm's reach. I'd shake a little sense into her."

"Oh, she's all right," Ned said a little awkwardly. "Don't make the mistake of treating me like a returned hero, because I never got over. I was railroaded to an O. T. C., and kept there. I never got over.

"You can understand, can't you, why the very name of Peace Valley drew me like a charm, and you'll forgive my coming here in this way?"

"Suffering Saints! You're more'n welcome to stay, and as far as I'm concerned—" Aunt Lyddy broke off suddenly, and trod heavily kitchenward, for Claude Dabbs had entered from the office.

"Suffering Saints, You're More Than Welcome."

"Morning. It does me good to see you sitting there as though you were home."

"I feel at home," Ned assured him.

"Hope you really do." Claude's scrutiny was wistful but understanding. "What's the program? Want one of the cars?"

"The cars? Why, C. M., for a simple country grocer, aren't you rather laying it on?"

Claude blushed. "Old Man Wolf hasn't knocked at the grocery door for a number of years—a considerable number. But what good's my money to me, if no one shares it?"

Ned rose and put a hand on Claude's shoulder. "Will you adopt me to squander your surplus? I thought you were going to make me work."

"I will. If you think you'll stay awhile," Claude replied eagerly.

"Of course I'll stay, and what's more, I'm going to help. Motoring means nothing to me. Let me tag after you and look things over; be of use, if I can."

Dabbs looked immensely pleased. "By Jiminy! That'll be great! Suppose you drive while me to Clover Hollow with the orders. You can always pretend you are a stranger getting a lift, or you can jump off and admire the scenery when we get there. You don't look—like the grocer's boy, you know."

"Well, I am," affirmed Ned. "My looks may be against me, but it isn't kind of you to rub it in. I'm your man for delivery or anything else." Ned watched Claude Dabbs handle the reins. Like everything else he did, he drove skillfully, but apparently without giving it all his attention.

On the way, he told Ned that the car was out and Sim needed the truck for [illegible] stuff—an explanation of what they were doing and the whole [illegible] Boys Ned was secretly convinced that the whole was being staged [illegible] and [illegible] C. M.'s [illegible]

Ned was the target for many curious, unwinking stares before they left the short main street. At last the village lay behind them and the road ran winding past quaint homesteads and inviting side roads.

Winding Willow road was its name, Claude informed Ned as they neared the top of the hill. Ned looked about him, absorbed in the panorama of comfortable farmland and wooded hills. He realized that the lovely road lived up to the first part of its name. It wound on and on and not too smoothly. There were steep hills and sharp turns before them, but Claude had arrived at a place where he might relax and talk.

"By Jiminy! It's good to be out of doors! I make a break once in so often and take out a lot of orders, so's not to get too fat and lazy."

Ned smiled. He had suspected that C. M. was trying him out, and now he was sure.

Dabbs turned and looked at the young man's face with great content.

"You do like Peace Valley. Just as I felt you would. Grand country, isn't it?"

"Beautiful! I don't see how one could be restless or disappointed down here."

"It's a queer thing," Mr. Dabbs answered introspectively, "how this place take all the spunk out of some people and makes them so mild and ladylike there's no stirring them up to any sort of decent ambition. You'll soon see that the folks brought up around here are terrible hard to rouse. I've felt that way often myself." Then sometimes there are days when suddenly the very peace of it gets on your nerves, sorta slaps you in the face. I've felt that, too. But when I go away from here, I want to come back, and it's the d—dest, hardest place to leave that I ever knew." He slapped Jenny lightly with the whip. "If it was anyone else I was talking to, they'd think I talked like a fool about my own place. But you get me, don't you?"

"It doesn't sound foolish to me. I think I feel its charm already."

"And yet, when I was your age, Ned, how I kicked at being kept here, tied to a country store." He pointed his whip to a group of buildings at the foot of the gentle incline before them. "That's Clover Hollow. What do you think of it?"

Ned saw several detached houses, most of them built of stone, more or less elaborate in design, except where they were merely the original farmhouse, or laborer's cottage, remodeled and enlarged but retaining some of the original simplicity of form. They were set in the midst of gardens and lawns, some of them quite extensive.

"Attractive looking spot. But what is it?"

"It's a joke on the man that built it," Claude said thoughtfully, "and I ought to know because I'm his agent. You see, he thought out this scheme for bringing a good class of people into the neighborhood, and by so doing boost his native village, financially and otherwise. And this is what he got!

"It's a kind of collection of good-natured cranks," Dabbs resumed, after waiting for comment, which did not come. "They call it a community, and they call themselves workers, thinkers, writers, artists, leaders of the new revolt, and a lot of other names. Everything except a plain American citizen lives there. But there's no harm in any of 'em. They are just people with money enough not to work, and yet a burning desire to do something for a living that won't hamper 'em none."

He laughed. "It's funny, Ned, how nowadays people feel they have to have some excuse besides their money for living. Money was enough when I was young. It isn't any more."

He chuckled at the thought. "The way I reason it, is that people who are just a little off on some one thing become so much of a darned nuisance that ordinary people either laugh at them or try to run away. This makes them band together so as to get an audience somehow. At Clover Hollow they can have meetings and argue as often as they like. If one man does all the talking one day, he knows he's got to listen the next.

"Take this house we're coming to now. It's called a cottage, but it takes five servants to run it. Professor O'Toole, who lives there, drinks something a good deal stronger than tea. He told me that the purity of his Gaelic depended on a diet of new potatoes, cream and whisky. Don't know where he gets his stuff, nor how he gets it past the revenue officers, but his cellar's full. He's against everything on God's green earth except the Irish republic. I can't help hoping Ireland never is a republic, for if it is, Professor O'Toole will be a terribly disappointed man. He'll have nothing left to live for, or talk about.

"Course he don't work for his living. His English uncle left him so much 'unearned increment' that he just has to use some of it up on De Valera and that bunch."

He looked at Ned, and added: "Awful pleasant fellow, though. You'd like to talk to him."

"This is amazing!" Ned said. "Next house?"

"That's the show place. M. Adolphus Mannheim, the East side millionaire who married a settlement worker, lives there. He's a good provider and a nice fellow, if there ever was one. He's also got some excuse for talking kinda wild. Seems before he made his millions in a chain of stores over here, his family were Russian Jews and had what he calls 'pogroms' began to thicken. A pogrom seems to be a sort of [illegible] for race to [illegible]

(TO BE CONTINUED)

Avoid fire risks from burning our chimneys by using soot destroyer. Charlevoix Hdw. Co.—Adv. 2tf.

The Secret - - - of Dodge Brothers Reputation

The secret of Dodge Brothers reputation for building a dependable product can be summarized briefly and forcefully in two sentences:

Never a type that had to be withdrawn.

Never a fundamental mistake that the public was asked to forget.

Touring Car $865.00
Coupe $915.00
Special Sedan $945.00
Delivered

BENJAMIN BROWN
CHARLEVOIX, MICHIGAN

We Also Sell Dependable Used Cars

DODGE BROTHERS
MOTOR CARS

Choose Your Winter's Reading Among These

SPECIAL BARGAINS

GOOD ON RURAL ROUTES ONLY

Charlevoix Courier, regular price $2.00
Grand Rapids Evening Press, regular price $4.00 , both for $5.60

Charlevoix Courier, Grand Rapids Evening
Grand Rapids Herald, regular price $4.00, both for $5.50

Charlevoix Courier, and Michigan Farmer, both for $2.50

Charlevoix Courier, Grand Rapids Evening Press and Michigan Farmer, one year for $6.10

SPECIAL MAGAZINE RATES

Ask us for cut prices on your magazine renewals. There is hardly a one but what we can save you from 50c to $2.00. Write us a postal card or call at the office.

The Charlevoix Courier
Charlevoix, Michigan

FINAL PAYMENT OF ROAD FUNDS

CHARLEVOIX TO RECEIVE A TRIFLE OVER $5,000

Only $4,000,000 of $6,000,000 Paid Last Year—Will Pay $8,000,000 This Year.

Lack of funds has held up the payment of $2,000,000 due the counties January 1 from the 1926 weight tax receipts. This debt will have to be paid from the 1927 collection because of the large deficit fnerd by the highway department at the close of the last year.

Receipts from the sale of license plates began pouring into the secretary of state's office three weeks ago and it is expected that Governor Fred Green soon will authorize the payment of the overdue debt. However, the governor nnd the members of the administrative board have adopted a cautious attitude in expending money until the audit of the books reveals the financial condition of the state.

The weight tax law provides that $6,000,000 of the collection shall be returned to the counties each calendar year. During 1926, a total of $4,000,000 was sent out at different intervals, but the department ended the year so far in the red that the final payment could not be made. So this year, the weight tax receipts will be cut, not by $6,000,000 as the law provides, but by $8,000,000.

The highway department ended the year with the largest overdraft of any of the state departments or institutions. The construction fund was in the red $211,597, and the administration fund $1,575,416, while the highway fund proper had a balance of only $2,400.

The amount due to Charlevoix in the final payment to be made soon is $5,123.47; Antrim, $2,968.75; Alpenn, $6,439.17; Cheboygan, $3,954.57; Emmet, $6,313.36; Grand Traverse, $7,895.14; Kalkaska, $1,157.64; Mackinaw, $2,686.82; Presque Isle, $3,724.80; Roscommon, $1,052.95.

A FEW FACTS ABOUT TENNIS

(Continued from page one.)

recorded, compared, etc., much as rnce horses are handicapped.

"Leo Lunn is so efficient that his opinions nre much sought. We talked together at length, and it will be a surprise to many to learn that George O'Connell, winner here in 1925 nnd runner-up last year, ranks only about 17th in Chicago, nn indication of the standard of play there.

"It was gratifying to have a dozen or more delegates voluntarily tell me that Charlevoix has a very promising tennis future. Harold Cartier's hustling management of the past two years is showing direct results. Reports of our city have been good. Larry Evans' excellent suggestion that we call our tournament the 'Michigan Riviera' was so good that Hilton Piper of Muskegon, who attended the meeting with President Smith of Grnnd Rapids, wanted Muskegon and other lake resorts included. This was discussed privately, and it was hinted if Charlevoix can show high tournament efficiency again this year it might get a larger event in 1928, perhaps the Western.

"We of the tournament committee will welcome serious assistance, however inexperienced. Harold Hallett considers playing again and will be drafted into service. C. Y. Marshall will move the east fence over 8 feet, this giving us a splendid battery of five courts at The Inn. Other improvements are planned.

"Before closing my remarks I will explain that tennis challenge cups almost invariably must be won three times, not necessarily in succession. The Mossley Hall cup, most historic of trophies, which I mentioned briefly at the association dinner last week, was first offered in 1883, at Bar Harbor, Maine, and contested for every year until 1894, when I won it. The winner of the previous year met the winner of the next tournament. Under present rules a cup must be deeded to the national association, which protects all parties.

"I located Harold Howard high up in n loop office building and called on him there Friday morning about 10:30. It was dark and sooty. I paced about the outer office until a man in a lively new racetrack suit of black checks on a cream ground entered. Wherever he moved the suit bit into the gloom. I made myself known.

" 'I'm terribly glad to see you, deah boy!' he greeted. At this I began to tingle with excitement and expected something good. But he explained:

" 'A brace of blooming blighters are about to win your cup for keeps. They started after a lapse of 29 years to give unauthorized tournaments at the swimming pool. It's a bally shoo-in for young Gordon of Boston unless you can get up there this summer.'

"At this point the stenographer switched on the lights. I must have looked sick, for Howard cried as he pounded the desk:

" 'Cheerio, old chap! Here, have a cigarette. Bring a friend with you this summer and I'll put you up to hole at Mossley Hall, old deah—glad to.'

"In retrospect I saw again the finish of that final match of three decades ago: congratulatory nods and smiles from scions of the richest families—Harold McCormick, John D. Rockefeller, Jr., Vanderbilt and others; a champaghe party breaking up on a nearby lawn early that morning, guests still in formal attire; down on the harbor a gleam of white sails, like Round Lake in summer. I grinned in spite of myself at the quips of fate.

"Not so good," I replied. "Your father donated this handsome trophy in trust under certain conditions, all of which have been violated. I was not even accorded the courtesy of notification. The matter will be referred to the association at once."

"And as I went out and stepped into the express I heard him say to the pert and pretty stenographer: 'I believe the old boy's a bit of a mug-hunting blighter himself.'

"Can you beat that, after 32 years of waiting!"

Let us do a neat, thorough job, giving you all the comfort and convenience of electricity. Let us install a G-E wiring system throughout—with all materials made by General Electric. It's the most satisfactory system—also the most economical, for it lasts a lifetime.

G-E WIRING SYSTEM
—for lifetime service

Wood Bros.

46-tf

Since 1857

Eagle Brand has raised more healthy babies than all other infant foods combined.

Borden's
EAGLE BRAND
CONDENSED MILK

MAKE IMPROVEMENTS ON NEW HOLDINGS

Walloon Lake Property is Now Being Remodled

The Belt farm property consisting of about 100 acres near Eagle Island, on Walloon Lake, which was purchnsed last summer by E. V. Tomlison of the Detroit Athletic club is to be made ready for use immediately. Three mechanics drove up from Detroit last week and moved to the farm house on the place which will be used ns a hotel. These men and a crew of carpenters will build two dormitories each 24x26 for sleeping the boys. When these are completed others will be built until seven new buildings will grace that fine site. Ben Ellis has already added a porch 12x50 to the farm house n portion of which is screened in and may be used ns n dining room for the boys and the upper floor of the same building is being overhauled. It is understood that the Detroit Club will provide a large number of boys to spend their vacations in this new location in the new homes.—Boyne Citizen.

Rend the Courier, and get the news

WINTER DELIVERIES BENEFIT TO BUYERS

Breaking in New Car Easier in Cold Weather Says Brown

"The heretofore prevailing custom on the part of car buyers of having delivery withheld until spring is growing less and less each year," says Benj. Brown, local Dodge dealer. "This is now a thing of the past, due to a proper analysis of the many conditions surrounding winter deliveries working to the benefit of the customer.

"The new car—tight, staunch—will better withstand the strains of winter roads, will break in better, and will cost less to run than an older car. Practically the sole possibility of danger is freezing the radiator which can easily be prevented by the use of a proper amount of an anti-freeze solution in the cooling system. Breaking in a new car in winter is easier, quicker, and far more satisfactory and successful than breaking in a new car in spring or summer when there is a temptation to overspeed and use the car more carelessly.

"Consistent, convenient, dependable transportation, obtainable to a greater degree from a new car, is needed most when the weather is worst. Independence of time tables, avoidance of annoying delays, are valuable advantages possessed by the all-year motorist.

"The all-year motorist escapes the discomfort of the wet feet and damp clothing also. The customer taking delivery at this time receives a car with complete new equipment—new tires, new battery, new chassis—savings in repair expense, plus the satisfaction of driving a car that will withstand the severest conditions, more than offset depreciation, and in a car that has no yearly model changes there is no valid reason for waiting for the 'spring styles.'

At this season we are able to give the customer the extra personal attention and service not always possible during the months of the spring and summer rush."

OFFICERS NAMED AT ANNUAL MEET

(Continued from page one.)

City of Charlevoix	50.00
Benj. Brown	50.00
	$3,403.33

Disbursements

Charlevoix Hdw. Co., baseballs	$ 10.50
Postoffice, stamps	10.00
F. S. Myers, papers, winter sports	2.00
St. Louis Globe Democrat, advertising	14.70
Detroit News, adv.—winter sports	21.00
Chicago Tribune, adv.	48.30
Service Eng. Co., booklet cuts	6.27
Western Union, bill	5.14
Postoffice, stamps	12.69
O. E. S. banquet	104.00
Lee Bierce, speaker	22.49
L. R. Chase, telegrams	2.72
White Ptg. Co., booklets	914.00
Postoffice, stamps	5.00
Christian Science Society, Monitors	21.39
M. H. Hallett, steno.	10.00
American Express Co., express	2.75
Postoffice stamps	5.00
Doris Hammond, services	13.50
Chx. Courier, printing	169.40
Postoffice, stamps	10.00
Doris Hammond, service	21.50
Wood Brothers, bill	3.60
Western Union, bill	6.12
White Ptg. Co., printing	1.27
F. E. Cartier, cash adv'd	18.05
Addie Holley, steno	6.65
State Highway, maps	2.00
Postoffice, stamps	10.00
Postoffice, stamps	10.00
B. A. Herman, supplies	5.67
Doris Hammond, services	20.00
M. E. Church, rent for teachers' association	6.00
Doris Hammond, service	18.75
Postoffice, stamps	5.00
Doris Hammond, services	18.75
Western Union, bill	.72
G. W. Priest, pictures	7.20
Harold Jones, pictures	4.50
F. S. Myers, newspapers	5.00
Doris Hammond, services	18.75
Postoffice, stamps	5.00
Doris Hammond, services	18.75
American Legion, baseball	75.00
J. J. Edson, treas., sub. to "Nations Business"	3.00
Doris Hammond, services	18.75
Doris Hammond, services	18.75
Mich. Bell Tele. Co.	31.15
Postoffice, cards	1.00
Postoffice, stamps	13.00
Doris Hammond, services	37.50
L. Winternitz, pictures	4.50
L. Powers, signs	9.00
Mich. Bell Tele. Co.	5.12
Doris Hammond, services	37.50
Wm. Shoman, signs	10.00
L. Powers, signs	56.30
L. W. Powers, baseball	24.50
Mich. Bell Tele. Co.	8.71
L. Winternitz, pictures	3.00
Chx. Courier, printing	449.09
Chx. Tennis Club, expenses	189.35
Doris Hammond, services	37.50
Wood Bros., tennis	13.50
Chx. Hdw. Co., boat regatta	12.50
Ed. O'Neil, taxi service	14.00
A. E. Mason, supplies	3.40
John L. Wieringo, adv.	14.00
Chx. Courier, printing	24.75
Chicago Daily News, adv.	25.00
Nell Hammond, services	27.50
L. Winternitz, pictures	40.00
The Inn Hotel, tennis	19.25
B. A. Herman, supplies	9.32
Robt. Bridge, expense Lansing M-11 Com.	28.00
Chx. Courier, printing	11.59
Tennis Club, tournament expenses	260.00
Sentinel Ptg. Co., ptg.	59.75
Sanitary Eng. Co., signs	22.00
Fessenden's, supplies	.40
M. H. Hallett, services	1.50
C. W. Priest, pictures	11.50
Postoffice, stamps	10.00
Chx. Lbr. Co., signs	.88
S. M. Sec. paper	.50
Mich. Bell Tele. Co.	1.60
Graphic Ptg. Co., adv.	5.60
Chx. Hdw. Co., tennis	11.08
L. R. Chase, adv.	10.00
Benj. Brown, rent	50.00
Bal. on hand Jan. 18, '27	28.95
	$3,403.33

Committee reports were followed by election of officers, which resulted as follows: Pres., Charles H. Emrey; 1st vice pres., Fred E. Cartier; 2nd vice pres., Archie Livingston; 3rd vice pres., A. J. Usher; sec.-treas., Robert Bridge.

President Emrey took the chair and a general discussion of matters pertinent to the welfare of the city in general followed. One matter brought up was that of the winter carnival, which is carried in detail in another column of this paper. Dr. R. B. Armstrong gave an interesting talk during the meeting and stressed the benefits of catering to the middle-class resorter, for whom, he brought out, this town was offering no inducements. Mayor Arthur Bergeon in his talk; referred to the necessity of cooperation between the association and citizens of the town and Rev. E. G. Mattson gave an interesting talk on winter sports and urged more participation locally. After a rising vote of thanks for F. E. Cartier, president of the association for the past two years, the meeting adjourned.

I. O. O. F. dance in the hall Friday evening, February 2. Come.

Card of Thanks

We wish to express our sincere thanks to neighbors and friends, young and old, for their words and deeds of sympathy and service during our recent bereavement. We also remember the faithful services of Miss Larson and her helpers at the Charlevoix Hospital. Mr. and Mrs. D. H. Brat and Family.—Adv. 4t1pd.

Zonite

For Cuts and Wounds

Prevent infection! Treat every cut, wound or scratch with this powerful non-poisonous antiseptic. Zonite actually kills germs. Helps to heal, too.

The Charlevoix Hardware Co.

The Kolster Radio Sure a Go-Getter

Regular Kolster Table Sets on the Pacific Coast now are getting Toyko, Japan at 4:30 o'clock, mornings, a dispatch reads.

Some neighborhoods set alarm clocks for four o'clock to gather in the proud possessor's home for these unique preformances.

3:00 a. m. Pacific Coast time is 7:30 p. m., same night in Toyko where station JOAK, using 1000 watts, broadcast a nightly program.

CAN YOU BEAT THAT?
WE SELL KOLSTERS AND RADIOLAS

On hand are a couple of very good Radios, last Spring's models. We are discontinuing the lines and offer them at especially attractive prices.

LOOK THEM OVER

Charlevoix Hardware Company

NORTHERN MICHIGAN'S FINEST STORE

Three Big Departments—Hardware, Furniture, Electrical

LET THE COURIER PRINT YOUR SALE BILLS

Winter Sports

--AT--

CHARLEVOIX

Friday and Saturday, February 11 and 12

A two-day carnival of fun in full enjoyment of winter sports such as can be found at no other point in Michigan. Skiing, Tobogganing, Skating, Coasting, Dog Team Races, Hockey Contests, Skating Races and coasting on Bridge Street Hill. The residents of territory adjacent to Charlevoix and neighboring cities are extended an invitation to partieipate.

INCOMPLETE PROGRAM OF EVENTS

FRIDAY, FEBRUARY 11

AFTERNOON

Skiing and Tobogganning at 2:30 p. m. on the natural big hill on Mt. McSauba.

The roads leading to the scene of action will be well plowed out so that you can drive your car in and park at the end of the slides.

EVENING, 7:30 P. M.

High School Hockey Team
vs.
Charlevoix Dependents

EVENING, 8:00 P. M.

Fancy Skating and Ice Races.

Coasting on Bridge Street Hill.

SATURDAY, FEBRUARY 12

AFTERNOON

Dog Team Races on Bridge Street.

The young lads of Charlevoix are now busy training their dog teams for this big event.

Skating at High School Rink.

EVENING

Skating and Coasting in Costume.

Participants in both events will appear in costume, depicting winter time and out-of-door sports.

On these two days Charlevoix will forget business and public affairs and spend their time at play. Business houses will be closed between the hours of 2 and 5 on Friday and Saturday. Plans for the fullest enjoyment of the two days are will under way. Committees are hard at work in preparation of the big event, and will leave nothing undone that will increase the enjoyment of the occasion. The big, natural slide at Mt. McSauba will be utilized for Skiing and Tabogganning, as well as the Bridge street hill. Ice Races, Hockey Games and Fancy Skating will take place at the High School Rink. A complete program of the two day's events will appear in this space next week.

COME TO CHARLEVOIX, FEBRUARY 11 AND 12

CHARLEVOIX COURIER

VOLUME 31. NUMBER 5. EIGHT PAGES COURIER, CHARLEVOIX, MICH., WEDNESDAY, FEBRUARY 2, 1927 PRICE $2.00 PER YEAR

CARNIVAL COMMITTEES BUSY

FINE PROGRAM PREPARED FOR COMING EVENT

Ski and Toboggan Slides, Hockey Rinks and Coasting Hill Ready—Interest Keen

Everyone is talking about the big winter carnival scheduled for Friday and Saturday, February 11 and 12. The spirit of winter sports is prevalent everywhere one goes, which speaks well for the success of the coming two-day event. People who have heretofore merely smiled contemptuously when winter sports were mentioned are busy in preparation for the fun and are seemingly becoming mindful of the unlimited natural advantages we have for winter fun right at our doorsteps.

The committee in charge of the carnival events have been active during the past week. The hockey rink at the school grounds is completed and now in use. Three stationary walls enclose the north, west and east sides, and a portable wall is used on the south side of the rink during hockey sessions. Each evening sees teams who will do their stuff a week from Saturday night out for practice. Numerous "barked shins" and plenty of excitement for spectators will result from the combat.

The ski and toboggan slides are located north of the road leading to Durance's corner. Go out the road around the base of Mt. McSauba until you come to the corner leading east; go through the small patch of woods north into the open field and you are in full view of the slides. Those who have already tried their skill down the ski slides say it is a wonder. Competition in this event promises to be keen and the slide will try the skill of the best. Contestants will be based on the point system and two prizes are offered in this event. The toboggan slide has been built down a natural ravine, is banked high on each side, and they say the terrific speed attainded in descending takes your breath away. This event is free to all and one prize is offered for distance.

Many entrants are in for the dog races. Country lads who wish to enter the races are invited, also out-of-town entrants. Make registration with Charles Gale at the Charlevoix Hdw. Co. and have your picture taken. Two fine prizes are offered.

Four divisions appear on the skating program; a girl's free-for-all; men's free-for-all; junior boys' race and senior boys' race, with six fine prizes for winners. The skating races will be held Saturday night on the school rink.

Those wishing to enter any event or events are requested to make application to any member of proper committee. A fall program, prizes offered, time events will be held, how winners will be judged and the names of committees in charge will be found in an advertisement on page 8 of this issue.

Get out your winter togs, dig up your skates, skiis and toboggans and be on hand Friday afternoon for the fun. Neighboring cities are invited to join with us and are promised few dull moments while in the city.

Lands 14 Pound Pickerel

Charlevoix fishermen can catch and land record fish as well here as any other place in the state. Gib Holland of Nowland Lake district holds the record so far. Monday Gib landed a 14 pound pickerel, caught in the waters of Nowland Lake. The fish measured three and one-half feet long, and for several minutes had Gib guessing before landing him.

YES, NEIGHBORS, GET INTO GAME AND HELP IT ALONG

The Boyne Citizen, in a recent issue, severely raps its community for their neglect and seemingly indifference toward giving their berg proper publicity. The comment referred to follows:

"Inquiries are coming to the Chamber of Commerce for literature about Boyne City and Pine Lake resort attractions. Our supply of books for distribution is gone. Are we going to wait until midsummer before making a definite move to get our district before the tourist public? Our sister towns show no apathy in this matter, Charlevoix and Petoskey realize and capitalize their opportunities, why should Boyne City hang back. Your Chamber of Commerce has a mailing list of 200 customers. We cannot take our attractions to our customers. We can only show our goods through the printed page and pictures. It is less than 60 days until people in Oklahoma, Kansas, Kentucky, Missouri, Tennessee, Illinois and Ohio will begin to think of summer trips. Let us get into the game at once, if we are to cash in next July and August."

Your advice is timely and good, Bro. Hair. Get out the big stick and go after them. Your home town and East Jordan have been cashing in on publicity campaigns put over and paid for by Charlevoix for a number of years. And the present will be an exception. The tourist business will leave more cash in your community than your combined saw mills and slab piles. Tell the world what you have along the lines followed by Charlevoix, and the returns will be worth while. Co-operate with your neighboring city who holds the lead in both publicity and resort business of all northern Michigan towns. Get into the game with us and STAY in it.

C. H. S. BREAKS EVEN AT PETOSKEY

WIN FAST ONE FROM PELLSTON FRIDAY NIGHT

Lost Second Tilt to Petoskey Squad In Slow Game the Following Night

Playing on the Petoskey court before a large crowd of fans, Charlevoix defeated Pellston last Friday night by the score of 13 to 8.

Charlevoix started the game off with an early lead, which they held to the final whistle. Scoring honors were evenly divided among Beaudoin, Higman and Smith and the excellent guarding of McCann, Novak and Cooper helper the locals win. Those who saw the game reported it fast and rough, but cleanly played with plenty of excitement.

On the following night, Saturday, the Red and White lost to Petoskey high school 18 to 11.

Charlevoix could not find the hoop in the first half even on free throws, while Petoskey could not get their field shots through in the second half. The count at the quarter was Petoskey 4, Charlevoix 0, and at the half it was Petoskey 13, Charlevoix 0. At the third quarter it was Petoskey 18, Charlevoix 4. As the final period was closing Higman, Charlevoix's forward found the range with two pretty baskets from far down the court, while Smith, center, dribbled in for a short one. During the game Higman counted three free shots.

Both teams showed the effects of their hard battle of the night previous.

The Lineup

Petoskey		Charlevoix
Miller	RF	Beaudoin
Menzel	LF	Higman
March	C	Smith
Pierson	RG	McCann
Wells	LG	Cooper

Substitutes: Tillotson for Miller, Novak for McCann, Tanner for Tillotson, McCann for Beaudoin, Woodruff for Pierson, Curtis for March, Tillotson for Woodruff. Referee, Bensley, Traverse City.

Charlevoix will play Mancelona here Friday night and are out to avenge a former defeat earlier in the season.

GIRL'S AND SECOND TEAMS ARE VICTORS

Take Double Header From Boyne City Last Friday

While the Charlevoix regulars were taking Pellston into camp at Petoskey last Friday night, the reserves and girl's won a double header at Hooker's garage from the Boyne City reserves and girl's teams.

In the opener between the Charlevoix and Boyne City boy's teams, the locals won in a fast and exciting game, full of thrills up to the final whistle 17 to 11. Helms led the scoring and was the star for Charlevoix. The winner in the girl's game was never in doubt from the opening moments. Bessie Murphy and Ruth Boyer, backed by splendid team work from other members of the squad, sank in one basket after another. Boyne came back strong in the second half but never seriously threatened. The score was 20 to 5 in Charlevoix's favor.

Read the Courier, and get the news

HIP, HURRAH FOR "DAD" BRADY

MAKES A HIT WITH OUR SUMMER TOURISTS

Keeper of Auto Camp Renders Service of Character That Brings Auto Travelers Back

How would a 95 per cent efficiency auto camp appeal to auto tourists unless it's keeper was a past master in the art of rendering service of a character that creates a desire in the minds of it's visitors to come back again and again?

Well, you all know that Charlevoix's auto camp is listed and known everywhere as a 95 per cent efficiency camp—but we are just beginning to realize that we also have something else to offer them—what can be safely termed as a 95 per cent efficiency care-taker.

"Dad" Brady is the man we refer to. He is more fussy over our camp than he is his own home. When a tourist enters the camp, "Dad" meets him with a smile, then gets busy and makes his stay a comfortable one. He renders a service that long lingers in the minds of the fellow who is on his annual vacation, and stops over for a day or a week. And the condition he keeps the camp in seems to make a hit with these travelers too, judging from expressions in the following letter:

Covert, Michigan,
December 29, 1926.

To The Mayor:

"Dear Sir:—As the New Year draws near my mind wanders back to your fair city and the many pleasant summers I have spent there. I have traveled much and can truthfully say that your city suits me the best. Your park keeper, "Dad" Brady, is just fine—in fact, he can't be beat by anyone anywhere.

"Then, too, I can't say enough about the other tourists who gather in your camp, many of them year after year. They are surely a congenial bunch. So here's three cheers for Charlevoix and "Dad" Brady. If I live until August, I'll be up to see you again.

"Wishing you all that's good and worth-while for the New Year, I remain,

Very truly yours,
J. A. Brooks,"

It's service of this kind, folks that put Charlevoix on the map as Northern Michigan's leading summer play ground, and will keep it there. Little courtesies extended our summer visitors results in untold returns. Follow "Dad" Brady's example and we will all reap the benefits.

PYTHIAN SISTERS INSTALL OFFICERS

Program and Refreshments at Meeting Monday Evening

Mrs. Jessie Hiatt, assisted by Mrs. Benson and Mrs. Reed, all of East Jordan, installed the following newly elected officers at a meeting of the Pythian Sisters held in the K. of P. hall Monday evening:

Past Chief, Grace Bennett.
M. E. C., Elizabeth Emrey.
E. S., Clare Heise.
E. J., Lottie Nowland.
Mgr., Mary Hamilton.
Proc., Alice Heise.
O. G., Sybil Block.
M. of F., Margaret Jacobs.
M. of R. & C., Laura Courier.

At the close of the business session, a fine program was rendered and refreshments served.

R. P. FOLEY DIES AT WINTER PARK

TAKEN AFTER AN ILLNESS OF MANY YEARS

Managed Belvedere Club at Charlevoix and Seminola in Florida—Burial Wednesday

On account of lack of available information about our fellow townsman, R. P. Foley, who died in Winter Park, Florida, we publish verbatum a lengthy obituary which appeared in the January 25 issue of the Petoskey Evening News. Two brothers and two sisters, all residents of Petoskey, survive him. The article follows:

"Petoskey and northern Michigan friends of R. P. Foley, for years manager of the Belvedere hotel at Charlevoix, will be grieved to learn of his unexpected death at the Seminole hotel at Winter Park, Fla., at 5 o'clock yesterday afternoon.

With his death passes one of the most successful and best liked hotel men of Michigan and Florida. It was said of him that both guests and his hotel staff members loved him, and that his friends were legion. Quiet, careful and considerate in manner with those who worked under him through the many long years he managed hotels in Charlevoix, Kalamazoo and Winter Park earned for him the respect and devotion of his hotel workers, while his efficient handling of hotel business and his painstaking efforts to make his guests comfortable and happy made him warm personal friends by the hundreds with each succeeding summer.

"His family of two sons and four daughters and his wife were at his bedside when the end came. Mr. Foley had been ill for several years and during the present season had shown plainly the effects of his long fight to regain his health. Taken with an unexpected turn for the worse two weeks ago he sank rapidly until his peaceful passing Monday afternoon.

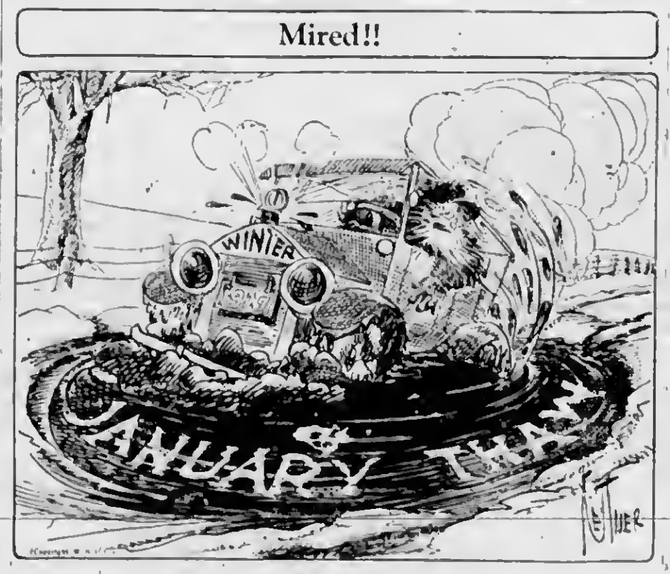
"The funeral will be held at the Episcopal church in Winter Park at 4 o'clock Wednesday afternoon.

"Mr. Foley was born at Wellsboro, Pa., and came to northern Michigan with his parents in 1877. They located at Harbor Springs, but within a few years moved to St. Ignace, where Mr. Foley grew to manhood. He married Edith Sherwood there in 1888. About 25 years ago he took over the management of the Belvedere hotel at Charlevoix, his efforts being marked with unusual success from the start of his hotel management career. From Charlevoix in summer he moved to Winter Park, Fla., in winter and organized the hotel company which opened and operated the beautiful Hotel Seminole. This hotel also was a success. For several years he managed a Kalamazoo hotel.

"While never a resident of Petoskey, Mr. Foley had a large acquaintance here. He and his family passed one winter season in this city. He attended the Episcopal church and was a member of the various Masonic bodies at Charlevoix and of Ivanhoe commandery, No. 36, Knights Templar of Petoskey.

"Surviving him besides his immediate family are three brothers and two sisters, John Foley and Edward Foley of Petoskey, Andrew Foley of Chicago Heights, Mrs. Samuel Wilson and Miss Mary Foley of Petoskey."

Mired!!



FULL HOUSE HEARD REV. KRUSE'S TALK

Address Entitled "Behind Prison Bars" Full of Interest

A crowded church full of people listened to the stirring address of former chaplain of Ionia Reformatory, Rev. Charles J. Kruse, Sunday afternoon at the Methodist Episcopal church.

It was the occasion of his second delivery of this same address in the city of Charlevoix. The men so highly valued his message delivered to them in the "men only" meeting, that they arranged this return engagement for a public presentation of the theme. The lesson of the young man prisoner, who told his twelve year old brother, "Sonny, if you see a pin lying on the street, and it does not belong to you, don't pick it up. Don't touch it. Don't even take anything that does not belong to you, so you won't ever have to come to this place. This is an awful place," will not soon be forgotten by those of impressionable years who heard the lecture about conditions behind the prison bars.

ICE CUTTING WAS COMPLETED TODAY

TOTAL CUT AMOUNTS TO ABOUT 10,000 TONS

Work Started Earlier This Season and Completed in Record Time of Three Weeks

The regular annual ice harvest in Charlevoix was completed today, according to Heise & Yettaw, local dealers.

The cut this year started earlier than any previous winter and was completed in the record time of three weeks. Exceptionally fine weather speeded the work along and with no lost time on account of storms the cut was completed without a single delay.

Ice was taken from three different localities—off the Charlevoix Coal & Ice Co.'s ice house, Widdifield's ice house and off the old P. M. docs north of the channel. A fine grade of clear, blue ice, with an average thickness of fifteen inches, compared favorably with the harvest of any previous year.

The 10,000 ton harvest was divided among eight different ice houses as follows: Charlevoix Coal & Ice Co., 3,500 tons; Widdifield, two houses, 4,000 tons; South Fisherires, 1,000 tons; The Inn, 450 tons; Belvedere Hotel, 200 tons; Chicago Club, 400 tons; Hallett, two hotels, 250 tons; eight car loads for the Pere Marquette railway at Petoskey, or around 400 tons.

Figured in dollars and cents this winter's industry amounts to a very tidy sum. An average of eighteen teams and twenty-two men were on the job for three weeks, with a pay roll running around $200 per day. During the slack winter months it means much to laborers and teamowners in and near Charlevoix. The ice itself, when retailed out by dealers, is worth in the neighborhood of $80,000, quite a large figure.

The water in Lake Charlevoix ranks A-1 in purity and it makes a good, clear ice that is much in demand, and during the summer local dealers are called upon to furnish hundreds of tons to outside dealers.

PTA COMMITTEES WERE APPOINTED

Meeting Held At High School Monday Evening

The executive committee of the Parent-Teachers' association met in the high school auditorium Monday evening, Mrs. E. E. Cross, president, presiding. Part of the work of the evening was the appointment of committees, which are as follows:

By-laws, O. P. North; program, Miss VanderHaagen; membership, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Bird; press and publicity, Mrs. C. Cooper; social, Mrs. George Kelderhouse; ways and means, Mr. and Mrs. Merritt Miller; legislative, A. C. Belding; health, Mrs. C. Bridge; high school historian, LaRue Higman.

The association's membership is 35. All parents are urged to join. This may be done by calling Mr. or Mrs. Frank Bird. Dues are 25c per year. The next meeting will be held in the high school auditorium February 23, at which time Mrs. C. Bridge will speak.

Mrs. F. F. McMillan, Sec. pro tem.

CANDIDATES FILE FOR CITY OFFICES

FEW CHANGES IN GENERAL LINE-UP

Apparently No Disposition on Part of Citizens to Disturb Present Personnel of Council

All indications are that citizens of Charlevoix are pretty well pleased and satisfied with the administration of city affairs, at least we form our conclusions from the fact that in few instances names of new-comers appear among the candidates who have filed for the coming city primary election.

Mayor Arthur Bergeon heads the ticket for re-election. This will be his sixth term in this office, and we can truthfully say the city has prospered under his administration of affairs.

For city clerk, the name of Ray S. Hamilton appears with no opposition. John Cook will be opposed by A. J. ("Col.") Hamilton for treasurer. C. R. Ashton will oppose J. R. Cooper for justice of the peace.

In the first and second wards the present aldermen, Henry Partridge and Archie Livingston, are up for re-election without opposition. In the third, D. J. Eckinger, present alderman, will be opposed by C. B. Sheldon.

Supervisors of the three wards, H. A. Craig, John H. Bugbee and Archie Alcock, are up for re-election without opposition.

The line-up for all city offices is as follows:

City Ticket

Mayor—Arthur Bergeon.
City Clerk—Ray S. Hamilton.
City Treasurer—John Cook, Alexander J. Hamilton.
Park Commissioner—Frank Partridge.
Justice of the Peace—Charles Ray Ashdon, Joseph R. Cooper.

First Ward

Alderman—Henry Partridge.
Supervisor—Harry A. Craig.
Constable—Joseph Howard.

Second Ward

Alderman—Archie Livingston.
Supervisor—John H. Bugbee.
Constable—Elmer L. Johnson.

Third Ward

Alderman—David J. Eckinger, Clinton B. Sheldon.
Supervisor—Archie Alcock.
Constable—William J. Weikel.

State Ticket

Charlevoix voters will also cast their ballot on the regular state ticket at this primary. On this ticket appears the office of county commissioner of schools. Three candidates have filed for this office: Archie C. Belding, for re-election; William Charles Palmer and Amelia Kaden.

The Pilgrim Players of the Congregational church will present a double dramatic cast Feb. 15, at the Palace Theatre. In addition to Zona Gay's delightfully humorous play, "The Neighbors," the little people will enact a charming symbolic playlet entitled "The House of Joy."—Adv. 5tf.

Get your auction bill printed here.

COLD WEATHER HITS DUCKS AS WELL AS LIZZIES

Old Boreas plays no favorites. When he goes on a rampage he hits hideous, wild life and the poor Lizzies and Dodges alike. Pedestrians witnessed an example of his antics last Thursday morning, this time his victim being a poor fish duck.

Several ducks were in the open water of the channel near the bridge. They were disturbed by the passing of two northsiders and all took to the air but one. The peculiar actions of this large bird attracted the attention of the passersby. Instead of flying away it swam around in circles. Acted like a Ford when you stepped on the starter—no go at all. It swam in big circles, small circles, bumped into the ice edges and couldn't even dive.

One of the observers casually remarked, "steering gear must be frozen." The other said, "No, it couldn't be that. He may have a flat tire or his battery is on the blink." Both were wrong. When that bird retired for the night, he had slipped his head under his wing, and there it stayed—frozen fast.

However, after a few minutes struggle, the duck managed to free his head and lost no time joining his companions. There is no telling what the weather man has in store for us in the future

MEETING WAS A GREAT SUCCESS

500 DELEGATES AT GREAT LAKES-ST. LAWRENCE MEET

Waterway Shown Great Boom to Agriculture—Finish Job In 1927 is Slogan

Immediate action for a treaty with Canada to provide for the development of a Lakes to Atlantic waterway was demanded at a conference held at Muskegon, Thursday, by the Great Lakes-St. Lawrence Tidewater Association and attended by more than 500 delegates from all parts of Michigan, several other states and Canada.

A dozen speakers of national reputation addressed the forenoon, luncheon, afternoon and banquet session. They summarized the developments to date, explained the tremendous agricultural and industrial advantages of deepening the channel of the St. Lawrence to allow ocean ships to enter the Great Lakes and fired the delegates with enthusiasm to see definite action on this project.

"The economic phases of the problem are established, the engineering features are settled; the next step is to sit down with our Canadian neighbors and draw up a contract or treaty so that actual work may be started," declared Ex. Gov. W. L. Harding of Iowa, president of the Great Lakes-St. Lawrence Tidewater Association.

"Muskegon is only 25 miles removed from being an ocean port," Mr. Harding said, pointing out that the entire Great Lakes-St. Lawrence route is navigable for ocean going craft except a 25 mile stretch between Montreal and Lake Ontario.

"Twenty-seven per cent of all the freight handled in the United States is shipped on the bosom of the Great Lakes," said Mr. Harding.

"By digging a ditch 100 feet wide and 25 feet deep and 25 miles long, 94 per cent of all the shipping of the world could come to Muskegon and other Great Lake ports. There is a half billion bushels of grain affected by the transportation conditions of the Great Lakes. It's price is set in Liverpool. By opening up the Great Lakes to ocean vessels, we could add 10c a bushel to all the wheat which we sell in the great mid-west, not only that which we export, but that which we market here at home. This would mean fifty million dollars more per year. Add that to the income of mid-west farmers and you will write "prosperity" across the skies of America. Let us open the St. Lawrence and have practically the same ocean rate to Europe markets and every other port in the world that New York City now enjoys. This will mean emancipation for forty million land-locked people."

Canadian Says, "We're Digging"

"This great conference here today will radiate an influence all over the North American continent," declared Hon. Frank H. Keefer, formerly Parliamentary Secretary of State for External Affairs and member of Parliament of Canada. Mr. Keefer explained that Canada has in the past spent large amounts in the development of various portions of the proposed waterway and is now engaged in building the new Welland canal and locks which will be completed in two or three years at a cost of $114,000,000. "Canada's digging, you do the same," challenged Mr. Keefer.

The economic possibilities of this waterway project were outlined by William George Bruce of Milwaukee, member of the Executive Committee of the Great Lakes-St. Lawrence Tidewater Association. He pointed out that water rates are only one-eighth of those by rail and showed that the traffic on the Great Lakes today is greater than that between the United States and Europe. He quoted the recent official Government estimates that the entire cost of the proposed development would be about $355,000,000, and declared, "The navigation benefits on grain shipments alone will pay the interest on this investment. The power earnings would pay five per cent interest and retire the entire debt in 20 years."

Mr. Bruce declared that the diversion of Lake Michigan water at Chicago was responsible for lowering the level of Lake Michigan six inches and that this means an annual loss of three million dollars to Great Lakes shipping interests. He praised Michigan for the part which it is taking along with six other states to end this wholesale and unlawful abstraction of water, and said that we could not expect Canada to enter into any cooperative arrangement with us until we had stopped this diversion of water which he declared to be the joint property of the United States and Canada.

Gov. Green is Toastmaster

Governor Fred W. Green, who presided as toastmaster at the luncheon session, was introduced by former Governor Albert E. Sleeper, through whose influence Michigan was the second state to join the Tidewater Association eight years ago. Governor Green said: "Anything that the state administration can do to help in this work we are going to do and we are going to try to do it ahead of the time you asked it." The Governor made an eloquent presentation as to what the waterway would mean in developing international understanding and goodwill and promoting peace among nations.

A strong statement as to the advantages of the waterway to the agriculture of the mid-west was made by J. F. Reed, president of the Minnesota State Farm Bureau and former vice-president of the American Farm Bureau Federation. Mr. Reed declared that high cost of transportation of farm products were partially responsible for placing agriculture out of step with other industries. He showed that it cost the Nebraska farmer 45c per bushel to get his wheat to Liverpool, while the farmer in Argentina can ship his wheat there for 25c. Mr. Reed said that the higher prices for farm products which would result from the completion of the deep waterway would mean the difference between bankruptcy and reasonable prosperity for the farmers of the mid-west.

A telegram of regret from Herbert Hoover, Secretary of Commerce said in part, "The vital need and feasibility of the St. Lawrence waterway has been determined. You have my best wishes and complete assurance of fullest cooperation in your fine work."

Mothers Treat Colds The New "Direct" Way

No Longer Necessary to "Dose" Children With Internal Medicines to Break Colds.

Children's digestions are easily upset by too much "dosing." Vicks VapoRub being externally applied, does not upset little stomachs.

At the first sign of croup, sore throat, or any other cold trouble, apply Vicks freely. There is nothing to swallow—you just "rub it on."

VICKS VAPORUB

OVER 21 MILLION JARS USED YEARLY

Burning - out chimneys caused many bad fires. Avoid this fire loss by using our Soot Destroyer. It does the work. 15c per pound. Charlevoix Hdw. Co.—Adv. 2tf.

CLARION

Ohmer Norton had his leg broken while coasting, Thursday.

Miss Lucy Lake underwent an operation for appendicitis last week.

Miss Ida Huff who has been ill for some time, is able to be out again.

Mrs. Mary A. Herrington has returned from Petoskey where she has been visiting relatives.

Derwin Banks and Mrs. Dan Mareau drove to Topinabee on Saturday. They were accompanied by Mrs. Josephine Mareau who remained with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Gilbert.

* * * * * * * * * * *

CONGREGATIONAL CHURCH
B. G. Mattson, D. D., Minister

* * * * * * * * * * *

Morning worship with sermon on "The Broken Reed," a topic by request.

Sunday school at noon.

At the evening service, 7 o'clock the young people will present a pageant with symbolic meaning, picturing the church bearing the message of Salvation of the World.

The pastor will give a short address following the pageant.

Gifts for St. Valentine's Day

Valentines, 1c to $2.00. Whitman's Valentine Boxed Candy, Sampler 1, 2 and 3 lb. boxes. Valentine Boxed Stationery, something new. Fred Gale's, the Druggist. Adv. 5tf

AS Mother Nature Intended.

The skillful blend of herbs, barks and roots — Nature's Remedy (NR Tablets) always safe and dependable. Try Nature's Remedy for one week and see how much better you feel, how it restores the animated, invigorated feeling with freedom from Constipation, Biliousness, Sick headaches.

NR TO-NIGHT TOMORROW ALRIGHT

SOLD BY YOUR DRUGGIST CENTRAL DRUG STORE

CORRESPONDENCE

BARNARD

The Misses Dorothy and Anna Gornell spent the week end at home.

The Ladies' Aid Society meets next Wednesday, Februnry 9th with Mrs. Howard Gornell.

Miss Margaret Gornell is at home again after being employed in Charlevoix for two months.

Mrs. Robert Gregory is spending a few days with her mother, Mrs. Adams in East Marion.

Among our school's activities we notice that the seventh grade have begun the study of "The Vision of Sir Launfal."

A line baby daughter arrived at the Charles Warner home last Monday, January 24th. She will answer to the name of Lucille.

Mr. and Mrs. George Willis entertained at a progressive pedro party on Friday evening. The high honors were received by Mrs. Dhaseleer and Louis Shapton, while Mamie Gregory and Will Ager got the consolation prizes. Of course the usual good time was enjoyed.

NORWOOD

The Norwood road is again open for car traffic.

Several families in this locality are having attacks of the flu.

Myron Brown of Detroit, is visiting his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Brown.

Friends of Mrs. Haskins will be glad to learn that she is improving in health.

The coldest period of this winter was Tuesday night of last week, when the thermometer registered 22 degrees below zero.

Miss Alice Sminaw and Miss Fairchild spent the week end at their homes in Charlevoix.

The high winds of the past week have broken up the ice and forced a greater part of ice out of the bay

MOUNTAIN DISTRICT

Miss Ann Wilson is on the sick list.

Mr. Gouly came home Thursday from Flint where he failed to find employment.

Mrs. Ruby Case, our teacher, spent the week end with her daughter, Esther of Charlevoix.

Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Scott entertained Mrs. Case and Mr. Ernest Staley at supper on Thursday evening.

Harold Towsley went back to Charlevoix on Saturday, after visiting a week with his cousin, Clare Staley.

We had our monthly tests on Thursday and Friday and Nyle Gould came thru with the highest average.

We surely miss all the pupils who are sick, especially little Margery Scott, who calls her teacher "My dear Mrs. Casey."

Margery Scott, Oswald Hosegood and Bruce Sanderson have been absent from school two weeks on account of having the whooping cough.

Oswald Hosegood is going to do his school work at home as soon as he is well enough. Mrs. Case will prepare his lessons and hear him recite after school. Little Margery Scott is also doing her school work at home.

On Tuesday evening, Mr. Alex Currey was pleasantly surprised, when a sleigh load of his friends dropped in to spend the evening. The girls brought well-filled baskets, and the contents must have pleased the boys for they went home happy and promised Mr. Currey to come again.

MURRAY SCHOOL

Marjorie, Boots and Louis Mawby were absent from school.

All parents are invited to visit school at any time to see what we are doing.

The 8th grade agriculture class are making a study of plant parasites and insects.

The fifth grade made a booklet to represent "Midsummer Night's Dream," in reading.

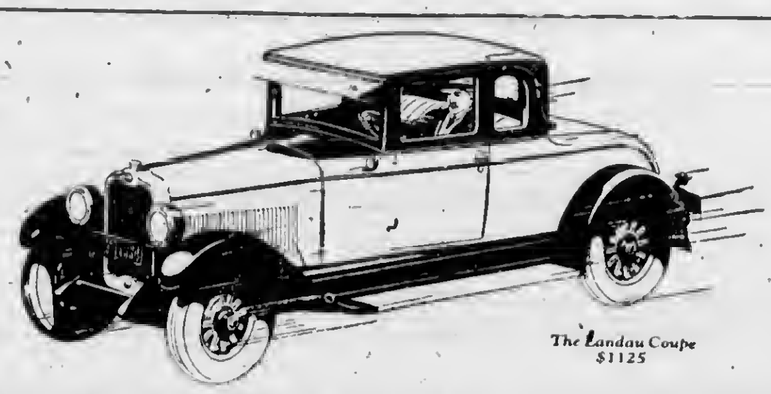
The boys manual training classes have nearly completed the 10 articles required for exhibit.

The 7th grade geography class are making a study of some of the national parks of the west.

A meeting of the Bay Shore and Murray schools was held last Friday night, January 28. During the business meeting the characters were choosen for the play "Dr. Jim," which is to be given in the near future. It was decided that the girls were to play basketball on Monday and Wednesday nights and the boys were to play on Tuesdays and Thursday nights. Light refreshments were served and then the evening was spent in singing, dancing and playing games.

Gifts for St. Valentine's Day

Valentines, 1c to $2.00. Whitman's Valentine Boxed Candy, Sampler 1, 2 and 3 lb. Boxes. Valentine Boxed Stationery, something new. Fred Gale's, the Druggist. Adv. 5tf



The Landau Coupe $1125

"And on that extra margin of precision in manufacture is based that extra measure of satisfaction which every Oakland owner enjoys"

Throughout the entire Greater Oakland Six chassis you will discover numerous impressive examples of not merely the precision of good construction—but the super-precision of fine craftsmanship. And on that extra margin of precision in manufacture is based that extra measure of satisfaction which every Oakland owner enjoys.

Everywhere the Greater Oakland Six is winning good will because it offers such exceptional features as bodies by Fisher, in beautiful Duco colors, the Rubber-Silenced Chassis, four-wheel brakes, adjustable full pressure oiling, and the like. And it is holding good will because it has been—and always will be—built with the scrupulous care and exactness which are always the distinguishing marks of a truly fine car and which always result in better operation over a longer period of time.

$1095 SEDAN

Oakland Six, $1025 to $1295. Pontiac Six, companion to Oakland Six, $825 to $975. Bodies by Fisher. All prices at factory. Easy to pay on the General Motors Time Payment Plan.

BLOCK & SIMMONS 113-15 Antrim St. Charlevoix, Michigan

The Greater OAKLAND SIX

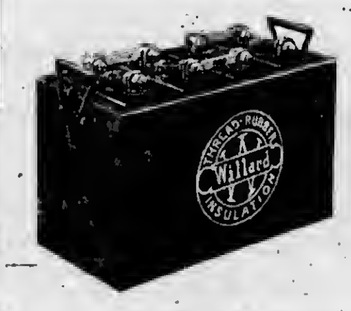
PRODUCT OF GENERAL MOTORS WINNING AND HOLDING GOOD WILL



FOR LOW COST Battery Service -USE THE- WILLARD

No wood anywhere in the Willard battery. Nine less parts. Case and partitions are made from high grade new rubber stock and molded by heat and pressure into a single unite of iron hardness. Acid has no effect on it. Zero weather will not cause it to crack. We believe a Willard Battery will give you longer service than any battery on the market today.

NOTE THESE FEATURES

Heavy Willard plates—lively in action—long in life.

Threaded rubber insulation—withstands acid—uniformly porous—giving greater capacity.

A Charged Bone-dry Battery. Starts its life on the owner's car.

Large terminals and connectors permit free flow of current.

Strong partitions brace the cell spaces and reinforce the case.

High ribs at bottom of cells to support plates and provide ample sediment space.

Handles are securely fastened by screws to metal plates embedded in battery case.

Case designed to fit tightly in battery compartment of your car.

OUR PRICES FOR WILLARD BATTERIES

6 volt, 11 plate, rubber case Willard Batteries for	$11.95
6 volt, 13 plate, rubber case Willard Batteries for	$16.50
12 volt, rubber case Willard Batteries for	$24.60

BENJAMIN BROWN

FLIT DESTROYS Moths, Roaches Bedbugs, Flies Other Household Insects

VALET AutoStrop Razor sharpens itself

An Amazing Success Feen-a-mint The Chewing LAXATIVE

Chew It Like Chewing Gum

A pleasure to use. Very efficient. Children love it. No taste but that of sweet mint. The most popular laxative because it's a "satisfier." 15c and 25c. Sold by

ALABASTER LAMPS

by Margaret Turnbull.

COPYRIGHT 1925 BY MARGARET TURNBULL WNU SERVICE

(Chapter 2 continued)

"But Mrs. Mannheim, why, she sortu forgets. Some of us knew her as Lizzie Harrigan, a school-teacher at Fellow's Corners twenty miles 'nway. Lizzie always was a restless spirit, and she made a strike for freedom and the city. She's got Mannheim flattered to denth and fooled, but she can't fool Pence Valley. Leaves her big automobile around the corner, and in a plain shirtwuist and skirt and a sad smile tries to stir up the girls at the factory to fight for their rights. They chew their gum and laugh at her. Fellow's Corners ain't so far but some of us have heard of Lizzie Harrigan's rich marriage. She got a hint of that last time she tried to make a strike leader of herself and found she was the whole strike. She's all for plain living and high thinking, and look where she lives! Five maids, a cook and a chauffeur. And clothes! Lizzie struck luck when she married Mannheim."

"I know Mrs. Mannheim," Ned said, to Dabbs' complete astonishment, and Ned's voice was hard. "I'd rather go to her kitchen door with groceries any day, than to her front door. Who started this blot on the landscape?"

Dabbs visibly started. He shot a quick glance at Ned, but the younger man did not notice the look.

"Isn't 'blot on the landscape' a little strong?" he inquired anxiously. "You see I'm the agent for the man who bought the land cheap, and thought it'd make a good investment as an exclusive residence place. He had a good architect come down here, who was crazy about remodelling old houses, and soon Mr. Mannheim and a num. called Green got interested, and they brought the rest here."

"I suppose," Ned began reflectively, as though he had scarcely been listening, what Mrs. Mannheim thought she could get together a set of her own down here, and drag Mannheim away from his friends."

"Don't know," Dabbs answered, a trifle bewildered at Ned's intimate knowledge of these people. "That's Green's house over there, among the trees, where we're going next. Green's a character. He can talk white into looking black, and the other way round. He was a professor, of something or other, in some college. He's in Russia now."

"Who has the house now?"

"Don't just know. It was rented by the New York agency when I was away. I didn't see the name Sims put on the order, so I can't tell you whether it's money or just views, but should think it would be money and views. Sometimes you know a regular family, just looking for peace and quiet, and here. But it's generally one of the same."

He paused, "Jimmy? I've never talked so much to any one before. Of course being agent for the property I have to keep my mouth shut. But what would you do? Turn them out? Aren't they safer here than in some other place? Peace Valley's slow moving."

He looked appealingly at Ned, for evidently that "blot on the landscape" rankled.

Ned said nothing. He was frowning, staring straight ahead of him, seeing nothing. Dabbs, glancing at him, puzzled, explained further: "Of course, I've only given you my idea of them. I'd not set you against them, for anything. In fact, they might amuse you."

"They wouldn't," Ned interrupted vehemently. "I don't want to know them."

The wagon gave a final lurch as they turned the corner near the Mannheim's back gateway. A slender blonde girl came through the wrought-iron gates at a breakneck speed, pulled along by an infuriated young collie on a leash. Neither the girl nor the dog seemed able to stop, and Jenny would not.

Horse, dog and girl seemed as one in the cloud of dust that enveloped them.

As Dabbs pulled at the reins, Ned jumped over the side of the wagon and landed at the girl's feet.

"Peter!" she shrieked. "My precious dog! My Peter! You've killed him."

"D—m Peter!" Ned muttered sullenly. "What are you doing here, Dorothy?"

The girl looked at him amazed, then at the wagon and Mr. Dabbs, who had kept his seat and regained control over the horse. Peter, who had not been killed, doubled back and was now cowering against the girl, growling.

Dabbs quietly descended and took the box containing the Mannheim order from the back of the wagon. Ned turned abruptly, went toward the wagon and climbed to the seat.

"I'll deliver the order at the next house, Uncle Claude, and come back for you," he announced, and was gone before Claude could protest.

The girl, her attractive face painted like a bisque doll, stood staring at the rapidly disappearing wagon. Claude, wisely concluding that he had nothing to keep him, shouldered the box and went toward the house.

When he returned, a few minutes later, the girl was still standing there, holding the dog and blocking his exit. Dabbs could see at once that he was not to escape easily.

"Nice boy, Ned," Dabbs remarked warily.

"Uncle Claude!" the girl exclaimed accusingly. "Are you the late Mrs. Rangeley's brother?"

"Mrs. Rangeley?" Dabbs echoed. "Mean Mrs. Carters don't you Miss Selden?"

"No, I mean Ned Carter Rangeley's mother."

"Ned Carter Rangeley!" Dabbs repeated. "You mean my boy Ned?"

"Then you aren't his real uncle?"

"He has always called me 'uncle,' though the relationship isn't quite so close."

Dorothy Selden looked at him shrewdly. "I'm willing to bet every penny in my purse," and she jangled the little costly beaded article and dropped it back into the deep trouser pocket of her expensive farmerette costume, "that you don't know who Loren Lorimer Rangeley is."

Dabbs could not help his jaw dropping a little. "I do, though," he answered quietly enough. "He is a big New York banker, one of the meanest men God ever let live."

"Knowing that," snapped the girl, "and knowing that Ned is his only son, why this silly pretense that his name is Carter only?"

"Ned has his reasons," he told her coldly, "and Rangeley deserves to be kept in the dark."

By the look in the girl's eyes, he knew that he had said the right thing. She apparently forgot Dabbs' existence as she stood there turning the situation over in her mind.

"Quarreled with papa and down here leading the simple life with a poor relation," she mused. "What a situation for the high and mighty Ned! I congratulate you, Mr. Dabbs. It is evident that Ned has seen the light and come over to us."

"Us?" I don't think I understand."

"Joined the workers, the Intelligensia, the Bolsheviki of America."

"Not if I know Ned!"

Miss Selden looked at him, as one looks at the poor of understanding. Plainly she felt that any really up-to-date information would be lost upon Dabbs. She searched her mind for some expression used in the dark ages before the war.

"Don't you understand," she began condescendingly, "I'm what is called a radical. What you would probably call a Socialist."

Dabbs said nothing.

Disconcerted, Dorothy, unused to planting seed in ground totally uncultivated, began again: "A radical is—well—a radical is one who believes all men should be equal—"

"They are not," Dabbs interrupted, "and they can't be. Men aren't born equal, no matter what the Declaration says. Nor if you start them equal, do they stay so. Girl, the very best one can do is to try and give everybody an equal chance, and then watch the holes they land in."

"The world belongs to the workers," Dorothy began dolefully.

"Sure. What's your trade?" Dabbs demanded.

Dorothy hesitated and was lost. "I—" she began.

Dabbs looked at her sympathetically. "I guess you're living on that 'unearned increment' the rest of the Clover Hollowers live on and despise so. And I guess you've got more of it than some of the others," he added, taking in comprehensively, but not offensively, her expensive playing-at-being-useful garments. "Well, I'm a grocer," and he shouldered his box and turned away. "If you'll excuse me, Miss Selden, I'll move along. The grocery business is sorta exacting in its demands, and I'll be going on down the road to the stonemason's. Mind telling my boy, Ned, to pick me up there when he passes?"

CHAPTER III

Ned, Jenny and the wagon were standing in the driveway of the Green's former residence. The sign on the gate posts indicated that this place was called "The White House."

Ned found it a charming place. The old stone house was a real bit of pre-Revolutionary Pennsylvania. The original outbuildings had been torn down, but enough of the old stone barn had been retained to make a practical, yet picturesque, garage.

Altogether a wonderful old place, in which everything that was old was used. There was nothing new, made to look like an obvious afterthought. All were blended into an harmonious whole, agreeable to the eye, and testifying to the skill of the architect.

As he jumped down from the wagon seat, Ned thought perplexedly that he had forgotten to ask the name of the people who lived here. How would he know which box to take out? This difficulty was solved for him by the fact, discovered immediately, he examined the contents of the wagon, that all remaining packages bore the name "Johnston." This was evidently not the usual house-to-house delivery, but a special trip, mainly to the Johnston house.

Shouldering the box containing the hundies, he walked to the kitchen door and knocked in his best grocery boy manner. There was no response. He knocked again and waited.

"Oh Grocer!" came in a strong, young contralto voice somewhere above his head.

Ned shifted the box a little to enable him to look upward.

From the rear half window a girl leaned out. Ned wondered why he should think of extreme youth and fairy tales; then remembered the illustrations for "Rapunzel, Rapunzel, let down your hair." The girl had been brushing her hair, and it hung about her in dusky masses. The brush was still in her hand.

"Oh, Grocer!" Came in a Strong, Young Contralto Voice Somewhere Above His Head.

"Will you please put the box on the bench just outside the door? I'll be down as soon as I can open the door. When we arrived last night, we found the servants had left because it was too lonely."

Ned put down his box and sat waiting on the steps. He was weary from his unwonted early rising. He leaned his head against the pillar of the kitchen porch and closed his eyes. This was a queer adventure—yet it promised, at least for a time, to be diverting; and that was all one could really ask of anything in this life. If it grew humdrum and commonplace, or Dorothy became a nuisance, he would move on. He thought of his newly acquired uncle. There, at least, he had made no mistake. Whatever Claude Dabbs was or was not, he was a man, and he was honest. Ned admitted more than that. C. M. Dabbs had charm.

"Poor fellow. How tired you must be!" Ned turned as the words came from behind him.

"Nonsense," Ned said, finding himself blushing. "I'm not tired in the least, Miss—"

"Johnston, and I hope you've brought everything I ordered."

Ned began carrying in the order. He did not hurry too much about his task. It was pleasant to watch in the clean, white, cool kitchen, this girl who was not like the other girls he knew. She had something they did not have; or was it that he had never seen any of the other girls in just such an environment? Miss Johnston was smiling at him now across the white enameled table, on which they had spread and counted the groceries.

"I don't really know where the potatoes are kept," she said, "so put them in that big basket in the corner. You see, I don't know where everything belongs, yet."

"Why not leave them where they are," advised Ned. "The new cook will probably want to put them somewhere else anyway."

"Oh I think not, Mr.-Mr.-er-Dabbs."

"But I'm not Mr. Dabbs. I'm his—nephew. My name's Carter, Ned Carter."

Miss Johnston smiled, then frowned a little, a horseshoe shaped frown that drew her delicate black brows together.

"Try not to make so much noise with the potatoes, Mr. Carter. I don't want my mother disturbed."

Ned, who had been pouring the potatoes into the basket as tenderly as a small boy, and rather enjoying the noise, colored and stopped this demonstration of his muscular power. Instead of pouring them out as though they were canned peas, he lowered the bag discreetly and allowed the potatoes to escape as potatoes should.

"Much better," Miss Johnston admitted, and Ned found her charming as she stood there with slightly puckered brow. He forgot to object to the school-teacher manner with which she said it. "Now, if you'll put the gasoline in the shed at the side of the porch, why that will be all. Tell your uncle that, with the servants gone, I'll have to telephone him later about the chickens we ordered. I'm afraid we shan't want them."

Ned understood he was being dismissed, and picked up his empty potato sack. As he crossed the room he had a sudden inspiration.

"Miss Johnston, if there's anything Uncle can do before your new servants come, why, let us know. Uncle might be able to get some one in Peace Valley to come for a day and help you out."

"Oh, do ask him! It would help immensely."

Ned went out, determined that it should be done, and Mary decided that country people were really the salt of the earth. She also decided that this young man was decidedly too good-looking, with an air impossible to deny. How had he come by it in a country general store?

While she wondered, and put the groceries away, Dorothy Selden, who could have told her all about the air and how it was acquired, waited at the gate for the returning "grocer's boy."

He drove toward her whistling, in face and figure he was all that a lady might love, but his expression was far from being either pleasant or inviting. He stopped whistling when he saw Dorothy waiting alone, and a heavy frown came to his brow.

Dorothy swung herself into his path. Ned endeavored to keep on his way, but the girl was determined. Ned halted Jenny and waited.

"So, you've changed your mind?"

"No," Ned answered promptly, and then in true country fashion proceeded to answer one question by asking another. "Where's Uncle Claude?"

The girl ignored it, leaning on the wagon, insolently. "You didn't get across to fight," she jeered.

"No. Did you and father work together to prevent it? I've often wondered."

"You've quarreled with your charming but capitalistic father, and are down here working for your living."

Ned's mouth twisted into a reluctant smile. "Is that all you got after pumping C. M. Dabbs?"

"And you call yourself 'Carter,' the girl finished ominously.

"Right. Don't give me away."

The girl nodded. "What am I to understand from that, but that you've seen the error of your ways and decided to join us."

"I s?"

"Why this pretense?" Miss Selden asked airily. "I assure you there's no need. I don't mind your following incognito here. This is a refuge, a haven where people like ourselves may find freedom of speech, of thought, of action—"

Ned looked at her. "And costume?" he added.

Dorothy laughed, secure in the fact that whatever he thought of it, it was becoming. It was going to be interesting, having Ned around. He must have cared more than she thought, to have followed so soon. How had he known? But she kept these things to herself and continued her pose. "I'm a worker, too, Ned. Mrs. Mannheim—I came down here to stay with her, as you evidently discovered—has a community garden, and I, well I do my small share toward making it a success."

"Don't let me detain you," hinted Ned, lifting Jenny's reins, fearful that if he stayed longer he would spoil her delightful theory of pursuit by the discarded lover.

But Dorothy still held to the wagon and he could not go. "You remember Mrs. Mannheim?" she asked.

Ned nodded. "Oh, yes, I remember her well, but I'm not anxious to renew the acquaintance under the circumstances. I hardly think she'd care to have 'the grocer's boy' calling."

"Oh, I don't think she'd mind, if I explain. Of course, it hasn't been done. Among our own social set distinctions simply do not exist, but we haven't included the village, yet."

"I'm sure that would never do. And now, please, where is—Uncle Claude?"

"At the stonemason's, across the bridge," Dorothy informed him, and for a moment relaxed her hold on the side of the wagon and stooped to recover Peter's leash.

Instantly, Ned and Jenny started down the road.

Dorothy called to him, surprise in her voice. Was it possible her diagnosis of the fleeing maid and the seeking lover could be wrong? "Why, Ned, you're not leaving me, like that, are you?"

(Continued on page 7)

PHONE YOUR CLASSIFIED "AD"

If you're a telephone subscriber, simply lift the hook, ask for 2-J and state your request. It's a service that makes it comparatively easy for you to insert your advertisement. And Want Ads offer the solution to many a problem. There's always someone eager to buy, sell or trade; someone who has a service to offer. Results are certain and the cost is quite moderate.

Call Before 11 o'clock Each Wednesday

The CHARLEVOIX COURIER

PHONE 2-J

Keep in Trim!

Good Elimination Is Essential to Good Health.

THE kidneys are the blood filters. If they fail to function properly there is apt to be a retention of toxic poisons in the blood. A dull, languid feeling and, sometimes, toxic backaches, headaches, and dizziness are symptoms of this condition. Further evidence of improper kidney function is often found in burning or scanty passage of secretions. Each year more and more people are learning the value of Doan's Pills, a stimulant diuretic, in this condition. Scarcely a nook or hamlet anywhere but has many enthusiastic users. Ask your neighbor!

DOAN'S PILLS 60c

Stimulant Diuretic to the Kidneys

Foster-Milburn Co., Mfg. Chem., Buffalo, N. Y.

BUSINESS CARDS

Farm Property — Lake Frontage
A. C. BELDING
REAL ESTATE BROKER
Charlevoix, Mich.
Game Preserves — Desirable Property

GLASSES FITTED
Consult
DR. J. LEAHY
OPTOMETRIST
Expert on Eye-Strain.
Petoskey, Mich.
Phone 443 for Appointment

BELLE LOUISE FLEWELLING
Palmer Chiropractor
Post Office Building
Phone 347
Office hours 2 to 5 daily
Monday, Wednesday and Friday
7 to 8

R. J. MADILL
Building Contractor
Ask for Estimates
Phone 121 Charlevoix, Mich.

D. T. McHUGH
General Contractor
Phone 214
CHARLEVOIX, MICHIGAN

R. B. ARMSTRONG
PHYSICIAN AND SURGEON
Special Attention to Diseases of Eye, Ear, Nose and Throat
Priest Bldg. Phone 255

DR. F. F. McMILLAN
Physician and Surgeon
Office above Postoffice
Phone 17
Charlevoix - - Michigan

A. L. FITCH
ATTORNEY AT LAW
Office in Court House
Phone 48
Charlevoix - Michigan

Modern parents say the only way to make the younger generation obey them, is to find out what they want and then tell them to go and do it.

The CHARLEVOIX COURIER
Issued every Wednesday at
CHARLEVOIX MICHIGAN

DuBois & Usher, Publishers
A. J. Usher, Editor and Business Mgr.
Courier Building Van Pelt Place

Entered at the Post Office in Charlevoix, Mich., as second class matter.

Member Michigan Press Ass'n

Advertising Rates

For advertising rates apply for schedule.

Notices of church or lodge socials and entertainments, where admission is charged, regular rates.

Obituary poetry, regular rates.

Card of Thanks, 25 cents.

TERMS OF SUBSCRIPTION

One copy, one year $2.00
One Copy, six months $1.00
One Copy, three months .....$ .60

MAY GOD HAVE MERCY

"The sentence of this court is, that you be hanged by the neck until you are dead. And may God have mercy upon your soul."

A Michigan legislature once more faces the question of Capital punishment. Some time during the present session the legislative halls at Lansing will echo with impassioned pleas for a return to the legalized taking of human life; this in a state that was the first of all states to write the record of a new civilization upon the statute books of the nation.

Before the final vote is taken there will be plenty of discussion, not only in the legislature, but through the press and pulpit. Ministers will thunder their views from pulpits, and the columns of the newspapers will be filled with views of editors and their readers. Sentiment at the present time seems more evenly divided than ever before. Many brutal murders in the state in recent months have recruited new converts to the belief that hanging is a preventative for the crime of murder.

Everybody seems agreed that punishment for those guilty of murder has been notoriously lax in this state. In his first message to the legislature Governor Fred W. Green dwelt at length upon the subject of crime and its punishment, but not once did he plead for a return to capital punishment. He has given his pledge that court sentences in this state will be recognized as long as he is governor. With his assurance that a life sentence for the crime of murder will mean just what it implies, we wonder if the legislature can consistently ask him to sponsor a measure that has failed to reduce murder in states where it is written into the law, and which in itself is a big sweep backward in the treatment of crime?

What anomaly, even in states where a "life for a life" is demanded by law, the sentencing judge still implores Divine mercy that he himself is not allowed to grant.

OUR COUNTRY

Under the influence of rapidly increasing knowledge, the people have begun, in all forms of government, to think, and to reason, on affairs of state. Regarding government as an institution for the public good, they demand a knowledge of its operations, and a participation in its exercise. When Louis XV said, "I am the state," he expressed the essence of the doctrine of unlimited power. By the rules of that system, the people are disconnected from the state; they are its subjects, it is their lord. These ideas, founded in the love of power, and long supported by the excess and the abuse of it, are yielding, in our age, to other opinions; and the civilized world seems at last to be proceeding to the conviction of that fundamental and manifest truth, that the powers of government are but a trust, and that they cannot be lawfully exercised but for the good of the community. Let our subject be, our country, our whole country, and nothing but our country. And, by the blessing of God, may that country itself become a vast and splendid monument, not of oppression and terror, but of wisdom, of peace and of liberty, upon which the world may gaze with admiration forever!—Daniel Webster.

A DEADLY GAS

Almost daily the newspapers give accounts of accidental death from carbon-monoxide gas. The John Hancock Mutual Life Insurance Co., of Boston, has issued a pamphlet, which thoroughly explains how this gas is created and how to protect against it. It is surprising that state Boards of Health have not taken steps to warn the public against this serious and common menace to life.

The following is a portion of the valuable information found in this pamphlet:

"All gasoline engines, when running, generate carbon-monoxide gas; burning gas stoves and heaters do also, if combustion is incomplete.

"The reason for the deadliness of carbon-monoxide is that it is an unstable compound, requiring more oxygen to become a stable gas (carbon-dioxide). When taken into the lungs, it absorbs oxygen from the blood, the lungs serving as the chemical retort in which the change takes place.

"A person may be literally immersed in the gas and never suspect it until he begins to grow dizzy or becomes paralyzed. The next stage is unconsciousness; the next, death.

"Every automobile driver should take this precaution: Never start the motor with garage doors and windows closed; not even for a minute or two. If repairs or adjustments must be made with the engine running, do the work in the open air—or with doors and windows open.

"If your gas range or heater is so located with respect to a chimney opening that it can be piped to this latter, this should by all means be done. If no chimney opening is available, always take the precaution of ventilating the room by opening the window whenever the gas is burning.

"Gas logs or heaters in living-rooms are a constant source of danger unless proper means of carrying off the gas fumes are provided as well as proper ventilation in the room.

"Never go to bed at night with gas or kerosene heaters burning in the room. Sleep with windows open.

"In case of carbon-monoxide poisoning, call a physician immediately. Remember that oxygen is the only help, so get the patient into the open air. Instruments for the resuscitation of those overcome by gas are usually available at gas companies, fire stations, and at some druggists.

"Always bear in mind that a very little carbon-monoxide gas is exceedingly dangerous. Three minutes' exposure may cause death."

EDUCATION AND CITIZENSHIP

There is no parallel in history for the generosity with which the people of the United States, through their national, state and local governments, support the education of youth.

The only justification for this [illegible] that private hope, in the [illegible] state government, and the assumption [illegible] from the earliest years of the republic that enlightened citizenship is [illegible] its preservation for the responsibilities of citizenship is essential to the security and progress of a free public.

When we see such education fails in its [illegible] unreasonably neglecting to instill in American youth comprehension and appreciation of the importance of the government which confers the education, then it fails altogether.

As to governmental policies within the spirit of the American government there is of course room for infinite variety of opinion. But to organize to fight against the fundamentals of Americanism is to war upon our government and to subvert the purpose of education.

CASH OR CREDIT

A bank account, large or small, is one way of establishing the family credit in a community. Paying cash has its advantages in the lack of bills coming in at the first of each month but by having a checking account you become known at the bank, the family has a ready reference in financial matters. The customers who are known to the bank as good buyers and [illegible] a standing with the bank, [illegible] sides this, the convenience of a checking account is a large item in its favor. Checks may be sent with safety thru the mails and there is seldom a charge for cashing them in any part of the country. With a checking account, all bills may be paid by check, and little cash has to be handled, thus the danger of loss or theft of cash is lessened. A cancelled check is in itself a receipt for a bill paid, and no other receipt is needed. The bank does all the hard part of keeping the account. To get the advantage of a checking account the customer needs only to know how to make out checks correctly, and how to verify the stubs of his check book with the bank's statement of his account once every three months, to avoid mistakes.

WOOING SLEEP

Sleep is mighty elusive upon occasions and is mighty presistent upon others. There are many antidotes for overcoming both conditions and none are so perfect but that humanity is interested in new ones.

Rev. Charles R. Brown, D. D., dean of Yale Divinity School, uses a formula of ten words to sooth himself into slumber: "Quietly, easily, restfully, trustfully, patiently, serenely, peacefully, joyously, courageously, confidently," thinking of each word seperately and slowly until he becomes mentally in harmony with the meaning of the words and he falls asleep.

There will be an old-fashioned ball at the I. O. O. F. hall, Friday evening, February 4th. Durance orchestra.—Adv. 5-tf.

FRESHENING BREEZES

With the erection of modern sky-scrapers it begins to look as if second-story working will soon be a lost art.

If prohibitionists really want prohibition in this country why don't they petition the present dry congress to list hypocrisy among the punishable offenses of the land.

Aimee Semple McPherson is headed east on a lecture tour to recoup her fallen fortunes. Wonder if she'll change "Bringing in the Sheaves," as the opening ode, to "Sweetheart, I Hear You Calling Me."

With the coming of shorter skirts nobody can claim marriage is the old time lottery it ust to be.

What has become of the old fashioned girl who never sat cross-legged in public?

Representative Luther Hall has introduced a measure in the lower house to make chicken snatching a mighty difficult occupation. Can't be you've already discovered something suspicious down around the Capitol building, can't it, Luther?

New Jersey has adopted an eye test for motorists. Wonder if it is something that will keep a fellows eyes glued to the road while passing a pretty dame in short skirts?

Our idea of an optimist is the fellow who believes the Senate will some day investigate a Democratic primary.

Governor Fred W. Green expresses surprize at the number of people seeking state jobs. Don't get discouraged, Governor. Just wait till the returns from the faithful are all in.

Barry county reports a death of physicians. And the first robin and make stories are about due.

And Now In Closing

Beware of the man who offers you a ten per cent "investment," because nine times out of every hundred he is the investment.

Extension Lecture

Prof. Bruman from the University of Michigan very highly entertained and instructed the men at an after dinner talk last Monday evening at the Methodist Episcopal church at seven o'clock. At eight o'clock he spoke at the public meeting in the church auditorium to a well filled church of Charlevoix citizens. His public lecture subject was "Escape from the Common Place." Sound wisdom and engaging humor characterized the lecture.

In Memoriam

In sad and loving memory of our dear mother, Mrs. Emma Rose, who passed away one year ago today, February 3, 1926.

A sad and lonely year has passed,
Since our dear mother was taken away;
Shadows over our lives are cast,
And dark is our homes today.
Without her the world seems very different, we feel,
But sweet are the memories she left behind.
God knew best and took her to the beautiful above.
Where we shall soon meet her, to part no more.

[illegible] and grandchildren
Mrs. Edward Allen
Mrs. Clarence Ritchie

DO IT NOW

---A---

NEW CAR
FOR YOUR OLD CAR

The Latest Finishes

Have your car refinished with

Duco - Lacquers of
Nitro - the High gloss
Egyptian - Varnishes

ATCHISON AUTO SHOP
Phone 93 - 204 Mason St.

IT PAYS TO PRESENT A NEAT APPEARANCE

HAVE YOUR HAIR CUT REGULARLY

—AT—

Denny's Bob and Beauty Shoppe

[illegible] Phone

PHOENIX HOSIERY

This well known brand of hosiery at moderate prices can be had in the new shades. An all silk hose in service-weight or chiffon at

$1.95

M. A. Levinson & Co.

Top and Double-Worked Fruit Trees Explained

It makes no difference whether a particular variety of fruit is grafted on another variety or if grafted on a common roadside tree. The variety represented by the scion will still remain the same and will produce the same kind of fruit. Of course there will be some difference in the way the grafts grow, as naturally they obtain all their food supply from the tree on which they are grafted and their growth thus depends upon the vigor and thriftiness of this stock.

When any variety is grafted on another variety it is called a double worked or top worked tree. However, the term "double-worked tree" is usually applied to one which has been double worked in the nursery, so that what remains of the first variety is only the portion of the trunk between the graft just beneath the surface of the ground and the point above the ground where the second variety is added.

Two Pickings of Apples

Many careful orchardists are of the opinion that it pays well to make two pickings of certain varieties of winter apples. Practically every one who has tried it agrees that this is true in the case of the Grimes. As soon as all [illegible] of the Grimes are [illegible]

CHURCH OF GOD

Services held at the chapel on W. Hurlbut ave.

Morning worship at 10:30 a. m.
Sunday school at 11:45 a. m.
Young people's meeting 6:30 p. m.
Evening service at 7:30 p. m.
Prayer meeting, Wednesday evening at 7:30 p. m.

The sewing circle will meet at the residence of Robert Dickie, 106 W. Garfield, Thursday p. m. Come, all who can.

Subject for next Sunday morning, "The Holy Spirit Baptism."

Evening subject, "What it takes to Hold God" people at Pla[illegible]

The greatest power which holds this world in place is that which we term force of gravity. It is the power of God. Only once have we heard of this force being stopped on its regular orbit. It was done for a purpose God showed his power by [illegible] people fought a great battle. Come and hear how [illegible] God spoke, "and couldst Amen from none shall be [illegible] unto my Father." [illegible]

Avoid fire risks from burning soot in chimneys by [illegible] our home's greatest [illegible] Soot Destroyer.—Charlevoix Hdw. Co.—Adv. 2tf.

Christian Science Society

Sunday service 10:15 a. m.
subject: "Spirit."
Sunday school at 12 o'clock.
Wednesday evening service 7:45.
Reading room open Tuesday and Saturday, 3 to 5 p. m.
The public is cordially invited to attend our service.

Sealed Bids Wanted

The Board of Education of Charlevoix will receive sealed bids for sale and removal of houses now and by them known as Ed. Stewart student's [illegible] and Withers houses. Board of Education reserves right to reject any and all bids.

Board of Education
V. Craig, Sec.

The total fire loss will say the forest [illegible] not be [illegible] destroyed, many [illegible] watches are left for the lost owner.

An awful lot of propaganda [illegible] but the editor [illegible]

5-Day Cash Sale

Sale Starts Friday Morning, February 4

Here are Some of our Cash Bargains

25c pkg. Grandma Powder	19c
25c pkg. Snow Boy Powder	19c
10 bars P. & G. Soap	39c
10 bars White Rub-No-More Soap	39c
10 bars Big 4 Soap	30c
10 bars Grandma Soap	30c
2 pkgs. Royal Fruit Powder	22c
3 pkgs. Skinner's Macaroni	25c
3 pkgs. Skinner's Spaghetti	25c
4 lbs. Seedless Raisins	45c
1 lb. Acorn Brand Tea	60c
1 lb. White House black Tea	68c
20c can Salmon	17c
30c can Salmon	27c
35c can Salmon	30c
25c can Pork and Beans	19c
2 15c cans Pork and Beans	25c
3 10c cans Pork and Beans	25c
3 17c cans of Corn	44c
3 pkgs. Light House Jelly Powder	24c
6 lbs. Broken Rice	25c
3 lbs. Head Rice	25c
12 lbs. Granulated Sugar	$1.00
1-8th bbl. Minnesota Best Flour	$1.20
3 20c rolls Toilet Paper	50c
10c pkg. Prunes (2 lbs.)	33c
2 lbs. Colasuet	25c
2 lbs. Pure Lard	33c
4 bars Palm Beach Soap	25c

H. B. JACOBS
PHONE 179

Everybody is Waiting For What Crossley Is First To Do.

Crossley 6-tube Batteryless Single Drum Radio. First Radio dun-direct from light socket without batteries for less than $159.00.

No Batteries to renew.
No Batteries to recharge.
No Trickle Charger to watch.
No water to refill Batteries.
No acid to spill.
No run down Batteries just as program begins.
No mess or fuss in removing Batteries.
No chemical action in power supply units.
Nothing going on when set is not in use.

Snap your light switch. The set is full powered instantly and constantly at highest peak. Snap it off—everything is shut off at the power connection. No after charging.

This power supply unit is designed solely for Crossley for these Crossley Radios, the AC 7 and AC-7C, table and console model respectively. Investigate.

WITHERS' VARIETY STORE
Authorized Dealer.
CROSSLEY RADIO—BETTER—COSTS LESS

W. E. Byers John Boss

BYERS & BOSS
Auctioneers

We will cry your sales and clerk them. Furnish cups for all day sales.

Book sales at Courier Office

or call us by phone. All dates are made at The Courier office, phone 2-J. Phone any one of us and we will take care of your sale

LET THE COURIER PRINT YOUR SALE BILLS

THE OLDEST BANK IN CHARLEVOIX COUNTY
FORTY-THIRD YEAR IN BUSINESS

1884 1927

LET'S ALL GO TO THE

WINTER CARNIVAL

CHARLEVOIX

February 11 and 12

Charlevoix County Bank

CHARLEVOIX, MICHIGAN

Bridge & Company

THE BANK ON THE CORNER

LOCAL NEWS BRIEFLY TOLD

Get the Habit—Read the Courier

Charlevoix Lodge 282, F. & A. M., regular communication Tuesday evening, February 8.

COMMUNITY CALENDAR
Coming Events

Feb. 6. "Romola," motion pictures; Lillian and Dorothy Gish, artists; Methodist church.

Feb. 8. Concert and Entertainment, Methodist church, usual hour.

Feb. 11 and 12. Charlevoix's big Winter Carnival. All turn out.

Feb. 15. "Neighbors" and "House of Joy," home talent plays, Palace Theater, 8:00 p. m.

Feb. 18. Colonial Tea Party at Methodist Episcopal church, under auspices of the Ladies' Aid Society.

Feb. 22. Fourth number of Lecture Course.

Feb. 28. Father and Son Banquet, First Methodist church.

March 2. Ash Wednesday. Lent begins.

April 8. M. E. Ladies' Aid Supper.

April 16-17. Holy Week services at First Methodist church.

April 17. Easter Cantata, Baptist church, 4 p. m.

E. D. Shafer of Petoskey, was a Charlevoix visitor Sunday.

Grant Crandall left Monday for Flint, where he has employment.

Joseph Courier and family of East Jordan, visited relatives here last Saturday.

H. A. Trong made a business trip to Central Lake on Wednesday of this week.

T. D. Morrison of Traverse City, was a Charlevoix business visitor last Friday.

D. J. Bekinger left Sunday morning for Flint on a short business and pleasure trip.

Jack LaLonde of East Jordan, was a Charlevoix business visitor last Friday evening.

Blain Wilson of Central Lake, was a Charlevoix business visitor last Saturday afternoon.

Frank A. Kenyon of Mackinac Island, was a business visitor in Charlevoix over the week end.

Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Baker of Eastport, spent Saturday and Sunday with friends in Charlevoix.

The Rebekah Circle will meet Friday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Lance Neff, West Upright avenue.

Robert Krulik, repair man for the Standard Oil Company in this district, was in town this week on business.

Mel Livingston returned last Friday from Wisconsin, where he has been visiting his son for a short time.

Mr. and Mrs. James Bogart, accompanied by Mrs. Andy McCall, Jr., motored to Petoskey Tuesday on a business trip.

John Rose left Monday morning on a business trip to Gaylord, Detroit and Muskegon. He expects to be gone about a week.

Henry Block, James Simmons and W. E. Byers returned last Saturday from the southern part of the state where they had been on business.

Mr. and Mrs. Oakley Hammond are the proud parents of a baby daughter, Helen Jean, born at the Charlevoix hospital last Saturday.

Mrs. Forrest Fowler submitted to an operation for removal of goiter Tuesday afternoon at the hospital. Her condition is very satisfactory.

B. A. Sherman left Tuesday for Argos, Florida, from here he will go to Orlando where he will be in charge of his brother's store for the winter.

Miss Ruth Bishop, who underwent a tonsil operation at the Charlevoix hospital last week, is reported to be getting along nicely at the present writing.

Mrs. George Weaver left Saturday for Detroit, called there by the illness of her daughter, Mrs. Gaffney. Mrs. Weaver recently returned from Florida.

The Ladies' Aid Sewing Club will meet with Mrs. George Trimble Thursday afternoon. Members are urged to be present. The usual banquet will be Friday evening at 6:30.

Sheriff Duval Vaughan motored to Gaylord last Wednesday evening on business. He was accompanied by E. E. Allen who attended a masonic school of instruction at the Masonic lodge in that city.

The lecture course number scheduled for Wednesday evening of this week has been indefinitely postponed on account of illness in the family of the entertainer, forcing him to cancel the engagement.

Mrs. J. B. Bartlett accompanied R. P. S., Sr., up from Muskegon last Wednesday for a few day's visit here with friends. Mrs. Bartlett has been visiting relatives in Grand Rapids and expects to go to Springfield, Ohio, this week to visit her daughter, Mrs. Carl Kohler.

Mrs. Charles H. Emrey and son, Robert, left Saturday for Grand Rapids where they will visit friends and relatives for a week or ten days. They were joined Tuesday by Mr. Emrey, who will attend the annual meeting of Kinsey & Buys, realtors, whom he represents in this territory.

Mr. and Mrs. A. F. Bridge leave Thursday for Pasadena, California, where they will spend several weeks visiting friends and enjoying western sunshine.

The Y. P. S. C. E. of the Congregational church will celebrate Christian Endeavor Day next Sunday at the hour of the evening service, 7:00 p. m. The young people are to present a pageant, "The Keeper of the Keys," and the pastor will make an address appropriate to the occasion. Everybody welcome.

Talk about sudden changes in weather conditions, few locations if any have anything on us. Tuesday morning of last week the thermometer registered from 24 to 30 below zero. Thursday it was hovering around 30 above. The change was a welcome one, but we cannot help but wonder what the weather man has up his sleeve and will spring on us during Februnry.

Gifts for St. Valentine's Day

Valentines, 1c to $2.00. Whitman's Valentine Boxed Candy. Sampler 1, 2 and 3 lb. boxes. Valentine Boxed Stntionery—something new. Fessenden, the Druggist.—Adv. 5t2.

CLIFFORD SWANSON DIES AT FARM HOME

Passed Away Tuesday Morning After Lingering Illness

Clifford Swanson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Swanson, of Norwood township, died Tuesday morning at the home of his parents.

Deceased had been a sufferer from epilepsy since 1913, being forced to leave school while in the eighth grade. During his long illness he was cared for by his parents. A short time ago he was taken to the hospital at Ann Arbor, but when no improvement was evident, he was brought home and died suddenly within a few days after his arrival.

Deceased is survived by his parents, five brothers, Carl, Edward, Lawrence, Ronald and John; three sisters, Thelma, Rosemary and Arlon, besides numerous relatives and acquaintances. Funeral services will be conducted from the home Thursday at 2:00 p. m., by Rev. P. A. June of the Church of God. Interment at Brookside.

Monday, February 7, is the date when Dr. Leahy, the Optometrist, will be at the Hotel Charlevoix. Adv. 1-t2.

COMMUNITY BANQUET ENJOYABLE AFFAIR

Speaker Delivered Address on Liquor Law Enforcement

The community banquet held Tuesday evening at the Congregational church, under the auspices of the Woman's Christian Temperance Union, was well attended and a very pleasant affair.

The dining room was decorated in green and white and at each plate was a little white bow, the emblem of the Union. Mesdames Coulter, Hooker and Dawson were the committee in charge of the supper.

The following program was presented and greatly appreciated:

Invocation, Dr. Mattson.

Orchestra music by Mrs. Belding, Messrs. Durance and Bellinger.

Community singing led by Miss VanderHaagen.

Reading by Mrs. Stewart.

Address by Rev. Burns.

The speaker delivered a very forceful address on the subject of prohibition and law enforcement, and urged citizens to support themselves in their efforts to bring the law, especially the national court when liquor cases come on trial.

Dr. Leahy, the Optometrist, will be at the Hotel Charlevoix, Monday, February 7.—Adv. 1-t2.

CENTRAL LAKE SCHOOL DESTROYED BY FIRE

Expect to Rebuild in Spring—Loss Around $75,000.00.

Central Lake's public school and gymnasium were completely destroyed by fire Monday night at about 10:45. The blaze started in the furnace room of the school building.

The main building, a three-story structure of brick veneer, was built in the summer of 1894. The gymnasium, erected this fall, was of tile construction, and considered one of the best in the north. Loss is estimated at about $75,000.00 and is partially covered by insurance.

School will be resumed next Monday, four churches and other public buildings to be utilized the remaining school year. Plans will be made immediately to rebuild in the early spring and it is hoped to have the new school ready for occupancy by the September.

Are you a Courier subscriber. If not, why not.

RUSSELL RECEIVES MERITED PROMOTION

Local P. M. Agent Now Traveling Passenger Agent

A. Russell, for the past two years or more Pere Marquette local passenger agent, has received notice of his promotion as traveling passenger agent of the railroad he represents, and will leave the first of next week for Chicago to begin his new duties.

As traveling passenger agent, Mr. Russell becomes the Pere Marquette representative in territory composed of the middle central and central southern states, going south as far as Texas, and south-east as far as Pensacola, Florida. His duties consist of looking after the company's interest through this vast territory, obtaining new business and the arranging of transportation where better service can be given.

During his stay here, Charlevoix has received excellent service, Mr. Russell being responsible for many changes which resulted in favorable comment both by our citizens and the the Pere Marquette officials. While we appreciate the importance of his promotion, we cannot help but regret his departure. However, he will make Charlevoix his home at least until next fall, and possibly a longer period. His successor as yet has not been named.

There will be an old-fashioned ball at the I. O. O. F. hall, Friday evening, February 4th. Durance orchestra.—Adv. 5-t1.

ANTRIM LEADS IN POTATO PRODUCTION

Raise 40 Per Cent of Potato Production in State

Ernest Pettifore of Gaylord, secretary of the Michigan Potato Producers association, and Harry Reiley of Bellaire left the last of the week on an advertising trip to Richmond and Indianapolis. After coming back to East Lansing for Farmer's Week they will go to Arcola and Champagne, Ill.

The beauty of their trip is that they have nothing to sell. With the exception of probably about a car load in all, Antrim county certified seed potatoes are all sold. Others of the seed producing counties of northern Michigan are similarly sold out. Messrs. Reiley and Pettifore are therefore out just on an educational tour. The results of their trip should be that Indiana and Illinois growers will be impressed with the value of northern Michigan certified seed, and will wish to use it in the future.

About 240,000 bushels of certified seed potatoes were grown in Michigan the past year, and Antrim county growers alone furnished more than 100,000 bushels. Of the 34 farmers in the state who qualified in the 300-bushel-to-the-acre club in 1926, 14 were Antrim county men. In the list just published 12 Antrim county men are given this credit, but two more are on a Charlevoix RFD route and therefore are listed as belonging to another county.

The premium on certified seed potatoes on the fall delivery was a little over 50c cents per bushel over first-class potato stock; on spring delivery it will run from $1.00 to $1.25 premium. And Antrim county farmers raised over 100,000 bushels.—Manistee Herald.

Gifts for St. Valentine's Day

Valentines, 1c to $2.00. Whitman's Valentine Boxed Candy. Sampler 1, 2 and 3 lb. boxes. Valentine Boxed Stationery something new. Fessenden, the Druggist. Adv. 5t2.

COURIER BARGAIN COLUMN.

Courier Want Advs. Are One Cent per word per insertion. Minimum charge is 20 cents per insertion, for anything under 20 words. All Want Advs. are strictly cash in advance except to those who have ledger accounts. Please remember this when sending in your copy.

FOR SALE OR TRADE

FOR SALE OR TRADE for city property, 10 acre farm with large sugar bush. Cheap for quick sale. Inquire 191 Mason street, or Mrs. Eva Lunch Room.—5-t3 pd.

WANTED—MISCELLANEOUS

FOR SALE—Heavy fur-lined coats. H. D. Dean, Fish Hatchery. 5t2pd.

FOR SALE—Dry block wood, $5.00 per cord. Inquire of Albert Harwood, Rt. 4, Charlevoix. 3t3pd.

FOR SALE—Dry block wood. Inquire of Albert Harwood, Rt. 4, Charlevoix. 3t3pd.

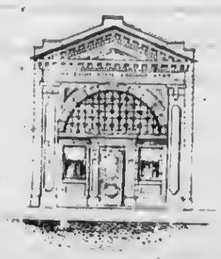
WANTED—To buy a business proposition, or will invest capital with time. Address "J", care Courier. 1t5pd.

BUSINESS OPPORTUNITIES

WONDERFUL OPPORTUNITY FOR LIVE MERCHANT

Established business for sale. High class fixtures and merchandise. See, or write P. J. Moran for particulars. 217 Clinton St., Charlevoix.

1905 1927



"CONSERVATIVE"

Sometimes we hear someone remark, "That's a good bank but it's too conservative," but is it? Conservatism in banks is really a virtue instead of a fault, for banks are handling other people's money, and the same people who thoughtlessly criticize a conservative bank would condemn it if it pursued any other course.

This bank is glad to be known as a conservative bank, and our appeal is particularly to those who appreciate the security offered by a conservative institution.

Come to Charlevoix for the Winter Sports Feb. 11 and 12

Charlevoix State Savings Bank

CHARLEVOIX, MICHIGAN

W. S. Richardson, President.
A. D. Crimmins, Vice President.
Archie Livingston, Cashier.
G. W. Richardson, Asst. Cashier.

Friday and Saturday Specials

People these days are on the watch for bargains and shop around from store to store, picking up the best offerings. These are the folks we want to come in touch with. We want them to see for themselves the bargains we offer each week, and at the same time note the complete assortment of food supplies we carry in stock. This week for the benefit of these close buyers we offer:

3 pkgs. Richelieu Jello Powder	25c
Large package Richelieu Oatmeal	25c
Occident Flour, per 25 lb. sack	$1.33
White Rose Flour, per 25 lb. sack	$1.20
5 lb. sack Corn Meal	20c
2 doz. Juicy Sun Kist Oranges	49c

Meat Department

All Meat Hamburger, per lb.	15c
2 lbs. Pure Pork Sausage	35c

Come to Charlevoix for the Winter Sports Feb. 11 and 12

MARTIN BLOCK

Opposite Post Office Phones 12 and 142

NEW PALACE THEATRE

ATTRACTIONS FOR THE COMING WEEK.

Saturday and Sunday, February 5 and 6

Bebe Daniels in "STRANDED IN PARIS." A new Bebe Daniels comedy is dashing hotter than "The Campus Flirt." A sky-high romantic comedy in which Bebe wins a trip to fascinating gay Parree and becomes stranded without a cent. Also a fun comedy "Rah Rah Heidelberg."

Wednesday Only, February 9th.

"MISMATES," with Jacqueline Paris, Kenyon and Warner Baxter. You haven't seen the ultimate in drama until you see "Mismates." A woman's daring courage when her baby is in danger—the jewel pageant, the most magnificent scene ever produced—the Roman festival where a cowardly husband gives a feast for a lie—the pursuit by the armed constabulary—and a smashing climax, as thrilling as the screen can give. It's wonderful! Also Felix, "In Scrambled Yeggs" and Fox News.

Coming—Eddie Cantor in "Kid Boots."

Coming—"The Cohens and Kellys."

A Tempting Basket

You may have one delivered to your door any day if you will phone 202. Tell us what you want and your order will receive immediate attention, no matter whether it is

MEATS OR GROCERIES

We recommend our Monarch Brand Canned Goods. There are no better on the market today, especially our Teas and Coffees.

Milton Block

ENGRAVING
INITIALS — MONOGRAMS or EMBLEMS on WATCHES — JEWELRY
SILVERWARE
Your Name Carved in Gold Letters on IVORY SETS - FOUNTAIN PENS - PENCILS
P. J. MORAN
Phone 127

Brighten Your Home With
Fresh Cut Flowers
—OR—
Blooming Plants
for all occasions
A. E. EDWARDS
FLORIST
We have no store as our telephone

EDITORIALS

RURAL DIVORCE EVIL

The United States Department of Commerce, in calling attention to the rapid increase of the divorce evil in this country, makes the startling statement that marital wrecks are so prevalent, or even more so, in the rural communities than in towns and cities. Decadence of the rural church is blamed in part for this condition. When the first settlers come into the unbroken agricultural sections almost their first community expression was in the erection of a rural church. Men and women grew up under the invigorating influence of the church. They were willing to undergo privations and hirdships, a common bond that kept the family intact. Today the rural church is diminishing. There is a dwindling church attendance, especially in the north and east, where few new church buildings are being built in the older rural communities. But the village movies are filled nightly, and almost every villager and farmer owns an auto. The auto, movie and radio together have changed the whole aspect of country life. City people are used to excitement, and they have been better able to stand up under these new diversions. The quiet of the countryside has been badly jolted.

THE MARCH OF PROGRESS

The United States today is, above all others, a railroading nation. The people of our country owe more to the railroads than the people of most countries do, because the greater part of our existence and growth as an independent nation has been coincident with the railway era. Today, with only about one-sixteenth of the world's land area, we possess in this country approximately one-third of the total railway milage of the world, and our railroads lead those of all other nations in the high quality and low cost of their service.

Our nation today is the richest and most advanced nation of the world. It has been so, largely because it has enjoyed for nearly a century a form of transportation excellently adapted to its great distances and its wide variety of products. Because of cheap and efficient railway transportation, available in all parts of the country, the products of all regions today are to be obtained in every region. The products of every region can be, and are marketed in all regions. Passengers are moved long distances with great rapidity.—C. H. Markham, chairman, Illinois Central System.

PREJUDICE

We must not assume that because we are blessed with a very substantial prosperity, that prosperity is so completely widespread as to be all inclusive of our people. It is probably true that is is not one-half of what, under a perfect system of understanding and co-operation, we might aspire to. Would it not be a good resolution for those who are equipped with an understanding of economic conditions and a realization of our problems, to try and bring about in some way, either through the schools, through lectures, or through publicity, the education of those who are without knowledge, but who are likely to be positive in the prejudices which lack of knowledge very often inspires. The prejudices which exist between sections of our country and between classes of our people are due to a lack of knowledge of the conditions under which each class operates. If the farmer is resentful of the financier it is because he is unconscious of the part which the financier plays in our economic structure. If the financier is antagonistic to the farmer and does not like his demands, it is often because the financier does not know the conditions of the farmer life or the troubles, perplexities and heart burnings of the farmer himself. We have cited merely these two instances, but they might be multiplied many times.

CAPITAL PUNISHMENT

There seems to be a growing sentiment for a return to capital punishment in Michigan, two measures to that effect having already been introduced in the present legislature. A number of brutal murders, several of which appeared to have been committed without a single reason, has had a lot to do with this new viewpoint. Detroit, with its growing list of bloodshedding hi-jackers, has also added to the belief that in capital punishment we have one solution of the crime problem. Michigan was one of the first states in the union to banish the legalized taking of human life. For years there has been a deepseated sentiment against the death penalty in this state on moral, tempermental and religious grounds. We are not going to reverse our position without giving this question much careful thought. In the sister states of Illinois, Indiana and Ohio, where capital punishment is written upon their statute books, homicide rates are higher than in Michigan. It is one thing to return capital punishment to Michigan, but it will be another problem to get juries to bring a verdict inflicting the supreme penalty upon a human being. Sob sisters, sentimental jurors, a sensation seeking press combine to make capital punishment merely a paper law, thro which criminals of the worst class edge their way to freedom. Better to make a life sentence mean exactly what it implies, than to attempt to write into our statutes a law that would not have the moral backing of the people.

ECONOMIC EDUCATION

The economic ascendary of this nation can only be continued through the education of the people in simple economic laws. Publicity is a great panacea for misunderstanding, when such publicity is not mere propaganda and is designed for an honest and definite purpose. The boys in our common schools and high schools get a smattering of economics, but it is a question whether it is ever useful. The average student at college gets very little more and is likely to get it in abtruse form where its benefits are concealed in verbiage rather than lighted with simplicity. There should be found a way of carrying to the whole people a definite knowledge of the economic structure of the country, of the factors that enter into it, of the part played by the banker, the financier, the industrialist, the merchant, the worker and the farmer, and how all these classes and divisions are tied tightly together, irrespective of the fact that some of them may be entirely unaware of their relationship with the others. It is not possible within the limits of an editorial comment of this kind to make definite suggestions, but we commit the thought to the leaders of industry in the United States and equally to those engaged in agriculture and banking, with the hope that a definite plan will be conceived and promoted and that 1927 will be the year in which this common sense and desirable effort will take place.

MAIL IMPOSTERS

The past few weeks has witnessed a marked decrease in the number of mail imposters, who chose the height of the holiday season to put over their nefarious schemes. The knit they held out caught a good many of the unwary. "Paw-nee Bill," who claimed to be blind native of Missouri, snarled his victims by the thousands through a cheap necktie proposition, coupled with a hard luck story; an enterprising gent down in Florida advertised to ship a box of oranges on the receipt of $3.00, while a New York firm mailed out packages of Christmas cards by the truckload all over the country, with the polite demand that you send them a dollar in case you did not go to the trouble to return the package, no postage for their return being enclosed.

Due to the activity of the press, especially in the rural communities the smoke screen thrown by these clever fakirs was quickly dissipated. "Paw-nee Bill," which was not his right name, was found to have over 200 people in his employ, while if he suffered from blindness, as he claimed, it was from the flood of tears that coursed down his cheeks at sight of a golden flood that swept into his office from every part of the country. A box of Florida oranges for $3.00 proved a delusion and a snare. Federal officers swooped down and gathered the fellow to their bosom, but not before he had succeeded in garnering something like a million dollars from his unsuspecting dupes. The Christmas card enterprise in said to have enjoyed a prosperous business, but being more modest than the rest, seems to have escaped rough contact with the Postal Department. A Federal statute is being sought during the present congress to put an end to this kind of trickery.

FRESHENING BREEZES

What a relief it must be to a lot of the boys to know they are not going to be sued by the government for thirty-four million unpaid income tax.

Mexico threatens to boycott American goods. If Americans will quit buying Mexican booze that will make it unanimous.

Four more boarders have just been shot in Detroit by jealous husbands. Being a boarder is now recognized as one of the hazaradous occupations.

Capital punishment would get a lot more sympathy if they'd agree to hang all the scandalmongers first.

What a wonderful team King Ben and Aimee would have made in the old days.

What has become of the old-fashioned taxpayer who was always first to pay his winter taxes?

If the state becomes too hard prest for money to pay salaries, somebody might look up the gent who was offering to buy the Chelsea cement plant last summer.

A pioneer is the fellow who can remember when the farmers thawed out a pump instead of a radiator on cold winter mornings.

One beauty about this European telephone system, you won't be bothered by some dear old lady listening in on the line.

When transportation on the highways is snowbound, we begin to appreciate the fact that the railroads are still operating a few passenger trains.

And Now In Closing

If the most of us were as enthusiastic about conserving our incomes as we are about conservation of state resources there would be a lot less unpaid grocery bills.

Gifts for St. Valentine's Day

Valentines, 1c to $2.00. Whitman's Valentine Boxed Candy, Sampler 1, 2 and 3 lb. boxes. Valentine Boxed Stationery—something new. Fessenden, the Druggist.—Adv. 5t2.

AT THE MOVIES

Riotous Chase in New Film Flicker

There may be worse places to be stranded in, but when you're stranded in Paris as Bebe Daniels was in her latest Paramount comedy, "Stranded in Paris," it's not so nice, nor is it very laughable—for the person most concerned.

"Stranded in Paris," arrives at the Palace Theatre on Saturday and Sunday. James Hall, Bebe's leading man in "The Campus Flirt," Ford Sterling and Iris Stuart are co-featured. Director Arthur Rosson worked from a screen play prepared by Ethel Doherty and Louise Long.

Circus Oddities Get Film Chance

One of the strangest collections of oddities of human nature imaginable is seen on the screen in "Mismates," Wednesday's attraction at the Palace Theatre, which Charles Brabin directed in New York for an Earl Hudson unite of First national. "Mismates" is the screen version of Myron Fagan's stage play of the same title. Doris Kenyon and Warner Baxter have the featured roles. In the cast are Philo McCullough, Mae Allison, Charles Murray, John Kolb, Maude Turner Gordon, Nancy Kelley and Ollie Muck.

Gifts for St. Valentine's Day

Valentines, 1c to $2.00. Whitman's Valentine Boxed Candy, Sampler 1, 2 and 3 lb. boxes. Valentine Boxed Stationery—something new. Fessenden, the Druggist.—Adv. 5t2.

LEGAL NOTICES

Registration Notice

To the Qualified Electors of the City of Charlevoix, state of Michigan.

Notice is hereby given that in conformity with the Michigan Election Law, I, the undersigned City Clerk, will, upon any day except Sunday and a legal holiday, the day of primary election, receive for registration the name of any legal voter in said city not already registered who may apply to me personally for such registration. Provided, however, that I can receive no name for registration during the time intervening between the second Saturday before the day of election, or the day of primary election.

You are further notified, that I will be in my office, Febraury the 14 and February the 19th., 1927, from 8 o'clock a. m. until 8 o'clock p. m. each day for the purpose of registering such of the qualified electors in said city as shall property apply therefore.

Charles H. Lamphear,
City Clerk.
By D. S. Payton,
Deputy.

5t2

Order for Publication

State of Michigan, the Probate court for the county of Charlevoix.

At a session of said court, held at the Probate Office in the city of Charlevoix in said county, on the 18th day of Janunry, A. D. 1927.

Present, Hon. Servetus A. Correll, Judge of Probate.

In the matter of the estate of Helen C. Maves, minor.

The Michigan Trust Company having filed in said court its final account as guardian of said estate, and its petition praying for the allowance thereof.

It is ordered, that the ninth day of February, A. D. 1927, at ten o'clock in the forenoon, at said Probate Office, be and is hereby appointed for examining and allowing said account.

It is further ordered, that public notice thereof be given by publication of a copy of this order, for three successive weeks previous to said day of hearing, in the Charlevoix Courier, a newspaper printed and circulated in said county.

Servetus A. Correll,
Judge of Probate.

Adv 3-t3.

Order For Publication

State of Michigan, the Probate Court for the county of Charlevoix.

At a session of said court, held at the probate office in the city of Charlevoix in said county, on the 24th day of January A. D. 1927.

Present: Hon. Servetus A. Correll, Judge of Probate.

In the matter of the Estate of Elizabeth Newman, deceased.

Llewellyne S. See having filed in said court his petition praying that the administration of said estate be granted to petitioner, or to some other suitable person.

It is ordered, that the 16th day of February, A. D. 1927, at ten o'clock in the forenoon, at said probate office, be and is hereby appointed for hearing said petition.

It is further ordered, that public notice thereof be given by publication of a copy of this order, once each week for three successive weeks, previous to said day of hearing, in the Charlevoix Courier a newspaper printed and circulated in said county.

Servetus A. Correll,
Judge of Probate.

4t3.

Order For Appearance

State of Michigan, the Circuit Court for the County of Charlevoix, in Chancery.

Pearl W. Hall, Plaintiff vs. A. I. Richard Hall, Defendant.

Suit pending in the Circuit Court for the County of Charlevoix in said county, on the 23rd day of December A. D. 1926.

In this cause it appearing from affidavit on file, that the Defendant A. I. Richard Hall, is not a resident of this state, but resides in the state of Illinois.

On motion of Arthur L. Fitch attorney for the Plaintiff it is ordered that the said A. I. Richard Hall Defendant cause his appearance to be entered in this cause within three months from the date of this order; and in case of his appearance he cause his answer to the Plaintiff's Bill of Complaint to be filed, and a copy thereof to be served on said attorney for the Plaintiff, with fifteen days after service on said non-resident Defendant of a copy of said Bill and notice of this order; and that in default thereof; said bill be taken as confessed by said non-resident Defendant.

And it is Further Ordered, That within forty days the Plaintiff cause a notice of this order to be published in the Charlevoix Courier, a newspaper printed, published and circulated in said county, and that such publication be continued therein at least once in each week for six weeks in succession and that plaintiff cause a copy of this order to be mailed to said defendant A. I. Richard Hall at his last known post office address, by registered mail with postage thereon fully prepaid and demand a return receipt therefore; or that said plaintiff cause a copy of this order to be served on said defendant A. I. Richard Hall personally at least twenty days before the time herein prescribed for the appearance of said defendant; or that said plaintiff shall cause a copy of this order to be served on the said defendant A. I. Richard Hall by registered mail and demand a return receipt from the post office department at least twenty days before the time prescribed for the appearance of the said defendant.

Parm. C. Gilbert,
Circuit Judge.

A. L. Fitch,
Attorney for Plaintiff
Business Address, Charlevoix, Mich.
2-t6

NOTICE OF CHANCERY SALE

State of Michigan, in the Circuit Court for the County of Charlevoix, in Chancery.

Donald O. Boudeman and Dallas Boudeman, Jr., Plaintiffs, vs. Hattie McNeill, Defendant.

In pursuance and by virtue of an order and decree of the Circuit Court for the County of Charlevoix, Michigan, in chancery, dated the 6th day of January, A. D. 1927, in the above cause in said court pending wherein Donald O. Boudeman and Dallas Boudeman, Jr., are plaintiffs and Hattie McNeill is defendant, said suit having been filed to foreclose a mortgage on which, by the terms of said decree, there was due on the date of said decree, namely, Two Thuusand Three Hundred Five an 34-100 Dollars ($2,305.34).

Notice is Hereby Given, That I shall sell at public auction to the highest bidder at the east front door of the Court House in the City of Charlevoix, Michigan, (said Court House being the place for holding the Circuit Court for said county,) on the 22nd day of March, A. D. 1927, at ten (10) o'clock in the forenoon of said day, Central Standard Time, all or so much thereof as may be necessary of the land and premises hereinafter described, to raise the amount due to said plaintiffs by the terms of said decree, together with principal, interest, taxes, insurance and costs due said plaintiffs at the time of said sale.

The premises to be sold are described as follows, towit:

The parcels of land situated in the City of Charlevoix, County of Charlevoix and State of Michigan, and described as follows, to wit: the west half (W½) of Lots One and Two (1, 2) in Block Four (4) of Dixon's addition to the village (now city) of Charlevoix, according to the plat thereof duly recorded in the office of the Register of Deeds of Charlevoix County, Michigan.

Dated at Charlevoix, Michigan, January 27th, A. D. 1927.

Lisle Shanahan,
Circuit Court Commissioner in and for Charlevoix County, Michigan. Business address, Charlevoix, Michigan.

Adams and Vanliorn,
Attorneys for Plaintiff.
Business address, 134 West South St., Kalamazoo, Michigan.

5t7

Mortgage Sale

Default having been made in the conditions of a mortgage made by Minnie Jane Smith of Charlevoix, Michigan, to Celia N. Bridge of Charlevoix, Michigan, dated the Fourteenth day of October, A. D. 1916, and recorded in the office of the Register of Deeds of the county of Charlevoix, State of Michigan, on the Sixteenth day of October, A. D. 1916, in Liber 52 of Mortgages, on page 480, whereby the power of sale contained in said mortgage has become operative, on which mortgage there is claimed to be due at the date of this notice the sum of Nine Hundred Two and Seventy-five one-hundredths Dollars as principal and interest and the further sum of One Hundred Three and 20/100 Dollars paid in taxes on the land described in said mortgage and the further sum of Twenty dollars as an attorney fee provided for in said mortgage, and no suit or proceedings at law having been instituted to recover the moneys secured by said mortgage, or any part thereof;

Therefore, by virtue of the power of sale contained in said mortgage, and the statute in such case made and provided, notice is hereby given that on Friday, the 29th day of April, A. D. 1927, at ten o'clock in the forenoon, at the east front door of the court house in the city of Charlevoix, Michigan, that being the place where the Circuit court for said county is held, the undersigned will sell at public auction to the highest bidder, the premises described in said mortgage, or so much thereof as may be necessary to pay the amount due on said mortgage, as aforesaid, with seven per cent interest, and all legal costs, together with said attorney fee, as provided by law, the lands and premises being described in said mortgage as follows:

All that certain piece or parcel of land situate in the city of Charlevoix, county of Charlevoix, state of Michigan, described as follows: Beginning four hundred sixty and one-half feet east of a point where the north line of the Emmet and Grand Traverse State Road (now known as Petoskey Ave.) intersects the east line of Michigan Avenue, the same being the southwest corner of a lot owned by Jennie Gail Vandermude; thence east along the north line of Petoskey Avenue sixty-six feet; thence north one hundred fifty-six and three-fourths feet; thence west sixty-six feet; thence south to the place of beginning, the same being Lot number One of Block number three of Fox and Eaton's unrecorded plat to the village of Charlevoix, Michigan.

Dated, February 2nd., 1927.

Celia N. Bridge,
Mortgagee.

A. L. Fitch,
Attorney for Mortgagee,
Business address: Charlevoix Michigan.
5t13.

Mortgage Sale

Default having been made in the conditions of a certain mortgage made by Edward B. Ward and Annie E. Ward of Charlevoix, Michigan to John Nicholls of Charlevoix, Michigan, dated the 3rd day of October, A. D. 1908, and recorded in the office of the Register of Deeds for the county of Charlevoix and state of Michigan, on the 3rd day of October, A. D. 1908, in Liber 44 of mortgages, on page 488, whereby the power of sale contained in said mortgage has become operative, on which mortgage there is claimed to be due at the date of this notice the sum of Four Hundred Ninety-nine Dollars for principal and interest, and an attorney's fee of Ten dollars, provided for in said mortgage, and no suit or proceedings at law having been instituted to recover the moneys secured by said mortgage or any part thereof;

Now, therefore, by virtue of the power of sale contained in said mortgage, and the statute in such case made and provided, notice is hereby given that on Friday the 29th day of April, A. D. 1927, at Ten o'clock in the forenoon, the undersigned will sell at public auction to the highest bidder, at the east front door of the court house, in the city of Charlevoix, Michigan, (that being the place where the circuit court for said county of Charlevoix is held,) the premises described in said mortgage, or so much thereof as may be necessary to pay the amount due on said mortgage, with seven per cent interest, and all legal costs, together with said attorney's fee, as provided by law, the premises being described in said mortgage as follows, to-wit:

Lot number One Hundred Thirty-five of Upright & Hurlbut addition to the city of Charlevoix, county of Charlevoix and state of Michigan.

Dated, January 31st., 1927.

Albert F. Bridge, Executor of the estate of John Nicholls, deceased.
Mortgagee.

A. L. Fitch,
Attorney for Mortgagee.
Business Address: Charlevoix, Michigan.
5t13.

Mortgage Sale

Default having been made in the conditions of a mortgage made by Albert L. Johnson and Alma K. Johnson, husband and wife, to John Nicholls, of Charlevoix, Michigan, dated the second day of February, A. D. 1912, and recorded in the office of the Register of Deeds of the county of Charlevoix, state of Michigan, on the second day of February, A. D. 1912, in Liber 48 of Mortgages, on page 61, whereby the power of sale contained in said mortgage has become operative, on which mortgage there is claimed to be due at the date of this notice the sum of Four Hundred Twenty Dollars and Fifty Cents as principal and interest, and Twenty-eight Dollars and Fifty-seven Cents, in taxes paid by the mortgagee on the lands described in said mortgage, together with an attorney fee of Fifteen Dollars provided for in said mortgage, and no suit or proceeding at law having been instituted to recover the moneys secured by said mortgage or any part thereof;

Therefore, by virtue of the power of sale contained in said mortgage, and the statute in such case made and provided, notice is hereby given that on Friday, the 29th day of April, A. D. 1927, at ten o'clock in the forenoon, at the east front door of the court house in the city of Charlevoix, county of Charlevoix, and state of Michigan, that being the place where the circuit court for said county is held, the undersigned will sell at public auction to the highest bidder, the lands and premises described in said mortgage, or so much thereof as may be necessary to pay the amount due on said mortgage, as aforesaid, with seven per cent interest, and all legal costs, together with said attorney fee, as provided by law, the lands and premises being described in said mortgage, as follows, to-wit:

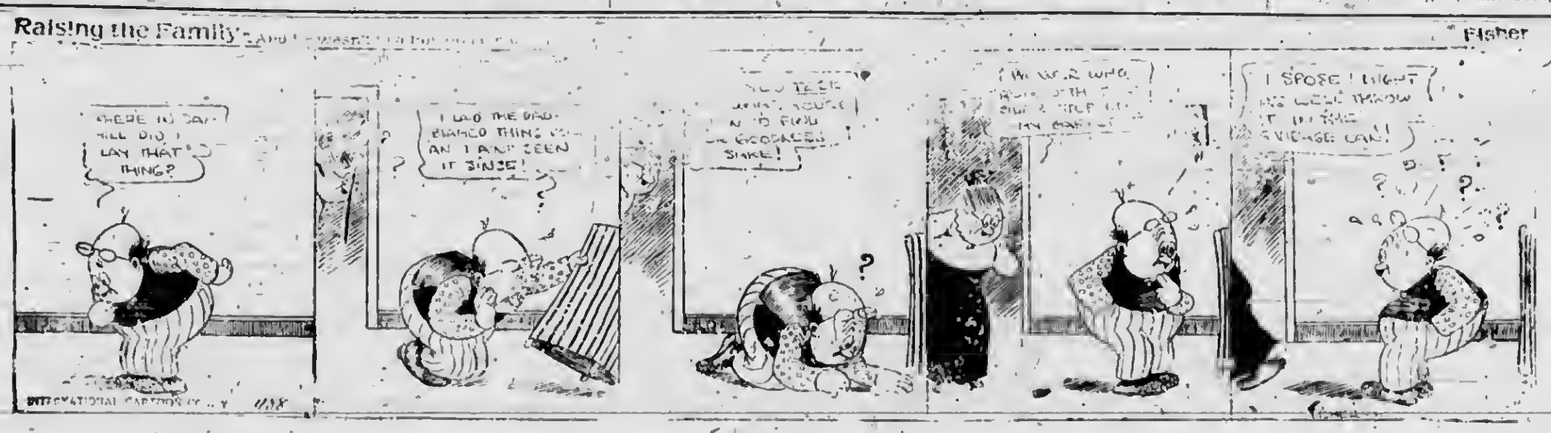
All that certain piece or parcel of land situate in the Township of Marion, county of Charlevoix, and state of Michigan, and described as follows, to-wit: The southwest qunrter of the southwest quarter of section twelve, township thirty-three north, range eight west.

Dated, February 2nd. 1927.

Albert F. Bridge, Executor of the estate of John Nicholls, deceased.
Mortgagee.

A. L. Fitch,
Attorney for the Executor of the Estate of John Nicholls, deceased, mortgagee.
Business address: Charlevoix, Michigan.
5t13

CORRECT ENGLISH
MONTHLY MAGAZINE
Authoritative Exponent of English for 24 years.
Edited and founded by
JOSEPHINE TURCK BAKER
Famous World Authority on English
Send 10 Cents for Sample Copy
Correct English Publishing Co.
EVANSTON, ILLINOIS
Agents Wanted Everywhere



Raising the Family
Fisher
THERE IN SAY- WILL DID I LAY THAT THING?
I DID THE DIRTIEST THING YOU EVER SEEN IT SINCE!
INTERNATIONAL CARTOON CO.

JUST KIDS—Revenge
BY GAR CARTER
GOOD MORNING, ROBERT!
SHE DIDN'T EVEN NOTICE TEACHER!
SHE GIVE HIM A LICKIN' YESTERDAY AN HE SAID HE AINT NEVER GONNA EITHER
INTERNATIONAL CARTOON CO.

Alabaster Lamps

By Margaret Turnbull

Copyright, 1926, by Margaret Turnbull. WNU Service.

(Continued from page three)

"I am." Ned called back to her. "I'm busy this morning. You seem to forget that we workers must work."

The stonemason lived in a tumble-down old farmhouse across the creek, halfway between Clover Hollow and Pepper Valley. It was beautiful to look at, from a distance, but when you got to the stony road in front of it you saw both farm and house had been neglected for years.

To Claude Dubbs the neglect was far more evident than the beauty. He put his empty box down by what passed for a gate, so that it might be a sign and symbol of his presence to Ned when he came by, and went up the rough driveway to see Ettie Pulsifer and find out if William Penn Pulsifer had any intention of working this week. Claude had gone to school with Ettie. He remembered her when she was pink and pretty, and he hated to see her toiling with so little prospect of reward for her labor.

Ettie was at a tub in the back yard, washing, with two very small children playing at her feet. Another child, not much older, was driving his next brother about the yard as a fire engine. Two more children were leaning from an upper window, trying vainly to reach a cat on the shed roof. The cat, being far more comfortable on the roof than it would be in their hands, was protesting. The oldest but one, a girl, was helping Ettie with the wringing.

"My land, Claude, what you?" Ettie called, tossing back a dark brown lock white with wet, soapy hand. "William Penn Pulsifer's gone down to the village with Penny to look about for some boards for somepin'. He told me, if you happened along, to say that he'd try to git that chimbly pointed on Bert Oakley's house come next Thursday, if it don't rain."

"All right, Ettie," Claude answered and avoided looking at her, as he had during all Ettie's nervous speech. Well did both Ettie and Claude know that William Penn Pulsifer had promised to come next week Thursday for some ten weeks. But it was Ettie's part to hold the banner high and so screen some of William Penn Pulsifer's shortcomings, and it was Claude's part not to peep through the rents in the banner lest he might see the naked truth.

Ettie sighed as she looked over toward Claude Dubbs, who had Toots and the others on his knees and all about him.

"I declare, Claude Dubbs, seems a shame you're an old bachelor, and you so fond of 'em. Ought to have had a dozen of your own."

"Things are uneven in this fine world, Ettie," was Claude's comment, as he looked up the road, along which Jenny and Ned were tearing at full speed. "Got a fine young man visiting me. My adopted nephew. Here he comes." He walked toward the gate, followed by all the children.

Presently Ettie, looking up from the washing, saw that he was coming back again, accompanied by the children and the young man. Jenny had been tied to the last remaining gate post.

Ettie ungraciously acknowledged Claude's introduction, though her mind was perfectly occupied toward the young man. It took no part of country etiquette to look either pleased or gracious on such an occasion, lest advantage be taken. What advantage, and why, no one knows, but custom has apparently decreed that those who take their living from the soil shall adopt a manner of forbidding indifference to fellow men.

Claude briefly outlined to Ettie the situation at the White House and concluded by asking:

"Could you do a day's general house-work and cooking, Ettie, for the new folks up there?"

"My—land, what's come to their cook?" asked Ettie, country fashion, refusing to commit herself until she had had all the facts spread out before her.

Ned said easily: "They left because they thought it looked lonely. Servants leave nowadays, don't they, without any reason?"

Here Claude looked up and took hold of the situation, lest the energetic little bundle of nerves leaning against her washtub might take exception to this city-bland city person's way of explaining a case.

"My nephew, here, says there's just a young girl up there, trying to run that big house herself and keep her mother quiet. I don't know anything about them, Ettie, but it would be real neighborly to help out. I'll send Ned to take you there tomorrow morning—if you can imagine it."

"I'm busy," acknowledged Mrs. Pulsifer, "but if it's a case of coal, need necessity, I could go."

"That's real good of you, Ettie," Claude said heartily, and indicated to Ned they'd better go. Ned hurried down the lane to untie Jenny. Claude paused to say to Ettie, as he separated himself gently from clinging little hands: "The way I look at it, the Mother probably won't do anything, and it's a good deal to fall on the shoulders of a girl."

"Won't hurt her none," sniffed Mrs. Pulsifer, "but of course still, them Clover Hollowers pay good money, and it's a real nice place, I own. Claude, I kinda like to see what they've done to the house. It certainly is a pretty home."

"Yes, ain't it," Claude agreed appreciatively. "Well, I'll send the boy around at half-past eight, Ettie, to take you to the. I declare I don't know their name. They came while I was in New York."

"That's a good morning's work, son," he said quickly as he mounted the wagon seat beside Ned. "Not for worlds would he allude to Dorothy Seidel and her revelations, for that was, as Dubbs would have phrased it, "up to Ned."

If it was, Ned showed no signs of being about to introduce the lady into the conversation.

"I say, C. M., there's something I'd like to fix up with you before we get

"First Time in My Life Anyone Told Me I Had Beautiful Eyes."

to home and Aunt Lydia. Though you found me on a park bench, I have some money, and I'd like to pay my way."

"Look here, Ned," Claude flushed and stammered, "there's no necessity and—and when I asked you to Pepper Valley, I asked you to stay with me. I emphasized it. Afterward, if you like, we can arrange something. If you'll only stay."

Ned smiled at him. "Surely, I'll stay, if you keep on busy."

Conversation languished after that for Dubbs waited for Ned to choose the subject. He glanced again at the young man beside him and noted the set of his face. Anything disagreeable had happened to Ned at the White house? He speculated

Ned [illegible] that girl [illegible] "Pepper Pepper, [illegible] Ned [illegible]

(TO BE CONTINUED.)

LOCAL DEALERS AT-TEND CONVENTION

Highly Elated Over Prospects of History Making Year

The Chevrolet Motor Company, world's largest producer of gear-shift cars, in preparing for the greatest year in its history, according to Messers. Block and Simmons, local representatives, who have returned from Detroit where they attended a convention of more than 750 Chevrolet dealers. The meeting was the fourth of a series of 21 meetings that are to be held this winter from coast to coast.

Enthusiasm over the Chevrolet outlook for the year and the wide spread popularity of cars was evident everywhere. Dealers from all quarters of the state joined in the opidion that the current year will surpass 1926 when Chevrolet established a record in this territory.

R. H. Grant, vice president and general sales manager, of the Chevrolet Motor Company, presided at the business session in Masonic Temple in the afternoon and served as toastmaster at the banquet in the Statler hotel in the evening of January 27.

Under Mr. Grant's direction, Chevrolet's tremendous sales plans for 1927 were outlined to the dealers and illustrated in the form of playlets. Assisting Mr. Grant in the conduct of the meeting were: C. E. Dawson, assistant general sales manager and A. F. Young, regional sales manager, and the following officials from the main office in Detroit: R. K. White, J. E. Grimm, Jr., J. P. Little, Sidney Corbett and W. G. Lewellen.

Messers. Block and Simmons declare that Chevrolet Motor Company is providing its dealers organization with the highest type of merchandising aid and cooperation. Following the meeting the dealers were guests of the company at a banquet in the Statler hotel.

Gifts for St. Valentine's Day

Valentines, 1c to $2.00. Whitman's Valentine Boxed Candy, Sampler 1, 2 and 3 lb. boxes. Valentine Boxed Stationery—something new. Fessenden, the Druggist.—Adv. 5t2.

OF INTEREST TO FARMERS

Marl and Lime Needed in Charlevoix County

Thirty percent of the soil in Charlevoix county needs lime before it will successfully grow alfalfa and clover, according to the soils department of the Michigan State College, which has made up a map of the state showing the lime requirements of the counties.

This county has two main sources of lime for agricultural purposes: Ground limestone from Petoskey, and marl from the many deposits in the county. Both will do the required work of sweeting the soil. It is merely an economic proposition which should be used. If a farmer is close to a railway station and can combine with his neighbors to make up a carload, then he should use limestone. If he is some distance from a railroad or has trouble in making up a carload and has a marl bed close to his farm, then he should use marl.

Marl that is 85 per cent or better calcium carbonate or lime, is [illegible] material to use. One and one-quarter yards of marl is the equivalent of one ton of the best grade of ground limestone.

Marl, as a general thing, is priced at $1.00 per yard. Therefore, it is a simple matter for the farmer to figure whether it will pay him to use marl or lime.

In many places throughout the state, farmers near marl beds have formed associations in order to finance the digging of a stock pile of marl. When 1,000 yards are put out on hard ground, that pile is always available. One of the main advantages of using marl is that whenever the farmer has some spare time he can haul marl and does not have to drop his other work to do so as in the case of delivery of a carload of limestone. Much of the marl is hauled in the winter on sleighs.

Marl can be spread by hand or by using a manure spreader with four to six inches of straw or other material in the bottom.

Three years ago 3,000 yards of marl were used in the state. Last year over 400,000 yards were used.

ST. MARY'S CHURCH

Rev. Fr. Odelo, Pastor.

Sunday services 8:00 a. m. and 10:00 a. m.

Services Monday and Tuesday, 8:00 a. m.

Services Saturday 7:00 a. m.

Rheumatism ease the pain

Nothing brings such comforting relief as the origioal Baume Bengué. It starts to drive out pain as soon as you apply it.

GET THE ORIGINAL FRENCH
BAUME BENGUE
(ANALOESIQUE)

Babies Love It

For all stomach and intestinal troubles and disturbances due to teething, there is nothing better than a safe Infants' and Children's Laxative.

MRS. WINSLOW'S SYRUP

CHEVROLET

Marks of Distinction made possible by

Volume Production

The Most Beautiful Chevrolet in Chevrolet History

FISH-TAIL MODELING—adds a distinguished sweep to rear of the Roadster, Coupe and Sport Cabriolet.

FULL-CROWN FENDERS—(one-piece) lend substantial grace to the sweeping body lines.

BULLET-TYPE HEAD LAMPS—and cowl. Up-to-the-minute in style.

TIRE CARRIER—mounted free from the body; rigidly supported.

In addition to masterly new bodies by Fisher—in addition to a host of mechanical improvements typified by AC oil filter and AC air cleaner—the Most Beautiful Chevrolet offers certain features heretofore regarded as marks of distinction on the costliest cars. These are made possible at Chevrolet's amazingly reduced prices only because volume production results in definite economies and because Chevrolet now, as always, passes these savings on to the buyer in the form of added value.

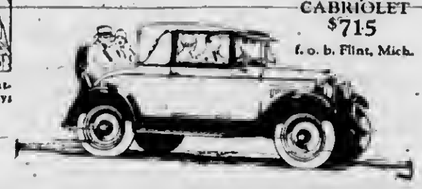
No other car, as low in price, offers such features as fish-tail modeling, full-crown one-piece fenders, bullet-type lamps and the like. Come in—and see for yourself!

Reduced Prices!

The Coach	$595	The Landau	$745
The Coupe	$625	The Touring	$525
The Sedan	$695	Roadster	$525
1-Ton Truck	$495 (Chassis Only)
½-Ton Truck	$395 (Chassis Only)

Balloon Tires Now Standard On All Models
All prices f. o. b. Flint, Mich.

The Sport CABRIOLET $715 f. o. b. Flint, Mich.



PETOSKEY AUTO SALES
East Mitchell Street, Petoskey, Michigan
BLOCK & SIMMONS, Charlevoix, Local Agents

QUALITY AT LOW COST

W. E. Byers — John Boss

BYERS & BOSS
Auctioneers

We will cry your sales and clerk them. Furnish cups for all day sales.

Book sales at Courier Office

or call us by phone. All dates are made at The Courier office, phone 2-J. Phone any one of us and we will take care of your sale.

Choose Your Winter's Reading Among These

SPECIAL BARGAINS

GOOD ON RURAL ROUTES ONLY

Charlevoix Courier, regular price $2.00
Grand Rapids Evening Press, regular price $4.00, both for $5.60

Charlevoix Courier, Grand Rapids Evening Grand Rapids Herald, regular price $4.00, both for $5.50

Charlevoix Courier, and Michigan Farmer, both for $2.50

Charlevoix Courier, Grand Rapids Evening Press and Michigan Farmer, one year for $6.10

SPECIAL MAGAZINE RATES

Ask us for cut prices on your magazine renewals. There is hardly a one but what we can save you from 50c to $2.00. Write us a postal card or call at the office.

The Charlevoix Courier

Charlevoix, Michigan

OLD POSTAL RATES MAY BE REPLACED

Bills Has Already Passed House—Part of Collidge Program

The actual stupidity of the experts who hoisted on congress an increase in second class mail, particularly newspaper rates, can now be admitted. That law not only reduced materially the circulation of many newspapers but it forced the publishers to substitute express, freight, and auto transporation for the mails and thus worked to a reduction of the revenue of the post office. Senator George Moses of New Hampshire, chairman of the post office committee, has agreed to recommend the restorution of the 1920 postal rates on second class matter. If this recommendation becomes law, it will revive the rate that brought the highest revenue ever enjoyed by the second cluss division of the post office. Meanwhile even the friendly obl one cent post card is also being restored. That means of hasty communicable intelligence lost its "handiness" and took on an arrogance of its own when it entered the circle of two cent stamps. The restoration bill has passed the house.

Both of these pieces of legislation are in line with the Coolidge policy of lending a helping hand to each and every citizen, and doing what can be done to make the cost of government take as little as possible out of the profits on our day's work.

Gifts for St. Valentine's Day
Valentines, 1c to $2.00. Whitman's Valentine Boxed Candy, Sampler 1, 2 and 3 lb. boxes. Valentine Boxed Stationery—something new. Fessenden, the Druggist.—Adv. 5t2.

METHODIST CHURCH
C. E. Pollock, Minister

Next Sunday, Febraary 6, topics for consideration: "Humanity On the Throne," sermon, 10:30 a. m.; "Three Factual Triumphs," sermon 7:00 p. m.; "Christian Stewardship," church school, 12:00 m.; "The Crowded Ways," Epworth League, 6:00 p. m.

Motion pictures, "Romola", will be shown at the Sunday evening hour. Dorothy Gish and her sister Lillian are at their best in the presentation of this great psychic drama which so aptly illustrates certain eternal truths. No admission charge will be made, of course. But expense of the service has to be met. A free will silver offering that is generous will care for this. Children under thirteen years of age are welcome also, if accompanied by their adult friends and will be expected to sit with them. This service is for the general public. Young and old are invited to think, worship and enjoy this quiet Sunday evening in the church.

The Epworth League-church school entertainment comes next Tuesday evening, February 8. In addition to the fine program of fun and music, two reels of film will be shown, one entitled, "Sheep in Psalm and Sage," another entitled, "What a clarkes hunter can do."

The men have a great program for next Monday evening. Some of the outstanding features of it will be: supper at seven sharp, a half hour of unusual fun, "An indoor track meet" (the exertion not too strenuous for after dinner, but very surprising), an address by Joshua O. Randall, a man of wide culture, from Traverse City, excellent music and other matters of interest and general welfare. The men have invited their ladies as guests of the evening. No lady, however, may look into the kitchen. The men will transact all the domestic stunts.

Scout meeting each Tuesday evening at seven.

There will be a great Lincoln Vesper service February thirteenth. Keep this date on your program.

Midweek lecture February 10. "The Prophet of Universalism." This completes the series.

Gifts for St. Valentine's Day
Valentines, 1c to $2.00. Whitman's Valentine Boxed Candy, Sampler 1, 2 and 3 lb. boxes. Valentine Boxed Stationery—something new. Fessenden, the Druggist.—Adv. 5t2.

UNUSUAL VESPER SERVICE LAST SUNDAY P. M.

Message of Hour Given by Song, Sermon Pageantry and Pictures

A vesper feature service that was unusual in its instructive interest was held last Sunday afternoon in the First Methodist Episcopal church. A church full of people followed intently the message of the hour which was given by song, sermon, pageantry and pictures. In presenting his subject "Christ or Mohammed," the pastor contrasted the lives and teachings of these great leaders in religious, social and domestic achievements. To illustrate his description of Moslem domestic life, about twenty people were costumed in Arabic manner and represented a Moslem harem, a Moslem wedding, child life and the oriental response to the Gospel women of the Woman's Foreign Missionary Society, and the new day for women, the world around. Mrs. Ada Beeman, president of the local Woman's Missionary Society of the Methodist Episcopal church, had charge of the costuming and arranging of the pageantry and the work was well rendered. Mrs. A. C. Belding had charge of the musical part of the program. The pictures were an excellent climax to the sermon, music and pageantry.

PALMER CANDIDATE IN APRIL PRIMARY

Enters Race for County School Commissioner Honors

Indications are that at least two and possibly three candidates will enter the race this spring for the office of county school commissioner. A. C. Belding, present incumbent, will seek re-election, we understand.

One of the other prospective candidates is Wm. C. Palmer, of Clarion. Mr. Palmer has taught in Charlevoix county's rural schools for ten years, five years in the grammer schools of Clarion, where he is now employed.

Mr. Palmer is 41 years of age, a college graduate with the degree of Bachelor of Arts. He also holds a life certificate, granted by the Department of Public Instructions in 1915. He has always lived in northern Michigan, so can be termed a "loyal Wolverine."

Mr. Palmer has been a continuous and consistent worker for larger and better schools. The school he has taught was the winner in County achievement day held some time ago in Boyne City, and Clarion's school display at the county fair resulted in very favorable comment. His formal announcement will appear in these columns at a later date.

Since 1857
Eagle Brand has raised more healthy babies than all other infant foods combined.
Borden's
EAGLE BRAND
CONDENSED MILK

WINTER SPORTS

LET'S GO!

Feel the snap of frosty winter air. Enjoy the thrill of a down hill coast. Or let your body tingle to the exercise of skating.

If you wish something with a real "Kick" try the new toboggan slide at Mt. McSauba.

Note the program and prizes on page 8.

WOOD BROS.
Hardware and Electrical Supplies

ROAD BUILDING

POOR ROADS URGE TOO MUCH SPEED

"There is a connection between good roads and safety," says Charles M. Hayes, president of the Chicago Motor club. "When a new road is built it is generally the practice to see that it is properly marked, that curves are gentle or that they are super-elevated, that as many railroad crossings as possible are avoided; in other words, the highway engineers of today bring to bear upon their work a knowledge of accident prevention.

"It does not matter what kind of a road the new road is, if it is merely changing a cow path into a country lane, the builders of the lane will eliminate some of the hazards that existed on the cow path. Roads have a close relation to time and time is related to safety. We have only time to spend, we live and have our being in time, and time nowadays is reckoned not so much in distance as in roads.

"If the road from the motorist's home to his office is bad in places, he tries to make up for the time lost on the bad spots by going faster than he should where the road is good. If the road were all good, he should most likely travel at an even and moderate rate of speed. Bad roads urge drivers to extra speed.

"Bad roads damage cars; they injure brakes and steering mechanism, and thus are indirectly responsible for many accidents.

"The menace of the glaring headlight is more deadly on the unimproved road. The element of danger that is present in hill climbing is almost entirely eliminated on the improved road. The danger of skidding on improved roads is not nearly so great as it is on the unimproved.

"Many old roads, built in the horse-and-carriage days, crossed railroad tracks diagonally; this is, of course, dangerous, and on the new roads one will find that wherever the engineers found it possible crossings are constructed at right angles with the railroad.

"Where expensive roads are built, maintenance must be carried on, and as this necessitates a crew of workmen, washouts, and other dangers frequently met with on unimproved roads, are eliminated. If a portion of the improved road is made impassible, construction gangs immediately post detour signs.

"As improved roads are uniformly wider than the unimproved road the danger of the narrow road is lessened. We need more consideration of the physical aspects of streets and highways and less of an inclination to crowd laws and ordinances on our books in the forlorn hope that our safety lies in many laws. The building of good highways by competent engineers will decrease accidents."

Construction of Roads in Arkansas Progresses

There is excellent progress throughout Arkansas in road building.

In 1924 a total of 1,500 miles of improved highways were completed and it is estimated that between seven and ten million dollars will be expended by the state highway department during the present season and that approximately 1,000 men will be employed. This will bring the state's mileage from virtually nothing in 1915 to more than 3,000 miles at the end of the first ten-year period of modern highway building in Arkansas.

The formal opening and dedication of the Little Rock-Hot Springs highway, which has just taken place, was one of the most important events in the highway building history of Arkansas.

Billion Dollars for Roads

It is estimated that more than one billion dollars will be spent on road construction in the United States in 1925 to build 30,000 miles of new highways. More than 3,000 White trucks are now in use in Michigan and other states in the construction and maintenance of highways, and they aid mightily in the American ideal of good roads built quickly, built for permanence and kept efficient.

Good Roads Hints

In England there are small lights on the front fenders of all automobiles to indicate the extreme width of the car.

American highways are less than half used, but American car owners pay for as much maintenance as though they enjoyed full use of the roads.

Nearly half the total indebtedness of the separate states of the Union was for the construction of highways last year. The states most in debt, it appears, are among the most prosperous.

A recent development in highway guard protection for motorists is the discovery that a heavy wire link fence can be built strong and resilient enough to withstand the impact of a car traveling as fast as 40 miles an hour without breaking and without damaging the vehicle to any extent.

And out the news

CONVERSE MAKING GOOD AT LANSING

Former Boyne City Lawyer Now City Attorney

Charlevoix as well as Boyne City friends of J. E. Converse, extend congratulations to this former attorney, who during his residence here not only made good, but has continued to make good at Lansing, where he located. The Boyne Citizen comments on his progress as follows:

"J. E. Converse, who was a leading attorney of this city not so long ago has been made city attorney of Lansing, the Capitol city of this state. For several years he was assistant attorney general of this state and more recently held the position of federal attorney for a portion of Ohio and Michigan which position he recently resigned. "Ernie" Converse began the practice of law in our midst, coming here with his bride when the morning whistles of Boyne City's many industries awakened every mother's son who lived within three miles of town and kept them awake, until their shoes once on they hurried to join the procession on its way to "production" which made manufacturing cities in the country. Mr. Converse made many friends while here and they will rejoice together that their friend has again been honored."

Gifts for St. Valentine's Day
Valentines, 1c to $2.00. Whitman's Valentine Boxed Candy, Sampler 1, 2 and 3 lb. boxes. Valentine Boxed Stationery—something new. Fessenden, the Druggist.—Adv. 5t2.

Granddad may have been a sod baster, but not on the golf links.

Zonite
For Cuts and Wounds
Prevent infection! Treat every cut, wound or scratch with this powerful non-poisonous antiseptic. Zonite actually kills germs. Helps to heal, too.

The Charlevoix Hardware Co.

For the FIRST TIME IN THIS CITY
The marvelous NEW EASY WASHER
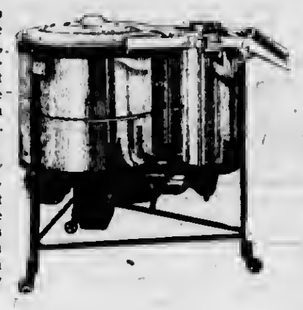
Is on view. Dries clothes while it washes—without the aid of a wringer



NOW to its famous Vacuum Cup Principle of washing clothes, the Easy has added an amazingly simple, safe, quick, and easy method of getting clothes so dry that you can start ironing without hanging them on the line. A whole tubful is dried at a time—while another tubful is washed. There's no water to handle.

Come in and see this revolutionary new washer—there's never been anything like it before. Or, better yet, let us demonstrate one in your own home—free. We will do your entire week's washing without cost. Then if you wish to keep the Easy, you can pay a small deposit and the balance on easy monthly terms. Phone us today.

Charlevoix Hardware Company
NORTHERN MICHIGAN'S FINEST STORE
Three Big Departments—Hardware, Furniture, Electrical
Come to Charlevoix for the Winter Sports Feb. 11 and 12

Program of Winter Sports Events and Prizes

Friday and Saturday, February 11 and 12

A two-day carnival of fun in full enjoyment of winter sports such as can be found at no other point in Michigan. Skiing, Tobogganing, Skating, Coasting, Dog Team Races, Hockey Contests, Skating Races and coasting on Bridge Street Hill. The residents of territory adjacent to Charlevoix and neighboring cities are extended an invitation to participate.

TOBOGANNING

Free-for-all. Three trials for distance. One prize, Sweater.

SKIING

Free-for-all. Three trials for elimination and winners have three trials for prizes. Two prizes, Northland Skiis. Leather Jacket.

DOG RACES

Elimination Contest. Three heats. Last heat for 1st and 2nd place. Two prizes, Dog Harness, Sled.

COASTING

Free-for-all. Three trials for distance. One prize, Buckskin Gloves.

HOCKEY

Independents vs. High School. No prize.

SKATING RACES

1. Girl's Free-for-all. Twice around rink. One prize, Tubular Shoe Skates.

2. Men's Free-for-all. Five times around rink. One prize, Tubular Shoe Skates.

3. Junior Boys, 12 years and under. Three races, 1, 2 and 3 times around the rink. Three races for 1st, 2nd and 3rd place points. Two prizes for 1st and 2nd high point men, Sweater and Scout Knife.

4. Senior Boys, 12 to 16 years. Three races, 1, 3 and 5 times around the rink. Three races for 1st, 2nd and 3rd place points. Two prizes for 1st and 2nd high point men, Fountain Pen, Gloves.

Country boys are invited to enter with their dog teams.

Out of town entries are solicited.

Tobogganning and Skiing Friday afternoon--Coasting Friday night.

Dog Races Saturday afternoon--Hockey Game, Skating Races and Coasting Saturday night.

Those wishing to enter any event or events should make application to any member of the following committees:

COASTING--Robert Bridge or Harley Ochs.

SKIING—Ed. Edwards, Clarence N. Wood, H. A. Craig, Archie Livingston.

TOBOGANNING—Don Campbell, C. H. Emrey, Jerry Richardson, Clare Webster.

DOG TEAM RACES—Chas. Gale, D. F. Wood.

SKATING AND HOCKEY—George Beeman, Dick Hammett.

COME TO CHARLEVOIX, FEBRUARY 11 AND 12

CHARLEVOIX COURIER

VOLUME 34. NUMBER 6. EIGHT PAGES COURIER, CHARLEVOIX, MICH., WEDNEDAY, FEBRUARY 9, 1927 PRICE $2.00 PER YEAR

OUTLOOK FOR CARNIVAL IS BRIGHT

COMMITTEES HAVE EVERYTHING READY FOR EVENT

We Have the Whole State Talking About Us—Let's Put the Carnival Over Big

Charlevoix is all set for the big winter carnival Friday and Saturday. Everything that could possibly be done in preparation for the event has been completed und the splendid spirit of co-operation shown by the committees and the general enthusiasm of the public cannot help but spell success.

That Charlevoix is awake to winter sports was seen by the large crowd using the ski and toboggan Defects in the toboggan slide were Defects in the toboggun slides were discovered at that time and have been remedied. A committee of citizens iced the slide Tuesday afternoon and smoothed out some of the rough sports. No effort has been spared to have the slides in fine shape for Friday.

It will be noted in the advertisement on page 8 of this issue that several changes have been made in the schedule of events. Owing to the large number of entries in some of the eveats and the adding of others to the schedule, .some of the skating races will. be held Friday evening starting at 7:15. The junior girl's race, junior boy's race and boys' and girls' potato race will be held Friday evening. Allie Moore will also do some fancy skating stunts. Other skating events are scheduled for Saturday evening. The advertisement referred to shows the program exactly as it will be carried out.

Both the public and parochial schools will be closed Friday afternoon. Business places will lie closed Friday afternoon, but with the exception of the banks will be open Saturday.

Special attention is called to the free-for-all skating race to he held at the school rink, Saturday afternoon at 1:30. At tois time a Pathe News man will be on hand to take motion pictures of the event. We want the gallery full at this time, so that the pucitores will show a good crowd and plenty of pep and action. All other skating events are scheduled during the evening, making it impossible to get good pictures.

Committees have worked faithfully, giving freely of their time and energy. State and local newspapers have given the event full publicity in their columns. Now it is up to the public to turn out enmass and put the carnival over BIG.

MEN'S CLUB INVITED WOMEN TO LAST MEET

Dr. J. O. Randall of Traverse City, Principal Speaker

Last Monday evening the men entertained their ladies to a supper and program of great interest and profit at the First —Methodist — Episcopal church. More than one huadred sat down to the tables and enjoyed the excellently prepared Swiss steak supper which was served in expeditious manner by the men. During the grand march to the tables and the early part of the supper, the orchestra rendered highly appreciated music.

Rev. C. E. Pollock gave an address at the table on the subject, "The Patriotic Month," stating that February is the birth month of Washington, Longfellow and Lincoln, soldier, poet and statesmen respectively. He drew some interesting patriotic conclusions from the lives of these men. Earl Shapton conducted the "Indoor track meet" with Mr. Jacobs for official score keeper.

Dr. J. O. Randall of Traverse City was the principal speaker of the evening. His subject was "The Modern Church." In a very forceful maoner he presented his view that the church is in the community to serve its highest purposes and interpret religion to it in the vocabulary and methods of the age.

The ladies voted their appreciation of the treat the men had given them. The men replied by cheering the ladies, thus having the last word.

Gifts for St. Valentine's Day

Valentines, 1c to $2.00. Whitman's Valentine Boxed Candy, Sampler 1, 2 and 3 lb. boxes. Valentine Boxed Stationery—something new. Fessenden, the Druggist.—Adv. 5t2.

Read the Courier, and get the news

DEBATERS MEET HARBOR SPRINGS THURS.

Will Be Last of Four Preliminary Debates

Charlevoix high school on the negative will debate Harbor Springs high school on the affirmative in the latter city on Thursday evening, Februnry 10th.

The subject of the debate is, "Resolved, That the United States Government Should Own the Coal Mines." The team representing Charlevoix high school is composed of LaRue Higman, Georgia Kelderhouse and Keith Reynolds, and is coached by Principnl Oscar P. North. They hnve been very successful so far this winter, having won two out of three debates. They lost the opening debate to Onaway, but have later defeated Petoskey and Traverse City.

This is the last of the four preliminary debates sponsored by the Michigan High School debating lengue Schools with the highest record will enter the elimination series of debates at a later date.

TWO NAVIGATION FIRMS LOSE SHIPS

RECEIVER IS NAMED FOR MICHIGAN TRANSIT CO.

Steamers Petoskey and Iroquois Sold to Chicago Firm. Claims Fully Covered.

As a result of two friendly court actions, started by creditors of the Michigan Transit company, a receiver for the concern has been named in Chicago, and its two steamers. the Manitou and Puritan, tied up at Manistee for the winter, have been taken over by the U. S. district court for the Clinch Conl company of Chicago, n creditor.

Creditors of the concern, which has been in financial difficulties for some time, held n meeting last week in Chicago and appointed a committee to represent them. Fred E. Hummel, of Chicago, was named receiver, after the committee decided that course the best to take.

Under the court action the company is expected to be able to borrow sufficient money to outfit the two vessels for the coming season. The Manitou is valued at more than $500,000, while the Puritan is warth more than $400,000, according to officials of the company.

The company's property carries $450,000 mortgages in addition to other obligations, it is understood. At one time it was known as the Northern Michigan Transportation company, and was owned at Manistee. Its main offices now are in Chicago.

Considerable stock in the Michigan Transit company is owned by Charlevoix business men and they no doubt will be interested in the outcome of the affair. The company's two steamers also figure prominently in the passenger and freight traffic between Chicago and Charlevoix and other northern Michigan resorts during the summer months and a successful outcome of the company's financial difficulties is hoped for.

S. M. SEE & SONS ENLARGE FLOOR SPACE

Office Equipment Moved to Rear of Building's Main Floor

As a part of their program of improvements and interior changes S. M. See & Sons, local house furnishing dealers, now under the management of L. S. See, have moved their office to the rear of the display floor, where it has been set on a slight elevntion and rniled in.

This arrangement gives the management a larger floor display space than when the office equipment was located on the south wall near the center of the store. This change is only a part of the many improvements brought about since Mr. See took over the management of the store last fall.

The Maccabees will hold a baked goods sale all day Saturday, Feb. 12, at Jacob's Grocery Store.—Adv. 6t1.

Pilgrim Players Preformance

An enjoyable entertninment is promised next Tuesday evening at the Palace Theatre when the Pilgrim Players present "The Neighbors," a delightful, humorous, homespun comedy. Grandma, Ezra and the other actors are all folks you know. Preceding the play the Little Pilgrim Players will give "The House of Joy." Admission 25c and 35c.—Adv 6t1.

VALUE OF LIVE STOCK IN STATE

FIVE CLASSES RUN FAR BEYOND $146,000,000 MARK

Number of Sheep and Swine increase While Horses and Cattle Show Decline

The total value of the five principal classes of live stock on Michignn fnrms on January 1 is estimnted to have been $146,652,000. Cattle and hog prices are higher than one yenr ago; horses and mules are reported to be the same; and sheep are lower. There were increases in the nuamber of sheep and swine and decreases in horses and cattle. One year ago, the total value was $139,732,000, or a net gain for 1926 of approximately seven million dollars, according to the annual live stock report issued by Verne H. Church, U. S. Agricultural Statistician for Michigan and L. Whitney Watkins, Commissioner of Agriculture. The gain during 1925 was about the same as during the past year.

Horses: The increasing use of power-driven machinery on the farm has steadily displaced a portion of the horse population each year during the last decade. It is now estimated that only 444,000 horses and colts were owned by Michigan farmers on January 1 as compared with 463,000 one year ngo, 482,000 two yenrs ago and 606,000 in 1920. The value averages $89 per head which is the same as last year and five dollars more than two years ago. The totnl value is $39,516,000.

Mules: The number of mules in Michigan is small in camparison with horses, the total being 8,000. The total value is $688,000 or $86 per head. The number does not change materially from year to year and the price per head is the same as one year ago.

Milk Cows: The progress made in tuberculosis eradiention and cow testing has eliminated many diseased and other unprofitnble cows. It has also created a strong demand for Michigna cows and 15,000 were shipped out of the state during the past year for dairy purposes. This and other factors have reduced the number on hand by 17,000 as compared with last year. The total number as estimated for January 1 was 841,000 with a value of $61,393,000 as compared with $54,912,000 one year ngo.

The average value per head increased during the year from $64 to $75. There are 153,000 heifers from one to two years of age being kept for dairy purposes as compared with 149,000 one year ago.

All Cattle: The total number in the state on January 1 is estimated at 1,406,000, a decrease of 14,000 from January 1, 1926. The average value per head is $56.63, giving a total of $79,622,000. This is a gain of about seven and one-half millions over one year ago as the avernge price per head is nearly six dollars greater.

Sheep: It is now estimated that there are 1,314,000 sheep in the state with an average value of $10.44 per head. On January 1, 1926 the number was estimated at 1,173,000 with an average value of $11.98 each. Owing to lower prices this

(Continued on page six.)

Gifts for St. Valentine's Day

Valentines, 1c to $2.00. Whitman's Valentine Boxed Candy, Sampler 1, 2 and 3 lb. boxes. Valentine Boxed Stationery—something new. Fessenden, the Druggist.—Adv. 5t2.

SETTLING DOWN TO BUSINESS

VARIOUS COMMITTEES HOME FROM JUNKETS

Legislature Now Ready to Tackle Death Penalty, Highway Finance and Other Business

After a recess of nearly two weeks during which the members visited the various state institutions to study their financial needs, the legislature resumed operations in earnest Wednesday of last week. An accumulation of nearly forty bills was immediately thrown into the legislative hopper and the work of the present session began in earnest.

A dozen or so of the bills now pending are intended to combat the crime wave in Michigan. Several varieties of capital punishment have been proposed, including death by electrocution, lethal gas and hanging. Other bills having the same general purpose would prohibit the paroliag of persons convicted of first degree murder and would increase the penalty for offenders having previous prison records. The death penulty has been a very live issue during the past few sessions, but each time it has been defeated by n rather close vote. However, voters of the measure declare that this year they have a substantial majority ready to vote in favor of capital punishment.

New Gas and License Schedules

From the standpoint of popular interest, second only to crime prevention legislation are the various measures dealing with highway finance. During the past week a new combination of gas and weight taxes was proposed which seems to meet with a good deal of support among the lawmakers.

Rep. C. J. Town of Onondaga is fathering a bill to raise the gas tax to 4c a gallon, while a companion measure sponsored by Rep. William P. Strauch of Vernon proposes a $5.00 permanent license for passenger cars and the present schedule of annual weight license levies for commercial vehicles, including trucks and busses. Representatives Town and Strnuch declare that this new combination would bring in as much or more revenue from the motorists as they are now paying and would result in greater fairness and less inconvenience. Under the terms of these bills, the counties, would receive eight million dollars instead of six million dollars annually from the state highway funds.

A new tax measure which is certain to excite a great deal of discussion was introduced by Sen. Peter B. Lennon of Genesee county during the past week. It provides a tax of $2.00 per thousand on cigarets and a flat 10 per cent tax on all other forms of tobacco. Wholesalers and retailers would be licensed and the tax would be collected through stamps which would be purchased by the dealers and affixed to the packnges. A unique feature of this bill is that it definitely provides that the revenue which it would raise would decrease by that amount the state general property tax which would otherwise be levied.

Acting under suspension of the rules, the House and Senate passed unanimously a resolution calling attention to the importance of the Great Lakes-St. Lawrence waterway and urging upon President Coolidge and congress the necessity of entering into proper treaties with Canada and proceeding at once with this project. The action of the legislature followed closely upon the receipt by the lawmakers of a special message on this subject from Governor Green.

BUILDING AUTOMOBILE DISPLAY ROOM

Important Improvements Underway at Lakeway Garage.

With the completion of building operations now underway at the Lakeway Garage, corner State and Antrim streets, Smith & Wyers expect to have one of the most commodius automobile display rooms in the city.

Pumps have been removed from the space formerly used by Brown & Wallnce for a drive-in oil station and the entire space is being walled in, for a display room. Modernly equipped rest rooms are to he installed. The owners will move their gasoline pump at the curb, where it will be covered with a canopy similar to the one on Campbell's shoe store. Smith & Wyers handle the Hudson-Essex and Overland lines.

GREAT SUCCESS FOR OUR CARNIVAL

IS THE FERVENT WISH OF FORMER CHARLEVOIX BOY

Believe It Is a Start That Will Bring Northwestern "Huskies" to Our Locality

The announcement of a two day winter carnival, February 11 and 12, at Charlevoix the Beautiful, has not only been the cause of considerable comment among northern Michigan communities, but has also brought great encouragement from residents of larger communities and former Charlevoix people now scattered about the country.

Leading Michigan dailies have devoted many columns of space to the project, telegraph and telephone calls asking for details are being received daily, and indications are that visitors will be here from points far and near.

W. A. Carey, former Charlevoix boy, now living in Detroit, says the announcement of the carnival which appeared in last week's Courier, was the most interesting of anything he has seen in many moons. He tells us we do not realize what natural beauty lies in our surrounding hills and lakes. And Mr. Carey ought to know, for he has lived these many years in Detroit, with its accompanying hurry and bustle and surging crowds. His letter, which follows ought to pep up the person who is lake-warm on the subject of winter sports in Charlevoix:

Detroit, Feb. 6, 1927

Editor Courier:

"Dear Sir—The article in last week's issue of the Courier, covering the two day winter carnival made the most interesting reading of anything I've seen in many moons. It's a start and that is fine, as it gives me a vision of what is apt to happen within the next decade, when the "huskies" from Montreal and northwest Canada will make Charlevoix the half-way winter resort for dog sleigh racing. This one event will attract thousands of tourists, like it does in Montreal with its famous toboggan slides and ice palaces.

"Charlevoix people do not fully realize what naturnl beauty lies in the surrounding hills and lakes. The carnival spirit helps to develop the out-door life which eariches everyday living in the land of snow and ice, nnd makes life more worth while.

"My suggestion is that the local theatre secure several reels of moving pictures on winter sports of Montreal or St. Moritz and thraw them on the screen during the two days of the carnival. It would develop a broader vision of what enn be done along this line.

"I am very much interested and hope to see the carnival develop into n two weeks period with sweep stake prizes—prizes offered for skiing, skating, tobogganing and dog racing and thausands of spectators to cheer.

Yours for success,
W. A. Carey."

Gifts for St. Valentine's Day

Valentines, 1c to $2.00. Whitman's Valentine Boxed Candy, Sampler 1, 2 and 3 lb. boxes. Valentine Boxed Stationery—something new. Fessenden, the Druggist.—Adv. 5t2.

Old papers fur sale at Courier.

February Twelfth, Eighteen Hundred and Nine

COMMENT ON WINTER SPORTS

WHAT OUR NEIGHBORS ARE SAYING ABOUT US

Two Leading Northern Michigan Papers Give Space to Boost Pending Carnival

That Charlevoix is being recognized as a leader in regards to putting across a program of winter sports is evident by comments made by leading northern Michigan newspapers. The Emmet County Graphic, published at Harbor Springs, covers the subject as follows:

Charlevoix, Harbor Springs' progressive neighbor to the south, is going in for winter sports this year on a scale larger than ever before attempted.

How It Started

Several years ago, an attempt was made through the columns of one of the local papers, the Charlevoix Courier, to stimulate interest in winter sports. Several articles descriptive of the advantages of the locality for skiing, coasting, skating, iceboating, etc., finally bore fruit in the shape of an inquiry from a young woman in St. Louis, addressed to the secretary of the Charlevoix Chamber of Commerce, asking what hotel accommodations a party of ten or twelve could obtain if they came up in February. The secretary got busy, arranged with the proprietor of one of the smaller hotels to take care of the visitors in his cottage nonex and wrote the lady, a member of one of Charlevoix's prominent summer families that owns a residence on the Belvedere resort, to come ahead with her party. They came—twelve of them, men and women, with a chaperone—and had a wonderful time, according to their own enthusiastic statements. They tried everything in the line of water sports—even to ice boating, an ice yacht being hired for their special benefit. When their sport gave place to the demand of healthy hunger and fatigue, they feasted on chicken and the fat of the land and warmed themselves at a hospitable fireplace.

Sold Idea to Themselves

One of the most remarkable features of the affair was the effect it had on the townspeople. Nearly every business man in town, young or old, turned out with axe and shovel to clear a space for ski running on Mount McSauba, the local Mount Royal. A good many of them had their own skis with them and tried the course after they had it cleared. More orders were placed with the local blacksmith for bobsleds than he could fill before the end of the winter season—in fact a total of some thirty were built by private individuals themselves and on their order. Before the arrival of the St. Louis people and for a long time after their departure (they stayed a week or ten days) the hill on Charlevoix's main street was fairly alive, evenings, with people of the town, and they were not all young folks by any means.

(Continued on page six.)

YOU EXPRESS OUR CONCLUSION BROTHER EDITOR

Neighbor Weber of the Cheboygan Democrat, comments as follows on the work of the Association of Commerce, its aims and accomplishments:

"The Charlevoix Chamber of Commerce spent $3,403.33 last year in ways almost identical with those of the Cheboygan Chamber of Commerce, and they felt greatly satisfied over their year's campaign and hope to have a bigger amount to spend this year. They don't expect to induce a manufacturing institution employing one thousnad men to locate in that city or that amount, but they do expect to be nble to attend to those little things constantly requiring nttention, the advertising of their community, and preforming those community services no other agency is organized to do, all contributing materinlly to the benefit of the town, and not only making ourselves more satisfied with our home surroundings but putting a good front to our thousnnds of summer visitors, and sending them home in a frame of mind that will cause them to recommend our city to their friends in search of a summer's pleasure."

CORRESPONDENCE

BARNARD

We are glad to note that the grippe victims are recovering.

Some of our young folks attended the basketball game in Charlevoix, Friday evening.

Buzzing wood seems to be the chief occupation of our male population these days.

Henry Walker has gone to Chicago for the balance of the winter, where he has employment.

Rev. DeYounge will be at the South Barnard church to hold a service next Sunday, at the usual time.

Our school is preparing a valentine day program to be given on Monday afternoon. All the parents are invited.

Mrs. Joseph Bonk left Saturday for Chicago, where she will visit among friends and relatives for the next two weeks.

Elliott Moore and brother Jay also Loyd Fairbanks all of Lansing are visiting their uncle, Howard Gornell and family.

A lively Grange meeting was held on Friday evening. Good crowd, lots of eats and a good program, made it an enjoyable time.

Gifts for St. Valentine's Day
Valeatines, 1c to $2.00. Whitman's Valentine Boxed Candy, Sampler 1, 2 and 3 lb. boxes. Valentine Boxed Stationery—something new. Fessenden, the Druggist.—Adv. 5t2.

IRONTON

The snow plow opened the roads Wednesday.

Mr. Jones and Mr. Bird called on Mr. Berry, Tuesday.

Mr. and Mrs. Ross Alexander spent Sunday in Eastport.

The Ladies' Aid will meet with Mrs. Ralph Price this Wednesday.

Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Peterson expect to make their home in Ironton.

Miss Powers from Charlevoix spent the week end at the Brown home.

Mr. and Mrs. Krulik and Mr. and Mrs. Ward spent Sunday with their parents.

We are sorry to hear that Mrs. Munson and Mrs. Bird are on the sick list.

We understand a couple motoring on the ice, broke through. Hope they didn't get wet.

We understand there will be church every Sunday as long as the roads are passable.

Mrs. Price and Minette Berry, motored to Charlevoix on Saturday They said the roads were fine.

Mrs. Alfred Williams entertained the Ladies' Aid, Wednesday with a turkey dinner. All had a fine time.

Yes YOU Can Feel Good, Take an NR tablet tonight—drink a full glass of water — Wonderful how quickly it brings back the animated, invigorated feeling with freedom from Constipation, Dizziness, Biliousness, Sick Headaches. Nature's Remedy has a natural action. There is no perturbing or stirring up of the intestinal content before elimination, thereby preventing the absorption of the toxins or poisons in the intestinal tract by the circulation. The absorption of these toxins is the usual cause of the weakening and sickening sensations that follow the use of many laxatives.

¶ Make the Test Tonight—see how much brighter, stronger and better you feel tomorrow.

NR TO-NIGHT TOMORROW ALRIGHT

SOLD BY YOUR DRUGGIST
CENTRAL DRUG STORE

Burning out chimneys caused many bad fires. Avoid this fire loss by using our Soot Destroyer. It does the work. 15c per pound. Charlevoix Hdw. Co.—Adv. 2tf.

CLARION

W. C. Palmer was a Charlevoix visitor on Satirday.

Mr and Mrs. Fred Whitney spent Sunday in Petoskey.

Mrs. Hilden of Petoskey, visited Clarion friends over Sunday.

Mrs D. J. Herrington returned last week from a visit with relatives at Grand Rapids.

Miss Frances Bryant and members of her sewing class, will be guests at the home of Mrs. Clyde Kent, on Thursday evening.

Mrs. Frank Reuter entertained at cards on Saturday evening. After several games of progressive pedro a dainty luncheon was served.

Mrs. Charles Hass was taken suddenly ill, Saturday morning and was taken to Petoskey hospital, where she underwent a serious operation.

BENTLEY HILL

Valentine greetings to you.

William Drenth's horse had it's leg broken, Sunday.

Mrs. and Mrs. G. Rubingh are on the sick list this week.

Henry Brat has returned to his position in Grand Rapids.

T. DeMoulpied had the misfortune to break the water pipes.

Miner Koster has returned home from his visit in Grand Rapids.

Mr. and Mrs. B. DeYoung visited with C. Cox in East Jordan, Friday.

Dr. Duffee was called to the home of L. Duston, Mrs. Duston being ill.

Mr. and Mrs. H. Wassenaar from Central Lake, visited with Bert DeGroot.

Grace Hoogewerf, who has been clerk in Frank Klooster's store, is home at present.

Mr and Mrs. G. Petter of Chicago, are the proud parents of a baby girl named Elizabeth Doris.

If nothing preveats the dedication service will be held at the Christian Reform church, Wednesday. Rev. Einink, Rev Mnnker, Rev Conklin and Rev. Bowma will be the main speakers.

A number of people gathered at the home of Henry Heeres, Februury 4, the occasion being Mrs. Heeres' eighty-third birthday. The afternoon was spent in visiting, after which a dainty lunch was served. All went home with the report of a good time.

MURRAY SCHOOL

All parents are again invited to visit school.

Basketball is the pass word of the Murray school.

Seventh grade are making a booklet on National Parks of the west.

We have had less tardy and absent marks this month than of any other month.

The school room looks very cheerful, being decorated with drawings and posters to represent January.

The following were intitled to receive one-half day off for being neither absent or tardy. Edith Speigl, Joseph Speigl, Wm. Mladel, Fletcher Johnson, Ellen Johnson, Fritz Deschermeier, Frank Mladel, Ward Shmtz, Elbert Anderson, Doris Anderson, Viorn Furgeson, Dorothy Furgeson, Arvilla Yohr, Margaret Yohr, Florence Anderson, Ralph O'Dell, LeRoy Furgeson, Leonard Furgeson, Robert Brechelsen, Bethel Brechelsen, Agnes O'Dell and Frances Speigl.

Children's Colds

"Are best treated externally. Cream them overnight without rubbing by rubbing VICKS VAPORUB over throat and chest and breathe it.

VICKS VAPORUB

For years, the savings provided by great volume have been devoted to the enrichment of Buick value.

And for years, Buick owners have had a more dependable motor car—one in which high quality lessens upkeep expense.

Buy a Buick—for economy and satisfaction.

THE GREATEST BUICK EVER BUILT

Heaton & Hooper
BOYNE CITY, MICHIGAN

OF INTEREST TO FARMERS
By B. C. Mellencamp

Marl is one of the several materials that are used to correct soil acidity and has the added advantage of being the cheapest source of lime available, providing the percent lime is high enough and the distance not too great to haul it.

Ordinarily marl is sold at $1.00 per yard, air dry and no other agency can approach this price, the nearest being crushed limestone, which costs $1.25 per ton at Petoskey plus the freight. Any marl that tests over 85 per cent lime is profitable to buy at $1.00 per yard and in this county there are several beds that average over 90 per cent lime.

Marl should be applied at the rate of from 2½ to 3 yards per acre as compared with from 2 to 2½ tons of limestone, which indicates that it takes about 1¾ yards of marl to equal one ton of limestone. It can be applied practically any time during the year including winter without detrimental results to the land or crops. The two most convenient ways of applying are by hand or by the use of the manure sprender. Also marl can be hauled any time during the winter if it is dug out during the early fall and had a chance to dry out, during which process it loses about 20 per cent in weight. This is a big advantage in that a farmer can haul it when he has the most time and when it suits his pleasure.

We hope to open up several marl beds this coming season and in time have marl available to every farmer in the county. We have a marl bed just outside of Boyne City that will be opened up early in the spring, and it is hoped that before that time we can have many more available, so that the farmer coming to town in any of the cities can take a load of the cheapest fertilizer available back with him and without making a special trip.

By all means inform county agent Mellencamp if you know of a good marl bed and talk with your neighbors about co-operating in hearing the expense of getting it out, the main thing is 30 per cent of the land in this county needs a soil sweetener and you as farmers should use either marl or limestone whichever seems to be cheaper for you to use.

Soil and Fertilizer Meetings February 15th and 16th.

A series of meetings will be held in the county during the 15th and 16th of February that will be of interest and value to farmers. The subjects to be discussed will be Soils and Fertilizers as well as other farm problems, and it is hoped that a good attendance will be on hand to hear the two speakers.

B. J. Culver, agricultural agent of Emmet county, will discuss in detail the soils problems, and your local county agent, Mr. Mellencamp, will take the subject of fertilizers, which subjects are very closely related to each other and are today probably the most important factors in successful agriculture.

The first meeting will be held at the Marion Center Grange hall, February 15th in the afternoon, starting at 1:30 fast time; second at Horton's Bay in the Odd Fellows hall, February 15th in the evening starting at 8:00 fast time; third in the Rock Elm Grange hall, February 16th in the forenoon starting at 9:30 fast time; and the last at Boyne Falls in the Town Hall, February 16th in the afternoon, starting at 1:30 fast time.

We hope that you will be present and desire that you come full of questions and anxious to get into the discussion, as only through these channels can the fullest benefits be derived from these sort of meetings.

METHODIST CHURCH

"Enriched Goodness" 10:30 a. m.

"Abe Lincoln and Jeff Davis," 4:15 p. m.

The service at 4:15 p. m. next Sunday will be another great vesper service with features of interest and great profit. A wonderful set of pictures will be shown, dealing with a subject dear to the heart of the great emancipator. Music, sermon, picture and worship will make this Lincoln vesper hour memorable.

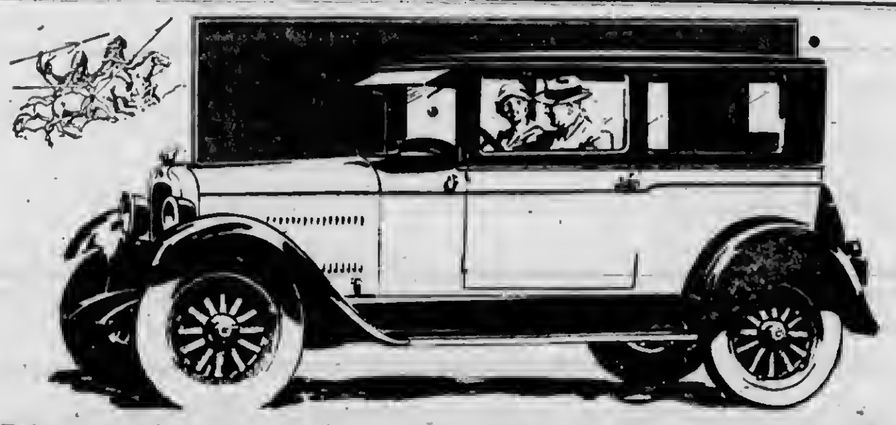
Epworth League meets at 6:00 p. m., the topic will be, "In Village, Town and Country."

Dr. F. F. McMillan will be the speaker next Monday evening at the men's meeting. His subject will be "Abraham Lincoln." The men will have a very special treat. A good supper and twenty minutes of fun are on the program, beginning at seven o'clock.

Tuesday evening the young people's prayer meeting comes at seven and lasts one half hour.

Scout meeting Tuesday evening at seven o'clock.

Prayer meeting Thursday evening at seven thirty.



Farther than ever beyond the reach of imitation

$825 SEDAN or COUPE

Every one knows that when announced a year ago, the Pontiac Six was an extraordinary automotive development.

The General Motors Research Staff pioneered Pontiac Six basic design. The great General Motors Proving Ground provided an unparalleled opportunity to perfect that design without regard to time or cost. And General Motors combined purchasing power assured minimum costs on quality materials.

Obviously, the Pontiac Six was then beyond duplication. Obviously, it is today still farther beyond the reach of imitation—

—because the Pontiac Six now carries this important additional attraction to buyers:

In a period of more than a year, it has served tens of thousands of owners in performance, reliability and economical operation, to a degree of satisfaction far beyond their fondest expectations!

Pontiac Six, $825 to $975. Oakland Six, companion to Pontiac Six, $1025 to $1295. All prices at factory. Bodies by Fisher. Easy to pay on the liberal General Motors Time Payment Plan.

BLOCK & SIMMONS
113-15 Antrim St., Charlevoix, Mich.

PONTIAC SIX

FOR LOW COST
Battery Service
-USE THE-
WILLARD

No wood anywhere in the Willard battery. Nine less parts. Case and partitions are made from high grade new rubber stock and molded by heat and pressure into a single unite of iron hardness. Acid has no effect on it. Zero weather will not cause it to crack. We believe a Willard Battery will give you longer service than any battery on the market today.

NOTE THESE FEATURES

Heavy Willard plates—lively in action—long in life.

Threaded rubber insulation—withstands acid—uniformly porous—giving greater capacity.

A Charged Bone-dry Battery. Starts its life on the owner's car.

Large terminals and connectors permit free flow of current.

Strong partitions brace the cell spaces and reinforce the case.

High ribs at bottom of cells to support plates and provide ample sediment space.

Handles are securely fastened by screws to metal plates embedded in battery case.

Case, designed to fit tightly in battery compartment of your car.

OUR PRICES FOR WILLARD BATTERIES

6 volt, 11 plate, rubber case Willard Batteries for $11.95
6 volt, 13 plate, rubber case Willard Batteries for $16.50
12 volt, rubber case Willard Batteries for $24.60

BENJAMIN BROWN

FLIT
DESTROYS
Moths, Roaches
Bedbugs, Flies
Other Household Insects

VALET
AutoStrop
Razor
sharpens itself

An Amazing Success
Feen-a-mint
The Chewing LAXATIVE
Chew It Like Chewing Gum
A pleasure to use. Very efficient. Children love it. No taste but that of sweet mint. The most popular laxative because it's a "satisfier." 15c and 25c.

ALABASTER LAMPS

By Margaret Turnbull.

COPYRIGHT 1925 BY MARGARET TURNBULL WITH W. TORCHIA

CHAPTER IV

That night Ned lay awake thinking of Dorothy Selden's reappearance in his life, and how little it meant to him now. When he slept he dreamed of a blue-eyed Rapunzel who let down her hair.

Uncle Dubbs, also wakeful, puzzling how to keep Ned interested in Peace Valley, finally slept; to dream of a beautiful woman named Johnston pursuing him, accompanied by gigantic dogs all answering to the name of Peter.

Ned again surprised Uncle by rising early and cheerfully setting out for Pulsifer's farm. However, William Penn Pulsifer and his son Penny had decided to work, for awhile, nearby. Because of this, Ettie felt that she must supply them with a hot dinner, and so could not come to the White house until one o'clock.

Ned agreed to come again at one o'clock if Miss Johnston still wanted her, and took his way to the White house. It promised to be an amusing day, he thought, as he knocked at the kitchen door.

"Blue Eyes," with flaming cheeks, opened the door. This had been a terrible morning of starting open fires, lighting a kitchen range, and trying to find things in a strange kitchen, in a strange house.

Ned proceeded to explain Mrs. Pulsifer's absence.

Mary listened, murmured her thanks, and praised Mr. Dubbs for his kindness in sending help. She would be glad to see Mrs. Pulsifer that afternoon.

"What will you do now?" Ned asked, anxiously looking at the pile of dishes on the table before her. "Let me help you."

Mary opened her mouth to annihilate this pushing young person, but at that moment the telephone bell rang, and with a little nod of dismissal, she hurried to answer it.

Ned looked idly about him. Then the great idea came to him. He grinned, snatched up a gingham kitchen apron from the back of a chair and tied it across his chest. He turned the big water on a pan full of dishes and reached for the dish mop. He knew that camp, motor boat and army experiences would stand him in good stead now. He would show this girl what an excellent job he could do. He commenced to wash dishes in a slow, orderly fashion.

At the telephone, Mary was talking to Mr. Dubbs. She had closed the door. No sound from the kitchen reached her. Yes, she told him, she was Miss Johnston, and his nephew had gone. She was ever so much obliged. If Mrs. Pulsifer could come at noon, it would be a great help.

Mary left the telephone with shining eyes. How kind these country people were! Imagine a grocer taking all that trouble in the city! She must tell mother. It would amuse her, if the headache was not too bad. With a little run she took the stairs, three steps at a time, and softly opened the door of the great front bedroom.

It was a lovely room, darkened now, beautifully arranged and furnished. Nothing in it was as beautiful as the woman who was lying upon the bed, staring at the ceiling. She looked scarcely older than Mary herself. Tumbled masses of red hair spread over the pillow. She turned her face quickly from Mary.

"Mother, I'm going to bring you some tea and toast in a jiffy, unless you feel like coming down."

"I don't want anything. Don't trouble," came in a soft murmur from the bed.

"Oh, mother, don't take it so hard! I'm getting on famously and the country people here are wonderful. What do you think! The grocer—the one with a funny little short name—Dubbs—that's it, is sending a woman to cook and clean for us this afternoon. By tomorrow we'll have not only a clean house, but probably a new batch of rolls and a cook from the city. Then you can be properly fed."

Her mother raised herself on one elbow, staring at her daughter with level, unblinking brown eyes. Seen face to face she appeared older than Mary, but one would hardly have classified them as mother and daughter. Sisters would have been a reasonable guess.

"Mary, what did you say the grocer's name was?"

"Dubbs," repeated Mary. Funny name."

"Isn't this place called Clover Hollow?"

"Yes, mother, but the grocer comes from Peace Valley. There are no shops in Clover Hollow."

Mary's mother sank back on her pillows and muttered something that sounded like: "Oh my soul! The last straw!"

Mary looked puzzled and a little frightened. This was the first time in her life that she had known her strong, capable mother to give way to her nerves.

"Mother, can't you tell me what's wrong?"

"No, I can't just now, Mary-girl. It's a little financial bother, and until I understand it better myself, I can't talk about it. Run along like a good child. My head will soon be all right again." Then the head was lifted and the eyes fixed upon her daughter. "Oh do take that ugly apron off!"

"I've been so busy I forgot it." Mary was more hurt than apologetic. To tidy a big house like this, and make something to eat, was quite an achievement, for any girl, and especially one unaccustomed to doing it. She had looked for praise.

"It makes you look—" her mother gave an odd, hysterical giggle—"it makes you look—like a grocer's daughter. For heaven's sake, take it off!"

Mary went downstairs, more slowly than she had come up. She wished her mother would confide in her, for she must be awfully worried about money to act like this. Mary wondered, idly, if it meant that they would have to give up the proposed trip to California and Honolulu this fall. They might possibly have to stay in New York all winter. They might even be so poor that they would have to stay here in the country. There was something that appealed to Mary in this thought. If only mother could be kept amused.

Ever since Mary's childhood, she had realized that the first duty of the world and the people therein, herself included, was to keep mother amused. When she was not amused, Mary's heavens were dark. It was not that it took so much to amuse her. Sometimes a new book or a visit from a friend, and the sun shone again; but woe betide any place or person boring her for two consecutive days. They were immediately obliterated from her life.

Mary sat down to rest on one of the steps. Her thoughts went back through the years to all the hotel suites they had occupied—the rented villas, apartments in Spain, Italy and France. All had been delightful, but she would love to stay here and see an American winter. To watch the seasons change from spring to summer, summer to autumn, autumn to winter, here in her own country! It would be delightful, wonderful.

Mary rose slowly and went down stairs. One thing certain, she must not bother mother now, and she must make her a cup of tea.

Mary opened the door leading to the kitchen. Then she stared with astonishment and dismay at the grocer's boy drying the dishes.

"Oh!" exclaimed Mary.

The "grocer's boy" began tugging at his apron strings, wishing that he had heard her coming. "Must look a fool," was his thought.

"It was very kind of you, but entirely unnecessary." Mary spoke severely.

Her tone reminded Ned of all he had forgotten about his apparent station in life. Suddenly he disliked this blue-eyed girl intensely. If she was that kind.

He slipped out of the offending apron, took up his hat, and looked at her gravely. "I'll bring Mrs. Pulsifer up after luncheon," he offered, kindly.

Mary's sense of humor, which had momentarily deserted her, returned. She thought herself a fool to handle the incident, however annoying, in this manner.

"Uh, Mr. Carter, will you please bring up two pounds of Graham flour, and some table salt—I don't remember how salt comes—and three cakes of soap. I'm awfully grateful for all you've done for me."

She blushed vividly at the end of her speech. Ned instantly forgave her everything.

"It's nothing. Uncle orders me to do these things," Ned lied cheerfully.

He made an elaborate note in a book, which Mary, now aroused to note this young man's customs and manners, saw was a little red leather diary and rather elegant at that. It was not at all the usual orderbook of a grocer's clerk. Her suspicions grew.

"May I ask," said Ned, feeling very businesslike, "if that was uncle on the telephone? Because, that's why I waited. I knew he might call up."

Mary admitted that it had been his uncle.

"Did he want me?" Ned inquired, a shade uncomfortably.

Grasping her chance, Mary answered demurely: "I don't know. I told him that you had gone. I should think, if you are in the habit of spending most of your working hours washing dishes for any customer whose help leaves her, you might be a very nice man, but a pretty poor grocer."

Ned laughed. "I wasn't concerned about Uncle Claude wanting me, but about his repairing the car. Don't get a false idea from me of how the grocery business is run, Miss Johnston. The shop is Uncle Claude's. I'm allowed to do odd jobs, while visiting him."

Mary's eyes unconsciously took in the young man's outer garments. She had been so domestically absorbed that she had only concerned herself with his actions and intentions. Now, she realized that before her was a young man, clad in garments far too sophisticated and too well cut to belong to any grocer's assistant in Peace Valley. Undoubtedly she was being "had" by this young man. Mary's blue eyes snapped.

"I admire your uncle," she said with feeling and obvious emphasis.

"He's my hero, too, just now," Ned agreed.

Mary could not keep from laughter, and somehow laughter cleared the air and seemed to leave all explanations for a future time. Ned went gayly down the steps. At the foot he turned and looked back at the girl. She stood watching him from the doorway. He had not the slightest doubt she was speculating about him. He devoutly hoped so!

That afternoon Ned helped Mrs. Pulsifer out and ushered her into the Johnston kitchen, which was empty, and urged her toward the dishes piled on a tray. Not knowing the etiquette of work by the day, Ned feared she might resent not being ceremoniously welcomed. He watched her begin her task and, much relieved, went into the garden.

He found Mary there, investigating the growth of lilies in a small flower bed under the side window. He was whistling, and she rose from the ground and put a finger to her lips. He stopped instantly.

"I think my mother's asleep," was the low-toned explanation she gave him, with a gesture toward an upper window. Ned explained briefly the arrival and temporary employment of Mrs. Pulsifer.

Mary, delighted to hear this, intimated politely that he had now done all and, more than was expected and might add to her debt of gratitude by his departure.

It being a lovely spring afternoon, warm and delightful, Ned had no idea whatever of doing this and obtusely followed her into the kitchen. He insisted, pleasantly, that having brought Mrs. Pulsifer there, he must introduce her.

The introduction performed, Ned still lingered. Mary ignored him, but Mrs. Pulsifer had been young once and scented an approaching romance more readily than might be supposed. She was the type of woman who would always be on the side of the man, right or wrong. With a sly glance at Ned, she asked Mary if it would not be "a kinda good time to get a sniff of fresh air?"

"I need no telling. I've set things to rights often enough for the Greens, who usta have this house, you go down along with Ned Carter here and pick and choose something for dinner. He'd bring you back in a jiffy. Ain't no sense in you two women ruining your delicate stummicks with canned trash—with me here to cook. You can git a chicken in no time."

The thought of providing something appetizing for her mother appealed to Mary. She made a dignified exit to consult her mother.

She found her mother asleep and rejoiced at the sight, because mother looked a dear asleep, and because she needed sleep. Mary pinned a note on the pillow to explain the presence of Mrs. Pulsifer and her own departure for the village.

Then, secretly amused with country life and its responsibilities, Mary serenely pulled on a jolly little hat, the brim lined with blue to match her eyes, thrust her purse in the pocket of her blue coat and ran softly down the stairs and out into the garden.

"We've our own car, you know, Mr. Carter," she said, as she tucked her shopping list in her pocket. "The chauffeur left when the others did, but of course the car is ours, and I can drive."

Ned replied that it would take more (illegible) his was ready. Aware that she loathed driving and had meant to go in his car from the first. That she did not take the front seat, with him, was a blow to Ned. He had quite reconciled on this, but Mary had not forgotten the morning.

Revolving in her mind several things she would do and say to him if he reverted to this morning's manner, she forgot them all when Ned, in a casual manner, remarked that the country about them reminded him of the Marne valley. At once Mary saw him in a new light. If he was one of them, one of ours from over there, he had the key to her liking and respect.

It was then that Dorothy Selden, a little piqued because she had no one to play with for the time being, saw them. Dorothy recognized Mary. She had stopped at the Mannheim place, yesterday, and been introduced. Of course Miss Johnston might have known Ned, in the old days, but Dorothy did not think so. Moreover, Miss Johnston was riding in the rear of the car, like a passenger. What a splendid idea! If the grocer hired out his car, Dorothy would engage it. She would pretend her own had broken down, and rag Ned to her heart's content.

This thought put her in such excellent humor that she determined to call on Mrs. Johnston while the daughter was not at home.

Mary had been gone about five minutes when Mrs. Johnston awoke and read the note. She yawned, rose, put on a most becoming house gown and went down to the library, where she stared at the telephone fixedly. She placed her hand on the receiver, drew back, pulled a letter out of the desk drawer and read it, frowning.

It was a short, businessilke letter, stating that the directors of a certain company had decided to pass over the half-yearly dividend on the preferred and common stock, owing to adverse financial conditions. It seemed all very simple and plausible as they worded it, but it puckered the beautiful Mrs. Johnston's brows.

She drew the telephone nearer and called a New York number. It was the bank president who answered.

Her pleasantly worded sentence was as pleasantly but decidedly answered. After that the president evidently sought for further conversation with Mrs. Johnston, who murmured that of course they would love to see him, any Friday to Monday. If he would telephone, his train would be met.

When she rang off, Mrs. Johnston sprang to her feet and began walking up and down, thinking.

Dorothy came up the driveway. With her hand on the bell, Miss Selden paused. What, exactly, was she going to do in this house? Dorothy decided that it would depend on Mrs. Johnston.

There was something about a first glimpse of Mrs. Johnston that took one's breath away. She looked like a goddess come to earth, but on second look, she sniffed she was very human indeed. Dorothy was at first a little dazzled and awed. When Mrs. Johnston saw it was a girl, and probably someone who wanted to make friends with Mary, she became so friendly that Dorothy followed her into the library, completely under the woman's spell.

"So sorry, Miss Selden," the smooth voice was saying, "that my daughter is out, and you buying groceries, too. I've telephoned for servants, and the agency promises them down here tomorrow, but now we're quite on our own. Isn't it a nuisance?"

"Come home with me," urged Dorothy impulsively. "Mrs. Mead-Gim will be delighted to put you up until you get help."

"That's wonderfully sweet of you, but I've no intention of making me outstay on the scene in the role of a freak guest. Mary and I get along splendidly by ourselves, and today we have Mrs.—Mrs. Pulsifer with us."

"Oh!—You have one of them in the house?"

"Them?" questioned Mrs. Johnston. "The Peace Valleyers. Oh, they're noted for their honesty. Wouldn't touch a thing. But mentally we find them so unresponsive."

"Dear me! They seem nice, well-meaning, honest people. My daughter is enthusiastic about them. Finds them wonderfully kind and helpful—especially the grocer."

If Dorothy Selden had not been thinking so hard about the impression she was making on Mrs. Johnston, she might have noticed that the sleepy brown eyes were keen. Mrs. Johnston intended to find out something when she put the apparently innocent question: "Is there more than one grocer here?"

Dorothy took this as the direct leading of providence. Here was an opening to the subject nearest her heart.

"There's only one. A man called Dubbs. He's quite all right, I think, in his place—as a grocer!"

Again, if Dorothy had been alert, she might have seen an odd flicker of the eyelids, a little quirk at the end of the pleasant mouth which asked gently: "Then what is it, Miss Selden, that is objectionable about him? There's something, I'm sure."

"His nephew." Dorothy's mind was made up. She would block Ned's game in this house.

Mrs. Johnston was relieved. Her lazy eyes bored through Dorothy's silly young girl armor. "The nephew? But where does he come in?"

"Well," hesitated Dorothy. Then an inspiration came to her. She would not tell Mrs. Johnston who Ned was. That would be playing Ned's game. Any ambitious mother would try to capture the son, to favor or cut, of Loren Rangeley. "Well, as a matter of fact, I know something the rest of

(Continued on page 7)

Too Much "Acid?"

Excess Uric Acid Gives Rise to Many Unpleasant Troubles.

AUTHORITIES agree that an excess of uric acid is primarily due to faulty kidney action. Retention of this toxic material often makes its presence felt by sore, painful joints, a tired, languid feeling and, sometimes, toxic backache and headache. That the kidneys are not functioning right is often shown by scanty or burning passage of secretions. Thousands assist their kidneys at such times by the use of Doan's Pills—a stimulant diuretic. Doan's are recommended by many local people. Ask your neighbor!

DOAN'S PILLS 60c

Stimulant Diuretic to the Kidneys

Foster-Milburn Co., Mfg. Chem., Buffalo, N. Y.

PHONE YOUR CLASSIFIED "AD"

If you're a telephone subscriber, simply lift the hook, ask for 2-J and state your request. It's a service that makes it compartively easy for you to insert your advertisement. And Want Ads offer the solution to many a problem. There's always someone eager to buy, sell or trade; someone who has a service to offer. Results are certain and the cost is quite moderate.

Call Before 11 o'clock Each Wednesday

The CHARLEVOIX COURIER

PHONE 2-J

BUSINESS CARDS

Farm Property — Lake Frontage
A. C. BELDING
REAL ESTATE BROKER
Charlevoix, Mich.
Game Preserves — Detroit Property

GLASSES FITTED
Consult
DR. J. LEAHY
OPTOMETRIST
Expert on Eye-Strain.
Petoskey, Mich.
Phone 443 for Appointment

BELLE LOUISE FLEWELLING
Palmer Chiropractor
Post Office Building
Phone 347
Office hours 2 to 5 daily
Monday, Wednesday and Friday
7 to 8

R. J. MADILL
Building Contractor
Ask for Estimates
Phone 121 Charlevoix, Mich.

D. T. McHUGH
General Contractor
Phone 214
CHARLEVOIX, MICHIGAN

R. B. ARMSTRONG
PHYSICIAN AND SURGEON
Special Attention to Diseases of Eye, Ear, Nose and Throat
Priest Bldg. Phone 258

DR. F. F. McMILLAN
Physician and Surgeon
Office above Postoffice
Phone 17
Charlevoix - - Michigan

A. L. FITCH
ATTORNEY AT LAW
Office in Court House
Phone 48
Charlevoix - Michigan

Many folks expect to accomplish grand results in 1927, by opening their mouths and allowing someone else to drop a juicy plum into the same.

The Most

Beautiful Chevrolet

in Chevrolet History!

—a host of improvements

New AC Air Cleaner
New AC Oil Filter
New Bullet-type Lamps
Full Crown Fenders
New 17-inch Steering Wheel
New Fisher Bodies
New Larger Radiator
New Gasoline Gauge
New Door Handles
New "Fish-Tail" Modeling
New Tire Carrier
New Pedal Closure
New Transmission
New Universal Joint Seal
New Windshield Pillars

amazingly reduced prices!

The Coach	$595
The Coupe	$625
The Sedan	$695
The Landau	$745
The Touring or Roadster	$525
The Sport Cabriolet	$715
1-Ton Truck (Chassis Only)	$495
½-Ton Truck (Chassis Only)	$395

Balloon Tires now standard on all models.
All prices f.o.b. Flint, Mich.

Come in and see these strikingly beautiful models

PETOSKEY AUTO SALES
East Mitchell Street, Petoskey, Michigan

BLOCK & SIMMONS, Charlevoix, Local Agents

PHOENIX HOSIERY

This well known brand of hosiery at moderate prices can be had in the new shades. An all silk hose in service-weight or chiffon at

$1.95

M. A. Levinson & Co.

Since 1857

Eagle Brand has raised more healthy babies than all other infant foods combined.

Borden's
EAGLE BRAND
CONDENSED MILK

5-Day Cash Sale

Sale Starts Thursday Morning, February 10
Lasts For Three Days

Here are Some of our Cash Bargains

25c pkg. Grandma Powder	19c
25c pkg. Snow Boy Powder	19c
10 Bars Big 4 Soap	30c
10 bars Grandma Soap	30c
2 pkgs. Royal Fruit Powder	22c
5 pkgs. Skinner's Macaroni	25c
4 lbs. Seedless Raisins	45c
1 lb. Acorn Brand Tea	60c
1 lb. White House Black Tea	68c
20c can Salmon	17c
30c can Salmon	27c
35c can Salmon	30c
25c can Pork and Beans	19c
2 15c cans Pork and Beans	25c
3 10c can Pork and Beans	25c
3 15c cans of Corn	44c
3 pkgs. Light House Jelly Powder	24c
6 lbs. Broken Rice	25c
3 lbs. Head Rice	25c
12 lbs. Granulated Sugar	$1.00
1-8th bbl. Minnesota Best Flour	$1.20
3—20c rolls Toilet Paper	50c
10c pkg. Prunes (2 lbs.)	33c
2 lbs. Cotosuet	25c
2 lbs. Pure Lard	33c

H. B. JACOBS
PHONE 176

OUR BIG

9-CENT SALE

will be full of surprises

EIGHT SMASHING BIG DAYS

Sale starts at 8:30 Sharp Friday morning, February 18.
Watch this space for next week's announcement and circulars

WITHERS' VARIETY STORE
Authorized Dealer
CROSLEY RADIOS—BETTER—COST LESS

W. E. Byers — John Boss

BYERS & BOSS
Auctioneers

We will cry your sales and clerk them. Furnish cups for all day sales.

Book sales at Courier Office

or call us by phone. All dates are made at The Courier office, phone 2-J. Phone any one of us and we will take care of your sale.

QUALITY AT LOW COST

DO IT NOW

—A—
NEW CAR
FOR YOUR OLD CAR

The Latest Finishes

Have your good car refinished with

Duco — Nu-Enamel — Nu-Lac — the High gloss Egyptian Varnishes

ATCHISON AUTO SHOP
Phone 93 - 201 Mason St.

IT PAYS TO PRESENT A NEAT APPEARANCE
HAVE YOUR HAIR CUT REGULARLY
—AT—
Denny's Bob and Beauty Shoppe
Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Sternberg
Props.

The CHARLEVOIX COURIER
Issued every Wednesday at
CHARLEVOIX - MICHIGAN

DuBois & Usher, Publishers
A. J. Usher, Editor and Business Mgr.
Courier Building Van Pelt Place

Entered at the Post Office in Charlevoix, Mich., as second class matter.

Member Michigan Press Ass'n

Advertising Rates

For advertising rates apply for schedule.

Notices of church or lodge socials and entertainments, where admission is charged, regular rates.

Obituary poetry, regular rates.

Card of Thanks, 25 cents.

TERMS OF SUBSCRIPTION

One copy, one year	$2.00
One Copy, six months	$1.00
One Copy; three months	$ .60

BACK UP NEWSPAPERS

Frequently we are so closely associated with institutions or a commodity that we do not appreciate their worth. This applies in general to newspapers. Every city, town or hamlet has its newspaper. Even sometimes, a few houses and a store and garage at a "wide place in the road", constitute excuse enough for the starting of a newspaper and not infrequently that wide place in the road becomes a real town and when it does one may rest assured that that newspaper that seemed to have had no reason for beginning life had a very [illegible] in the community development.

So it is all along the line of progress. No city ever gets very far without the sincere cooperation of newspapers. Yet no institution in a city ever gets less thanks or receives more abuse.

Probably no other one thing is a better index of a town than its weekly publications. Very often, that is about all the stranger has to go by in making up his mind about a community. If the newspaper that falls into his hands is a bright looking sheet, full of news and shows a prosperous air, the stranger is certain to infer that it was published in a live progressive town.

Those who read their weekly newspapers and patronize by things therein, in order to check the fact that they are not doing all for their town that they can. If these newspapers instead of being decried were placed in wrappers and mailed from time to time to friends and relatives at a distance, the good that could be accomplished would soon be reflected in the city's growth.

Chambers of Commerce are frequently blamed for not getting out more boost literature to be sent abroad. Those who raise these complaints could do a great deal themselves by selling out the literature that comes into their own hands, in the form of local periodicals. Rest assured there is no business individual in a town more interested in the growth of his community than is the editor or publisher, for as the town grows he grows.

FAIR PLAY

Press, public and regulating authorities apparently are coming to a realization that prosperous railways are an asset, not a liability, to the country; that in the long run railway prosperity is essential to good transportation service; and that such service is well worth the price in reasonable dividends to railway stockholders that must be paid for it. Last year was notable for the small number of misrepresentations put in circulation regarding the railways, and for the many things that were said by the press and spokesmen of business interests in praise of their management in the service and regarding the necessity of letting them make reasonable earnings and pay dividends in order that they may raise the capitol required to maintain good service.—From the Railway Age.

FEED THE BIRDS

The month of February is generally a hard month for our feathered friends, for it is during this period of the winter that the most severe days of winter comes as a rule. Get in the habit of feeding the birds that come to your home every day in search of a few crumbs from your table. Next summer they will pay their board bill,—together with accrued interest, for without birds vegetation would be destroyed within a generation.

One fact that makes Ben Franklin's name ever brighter with the years is that he actually able to borrow money from France.

DIRECTOR OF ELK RAPIDS SCHOOL BAND

Hurbert Bearss Engaged by School Board of That City

Hurbert Bearss, director of the community band at Ellsworth, also director of Charlevoix City Band has started a school band at Elk Rapids, Michigan.

Mr. Bearss' work here and with other bands is very satisfactory, in fact the organizations he has taken over have shown marked improvement. His methods of instruction are up to the minute and thorough.

Before his work as director here he had several years experience in the U. S. Army, factory and professional bands throughout the country. —Ellsworth Tradesman.

NORTH REJOICES IN BRYANT'S RETENTION

Veteran Conservationist Will be Continued on Job

Charlevoix as well as all northern Michigan points will be glad to hear that Thomas L. Bryant of Pellston has been reappointed to his position by the reorganized conservation department. Mr. Bryant is one of the most experienced and best trained conservation officers in northern Michigan.

The retention of experienced men by the department of conservation regardless of their attitude during the Groesbeck-Green campaign reveals a very progressive policy. It is pleasing indeed to those who are truly interested in conservation.

FINE PROGRAM GIVEN LAST WEDNESDAY

Large and Appreciative Audience Present at Methodist Church

The following program was excellently rendered at the First Methodist Episcopal church last Tuesday evening to a good and appreciative audience. The proceeds of the evening were applied on the purchase price of the new church hymnals:

Vocal trio, Mrs. Livingston.
Trombone solo, Mr. Demarce.
Dialogue, "The Joys of Marriage" "The Little Peach," Marion Tuby, Marguite Roen.
Solo, Hazel Kirby.
Clarinet solo, Teddy Miller.
Instrumental, "The Happy Four," four small boys.
Readings, "The Coquette," "Where Is Bob," Esther Case.
Pantomime, "The Melodramatic" Epworth League.
Motion Pictures, "A Circle Hunter" "Sharon Palm and Sage."

HOSPITAL NOTES

Mrs. Oakley Hammond and baby daughter returned to their home Tuesday.

Sam Routley was discharged from the hospital Tuesday after receiving medical treatment.

Mrs. Ray Hamilton returned to her home Monday, fully recovered from a recent operation.

Mrs. Clearence Heise was operated on for removal of appendix last Friday.

Mrs. Allen of Onaway, submitted to a cesarean operation last Friday night. Mother and baby are doing fine.

Born, to Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Bartlett, last Tuesday, an 8¼ pound baby boy.

Mrs. Hazel Fowler is rapidly recovering from her recent operation and is able to be up and about the hospital.

Miss Norma Nelson of East Jordan, is working on the hospital staff during the absence of Miss Larson.

Supt.'s Report for January

No. patients admitted	15
No. patients discharged	14
No. days care of patients	160
Average No. per day	5
Medical cases	2
Surgical cases	14
Accident cases	0
Births	1
Deaths	3
Highest No. any day	8
Lowest No. any day	3
No. meals served	1038
No patients in hospital Jan. 1	3
No. patients in hospital Feb. 4	5

AT THE MOVIES

"Phantom Bullet" Gibson Picture Coming to Palace

Hoot Gibson, the screen's most famous delineator of cowboy roles, will be here soon in "The Phantom Bullet," a Universal-Jewel, coming to the Palace Theatre, February 16. Cinema experts have pronounced this picture Hoot's greatest effort so far. In it, the western star gives to his portrayal a depth of characterization, both dramatic and humorous that shows a new side to this already many-sided screen luminary.

Buried Under Ruins When Army Hospital Is Razed

An Army hospital is shown razed to the [illegible] in the picture "[illegible]" at the Palace Theatre, Wednesday, February 16. Cinema experts have pronounced this picture Hoot's greatest effort so far. In it, the western star gives to his portrayal a depth of characterization, both dramatic and humorous that shows a new side to this already many-sided screen luminary.

cupants buried under the debris by the bombs of enemy aviators in "The Sporting Lover." Conway Tearle's new picture, which has just been released by First National Palace Theatre, Wednesday, February 16.

CONGREGATIONAL CHURCH

B. G. Matson, D. D., Minister

First of all: This Thursday night, February 10, the day of prayer is kept, our families and friends are invited to assemble in worship church at the following hour: 6:30 supper hour for money, only asked with cake and fruit, 50 bushels and one small dish prepared for it. We shall sit together, eat together and think together of the meaning of our covenant of fellowship. This will be the topic of a brief address by the pastor. Mrs. Stelter will lead us in fellowship singing.

Sunday morning sermon, "Gamaliel's Counsel, If Haply We Should be found Fighting Against God."

Sunday evening at six o'clock, the young people's church, a new plan and a new program. Musical part of the program under the care of Mrs Stelter and Miss Vanderhaagen. Leader, Virginia Parker, address to young people by the pastor, topic. "A Pilgrim of the Later Day," a deeply interesting story of a great leader of young people.

This young people's church is to take the place of the two separate meetings of young people's society and evening service. All parents, school teachers and any other friends of the young people are urged and invited to attend and share the inspiration of the meeting.

The Junior C. E. meeting will be as usual in the church dining room, led by Mr. Alexander.

CHURCH OF GOD

Services held at the Chapel:
Morning worship at 10:30 a. m.
Sunday school at 11:45 a. m.
Evening service at 7:30 p. m.
Prayer meeting Wednesday evening at 7:30 p. m.

The Sewing circle will meet at Archie Chew's on West Garfield Thursday p. m. All are invited.

We extend a welcome to all to come to the services and hear the messages of the gospel of peace. Christ extended the greeting to all: "Come Unto Me All Ye that Labor and Are of Heavy Laden and I Will Give You Rest."

He is waiting for you. Won't you make a start? Come!

SELF JUDGMENT

If we wish to be just judges of all things, let us persuade ourselves of this: that there is not one of us with out fault; no man is found who can acquit himself; and he who calls himself innocent does so with reference to a witness, and not to his conscience.—Seneca.

An Ithaca railroad passenger shot [illegible] who [illegible] him from [illegible] to his destination. [illegible] in Chicago.

LET THE COURIER PRINT YOUR SALE BILLS

THE OLDEST BANK IN CHARLEVOIX COUNTY
FORTY-THIRD YEAR IN BUSINESS

1884 1927

THIS BANK WILL BE CLOSED FRIDAY AFTERNOON FOR WINTER SPORTS AND ALL DAY SATURDAY IN OBSERVANCE OF LINCOLN'S BIRTHDAY.

Charlevoix County Bank
CHARLEVOIX, MICHIGAN
Bridge & Company
THE BANK ON THE CORNER

LOCAL NEWS BRIEFLY TOLD

Get the Habit—Read the Courier

COMMUNITY CALENDAR
Coming Events

Feb. 11 and 12. Charlevoix's big Winter Carnival. All turn out.

Feb. 15. "Neighbors" and "House of Joy," home talent plays. Palace Theatre, 8:00 p. m.

Feb. 18. Colonial Tea Party at Methodist Episcopal church, under auspices of the ladies' Aid Society.

Feb. 22. Fourth number of Lecture Course.

Feb. 23. Parent Teacher Association, High School, 7:30 p. m.

Feb. 25. Father and Son Banquet, First Methodist church.

March 2. Ash Wednesday. Lent begins.

April 8. M. E. Lad. Aid Supper.

April 10-17. Holy Week services at First Methodist church.

April 17. Easter Cantata, Baptist church, 4 p. m.

Earl Harrington of Flint, is in the city visiting his parents.

Kenneth Usher spent last Thursday in Central Lake on business.

The Busy Bees will meet Friday afternoon with Mrs. Frank Allison.

F. C. Burnett of Bay Shore, was a Charlevoix business visitor Monday.

H. C. Richmond was a Petoskey business visitor on Monday of this week.

Robert sherman of Eveline township, was a Charlevoix business visitor Tuesday.

Jerome Cole of Boyne City, was a Charlevoix business visitor on Tuesday of this week.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Atkinson of East Jordan, were Charlevoix visitors last Friday afternoon.

This Store will be closed all
Friday
Afternoon
We are going to take in the Winter
Carnival
Saturday we will be open all day to take care of the week end trade
Milton Block

Regular meeting of Pythian Sisters Monday evening, February 14. Cards and refreshments after lodge.

J. E. Crew of East Jordan, was in the city Tuesday, attending a meeting of the county poor commission.

Charles H. Emrey returned the latter part of last week from Grand Rapids, where he had been on business.

Mrs. Vernon Cushing of Petoskey, arrived in the city Thursday to spend two weeks with Mrs. H. C. Pleim.

Guy Ready, who has been laid up at his home the past week on account of illness, is able to be out again.

Mrs. Victoria Seibert has gone to Cadillac and expects to spend the remainder of the winter months with relatives there.

Harold McMann left Monday afternoon for Manitowoc, Wisconsin, where he is overhauling his boat for the spring fishing.

James Wyers and Ed Smith left for Grand Rapids Monday, and will each drive back new automobiles for the Charlevoix trade.

The Methodist Literary and Sewing Club will meet Thursday afternoon at the home of Mrs. F. F. McMillan on Park avenue.

Dwight Smith of Washington, D. C., is in the city this week visiting his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Smith, on Antrim street.

W. S. Richardson left Tuesday for Santa Monica, California, where he will join Mrs. Richardson and spend an indefinite time visiting.

The Missionary Society of the Congregational church will hold its monthly meeting February 16, at the home of Mrs. Louise Elston.

C. G. Leach, chief of the division of hatcheries of the United States bureau of fisheries, was in the city over the week end on business.

Miss Mary Finman leaves Thursday for Buffalo and other points in New York state, where she expects to visit relatives for a few weeks.

Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Parmelee returned last Saturday from points in the southern part of the state, where they had been spending the past week.

The monthly meeting of the Woman's Christian Temperance Union will be held Friday at 2:30 p. m. with Mrs. F. E. McMillan. Leader, Mrs. Mattson.

Mrs. E. E. Cross is suffering from a broken leg, received last Friday afternoon when she fell upon the ice. The fracture is near the ankle and a very painful one.

A. J. Usher left Wednesday afternoon for Grand Rapids, where he will spend until next Monday at the home of his son, H. W. Usher, while in that city on business.

Fourteen members of Pine Lake Lodge No. 122, Knights of Pythias, motored to Traverse City Tuesday evening for a get-together meeting with the lodge in that city.

Mr. and Mrs. William Wallace, Jr., and son, Louis, left last Friday morning for Detroit and other points in southern Michigan where they will spend a week or more visiting relatives and friends.

Clyde Solomon spent Tuesday morning in the city with his parents while en route to Petoskey. Clyde has been working in the vicinity of Manistee and Scottville for the Michigan Bell Telephone Co.

D. J. Eckinger returned from Flint last Wednesday evening, driving home a new Buick sedan. He was accompanied by Mrs. Eckinger, who has been visiting relatives in Flint for the past month or more.

Miss Bertha Larson, Dr. F. F. McMillan and Dr. W. H. Parks left Monday for Rochester, Minn., where they will take up a course in advanced surgery at the Mayo Brothers hospital. They expect to be gone about a week.

Charles Gale and Will Hiese left Monday for Grand Rapids, where they will represent the Charlevoix Hardware C. at the annual hardware convention held in that city the first four days of the week, returning Friday morning.

Mr. and Mrs. A. W. Goddard, accompanied by Mrs. Goddard's mother, Mrs. Nellie Wood, left on Tuesday last for Mt. Dora, Florida, where they will spend four or five weeks. They will return to Charlevoix after their Florida visit.

Mr. and Mrs. Roy Bowdish arrived in the city Tuesday from Flint, where they have been all winter, and are guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Andy McCall, Jr. They leave Thursday for New Orleans, La., where they expect to make their future home.

Friends of E. R. Harris, former Antrim and Charlevoix county resident, will be pleased to hear of his appointment as state inheritance tax examiner. Mr. Harris will work from the auditor general's office in Lansing. His headquarters will be in Detroit.

Larry R. Chase left Monday for Battle Creek, where he will enter the Legion hospital, located there. Mrs. Chase and little daughter, expect to leave in a few days for California, where she will remain indefinitely. In the departure of Mr. and Mrs. Chase, Charlevoix loses an estimable couple who during their residence here have made a host of close, intimate friends, and the best wishes of the community go with them.

CONVENTION LISTED FOR NEXT SEPTEMBER

Kalamazoo Loose Leaf Binder Co. to Visit The Inn Again

Word has been received by Charles H. Emrey, president of the Association of Commerce, that the Kalamazoo Loose Leaf Binder Company's office forces, will again hold their annual convention at The Inn, Charlevoix, sometime in September.

This Kalamazoo company, which maintains offices in all the principal cities in the United States, visited The Inn last September with a delegation of about fifty. According to the communication recently received they will come this year with an enrollment of a hundred or over, which signifies their satisfaction over their last visit.

Gifts for St. Valentine's Day

Valentines, 1c to $2.00. Whitman's Valentine Boxed Candy, Samples 1, 2 and 3 lb. boxes. Valentine Boxed Stationery—something new. Fessenden, the Druggist.—Adv. 5t2.

CHARLEVOIX COPS ANOTHER VICTORY

Took Mancelona Five Into Camp Last Friday Night

Charlevoix high school advanced another step towards the northern Michigan Class C basketball championship last Friday evening at the local gym by her 23 to 19 victory over Mancelona.

The Charlevoix team displayed excellent team work during the game, which was evidenced by the fact that scoring honors were nearly evenly divided among the players on the squad. The locals gained an early lead, which was never seriously threatened. The score at the half was 13 to 6, and at the end of the third quarter, 23 to 11. Substituting in the final quarter weakened. The team work and Mancelona scored 8 points in a strong come back, but could not overcome Charlevoix's early lead. Coach Wells of East Jordan refereed.

ANNUAL ELECTION TO BE ON APRIL 4

Vote On State Officers and County School Commissioner

At the spring biennial election, to be held in all precincts of the county, the following officers will be voted for:

State—Two justices of the supreme court; two regents of the University of Michigan; one superintendent of public instruction; one member state board of education; two members of the state board of agriculture.

County—County commissioner of schools.

Gifts for St. Valentine's Day

Valentines, 1c to $2.00. Whitman's Valentine Boxed Candy, Samples 1, 2 and 3 lb. boxes. Valentine Boxed Stationery—something new. Fessenden, the Druggist.—Adv. 5t2.

NOW MANAGER OF HOTEL BARBER SHOP

Charlevoix Friends Hear from Mr. and Mrs. Wagner

Rev. B. G. Mattson recently enjoyed an interesting letter from John J. Wagner from Clearwater, Florida. Mr. and Mrs. Wagner are living at 410 Pennsylvania Ave., Clearwater. John is manager in charge of the Fort Harrison Hotel barber shop. They are finding the winter very delightful and greatly enjoy their new home and the winter attractions of Clearwater. On Christmas day a party of about forty including the Wagners held a picnic dinner on the beach enjoying surf bathing as part of the day's celebration.

He gave some interesting accounts of the prosperous and beautiful churches in that city and particularly mentioned the fine band, advising his friends in Charlevoix to tune in on WGHB, Clearwater, to hear some of their programs. Kind remembrances are sent to his many Charlevoix friends.

Of course we should have to put on some style to live at John's hotel, $10.00 to $25.00 per day for rooms, but he will call you "next" at one of the eight chairs over which his genial personality presides as manager barber.

HOCKEY GAME TO BE CARNIVAL FEATURE

Following Line-ups Will Appear in Royal Battle

One of the main attractions of the carnival Saturday evening will be the hockey game between the Independents and high school team. Members of the two teams have been practicing every night at the rink and a royal battle is in prospect. Lack of sufficient "armor" has resulted in numerous bruises, bumps, barked shins, etc., but they don't seem to mind little things like that.

The line-up on the Independent team will appear as follows: Goal—Roy Hamilton; Don Campbell; point—Ed Edwards, Jerry Richardson; cover point—A. Livingston, C. Wood; right wing—Chas. Emrey, Robt. Bridge, Lyle Kowalski; left wing—George Beeman, Dick Hammett, Frank Coatta; center—Don McHugh, Allie Moore. The following men will appear on the high school line-up, but their positions have not yet been chosen: Edwin Kling, Alfred Gill, Bill Fessenden, Chas. Sterritt, Fred Chaddock, John Sherrow.

Church Again at Ironton

The Ironton church service was resumed last Sunday by Rev. B. G. Mattson after, several Sunday's cancellation due to blocked roads. With the opening of the road to East Jordan and the ferry crossing it is expected that the services will continue regularly. There was a good attendance last Sunday. The Ironton community appreciates the privilege of a religious service. The Ladies' Aid Society keeps up regular work in spite of the loss of a good many members for the winter, some having come to Charlevoix for the school privileges and others having migrated farther south. A division of the Ironton Ladies' Aid meets regularly at Ironton.

Courier Want Ads. pay.

COURIER BARGAIN COLUMN.

Courier Want Advs. are One Cent per word per insertion. Minimum charge is 20 cents per insertion, for anything under 20 words. All Want Advs. are strictly cash in advance except to those who have ledger accounts. Please remember this when sending in your copy.

FOR SALE OR TRADE

FOR SALE OR TRADE for city property, 40 acre farm with large sugar bush. Cheap for quick sale. Inquire 101 Mason street, or Min-Eva Lunch Room.—5-t3 pd.

FOR SALE—MISCELLANEOUS

FOR SALE—An old-fashioned, hand carved, walnut dresser. Inquire Mrs. M. R. Russel, 202 Grant St. 6t1.

FOR SALE—Heavy fur-lined coat. H. D. Dean, Fish Hatchery. 5t2pd.

FOR SALE—LIVE STOCK

FOR SALE—Good work mare. Also wish to buy work team. Preferably young. Ns A. Harper, Charlevoix, Rt. 2.—6-t1pd.

WANTED—MISCELLANEOUS

WANTED—To buy a business proposition, or will invest capital with time. Address "J", care Courier. 4t2pd.

BUSINESS OPPORTUNITIES

A WONDERFUL OPPORTUNITY FOR LIVE MERCHANT
Established business for sale. High class fixtures and merchandise. See P. J. Moran for information. 217 Clinton St., Charlevoix. 51f.

1905 1927

THIS BANK WILL BE CLOSED FRIDAY AFTERNOON FOR WINTER SPORTS AND ALL DAY SATURDAY IN OBSERVANCE OF LINCOLN'S BIRTHDAY.

Charlevoix State Savings Bank
CHARLEVOIX, MICHIGAN
W. S. Richardson, President.
A. D. Crimmins, Vice President.
Archie Livingston, Cashier.
G. W. Richardson, Asst. Cashier.

Friday and Saturday Specials

Eat wholesome, nourishing food and keep yourself in condition to withstand the vigors of winter. Take plenty of out-door exercise. It will result in better health conditions and a vigorous appetite. Take advantage of our week-end specials and save on your purchases. These are for the week-end:

3 large cans Good Luck Milk	23c
Large can Royal Baking Powder	45c
1 lb. Calumet Baking Pawder	23c
Fancy Asparagus Tips, per can	35c
10 bars Yellow Rub-No-More Soap	43c
Large pkg. Rub-No-More Powder	25c

Meat Department

2 lbs. Bologna	29c
2 lbs. Frankforts	29c
All-meat Hamburger, per lb.	15c

Closed Friday Afternoon For Winter Sports

MARTIN BLOCK
Opposite Post Office Phones 12 and 142

NEW PALACE THEATRE
ATTRACTIONS FOR THE COMING WEEK

Saturday and Sunday, February 12 and 13
"THE SPORTING LOVER" with Barbara Bebford and Conway Tearle. The kind of a man every woman loves, and the kind of a picture you'll clever all through. When the drums of war threaten to shake the courage of most men, this man comes fighting through—through to love. Prize mounts of England in the most spectacular horse race you've ever seen—neck and neck struggles down the track, hoof beats, heart beats—it beats all for thrills. Also Educational comedy. "Wife Shy."

Wednesday, February 16th
Hoot Gibson in "THE PHANTOM BULLET." Remember "The Galgary Stampede" and "The Arizona Sweepstakes." More action and speed than either with an absolutely new kind of thrill. "The Phantom Bullett." It's quicker than the eye—swifter than the fastest airplane—surer than a mountain goat, and will give you a surpreme thrill with Hoot behind it solving the mystery of the ghostly bullet that laid his father low. Hoot shoots and rides, fights and loves and this gorgeous picture moves fast as lightning. It's a hair raising story but with Hoot in it—well Hoot is there all the way from the Jack. Also "Flaming Ice" and Fox News.
Coming—Richard Dix in "The Quarterback."
Coming—Harold Lloyd in "The Kid Brother."
Coming—Eddie Cantor in "Kid Boots."

ENGRAVING
INITIALS — MONOGRAMS or EMBLEMS on WATCHES — JEWELRY SILVERWARE
Your Name Carved in Gold Letters on IVORY SETS - FOUNTAIN PENS - PENCILS
P. J. MORAN
Phone 127 217 Clinton St.

Brighten Your Home With Fresh Cut Flowers
—OR—
Blooming Plants
Flowers for all occasions
A. E. EDWARDS
FLORIST
We're as near as your telephone

Graham Brothers Trucks!

Yearly sales of Graham Brothers Trucks are shown in the table below. It begins with 1921 and goes through 1926.

½-TON CHASSIS
$670.00
1-TON CHASSIS
(G-Boy)
$885.00
1½-TON CHASSIS
$1245.00
2-TON CHASSIS
$1445.00
Delivered

1086
3401
6971
10743
23884
37463

This steady growth is complete and convincing proof that the public has recognized the superior value in Graham Brothers Trucks.

Graham Brothers Trucks and Commercial Cars meet 91% of all hauling requirements.

BENJAMIN BROWN
Charlevoix, Michigan

COMMENT ON WINTER SPORTS

(Contiaued from page one.)

Revived This Year

The following year was a poor one for snow and ice and nothing much done. This year, however, interest has been revived and Charlevoix is planning a winter carnival that is right. All places of business will be closed on February 11th and 12th. The first day's program includes skiing contests and tobogganing on Mt. McSauba, during the afternoon, followed in the evening by a hockey game between the high school team and the city independents, fancy skating, ice races and coasting. On Saturday afternoon there will be dog-sled races on the main street and more skating and skiing. Saturday evening, more skating races and a coasting party on Bridge street are planned. Participants are asked to wear correct winter sports garb, if possible.

Local newspapers are being used to advertise the program, the idea being with the people of Charlevoix, "Sell the idea of winter sports to ourselves, then sell it to the world." Photographs will be taken of the events and as much publicity given the affair as possible.

The Cheboygan Democrat, in its issue of February 3, comments on our coming carnival as follows:

Charlevoix people, realizing that northern Michigan offers as great opportunities for winter sports as Lake Placid or any of the other nationally known winter resort places, proposes to take the initial step that will lead to a regular pursuit of all kinds of winter sports, skating, ice boating, skiing, tobogganing, dog racing, and all the other things attracting the out-of-doors people, and will hold a carnival of winter sports beginning Friday, February 11th. Charlevoix says:

"The success of this carnival will be just what we make it. Out-of town visitors are invited, of course, and urged to come, but the main idea is to get started. "Sell the idea of winter sports to ourselves, then sell it to the world."

That's the spirit that must prevail and the policy to be pursued, if northern Michigan counties are to make and serious bid for recognition as a winter playground as well as a summer resort haven. Charlevoix is proceeding along the right lines. They must first sell the idea of winter sports to themselves, and when they have succeeded the people from outside will become attracted. With auto travel as easy and as pleasant in the winter time between northern Michigan and southern Michigan cities as it has been this winter, and will continue to be hereafter, our city cousins will be able to obtain a wonderful "kick" out of a visit to northern Michigan in the winter. Thousands of them have summer cottages here they will take delight in opening up for such winter visits. There are great possibilities, and the towns like, Charlevoix, Petoskey, Topinabee, Wolverine, Gaylord and Grayling with lots of lakes and rivers, big hills and every opportunity for winter sports of every kind right at the door, will become popular as winter resorts just as soon as they sell themselves to winter sports, and provide for their own outdoor pleasures and to learn to attract the others.

CORRECT ENGLISH
MONTHLY MAGAZINE

Authoritative Exponent of English for 24 years.

Edited and founded by

JOSEPHINE. TURCK BAKER
Famous World Authority on English

Send 10 Cents for Sample Copy

Correct English Publishing Co.
EVANSTON, ILLINOIS

Agents Wanted Everywhere

BEGINNING FEBRUARY 7th

and continuing until April 1st, or until the spring break-up, the State Department, Branch Office, Boyne City, for distribution of Automobile License Plates, will be open

WEDNESDAYS AND SATURDAYS—8:00 to 12:00 a. m. and 1:00 to 6:00 p. m.

MONDAYS, TUESDAYS, THURSDAYS and FRIDAYS—8:00 to 12:00 a. m., Eastern Standard Time.

Mailed applications given prompt attention.

Look up your titles. No license can be issued from the local office on titles that have not been transferred to present owner within 10 days of the date of purchase.

CHAS. T. McCUTCHEON,
Branch Manager.

Gifts for St. Valentine's Day

Valentines, 1c to $2.00. Whitman's Valentine Boxed Candy, Sampler 1, 2 and 3 lb. boxes. Valentine Boxed Stationery—something new. Fessenden, the Druggist.—Adv. 5t2.

VALUE OF LIVE STOCK IN STATE

(Continued from page one.)

year the larger number had a less total value than those of one year ago, it being $13,718,000 against $14,053,000. The sheep industry has been on the increase since 1922 in Michigan.

Swine: The net increase in the number of hogs and pigs in Michigan during 1926 was 22,000, or a total of 749,000 on January 1 of this year. These had a total value of $13,198,000 or an average of $17.50 per head. One year ago, the average value per head was $16.20.

Gifts for St. Valentine's Day

Valentines, 1c to $2.00. Whitman's Valentine Boxed Candy, Sampler 1, 2 and 3 lb. boxes. Valentine Boxed Stationery—something new. Fessenden, the Druggist.—Adv. 5t2.

MAY RESULT IN COMPULSORY INSURANCE

Irresponsible Auto Owners Should Be Made to Pay

There is going to be some discussion in our legislature this year about compulsory automobile insurance, says the Michigan Manufacturer and Financial Record.

It is sincerely to be hoped that the results of the discussion will be a determination on the part of this state to experiment with the principle. If it doesn't work out well in two years we can amend the provisions or repeal them.

In the ordinary relations of life the damages which are inflicted on some people by some other people are marked by two characteristics. The damages are unusual and not widespread and the persons who inflict them are usually of means proportionate to their opportunities to do harm to other folks and the magnitude of the harm done. But we have come into a day and generation of intensive use of the motor car which we hope will not diminish; and of such general ownership of these handy means of transport that many people who own them haven't much other property, and sometime none other. That means that when they inflict injury by collision or other means, their own estates are "blown up" and there is no responsibility to appeal to outside in wrecked car.

The institution of insurance is a beneficent one to appeal to in such a case of scattered responsibility. The amount which it will cost is slight comparable with the dangers to which the public is exposed. An uninsured motor car should not be allowed at large. The legislators can very properly make provision for such public safety.

Old papers for sale at Courier.

30 YEAR GOITRE RELIEVED

In Five Weeks by a Colorless Liniment.

Michigan Lady Reports Gain In Health.

Mrs. C. H. Lee, Linden, Michigan, says, "I am now feeling good and my throat don't bother. My goitre has vanished and the terrible choking, smothering, dizziness, difficult breathing, throbbing and nervousness have been relieved. You may use my testimonial. I will be glad to write to anyone." Sold at all drug stores, or write Sorbol Company, Mechanicsburg, Ohio. Locally at F. J. Fessenden's, druggist.

Christian Science Society

Sunday service 10:45 a. m.
Subject: "Soul."
Sunday school at 12 o'clock.
Wednesday evening service 7:45.
Reading room open Tuesday and Saturday, 3 to 5 p. m.
The public is cordially invited to attend our service.

The millions of germs on money and in kisses never make it mean refuse either.

LEGAL NOTICES

Registration Notice

To the Qualified Electors of the city of Charlevoix, state of Michigan.

Notice is hereby given that in conformity with the Michigan Election Law, I, the undersigned City Clerk, will, upon any day except Sunday and a legal holiday, the day of primary election, receive for registration the name of any legal voter in said city not already registered who may apply to me personally for such registration. Provided, however, that I can receive no name for registration during the time intervening between the second Saturday before the day of election, or the day of primary election.

You are further notified, that I will be in my office, February the 14 and February the 19th., 1927, from 8 o'clock a. m. until 8 o'clock p. m. each day for the purpose of registering such of the qualified electors in said city as shall properly apply therefore.

Charles H. Lamphear,
City Clerk.
By. D. S. Payton,
5t2 Deputy.

Order For Appearance

State of Michigan, the Circuit Court for the County of Charlevoix, in Chancery.

Pearl W. Hall, Plaintiff vs. A. I. Richard Hall, Defendant.

Suit pending in the Circuit Court for the County of Charlevoix, in said county, on the 23rd day of December A. D. 1926.

In this cause it appearing from affidavit on file, that the Defendant A. I. Richard Hall, is not a resident of this state, but resides in the state of Illinois.

On motion of Arthur L. Fitch attorney for the Plaintiff, it is ordered that the said A. I. Richard Hall Defendant cause his appearance to be entered in this cause within three months from the date of this order; and in case of his appearance he cause his answer to the Plaintiff's Bill of Complaint to be filed, and a copy thereof to be served on said attorney for the Plaintiff, with fifteen days after service on said non-resident Defendent of a copy of said Bill and notice of this order; and that in default thereof; said bill be taken as confessed by said non-resident Defendant.

And it is Further Ordered, That within forty days the Plaintiff cause a notice of this order to be published in the Charlevoix Courier, a newspaper printed, published and circulated in said county, and that such publication be continued therein at least once in each week for six weeks in succession and that plaintiff cause a copy of this order to be mailed to said defendant A. I. Richard Hall at his last known post office address, by registered mail with postage thereon fully prepaid and demand a return receipt therefore; or that said plaintiff cause a copy of this order to be served on said defendant A. I. Richard Hall personally at least twenty days before the time herein prescribed for the appearance of said defendant; or that said plaintiff shall cause a copy of this order to be served on the said defendant A. I. Richard Hall by registered mail and demand a return receipt from the post office department at least twenty days before the time prescribed for the appearance of the said defendant.

Parm C. Gilbert,
Circuit Judge.
A. L. Fitch,
Attorney for Plaintiff
Business Address, Charlevoix, Mich.
2-t6

Order For Publication

State of Michigan, the Probate Court for the county of Charlevoix.

At a session of said court, held at the probate office in the city of Charlevoix in said county, on the 24th day of January A. D. 1927.

Present: Hon. Servetus A. Correll, Judge of Probate.

In the matter of the Estate of Elizabeth Newman, deceased.

Llewellyne S. See having filed in said court his petition praying that the administration of said estate be granted to petitioner, or to some other suitable person.

It is ordered, that the 16th day of February, A. D. 1927, at ten o'clock in the fornoon, at said probate office, be and is hereby appointed for hearing said petition.

It is further ordered, that public notice thereof be given publication of a copy of this order, once each week for three successive weeks, previous to said day of hearing, in the Charlevoix Courier a newspaper printed and circulated in said county.

Servetus A. Correll,
Judge of Probate.
4t3.

Mortgage Sale

Default having been made in the conditions of a certain mortgage made by Edward B. Ward and Annie E. Ward of Charlevoix, Michigan to John Nicholls of Charlevoix, Michigan, dated the 3rd day of October, A. D. 1905, and recorded in the office of the Register of Deeds for the county of Charlevoix and state of Michigan, on the 3rd day of October, A. D. 1908, in Liber 44 of mortgages, on page 488, whereby the power of sale contained in said mortgage has become operative, on which mortgage there is claimed to be due at the date of this notice the sum of Four Hundred Ninety-nine Dollars for principal and interest, and an attorney's fee of Ten dollars, provided for in said mortgage, and no suit or proceedings at law having been instituted to recover the moneys secured by said mortgage or any part thereof;

Now, therefore, by virtue of the power of sale contained in said mortgage, and the statute in such case made and provided, notice is hereby given that on Friday the 29th day of April, A. D. 1927, at Ten o'clock in the forenoon, the undersigned will sell at public auction to the highest bidder, at the east front door of the court house, in the city of Charlevoix, Michigan, (that being the place where the circuit court for said county of Charlevoix is held,) the premises described in said mortgage, or so much thereof as may be necessary to pay the amount due on said mortgage, with seven per cent interest, and all legal costs, together with said attorney's fee, as provided by law, the premises being described in said mortgage as follows, to-wit:

Lot number One Hundred Thirty-five of Upright & Hurlhut addition to the city of Charlevoix, county of Charlevoix and state of Michigan.

Dated, January 31st., 1927.

Albert F. Bridge, Executor of the estate of John Nicholls, deceased,
Mortgagee.

A. L. Fitch,
Attorney for Mortgagee.
Business Address: Charlevoix, Michigan. 5t13.

Mortgage Sale

Default having been made in the conditions of a certain mortgage made by Minnie Jane Smith of Charlevoix, Michigan, to Celia N. Bridge of Charlevoix, Michigan, dated the Fourteenth day of October, A. D. 1916, and recorded in the office of the Register of Deeds of the county of Charlevoix, State of Michigan, on the Sixteenth day of October, A. D. 1916, in Liber 52 of Mortgages, on page 180, whereby the power of sale contained in said mortgage has become operative, on which mortgage there is claimed to be due at the date of this notice the sum of Nine Hundred Two and Seventy-five one-hundredths Dollars as principal and interest and the further sum of One-Hundred Three and 20-100 Dollars paid in taxes on the land described in said mortgage and the further sum of Twenty dollars as an attorney fee provided for in said mortgage, and no suit or proceedings at law having been instituted to recover the moneys secured by said mortgage or any part thereof;

Therefore, by virtue of the power of sale contained in said mortgage, and the statute in such case made and provided, notice is hereby given that on Friday, the 29th day of April, A. D. 1927, at ten o'clock in the forenoon, at the east front door of the court house in the city of Charlevoix, Michigan, that being the place where the circuit court for said county is held, the undersigned will sell at public auction to the highest bidder, the premises described in said mortgage, or so much thereof as may be necessary to pay the amount due on said mortgage, as aforesaid, with seven per cent interest, and all legal costs, together with said attorney fee, as provided by law, the lands and premises being described in said mortgage as follows:

All that certain piece or parcel of land situate in the city of Charlevoix, county of Charlevoix, state of Michigan, described as follows: Beginning four hundred sixty and one-half feet east of a point where the north line of the Emmet and Grand Traverse State Road (now known as Petoskey Ave.) intersects the east line of Michigan Avenue, the same being the southwest corner of a lot owned by Jennie Gail Vandermade; thence east along the north line of Petoskey Avenue sixty-six feet; thence north one hundred fifty-six and three-fourths feet; thence west sixty-six feet; thence south to the place of beginning, the same being Lot number One of Block number three of Fox and Eaton's unrecorded plat to the village of Charlevoix, Michigan.

Dated, February 2nd., 1927.

Celia N. Bridge,
Mortgagee.

A. L. Fitch,
Attorney for Mortgagee,
Business address: Charlevoix, Michigan. 5t13.

NOTICE OF CHANCERY SALE

State of Michigan, in the Circuit Court for the County of Charlevoix, in Chancery.

Donald O. Bouderman and Dallas Bouderman, Jr., Plaintiffs, vs. Hattie McNeill, Defendant.

In pursuance and by virtue of an order and decree of the Circuit Court for the County of Charlevoix, Michigan, in chancery, dated the 6th day of January, A. D. 1927, in the above cause in said court pending wherein Donald O. Bouderman and Dallas Bouderman, Jr., are plaintiffs and Hattie McNeill is defendant, said suit having been filed to foreclose a mortgage on which, by the terms of said decree, there was due on the date of said decree, namely, Two Thousand Three Hundred Five and 31-100 Dollars ($2,305.31).

Notice is Hereby Given, That I shall sell at public auction to the highest bidder at the east front door of the Court House in the City of Charlevoix, Michigan, (said Court House being the place for holding the Circuit Court for said county,) on the 22nd day of March, A. D. 1927, at ten (10) o'clock in the forenoon of said day, Central Standard Time, all or so much thereof as may be necessary of the land and premises hereinafter described to raise the amount due to said plaintiffs by the terms of said decree, together with principal, interest, taxes, insurance and costs due said plaintiffs at the time of said sale.

The premises to be sold are described as follows, towit:

The parcels of land situated in the City of Charlevoix, County of Charlevoix and State of Michigan, and described as follows, to wit: the west half (½) of Lots One and Two (1, 2) in Block Four (4) of Dixon's addition to the village (now city) of Charlevoix, according to the plat thereof duly recorded in the office of the Register of Deeds of Charlevoix County, Michigan.

Dated at Charlevoix, Michigan, January 27th, A. D. 1927.

Lisle Shanahan,
Circuit Court Commissioner in and for Charlevoix County, Michigan. Business address, Charlevoix, Michigan.

Adams and Vanllorn,
Attorneys, for Plaintiff,
Business address, 114 West South St., Kalamazoo, Michigan.
5t7.

Mortgage Sale

Default having been made in the conditions of a mortgage made by Albert L. Johnson and Alma K. Johnson, husband and wife, to John Nicholls, of Charlevoix, Michigan, dated the second day of February, A. D. 1912, and recorded in the office of the Register of Deeds of the county of Charlevoix, state of Michigan, on the second day of February, A. D. 1912, in Liber 148 of Mortgages, on page 61, whereby the power of sale contained in said mortgage has become operative, on which mortgage there is claimed to be due at the date of this notice the sum of Four Hundred Twenty Dollars and Fifty Cents as principal and interest and Twenty-eight Dollars and Fifty seven Cents, in taxes paid by the mortgagee on the lands described in said mortgage, together with an attorney fee of Fifteen Dollars provided for in said mortgage, and no suit or proceeding at law having been instituted to recover the moneys secured by said mortgage or any part thereof;

Therefore, by virtue of the power of sale contained in said mortgage, and the statute in such case made and provided, notice is hereby given that on Friday, the 29th day of April, A. D. 1927, at ten o'clock in the forenoon, at the east front door of the court house in the city of Charlevoix, county of Charlevoix, and state of Michigan, that being the place where the circuit court for said county is held, the undersigned will sell at public auction to the highest bidder, the lands and premises described in said mortgage, or so much thereof as may be necessary to pay the amount due on said mortgage, as aforesaid, with seven per cent interest, and all legal costs, together with said attorney fee, as provided by law, the lands and premises being described in said mortgage, as follows, to-wit:

All that certain piece or parcel of land situate in the Township of Marion, county of Charlevoix, and state of Michigan, and described as follows, to-wit: The southwest quarter of the southwest quarter of section twelve, township thirty-three north, range eight west.

Dated, February 2nd, 1927.

Albert F. Bridge, Executor of the estate of John Nicholls, deceased.
Mortgagee.

A. L. Fitch,
Attorney for the Executor of the Estate of John Nicholls, deceased, mortgagee.
Business address: Charlevoix, Michigan. 5t13

ease the pain

Nothing brings such comforting relief as the original Baume Bengué. It starts to drive out pain as soon as you apply it.

GET THE ORIGINAL FRENCH
BAUME BENGUÉ
(ANALGESIQUE)

Babies Love It

For all stomach and intestinal troubles and disturbances due to teething, there is nothing better than a safe Infants' and Children's Laxative.

MRS. WINSLOW'S SYRUP

Raising the Family-
WELL, IKE, ME AND MA SAVED UP $50 FOR A NEW PIANNER AND SHE'S GOIN TO GIT IT TODAY!
THAT WAS A GOOD IDEA, THAT WAS!
YES, WE DECIDED WASTED FOUR OR MEN MORE TIMES TO SEE A SHOW AND PUT IT TOGETHER THAT WAY WE SHARED TH' EXPENSE—THAT WAS FOUR TOO MUCH!
OH, PA!
YEP!
SURE!
INTERNATIONAL CARTOON CO. N. Y.

JUST KIDS—Up to the Minute!

By Ad Carter

WIMIN HAS TOOK TO WEARIN' BOOTS - AIN'T THEY, TOMMY?
DAD SAYS THEY'LL SOON WEAR OVERHALLS N'SMOKE PIPES!
A. CARTER
INTERNATIONAL CARTOON CO.

Alabaster Lamps

By Margaret Turnbull

C... by Margaret Turnbull. WNU Service.

(Continued from page three)

[illegible] fellow [illegible], you know, I'd only to warn you."

"Awfully kind of you, I'm sure," murmured the little Mrs. Johnston. "And now that you've done your rather disagreeable duty, I'll tell all about my plan and—Dorothy, why's your hand just what this 'community' stands for."

Dorothy immediately forgot everything and vanished into an animated and wholesome description of the "community," its aims and aspirations.

"The Name He Goes Under Here Was Not His Name in New York."

Mrs. Johnston listened beautifully. Throughout the remainder of the call she appeared so interested in everything Dorothy had to say that it would have been difficult for Dorothy to believe the question uppermost in Mrs. Johnston's mind was:

"Why does the little blonde cut take all this trouble to run down a grocer's boy?"

CHAPTER V

Claude Dabbs could trace his American blood to some time before the Revolution. His forbears, the Durhams, the Parks, the Elliotts and the Dabbs, had probably called themselves English—when they were not Scots—and that fact accounted for much. Claude himself was essentially and uncompromisingly American, and his shop had that distinction.

While it was scrupulously clean, and the cleanliness was, in true American fashion, accepted and taken for granted, there was also what Ben Johnston styled "a sweet disorder" about the place, which accentuated the charm of it to the oldest customers and to C. M. Dabbs, Jr., II.

Mary Johnston felt the charm as she entered the shop and was introduced by Ned to its owner. While her order was being put up, Mary went to the post office, promising Ned to return in time to help [illegible] with the order. Ned stood watching her for a [illegible] that Claude was observing with interest.

When Ned turned and came into the shop, Claude was apparently absorbed in the order book and Ned went his rather uncertain way about, trying to assemble the White house order without help.

Ned, whistling softly to himself, thought that this was indeed Peace Valley. The drive down had been perfect. Since he had told Mary everything about himself except a few essentials like his real name, who his father was and how he had met "Uncle Claude" it might well seem so to him.

Then he caught sight of Mary Johnston coming back from the post office. He hustled himself in getting the order box on the rear seat of the car, so that Mary would occupy the seat at his side.

Claude glanced at the girl and wondered of whom she faintly reminded him.

The car started toward Clover Hollow. Claude stared after it, and not until it was well out of sight did he wake up and heed the plaintive wail of Silas.

"What's the matter now, Shad?" Dabbs asked.

"You've let Ned off without the Master's order, and the other Clover Hollow stuff," replied Silas dejectedly. "I kept trying to tell you."

"Don't worry. Throw it into the floor and I'll tend to it soon as I come back from the barber's," and Claude took his way down to Ike Newman's—Ike was shaving the customers in regular order, and without more than the usual disregard of modern sanitary precautions. Claude always shaved himself, and did not patronize Ike, save as regards tobacco and cigars; but visited him often enough to be neighborly and to hear whatever gossip his own customers had missed.

Precisely, just as Claude had hoped, the talk drifted around to "them Clover Hollowers." It was, just as Claude well knew, an inexhaustible subject. Dick Hanna had been up at the Mandarins, working on the community garden, and he had some country witticisms to offer at Dorothy Selden's expense. To Claude's astonishment, however, though Dick had been working there all week, he had evidently heard nothing about Ned's real name.

Claude breathed more freely, much relieved, yet wondered how long Miss Selden would keep this to herself. He decided that he would not speak to Ned until it became necessary, or Miss Selden made it public property.

Having learned what he came for, Claude was preparing to go when he heard the name "Johnston," spoken by one one in the group nearest the door.

Dick Hanna was still holding forth: "Yeh, but that Selden girl ain't in it with the new one that has come to the White house. I mean that—Miss Johnston. You saw her driving with Ned Carter. Wish't I had his chance. I'd be driving with one hand all right. And even she ain't in it with her mother. Gollies! I wouldn't believe it was her mother."

"Stepma, meddie, but they don't act like it. They're awful close and fond of each other, them two. The mother's a thundering fine digger of a woman. She's a whilder with money, I believe. She kin have me for her second whenever she names the day."

Laughter filled the shop. Claude declined to go. Dick Hanna always made him feel around for a handy club.

"An' while you was schlipping around moles, Ike, I called to mind that one of her's." Dick continued. "It's right on the tip of her ear, brown and flat, and lays against it like one of them drop earrings. Say, I'd like—"

The door banged so loudly they all looked up.

"Guess Claude's remembered he's forgot somebody's orders."

Claude Dabbs put the orders into the truck mechanically. His mind, which Ned had catalogued as calm and philosophical, was in the state which Claude himself had long ago diagnosed as "that of—a excitable temper of mine."

Claude argued with himself that there was no earthly reason, after all these years of nothing happening, to get headed up because I'd heard of a red-headed woman with a dude on her ear. Of course there was the hated "Johnston" but it was a common enough name. Anyway, it would be her husband's name. There it was; he must be at that "dangerous age" everybody was writing about. If he got so excited about some Johnston's widow and daughter.

That was another thing—a daughter! If the woman he was thinking of was at the White house, where would a daughter come in? It was not, he assured himself, worth thinking about.

* * * * * * *

To Claude's astonishment and pleasure, Ned seemed content and happy in helping him about the store, or running the car to and fro between Clover Hollow and Peace Valley.

Ned, Claude observed, never spoke voluntarily of Dorothy Selden and made no effort to meet her. The vexed question of his real name slipped into the background of Claude's mind, save for those moments when he looked upon him with a fatherly eye and wondered what Loren Rangeley was thinking of.

Gradually it came to pass that Ned delivered all the Clover Hollow orders, Claude never crossed the White house kitchen steps, nor did he see anything of the Johnstons, save an occasional glimpse of Mary going through the village in the car, with Ned at the wheel. Mrs. Johnston never came to Peace Valley. When Claude was honest with himself he admitted that this fact was a relief. If by any chance she was the woman he feared, what would he say to her when he saw her? Until he was sure of that—he would make no move.

Ned, obeying nothing philosophical or studied, drifted along, caught, as he put it to himself, in the maelstrom of Peace Valley. He was indifferent to the danger of discovery which Dorothy Selden represented. He was sure that Dorothy was "too good a scout" to give him away, and he was equally sure that she wanted to forget him as much as she wanted to forget her.

It never occurred to Ned that Dorothy was simply biding her own time, determined that when she struck at last the lovely Mary Johnston should feel the blow. As a matter of fact, Ned was doing very little thinking. He was creating a fool's paradise which one sentence from Dorothy would destroy; dreaming of a place in this peaceful little world, whose chief inhabitant was Mary. To be received or rejected on his own merits as Claude Dabbs' nephew, and not Loren Rangeley's pampered and eligible son; surely that would be a triumph worth while. He sought diligently to make himself popular in the store and the village and indispensible at the White house.

(TO BE CONTINUED.)

Gifts for St. Valentine's Day

Valentines, 1c to $2.00. Whitman's Valentine Boxed Candy, Sampler 1, 2 and 3 lb. boxes. Valentine Boxed Stationery—something new. Essenden, the Druggist.—Adv. 512.

DODGE BROTHERS 1926 PRODUCTION

Had Its Biggest Year in History of Company

Dodge Brothers, Inc., last year sold to dealers 331,764 passenger cars and trucks, making 1926 the biggest year in its history. The gain over 1925, which was the company's best previous year, is 27.6 per cent. The 1926 record is remarkable as it surpasses the huge output of 259,967 cars and trucks in 1925 by 71,797 units and was made without the sales impetus which many companies gain from the frequent introduction of new models.

Dodge Brothers, Inc., rate of growth last year was nearly nine times as rapid as that of the automotive industry as a whole, which made a production gain of only 3.3 per cent over 1925. Figures compiled by the National Automobile Chamber of Commerce for 1926 place production of all automobile manufacturers at 4,489,000 cars and trucks.

Graham Brothers, the truck division of Dodge Brothers, Inc., also make a striking showing with a gain over 1925 of 55.7 per cent in sales to dealers. The rate of gain was approximately eight times as fast as that of the entire truck industry last year. National Automobile Chamber of Commerce figures show that the output for the whole truck industry was 7 per cent larger in 1926 than in 1925. Total sales of Graham Brothers trucks and motor coaches to dealers in 1926 amounted to 37,463 units.

Combined sales of Dodge Brothers commercial cars and Graham Brothers trucks to dealers last year totaled 67,293 units, an increase of 32.7 per cent over sales of 50,713 vehicles in 1925.

Despite factory production and shipments by Dodge Brothers, Inc., of a record number of passenger cars and trucks in 1926, stocks in dealers' hands and in transit December 31 were substantially smaller than at the close of the previous year.

* * * * * * * * * * *

ST. MARY'S CHURCH

* * * * * * * * * * *

Rev. Fr. Odelo, Pastor.

Sunday services 8:00 a. m. and 10:00 a. m.

Services Monday and Tuesday, 8:00 a. m.

Services Saturday 7:00 a. m.

Ladies' Altar Society meets Thursday afternoons.

How to read Percentages

Were Dodge Brothers to sell 100 motor cars one year and 200 motor cars the next, they could truthfully announce that their sales had increased 100% in a single year. Yet they would only have sold 300 motor cars in all.

In other words, PERCENTAGE of annual gain is not conclusive. The NUMBER of cars sold is the true test.

That Dodge Brothers sales in 1926 showed an increase of 27.6% over 1925 is not the MAJOR fact to consider—striking as it is.

But that Dodge Brothers sold 259,967 cars in 1925, and then in 1926 sold 331,764—a gain of 71,797 sales in twelve months—tells a story of growth that stands out like a tower on the skyline of the industry.

Three hundred and thirty-one thousand buyers [illegible] this year! Many more visited its showrooms and [illegible] this year! No increase in price! Three [illegible] arguments for earnestly investigating [illegible] and sturdy product before deciding [illegible]

Touring Car	$ 865.00
Coupe	$ 920.00
Standard Sedan	$ 970.00
Special Sedan	$ 1020.00
DeLuxe Sedan	$ 1155.00

Delivered

BENJ. BROWN

CHARLEVOIX, MICH

DODGE BROTHERS MOTOR CARS

Choose Your Winter's Reading Among These

SPECIAL BARGAINS

GOOD ON RURAL ROUTES ONLY

Charlevoix Courier, regular price $2.00
Grand Rapids Evening Press, regular price $4.00 , both for $5.60

Charlevoix Courier, Grand Rapids Evening Grand Rapids Herald, regular price $4.00, both for $5.50

Charlevoix Courier, and Michigan Farmer, both for $2.50

Charlecoix Courier, Grand Rapids Evening Press and Michigan Farmer, one year for $6.10

SPECIAL MAGAZINE RATES

Ask us for cut prices on your magazine renewals. There is hardly a one but what we can save you from 50c to $2.00. Write us a postal card or call at the office.

The Charlevoix Courier

Charlevoix, Michigan

ALANSON MEN TO BREED MUSKRATS

Have Already Picked Site for Their Operations

Five of Alanson's progressive citizens—John McPhee, Wallace Banwell, Henry Kahler, Ralph Myers and W. H. Conner, after due deliberation have informally agreed to unite their efforts in a new enterprise that, no doubt, will eventually prove to be of substantial interest to this much alive and properous community,says the Emmet County Grafic.

For some time these enthusiastic business men have been contemplating the establishing of a muskrat ranch in this vicinity and, after investigating several avnilable sites, finally decided that the one on the northeast corner of Mr. Conner's farm, bordering the west side of M-11, is the most suitable for their venture. They have ordered their fence material and just as soon as the weather will permit their three acres experiment ranch will be inclosed, with a view of enlarging it when satisfied that it is a paying propnsition.

The season for trapping muskrats opened Tuesday, February 1st, and as there are no better muskrats to be found elsewhere, the new company will get busy trapping and buying foundation stock at once. Barrel and box traps will be used so that the little fur bearers will not in any way be injured. Trappers who would like to get more for their muskrats than what their pelts will bring on the market will exercise good judgment by interviewing members of this new and promising out-of-door enterprise.

Six Weeks More of Winter

It's going to be a long hard winter. This authentic information came from the original Charlevoix groundhog himself who preforms his annual trick on February 2. He left his place of hibernation early last Wednesday—but he was back in his hole after one sleepy squint at his shadow for six more week of sleep.

See the Betty B spring hats at Mrs. Russel's, 202 Grant St.—Adv. 6t1.

YOUR CHOICE

Which would you buy if you had five or six hundred dollars to invest in transportation—a small new car, or a larger and higher grade used car? The answer is obvious to anyone who looks over our selection and knows our reputation for honest values.

BENJ. BROWN

Charlevoix, Michigan

A USED CAR IS ONLY AS DEPENDABLE AS THE DEALER WHO SELLS IT

WINTER SPORTS

LET'S GO!

Feel the snap of frosty winter air. Enjoy the thrill of a down hill coast. Or let your body tingle to the exercise of skating.

If you wish something with a real "Kick" try the new toboggan slide at Mt. MeSauba.

Note the program and prizes on page 8.

WOOD BROS.

Hardware and Electrical Supplies

Monday is

VALENTINE'S DAY

February 14

Is the sweetheart, the mother, who has guided you along life's pathway all these years?

Is She Your Good Wife who shares life's sunshine and storm with you?

Or is She the "Girl of Your Dreams"—who, some day, you hope, will say "yes."

SHOW HER HOW MUCH YOU CARE

"Say It With Flowers"

Flowers on sale at the Sugar Bowl

A. E. EDWARDS, Florist

Member Florists Telegraph Delivery Association

Phone 374 Charlevoix, Michigan

JURY LIST FOR FEBRUARY COURT TERM

Men Chosen to Pass Judgment on Cases to Be Tried

Following is the list of jurors drawn to serve at the February term of Circuit court:

Harry LeRoy, Boyne City, 1st ward.

Atwood Schaffer, Boyne City, 2nd ward.

Mrs. Leo Smith, Boyne City, 3rd ward.

Nicholas Speltz, Boyne City, 4th ward.

Fritz Bergman, Charlevoix, 1st ward.

Henry Ager, Charlevoix, 2nd ward.

Andy McCall, Jr., Charlevoix, 3rd ward.

Garrett Draught, East Jordan, 1st ward.

Frank Smith, East Jordan, 2nd ward.

Agnes Porter, East Jordan, 3rd ward.

Fay Allen, Bay Township.

J. H. Sudman, Boyne Valley Township.

Frank Atkin, Chandler Township.

Ren Molette, Charlevoix Township.

Luella Clute, Evangeline Township.

Hugh King, Eveline Township.

Clifford Peters, Hayes Township.

Lewis Maggee, Hudson Township.

Charles Pierce, Marion Township.

Gladys Everts, Melrose Township.

George VerSnyder, Norwood Township.

Joe Burk, St. James Township.

Dalton Gay, South Arm Township.

Edward Weldy, Wilson Township.

Gifts for St. Valentine's Day

Valentines, 1c to $2.00. Whitman's Valentine Boxed Candy, Sampler 1, 2 and 3 lb. boxes. Valentine Boxed Stationery—something new. Fessenden, the Druggist.—Adv. 5t2.

HARBOR SPRINGS MAY ENTERTAIN PRESIDENT

Offers Use of Summer Home at Crozier Park

The following item, of great portent to Harbor Springs and northern Michigan, appeared in the Chicago Daily Tribune under date of February 1, 1927:

"An invitation to establish the summer White House in Michigan this summer was extended to President Coolidge, today. A. O. Crozier, of Harbor Springs, Michigan, called at the White House and offered the President the use of Crozier park, his summer place at that point.

"Crozier Park is located on the Shore Cut-off Road near its northern end, just this side of Seven Mile Point. This road was opened up a few years ago by L. J. Otis in cooperation with the Chamber of Commerce and later taken over by west Traverse Township. It follows an ancient Indian trail through the woods along the bay shore and is one of the most beautiful drives in this region.

"Crozier Park consists of 250 acres and is where Mr. Crozier has lately built a fine home."

It is hoped that President Coolidge will accept the above mentioned invitation.

Avoid fire risks from burning out chimneys by using our honest-to-goodness Soot Destroyer. Charlevoix Hdw. Co.—Adv. 2tf.

FORTY PRESENT AT FAREWELL BANQUET

Business Men Express Regret at Losing Esteemed Citizen

Business men numbering over forty gathered in the dining room of the Charlevoix Hotel last Thursday evening to give Archie Russell, Pere Marquette station agent, a rousing send-off before his departure to attend to the duties of his new position.

The meeting, sponsored by the Association of Commerce, opened with a banquet at 7 o'clock, which was followed by a smoker, with A. L. Fitch presiding as toastmaster. That Mr. Russell occupied a warm place in the hearts of Charlevoix citizens was evidenced by the many expressions of regret caused by his leaving. All realized the importance of his promotion and congratulated him heartily. A fine gift was presented Mr. Russell at the close of the meeting.

BAPTIST CHURCH

Dr. Burns of the Baptist church will discuss "Capital Punishment" next Sunday morning. The public is interested and studying this matter as never before and sentiment seems to be greatly scattered.

Card of Thanks

We wish to express our sincere thanks to neighbors and friends for words and deeds of sympathy and service during our recent bereavement, also for the many floral offerings. Mr. and Mrs. Edw. Swanson and Family, Mrs. Helen Reinhart.—Adv. 6t1 pd.

LITERARY AND SEWING CLUB ANNUAL BANQUET

Club Members Entertain Husbands at Delightful Affair

The members of the Ladies' Literary and Sewing Club entertained their husbands at their annual banquet in the Methodist church, on Friday evening.

The tables were beautifully and daintily decoruted in the club colors and an elaborate and delicious supper was served. During the banquet, the diners were favored with an extended program of music rendered by the Durance orchestra which was well received. In response to their names when read by the club secretary, Mrs. Frank Courier, each lady responded with a short toast. Dr. McMillan gave a humorous reading from Irvin S. Cobb after which Miss Lucille Belding and Mrs. Edward Stewart gave recitations:

In behalf of the club, the president, Mrs. F. F. McMillan, presented a fine gift of silverware to Mrs. Arthur Edwards, who recently finished a term as president of the club. Members and guests of the club are unanimous in the opinion that this was their finest and most delightful annual party.

Baxter Relief Corps will serve a dinner at the Moose Hall, February 17, at 12 o'clock. Bill 50c.—Adv. 6t1.

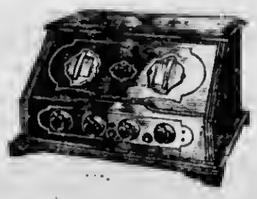
Zonite

For Cuts and Wounds

Prevent infection! Treat every cut, wound or scratch with this powerful non-poisonous antiseptic. Zonite actually kills germs. Helps to heal, too.

The Charlevoix Hardware Co.

Every One Now



Can Afford To Have The Best

A drop in the price of the Radiola 20, February 1st, brings it within the reach of all.

Take advantage of this price and secure what you sure have wanted all winter.

RADIO SEASON is all the YEAR ROUND now.

Splendid programs summer and winter and RADIOLA 20 with LOUD SPEAKER 100 is and will continue to be the R. C. A. STANDARD RECEIVER which spells "BEST."

Come in and you will surely be interested in the machine and price. DO IT NOW.

Charlevoix Hardware Company

NORTHERN MICHIGAN'S FINEST STORE

Three Big Departments—Hardware, Furniture, Electrical

Winter Sports at Charlevoix

Attention is called to several changes in program schedule, necessitated by limited time, the large entry list in events and addition of other events to the program. The Friday and Saturday program will be carried out as listed below.

FRIDAY, FEBRUARY 11th

2:00 p. m. Skiing Contest at Mt. McSauba. A free-for-all elimination contest. Judges will decide upon the winners according to form and distance. First prize—Chamois Jacket on display at Wood Bros. Hardware. Second prize—Northland Ash Skiis being displayed at M. A. Levinson's Dry Goods Store. All entrants must be registered with Ed. Edwards, Clarence Wood, Harry Craig or Archie Livingston before 12:00 Friday.

3:00 p. m. Free-for-all Tobogganning Contest at Mt. McSauba. Winners will be picked after three trials each for distance. The first prize is a Sport Sweater on display at the Sugar Bowl, and the second prize is the woolen scarf on display at Martin Block's. Entries will be accepted until 12:00 Friday by Don Campbell, Jerry Richardson, Clare Webster or Chas. Emrey.

7:15 p. m. Junior Girls Race; ages up to 15, not inclusive, at the School Ice Rink. This race takes the place of the Girls Free-for-all and the first prize is the type of Tubular Shoe Skates to be seen at the Central Drug Store, and the second prize the wool sport cap on display at Will Bellinger's.

7:30 p. m. Junior Boys Race, 12 years and under. To be run in heats. First prize is the Sweater on display at the Charlevoix Hardware and second prize is the Scout Knife on display at Benj. Brown's.

8:15, Fancy Skating Program by Allie Moore who was, at one time, champion roller skater of the world.

8:30 p. m. Boys and Girls Potato Race, 11 years and under. First prize Hockey Stick and Puck, second prize Hockey Stick. Both prizes are to be seen at F. E. Cartier's.

Entries for the above ice events must be in by 12:00 Friday. Geo. Beeman, Dick Hammet or Tex Buchen will accept your registration.

SATURDAY, FEBRUARY 12th

2:30 to 4:30 p. m., Dog Races on Bridge Street. Elimination Contest run in three heats. The final heat will decide the winners. First prize is a complete dog harness which has been ordered by the Charlevoix Hardware Co. and the second prize is the Champion Sled on display at Fessenden's Drug Store. Register all dogs with Chas. Gale or DeForest Wood before 12:00 Friday.

7:30 to 8:05 p. m., First and Second Quarters of the Hockey Game between the Charlevoix Independents and the High School.

8:05 to 8:15, "The Dutchman Act" by Allie Moore.

8:15 to 8:50, Third and Fourth Quarters of the Hockey Game.

9:00 to 9:40, Elimination heats of the Men's free-for-all and the Senior Boys Skating Races.

9:40 to 10:00, final heats of the Men's free-for-all and the Senior Boys races. Prizes for the Men's free-for-all race is the type of Tubular Shoe skates to be seen at S. M. See & Sons. First prize for the Senior boys is the Fountain pen on display at Campbell's Boot Shop and second prize is the pair of gloves to be seen at Benj. Brown's. Those wishing to enter the above races must register with Geo. Beeman, Dick Hammet or Tex Buchen before 12:00 Friday.

10:00, Coasting Contest on Bridge Street Hill. Three trials for distance. First prize, Buck Skin Gloves on display at Campbell's Boot Shop; second prize wool scarf on display at Martin Block's. Register your bobs with Bob Bridge or Harley Ochs.

Special--Free-For-All Skating Race at High School Rink, Saturday at 1:30, for the Pathe News Reel. Fill the gallery--Special.

COME TO CHARLEVOIX, FEBRUARY 11 AND 12

CHARLEVOIX COURIER

VOLUME 34. NUMBER 7. EIGHT PAGES COURIER, CHARLEVOIX, MICH., WEDNESDAY, FEBRUARY 16, 1927 PRICE $2.00 PER YEAR

CAMP FOR BOYS NEAR IRONTON

ANN ARBOR GROUP ARE BEHIND THE PROJECT

Lewis C. Reimann, Governor of Michigan Kiwanis, Will Be Camp Director

Camp Charlevoix, "A Character Camp for Boys," is being established on Sweet Brier Farm, Pine Lake near Ironton, this summer by a group of Ann Arbor men who are interested in giving boys the best that camp life affords.

The camp which will be conducted during July and August will be directed by Lewis C. Reimann, Governor of Michigan Kiwanis and now a director of religious work at the University of Michigan. Mr. Reimann was one of Coach Fielding H. Yost's star tackles in 1914 and 1915, the champion wrestler of the university and a leader in religious life among students. For the past ten summers he has directed successful boys camps and was the originator and director of the U. of M. Fresh Air Camp which now takes care of 400 boys each summer.

The camp consists of 78 acres of land and 14 buildings on the south shore of Pine Lake (now Lake Charlevoix) where mosquitoes are unknown. Several thousand dollars are being expended in improvements which include tennis courts, baseball fields, basketball and volley ball courts, track, docks and diving piers, sanitary toilets, artesian water system, art studio, handicraft shop and many other things.

The camp staff consist of Mr. Reimann, director; LeRoy C. Dahlberg, A. B., director of activities; Prof. Robert Craig, Jr., head of the university forestry department; Prof J. Raleigh Nelson, who will be advisor of dramatics; Angus McDonald Babcock, associate art director of the Fireside Industries, Inc., who will teach making of batiks, modeling decoration of gift and toy articles and simple design; George G. Alder, U. of M., handicraft and nature study Albert McDonald, teacher in archery at the University and Ypsilanti Normal; Andrew Barlock, U. of M. athletics; Earl Oldham, aequatic and Red Cross tests; Dr. Emory W. Sink, professor of hygiene, U. of M., will look after the sanitary and health arrangements; Mrs. Grace Johnson Konold, Red-path artist, will give concerts and will bring artist friends for musical features. Judge J. G. Pray of Ann Arbor will give a series of campfire talks and Chief Jo Donalas of Harbor Springs will teach Indian-craft and put on Indian campfire programs.

All counsellors will be university or college faculty members, graduates and students. The membership in camp is limited. Only boys of good character will be accepted, ages from nine to eighteen. It is Mr. Reimann's intention to make this one of the finest private boys camps in America.

A camp mother will be on the staff to give special attention to the younger boys. An expert dietician will plan the meals. A camp library will be on hand. Many interesting trips will be made to places of interest. Speakers from the Bay View Assembly will address the boys at Campfire and on Sundays. A booklet about the camp may be secured by writing to Mr. Reimann at Ann Arbor which is the central office of the Sweet Brier Resorta Corporation which is sponsoring Camp Charlevoix.

PETOSKEY WINTER SPORTS PROGRAM ON FEBRUARY 22ND

The spirit of winter sports prevails Northern Michigan. Following closely Charlevoix's successful two-day carnival, Petoskey will hold a similar event on Tuesday, February 22nd. Harbor Springs also plans a day of sports the following week.

The Petoskey Evening News announces that a half holiday is declared so that young and old may enjoy themselves. The entire afternoon's program is arranged to be held in the park where skating, skiing, snow shoeing and tobogganing contests will demand the attention of all. There are fourteen prizes to be given. The evening will be devoted to sliding on Lake street.

Petoskey as well as all cities in this section, was well represented at Charlevoix's winter sports carnival. Let's return the compliment.

MISS McCALL ENTERTAINED GIRL FRIENDS

The Occasion Was Her Thirteenth Birthday Anniversary

Miss Kathleen McCall entertained twelve of her young lady friends, also her school teacher, Mr. Alexander, at a St. Valentine party Tuesday afternoon in honor of her thirteenth birthday, at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Andy McCall, Jr., on East Hurlbut avenue.

Of course, as is usual on such occasions, the big cake with its thirteen candles was the feature of the feast. And there were heaps of sandwiches and other goodies which were greatly enjoyed by the young folks. Games and various other forms of amusement filled out a jolly afternoon.

Miss Kathleen received many nice gifts from her young friends, among whom were the following: Marion Smith, Lila McMillan, Mary Louise Gallagher, LaRue Lemieur, Viola Stafford, Helen Burns, Eberdean LaBlanc, Esther Brady, Beverly Loskot, Florence Smith, Leone Block, Evelyn Seymour and W. J. Alexander.

Subscriptions taken for all magazines at Holley Gift Shop.—Adv.7t3.

HOLD CHARMING VALENTINE PARTY

S. S. C. ENTERTAINS THE DICKENS CLUB

Two Clubs Meet at Home of Mrs. R. B. Armstrong—Affair Proves Very Enjoyable

The S. S. C. entertained the Dickens Club, on Monday at 1 o'clock, at the home of Mrs. R. B. Armstrong, with a charming Valentine party. The house had a festive appearance, arches and lights having especially effective decorations, and the "Forest of Arden," where the guests tried to rival Cupid at archery on the hearts among the trees to win their partners for the luncheon.

While in the forest, dainty refreshments were served. Near the close of the delicious and unusual luncheon, Mrs. Armstrong casually requested Mrs. Clarence Bridge to try the radio, saying a new station was to be on at this hour. Mrs. Bridge succeeded in getting the station, and after a fine musical number, the announcer asked for any comments on their entertainment to be sent in (we understand he has received several telegrams since). He then introduced some entertainers and only when their jokes became personal, the surprise was over and 'twas known the broadcasters were husbands of S. S. C. members.

Mrs. E. J. Hiller, president, opened the program of the theatre with a few remarks. The first number was the "Wooing Scene" from Henry V of Katherine of France and the dilliculties in the way of understanding each other's language. A burlesque on the balcony scene from Romeo and Juliet, in German dialect, called forth much mirth. Then the delightful love scene from "As You Like It," was given with the Old English songs under the Greenwood tree.

The guests found their names on hearts attached to red ribbons and at the end an attractive, heart-shaped box of candy as a souvenir of one more enjoyable afternoon of the two clubs together.

TWO SPORTS EVENTS FOR THIS WEEK END

High School Hockey and Basketball Teams Meet Opponents

Two sports events are scheduled for this week, the first on Thursday evening when the Charlevoix high school hockey team meets a team composed of Petoskey high school boys, although not officially representing Petoskey high school. The game will be called at 7 o'clock at the school rink.

Friday evening at Hooker's garage, Charlevoix high school'a basketball team takes on East Jordan high school. East Jordan has been setting a fast pace in her recent games and a good battle is in prospect. East Jordan and Charlevoix junior high teams will furish the preliminary game at 7 o'clock. A large attendance is desired.

There will be another of the popular Odd Fellow dances at the hall, Friday evening, Feb. 18. Come.—Adv. 7-t1.

Washington the Surveyor

WE'RE SOLD ON WINTER SPORTS

THIS FACT IS PROVEN BY ENTHUSIASM SHOWN

Two-Day Carnival of Last Week Merely a Sample of What Can Be Accomplished

In speaking of Charlevoix's winter sports carnival held last Friday and Saturday, we quote a caption used in the Grand Rapids Herald over an article dealing with the same subject: "Why leave this for a Florida hurricane?" The caption strikes "right home" and we believe, judging from crowds gathered to witness contests held during the two-day event, that home folks are beginning to realize the possibilities for sport to be found among our ice-bound lakes and snow-covered hills.

Friday's program started with skiing and tobogganing contests at Mt. McSauba. Long before 2:00 o'clock (the hour set for the events) was at hand, hundreds of people on foot and in automobiles were headed for the slides, and, when the contests opened, fully 1200 people had assembled. Many witnessed skiiers in action for the first time, and those familiar with the sport, marveled at the skill and daring of the performers. Dan McCann and Rowald Williams won first and second prizes, respectively, and as a reward for his efforts, little Billy Bergmann was awarded a special prize. The same may be said of the toboggan contests, and we personally know of many who saw their first regular toboggan slides and witnessed this exciting sport for the first time. A toboggan owned by Stephen Geer won first prize, with Gerald Roderick of Boyne City taking second honors. Enthusiasm was unbounded, and when we say winter sports "reigned supreme" we're putting it mildly.

An equally enthusiastic crowd gathered at the high school ice rink Friday evening for the skating races. David Livingston proved his prowess over a large field in winning the junior boys' race, his nearest competitor being Norman Ance, who won second prize. Two Petoskey girls, Katherine Edyvean and Mary Gilbert, left no doubt in the minds of spectators as to their ability, when they took 1st and 2nd places respectively in the junior girls' skating event. Petoskey also carried home another prize when C. Saunders of that city, won the boys' potato race. Bob Foster of Charlevoix took second. Allie Moore won hearty applause from spectators with his distance and barrel jumping feats. He showed that as a one-time world's champion roller skater, he is also "there" on ice skates.

Attendance records at an event of any nature ever held in Charlevoix were shattered Saturday afternoon when 3,000 people from all sections of northern Michigan gathered to witness the dog races on Bridge street. Standing room was at a premium, second-story windows were packed and some even climbed onto roofs to see the fun.

The first heat of the race got away to a poor start when at the word "go" the dogs went after each other instead of down the track. The mass was finally untangled, the tempermental distruher disharred, and on the second start they furnished the crowd with a thrill. The event was won by George LaBlanc, with George McKenzie taking second place. A fox hound race resulted in a silent drama, when the crowds, in their eagerness to see the chase, jammed into the street completely obliterating the track of the live fox after he had been led down the street tied on a leash. The hounds could not find the scent and refused to track. Coasting took up the remainder of the afternoon.

The hockey game between the Independent and high school teams proved the headliner Saturday evening. Charlevoix residents witnessed their first contest of this sort. A 5 to 1 score in favor of the high school resulted. During intermissions, Allie Moore pulled off an original stunt, going through all the agonies of a man learning to skate. The act was a "scream."

Following the hockey game, Robt. Golden and C. Saunders, both of Petoskey, won 1st and 2nd places, respectively in the senior boys' skating race. John Sharrow, competing in a large field, skated a pretty race to win the mens' free-for-all event. Dick Marshall took second place.

In three successive trials, hobs owned by Frank F. Bird, made the longest slide on Bridge street hill, thereby winning the prize. Each owner had a hand-picked crowd, and all the two-hundred-pounders in the city were drafted into service. The hill was lined with merry rooters until mid-night, and the carnival ended in the same enthusiastic spirit with which it started.

In closing this article, there is one important matter we would like to impress upon the minds of our readers. The carnival was a complete success in every sense of the word. This success is the direct result of cooperation on the part of committees in charge and the cooperative attitude of the public. "We sold ourselves on the idea," a thing we must first do before expecting to compete with other winter resorts. Cooperation spells success in any undertaking and with its continuance we can look forward to occupying a conspicuous place as a summer and winter resort.

Skiing Down Mt. McSauba at 60 Miles Per Hour.

No Speed Cops Here to Stop a Record Time Run.

ESSAY CONTEST FOR STUDENTS

BEING SPONSORED BY MICHIGAN TUBERCULOSIS ASSN.

Essays of From 800 to 1,000 Words Must Be In By March 1—Students Urged to Enter

The following communication is being sent out by the Michigan Tuberculosis Association to all county school commissioners in the state and was given to us by A. C. Belding Charlevoix county commissioner, requesting that we publish it and lend our cooperation in the matter:

"To County School Commissioners:

Dr. B. A. Shepard of the Pine Crest Sanatorium is offering two cash prizes for the best essays on tuberculosis written by pupils in the schools of Michigan, who are below the ninth grade. The first prize is for twenty-five dollars, and the second for ten dollars. Any pupil in any school in Michigan below the ninth grade is eligible to compete.

"The essays are to be from 800 to 1000 words in length. They are to be submitted on plain paper 9½ by 11 inches. No name or other mark of identification is to appear on the paper selected as the best in each county. Papers will be so numbered in this office that their source may be known. When the prize winning essays have been selected the school officials concerned will be notified who will then reveal to the committee the name of the winning contestant. One paper only is to be submitted by each county to the contest judges. Within the county selections may be made according to any plan preferred by the county commissioner.

"Contests within the county must be closed by March 31. The papers winning locally must be submitted to the judges, with headquarters at 535 S. Capitol Ave., Lansing, Michigan, by April 15. Announcement of awards will be made April 30.

"Pupils entering the contest are urged to obtain material from their local physicians, from their local libraries, from the state library, from the Michigan Tuberculosis Association, and from local tuberculosis associations. The essays are to cover several phases of the disease; its nature, how conveyed, its frequency, symptoms, treatment, economy, cost, etc.

"Will you as county commissioner, do all that is in your power to arouse the interest of the pupils and make the contest a success locally as well as throughout the state?"

All teachers in the county are urged to enter their students if they think it best to do so.

Small Fire Saturday

Slight damage to the Elmer Poole residence on East Garfield avenue was caused last Saturday afternoon by a fire which started from either sparks or bare wires in the attic. The Pooles had just left their home for downtown when neighbors seeing the blaze notified them. Quick work on the part of the fire department averted much damage.

That big hole in the family budget is where the turkey went through.

PLAYED TO A PACKED HOUSE

PILGRIM PLAYERS PROVE TO BE REAL ENTERTAINERS

Every Part Splendidly Taken, Especially Those Participating in "The House of Joy"

The entertainment put on by the Pilgrim Players at the Palace Theatre Tuesday evening was well patronized by local people, who manifested their enjoyment throughout the program.

The curtain rose upon a woodland scene in which fairies and brownies danced among the trees, led by the Elf-herald. Some thirty children and young people participated in this number—"The House of Joy"—and the unexpected stunts of several of the tiny tots added greatly to the charm of the play.

The participants were: Elf-herald, Jean Campbell; Lad, Bernice Lamphear; Father Time, Vincent Madison; Endeavor, Georgia Kelderhouse; Truth and Falsehood, the Stelter girls; Service, Irene McCann; Courtesy, Myrtle O'Neil; Nature, Gwendolyn Miller; Art, Lola Fessenden; Beauty, Mildred Parker; Boy, Dudley Mattson; Cheat, Lisle Ance; Fear, Drew Young; Anger, Marie Novak; Honor, Junior Hardy; Love, Helen Miller; Courage, Clare Tillotson; children and fairies.

Fairies: Betty Withers, Martha Craig, Isobel Parker, Shirley McCann, Eleanor Russell, Stella Livingston.

Brownies: Don Tillotson, Jimmie Hiller, Bobby Wood, Teddy Mattson, Jimmy Levinton, Bobby Craig.

Miss Adams' solo, with Mrs. Stelter as accompanyist, which followed, was much enjoyed by the audience. Zona Gale's one-act play, "The Neighbors," closed the evening. The story centers in the news that a little orphan child is coming to live with his aunt and the scene is the kitchen of Mis' Diantha Abel, a vigorous housewife who irons with her hat on, so if any of the neighbors come in they will think she is going somewhere and not "sit and hemler" all the forenoon.

"Grandma," after a long and active life, is now relegated to a comfortable rocker and expected to content herself with carpet rags when she would like to participate in the real work of the home.

Mis' Trot, a neighbor, whose tongue and fingers are always busy, is called in consultation when the news of the little chap's coming is received. Mis' Moran, another neighbor, drops in and persists in telling of the state of her health when her hostess wants to interest her in the news.

Ezra Williams, a gumphy neighbor, irate over the delivery of some cord wood delivered at his door without his order, refuses to be interested in the charitable plan of the women to have a shower for Mis' Ellsworth, the child's aunt, who is poor and hardly able to support herself.

Inez, the pretty daughter of the household, and Peter, her bashful lover, who "courts like a stack of wood," provide the thread of romance in the play.

The little child finally goes to other relatives and never arrives, but

(Continued on Page 8)

COMMITTEE WORK MEETS APPROVAL OF CITY OFFICIALS

In behalf of the Charlevoix Association of Commerce and the citizens of Charlevoix, we wish to extend to the winter sports committee our appreciation of your efforts in carrying out the winter carnival program of February 11th and 12th to such a highly successful conclusion.

The affair was executed without material expense to the city as the city boosters are donating to the fund, to care for the purchase of prizes awarded to the winners of the several events.

We hope that sufficient interest will be manifested in the continuance of this line of endeavor so that Charlevoix, next year, will foster the largest winter sports carnival ever pulled off in Michigan. The co-operation exhibited this year has proven to us that it is possible to attain that position.

Arthus Bergeon,
Mayor.
Charles H. Emrey,
President Association of Commerce

CORRESPONDENCE

BARNARD

Beautiful winter weather.

Elliott and Jay Moore and Lloyd Fairbanks drove back to Lansing on Monday, after spending ten days at the home of their uncle, Howard Gornell.

Radio parties seem to be the fashion. About twenty neighbors spent Saturday evening with Michael Garber enjoying the music and entertainment.

Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Clark of Whitehall, Mich., spent a few days last week visiting their sister, Mrs. Howard Gornell and family, motoring back on Monday.

Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Cummings entertained the "bunch" at a progressive pedro party on Friday evening. Of course the usual good time and bountiful lunch was enjoyed by all present.

A community social meeting will be held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Jas. Block on Tuesday evening, February 22nd. This promises to be an enjoyable affair as has been formerly experienced and everybody is invited.

A very pleasant afternoon was enoyed by all who attended the valentine exercises on Monday. We all appreciated the effort of teacher and pupils and especially Mr. Saunder's valentine offering which was a delightful luncheon.

NORWOOD

Mrs. Rosa Gennett is visiting friends and relatives in Charlevoix this week.

Miss Anna Jones of Charlevoix, visited at the Holechek home Sunday afternoon.

Frank Brown, Jr., of Detroit, visited his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Brown, a few days last week.

Mr. and Mrs. Orvil Hilton, who live near Charlevoix, spent Sunday at the Harris Pierce farm home.

Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Webster and son, Carroll of Charlevoix, visited Mr. and Mrs. T. L. Dice, Sunday afternoon.

The pupils and teacher of the Norwood school enjoyed exchanging valentines and refreshments Monday Valentines Day.

Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Greeley and Chas. Jr., spent Sunday afternoon with Mr and Mrs. Rollie Baumback and family of Antrim City.

T. L. Dice made a business trip to Pellston on Monday of last week and during the meantime Mrs. Dice visited Mrs. G. E. Beard of Petoskey.

Mrs. Fred Hull and daughter, Roberta, visited at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Edd Gregory near Charlevoix from Friday until Sunday of last week.

The L. A. S. are preparing a program which will be followed by refreshments to be given on Friday evening, February 25th, at the town hall in Norwood.

Mr. and Mrs. E. W. Publow motored up from Lansing last Friday and visited Mrs. Publow's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Richardson until Monday. They report the roads fine.

Mrs. Floyd Wagner gave a party, February 5th, in honor of her son, Frederick's 5th birthday. The youngsters enjoyed a good time and Mrs. Wagner served refreshments, including a fine birthday cake.

Word has been received here of the death of Mrs. Walter Mosher of Grand Rapids. Mrs. Mosher was formerly Miss Sadie Nelsen and spent her girl-hood days in Norwood attending school and enjoying a large circle of friends. She was later married to Walter Mosher of Coopersville, Michigan. They resided in Norwood until about sixteen years ago, when they moved to Grand Rapids. Besides her husband, she leaves three daughters, and a host of friends to mourn their loss. Funeral services will be held at the M. E. church in Norwood at 10 o'clock standard time, Thursday morning. A. B. Clarke, officiating. Interment in Norwood cemetery.

Treat Colds Externally

For sore throat, bronchitis or deep chest colds, rub Vicks VapoRub briskly over throat and chest and cover with warm flannel.

Vicks acts in two ways—both direct: absorbed like a liniment and inhaled as a vapor. A quick relief for the cold troubles of all the family.

VICKS VAPORUB

OVER 21 MILLION JARS USED YEARLY

An Amazing Success

Feen-a-mint

The Chewing LAXATIVE

Chew It Like Chewing Gum

A pleasure to use. Very efficient. Children love it. No taste but that of sweet mint. The most popular laxative because it's a "satisfier." 15c and 25c.

VALET AutoStrop Razor

sharpens itself

FLIT

DESTROYS

Moths, Roaches

Bedbugs, Flies

Other Household Insects

Quick Quaker "stands by" you through the morning

That's why doctors urge it to start every day

TO feel right through the morning you must have well-balanced, complete food at breakfast. At most other meals—that is, at luncheon and at dinner—you usually get that kind of food but rarely at breakfast.

Thus Quick Quaker, containing 16% protein, food's great tissue builder, 68% carbohydrate, its great energy element, plus all-important vitamines and the "bulk" that makes laxatives seldom needed, is the dietetic urge of the world today.

It is food that "stands by" you through the morning. Food that should start every breakfast you eat.

Don't deny yourself the natural stimulation this rich food offers.

Get Quaker Oats today. Grocers have two kinds: Quick Quaker, which cooks in 2½ to 5 minutes, and Quaker Oats.

Quick Quaker

MOUNTAIN SCHOOL NOTES

The children are doing exhibit work this week.

Mr. Wilsop has purchased two new milch cows from Mr. Stallard.

Harold Towsley of Charlevoix is visiting his cousin, Clare Staley.

Mrs. Scott was called to Harvey, Ill., by the death of her sister.

Nyle Gould is absent from school today (Monday). He is nursing a boil.

Mr. Sanderson, school treasurer, is the proud possessor of two new lambs.

Mrs. Case, our teacher, spent the week end with her daughter, in Charlevoix.

Lattie Margery Scott is still unable to come to school on account of having the whooping cough.

Mr. and Mrs. Hathaway of East Jordan came over and purchased two pure bred roosters from Mr. Sanderson.

Bruce Saunderson and Oswald Hosegood are back in school after an absence of four weeks. It surely seems good to see their smiling faces again.

Staley Bros. are leaving for Grand Rapids tomorrow to purchase stock for their new hardware. The building is now ready and they expect to have their opening in the very near future.

ANTRIM CITY

(To late for last week)

Ellie Mason was a visitor at the school house, Monday.

Mr. Harris made a business trip to Central Lake, Wednesday.

Alfred Brooks buzzed wood for Frank Mason, Saturday and Monday.

Mr. Stott and family were visitors at the Wallace Harris home Sunday.

Mr. Stott and son, Joseph cut the logs for Jack Smith last week.

Mr. and Mrs. Harris [illegible] Home Tuesday evening.

Read the Courier and get the news.

MURRAY SCHOOL NOTES

Bay Shore has again decided to play basketball.

Chart class, 1st, 2nd and 3rd grade are making Eskimo booklets.

A musical concert is planned by the M. B. S. club to be given February 25.

Wolfe Price had a bad mishap Monday night. He injured his head while cutting wood.

We had a Valentine party Monday afternoon. Agnes O'Dell was the queen of the day, receiving 23 valentines.

Regular meeting of Bay Shore and Murray school was held Friday night, February 11. A name was chosen for the club which is to be M. B. S. club. Games were played and refreshments were served by Bay Shore school. A song was furnished by Doris Anderson, Elbert Anderson, Marjorie Mawby, Dorothy Wasaquom and Simon Peter.

A Parent-Teachers' meeting was held at Murray school Monday night. Mrs. Leola Burnett was elected as leader of the club. It was planned that they should all meet at the school house once a month, have a pot luck dinner and spend the day. A program is to be furnished by the parents. Basketball was discussed and it was thought basketball was a help in making the children better students. Those present were: Mrs. G. Furgeson, Mrs. G. Schantz, Mrs. D. Scroggie, Mrs. R. Anderson, W. Speigl, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Yahr, Mr. O'dell, L. Brecheisen, Mrs. Leola Burnett and J. Murray. Other parents are urged to attend the next meeting.

Burning out chimneys caused many bad fires. Avoid this fire loss by using our 'Soot' Destroyer. It does the work. 15c per pound. Charlevoix Hdw. Co.—Adv. 2tf.

BENTLEY HILL

Rev. Manker called at the home of A. M. Ingalls.

Harry DeGroot sold two cows to an outside buyer.

Mr. and Mrs. P. DeVrees visited with Herman Heeres.

Henry VanHershk has had a telephone put in his house.

Herman Heeres went to East Jordan on business, Thursday.

Frank Bos hauled hay from the F. Taylor place, Saturday.

Bert DeGroot and John Parsons were business callers in Central Lake.

Mrs. Carpenter was in Bellaire, Thursday attending the P. T. A. meeting.

Miss Matilda DeYoung and Gertrude Reamsma visited Miss L. Cox in East Jordan.

Quite a few from here attended the dedication services held at the Christian Reform Church, Wednesday.

William Tammer went to Central Lake, where he underwent an operation. His many friends wish him a speedy recovery.

A number of people gathered at the home of Mrs. Rayingh, the occasion being her sixty-sixth birthday. All went home with the report of a good time. Her many friends extend their congratulations.

IRONTON

The basement at the ferry cottage is nearly completed.

Ross Alexander motored to Lake City, Saturday, to get his mother.

Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Price spent the week end in Charlevoix with friends.

Mr. and Mrs. Jackson and family spent Sunday evening at the Lewis Brown home.

The Ladies Aid will meet with Mrs. McClanathan Wednesday for an all day meeting and potluck dinner.

There were quite a few people from here who attended the carnival in Charlevoix, Friday and Saturday.

Are you a Courier subscriber. If not, why not.

Mothers!

Nature has a way of telling us when something is wrong. If your child is fretful, peevish, with a loss of appetite, it is Nature's danger signal for Intestinal Intoxication. Before retiring, give one Nit Junior with a full glass of water; there will be no perturbing or stirring up, the action will be natural, consequently no griping or sickening sensations, neither will there be any risk of forming a habit requiring increased or continued doses. Faulty elimination and constipation will be corrected and the animated, invigorated good feeling restored.

Nit Juniors are little candy coated NR Tablets, one-third the medicinal strength of the regular NR Tablets—Nature's Remedy that have proven safe and dependable for over 30 years. Keep the children well and happy.

Get a 25c box

Sold by

CENTRAL DRUG STORE

"... because the Oakland Six is built to a degree of precision previously unknown in cars of its price"

You need not make any extended comparisons to understand why the Greater Oakland Six is so emphatically preferred by those who demand of their cars unusually long life and reliability.

$1095 SEDAN

The answer lies in the fundamental principle of Oakland construction—because the Oakland Six is built to a degree of precision previously unknown in cars of its price!

True, Oakland provides unexampled beauty and style by the use of Fisher Bodies; and an extraordinary agility, smoothness and silence by employing such advanced features as the exclusive Rubber Silenced Chassis and the Harmonic Balancer.

Nor by working to limits that once typified the hand-built car, Oakland achieves a resistence to wear and road shock that borders on the unbelievable!

You need only to talk to veteran Oakland owners to understand why the trend of fine car buying is swinging so strongly to the Greater Oakland Six.

Oakland Six, $1025 to $1295. Bodies by Fisher. All prices at factory. Easy to pay on the General Motors Time Payment Plan.

BLOCK & SIMMONS, 113-115 Antrim St., Charlevoix, Mich.

The Greater

OAKLAND SIX

PRODUCT OF GENERAL MOTORS ~ WINNING AND HOLDING GOOD WILL

Plenty of Cold Weather Yet

Winter with its accompanying bitter cold weather is far from being over. The balance of February, all of March and into the middle of April is the coldest part of the entire winter season.

YOU NEED WARM CLOTHING

During this period you should be warmly dressed, as a precaution against exposure and consequent sickness. We have quite a lot of winter wearing apparel left over from our recent clearing out sale, on which the lowest possible price prevail. These prices are good for the next month, and right now is the time to buy your needs.

Cold Weather Protection at Prices That Cannot Be Duplicated

ONE LOT OF 53 MEN'S SUITS, VALUED UP TO $37.50
CHOICE FOR

$9.98

ONE LOT OF 25 BOY'S SUITS, VALUED UP TO $18.00
CHOICE FOR

$3.98

ONE LOT OF 33 MEN'S OVERCOATS, VALUED UP TO $35.00
YOUR CHOICE FOR

$8.63

ONE LOT OF 12 BOY'S OVERCOATS, VALUED UP TO $15.00,
YOUR CHOICE FOR

$4.87

ONE LOT OF MEN'S MACKINAW COATS, VALUED UP TO $18.00,
YOUR CHOICE FOR

$4.98

ONE LOT OF MOLESKIN, WHIPCORD AND DUCK SHEEP-LINED COATS WITH BEAVERIZED COLLARS, YOUR CHOICE FOR

$6.98

MEN'S OVERALLS—ALL SIZES
One lot extra heavy Overalls or Jacket

98c

One lot Overalls or Jackets, for

$1.48

BED BLANKETS—EXTRA LARGE DOUBLE BLANKETS, SIZE 68x80, FINISHED IN PLAID DESIGNS, COLORS: BLUE, TAN, GREY AND PINK, SALE PRICE

$2.98

BENJAMIN BROWN

ALABASTER LAMPS

COPYRIGHT 1925 BY MARGARET TURNBULL WNU SERVICE

by Margaret Turnbull.

(Chapter five continued)

Ned had the field practically to himself. Save for the Saturday to Monday week-ends, when men appeared at the hospitable Mannheim's, there were no available swains.

It was a time when a cautious or ambitious mother might well have taken alarm, for Mary was indisputably intrigued. She had never before seen so much of a youth in Ned's position. This young man had thoughts, ideas and habits that too closely approached her own to admit of only a country store as background.

However, being human, Mary did not tell her mother everything. For instance, she simply could not tell her mother that this grocer's clerk gave her the feeling that she, Mary, was utterly right and charming, no matter what she said or did. It was something to treasure up, and remember when she was alone.

Mrs. Johnston, like a cornered animal, was wholly taken up with one great and pressing problem—how to get out of her corner. Other and lesser problems simply did not exist for her. She disliked inaction and hated the policy of "waiting to see how the cat jumped," yet there was nothing for her to do but wait. Always before this, when things became in any way impossible, Mrs. Johnston had simply turned her back and run away from them. Now, without money to run with, she must stay here in this quiet country place which, like a false prophet, kept breathing "peace, peace" when there was no peace—for her.

This morning—in the hope of distracting her mother, Mary was urging a ride to Hillsborough, not only as a chance to see the country, but because Mr. Carter said there was an inn there where the food was good.

Mrs. Johnston did not look enthusiastic, but intimated to Mary that she did not mind trying.

While Mrs. Johnston put on her hat, Mary found Ned in the kitchen, deep in an argument, located on Mrs. Pulsifer's side—as to some new potatoes for the use of her own family, which she had expected Ned to bring with him.

Mary's entrance hushed the storm, but unfortunately, owing to the chaos that had greeted her, she used her employer's manner. Ned was annoyed. He received his instructions moodily and went outside to look at his engine.

Mary found her mother looking out of the window at Ned.

"Mary, it might be as well not to go, because—"

Mary indignantly interrupted. "Why not?"

Being somewhat of a diplomat in her relations with her daughter, Mrs. Johnston wisely contented herself with saying: "Dorothy Selden seemed concerned to see you riding with the grocer's boy."

Then she laughed. Mary's head went up.

"Maybe it would be diplomatic not to use this young man so often," Mrs. Johnston suggested. "Let him go back to the shop today. Tomorrow we will go with one of the other men as driver."

"And let that interfering little cat think we take her seriously?" asked Mary. "Indeed not! I'm going to Hillsborough, and with that young man! If you do not care to come—why, I'll go alone."

What could her mother do but laugh, and go along, though she thought to herself: "Little fox! What is she up to now."

Before they reached the car she paused to say: "Be very sure I will take a good look at this young man! If I like him, we will continue to champion him and his driving. If I do not—he's dropped!"

"We can't drop him far," Mary rejoined. "He's got to bring the groceries, you know."

For one appreciable second, Ned forgot the chauffeur manner he had intended to try out on Mary. He stared. Mrs. Johnston was his excuse. This was the first day she had consented to ride with them. Ned found himself looking into two sleepy brown eyes that saw more than one guessed, and at one of the handsomest women he had seen in many a day. The color of that hair alone, he admitted to himself, was enough to make anyone look twice. Her mouth was oddly disconcerting. It looked capable of sneering. Then, quite suddenly, she smiled.

"If Mother were my sister," Mary thought, watching her with that odd pride in her mother's beauty that made her depreciate her own, "no one would ever look at me!"

Mary paused before she followed her mother into the car. "Oh, Mother, just a moment. This is Mr. Carter, Mr. Dabbs' nephew, who has been so kind in driving me about."

Following the introduction, Ned helped Mary in very carefully. This was the moment for which he had waited, and Mary had stood the test. She had not "Cartered" him to her mother.

Neither Mary nor her mother knew Hillsborough. Ned had visited it several times with Claude Dabbs, and suggested the Iron Hand Inn as their destination. The idea was acceptable to Mrs. Johnston, who merely stipulated, "Anywhere, except Peace Valley."

Mrs. Johnston was conscious that she was one person too many. It was curious. Not a word or a look that she might object to, yet the feeling was strong. Mrs. Johnston was frightened. She had much to worry her. Surely it was impossible that her precious, bewildered Mary could be about to further involve them. Mrs. Johnston, who was really tired, tried an experiment. She closed her eyes, complaining that the air made her sleepy. Contrary to her intention, it really had that effect. When she opened them some fifteen minutes later, Mary was on the front seat with Ned.

"Oh, Mother, I didn't want to disturb you. Mr. Carter's been telling me such interesting things about the country."

Mary joined her mother at once, but Mrs. Johnston was not pleased with the result of her experiment.

When they had crossed the cobblestone parking space to the entrance, both Mary and Ned waited. Things were in Mrs. Johnston's hands. She knew it. She could not treat this young man as a paid driver.

"Mr. Carter," she began a little hesitantly, "since we've so freely accepted your uncle's car and kindness, won't you accept my invitation to luncheon?"

It was very graciously put, but Ned knew how little Mrs. Johnston wanted him, even if she was thoroughbred enough to ask him. He thanked her, vowing that he had an errand to do for his uncle but would take them in and introduce them to The Iron Hand.

He strolled along a quiet residential street which terminated in an old graveyard. He sat down on a flat tombstone, and thought about life and Mary.

"Hey, Ned, for one minute I thought you were a monument!"

Claude Dabbs was smiling at him over the fence.

Ned rose and went to him.

"Thank Heaven I saw you first," Ned said. "I told the Johnstons I had to do an errand for you. Come back with me."

Claude, however, was too busy to do more than stop at a lunch counter near the courthouse, where he had to look up several property records. As they ate he listened absently, Ned thought, to a description of the morning's drive. When they had finished, Claude said he would walk with Ned to the door of the inn.

As they reached the inn, the door opened to admit a large party of cheerful farmers' wives and children. Through the door, which the last lumpy child left wide open, Ned caught a glimpse of Mrs. Johnston, Mary and the proprietor. They were examining a print, hung rather high above the hall wainscoting. Mrs. Johnston's glorious hair and strongly modeled head were thrown into relief against the [illegible]

"Quick, C. M. Look! There's Mrs. Johnston."

Claude Dabbs leaned forward and looked. He was long about it and said nothing. Neither Mary nor her mother saw them. They were so engrossed in the print. Mary was discussing it with the proprietor, while Mrs. Johnston examined it.

Claude quietly put out his hand and closed the door.

"Handsome woman, isn't she" said Ned. "Absolutely different in every way from her daughter. Did you ever see such a lovely contrast as they make?"

Still Claude did not speak. He stood staring before him. Then, puzzling that Ned was looking at him, he pulled himself together, muttering something about a headache.

Ned was concerned. He offered to attend to Claude's business and drive him home. He was sure Mrs. Johnston wouldn't mind in the least. Or, he could arrange with some one to bring the truck back, and Claude could occupy the front seat with him.

Claude shook his head.

"It isn't anything, my boy. Just a headache. Get them often. Guess I drove the car up too fast and had the sun in my eyes. You stick to your job."

He was off down the street, leaving Ned protesting. A moment later, Mrs. Johnston and Mary came out into the sunshine.

* * * * * * * *

In the library that evening Claude was far from being in his usual form. He was fidgety and restless, unable to settle down. Ned comfortably arranged himself, lit his cigarette and asked:

"Have you always lived in Peace Valley, C. M.?"

Claude started and gave Ned a searching look.

"Just about. I was the only son of my father, and he was a grocer, too. He wasn't a very good one. Good man—but not a good grocer. No judgment. Credit to everybody and never pressed a bill. He and Mom had ideas beyond grocering for me. They sent me to Rutgers to get an education, but I only stayed three months. "I got into a kinda wild set."

"At Rutgers?"

"Yeh. I got gamblin' and lost fifty dollars and I got behind another fifty to my expense. Gee! It was tough. It's more'n twenty years ago, but I remember I thought of killing myself one night. What just about finished me was getting a letter from Mom telling me Pop was so sick they didn't expect him to live, and asking me to come at once.

"It's More Than Twenty Years Ago."

"What did you do?"

Claude gazed at Ned, hesitated, and then said slowly: "Got home, in time, of course. Never went back though. My father died and I had to take on the grocery and run it, and—that's all."

"Take you up on that."

Claude laughed. "It's true, and that's what's eating me tonight. Here I've lived my forty-seven years, ambitions and careful-like, and never once let go and did anything real brash. And when you get to forty-seven without any one really belonging to you, why it makes a man think hard. At forty-seven a man's in a position to take a survey of life, and—oh well, what does it amount to after all?"

He sighed. "I bet you've done more in ten days than I have in all my forty-seven years."

Ned shook his head. "You can't put that off with me, C. M. You forget I've been watching you conduct your life and business for awhile." He leaned back to survey this new phase of the versatile C. M. Somehow he had never contemplated Claude Dabbs as restless and discontented.

To his astonishment, Claude did not wait to analyze or be analyzed further. He rose, crossed to the door, and jerking his head toward the office announced that he had to wrestle with an old account.

Ned, wholly unprepared for this move, had no time to think of anything to stop him but he had no desire to sit there reading and smoking alone.

Aunt Lyddy met him in the hall on her way upstairs. Eight o'clock, or half-past eight, was her hour for retirement. She looked at Ned with some surprise.

"Going out for a walk, Aunt Lyddy. Uncle Claude's busy."

"Suffering Salmia! It's bedtime. Well, don't get into any more mischief than is natural and can't be helped." She yawned a good-night as the door closed, and took her way to bed.

Ned went past the lighted window of the office, little guessing that Claude [illegible] ing through one of the crucial moments of his life.

The woman whom Claude had seen at the Iron Hand Inn, might have evolved herself out of the Polly Johnston he had known. He wished he had been able to study her unobserved and for a longer time. If it was Polly, what a wonderful thing life was. To make out of that discontented, ambitious drudge, the woman he had seen today!" He commenced several imaginary interviews and stopped them, laughing at himself. He left saying "if," yet he felt sure that it was Polly. He imagined speaking to her, meeting her. What would her face look like as it turned toward him? He remembered how it had looked this afternoon when he saw her in the Iron Hand Inn as she spoke to the girl.

The girl! Absurd! In the thought of Polly, he had forgotten the girl. Who was she? Had Polly adopted her, or—

Dabbs shook his desk with his fist and rose from his chair. He began walking up and down, trying to piece Polly's life together, thinking, thinking, stopping, beginning again with a new thread each time, but all pulled him back to the same question.

He bent over his desk, writing numerous letters—all to one woman. Finally he leaned back in his chair, tore up the last note and thrust it deep into the pile already in the waste basket. The thing would not solve itself. He was still at sea as to his first move.

Ned, thrusting his head into the doorway to say good-night, found a weary-looking, grim-mouthed man. This was so unlike Claude's usual face and greeting that he was puzzled. Claude stopped him.

"Don't mind the way I look and act tonight. I've got something on my mind. Something personal, and if I find it'll help any telling it, you're the one I'll come to."

"I'm your man, any hour of the day or night, Uncle, if I can really help you out."

When he had gone, Claude closed the door heavily and went back to the desk. He gave up letter writing for the night and sat there, absorbed in his thoughts.

CHAPTER VI

Though it was late, Ned could not sleep. Deciding to read awhile, he lit the student lamp, propped himself up on his pillow and picked up a book. He looked up as Claude Dabbs entered his room.

"Ready to drop off, Ned?" he inquired tentatively.

"Not a bit of it. All sails set for reading late the night," Ned assured him. "Come in and smoke, C. M."

Claude entered. Ned wondered what this midnight visit meant. He looked at Claude with a smile, and Claude, knocking the ashes from his cigar into a little blue vase, said:

"Well, I told you about my going to Rutgers for three months and never getting back. But I didn't tell you all."

"No, I don't think you did."

"There was a girl there."

"Ah, no girl ever does tell all about herself and a woman, does he?"

"Well, it isn't so easy to tell."

"Nothing about one's life and a woman ever is," Ned answered, as one deeply experienced in the world and women. "What, if I tried to explain to myself, but always yet what earthly attraction I ever found in Dorothy Selden. I'd just stand back."

"But this is different. It'll probably be the good to talk it out and be done with it. By the way it isn't known in Peace Valley."

Ned nodded, amused and flattered.

"There was a young servant girl in the house where I was boarding. Now, this girl's well-an uncle of hers turned up one day with a pile of money, or he said every girl should have it but hard. The girl was a regular terror for hating the men. I didn't blame her, being waitress and chambermaid at four boarding house was enough to sour any woman on young men.

"To make a long story short, the uncle was dying and he'd had an awful time finding the girl. She was the last of his family. Yet he said he wouldn't leave her a cent of his money unless she got married. She hadn't a fellow. His doctor told her the old man was getting low and there wasn't much time. He'd made a will and everything. It was quite a pile, and she got it all, providing she married before he died. She was in an awful stew about it. She hadn't told anyone in the house yet. I doubt if she'd told me if it hadn't just happened so. You see, she kinda trusted me and she wanted that money bad. Wanted to make herself into a lady. She had great ideas.

"Well, there we were. She was in a funk, and I was in a funk that night. I'd come home ready to kill myself because there was the telegram from Mom. I hadn't got the money to get home to Pop, and Mom said he was dying.

"Well, there she was fixing up my room. She always left my room to the last because she'd got to know I'd never make the row the others did or tell on her. I guess she kinda liked me. She was the only person I had to talk to, so I blurted out my troubles. She thought a moment and then she came out with hers. She hated men and didn't want to get married, or so she said—and I—well, I didn't care what I did. Just so that I could get home in time, to Pop."

He paused, glanced at Ned, then took up his confession. "Well, the upshot of it was, I couldn't borrow the money from any of the boys. I went with her to a country justice of the peace, who didn't know either of us, and we got married. I had promised

(Continued on page 7)

PHONE
YOUR CLASSIFIED
"AD"

If you're a telephone subscriber, simply lift the hook, ask for 2-J and state your request. It's a service that makes it comparatively easy for you to insert your advertisement. And Want Ads offer the solution to many a problem. There's always someone eager to buy, sell or trade; someone who has a service to offer. Results are certain and the cost is quite moderate.

Call Before 11 o'clock Each Wednesday

The CHARLEVOIX COURIER

PHONE 2-J

A Word With the Old Folks

Elderly People Are Learning Importance of Good Elimination.

IN the later years of life there is apt to be a slowing up of the bodily functions. Good elimination, however, is just as essential to the old as to the young. Many old folks have learned the value of Doan's Pills when a stimulant diuretic to the kidneys is required. Scanty or burning passages of kidney secretions are often signs of improper kidney function. In most every community are scores of users and endorsers who acclaim the merit of Doan's. Ask your neighbor!

DOAN'S PILLS 60c

Stimulant Diuretic to the Kidneys

Foster-Milburn Co., Mfg. Chem., Buffalo, N. Y.

BUSINESS CARDS

Farm Property Lake Frontage
A. C. BELDING
REAL ESTATE BROKER
Charlevoix, Mich.
Game Preserves Detroit Property

GLASSES FITTED
Consult
DR. J. LEAHY
OPTOMETRIST
Expert on Eye-Strain.
Petoskey, Mich.
Phone 443 for Appointment

BELLE LOUISE FLEWELLING
Palmer Chiropractor
Post Office Building
Phone 347
Office hours 2 to 5 daily
Monday, Wednesday and Friday
7 to 8

R. J. MADILL
Building Contractor
Ask for Estimates
Phone 121 Charlevoix, Mich.

D. T. McHUGH
General Contractor
Phone 214
CHARLEVOIX, MICHIGAN

R. B. ARMSTRONG
PHYSICIAN AND SURGEON
Special Attention to Diseases of Eye, Ear, Nose and Throat
Priest Bldg. Phone 255

DR. F. F. McMILLAN
Physician and Surgeon
Office above Postoffice
Phone 17
Charlevoix - - Michigan

A. L. FITCH
ATTORNEY AT LAW
Office in Court House
Phone 48
Charlevoix - Michigan

The number of girls sitting around without partners at the dances is a suggestion that the man power of the nation is declining.

DO IT NOW

---A---

NEW CAR
FOR YOUR OLD CAR

The Latest Finishes

Have your good car refinished with

Duco — Lacquers or
Nitro — the High gloss
Egyptian — Varnishes

ATCHISON AUTO SHOP

Phone 93 - 204 Mason St.

The CHARLEVOIX COURIER
Issued every Wednesday at
CHARLEVOIX - MICHIGAN

DuBois & Usher, Publishers
A. J. Usher, Editor and Business Mgr.
Courier Building - Van Pelt Place

Entered at the Post Office in Charlevoix, Mich., as second class matter.

Member Michigan Press Ass'n

Advertising Rates

For advertising rates apply for schedule.

Notices of church or lodge socials and entertainments, where admission is charged, regular rates.

Obituary poetry, regular rates.

Card of Thanks, 25 cents.

TERMS OF SUBSCRIPTION

One copy, one year $2.00
One Copy, six months $1.00
One Copy, three months .....$ .60

COMMUNISM AND THE NICARAGUAN INCIDENT

It is not our policy to discuss either political or controversial questions, but the Nicaraguan incident may stimulate sufficient interest in the matter of Communist propaganda to induce Americans to realize that there is immediate danger to our country. Let us dismiss with this simple preface and point out that the red activity in the United States is growing steadily. This growth is due to the ignorance of the people, to the indifference of our state and local governments, and in some cases to the deliberate pandering of these dangerous doctrines by petty politicians seeking votes. Let us eliminate the idea that the immediate purpose of the reds is to overturn our government or destroy the constitution. They are very much more subtle and sinister. Such is their ultimate purpose and they keep the idea well in the foreground because the ordinary man will regard such a plan as foolish. This attitude of the average citizen is precisely what the red wants and which the intelligent forces behind the red movement try to cultivate. In the meantime the actual work is of a different character. The demoralization of industry is part of the immediate activity, and we have seen strikes, fomented by communists which could not possibly be carried on except by funds obtained from the outside. The British coal strike is a perfect object lesson as to the purposes of communism, and England today is still suffering from that strike which disrupted its entire industry. In the needle trade and in the fur trades in this country, where there are plenty of communists, we have seen how demoralization can be produced. The Passaic strike was Red in its inception and in its financing. Throughout the country there are centers whose purpose is industrial infection and they are successfully working day and night.

STANDARD OF LIVING

How many times we say, "those were the good old days," in referring to the past. We wonder how many would want to return to those days, even if they were given an opportunity? Continued prosperity in recent years has done much to raise the standard of living in this country, and has made for a much higher type in citizenship. In a recent interview Myron E. Forbes, president of the Pierce-Arrow Motor Company, said: "The American people during the last twenty years have joined in the greatest march toward higher standards of living ever experienced in the history of the world. To this, and nothing else, can be attributed our prosperity.

"Just so long as people want, and are willing to strive for, better homes better cloths, better food, better recreation, just so long will consumption keep production at growing levels. That means healthy expansion and additional capital expenditures for future developement.

"Bgeause it is plainly evident that there has been no halt or slowing down of this march toward higher standards of living, I cannot help but believe that there will be no interruption of our present prosperity.

"Every available record shows that people during 1926 have been buying on an ascending scale the necessaries and comforts with which they surround themselves. A greater percentage than ever before has been buying higher priced homes, higher priced furnishings, higher priced automobiles.

"Advertising has been a great force in educating people to the enjoyment of better things, and it is significant that many of the leading industries have laid their plans for 1927 on the basis of applying this educational force with even greater efforts.

"Economists and great business leaders all point to the records of so-called basic industries as indices of continued business activities—for instance, the improvement in the agricultural situation, the impressive record established in the steel industry, the high mark of freight car loading.

"Interesting and significant as these indices may be, they are, to my mind, but a reflection of the deeper and truly fundamental cause for continued prosperity—the upward march of our standards of living."

ADVERTISING NECESSITY

The business man who assumes that because he has had good trade from a certain section over a certain period, he has no further need to advertise and solicit is riding for a fall. Active competitors will get that man's business. This principle holds true everywhere. The most active competitors of the active business man along the average Main street of the nation are the mail order houses. They are constantly striving for new business, especially among the rural sections. They send out handsomely illustrated catalogues, they make their wares look just as attractive as possible. To ignore their efforts is a mistake. It is no use to close the door after the horse has been stolen. The price of a new lock is less than the price of a new horse. Eternal vigilance is the price of liberty, and constant advertising is the best guarantee of continued prosperity among all classes of people in this community, because the dollar sent away is gone forever, while the dollar spent at home remains to add repeated benefits through every avenue of local distribution.

FRESHENING BREEZES

What has become of the old fashioned traveling salesman who always took his best customer out for a drink?

Daddy Browning by this time is probably convinced that instead of peaches somebody slipped him a dish of prunes.

Placed On Honor Roll

Places on the honor roll at Central Normal are awarded to students who maintain an average of "B" for each subject. Of the more than 900 students enrolled at Central last term, 112 obtained places on the honor roll. Those from Charlevoix county whose names appear on the honor roll are Marie M Donald, Carlton Bowen, Marguerite Rogers and Jasper Stallard, all of East Jordan.

K. of P. Dancing Party

The K. of P. dancing party, held last Thursday evening at their hall, was very well attended. Old and young alike turned out to dance to the excellent music of Fuller's orchestra from Traverse City. Present plans call for another dance March 11, with music by the same orchestra.

To the Republican Electors for the County of Charlevoix

A convention of Republicans for Charlevoix county will be held at the Wolverine Hotel in the city of Boyne City on Thursday, February 17th, 1927 at 10 o'clock in the forenoon central standard time of 11 o'clock eastern standard time, for the purpose of electing five delegates to attend the Republican State Convention, called to meet in the city of Grand Rapids, Tuesday, March 1st, 1927 at 11 o'clock in the forenoon, (central standard time) for the purpose of nominating candidates for state offices, a Chairman of the Republican State Central Committee and for the transaction of such other business as may properly come before the convention.

Dated, February 7th, 1927.

Republican County Committee
By Charles Novak, Chairman,
L. H. White, Secretary.

Adv. 7-tf.

Since 1857

Eagle Brand has raised more healthy babies than all other infant foods combined.

Borden's
EAGLE BRAND
CONDENSED MILK

TENNIS TOURNAMENT DATE IS AUGUST 8TH

Western Michigan Championship to Be Held Here Again

The Western Michigan tennis championships will be held in Charlevoix beginning Monday, August 8th, according to a tentative schedule received by the local club from the Western Lawn Tennis Association. The date is final as respects to Charlevoix, as it is satisfactory, falling in the midst of the season, and no change will be made.

Grand Rapids will hold the state championship starting Monday, June 6th. The Michigan Junior championships will be held at Muskegon beginning Monday, June 20th.

The biggest clay court event of the year, the National championship will again be played at Detroit, week of July 4th. The Saginaw Valley championships are scheduled for Saginaw, September 3, 4 and 5. City championships will be held at Grand Rapids, Battle Creek and Detroit. The Michigan metropolis will also hold a novice tournament August 22nd.

It will be seen from the above that Michigan is well represented in the field of tennis. W. G. Parker represented the local club at the winter meetings at Grand Rapids and Chicago. As a result of this policy of personal contact, Charlevoix is in touch with officials and players throughout the middle west. A big year is anticipated locally.

MEETING OF ASSOCIATION OF COMMERCE

Winter Sports Committee Will Report Friday Night

There will be a meeting of the Charlevoix Association of Commerce at the council rooms Friday evening, February 18th at 8 p. m.

A report will be rendered at this time by the Winter Sports committee, covering the winter carnival held last week.

Also Fred H. Merritt petroleum geologist of Minneapolis, Minnesota, will address the meeting relative to oil leases and oil well possibilities.

All members are urged to be present, and any citizen who is interested in joining the Association of Commerce is welcome to attend and become a member of our booster association.

HEADS SALE OF TUBERCULOSIS SEALS

Howard School Taught by Miss Elizabeth Clugg.

To the Howard school, taught by Miss Elizabeth Clugg, goes the honor of having made during the recent sale of tuberculosis Christmas seals the seals with the double-barred cross, the highest per capita record of any school in Charlevoix county, according to an announcement just received from the Lansing headquarters of the Michigan Tuberculosis Association. Each of the 15 pupils in the school sold an average of a trifle over 33 seals. As a prize for their good work the school was awarded a copy of the new health book called, "A Health Education Procedure."

DEPARTING RESIDENTS SURPRISED BY FRIENDS

Have Best Wishes of All for Success In Future Home

Mr. and Mrs. Roy Bowdish, who left Friday to make their future home in New Orleans, La., were pleasantly surprised last Tuesday evening when about twenty of their friends dropped in on them at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Andy McCall, Jr., to bid them good-by.

A fine potluck supper, followed by an evening of progressive pedro furnished the evening's entertainment. The best wishes of a host of Charlevoix friends follow Mr. and Mrs. Bowdish to their new home in New Orleans.

* * * * * * * * * * *
* CONGREGATIONAL CHURCH *
* B. G. Mattson, D. D., Minister *
* * * * * * * * * * *

Morning sermon topic, "The Conservatism of Progress."

The evening announcement is for six o'clock at which time we are combining the young people's meeting and the evening service in a young people's church hour, to which the older people and all friends of our young people are invited.

Those who heard the first installment of the story given by the pastor of the life of a great leader of young people will want to hear the continuation. New comers will not miss the connection by listening in next Sunday, but come at six not at seven o'clock.

Junior Endeavor meeting at six in the room down stairs. The pastor has resumed services at Ironton Sunday afternoon.

Old newspapers for sale at this office. 5c per package.

P. T. A. MEETING WEDNESDAY EVENING

Fine Program Promised With Refreshments Afterwards

A Parent-Teachers' Association meeting will be held Wednesday evening, February 23, in the high school auditorium. Mrs. Clarence Bridge and Miss VanderHaagen have charge of the program. The high school faculty will serve refreshments. All members are earnestly requested to be present. Mrs. F. F. McMillan, Secretary Pro Tem.

HEAR CHIRPS OF BRAVE BOBIN RED BREAST

Mrs. Clarence Withers is responsible for reporting to the Courier the appearance of the first robin for the spring of 1927. According to the report sent in by her, the robin in question was seen by her Monday, flying from tree to tree, evidently in quest of something to eat. There is no question in our mind that Mrs. Withers is correct in her information as at least two other robins have been seen within the past week.

Their early appearance might have been brought about by the general excitement caused by the preparation and bustle during winter carnival week.

Christian Science Society

Sunday service 10:45 a. m.
Subject: "Mind."
Sunday school at 12 o'clock.
Wednesday evening service 7:45.
Reading room open Tuesday and Saturday, 3 to 5 p. m.

The public is cordially invited to attend our service.

PHOENIX HOSIERY

This well known brand of hosiery at moderate prices can be had in the new shades. An all silk hose in service-weight or chiffon at

$1.95

M. A. Levinson & Co.

OUR BIG 9c SALE

IS FULL OF SURPRISES

Many articles are to be found here that are marked down for this sale. You can find here articles of every day use that are marked down so low that you cannot help but buy.

Just a few examples of the Wonderful bargains that are to be had at this Sale.

Some of the extra Special bargains are listed:—

Good Quality Grey Graniteware in Saucepans, Pudding pans, Utility pans, Mixing Bowls, Your choice 9c

Handy Aluminum Kitchen Helps, Choice 9c

Rose Transparent Facial Soap, 2 for 9c

Turkish Towels 9c

Fluted Optic Tumblers, 3 for 9c

Aluminum Sauce Pans, Extra Value, at 9c

Double Flat Curtain Rod, for 9c

Men's Canton Flannel Work Gloves, per pair 9c

A Special Discount will be given on all Crosley Radios on this Sale. Don't forget the Date. Sale starts Friday morning at 8:30 A. M.

WITHERS' VARIETY STORE

CHARLEVOIX, MICHIGAN

RUG SALE

FOR ONE WEEK ONLY

Feb. 17 to Feb. 24--For Cash Only

9 ft. by 12 ft., regular $80.00 value, for $64.50
9 ft. by 12 ft., regular $44.00 value, for $35.25
9 ft. by 12 ft., regular $52.50 value, for $42.00
9 ft. by 12 ft., regular $63.00 value, for $50.50
9 ft. by 12 ft., regular $55.00 value, for $43.25
9 ft. by 12 ft., regular $45.00 value, for $35.75
9 ft. by 12 ft., regular $65.00 value, for $51.75
9 ft. by 12 ft., regular $37.00 value, for $30.00
9 ft. by 12 ft., regular $50.00 value, for $39.75
8¾ ft. by 9½ ft., regular $54.00 value, for $43.00
8¾ ft. by 9½ ft., regular $44.00 value, for $35.75
6 ft. by 9 ft., regular $30.00 value, for $23.25
6 ft. by 9 ft., regular $63.00 value, for $48.50
8 ft. by 10 ft., regular $27.00 value, for $18.50
9 ft. by 12 ft., regular $38.00 value, for $27.50
11½ ft. by 12 ft., regular $75.00 value, for $57.50

All Other Rugs, Large and Small--20 per cent off regular price

S. M. SEE & SONS

RELIABLE HOUSEFURNISHERS

THE OLDEST BANK IN CHARLEVOIX COUNTY
FORTY-THIRD YEAR IN BUSINESS

1884 1927

PERHAPS YOU TOO--

have not noticed how often opportunities knock at the door of the man or woman who have a few hundred dollars "put away" in a steady growing Savings Account.

And doesn't that suggest something to you?

Charlevoix County Bank

CHARLEVOIX, MICHIGAN

Bridge & Company

THE BANK ON THE CORNER

LOCAL NEWS BRIEFLY TOLD

Get the Habit—Read the Courier

COMMUNITY CALENDAR
Coming Events

Feb. 18. Colonial Tea Party at Methodist Episcopal church, under auspices of the Ladies' Aid Society.

Feb. 22. Fourth number of Lecture Course.

Feb. 23. Parent-Teacher Association, High School, 7:30 p. m.

Feb. 23. Public supper, Congregational church, 5:30 p. m.

Feb. 28. Father and Son Banquet, First Methodist church.

Feb. 28. Court sets.

March 2. Ash Wednesday. Lent begins.

March 10. Fifth number Lecture Course.

March 25. City schools close for spring vacation.

April 8. M. E. Ladies' Aid Supper.

April 10-17. Holy Week services at First Methodist church.

April 17. Easter Cantata, Baptist church, 4 p. m.

John Roen made a business trip to Boyne City last Friday morning.

Volley Fox and Dick Dicken of Boyne City, were Charlevoix visitors last Saturday.

Miss Emily Prussing of Traverse City, visited Charlevoix friends over the week end.

A. J. Fisher returned Monday afternoon from a five-day business trip to Grand Rapids.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Ranger spent Sunday with Mrs. Ranger's parents near Horton Bay.

Mrs. E. D. Shafer, of Petoskey, spent Monday afternoon and Tuesday in the city visiting friends.

Block & Simmons, local Pontiac salesmen, report the purchase of a Pontiac sedan by Stephen-Geer.

For Choice

Cuts of MEATS

or your needs in

GROCERIES

Call 202

Milton Block

Mrs. Jupies Ish of Gaylord is visiting at the home of her daughter, Mrs. A. T. Jeffrey on State street.

Miss Maggie Colter returned last week from Detroit, where she has been spending the past month visiting.

Sander Halverson of Traverse City is visiting at the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Sam Halverson.

Miss Hazel Falk of Gaylord, spent the week end at the home of her aunt, Mrs. A. T. Jeffrey on State street.

Miss Doris Krulik arrived last Thursday afternoon from Grand Rapids, and visiting at the home of her sister, Mrs. Harold Hallett.

Mr. and Mrs. Capt. James Sanford returned the latter part of last week from an extended visit with their sons in Muskegon and Chicago.

Regular meeting I. O. O. F. lodge Wednesday evening, February 23. Work in second degree. All members are requested to be present.

Mrs. B. L. Harrington returned last Saturday from Alliance, Ohio, where she had been called on account of the death of her mother.

Millard Olney, who has been very ill for the past month, left last Thursday for Grand Rapids, for examination at Butterworth hospital.

A. E. Mitchell, manager of the resort department of Kinsey & Bays, Grand Rapids, spent the week end in Charlevoix to attend the winter carnival.

The Rebekah Circle will hold a progressive pedro party, Monday evening, February 21st, in the I. O. O. F. hall. Everyone is extended an invitation.

Mrs. H. W. Widdifield left Tuesday for Chicago, where she expects to spend the next two or three weeks visiting her sons, Kenneth, Albert and Stanley.

The Methodist Ladies' Aid invite every lady to their Colonial Tea Party, Friday the 18th, in the church parlors, downstairs. Program at 3 o'clock sharp.

Clarence V. Smazel of Manistee, publicity agent of the West Michigan Development League, was in Charlevoix Saturday to attend the winter carnival.

Miss Ida Doherty of Petoskey, a student in the Charlevoix County Normal School, left Tuesday for Detroit, where she will spend a week among friends and relatives.

Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Hallett and son, John, returned last Thursday afternoon from an extended trip to points of interest throughout the west. "J. J." says the west is a very attractive place, but Charlevoix is good enough for him.

During the past week Benj. Brown, local Dodge distributor, has sold Dodge cars to the following people: Orton VanDusen, Dodge Special sedan, Herman Johnston, Dodge Special roadster; Roy Dickie, Dodge Commercial car.

Boyne City has established a central polling place, according to the Boyne Citizen. The polling places in the 1st, 2nd, and 4th wards have been abolished and the city hall in the third ward has been named as a central polling place.

Here's a record breaker! Harry J. Alderman caught a 22-pound pike near the bridge at Central Lake last Tuesday. The account says Harry is feeling proud of the fact that he has out-witted one of the old "Grand-Daddies" of the lake.

There will be a meeting of the Association of Commerce in the council rooms, Friday evening, February 18, at 8 o'clock. All members and others interested are requested to attend.

The Charlevoix high school negative debating team lost a decision to the Harbor Springs affirmative team in their debate on the "coal" question, held in Harbor Springs last Thursday evening.

The Courier was late reaching its subscribers this week on account of trouble with the heating unit regulator on our linotype, which required sending to Chicago for a factory repair man. It is seldom the Courier is late, and we take this manner of explaining the delay.

Four trucks from the state highway department with a number of men arrived in the city Tuesday, and have started work on needed repairs on the swing bridge. The repairs will put the bridge in excellent condition and will take a number of days to complete them.

Hazel VanDusen, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Orton VanDusen, entertained the sophomore class of C. H. S. at her home last Saturday evening. The class made the trip out to her home in two sleigh loads. The evening was enjoyed in playing games and refreshments were served afterwards.

People from Boyne City who attended Charlevoix's winter carnival last Friday and Saturday included the following: Floren Simpson, Miss Jenevieve Cahlwell, Thurman Bird, Boyce Keiser, Mrs. T. O. Bissell and daughter, Virginia, Miss Helen Robick, W. P. Vought, M. P. McCloskey, John Dillon, Capt. James H. Gallagher.

Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Howe and J. Roy West are being entertained by Mr. and Mrs. A. Boals at their summer home on Lake Charlevoix, on the Charlevoix-Boyne City road. The party, which hails from Winnetka, Illinois, arrived last Saturday and motored to the Boals estate. They were interested spectators at our winter sports events Saturday.

The young people of the Epworth League celebrated the finish of an Epworthian contest with a supper in the parlors of First Methodist church last Friday at six o'clock. The losing side in the contest furnished the eats and the program. Rev. and Mrs. C. E. Pollock were guests of honor for the occasion. It was a very happy affair and was well attended. Some very progressive religious work is being done by these excellent young people.

The Colonial Tea party date is Friday afternoon of this week at 2:30 at the First Methodist church. A novel program has been arranged and refreshments will be served. Uncle Sam and Miss Columbia have been secured for the occasion, and George and Martha Washington will be present and greet the guests. All Charlevoix ladies are invited to come. Just to see the distinguished people who will be present will be worth while. Just leave it to these enterprising ladies to think of interesting programs.

There will be another of the popular Odd Fellow dances at the hall, Friday evening, Feb. 18. Come. Adv. 7-tf.

NEXT LYCEUM NUMBER HERE TUESDAY, 22ND

Jackson Plantation Singers to Appear at Palace Theatre

An occasion which merits unusual interest will be the appearance here Tuesday evening, February 22nd, on the local Lyceum course, of the Jackson Plantation Singers, a company of four negro melodists who present every variety of negro music.

The music of the American negro is original and distinct. It is highly colored by the swift emotional reactions of the race and ranges from the carefree and joyous simplicity of the plantation melodies to the subtle, peculiar rhythm of the spirituals.

Voodoo songs are a particulary interesting feature of negro music which have attracted wide attention in recent years. Running through these songs is a minor strain of religious fervor, half hypnotic in its intensity, and culminating at times in a frenzy of exaltation baffling to the Anglo-saxon mind.

The Jackson Plantation Singers are all excellent negro melodists. The feeling for harmony, instinct in the negro, has been supported by training and coaching, but the elemental rhythm of their singing has not been spoiled.

This not only accounts for the company's extreme popularity but giver to their programs a rare educational value.

Order your personal stationery at Holley Gift Shop. 200 sheets paper and 100 envelopes for $1.00.—Adv. 7-tf.

Read the Courier, and get the news

CEMENT COMPANY TEAM DEFEAT INDEPENDENTS

Locals Nosed Out by Petoskey in Final Minutes

Playing on Charlevoix's court the Petoskey Portland Cement team of the Petoskey Industrial league won a 20 to 18 game last Thursday night from the Charlevoix independents. Charlevoix led at the quarter 6 to 3 and at the half 12 to 10. At the third quarted halt the count was tied at 14 all.

Petoskey outscored Charlevoix in all but the opening quarter and captured the lead when the defense checked the scoring drive of Dagwell, left forward for Charlevoix. Captain Henry scored the winning basket in the closing minute of play.

Fans say the game was fast and hard fought with good refereeing by Higman of the high school squad. After the first quarter neither team was more than two points ahead of the other. Dagwell was about the whole Charlevoix team with seven field baskets for 14 of his team's total points.

The lineup:

Charlevoix		Petoskey
Hallett	RF	Fettig
Dagwell	LF	Crick
Wickstaff	C	Ernst
Saunders	RG	Zipp
Mayne	LG	Henry

Substitutes: Kalbfleisch for Crick. Field goals—Fettig, Crick, Kalbfleisch3, Ernest 3, Henry, Hallet, Dagwell 7, Wickstaff. Fouls—Ernst 1 out or 2, Henry 1 out of 1, Mayne 0 out of 1.

Score by quarters:

Petoskey	3	7	4	6—20
Charlevoix	6	6	2	4—18.

New line stamped bed specials, pillow cases, luncheon sets, towels, boudoir pillow, etc., at Holley Gift Shop.—Adv. 7-tf.

Are you a Courier subscriber. If not, why not.

COURIER BARGAIN COLUMN.

Courier Want Advs. are One Cent per word per insertion. Minimum charge is 20 cents per insertion, for anything under 20 words. All Want Advs. are strictly cash in advance except to those who have ledger accounts. Please remember this when sending in your copy.

FOR SALE OR TRADE

FOR SALE OR TRADE for city property, 40 acre farm with large sugar bush. Cheap for quick sale. Inquire 104 Mason street, or Min-Eva Lunch Room.—5-tf pd.

WANTED—MISCELLANEOUS

WANTED—To buy a business proposition, or will invest capital with time. Address "J", care Courier 4t5pd.

WANTED—Dressmaking. Mrs Lizzie Powell, 306 Harbart avenue, phone 434. 7-tf.

LOST

LOST Open-face gold wrist watch. Finder please return to Mrs. Harry Gelowu. Reward.—7-tf.

LOST—A pair of child's skiis at Mt. McSauba during the carnival last Friday afternoon. Finder please leave at Hotel Charlevoix. Reward. 7-tf.

FOR RENT—HOUSE

FOR RENT—8-room house with basement furnace, bath, garage, hen house, park, garden, fruit. Possession May. Address B. P. Wilkinson, Bellaire.—7-tf.

HELP WANTED.

SALESMAN WANTED—To solicit orders for lubricating oils, greases and paints. Salary or commission. Address The Harvey Oil Co., Cleveland, Ohio. 7-t1pd.

DISTRICT MANAGER—Well established reputable Detroit firm wishes to find live local representative willing to work hard for opportunity to make a lot of money. Must have best references. Address Paterson, 19th Fl. Cadillac Square Bldg., Detroit.—7t-1pd.

WANTED — Men 18-35. Railway Mail Clerk positions. Big salary commence. Experience unnecessary. Write George Robbins, for free particulars about instruction for this examination. 365 Burchell Bldg., Washington, D. C.—7-t3.

COMING

"It Pays to Advertise"

Senior Class Play

To be given on

MARCH 1, 1927

at Palace Theatre

1905 1927

A Voice From The Past

George Washington, whose birthday we celebrate on the 22nd of this month, said of saving: "Economy makes happy homes and sound nations; instill it deep." Acquire the saving habit. Save now. Save regularly. Save here.

We will be closed Feb. 22nd. Legal Holiday.

Charlevoix State Savings Bank

CHARLEVOIX, MICHIGAN

W. S. Richardson, President.

A. D. Crimmins, Vice President.

Archie Livingston, Cashier.

G. W. Richardson, Asst. Cashier.

Friday and Saturday Specials

Week end specials that will recall to your mind that this store is making an honest effort to have you make our place your permanent trading point. Every week end We have specials that result in substantial savings to you. If you will look over our line any week day, you will find article after article upon which you will make a saving.

Grocery Department

Fig Bars, 2 lbs. for	25c
Fruit Bars, lb.	20c
Golden Bantam Corn, 2 cans for	25c
String Beans, 2 cans for	25c
Chase & Sandborn's blended Coffee, lb.	50c

(Users of this coffee say it is fully as good as the higher priced article.)

Meat Department

Liver Sausage, 3 lbs. for	25c
Bologna, lb.	15c
Frankfurters, 2 lbs. for	35c

MARTIN BLOCK

Opposite Post Office Phones 12 and 142

NEW PALACE THEATRE

ATTRACTIONS FOR THE COMING WEEK.

Saturday and Sunday, February 19 and 20

Richard Barthelmess' latest, "SHORE LEAVE", an ideal role for Dick. He's sailor in the navy with a sweetheart in every port. Hop aboard Uncle Sam's biggest battleship—look down the line—there he is! Our Dick, in uniform—a regular Jackie. And he's adventure bound on the high seas of life and love. They fight together in battle—and now on the sea of love. It's the best Dick ever made bar now screened with the assistance of the U. S. Navy. Also a Fox Comedy "Sickpenny Lovers."

Wednesday, February 23.

"WHY WOMEN LOVE," with Blanch Sweet, Robert Frazer, Dorothy Sebastian. Adapted from the famous play "The Sea Woman." Scenario by Lois Leeson. Directed by Edwin Carewe. A First National Picture. Also Felix The Cat and Fox News.

Coming—Eddie Cantor in "Kid Boots."

IT PAYS TO PRESENT A NEAT APPEARANCE

—HAVE YOUR HAIR CUT REGULARLY

—AT—

Denny's Bob and Beauty Shoppe

Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Sternberg Props.

Brighten Your Home With

Fresh Cut Flowers

—OR—

Blooming Plants

Flowers for all occasions

A. E. EDWARDS

FLORIST

We're as near as your telephone

CHEVROLET

"An Entirely New Conception of Quality at Low Cost"

The Most Beautiful Chevrolet in Chevrolet History!

Reduced Prices!

The COACH $595

Because it carries the lowest prices ever placed on a truly fine automobile, the Most Beautiful Chevrolet brings into existence an entirely new conception of "Quality at Low Cost."

Never before at Chevrolet's amazingly reduced prices has any manufacturer provided so many fine car features, and so many mechanical improvements. These are typified by new bodies by Fisher finished in Duco colors, full-crown one-piece fenders, bullet-type lamps, AC oil filter, AC air cleaner, improved transmission, larger radiator and many, many others.

You need only to see these supremely beautiful cars to realize why all America is proclaiming them as the greatest sensation of America's greatest industry! You need only to compare them with the finest the market affords to see that they represent the biggest dollar-for-dollar value ever offered! Come in today and get a demonstration!

The Touring or Roadster	$525
The Coupe	$625
The Sedan	$695
Sport Cabriolet	$715
The Landau	$745
1-Ton Truck (Chassis Only)	$495
½-Ton Truck (Chassis Only)	$395

Balloon Tires Now Standard On All Models

All prices f.o.b. Flint, Mich.

PETOSKEY AUTO SALES

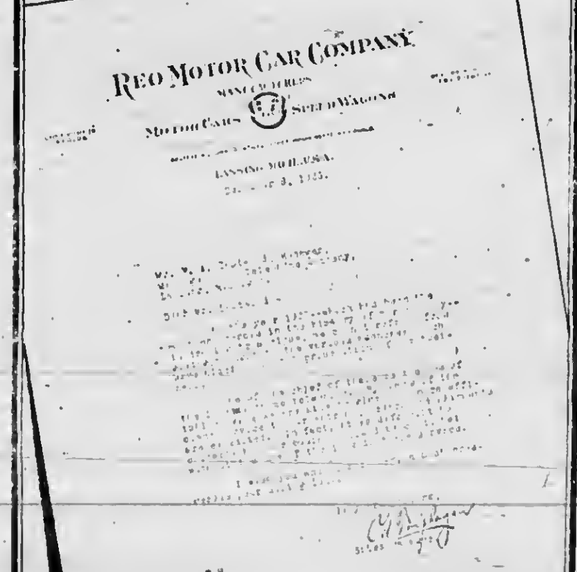
East Mitchell Street, Petoskey, Michigan

BLOCK & SIMMONS, Charlevoix, Local Agents

QUALITY AT LOW COST

MICHIGAN BELL TELEPHONE CO.

Long Distance Telephone Service Helps Sell "The Flying Cloud"



Reo Motor Car Company finds a widened market wherever the telephone lines reach.

Long distance expedites service to customers and speeds shipments.

LET THE COURIER PRINT YOUR SALE BILLS

CIRCUIT COURT OPENS FEB. 28

TWENTY-FIVE CASES APPEAR IN COURT CALENDAR

Fifteen Criminal, 7 Issues Fact and Law and 3 Chancery Cases Demand Attention

The February term of Circuit court will open on Monday, February 28th, with the following cases demanding attention:

Criminal

The People vs. Joe Oliver, for sentence.

The People vs. Hilton Marshall, for sentence.

The People vs. Joseph Wheaton, for senteace.

The People vs. Charles Neitzel, carrying away without breaking in.

The People vs. Roy Chamberlain, for sentence.

The People vs. James Martin, for sentence.

The People vs. Arthur O'Neil, continued case.

The People vs. Thomas Mitchell, for sentence.

The People vs. Grace Robert Cotton Sears and William Herbert Sears, destroying a deed.

The People vs. Charles Sevenski, for sentence.

The People vs. Carrie Sevenski and Louis Nyssen, violation of prohibition law.

The People vs. Louis Raymond Perkett, desertion.

The People vs. Lea Wiseman and Rose Dunlap, breaking and entering.

The People vs. Eric Winkler, wife desertion.

The People vs. John Yell and Edith Sumner, lewd and lascivious cohabitation.

Issues of Fact and Law

J. B. Colt Company vs. Mont Withers, assumpsit.

Est. Daniel J. Martin, deceased vs. E. J. Laway, petition.

Lena Kershner vs. Guy C. Conkle, assumpsit.

Milwaukee Tank Works vs. East Jordan Co-operative Association, declaration.

Joseph R. Guild vs. Earl A. Young, appeal justice court.

Aetna Life Insurance Co., a Corporation vs. Earl A. Young, assumpsit.

Voigt Milling Company, a Corporation of Michigan vs. Henry H. Cummings, assumpsit.

Chancery Cases

Walter S. Baer, Trustee vs. Est. of Harry L. Oldham, deceased, Grace L. Oldham, Executrix, et. al., foreclosure.

Robert W. Paddock vs. Pine Lake Farm Co. et. al., accounting.

Auditor General vs. Delinquent Tax Payers for the year 1924 and previous years, petition.

* * * * * * * * * *

AT THE MOVIES

* * * * * * * * * *

Dick is Sailor-an Model Battleship

One of Uncle Sam's model battleships plays a leading role in "Shore Leave," Richard Barthelmess' newest First National production which comes to the Palace Theatre on Saturday and Sunday. The warship is the Arkansas, pride of the United States Navy.

"Shore Leave" is the comedy romance of a "gob" and the United States government offered Barthelmess and his producers, Inspiration Pictures, Inc., its full co-operation. Thus, for the first time in the history of the navy, scenes of a motion picture drama were filmed on board a battleship at sea. Many of the scenes were "shot" while the Arkansas was en route from New York to Newport News, Va.

Uncle Sam, too, loaned a squad of some fifty seamen, accompanied by two petty officers, from Brooklyn Navy Yard during the filming of the studio scenes. The sailors proved to be extraordinary good film extras, working with a fine snap and precision.

Barthelmess plays a happy-go-lurky sailor, 'Bilge' Smith, in "Shore Leave." He is surrounded by an excellent cast, headed by Dorothy Mackaill, Ted McNamara, Nick Long, Marie Shotwell and Arthur Metcalf.

"Shore Leave" is directed by John S. Robertson, who made all of Barthelmess' recent productions.

* * * * * * * * * *

ST. MARY'S CHURCH

* * * * * * * * * *

Rev. Fr. Odelo, Pastor.

Sunday services 8:00 a. m. and 10:00 a. m.

Services Monday and Tuesday, 8:00 a. m.

Services Saturday 7:00 a. m.

Ladies' Altar Society meets Thursday afternoons.

* * * * * * * * * *

LEGAL NOTICES

* * * * * * * * * *

Order for Publication

State of Michigan, the Probate Court for the county of Charlevoix.

At a session of said court, held at the probate office in the city of Charlevoix in said county, on the 9th day of February A. D. 1927.

Present: Hon. Servetus A. Correll, Judge of Probate.

In the matter of the estate of Abner Compton, deceased. Myron Compton having filed in said court his petition praying that the administration of said estate be granted to petitioner or to some other suitable person.

It is ordered, that the 10th day of March A. D. 1927, at ten o'clock in the forenoon at said probate office, be and is hereby appointed for hearing said petition,

It is further ordered, that public notice thereof be given by publication of a copy of this order, once each week for three successive weeks previous to said day of hearing, in the Charlevoix Courier, a newspaper printed and circulated in said county.

Servetus A. Correll,
Judge of Probate

Adv. 7-t3.

Mortgage Sale

Default having been made in the conditions of a certain mortgage made by Edward B. Ward and Annie E. Ward of Charlevoix, Michigan to John Nicholls of Charlevoix, Michigan, dated the 3rd day of October, A. D. 1908, and recorded in the office of the Register of Deeds for the county of Charlevoix and state of Michigan, on the 3rd day of October, A. D. 1908, in Liber 44 of mortgages, on page 488, whereby the power of sale contained in said mortgage has become operative, on which mortgage there is claimed to be due at the date of this notice the sum of Four Hundred Ninety-nine Dollars for principal and interest, and an attorney's fee of Ten dollars, provided for in said mortgage, and no suit or proceedings at law having been instituted to recover the moneys secured by said mortgage or any part thereof;

Now, therefore, by virtue of the power of sale contained in said mortgage, and the statute in such case made and provided, notice is hereby given that on Friday the 29th day of April, A. D. 1927, at Ten o'clock in the forenoon, the undersigned will sell at public auction to the highest bidder, at the east front door of the court house, in the city of Charlevoix, Michigan, (that being the place where the circuit court for said county of Charlevoix is held,) the premises described in said mortgage, or so much thereof as may be necessary to pay the amount due on said mortgage, with seven per cent interest, and all legal costs, together with said attorney's fee, as provided by law, the premises being described in said mortgage as follows, to-wit:

Lot number One Hundred Thirty-five of Upright & Hurlhut addition to the city of Charlevoix, county of Charlevoix and state of Michigan.

Dated, January 31st., 1927.

Albert F. Bridge, Executor of the estate of John Nicholls, deceased,
Mortgagee.

A. L. Fitch,
Attorney for Mortgagee.
Business Address: Charlevoix, Michigan. 5t13.

CORRECT ENGLISH

MONTHLY MAGAZINE

Authoritative Exponent of English for 24 years.

Edited and founded by

JOSEPHINE TURCK BAKER

Famous World Authority on English

Send 10 Cents for Sample Copy

Correct English Publishing Co.

EVANSTON, ILLINOIS

Agents Wanted Everywhere

Order For Appearance

State of Michigan, the Circuit Court for the County of Charlevoix, in Chancery.

Pearl W. Hall, Plaintiff vs. A. I. Richard Hall, Defendant.

Suit pending in the Circuit Court for the County of Charlevoix in said county, on the 23rd day of December A. D. 1926.

In this cause it appearing from affidavit on file, that the Defendant A. I. Richard Hall, is not a resident of this state, but resides in the state of Illinois.

On motion of Arthur L. Fitch attorney for the Plaintiff, it is ordered that the said A. I. Richard Hall Defendant cause his appearance to be entered in this cause within three months from the date of this order; and in case of his appearance he cause his answer to the Plaintiff's Bill of Complaint to be filed, and a copy thereof to be served on said attorney for the Plaintiff, with fifteen days after service on said non-resident Defendent of a copy of said Bill and notice of this order; and that in default thereof; said bill be taken as confessed by said non-resident Defendant.

And it is Further Ordered, That within forty days the Plaintiff cause a notice of this order to be published in the Charlevoix Courier, a newspaper printed, published and circulated in said county, and that such publication be continued therein at least once in each week for six weeks in succession and that plaintiff cause a copy of this order to be mailed to said defendant A. I. Richard Hall at his last known post office address, by registered mail, with postage thereon fully prepaid and demand a return receipt therefore; or that said plaintiff cause a copy of this order to be served on said defendant A. I. Richard Hall personally at least twenty days before the time herein prescribed for the appearance of said defendant or that said plaintiff shall cause a copy of this order to be served on the said defendant A. I. Richard Hall by registered mail and demand a return receipt from the post office department at least twenty days before the time prescribed for the appearance of the said defendant.

Parm C. Gilbert,
Circuit Judge.

A. L. Fitch,
Attorney for Plaintiff
Business Address, Charlevoix, Mich. 2-t6

Mortgage Sale

Default having been made in the conditions of a certain mortgage made by Minnie Jane Smith of Charlevoix, Michigan, to Celia N. Bridge of Charlevoix, Michigan, dated the Fourteenth day of October, A. D. 1916, and recorded in the office of the Register of Deeds of the county of Charlevoix, State of Michigan, on the Sixteenth day of October, A. D. 1916, in Liber 52 of Mortgages, on page 480, whereby the power of sale contained in said mortgage has become operative, on which mortgage there is claimed to be due at the date of this notice the sum of Nine Hundred Two and Seventy-five one-hundredths Dollars as principal and interest and the further sum of One-Hundred Three and 20-100 Dollars paid in taxes on the land described in said mortgage and the further sum of Twenty dollars as an attorney fee provided for in said mortgage, and no suit or proceedings at law having been instituted to recover the moneys secured by said mortgage, or any part thereof;

Therefore, by virtue of the power of sale contained in said mortgage, and the statute in such case made and provided, notice is hereby given that on Friday, the 29th day of April, A. D. 1927, at ten o'clock in the forenoon, at the east front door of the court house in the city of Charlevoix, Michigan, that being the place where the Circuit court for said county is held, the undersigned will sell at public auction to the highest bidder, the premises described in said mortgage, or so much thereof as may be necessary to pay the amount due on said mortgage, as aforesaid, with seven per cent interest, and all legal costs, together with said attorney fee, as provided by law, the lands and premises being described in said mortgage as follows:

All that certain piece or parcel of land situate in the city of Charlevoix, county of Charlevoix, state of Michigan, described as follows: Beginning four hundred sixty and one-half feet east of a point where the north line of the Emmet and Grand Traverse State Road (now known as Petoskey Ave.) intersects the east line of Michigan Avenue, the same being the southwest corner of a lot owned by Jennie Gail Vandermade; thence east along the north line of Petoskey Avenue sixty-six feet; thence north one hundred fifty-six and three-fourths feet; thence west sixty-six feet; thence south to the place of beginning, the same being Lot number One of Block number three of Fox and Eaton's unrecorded plat to the village of Charlevoix, Michigan.

Dated, February 2nd., 1927.

Celia N. Bridge,
Mortgagee.

A. L. Fitch,
Attorney for Mortgagee,
Business address: Charlevoix Michigan. 5t13.

NOTICE OF CHANCERY SALE

State of Michigan, in the Circuit Court for the County of Charlevoix, in Chancery.

Donald O. Boudeman and Dallas Boudeman, Jr., Plaintiffs, vs. Hattie McNeill, Defendant.

In pursuance and by virtue of an order and decree of the Circuit Court for the County of Charlevoix, Michigan, in chancery, dated the 6th day of January, A. D. 1927, in the above cause in said court pending wherein Donald O. Boudeman and Dallas Boudeman, Jr., are plaintiffs and Hattie McNeill is defendant, said suit having been filed to foreclose a mortgage on which, by the terms of said decree, there was due on the date of said decree, namely, Two Thousand Three Hundred Five and 34-100 Dollars ($2,305.34).

Notice is Hereby Given, That I shall sell at public auction to the highest bidder at the east front door of the Court House in the City of Charlevoix, Michigan, (said Court House being the place for holding the Circuit Court for said county,) on the 22nd day of March, A. D. 1927, at ten (10) o'clock in the forenoon of said day, Central Standard Time, all or so much thereof as may be necessary of the land and premises hereinafter described, to raise the amount due to said plaintiffs by the terms of said decree, together with principal, interest, taxes, insurance and costs due said plaintiffs at the time of said sale.

The premises to be sold are described as follows, to-wit:

The parcels of land situated in the City of Charlevoix, County of Charlevoix and State of Michigan, and described as follows, to wit: the west half (½) of Lots One and Two (1, 2) in Block Four (4) of Dixon's addition to the village (now city) of Charlevoix, according to the plat thereof duly recorded in the office of the Register of Deeds of Charlevoix County, Michigan.

Dated at Charlevoix, Michigan, January 27th, A. D. 1927.

Lisle Shanahan,
Circuit Court Commissioner in and for Charlevoix County, Michigan. Business address, Charlevoix, Michigan.

Adams and VanHorn,
Attorneys, for Plaintiff, Business address, 114 West South St., Kalamazoo, Michigan. 5t7.

Mortgage Sale

Default having been made in the conditions of a mortgage made by Albert L. Johnson and Alma K. Johnson, husband and wife, to John Nicholls, of Charlevoix, Michigan, dated the second day of February, A. D. 1912, and recorded in the office of the Register of Deeds of the county of Charlevoix, state of Michigan, on the second day of February, A. D. 1912, in Liber 48 of Mortgages, on page 61, whereby the power of sale contained in said mortgage has become operative, on which mortgage there is claimed to be due at the date of this notice the sum of Four Hundred Twenty Dollars and Fifty Cents as principal and interest, and Twenty-eight Dollars and Fifty-seven Cents, in taxes paid by the mortgagee on the lands described in said mortgage, together with an attorney fee of Fifteen Dollars provided for in said mortgage, and no suit or proceeding at law having been instituted to recover the moneys secured by said mortgage or any part thereof;

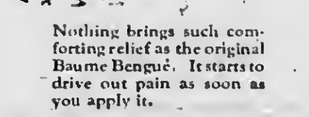
Therefore, by virtue of the power of sale contained in said mortgage, and the statute in such case made and provided, notice is hereby given that on Friday, the 29th day of April, A. D. 1927, at ten o'clock in the forenoon, at the east front door of the court house in the city of Charlevoix, county of Charlevoix, and state of Michigan, that being the place where the circuit court for said county is held, the undersigned will sell at public auction to the highest bidder, the lands and premises described in said mortgage, or so much thereof as may be necessary to pay the amount due on said mortgage, as aforesaid, with seven per cent interest, and all legal costs, together with said attorney fee, as provided by law, the lands and premises being described in said mortgage, as follows, to-wit:

All that certain piece or parcel of land situate in the Township of Marion, county of Charlevoix, and state of Michigan, and described as follows, to-wit: The southwest quarter of the southwest quarter of section twelve, township thirty-three north, range eight west.

Dated, February 2nd, 1927.

Albert F. Bridge, Executor of the estate of John Nicholls, deceased.
Mortgagee.

A. L. Fitch.
Attorney for the Executor of the Estate of John Nicholls, deceased, mortgagee.
Business address: Charlevoix, Michigan. 5t13



Nothing brings such comforting relief as the original Baume Bengué. It starts to drive out pain as soon as you apply it.

GET THE ORIGINAL FRENCH

BAUME BENGUÉ

(ANALGESIQUE)

Babies Love It

For all stomach and intestinal troubles and disturbances due to teething, there is nothing better than a safe Infants' and Children's Laxative.

MRS. WINSLOW'S SYRUP

Raising the Family.—Could Henry have attended that School?

YOU'VE GOT A LOT TO LEARN
WELL BY GOSH I'LL SELL THIS
NO I GUESS YOU'RE THE ONE WHO NEEDS IT!
I'LL THINK HOW MANY SIMS DO LOSE POCKET BOOKS AND THINGS THAT WAY—
EXACTLY! EXACTLY!
HOWEVER ME TO RUN WATCH C
INTERNATIONAL CARTOON CO N.Y.
693

Alabaster Lamps

By Margaret Turnbull

Copyright, 1925, by Margaret Turnbull. WNU Service

(Continued from page three)

that for two minutes hours I'd go it, and never trouble her again. She could get a divorce for desertion whenever she liked."

He looked at Ned, as though expecting an interruption, but Ned simply stared at him.

"Yes," Claude Dabbs told him stoutly, as though in answer to the unspoken question, "that's what I did. Married for money. Sold myself for two hundred dollars!"

"Great Scott, C. M.! Get on! What happened?"

"After I married Polly, and got half the money down, I came home here saying nothing to anyone. The understanding was that I was to go back at the end of the week, sign the necessary papers, and get the rest of the money. That was to end the whole business. When I got home, Pop was dying. He died the night I got home, and was buried three days after.

"After the funeral I made an excuse to Mom that I had to go back to settle things, and so I got away. I went to the lawyer's office and signed the papers. He told me that Polly's uncle was dead, had died two days after I married Polly, and I was to take the papers and deliver them to her. She was staying at a little second-rate hotel. She'd given up her job but she didn't want to spread herself until she got away from the town where she'd been a servant girl. Polly herself was to give me the rest of the money. I'd only been paid half before I went home. The lawyer laughed, when he told me that, and added: 'Women are women. She would have it so.' Then he looked sly, and said: 'Maybe this isn't such a mercenary affair as I was led to believe. If I were you, I'd make her see reason and stay in America before she spends all of her fortune in traveling, or gets taken in by foreigners. It's a lot of money. If I were in your shoes, I'd never let her go.'

"I walked away from him, thinking if he was in my shoes he'd be in a bad way. I didn't know whether it was because I was all worn out with grief over Pop, and sleepless nights and worry about Mom and the future, or whether it was because I was miles away from home and lonely. Somehow I didn't seem like myself. I seemed like some other person. I tried to shake the feeling off. I said to myself: 'All the time I'm with Polly, I'm going to be just myself the Claude Dabbs I feel like. She don't know me as Claude Dabbs of Peace Valley.

"I saw my future. A hard struggle with a country store and no time to do anything but work. God! how I rebelled in that short walk down. I didn't see why I should be shut up in a grocery for a lifetime and that was all I could see to look to. Why should my father have had to die, when there were men walking around hale and hearty who were older than he.

"And I wanted Pop back! Nothing to do with the financial part of it that way. I could not—Why, I could have stood anything, all of it forever to Pop. I kept seeing him as he was on the bed, his poor old face—Oh, I was a fool!

There was a sore place in my heart that I couldn't bear, marked with his name. Every time I went near it, I jumped away, like you jump when you have had a bad spot and the dentist's feeling round.

"All the things I hadn't done that Pop wanted me to do; all the times I'd disappointed him and acted mean were there. It needed only a touch to send me running down that city street, crying like a baby.

"So I shut it off. In a corner of my mind, and said to myself: 'That's got nothing to do with this Polly I'm going to see. I'll get all through with this young woman, and then I'll go home to what I've got to go home to. But she's nothing to do with it.'"

Ned stopped him. "C. M.," he said "I don't think you exactly hated this Polly."

"Maybe not, but I wasn't looking forward with much pleasure to seeing her. I'd hardly looked at her in the boarding house, unless I had to yell at her for not tidying up my room, or for tidying it so I couldn't find anything; or not bringing my laundry up fast enough. No, that isn't quite honest. I'd not cared her, all right. She was too pretty not to notice. But my mind had been on other things then, and she was just Polly. Understand?"

"I think I get the state of mind you were in," Ned admitted thoughtfully. "But I—I think you liked the girl a lot more than you admit."

Claude sighed. "It's impossible. It's so hard to make people see, though, that sometimes you're one part of yourself and sometimes you're another."

He began again, as though anxious to get on.

"It was getting pretty late and I thought if I got there just in time for supper I would have to ask her to eat with me. I didn't think I could stand talking to her, so I stopped at a restaurant.

"Son, I don't know that I can make you understand it, but I might just as well have had something strong to drink. The food made me feel so queer; like plowing ahead at someone, or something. I took a little walk, and then I said to myself that now I'd only got to get it over and then I could take the nine o'clock train home—and that would be all of that.

"The hotel wasn't far from the station, and it wasn't very handsome, I guess, but it was finer than any I'd ever been in. I asked for Polly by her own name, only saying Mrs. instead of Miss. It was her own idea. She didn't wish to have anything like talk about us. I said I was her husband. The woman called upstairs and told me Polly would be down in a minute.

"The parlor was full of people but nobody I knew. I sat down and waited, and with [illegible]

"I Looked Up and There Was Polly."

"Then I heard a voice near me say: 'Well, so it's you.' I looked up and there was Polly."

Claude glanced at Ned, who, his eyes shaded with his hand, seemed to be listening intently.

"Wish I could make you see just what she looked like to me. I'd never seen her in right clothes; just house dresses and apron things. There, beside—me, was one of the prettiest girls I'd ever seen in my life. She was dressed all in black—mourning for her uncle—and it set off her fair skin. It made her red hair look like autumn leaves, kinda flaming and yet soft. I'd mostly seen that hair bundled up in a dusting cap. Well, I guess I gawked at her before I rose to my feet, and Polly was confused, too, and kept looking away from me.

"'We can't say anything private here,' she said. 'Maybe you'd better come to my room.'

"I told her I guessed that would be all right, for I'd said I was her husband when I came in.

"'Oh,' she says, 'did you? Then it's all right. Come along.'

"We went up and she opened the door and I went into her room."

(TO BE CONTINUED.)

METHODIST CHURCH

We are highly eulogistic of the Winter carnival so carefully planned and directed by the people of Charlevoix. Occasions of this kind are wholesome and contribute real values to a community. Old and young and everybody participated in the fun. All played together, and youth had a fair show for recognition. The fun was clean, and everybody was in good spirits. Even the dogs were full of frolic. Good fellowship was much in evidence, and right thinking people had made the whole affair above reproach. Such occasions deserve many good words, and reflect much credit upon any community whose leaders and people sponsor clean community fun in the great out-of-doors.

"Colonial Home Day" next Sunday in the church. In the worship services of the day Washington's birth anniversary will receive recognition in two highly interesting and profitable services.

"The Colonial Home" is the general theme at 10:30 a. m. At this service the following features will be presented: Orchestra, processional, choir composed of elderly people, older people will sing anthem, message to juniors by Mrs. Edward Stewart, prayer by Mrs. A. Edwards, talk on home religion by Mr. A. Edwards, sermon, "Practical Religion" by pastor. Mr. Oluf Nordrum will have general charge of the service, giving the readings and making any necessary announcements. A souvenir bulletin will be given each home represented at the service, and it is expected that every Junior will be present. Juniors are invited to stay through the entire service in the auditorium. Places will be reserved for them. Everybody is invited, and all elderly people are specially urged to attend. If such will notify Mrs. A. Edwards, conveyance will be provided to bring them to and from church. Colonial costumes will be used, and the church will be very comfortable and fittingly decorated.

"Washington's Religion," sermon at 7:00 p. m. The pastor will preach at this service also. Motion pictures will be shown, presenting "The Midshipman," a picture of our government war school at Annapolis. This film is government sponsored, and will be shortened so the service will not be unduly prolonged. While it is educational, it is also romantic and dramatic, and a fitting film for a Washington birth anniversary occasion. No charge for admission will be expected, of course. But a generous offering from all is expected to care for all expenses.

Epworth League meets for devotional hour and study at six o'clock next Sunday.

Sunday school, with increasing interest and numbers, next Sunday at twelve o'clock.

Avoid fire risks from burning-out chimneys by using our honest-to-goodness Soot Destroyer. Charlevoix Hdw. Co.—Adv. 2tf.

CHURCH OF GOD

Services held at the chapel on West Burbut Ave.

Morning worship at 10:30 a. m.

Sunday school at 11.45 a. m.

Young people's service at 6:30 p. m.

Evening service at 7:30 p. m.

Prayer meeting at 7:30 p. m. Wednesday evening.

The sewing circle will meet at the parsonage, Thursday p. m. All are requested to be present. Come.

Sunday morning the subject will be, "Life's Grinding," taken from spiritual and present day methods. Applications and contracts will be given to show the spiritual significations.

Come, will be good. We extend a cordial welcome.

One of the main difficulties in editing a paper is in collecting the bills.

Twelve Years OF DEPENDABILITY

It was Dodge Brothers distinction, twelve years ago, to create a more dependable car in its price class than previously had been known.

This enviable leadership Dodge Brothers have rigidly maintained.

Wherever difficult conditions try the souls of men and the stamina of motor cars, you will find Dodge Brothers product foremost in favor.

You will find also that six, eight and even ten years of service are not exceptional for the car; that frequently it delivers mileage running well into six figures; and that maintenance cost is remarkably low throughout its long and useful life.

These facts powerfully witness Dodge Brothers success in constantly bettering a product that was exceptional even at the start.

Touring Car	$ 865.00
Coupe	$ 920.00
Standard Sedan	$ 970.00
Special Sedan	$ 1020.00
DeLuxe Sedan	$ 1155.00

Delivered

BENJ. BROWN
CHARLEVOIX, MICH

We Also Sell Dependable Used Cars

DODGE BROTHERS
MOTOR CARS

Choose Your Winter's Reading Among These

SPECIAL BARGAINS

GOOD ON RURAL ROUTES ONLY

Charlevoix Courier, regular price $2.00
Grand Rapids Evening Press, regular price $4.00, both for $5.60

Charlevoix Courier, Grand Rapids Evening
Grand Rapids Herald, regular price $4.00, both for $5.50

Charlevoix Courier, and Michigan Farmer, both for $2.50

Charlecoix Courier, Grand Rapids Evening
Press and Michigan Farmer,
one year for $6.10

SPECIAL MAGAZINE RATES

Ask us for cut prices on your magazine renewals. There is hardly a one but what we can save you from 50c to $2.00. Write us a postal card or call at the office.

The Charlevoix Courier

Charlevoix, Michigan

LEGISLATURE WARS ON ALL LOBBYISTS

ADVERSE REPORTS RECEIVED ON CHELSEA CEMENT PLANT

Corn Borer Battle Fund Asked; Solons Endorse McNary-Haugen Measure

Capital punishment, control of lobbyists, highway finance, state income tax, investigations of the Chelsea cement plant, and other issues of front page importance are contributing to the interest and intensity of the daily sessions of the state legislature.

Capital punishment for first degree murder is being discussed daily in the legislature chambers and the house is expected to take final action on this legislation very soon. Rep. Milton R. Palmer's bill, proposing to inflict the death penalty by lethal gas was once reported out by the judiciary committee of the house, but later re-referred to the same committee.

On Friday, February 11, this same committee reported Rep. Joseph C. Armstrong's capital punishment bill without recommendation and the bill has been placed on general orders for the consideration of the committee of the whole. This bill would leave it up to the jury to determine upon either life imprisonment or death by electrocution. In the case of a plea of guilty the judge would determine the degree of guilt and impose the appropriate penalty.

The senate has already passed a pretty strict anti-lobbing bill, which after specifying who may be admitted within the bar of the senate during sessions provides "that any person who is a lobbyist shall be denied the right of admission to the floor," whenever the senate is in session. The house has been debating a similar rule and has set Wednesday afternoon, February 16, for final consideration of this matter.

Both the senate and the house have passed with very little opposition, Sen. Peter B. Lennon's resolution urging congress to approve the McNary-Haugen bill.

Rep. David H. Brake of Fremont is sponsoring a bill to prevent hunting on enclosed lands, farm lands, or farm woodlots connected therewith without the written consent of the owner or lessee of such land.

Considerable stiffening of the grades for Michigan apples is proposed in a bill introduced in the house by Rep. Luther E. Hall of Ionia, chairman of the house committee on horticulture. This bill would materially decrease the tolerance in the various grades for apples lacking proper color and having other defects. Rep. Hall contends that only by having strict grades and considering at all times the desires of the consumers can Michigan apples compete successfully with the carefully graded pack of the western orchardists.

A proposal that beginning at the April election in 1929 supervisors be elected for two year terms, is embodied in the constitutional amendment introduced by Sen. Vincent A. Martin of Fruitport.

Prunning a lot of dead timber out of the laws of Michigan is the purpose of a bill by Sen. Howard F. Baxter of Grand Rapids which would repeal 140 obsolete acts and parts of acts constituting 715 sections.

Two reports of unusual interest have been submitted to the legislature by Gov. Fred W. Green relative to the state owned cement plant at Chelsea. The first was based on the study of the property made by C. H. Sonntag, a cement engineer who has been making a careful study of the plant. His findings were very unfavorable and concluded with the statement, "The state is not justified in continuing the operation of this plant unless it can be shown that it can use the entire output ad can save a considerable sum by doing so, as compared to the purchase of its cement requirements on the open market."

The Governor has already submitted to the legislature another communication on the same subject which embodied the results of a study of the proposition which has been made by the Attorney General's office. This report embodied serious charges against the operation of the cement plant among which were short weight, inferior quality, padded inventories, inefficient operation and general mismanagement.

The biennial flood of appropriation requests has begun to make its appearance. Among the millions of dollars being asked for various state institutions and departments is one of special interest to Michigan farmers. This is Sen. Norman B. Horton's bill providing $200,000 of state funds for each of the next two years for corn borer control. President Coolidge has recently signed a bill passed by congress, appropriating $10,000,000 for this purpose and providing that the federal government will match state money 5 to 1. Thus if Michigan provides $200,000 there will be a million dollars of federal money available for the corn borer battle in Michigan.

One appropriation bill which is certain to start a great deal of discussion is the proposal of Sen. Herbert J. Rushton of Escanaba, that $160,000 be appropriated to provide an executive mansion so that the Governor of the state might have a home while in Lansing.

Rep. Snow's constitutional amendment to authorize the legislature to enact a graduated state income tax and to classify real and personal property for tax purposes was up for consideration as a special order Tuesday afternoon, February 15.

The house committee of the whole has acted favorably upon the constitutional amendment sponsored by Rep. Ate Dykstra of Grand Rapids to limit legislative sessions to ninety days.

SEWAGE DISPOSAL BILL APPROVED

PUBLIC HEARING ON PLAN FEBRUARY TENTH.

That Plan is Just What is Needed Seems to Be Universal Opinion of All

Sewage disposal on a public utility basis to avoid stream pollution appeared to be recognized as a Michigan necessity at a public hearing of the house city corporations committees held at the Capitol last Wednesday night.

The hearing was called by Rep. Ate Dykstra, chairman, of Grand Rapids, on a bill submitted by him on behalf of the League of Michigan Municipalities to empower cities to finance construction and operation of disposal plants by charging a service fee.

More than 100 representatives of state cities and members of the legislature attended the hearing in the house chamber, and every speaker agreed that such an enabling act would prove beneficial to cities now at their bond limit and confronted by an order from state authorities to discontinue pollution of streams.

Problem Is Big One

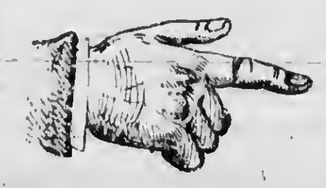
To explain the scientific features of disposal, the municipalities brought to the meeting Prof. W. C. Hoag, municipal and sanitary engineer of the University of Michigan, who said that modern sewage disposal in Michigan had become "a municipal obligation not contemplated in present city charters."

That feature of this bill which would enable cities to charge a fixed rate for the service similar to the manner in which water is now dispensed is the best part of the bill," he said. "It will successfully get around the bond limit and permit us to restore the natural state of our streams."

The only opposition to any portion of the bill was made by Rep. Frank P. Darin, of River Rouge, who advocated an amendment to restrict large cities from stepping over the corporate line into an adjoining city or town and creating a nuisance by construction of a sewage disposal plant. Before such cities could go outside the corporate limits he suggested the adjoining city should give its consent.

The committee agreed that such a provision should be included in the bill. Darin pointed out that the city of Detroit now proposes to build a reduction plant in an adjoining corner of River Rouge, and declared there was much opposition to the plan in River Rouge. He favored the metropolitan plan, which would enable adjoining cities to band together for joint construction of a plant.

Charlevoix Hardware Company



INVESTIGATE

BE YOUR OWN JUDGE

Worth While Savings Sale

Small hand-bills note a few of the prominent items. The whole story is too long to tell but there are articles for RIGHT NOW, for the SPRING CLEAN UP and PAINT UP on which you can save REAL MONEY by buying now.

One entire week of Splendid Bargains all over the store from a few cents up.

Investigate---Be your own Judge.

Charlevoix Hardware Company

NORTHERN MICHIGAN'S FINEST STORE

Three Big Departments - HARDWARE - FURNITURE - ELECTRICAL

Let us do a neat, thorough job, giving you all the comfort and convenience of electricity. Let us install a G-E wiring system throughout—with all materials made by General Electric. It's the most satisfactory system—also the most economical, for it lasts a lifetime.

WIRING SYSTEM
—for lifetime service

WOOD BROS.

1671

Zonite

For Cuts and Wounds

Prevent infection! Treat every cut, wound or scratch with this powerful non-poisonous antiseptic. Zonite actually kills germs. Helps to heal, too.

PLAYED TO A PACKED HOUSE

(Continued from page one.)

the neighbors forget their work and their grouches and their troubles as they rally to the assistance of the aunt and then to comfort her when she hears the little chap isn't coming after all.

And of course, Peter finds his tongue and there is a happy little love scene to close with grandma in the back-ground, adding her blessing.

The Cast: Grandma, Mary E. Burns; Mis' Diantha Abel, (who received a fine bouquet of poppies from an admirer in the audience), Ida M. Sterritt; Ezra Williams, H. R. Fowler; Peter, O. P. North; Inez, Elizabeth Williams; Mis' Elmira Moran, May J. Dean; Mis' Trot, Florence King; Mis' Carrie Ellsworth, Cora E. Kelderhouse.

Every part was splendidly taken and special credit is due to Mrs. B. G. Mattson, who directed both plays. In lieu of the usual royalty and at the request of the author of "The Neighbors," the Pilgrim Circle will plant a community Christmas tree in the spring.

Norwood Township Caucus.

Notice is hereby given that a township caucus will be held in the Norwood Town Hall, on Monday, March 7, at 1:00 p. m., for the purpose of placing in nomination candidates for township offices for the ensuing term and for the transaction of such other business as may properly come before it.

By order of Committee,
Frank E. Richardson, clerk of said township of Norwood, Michigan.—Adv. 7-t3.

Brüderwear Hosiery, all colors, $1.00; "Onyx" Hosiery, pointed heel, $1.65 to $2.50. Holley Gift Shop.—Adv. 7-t3.

RECEIVED PAYMENT FROM HIGHWAY DEPT.

Charlevoix Gets $4,028.43 of Back Reward Money

Charlevoix county's highway fund is richer to the extent of $4,028.43, a check for that sum having been received last week from the state highway department at Lansing. The money is the annual winter payment on the road reward debt the state owes Charlevoix county.

Under the Groesbeck highway plan the state is paying up its debts to the counties at the rate of a million dollars a year. The money had been advanced by the counties to cover state reward road cost with the understanding that the state would pay it back as soon as the roads were completed. However, when the time came to pay the state failed to make good.

The last legislature took the matter in hand and advised the scheme of paying a little each year until the entire debt is paid off.

WASHINGTON AND LINCOLN EULOGIZED

Dr. F. F. McMillan Gave Fine Address Monday Evening

An unusually interesting program was enjoyed by a large group of men last Monday evening at the First Methodist church. The roast beef supper was served promptly at seven. Rev. C. E. Pollock gave a Bible exposition of a portion of next Sunday's church school lesson, his subject being "Salt."

Dr. F. F. McMillan gave a very well prepared and clearly presented address on "Washington and Lincoln," in which he compared and eulogized these two great leading Americans. Earle Shapton had charge of twenty minutes of real fun, which sent all the men away with a good laugh.

Next Monday evening the men will meet at six thirty for their supper and program. Note the change of hour. This change is made to accommodate some who desire to come earlier. Dr. L. B. McMillan of Onaway, who for two years was in government service in the Philippines, will give the special address. The doctor took a large number of pictures of actual scenes in the Philippines and will show them with the stereopticon to illustrate his address. This promises to be a unique opportunity for the men to get first hand information of conditions in this island possession of the United States, at a time when it is somewhat in the limelight.

All men are invited. The date of the father and son banquet is February 28. Judge Parm Gilbert will be the special speaker for the banquet occasion. Get your tickets early, for the number will be limited.

Old Time Dancing Party

—AT—

K. of P. Hall, Friday, Feb. 25

Music by Miller's Orchestra

FOX TROTS, WALTZS, TWO STEPS
QUADRILLES, VIRGINIA REELS

DANCES FOR OLD AND YOUNG
DANCING FROM 9:00 P. M., ON

Bill $1.00 Extra Ladies 25c

CHEVROLET SET NEW PRODUCTION RECORD

Thirty Thousand More Than in January of 1926

Responding to a winter demand for cars unprecedented in the history of the company, the Chevrolet Motor Company in January again shattered all production records for that month by building 73,676 unites, almost 30,000 cars more than were made in January of 1926.

The January, 1926 production in its turn almost tripled the production of January, 1925.

Under the tentative production schedule for February the company will be prepared to make a total of 84,000 units, which would establish a new monthly production record in the history of the company, exceeding even the record monthly output in September, 1926, of 81,158 cars.

The heavy winter production is the result of demand for "the most beautiful car in Chevrolet history" which Chevrolet buyers have made upon the company's dealers since the announcement of lower prices and numerous refinements in the entire Chevrolet line.

In 1926 the Chevrolet Motor Company led all manufacturers of gear shift cars by building 732,145 cars, an increase of more than 40 per cent over the previous record year. Under a $10,000,000 expansion program initiated in 1926 the Chevrolet Motor Company is equipped for even greater production during 1927.

The new machinery making this enlarged production possible is completely installed in the various plants of the company throughout the country and all necessary changes of dies and tools have been made to insure uninterrupted manufacturing schedule during this year.

W. C. T. U. MEETING WELL ATTENDED

Topic of the Day Proved Especially Interesting

The monthly meeting of the Woman's Christian Temperance Union held last Friday at the home of Mrs. F. F. McMillan, was well attended and the topic, "Scientific Temperance Instruction," presented by Mrs. Mattson was especially interesting.

It was though the efforts of the union that laws were passed requiring temperance instruction in the schools. Vermont enacted the first statute and in twenty years every state had passed similar laws.

It would be well for everyone who has not received the training to acquaint themselves with the efforts of alcoholic liquors on the system. Children need not only this teaching, but a training in will power and self control.

The March meeting of the Union will be held with Mrs. M. B. Hooker.

In view of the wonderful records that have been made by their sex the past year in swimming, tennis, and golf, it would seem as if the hens of Charlevoix might brace up and lay a little better.

Primary Election, March 7

Do your duty on that date by casting your ballot for the candidate, who in your judgment will best fulfil the duties of his office.

Permit me to announce for your consideration, my candidacy on the Republican ticket for Commissioner of Schools in Charlevoix County.

I am 41 years of age, a college graduate, with the degree of Bachelor of Arts. I also hold a life certificate from the Department of Public Instruction, and am now in my tenth year's teaching experience in Rural Schools. This is my fifth year in the Grammer room at Clarion.

The year our schools were organized into the Township Unit System, I served as secretary of the Board.

I am a teacher because I am a lover of children, and want to see them get the best, and be the best in every way.

Yours for faithful service and the highest citizenship.

Adv. 7-t1. William Charles Palmer

CHARLEVOIX COURIER

VOLUME 31 NUMBER 8. EIGHT PAGES COURIER, CHARLEVOIX, MICH., WEDNESDAY, FEBRUARY 23, 1927 PRICE $2.00 PER YEAR

QUEER CRAFT IS ALSO A MARVEL

HAS ALL MODERN CONVENIENCES OF HOME

Looks Like Columbus' Santa Maria, But the Old Boy Would Never Recognize This Ship

Similar in many respects to the ship in which Columbus sailed the sounding main way back in 1492, is the "Golden Rule" of Charlevoix, probably the most unique sailing vessels on the Great Lakes. It is owned and captained by Allie Moore. More exactly, the "Golden Rule" is owned and captained and manned by Mr. and Mrs. Allie Moore, for it's Mrs. Moore (as good a sailor as any that ever walked a quarter deck, according to her husband), who manages the quaint old outboard rudder in the same manner the steersman of the Santa Maria did 432 years ago.

The ship was planned and built during spare time by Mr. and Mrs. Moore in River Rouge, Detroit, on the general lines of the ancient sailing vessels. It is 55 feet in length with a 17 foot beam, and carries 700 yards of rigging in 12 sails. The rigging is held by old fashioned belaying pins and a ponderous old windless, which raises and lowers the 600 pound anchor, was taken from the old "Red, White and Blue," one of the oldest lake scows in existence.

Though outwardly the "Golden Rule" is as quaint as any old-time ship model, "below decks" is a marvel of compactness and comfort. Twelve bunks in the hold, a comfortable dining room in the aft cabin which is both light and cool in summer, an airy dining room, an efficient little kitchen, with ample cupboard space for dishes and supplies as well as kitchen sink, drainboard and cooking stove, a refrigerator, sewing machine and bathroom, are a few of the features of this "old-fashioned" sailing vessel that might have disconcerted Columbus considerably. A full length mirror and even a five-tube radio complete the list of conveniences.

The crew consists of Dick, the canary; Dick, the huge Great Dane, Rags, a smaller black dog, and Minnie, the ship's cat, who is no landlubber, either, for she has never left the ship for any length of time since its bow first hit the water.

Mr. Moore, who held the world's roller skating championship for a period of 11 years, is well known to old-timers of the sporting world. He and his wife were featured in newspaper headlines in the fall of 1922, when they lost their boat in a severe storm on Saginaw bay and were picked up by a freighter and landed at

(Continued on page 8)

Political Announcement

I wish to announce to the voters of Charlevoix, that my name will appear on the ballot as a candidate for the office of City Treasurer, at the March 7, primary. I will greatly appreciate the support of my friends and all who believe that the interests of the city will be subserved by me in the event of my nomination and election. I believe my qualifications are such that will enable me to handle the work of this office in a satisfactory and business-like manner. If nominated and elected I will give my full time and attention to the duties of the office. Respectfully soliciting your support, I am sincerely yours, Alexander J. Hamilton.—Adv. 8 2t.

CAMP DEER IS ONE OF BIG KICKS OF CAMP LIFE

We agree with Conservation Commissioner Curwood's claim that a deer hunter can't ordinarily tell a spikehorn buck in the woods a 100 feet away, and that the law should be changed to only permit the killing of bucks with large antlers with prongs. Mr. Curwood's suggestion, however, to stop the issuing of licenses to hunting parties for killing a camp deer should not be given serious consideration. That "camp deer" is one of the big kicks many hunting parties obtain from their annual hunt, and to be legally deprived of the privilege of partaking of venison in camp would encourage violation instead of co-operating for the game law enforcement. Our experience in camp has been such that we know the first dinner of venison is one of the big events in any camp experience. Mr. Curwood has stated the camp licenses were responsible for the unnecessary slaughter of 5000 deer, but he must have meant that over a period of years, because there were in round numbers but 1500 camp licenses issued last year.

WINTER SPORTS COMMITTEE GO ON JUNKET

After Information For Our Next Winter Carnival

Charlevoix is already making plans for next winter's sports carnival, which they expect to make the best ever staged in Michigan. Every attempt will be made to interest winter resorters in the event, and to this end the winter sports committee will put on a program which will place Charlevoix on a competitive basis with other leading winter resorts of the country.

As a first step in this direction, Don Mellugh, chairman of the winter sports committee, and Earl A. Young, official photographer of the Association of Commerce, left Sunday for Lake Placid, New York, to be on hand for a special program featuring this week in that famous winter resort. They expect to obtain first hand information on how such events are handled and make a comparison of our facilities for winter sports with those of Lake Placid.

LOCALS TRIM JORDAN QUINT

JUNIOR HIGH ALSO WINS ON DOUBLE BILL

Smooth Team Work Featured Charlevoix's 13 to 6 Victory Last Friday

—Plenty of action, smooth team work and a spirit to win marked Charlevoix's victory over East Jordan last Friday night. The count was 13 to 6 and the game was a royal battle from start to finish.

Air-tight guarding by Cooper, McCann and Smith broke up East Jordan's advances one after another, spoiled what chances they had at shots and kept them out of shooting range. Aggressive floor work by Higman and Beaudoin, coupled with fine team work gave Charlevoix many shots at the basket, but during the first half shot after shot circled the ring and wouldn't drop through. Enough points were gathered, however, to even up East Jordan's early four point lead and the first quarter ended with the count 4 all. Playing in the second quarter was close and the half whistle found the score 6 to 7 in Charlevoix's favor.

The Red and White played the visitors off their feet in the second half, kept them scoreless and added 6 more points to insure a comfortable margin. Occasional wild passes probably kept the score lower than it was at the final whistle. "Pete" Hallett refereed the game.

Charlevoix and East Jordan junior high teams furnished an excellent preliminary to the main game of the evening. Basket shooting of Robert McCall and Billy Novak featured the game, which ended with Charlevoix on the long end of a 29 to 17 count. Smooth team play and fast floor work won the admiration of fans. East Jordan staged a strong comeback in the second half, which, for a short time, threatened the local junior's early lead and the game developed into a fast and furious contest in the final moments, with both teams working hard to win.

Charlevoix high school plays Pellston at the local gym Friday evening.

PIONEER RESIDENT CALLED BY DEATH

Had Been Spending Winter With Daughter at Ludington

Asher N. Chase, age 80, who had been a resident here for 59 years, died last Thursday, February 17th, at the home of his daughter, Mrs. Albert Howard of Ludington.

Deceased was born at Uxbridge Canada, May 11, 1847. At the age of 21 he removed to Charlevoix, where he had made his home until death. April 17, 1884 he was married to Isabelle Jane Baker. To this union three children were born, Mrs. May Block, deceased; Mrs. Merle Trimble of Blucher, Sask., and Mrs. Albert Howard of Ludington, with whom he was spending the winter. Besides the widow and two daughters he is survived by eight grandchildren.

Funeral services were conducted Monday afternoon, at 2 o'clock from the First Methodist church, Rev. C. E. Pollock officiating. Interment at Brookside.

Monday, March 7th, is the date when Dr. Leahy, the Optometrist, will be at the Hotel Charlevoix.—Adv. 8t2.

THIS FARMER HAS THE OOPE

LABORING UNDER ALL HE CAN STAND NOW

Says Every Time Anybody Helps the Farmer the Farmer Has to Pay

Taken from Harry Musselwhite's column, "Good Evening," in the Manister Daily News, the following will strike a responsive chord in the heart of farmers who have followed the action taken along the line of farm relief, and the consequent disagreemtns:

Sir and Editor: It has come to my attention that some smart lad in Washington has been working on a little plan to help the farmer. Every time anybody helps the farmer the farmer has to pay, and I wish to enlist you and both of your readers in a crusade to poison the gent's pie before he gets in his work. A little more help and the farmer will go out of business entirely.

The thing this goof has in mind, Sir and Editor, is to give the farmer something to occupy his time during the long winter months. I understand that somebody says that January is National Laugh Month, and I got a good laugh out of that, but it goes to show that all of the ignorance of the land isn't infesting the rural routes.

I will not intrude upon your valuable, so to speak, time to any large extent, but I do want to say this. In the winter the farmer does have it a little easier than in summer. He doesn't have to stop work to help some tourist fill his radiator, or to shoo a bunch of city folks out of his orchard, or to tell some high-toned motor party the way to the next town or to have a lot of people he never saw before and hopes never to see again, buy some butter milk off of him—butter milk that the pigs need and want. No, he doesn't have to do these things, and they do keep him pretty busy. But he does have to pull the city folks out of the snow, and he has to take 'em in and feed 'em when they get stalled in the drifts, and he has to buck the winter for nine miles to sell two dozen eggs for enough, if possible to get him a little eating tobacco, and he has to tune in on the radio and hear some ham tell about how the farmer's conditions ought to be improved, and between whiles he has the stock to feed and fence to build and ditching to do, and wood to haul and the maple molasses to garner and the silo to clean and a sick calf to sit up with and this little chore and that. And the only thing that buoys him up, that keeps his heart from breaking and his back broke, is the fine appreciation and understanding that city folks have for the humble agrarian. Sir and Editor, head off this Washington bozo if possible, because the farmer already has all that he can stand. Hoping you are the same. I am

Respy,
High Price

Infant Influenza Victim

Donald Herrington, son of Mr. and Mrs. B. S. Herrington, died last Friday at the age of 2 years and 8 months, a victim of influenza. His illness was a very short one and death came as a severe shock to the bereaved parents. Funeral services were held at the home Sunday afternoon, Rev. Herman Burns of the Baptist church officiating. Interment at Brookside.

MANY BILLS ARE PRESENTED

LEGISLATURE FINISHES ITS SEVENTH WEEK

Both Houses Are Getting Down to Business and Have Passed Several Bills

(By Len W. Feighner)

The seventh week of the legislative session winds up in a blaze of glory, several bills having been passed by each, the house and the senate, establishing a new record for 1927. None of them have yet been completed by passing both houses and receiving the signature of Governor Green, but many of them are on their way.

Furthermore, both houses are getting down to business and each day's session brings out new interest.

Perhaps the outstanding feature of the week has been the passing by both branches of the barrage against lobbyists, excluding them from the floor during sessions. The senate passed the rule with little debate, but in the house there was heated discussion, verging at times on the acrimonious. However, lobbyists, whatever they are, will not have the privilege of looking down from the gallery or promenading the halls during sessions—provided of course the rule is enforced.

The report of W. J. Galbraith and Kit F. Clardy, assistant attorney general, on their investigation of the Chelsea cement plant, stirred up a hornet's nest. They gave statements by prison workers of cruel punishment imposed on recalcitrant prisoners, but a reply by the superintendent of the plant denies all this testimony. The result of the report by C. H. Sontag on a survey of the plant, that it was in very bad shape and incapable of doing profitable work, is somewhat offset by a report from highway commissioner Rogers, who says after exhaustive tests that the cement produced is of high tensile test. Former Governor Groesbeck waxes wroth in the Detroit papers over the stir about the plant, but we'll all know more about it when the present administration gets through with its investigations.

Hotel-plumbing is not to be a part of the construction of the new Jackson prison, if Governor Green has his way about it. At his suggestion the administrative board has cancelled a $75,000 contract for plumbing. Well, a lot of us fellows who pay taxes to support the prison have to take a bath, if any, in the family wash tub.

The house has passed Rep. Wm. DeBoer's bill providing for submission to the voters at the spring election of a constitutional amendment authorizing metropolitan districts. The bill now goes to the senate, where favorable action is anticipated.

A bill by Rep. Gus Hartman of Houghton, changing the name of the Michigan College of Mines to the Michigan College of Mining and Technology has passed the house.

Other bills which have passed the house are: A bill to codify the drain laws, a bill to permit cemetery corporations to convey property rights to municipalities, one to authorize townships to raise funds for fire protection.

Rep. Wing of Thebaygan, one of the war horses of the house, is fighting for a 3-cent gas tax, with more money to come back to the counties. Many gas tax bills have been presented and it is likely that a general conference will finally settle which one, or a compromise measure, will finally be presented.

Rep. Chas. Culver has introduced a bill providing that murderers, hold-up men and other bad malefactors may have a session at the whipping post provided by the sentencing judge, at his discretion. The bill provides a definite number of lashes, "Well hold on," said the eminent Detroit representative talks as though he would like to hold the working end of the implement of war.

Approximately three millions of federal money will be spent in Michigan in the elimination of the European corn borer, if Michigan will do its share, which Michigan undoubtedly will. The announcement from Washington that ten millions had been appropriated for the purpose, one-third of which will apply to Michigan, has awakened much interest in legislative circles, and it is without question that action will be taken to cooperate with the federal government in every way possible to exterminate this pest, the worst one with which Michigan farmers have ever had to contend.

(Continued on page two)

EX-GOV. HARMON DIED TUESDAY

FORMER OHIO EXECUTIVE PASSES AFTER OPERATION

Had His Summer Home at Chicago Club, Where He Has Been Summering for 18 Years

Judson Harmon, former governor of Ohio, and at one time presidential candidate, died Tuesday forenoon in a Jewish hospital in Cincinnati. The former chief executive of the Buckeye state had undergone an operation for hernia a few days ago and failed to rally.

Mr. Harmon, who was 81 years of age, had passed his summers here for the past 16 or 18 years in his beautiful summer home on the Chicago Club grounds. He was one of the leading figures among our summer colony and took an active part in the affairs of the club. For years he had represented the interests of the Chicago Club as one of the two members of the advisory board of the Charlevoix hospital, being one of the leaders in putting this institution in the prominent position where it now stands.

During the many summers he has spent here he had formed a large circle of acquaintanceship, and the announcement of his sudden death will be received with genuine regret.

Judson Harmon was born at Newton, Ohio, February 3, 1846, and graduated from Dennison University and Cincinnati Law school and served as mayor of Wyoming, Ohio, circuit judge, superior court judge and as attorney general of the United States in the cabinet of President Cleveland. Later he served as professor of law at Cincinnati law school, and was named receiver for the T. H. & D. railroad, Pere Marquette, and Toledo Terminal railways, serving from 1905 to 1909. He was governor of Ohio two terms, 1909 to 1913. He served for two years as president of the Ohio Bar association. His winter home was in Cleveland.

CHARLEVOIX GIRL WAS WED IN DECATUR, ILL.

Wilma Stevenson Became the Bride of Theodore R. Miller

Courier readers will be interested to learn of the marriage of Miss Wilma Stevenson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Stevenson of this city, to Theodore R. Miller of Dearborn Mich., which occurred Monday, February 14, in the First Presbyterian church at Decatur, Ill., Rev. E. W. Clippinger officiating. They were attended by Mr. and Mrs. C. M. Straughn.

Mrs. Miller, who is a graduate of Charlevoix high, is very well and favorably known here. She is also a graduate of the University of Michigan. Upon completing her course there she went to Decatur, where she has been dietician at Decatur and Macon county hospital. Mr. Miller, also a graduate of U. of M., is employed by the Wayne County Park Commission. The young couple left soon after the ceremony for Dearborn, Michigan, where they will make their home.

Ladies! Your last chance to buy those wonderful silk Hose for 74c at Campbell's. All colors.—Adv. 8t1.

Subscription [illegible] zines at Holley Gift Shop.—Adv. 7t3.

Lion or Lamb?

NEW SCHOOL FOR CRIPPLED KIDDIES

SEPARATE INSTITUTION FOR UNFORTUNATES WANTED

Plan Has the Support of State Society for Crippled Children—Measure Most Worthy

Fathers, mothers and friends of the 12,500 cripples of the state of Michigan will look with keen interest on the bill which would authorize the appropriation during 1927 and 1928, by the state legislature, of $175,000 toward the construction of the proposed Michigan Convalescent School for Crippled Children, and which is to be formally introduced during the current session of the legislative body. If legislators look with favor on the measure, the state will take its first step in determining the probable location of the school, which would be completed by September 1, 1928, according to those fathering the bill.

If authorized and erected, the projected institution for the state's cripples would examine and treat, care for and educate the ramshackled bodies of the deformed youngsters, in the same manner generally as it provides for the deaf, dumb, blind and other unfortunates. The measure seeking Michigan's awakening to its undivided responsibility for the care of the physically handicapped, would authorize the spreading of the amount of cost of construction and maintenance of this proposed school on the tax rolls of this and next year. It would mean that $200,000 of this amount would be included in the 1927 tax roll, and the remaining $275,000 during 1928. A location of the school is not suggested in the bill, as announced by Paul H. King, of Detroit, secretary-treasurer of the Michigan Society for Crippled Children, the headquarters of which are in Ann Arbor.

The so-called Michigan Convalescent School for Crippled Children would provide treatment to deformed boys and girls of the state between the ages from birth to 21 years. A superintendent would be appointed and he would be responsible to the State Board of Education and the Board of Public Instruction for the conduct of the institution.

To determine the actual number of cripples in Michigan that are in need of the facilities which the school would offer, census enumerators, the bill proposes, would note the cripple population in the various districts of the state, reporting the number located to the superintendent of Public Instruction. The county school commissioners of each school district would then receive from the superintendent of Public Instruction the number of cripples in his respective district, county school commissioners, in turn, would investigate the cases reported, as to the ability of the parents or guardians of crippled children to compensate the state in full or in part for the muscular and mental education that the child would receive at the state school proposed. In cases where it was learned that the parents or guardians were not financially able to pay for the cripple's keeping and education, the probate judge of the respective county would issue the usual order covering the expense involved. In turn, the state would receive from the county the equal

(Continued on page six.)

Political Announcement

To the Voters of Charlevoix County:

I wish to thank the people of our county for the co-operation they have given me as Commissioner of Schools, and also to assure them that I shall continue to do my best to fulfill the duties of my office and to secure for our county schools those conditions that make for efficiency.

I shall appreciate your vote.

Adv. 8t2. Archie C. Belding.

THERE IS A DIFFERENCE BETWEEN NEWS AND GOSSIP

If a newspaper should publish current gossip, or hints and allusions of the best society in the community it would be ostracised and the editor horsewhipped or burned at the stake. Think a minute of the mean and low things you would say about your townsmen and your neighbors and imagine how it would look in print. Don't criticise the newspapers for what they print, but give them great credit for what they don't print. A newspaper that contained one-half the nonsense current among the best set gets would be considered unfit to read.

CORRESPONDENCE

MOUNTAIN DISTRICT

Bruce Sanderson won the prize in the arithmetic contest.

Mr. Towsley of Charlevoix, spent the week end with Mr. and Mrs. Bert Staley.

Mrs. Bert Staley and Harold Towsley, visited school on Thursday afternoon.

Jim Wilson and Mr. Coblentz, caught a 2-lb. trout on Sunday, also several other smaller ones.

Mr. Harper of Charlevoix came up last Friday and purchased a fine young team of Ernest Staley.

On Friday evening, a sleigh load of friends gathered at the home of Miss Ann Wilson to remind her that she had passed another mile-stone in life. The evening was spent in playing progressive pedro and at a late hour dainty refreshments were served to which all did ample justice.

Being unable to attend school, Esther Case is spending the week with her mother. Sunday evening while attending Epworth League, one of the high school boys threw the contents of an ammonia bottle in her face, a large portion entering the right eye. She was rushed immediately to a doctor's office for treatment. The child has suffered excruciating pain ever since the accident, but the doctor says, she will not loose the sight of the eye.

Burning out chimneys causes many bad fires. Avoid this fire loss by using our Soot Destroyer. It does the work. 15c per pound. Charlevoix Hdw. Co.—Adv. 2tf.

FAIRVIEW-BANKS

Charley Kass was in Pleasant Hill, Friday on business.

Roads are in very good shape at present for autos and sleighs.

Miss Gladys Hawley spent the week-end with relatives in Central Lake.

Gorman Bros. delivered some wood at the Mitchell school house the past week.

Township caucus will be held Friday March 11, at the Rhe hall at Ellsworth.

Mr. and Mrs. John Van Straten visited with Mr. and Mrs. P. Smeeker Sunday evening.

William Timmer, who underwent an operation in Central Lake, returned home Saturday.

John DeGroot and family of Atwood, were callers on H. DeGroot and family, Thursday.

DO IT NOW

---A---

NEW CAR FOR YOUR OLD CAR

The Latest Finishes

Have your good car refinished with

Duco — Lacquers of
Nitro — the High gloss
Egyptian — Varnishes

ATCHISON AUTO SHOP

Phone 93 · 204 Mason St.

An Amazing Success

Feen-a-mint

The Chewing LAXATIVE

Chew It Like Chewing Gum

A pleasure to use. Very efficient. Children love it. No taste but that of sweet mint. The most popular laxative because it's a "satisfier." 15c and 25c.

VALET AutoStrop Razor

sharpens itself

FLIT

DESTROYS

Moths, Roaches
Bedbugs, Flies
Other Household Insects

For Sore Throat

Rub throat and chest with Vicks; cover with warm flannel. Its double direct action (inhaled and absorbed) brings welcome relief.

VICKS VAPORUB

H. J. Timmer was in Bellaire Thursday, as delegate to the Republican county convention.

February month, on the average, gave us some splendid weather, with a few cold snappy mornings.

Jacob G. Drenth of Ellsworth, was in this neighborhood the past week, cutting wood with his buzz saw.

Miss Gladys Shooks, who is employed in Grand Rapids, is visiting with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Tony Shooks for a few days.

A special, long wearing silk hose, in all colors, for school girls, at Campbell's, 74c this week.—Adv. 8tf.

BENTLEY HILL

We have had nice February weather.

John Parsons was in Barnard Thursday.

Minor Heeres visited Henry Heeres, Tuesday.

Lincoln Cranze was in Charlevoix one day last week.

J. Fleming, who was on the sick list is better at this writing.

C. F. Feltenburger helped T. DeMaulpied haul wood.

Miss Henrietta DeGroot and Gertrude Reamsma were recent visitors at the Bentley Hill school.

Edward Klooster went to Central Lake, where he submitted to an operation. His many friends wish him a speedy recovery.

Mrs. H. DeYoung returned home from her visit in Chicago. You should see the smile on her face. No wonder she has a new granddaughter.

You can save one-third on boys' and girls' stockings if you buy this week at Campbell's.—Adv. 8tf.

HILTON DISTRICT

George Clark and wife drove up from Whitehall last week to visit their mother, Mrs. John Wells and friends, returning Monday.

A Valentine party was held at the Hilton school house, last Thursday. Lunch was served and the young folks had their fill of apples and other good things, and the affair proved very enjoyable.

Twelve ladies of Hilton District gave a shower Wednesday afternoon, February 16, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Wade, in honor of Mrs. Earl Wattle. The afternoon was spent in dancing and vocal and instrumental music. At 4:30 a bountiful supper was served, which was greatly enjoyed by all.

EVELINE

The Ladies' Aid met with Mrs. Pederson Wednesday.

R. H. Sherman spent one day last week in Advance collecting taxes.

Peter Andersen was home from East Jordan with his folks, over Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. John Knudsen from Loch Farms, spent Sunday at their new home in Eveline.

Mr. and Mrs. Peter Larsen of Boyne City, spent Sunday with Mrs. Larsen's mother.

The beauty of it is—they wear like iron—those silk hose on sale for 74c this week at Campbell's.—Adv. 8tf.

MANY BILLS ARE PRESENTED

(Continued from page one.)

A fight is on about tuberculosis hospital locations. The proposition to close the one at Howell and erect a new one at Ann Arbor is being fought bitterly. Rep. Birkholm of Berrien in his bill asks for $826,500 to rebuild and rehabilitate the Howell plant, and he has many supporters. Under present conditions Michigan could utilize both institutions to good advantage, and that may be the outcome of the present agitation.

Rep. John Espie of Clinton county has a bill in the house proposing a fine of $200 to $500 and six months to two years in prison for drunken drivers of autos. Owners of cars who knowingly permit intoxicated persons to drive their cars would also be liable under the measure. Mr Espie has a little impediment in his speech, but his earnestness makes him easy to listen to when he goes on the war path.

Drive as fast as you please, if Senator Seth Pulver's bill goes through. It abolishes the 35-mile speed limit, in rural districts, but makes it "pre-emptive" evidence of careless driving" if an accident occurs at a speed above 35 miles.

Marking of game refuge boundaries so hunters would not knowingly trespass of them is asked in a bill by Rep. Mills. One to appropriate $50,000 for advertising "Michigan

Michigan League of Municipalities want cities authorized to provide auto parking places for the public. The bill was introduced by Rep. John Dykstra of Muskegon.

The first bill to pass both houses went through Wednesday afternoon. It was Senator Wood's bill providing for three members of state central committees of political parties, in each congressional district, one of which shall be a woman. Score one for the ladies, because if we know the Governor he'll approve the bill.

There was a lively debate in the house Wednesday afternoon over a resolution by Rep. John Holland of Gogebic, asking for an investigation of the Barnes-Hecker mine disaster and the action of the company in sealing up the mine with 41 bodies. The committee on rules and resolutions had refused to report out the resolution and Mr. Holland asked that it be taken from the committee. He lost out by a close vote, 33 to 37.

Ex-Congressman Joe Fordney of Saginaw told the senate the other day that he would "like to see the windows and orphans of men shot down by things lined upon one side and the thugs who did the killing lined up on the other side," and rather indicated that he would know about the right thing to do. Evidently Uncle Joe isn't a "sob-sister."

Governor Green, Auditor General Fuller and the state tax commission are trying to figure out some way of helping northern Michigan counties in cases where so much land has been taken from the tax rolls for various reasons that the people are heavily tax-burdened. The situation is really serious in some localities and undoubtedly something will be done to alleviate the situation.

There was a long and hot argument in the house Tuesday afternoon over Rep. Ate Dykstra's proposition to limit the legislative session to 90 days. Requiring two-thirds vote, the proposition was lost.

Senator Pulver has introduced a bill cutting down the deer hunting season to the last ten days in November, and another repealing all laws legalizing spearing.

A bill introduced by Senator Condon fixes jurors' fees at $5.00 per day. That would stop some of the lying to evade jury duty.

Senate Tuesday authorized an investigating committee to investigate crime conditions in Detroit. Senator Peter Lennon's bill. Now what will the house say to that? Senator Tom Read of Shelby, opposed to the bill, says it's a waste of time and that the senate ought to get to work. Well, if investigating crime is not work, what is it? A Saturday senate session?

The Armstrong capital punishment bill has been made a special order for Thursday afternoon, February 24. The bill provides for death by electrocution, and whether sentence is for death or life imprisonment is discretionary with the jury. Mr. Armstrong claims the bill will pass the house. The senate is to have a public hearing on the capital punishment proposition on Wednesday afternoon. There will be such a lot of oratory around the legislative halls these two days so the weather bureau is safe in predicting high winds, some of them hot.

Rep. Otis Huff of Cass county has introduced a bill to provide for more severe punishment for poultry thieves, and another bill to allow spearing of certain kinds of fish during January and February. So many fish and game laws are proposed that a conference is likely, with the idea of getting more uniformity.

Rep. Frank Darin introduced a bill to prevent substitution of motor oils. P. A. Wm. Birk of Baraga fathered a bill providing that not more than $20 could be collected in one year from a movie house for state inspection, and not more than $5 in any community of less than 2,000 population.

Rep. James Upjohn thinks he has a solution in his bill for the vexed tuberculosis question. He proposes a state sanitarium commission to control a new institution at Ann Arbor, as well as the one at Howell.

Both branches adjourned at noon Friday until Monday night. A large delegation left immediately after adjournment for Hastings to look over the fish hatchery and consider the idea of establishing a much larger plant.

Democrat state convention meets here next Tuesday. Wonder if they will O. K. Senator Wood's bill registering voters under party lines, to prevent members of one party from voting the opposing ticket in the primaries.

Adjournment next week will probably be until Wednesday, March 2, on account of the Republican state convention at Grand Rapids.

GOITRE EASILY REMOVED

Detroit Lady Tells How

Verna Ross, 2226 Goodson Ave., Detroit, Mich., says she will tell or write how she removed her goitre with Sorbol Quadruple, a colorless liquid.

Now any one can try the treatment and get the names of many other users that should interest you by writing Mrs. Verna Ross, 2226 Goodson Ave., Detroit, Mich.

SEDAN OR COUPE $825

No other low-priced six will ever give you this

It is not beyond the realms of possibility that some day there will be offered a newly created six, closely approximating in basic design and price the Pontiac Six as introduced a year ago.

But even if that car does make its appearance, it will lack one powerful inducement to ownership that is of paramount importance in contemplating the Pontiac Six:

Its design and construction will not have been proved by millions of miles of actual service in the hands of thousands of owners. And that is essential, even in a car which was tested and developed as the Pontiac Six was for over three years prior to its announcement!

Design and construction so convincingly demonstrated means more than the elimination of fundamental weaknesses. It means peace of mind from one year's end to the other—and that is what buyers have a right to get, no matter how much or how little they pay!

Pontiac Six, $825 to $975. Oakland Six, companion to Pontiac Six, $1025 to $1295. All prices at factory. Bodies by Fisher. Easy to pay on the liberal General Motors Time Payment Plan.

BLOCK & SIMMONS, 113-115 Antrim St., Charlevoix, Mich.

PONTIAC SIX

Plenty of Cold Weather Yet

Winter with its accompanying bitter cold weather is far from being over. The balance of February, all of March and into the middle of April is the coldest part of the entire winter season.

YOU NEED WARM CLOTHING

During this period you should be warmly dressed, as a precaution against exposure and consequent sickness. We have quite a lot of winter wearing apparel left over from our recent clearing out sale, on which the lowest possible price prevail. These prices are good for the next month, and right now is the time to buy your needs.

Cold Weather Protection at Prices That Cannot Be Duplicated

ONE LOT OF 53 MEN'S SUITS, VALUED UP TO $37.50
CHOICE FOR
$9.98

ONE LOT OF 25 BOY'S SUITS, VALUED UP TO $18.00
CHOICE FOR
$3.98

ONE LOT OF 33 MEN'S OVERCOATS, VALUED UP TO $35.00
YOUR CHOICE FOR
$8.63

ONE LOT OF 12 BOY'S OVERCOATS, VALUED UP TO $15.00,
YOUR CHOICE FOR
$4.87

ONE LOT OF MEN'S MACKINAW COATS, VALUED UP TO $18.00, YOUR CHOICE FOR
$4.98

ONE LOT OF MOLESKIN, WHIPCORD AND DUCK SHEEP-LINED COATS WITH BEAVERIZED COLLARS. YOUR CHOICE FOR $6.98

MEN'S OVERALLS—ALL SIZES
One lot extra heavy Overalls or Jacket
98c

One lot Overalls or Jackets, for
$1.48

BED BLANKETS—EXTRA LARGE DOUBLE BLANKETS, SIZE 68x80, FINISHED IN PLAID DESIGNS. COLORS: BLUE, TAN, GREY AND PINK. SALE PRICE
$2.98

BENJAMIN BROWN

ALABASTER LAMPS

By Margaret Turnbull.

(Chapter six continued)

Claude's pipe went out. There was silence in the room as he filled it but Claude did not feel it. He had forgotten that he was telling the story to Ned. He had forgotten everything that belonged to himself in the present. He was back in the past, seeing the shy, awkward Claude Dabbs on the threshold of that girl's room. He remembered that already it looked different from the rest of the house. She had flowers in a vase on the rough, cheap, pine dressing table. She had spread clean towels on that, on the bureau and on her trunk, discarding the dirty looking scarfs that had adorned them. They had been too shy to look at each other. He had stared out of the window.

Every time Dabbs brought his eyes around to her, he caught her looking at him, and finally she laughed.

It was wonderful, that laugh. It made him feel young again. He had been feeling like an old man; with a weight of sorrow and care on his shoulders, but that girl's laugh had made him feel his own age. Her laugh was young and spiced with deviltry. Back of it all was the new strange feeling the girl gave him.

He saw himself solemnly giving her the papers. He watched her while she put them carefully away in a bag, and counted out the rest of the money. There had been a moment's awkwardness over that, he remembered. He had made an involuntary movement of his hand, to give it back to her, but she as involuntarily, thrust it back at him. Then he laughed, folded it up and put it away.

But he did not go. He had known that he should, but he could not. He sat down beside her, and they began talking, awkwardly enough at first. Then suddenly they were no longer the Claude and Polly of the boarding house days, but two young things who had lots to say to each other, and enjoyed saying it.

She told Claude of her plans. She meant to travel and study and see everything. She was fond of reading. Indeed, she had read and planned in a way that seemed remarkable to him for a girl, a servant girl, too, but he noted that she did not ask about his plans. Every time their conversation touched his life, present or future, she changed the subject. Then he knew that she meant him to understand she would have nothing to do with him after tonight. After tonight, Claude would not see her; after tonight she would be away enjoying things, out in the freedom of the world, with money, and she would have no use for him, no use at all. It had eaten into the young Claude's consciousness that she was going to use him as a shield until she met some one she really cared for. Then she would drop him, and his name, "After tonight" echoed and re-echoed in his mind, and he forgot that he had no right to expect anything else, for he had taken her money. Jealousy gradually took possession of him. He watched her talk and smile. It struck nine. His train had gone.

He did not go; merely sat watching her. He had known, even then, that she saw what she had done to him, and it had gone to her head. He had been one of the "boarders" in the old days, one for whom she must fetch and carry. Now he was at her mercy.

He began to think of lots of things that proved she had not been as indifferent to him in those old boarding house days as she had pretended. Even before the money came, Polly Johnston, the man hater, had a soft spot for one mate Claude Dabbs. All unconsciously she had let him see that Claude had profited afterward if it was not a conscious use of her new found power. He began to believe that it was not entirely by accident that she had made Peg come to her for the money instead of having the lawyer pay him. He had never, until then, guessed that the girl liked him that way. But now she told him more than she meant, or knew and when she realized this, she pulled herself up and began telling him that the lawyer had arranged for her to go to France. She would go as a young widow, to people who would help her; let her see everything and do everything she wanted to do.

He remembered how the other, younger Claude, after listening to her silently for awhile, had blurted out:

"When are you coming back?"

"Never!"

"How about me?" the young Claude had asked, and realized as he said it that it was a fool's question.

And the girl had laughed.

"Oh, after tonight you won't count."

She had dared to say it, actually dared to look him in the eyes and say it.

"Is that so?" the boy had snapped, and he had never been angrier in his life. Rebellion seethed within him. And yet, he remembered, he had not hated her.

"After tonight, eh? Well, the night's still young."

Something in the way he said that, struck through her laughing guard. Her expression changed. She began to look ever so little—what was it—frightened?

"It's getting late. I think you'd better go."

"It's my last night," he had answered, without moving. "Why cut it short?"

Then she had moved to the door, swiftly, and held it open. He rose to his feet somehow and moved with her. He could not have told exactly why, but there was a dangerous feeling growing up inside him. Yet, now that he understood his younger self, Claude Dabbs felt if the girl had not looked so scared, the feeling would not have grown as fast, nor been so dangerous. If she had laughed at him, he would have been ashamed. If she had trusted him he would have been compelled to be worthy of her trust. But she saw, and feared, the flood tide of feelings she had deliberately evoked and something in her must have answered his passion. She was deadly afraid of that—as well as of him.

"I want you to go now," she had said, hard, cold and staring. "If you don't, I'll call down to the office."

He had faced her and shut the door, and now he was sure he hated her. "Go on," he had said grimly. "Call 'em up at the office. What you going to tell 'em? That I'm not your husband?"

She shook her head. He could see her face, puzzled, bewildered, frightened.

"That I am your husband, and you don't care about having me 'round?"

She still stared at him, her mouth open in an odd, babyish way that, angry as he was, he remembered he had thought pretty.

"It'll make your stay in this house short, if you start a row like that."

She sprung to the door, but Claude was there before her. Their hands met on the handle, and somehow, at his touch, she had given up, and swayed against him. Claude felt a little shiver run through his strong body now at the remembrance of how it had "thrilled" him, too, but not in the way either of them dreamed.

He was beyond reasoning or thought then. He was entirely given up to feeling. He put his arm about her waist and held her closely to him as he turned the key in the door.

"You can have the key," he had whispered in a queer husky voice, "when you call down to the office and say that the man in your room isn't your husband, and you want to get rid of him."

She had looked at him, given a queer little sound and hidden her face against his shoulders.

* * * * * * *

Claude Dabbs stared before him, his lips moving. After awhile he lit his cigar, crossed one leg over the other, and began to talk, in an even voice, quite as though he was continuing his narrative to Ned from the point he had left off.

"Next morning I went out for a stroll before breakfast, and to settle in my mind a plan I meant to carry through quickly, before Polly made up her own mind. We'd talked lots about everything, but nothing was settled.

"Nobody'll ever know how wonderful it was to me to have Polly to talk to. It changed everything. There wasn't a girl in Peace Valley could talk as she did, none I knew, anyway; and the short while I'd been at Rutgers I hadn't met any girls, except Polly. She made me realize that we'd been fond of each other for a long time, though it had taken this to bring us together."

Claude looked up at Ned, who with a languid movement of his hand removed the cigarette from between his lips. Claude noted idly that it was not lit. He glanced at the wall above Ned's desk. A small photograph in an old-fashioned frame hung above it. It was that of a lovely young country girl, with character behind the young loveliness. She was Claude's mother.

"You see, Ned, I'd always been queer about girls. I liked 'em but expected a good deal of 'em. Not every girl pleased me. Sounds conceited, but I didn't mean it that way. It wasn't that 'it was Mom.'"

His eyes turned again to the photograph. "It's one of those things you can't find words for. It's a feeling. Anyway, Mom gave it to me about girls, and Polly was the best. I meant she should be the last. I felt that if we were careful enough about explaining our marriage to Mom she would understand and be pleased. But she never knew.

"Nobody'll ever know how wonderful life was to me that morning. I hadn't forgotten Cup, but since I'd told Polly just how I felt about him, and she'd tried to comfort me, I could bear it easier, because Polly understood. I forgot all about her money. It never entered my head. I only thought of Polly. When I was going out, she kissed me and said:

"'Claude Dabbs de Beaute, is your home lit by alabaster lamps?'

"I thought she was just fooling about my silly name. She'd read the play, you see. I hadn't, then. I just told her they were Rochester lamps. When I thought about it, as I turned back toward the hotel, I wondered if there was more to her question than just lamps something behind it. I thought she might have been turning over in her mind whether she'd live with Mom, or insist on having a separate house for just us two. I didn't care. She could have her own way about that—and most everything else, too. But I've read the play since, and I'm pretty sure that there was a catch in it. Her question, I mean. It's the part where he's blowing about the house he's gonna take her to. All lies?

"She wasn't down in the dining room when I came back from the walk, but she'd told me to give her plenty of time to pack, so I went up to her room. She wasn't there, and her trunks were gone. I went to inquire at the desk. They said the bill had been paid and Polly had gone, bag and baggage, to the station, half an hour after I left."

Claude paused, knocked the ashes from his cigar, and without looking up, went on hurriedly: "I'm not asking for sympathy. The girl served me right, and I know it as well as you do, I've told you this, Ned—and you're the only one I have told—because I want you to know the worst of me.

"Polly knew blame well I couldn't follow her, seeing she had money and I had none. Her lawyer, all these years, has refused to give me any clue. But she's never divorced me. Unless I'm much mistaken, the Mrs. Johnston who is up at the White house is Polly, and what I want to know is who is Miss Johnston?"

A little sound, like a sigh, came from Ned and he turned gently on his pillow, and then silence.

Claude tiptoed to his feet and went noiselessly over to the bed. Ned was sleeping as quietly as a child. Claude took the cold, unlighted cigarette from between Ned's fingers and looked at him with affection.

"Forty-seven years old, and I don't have sense enough to know or remember that other people's love stories are as big a bore as other people's dreams?"

He turned out the lamp and left the room.

In the morning, when he could get Dabbs alone, Ned's apologies were sincere. But, though Ned insisted that he had only dropped off at the end, Claude had a shrewd idea from the same way in which Ned fished for information, that slumber had overtaken him in the middle of the tale. They were in the garage where Ned had tracked him down, and he only laughed as he put his hand on Ned's arm.

"My boy, I was an ass to insist on telling you my old trouble. Untied down with all any of the frills I put on so that you would get my side of the case, the facts are that I slipped up on my promise, broke my word to Polly, and she ran away. And Peace Valley thinks me an old bachelor."

He had made up his mind that it wasn't the thing to tell Ned his suspicions until he had corroborated them, or dropped them. It would be awkward for the boy, since he was seeing the Johnstons daily.

CHAPTER VII

Mrs. Johnston, having something rather disagreeable to tell Mary, kept putting off the evil day and hour.

Sooner or later it must be told, but Polly Johnston, though by no means a fool, was of a singularly sanguine temperament. She still hoped that kind fortune might intervene in some miraculous manner and save her the trouble and necessity of telling it. If not, it would have to be done, but not this day, if she could help it. Having come to that decision, it behooved her to keep away from Mary.

She could refuse to go out, pleading a headache, thus removing herself from Mary's presence and scrutiny.

When the girl presented herself, fresh, smiling, and ready for motoring, she found her mother lying down. She did not see the novel that her mother had poked under her pillow when she heard Mary coming. Explanations were made, received, and then came silence.

Mrs. Johnston wriggled herself into a more comfortable position, and the novel fell on the floor. Mary restored it to the couch. Mother never read when she had a real headache. The situation became tense.

"Come, Mother," coaxed Mary. "What's up? You've been grouching sweetly for several days, you know. I've got to know sooner or later, so let it be now."

Mrs. Johnston sighed, made a swift mental calculation that she had better tell the most obvious first, and began:

"I can't keep it from you forever, but I did want to keep it just a little longer. However, here it is, Mary. I haven't any money. Not a cent. And the dividends on the stock, payable this month, just aren't going to be paid."

Mary gave a little gasp of astonishment and sat down on the floor by the couch. "Do you mean, Mother, that we haven't any money at all, or that we're just faced with a period of depressed finances and will have to pinch over things until the first of next month, when you'll get something from somewhere? Tell me the whole thing. The very worst."

Mrs. Johnston saw instantly how useless it was to keep anything back from Mary. "It means the very worst you can think. I drew the last money I had in the bank to come down here. I expected at once to have Cousin Rittenhauser send me enough money to carry me along for another three months."

"Well, my dear, he's been speculating with all available money and securities. He lost mine along with those belonging to other people, and he's in jail.

"The rest of my money is tied up in stock that isn't paying dividends—that is, all except money invested by my uncle in Russian securities, which are now worth nothing. There's some land here, in this country, but I can't raise money on it at a moment's notice."

"Poor old mother! Have you any cash at all?"

Mrs. Johnston laughed. "About thirty dollars left. I said I'd send for servants, but I haven't. However, I have interviewed Mrs. Pulsifer on the subject of coming here and closing up this house for me in case I have to go to New York suddenly, as that's that. I think I'll have to go there soon. It'll be a lot harder for you, Mary, than for me. Just now you ought to have everything."

"Pooh!" said Mary. "Wait till you see me suffer. Honestly, Mother, I can't realize it. We've never had to speak of money like this before. Why, we've always had it."

"You always have," Mrs. Johnston answered, "but there was a time when I had none."

Mary was amazed. "You never told me that. You must, but not now. We'll just have to be practical, Mother. What can we sell, and how shall we go about it?" She considered for a long moment, while her mother watched her. "Bring out your jewelry, Mother, and I'll bring out mine. Rent must be paid, you know. We can do without servants."

Mrs. Johnston put her hand on her daughter's and as Mary rose from the floor, "Don't dear. I can go to New York and borrow money on the land, I'm sure. I was making up my mind to that when you came in."

Mary turned away and looked down. All the excitement had gone out of her face. It was pale when she turned back to her mother.

"Mother! You were going to borrow Barnsley's! Promise me you won't."

"Mary Johnston!"

"Don't you think I know? I've known right along that that pale, cold, bloodless eyes. I know he's a great banker, but he had like a money lender. I know he wants to marry you. Oh Mother! If you go to him he'll ask you, and if you do, just to be comfortable, I'll never forgive you. I'd rather work for you myself, all the days of my life."

"Mary!" Mrs. Johnston sat up against her pillows and regarded her daughter as though she were a stranger. "I didn't know you felt so strongly," or that Mr. Ringsley's motives were so evident. "Don't worry. When he hears that personally peculiar's I won't [illegible]

He Turned Out the Lamp and Left the Room.

(Continued on page 7)

PHONE YOUR CLASSIFIED "AD"

If you're a telephone subscriber, simply lift the hook, ask for 2-J and state your request. It's a service that makes it comparatively easy for you to insert your advertisement. And Want Ads offer the solution to many a problem. There's always someone eager to buy, sell or trade; someone who has a service to offer. Results are certain and the cost is quite moderate.

Call Before 11 o'clock Each Wednesday

The CHARLEVOIX COURIER

PHONE 2-J

Keep Eliminative System Active

Good Health Requires Good Elimination

ONE can't feel well when there is a retention of poisonous waste in the blood. This is called a toxic condition, and is apt to make one tired, dull and logy. Other symptoms are sometimes toxic backaches and headaches. That the kidneys are not functioning properly is often shown by scanty or burning passage of secretions. Many people have learned the value of Doan's Pills, a stimulant diuretic, when the kidneys seem functionally inactive. Everywhere one finds enthusiastic Doan's users. Ask your neighbor!

DOAN'S PILLS 60c

Stimulate Diuresis to the Kidneys

Foster-Milburn Co., Mfg. Chems., Buffalo, N. Y.

BUSINESS CARDS

Farm Property — Lake Frontage
A. C. BELDING
REAL ESTATE BROKER
Charlevoix, Mich.
Game Preserves — Detroit Property

GLASSES FITTED
Consult
DR. J. LEAHY
OPTOMETRIST
Expert on Eye-Strain,
Petoskey, Mich.
Phone 443 for Appointment

BELLE LOUISE FLEWELLING
Palmer Chiropractor
Post Office Building
Phone 347
Office hours 2 to 5 daily
Monday, Wednesday and Friday
7 to 8

R. J. MADILL
Building Contractor
Ask for Estimates
Phone 121 Charlevoix, Mich.

D. T. McHUGH
General Contractor
Phone 214
CHARLEVOIX, MICHIGAN

R. B. ARMSTRONG
PHYSICIAN AND SURGEON
Special Attention to Diseases
of Eye, Ear, Nose and Throat
Priest Bldg. Phone 255

DR. F. F. McMILLAN
Physician and Surgeon
Office above Postoffice
Phone 17
Charlevoix - - Michigan

A. L. FITCH
ATTORNEY AT LAW
Office in Court House
Phone 48
Charlevoix - Michigan

Speaking of the ancient dame who was forced to ride undraped, about all that some of the modern flappers seem to lack is a horse and a village street.

70% of Your Child's School-work is in the Morning! Give

QUAKER OATS

The Breakfast that "Stands By" You

The CHARLEVOIX COURIER
Issued every Wednesday at
CHARLEVOIX - MICHIGAN

DuBois & Usher, Publishers
A. J. Usher, Editor and Business Mgr.
Courier Building Van Pelt Place

Entered at the Post Office in Charlevoix, Mich., as second class matter.

Member Michigan Press Ass'n

Advertising Rates

For advertising rates apply for schedule.

Notices of church or lodge socials and entertainments, where admission is charged, regular rates.

Obituary poetry, regular rates.

Card of Thanks, 25 cents.

TERMS OF SUBSCRIPTION

One copy, one year $2.00
One Copy, six months $1.00
One Copy, three months .....$ .60

DESTROYING MORAL FIBER

There is a communist movement in this country at the present time that should be met with firm attention on our part. In Detroit within the past month serious conditions have been uncovered in the industrial life of that large city of workers. But aside from industrial demoralization there are more plans in being and with an equally dangerous purpose. The destruction of the moral fiber of the country is part of the scheme and back of the dastardly magazines, papers, pictures and shows is the inspiring genius of communist and soviet. They are shrewd enough to seek recruits in the different social divisions and particularly among the wealthy, where ease and boredom lead very often to the acceptance of demoralizing ideas carefully covered by a loarre covering The breaking down of the morale of a people is not so difficult as it may appear. The communist is atheistic, he is an avowed enemy of any religious belief, thought or morals. He is fully convinced that if he can strike at religion through the breakdown of morals he will do much towards preparing the way for a successful attack on the political and economic stability of the country. If it were possible to collect the papers, periodicals and books published in this country under openly or concealed communist direction, and analyze them from the point of view of their effect on morals and place them in the hands of each citizen, there would be a universal revolt in this country. The average citizen is totally unaware of what is going on in the way of this kind of publications which are not published merely for profit but for propaganda. The clergy of the country are neglecting their sacred duty in not analyzing and exposing this situation. It is a matter of public interest and public danger.

William Charles Palmer

Republican candidate for
Commissioner of Schools
Charlevoix County
At the Primaries, Monday, March 7th

My aim is to keep the Golden Rule. To treat others as I would like to be treated.

Yours for service,
WM. C. PALMER

Since 1857

Eagle Brand has raised more healthy babies than all other infant foods combined.

Borden's
EAGLE BRAND

GREAT STIMULUS TO BUSINESS

During the past year the railroads of the United States have carried more freight than at any time in their history. This is a factor of great importance to our continuing and increasing prosperity. It is largely responsible for the fact that merchants are able to handle more goods with lower inventories than ever before in the experience of the country. The sooner the wage earner's labor, in the form of a finished product, reaches the consumer, the easier it is to pay the wage earner well and charge the consumer little. The reduction in cost of charges against wealth between the producer and consumer vastly aids the equitable distribution of wealth and the enjoyment of higher living standards. In this task the railroads are of consummate importance.

PROMPT PUNISHMENT FOR THE CRIMINAL

Debate on capital punishment grows more heated every day. At the present time, three measures relating to this important piece of legislation have been introduced in the legislature at Lansing. Everybody seems to have some hazy idea of what kind of legislation they would like to see enacted in curbing the criminal, but hardly in any instance do two persons thoroughly agree. Reverting to capital punishment by the state as a serious step, one that should be taken only as a last desperate attempt in cutting down the crime of murder in Michigan. In an address before Michigan newspaper men last week Governor Fred W. Green stated his position in no uncertain language. He made it plain that so long as he is governor the way of the criminal in this state is going to be hard and painful. Governor Green is not asking for a capital punishment law; what he wants is prompt apprehension of the criminal, once crime is committed, then speedy action by the courts—his part to see that the criminal remains in prison for the full term for which he has been sentenced. The governor wants the legal verbiage, which now crowds the statutes, thrown overboard so that it will be harder for the criminal to escape through technicalities and thus make a mockery of our criminal laws. In this he sees the state's mastery over crime, which he says is being taken up the same as any other profession.

SARANAC PUBLISHER HONORED

Without a single exception, the weekly newspaper publishers of Michigan heartly endorse the action of the Michigan Press Association, in convention assembled last week, in naming Hiram T. Johnson, publisher of the Saranac Advertiser, as president of the association for the coming year. For thirty-three years Editor Johnson has published an outstanding community newspaper at Saranac. It is safe to say that but few issues have gone to press in all those years without some favorable comment concerning his home town. He has not only been a community builder, but also a leader in every movement that would make Michigan a better state, and this country a better nation. He has been a credit to the reverend traditions of country journalism, and his elevation to the important position of president of the association in this state will reflect favorably upon every member of the Fourth Estate. Our heartiest congratulations.

THE MICHIGAN FARMER

We hear much these days about the plight of the rural sections of the great Middle West. Down at Washington legislation to aid the farmer's cause is under way to enactment. We don't believe that very much of the agitation for such legislation came out of this state, unless it may have been by some of the chronic agitators. In Michigan the average farmer may feel that the balance in the economic scale has not been in his favor in recent years, but he has sense enough not to try to lift himself over the fence by his bootstraps. In this state they are solving their problems by common sense methods, and the results are electrifying. Last week about seven or eight thousand people from the rural sections of Michigan took part in "Farmers Week" at Michigan State College. While in attendance they occupied the best rooms at the best hotels in the city of Lansing. In hotel lobbies, on the street, or while swarming across the campus, it would have been impossible to point them out as being different in dress or manners from the delegates representing the half dozen other trades and professions holding conventions at the same time in that city. We are proud of our Michigan farmer. He appreciates the fact that all has not been well with him of late but he's not asking anybody else to bear his burdens, he is perfectly willing to do that himself. His course is reflected in the splendid progress he is making in spite of every handicap. We applaud his independence.

PRICELESS GIFTS

"The best thing to give your enemy is forgiveness; to your opponent, tolerance; to a friend, your heart; to your child, a good example; to your father, deference; to your mother, conduct that will make her proud of you; to yourself, respect; to all men, charity."

FRESHENING BREEZES

A pioneer is the fellow who can remember when the old-fashioned householder expected a little salt pork occasionally on the bill of fare.

We hope that Aimee and King Ben have never regretted the age which greeted Marc Anthony and Cleopatra.

We get our setting-up exercises, weather and market reports, baseball scores, Sunday sermons, grand opera and financial advice by radio. About all that seems left is for somebody to recharge the batteries and bring in our meals.

Ford's fortune in divvers make the tin mines of Cornwell seem like an idle occupation.

What has become of the old-fashioned citizen that—thot that every law was made to be obeyed?

The Colonial farmer left his plow to fight for his country. Now the boys quit to go to town and get the base ball scores.

Ostracizing patrons of the bootlegger is liable to cause a wholesale falling off of the congressional vote another election.

Scoffers who doubt there was ever an age of miracles should watch the station attendent slip twelve gallons of gas in a ten-gallon tank.

Just as a friendly act Aimee might slip King Ben the low down on how to outbluff a district attorney.

A Detroit school ma'am was fined the other day for striking one of her pupils with a rubber hose. In the old days the head mentor generally spurned anything less than a stove poker.

And Now in Closing—

Religious prejudice is one community asset that has never yet paid a dividend.

REMEMBERED HER BIRTH ANNIVERSARY

Friends Help Mrs. Chas. Novak Observe Occasion

On Wednesday, February 16, about thirty friends of Mrs. Chas. Novak dropped in to help her celebrate her birthday.

The evening was pleasantly spent in playing progressive pedro, Mrs Cliff Heller and Frank McFarland winning the first prizes and Mrs. McFarland and Milton Block the consolation prizes.

At midnight a delicious lunch was served after which Mrs. Grace Dutcher, in behalf of those present, presented Mrs. Novak with a set of flower vases, wishing her many more such happy occasions.

Boys' and girls' Hosiery at wholesale prices at Campbell's one week hosiery sale. Adv. 8tf.

Income Tax Returns

Deputy Collector W. S. Darling will be at the Hotel Charlevoix from March 1 to 3, inclusive, to assist taxpayers in filing current income tax returns which are due on or before March 15. If you are having trouble about making out your returns, Mr. Darling will willingly help you out.

Get your auction bill printed here.

ADVANCE SHOWING

Of the New Spring Coats for Ladies and Misses. Step in and look them over before the choice ones are gone.

Prices are very reasonable

$15 to $50

M. A. Levinson & Co.

Our Big Nine Cent Sale is still going strong.

Watch our windows for Special Bargains

Special for Friday Afternoon only

Special 10 per cent Discount on Dinnerware for this one afternoon only.

Greist and Buss Clamp Lamps

Special for Saturday, 20 per cent off.

Watch our windows daily for other specials

COME LOOK BUY

Sale positively closes Saturday night.

WITHERS' VARIETY STORE

CHARLEVOIX, MICHIGAN

CHOOSE DELEGATES FOR STATE CONVENTION

County Convention Held at Boyne City, February 17

The Charlevoix County Republican convention was held in Boyne City, at the Wolverine hotel, Thursday, February 17. The chairman announced that the convention was called for the purpose of electing five delegates to attend the State Republican convention at Grand Rapids, Tuesday, March 1.

On account of the absence of the regular secretary, F. J. Beals of Boyne City, was named secretary pro tem The election of delegates then followed and the following men were chosen: J. M. Harris, Boyne City; E. N. Clink, East Jordan, Charles Novak, Charlevoix; W. J. Callagher, St. James and H. F. Meyer, Boyne Falls.

Tennis Fans Notice!

An important meeting of the Charlevoix Tennis fraternity is called for Saturday afternoon, at 4:30, at the Charlevoix State Savings Bank. A cordial invitation is extended to all interested, particularly to high school students and instructors. Come and boost.

Archie Livingston, Secretary.

BAPTIST CHURCH

"Shall the government continue to make appropriations for sectarian enterprises," will be the subject of a pulpit editorial at the Baptist church Sunday morning. The usual services for the week to which a cordial invitation is extended.

Read the Courier, and get the news

PAINT UP AND CLEAN UP

Spring is on its way and your thoughts naturally turn to cleaning up the accumulated dirt of winter. The house needs repainting, interior walls and wood work redecorating and where paint is not used on the walls, new paper is needed. Use the well known

Devoe Lead and Zinc Paint

The beauty of the woodwork, both exterior and interior, depends upon the use of high quality materials carefully applied. We have been convinced time and time again that DeVoe's paint will cover more surface than any paint sold in the city.

Wall Finishes

Use Muresco for wall and ceiling decoration. We carry it in white and tints. Full line of Wall paper in patterns we are sure will suit you. We bought our line of wall paper right, and believe we have the best line in the city at a price that cannot be duplicated. All we ask is an opportunity to show you our line.

S. M. SEE & SONS

RELIABLE HOUSEFURNISHERS

THE OLDEST BANK IN CHARLEVOIX COUNTY
FORTY-THIRD YEAR IN BUSINESS

1884 1927

PERHAPS YOU TOO--

have not noticed how often opportunities knock at the door of the man or woman who have a few hundred dollars "put away" in a steady growing Savings Account.

And doesn't that suggest something to you?

Charlevoix County Bank

CHARLEVOIX, MICHIGAN

Bridge & Company

THE BANK ON THE CORNER

LOCAL NEWS BRIEFLY TOLD

Get the Habit—Read the Courier

COMMUNITY CALENDAR
Coming Events

Feb. 27., Baptist church, 4:15 p. m., silver medal declamation, auspices W. C. T. U.

Feb. 28. Father and Son banquet, First Methodist church.

Feb. 28.. Court sets.

March 1. Senior play at Palace Theatre.

March 2. Ash Wednesday, Lent begins.

March 10. Last number Lyceum Course, Palace Theatre.

March 11. W. C. T. U. meeting with Mrs. M. B. Hooker.

March 17. Catholic ladies' supper.

March 25. Spring vacation of public schools begins.

March 29. W. C. T. U. honorary members banquet.

April 8. M. E. Ladies' Aid Supper.

April 10-17. Holy Week services at First Methodist church.

April 17. Easter Cantata, Baptist church, 4 p. m.

April 17. Easter Sunday.

Jerome Cole of Boyne City, was a Charlevoix visitor Monday forenoon.

Regular meeting of Pythian Sisters at the K. P. hall next Monday evening.

Mrs. James Sanford, who was quite ill at her home last week, is reported much better.

James Gaskin left last Friday afternoon for Grand Rapids on a business trip.

Frank F. Bird took a load to Petoskey, Tuesday, for the winter sports program.

Dr. W. W. Parks of Petoskey, was a Charlevoix business visitor Wednesday afternoon.

Frank Bird and George Roderick, made a business trip to Petoskey last Saturday evening.

Louis Maul of Boyne City, is in the Charlevoix hospital this week for medical treatment.

Mrs. Nanna Davis of Horton Bay, submitted to an operation at the hospital last Sunday.

John Dutcher, who has been visiting in Detroit for the past six weeks, returned home Monday.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Webster are the parents of a baby girl, born on Wednesday of this week.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Webster are the parents of a baby girl, born on Wednesday of this week.

Mrs. John Kirby visited friends and relatives in Boyne Falls a few days the first of this week.

W. H. Supernaw left Monday for Detroit, and will drive back a Hodge car for the Benj. Brown agency.

Aubrey Block of Flint, was in the city this week to attend the funeral of his grandfather, A. N. Chase.

A Michigan Bell Telephone company crew are running a telephone line in to Oldswood Lodge this week.

Charles Bellinger and Mark Smith went to Petoskey, Tuesday, to attend the winter program held in that city.

Wm. Srisley is the owner of a new Pontiac landau sedan, purchased last week from Black & Simmons, local agents.

H. A. Craig and Supt. Coverdale made a business trip to Lansing, Ann Arbor and other southern Michigan cities last week.

An 8½ pound baby boy was born to Mr. and Mrs. Kerr of Norwood township at the Charlevoix hospital Tuesday evening.

Mr. and Mrs. Ray Faulkner entertained a couple of their friends to a dinner, Sunday, at their cottage near Mt. McSauba.

The Literary and Sewing Club will meet with Mrs. C. E. Pollock, Thursday afternoon of this week. Business of importance.

James Gaskin, Sr., returned the latter part of last week from Grand Rapids, where he had gone for special medical treatment.

Mr. and Mrs. P. J. Moran and son, Pat, left last Saturday for Detroit, where Mrs. Moran will enter a hospital for special treatment.

Mr. and Mrs. William Wallace and son, Louis, returned last week from a week's visit in Detroit and other southern Michigan points.

Clair and Forrest VanDusen motored up from Grand Rapids last week to attend the funeral of Mrs. Mosher, held last Thursday.

Ruth V. Earl, 12-hour old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Earl, who died Sunday, was buried at Brookside cemetery Monday afternoon.

F. E. Cartier and daughter, Betty Jean, left Thursday for Grand Rapids, where they will visit their son and brother, Dr. Clair Cartier.

Miss Francis West of Boyne City and Joe West of Horton Bay, visited Sunday afternoon at the home of their sister, Mrs. Arthur Ranger.

Mr. and Mrs. M. A. Levinson returned last Saturday from Grand Rapids, where they attended the Shriner's Ball at the Masonic temple in that city.

The Misses Clara and Violet Malwitz left Monday for their home in Detroit, after spending a short time here visiting their aunt, Mrs. William Wallace, Jr.

Class B, C and D teams from Charlevoix, Emmet and Antrim counties will go to Harbor Springs March 10, 11 and 12, for the annual district basketball tournament.

Mrs. Wm. L. Gregory was taken to Lockwood hospital Monday morning, where she went a serious operation. Her condition is as well as could be expected at this time.

Mrs. C. J. Winder left Tuesday for to join her husband at Eaton Rapids. From there the couple will go on to Chicago, where Dr. Winder expects to attend a convention of dentists.

The body of William H. Adams, father of Mrs. Roy Kane of Hayes township, who died last Tuesday, February 15th, at Manistique, was laid to rest in Brookside cemetery last Friday.

Drs. J. Leahy and W. H. Parks of Petoskey, were in the city Sunday on professional business. Dr. Leahy left Monday for Grand Rapids, where he will attend the mid-winter meeting of the Michigan Society of Optometrists.

Miss Bertha Larson and Dr. F. F. McMillan returned last week from Rochester, Minnesota, where they had been taking an advanced course in surgery at Mayo Brothers hospital. Dr. Parks of Petoskey, also returned with them.

The Woman's Christian Temperance Union has made definite plans for increasing the Honorary Membership of the organization during the next month, and on Tuesday, March 29th, will entertain at the Honorary Members Banquet.

James Wyers and Mont Withers returned last Thursday from Grand Rapids, where they had gone after Essex cars. Mrs. Mont Withers, who had been spending the past month visiting relatives in Grand Rapids, returned with them.

Local weather experts are unable to explain the unseasonable three-day thaw we have had this week. Nevertheless, everyone seems pleased with it and the whistles you meet coming down the street in the morning are a sure sign of spring.

Next Sunday afternoon at 4:15 there will be a Silver Medal Declamatory Contest at the Baptist church under the auspices of the W. C. T. U. About ten young people from the 6th, 7th and 8th grades are participating and the public is invited.

What's wrong with the weather? A person must certainly be hard boiled to register a kick on what we have had so far this week. Warm southerly winds and the snow disappearing rapidly. Robins and crows have made their appearance and it looks like an early spring.

Ray Faulkner of the postoffice force will be laid up for a short time, the result of slipping on the ice Wednesday morning while delivering mail on the south hill. The ligaments in his leg were badly torn and he is now under doctor's orders. Joel Markham is substituting during Ray's absence.

The Independent Oil Dealers' convention will be held at Mackinac Island during the month of July, according to Wm. Wallace, Jr., who returned last week from their winter convention held in Detroit. They convened at Charlevoix in 1925 and considerable effort was put forth to land this summer's meeting.

Henry Black and James Simmons motored to Petoskey last Thursday evening to attend a banquet at the Cushman hotel for Chevrolet dealers of this district. The banquet was the reward of a sales contest held during last November. The agreement at that time was that the winning agency should eat turkey and the losers beans—and beans they ate—even for dessert. Burns & Wyncoff of Traverse City were the winners.

Charlevoix entries carried off four prizes at the Petoskey winter carnival, held in that city Tuesday. Roswell Williams won the ski jump and William Woods, Jr., took second prize. Stephen Geer won the toboggan slide and David Livingston walked away with the skating race for boys under 15 years. Soft weather hindered the program to some extent, although a good crowd turned out to enjoy the fun and the carnival was a decided success in spite of the unseasonable thaw.

MRS. SUSAN McMILLAN DIED AT HOME OF SON

Body Taken to Berlamont, Mich., Monday for Burial

Mrs. Susan McMillan passed away last Saturday night at the home of her son, Dr. F. F. McMillan of this city, with whom she had been making her home.

Brief funeral services were held at the home Monday at 12:30 by Rev. C. E. Pollock of the First Methodist church. Deceased was taken to Berlamont, Michigan, where funeral services will also be conducted, and she will be laid to rest in the cemetery at that place.

New line stamped bed spreads, pillow cases, luncheon sets, towels, boudoir pillow, etc., at Holley Gift Shop. Adv. 7-13.

Are you a Courier subscriber. If not, why not.

REBEKAH CIRCLE HAS PLEASANT AFTERNOON

Met Last Friday at Home of Mrs. Sandy Shearers

The Rebekah Circle spent a very pleasant afternoon last Friday at the home of Mrs. Sandy Shearer on E. Hurlbut avenue.

The house was very prettily decorated with appropriate colors for the occasion. The fore part of the afternoon was taken up with the Circle's business session, after which the ladies played progressive pedro. A committee composed of Mesdames Mitchell, Goss, Geneit, Wagner, Gimble and Wakefield served a delicious luncheon, which was the subject of much favorable comment. Rebekah brother, Sandy Shearer showed his worth by helping the kitchen force to good advantage.

The next meeting of the Circle will be held Friday, March 4, with Mrs. Joe Moore. Members are requested to bring sewing needs, as the club will at this time sew for the hospital.

HONORED MOTHER'S BIRTH ANNIVERSARY

Mrs. M. Roy Brady Entertained Friends on Occasion

Mrs. M. Roy Brady entertained 12 friends Monday afternoon, the occasion being the 61st birthday anniversary of her mother, Mrs. Kathyrn H. Taylor.

The afternoon was spent at cards, followed by a buffet lunch. Mrs. Taylor was presented with a very beautiful pottery flower bowl. Those present were the Mesdames Hugh L. Brady, Wm. Woods, Sr., Sandy Shearer, Andy McCall, Jr., H. R. Brady, R. C. Korth, Harry Gebeau, Wm. Myers and Lee Allard.

High honors at cards went to Mrs. Allard and the consolation to Mrs. Harry Gebeau.

Christian Science Society

Sunday service 10:45 a. m.
Subject: "Christ Jesus."
Sunday school at 12 o'clock.
Wednesday evening service 7:45.
Reading room open Tuesday and Saturday, 3 to 5 p. m.
The public is cordially invited to attend our service.

COURIER BARGAIN COLUMN.

Courier Want Advs. are One Cent per word per insertion. Minimum charge is 20 cents per insertion, for anything under 20 words. All Want Advs. are strictly cash in advance except to those who have ledger accounts. Please remember this when sending in your copy.

LOST

LOST—Small, black, tan and white, mostly white, fox hound. Notify Mont Withers. 8t1pd.

WANTED—TO TRADE

WANTED TO RENT—Small modern house with basement furnace. Call phone 730 between 8 and 6.—8t1.

FOR SALE—LIVE STOCK

FOR SALE—Young team. Inquire A. C. Struthers, Route 7, Charlevoix. 8t2.

WANTED—MISCELLANEOUS

WANTED—To buy a business proposition, or will invest capital with time. Address "J", care Courier. 4t5pd.

WANTED—Well drilling and well repair work of all kinds. Address Charles Klienfelt, Harbor Springs, Mich., phone 162-F5.—8-11pd.

FOR RENT—HOUSE

FOR RENT—8-room house with basement furnace, bath, garage, hen house, park, garden, fruit. Possession May. Address B. P. Wilkinson, Bellaire.—7-tf.

HELP WANTED.

WANTED—Girl or woman for general housework. Good wages. Write Mrs. Bert Gingell, Atlanta, Mich., 8t2.

WANTED — Men 18-35. Railway Mail Clerk positions. Big salary commence. Experience unnecessary. Write George Robbins, for free particulars about instruction for this examination — 365 Barcicli Bldg., Washington, D. C.—7-13.

COMING

"It Pays to Advertise"

Senior Class Play

To be given on

MARCH 1, 1927

at Palace Theatre

1905 1927

A Voice From The Past

George Washington, whose birthday we celebrate on the 22nd of this month, said of saving: "Economy makes happy homes and sound nations; instill it deep." Acquire the saving habit. Save now. Save regularly. Save here.

Charlevoix State Savings Bank

CHARLEVOIX, MICHIGAN

W. S. Richardson, President.
A. D. Crimmins, Vice President.
Archie Livingston, Cashier.
G. W. Richardson, Asst. Cashier.

Friday and Saturday Specials

Be Saving

Buy your table supplies where you can obtain the best values. If you are an economical housewife, you will make that dollar go as far as possible. Dealing with close buyers is a delight to us. And we usually sell them, because they recognize the values we offer them.

Grocery Department

No. 2½ can Peaches 15c
No. 2½ can Apricots 15c
4 lbs. bulk Cocoa 25c
2 dozen Oranges 55c
2 lbs. Prunes 25c

Meat Department

3 lbs. Liver Sausage 25c
2 lbs. Frankforts 35c
Bolonga, per lb. 15c
Sugar Cured Corned Beef, per lb. 20c

FARMERS! IF YOU HAVE BEEF, VEAL OR CHICKENS FOR SALE, COME IN AND SEE US.

MARTIN BLOCK

Opposite Post Office Phones 12 and 142

NEW PALACE THEATRE

ATTRACTIONS FOR THE COMING WEEK

Saturday and Sunday, February 26-27

Florenz Ziegfeld's "KID BOOTS" starring Eddie Cantor with Clara Bow, Billie Dove and Lawrence Gray. A comedy of golf as refreshing as making a hole-in-one. Scenes of Ziegfeld beauties. You'll vote them real screen cuties. Ziegfeld girls! Ziegfeld magnificence of gowns and settings. A Ziegfeld personal supervised de luxe pictorization of his greatest musical comedy success. The $8.80 a seat (and try and buy one) extravaganza that convulsed and dazzled Broadway for over a year. Also educational comedy "Shell Shock."

Wednesday, March 2nd

Only Leon Errol and Dorothy Gish in "CLOTHES MAKE THE PIRATE." Tremendous comedy Sensation, with Nita Naldi, Tully Marshall and Edna Murphy 1927's Comedy Supreme. Captain Kidd and Ol' Morgan joined the Boy Scouts when Errol went to sea. He was so tough, his pet goldfish jumped overboard and tried to pick a fight with a shark because one day Leon frowned at it. Also Hodge Podge and Fox News.

COMING—Zane Grey's "Forlorn River."
COMING—Harold Lloyd in "The Kid Brother."

GOOD TO THE LAST DROP

A cup of Coffee brewed from any of the Monarch Brands. You almost want to squeeze the cup when you see it's empty. This is the verdict of users of this Coffee.

The same degree of excellence will be found in all Monarch Brands, including Teas and Canned Goods. When ordering canned goods, be sure and specify the Monarch Brand.

Milton Block

IT PAYS TO PRESENT A NEAT APPEARANCE
HAVE YOUR HAIR CUT REGULARLY
—AT—
Denny's Bob and Beauty Shoppe
Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Sternberg
Props.

Brighten Your Home With Fresh Cut Flowers
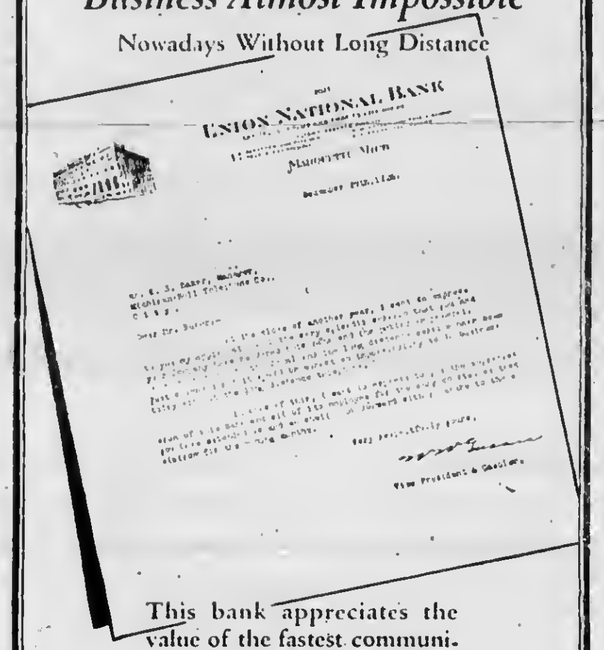
—OR—
Blooming Plants
Flowers for all occasions
A. E. EDWARDS
FLORIST
We're as near as your telephone

MICHIGAN BELL TELEPHONE CO.

"Business Almost Impossible"

Nowadays Without Long Distance



This bank appreciates the value of the fastest communication service. Long Distance can help build any business.

BELL SYSTEM

Ask the Driver!

Graham Brothers Trucks and Commercial Cars have always been preferred by drivers.

The cabs are built for driver comfort in all weather—and the comfort of the man on the truck has become an increasingly important factor in dependable trucking service.

Graham Brothers Trucks are easy to handle. They have ample power. They stay on the job.

The proof of their exceptional value is their steadily mounting sales.

¾-TON CHASSIS $670.00
1-TON CHASSIS (G-Boy) $885.00
1½-TON CHASSIS $1245.00
2-TON CHASSIS $1445.00
Delivered

Graham Brothers Trucks and Commercial Cars meet 91% of all hauling requirements.

BENJAMIN BROWN
Charlevoix, Michigan

GRAHAM BROTHERS TRUCKS
SOLD BY DODGE BROTHERS DEALERS EVERYWHERE

W. E. Byers John Boss

BYERS & BOSS
Auctioneers

We will cry your sales and clerk them. Furnish cups for all day sales.

Book sales at Courier Office

or call us by phone. All dates are made at The Courier office, phone 2-J. Phone any one of us and we will take care of your sale.

LET THE COURIER PRINT YOUR SALE BILLS

NEW SCHOOL FOR CRIPPLED KIDS

(Continued from page one.)

amount it allowed the county through the primary school fund.

The appropriation asked for, itemized, would include the actual cost of the school, estimated at $350,000; a further sum of $50,000; for the conduct and maintenance of the institution from September to December, 1928, and an additional $75,000 covering the expenses incident to the registration of the cripples of the state, investigations and reports, supervisors' of clinics compensations, salaries of orthopedic surgeons, "out patients" and "follow-up" departments, together with other costs.

A part of the last named appropriation would be used in carrying on the clinics now being conducted throughout the state, where county chapters of the Michigan Society for Crippled Children have held clinics at the society's expense during the past few years.

Cripples being cared for at the state public school at Coldwater, the University of Michigan hospital at Ann Arbor, and other hospitals throughout the state, would be transferred to and cared for and educated in the proposed Convalescent school, the bill states.

This measure has the recommendation of the Michigan Society for Crippled Children, an organization having nearly 20,000 members, and which for the past six years has been in immediate contact with the cripple child problem of the state. Although hospitalization of Michigan's deformed youngsters has ceased to be a matter for immediate attention and action, because of adequate facilities provided by the University of Michigan hospital, the state public school at Coldwater, and by other hospitals in Michigan, schooling opportunities for the cripple are far from adequate at the present time, it is said.

AT THE MOVIES

"Kid Boots" Sensation of Year

"Kid Boots" brings a cast that has seldom been equalled, to the Palace Theatre on Saturday and Sunday, February 26 and 27.

Starting with Eddie Cantor, the star, and Clara Bow, Paramount has gathered a talented group of thespian's, all of them remarkably well adapted to the screen version of Florenz Ziegfeld's success. The play, you know, attracted capacity houses on Broadway for three years.

New Film Success By Producer Rork

Sam Rork has scored again.

The film public knows Sam E. Rork better by work than by name. When it is made known that the name is the label on such screen successes as "Ponjola," "Inez From Hollywood," "The Talker" and the second "Spoilers," it gets its true significance.

"In Clothes Make the Pirate," a comedy starring Leon Errol with Dorothy Gish, which comes to the Palace Theatre next Wednesday only. Rork has reached the apex of his career as a producer. First National officials after a showing of the picture decided to release it as a special attraction.

Rev. R. N. Holsapple, state prohibition leader, says the time has come when patrons of bootleggers should be ostracted. Better watch out, parson, or a lot of our best folks won't be on speaking terms with each other.

CORRECT ENGLISH
MONTHLY MAGAZINE

Authoritative Exponent of English for 24 years.

Edited and founded by

JOSEPHINE TURCK BAKER

Famous World Authority on English

Send 10 Cents for Sample Copy

Correct English Publishing Co.
EVANSTON, ILLINOIS

Agents Wanted Everywhere

ST. MARY'S CHURCH

Rev. Fr. Odelo, Pastor.

Sunday services 8:00 a. m. and 10:00 a. m.

Services Monday and Tuesday, 8:00 a. m.

Services Saturday 7:00 a. m.

Ladies' Altar Society meets Thursday afternoons.

Advertising is the life of trade and the death of failure

LEGAL NOTICES

Order for Publication

State of Michigan, the Probate Court for the county of Charlevoix.

At a session of said court, held at the probate office in the city of Charlevoix, in said county, on the 16th day of February, A. D. 1927.

Present: Hon. Servetus A. Correll, Probate Judge.

In the matter of the estate of Elizabeth Newman deceased.

The above estate having been admitted to probate and Llewellyn S. See appointed administrator thereof.

It is ordered that four months from this date be allowed for creditors to present their claims against said estate, and that such claims will be heard by said court on Thursday, the 23d day of June, A. D. 1927, at ten o'clock in the forenoon, at the probate office in the city of Charlevoix.

It is further ordered, that public notice thereof be given by publication of this order for three successive weeks previous to said day of hearing in the Charlevoix Courier, a newspaper printed and circulated in this county,

Servetus A. Correll,
Judge of Probate.

Adv. 8-t3.

Order for Publication

State of Michigan, the Probate Court for the county of Charlevoix.

At a session of said court, held at the probate office in the city of Charlevoix in said county, on the 9th day of February A. D. 1927.

Present: Hon. Servetus A. Correll, Judge of Probate.

In the matter of the estate of Abner Compton, deceased. Myron Compton having filed in said court his petition praying that the administration of said estate be granted to petitioner or to some other suitable person.

It is ordered, that the 14th day of March A. D. 1927, at ten o'clock in the forenoon, at said probate office, be and is hereby appointed for hearing said petition.

It is further ordered, that public notice thereof be given by publication of a copy of this order, once each week for three successive weeks previous to said day of hearing, in the Charlevoix Courier, a newspaper printed and circulated in said county.

Servetus A. Correll,
Judge of Probate.

Adv. 7-t3.

Mortgage Sale

Default having been made in the conditions of a certain mortgage made by Edward B. Ward and Annie E. Ward of Charlevoix, Michigan to John Nicholls of Charlevoix, Michigan, dated the 3rd day of October, A. D. 1908, and recorded in the office of the Register of Deeds for the county of Charlevoix and state of Michigan, on the 3rd day of October, A. D. 1908, in Liber 44 of mortgages, on page 488, whereby the power of sale contained in said mortgage has become operative, on which mortgage there is claimed to be due at the date of this notice the sum of Four Hundred Ninety-nine Dollars for principal and interest, and an attorney's fee of Ten dollars, provided for in said mortgage, and no suit or proceedings at law having been instituted to recover the moneys secured by said mortgage or any part thereof;

Now, therefore, by virtue of the power of sale contained in said mortgage, and the statute in such case made and provided, notice is hereby given that on Friday the 29th day of April, A. D. 1927, at Ten o'clock in the forenoon, the undersigned will sell at public auction to the highest bidder, at the east front door of the court house, in the city of Charlevoix, Michigan, (that being the place where the circuit court for said county of Charlevoix is held;) the premises described in said mortgage, or so much thereof as may be necessary to pay the amount due on said mortgage, with seven per cent interest, and all legal costs, together with said attorney's fee, as provided by law, the premises being described in said mortgage as follows, to-wit:

Lot number One Hundred Thirty-five of Upright & Hurlbut addition to the city of Charlevoix, county of Charlevoix and state of Michigan.

Dated, January 31st., 1927.

Albert F. Bridge, Executor of the estate of John Nicholls, deceased,
Mortgagee.

A. L. Fitch.
Attorney for Mortgagee.
Business Address: Charlevoix, Michigan. 5t13.

Order For Appearance

State of Michigan, the Circuit Court for the County of Charlevoix, in Chancery.

Pearl W. Hall, Plaintiff vs. A. I. Richard Hall, Defendant.

Suit pending in the Circuit Court for the County of Charlevoix in said county, on the 23rd day of December A. D. 1926.

In this cause it appearing from affidavit on file, that the Defendant A. I. Richard Hall, is not a resident of this state, but resides in the state of Illinois.

On motion of Arthur L. Fitch attorney for the Plaintiff, it is ordered that the said A. I. Richard Hall Defendant enter his appearance to be entered in this cause within three months from the date of this order; and in case of his appearance he cause his answer to the Plaintiff's Bill of Complaint to be filed, and a copy thereof to be served on said attorney for the Plaintiff, within fifteen days after service on said non-resident Defendant of a copy of said Bill and notice of this order; and that in default thereof, that bill be taken as confessed by said non-resident Defendant.

And it is Further Ordered, That within forty days the Plaintiff cause a notice of this order to be published in the Charlevoix Courier, a newspaper printed, published and circulated in said county, and that such publication be continued therein at least once in each week for six weeks in succession and that plaintiff cause a copy of this order to be mailed to said defendant A. I. Richard Hall at his last known post office address by registered mail with postage thereon fully prepaid and demand a return receipt therefore; or that said plaintiff cause a copy of this order to be served on said defendant A. I. Richard Hall personally at least twenty days before the time herein prescribed for the appearance of said defendant or that said plaintiff shall cause a copy of this order to be served on the said defendant A. I. Richard Hall by registered mail and demand a return receipt from the post office department at least twenty days before the time prescribed for the appearance of the said defendant.

Parm C. Gilbert.
Circuit Judge.

A. L. Fitch.
Attorney for Plaintiff
Business Address, Charlevoix, Mich. 2-t6

Mortgage Sale

Default having been made in the conditions of a certain mortgage made by Minnie Jane Smith of Charlevoix, Michigan, to Celia N. Bridge of Charlevoix, Michigan, dated the Fourteenth day of October, A. D. 1916, and recorded in the office of the Register of Deeds of the county of Charlevoix, State of Michigan, on the Sixteenth day of October, A. D. 1916, in Liber 52 of Mortgages, on page 180, whereby the power of sale contained in said mortgage has become operative, on which mortgage there is claimed to be due at the date of this notice the sum of Nine Hundred Two and Seventy-five one-hundredths Dollars as principal and interest and the further sum of One-Hundred Three and 20/100 Dollars paid in taxes on the land described in said mortgage and the further sum of Twenty dollars as an attorney fee provided for in said mortgage, and no suit or proceedings at law having been instituted to recover the moneys secured by said mortgage, or any part thereof;

Therefore, by virtue of the power of sale contained in said mortgage, and the statute in such case made and provided, notice is hereby given that on Friday, the 29th day of April, A. D. 1927, at ten o'clock in the forenoon, at the east front door of the court house in the city of Charlevoix, Michigan, that being the place where the Circuit court for said county is held, the undersigned will sell at public auction to the highest bidder, the premises described in said mortgage, or so much thereof as may be necessary to pay the amount due on said mortgage, as aforesaid, with seven per cent interest, and all legal costs, together with said attorney fee, as provided by law, the lands and premises being described in said mortgage as follows:

All that certain piece or parcel of land situate in the city of Charlevoix, county of Charlevoix, state of Michigan, described as follows: Beginning four hundred sixty and one-half feet east of a point where the north line of the Emmet and Grand Traverse State Road (now known as Petoskey Ave.) intersects the east line of Michigan Avenue, the same being the southwest corner of a lot owned by Jennie Gail Vandermade; thence east along the north line of Petoskey Avenue sixty-six feet; thence north one hundred fifty-six and three-fourths feet; thence west sixty-six feet; thence south to the place of beginning, the same being Lot number One of Block number three of Fox and Eaton's unrecorded plat to the village of Charlevoix, Michigan.

Dated, February 2nd., 1927.

Celia N. Bridge,
Mortgagee.

A. L. Fitch.
Attorney for Mortgagee.
Business address: Charlevoix Michigan. 5t13.

NOTICE OF CHANCERY SALE

State of Michigan, in the Circuit Court for the County of Charlevoix, in Chancery.

Donald O. Boudeman and Dallas Boudeman, Jr., Plaintiffs, vs. Hattie McNeill, Defendant.

In pursuance and by virtue of an order and decree of the Circuit Court for the County of Charlevoix, Michigan, in chancery, dated the 6th day of January, A. D. 1927, in the above cause in said court pending wherein Donald O. Boudeman and Dallas Boudeman, Jr., are plaintiffs and Hattie McNeill is defendant, and said having been filed to foreclose a mortgage on which, by the terms of said decree, there was due on the date of said decree, namely, Two Thousand Three Hundred Five and 34-100 Dollars ($2,305.34).

Notice is Hereby Given, That I shall sell at public auction to the highest bidder at the east front door of the Court House in the City of Charlevoix, Michigan, (said Court House being the place for holding the Circuit Court for said county,) on the 22nd day of March, A. D. 1927, at ten (10) o'clock in the forenoon of said day, Central Standard Time, all or so much thereof as may be necessary of the land and premises hereinafter described, to raise the same due to said plaintiffs by the terms of said decree, together with principal, interest, taxes, insurance and costs due said plaintiffs at the time of said sale.

The premises to be sold are described as follows, towit;

The parcels of land situated in the City of Charlevoix, County of Charlevoix and State of Michigan, and described as follows, to wit; the west half (½) of Lots One and Two (1, 2) in Block Four (4) of Dixon's addition to the village (now city) of Charlevoix, according to the plat thereof duly recorded in the office of the Register of Deeds of Charlevoix County, Michigan.

Dated at Charlevoix, Michigan, January 24th, A. D. 1927.

Lisle Shanahan,
Circuit Court Commissioner in and for Charlevoix County, Michigan. Business address, Charlevoix, Michigan.

Adams and VanHorn,
Attorneys, for Plaintiff,
Business address, 114 West South St., Kalamazoo, Michigan 5t7.

Mortgage Sale

Default having been made in the conditions of a mortgage made by Albert L. Johnson and Alma K. Johnson, husband and wife, to John Nicholls, of Charlevoix, Michigan, dated the second day of February, A. D. 1912, and recorded in the office of the Register of Deeds of the county of Charlevoix, state of Michigan, on the second day of February, A. D. 1912, in Liber 48 of Mortgages, on page 61, whereby the power of sale contained in said mortgage has become operative, on which mortgage there is claimed to be due at the date of this notice the sum of Four Hundred Twenty Dollars and Fifty Cents as principal and interest, and Twenty-eight Dollars and Fifty-seven Cents, in taxes paid by the mortgagee on the lands described in said mortgage, together with an attorney fee of Fifteen Dollars provided for in said mortgage, and no suit or proceeding at law having been instituted to recover the moneys secured by said mortgage or any part thereof;

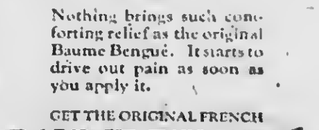
Therefore, by virtue of the power of sale contained in said mortgage, and the statute in such case made and provided, notice is hereby given that on Friday, the 29th day of April, A. D. 1927, at ten o'clock in the forenoon, at the east front door of the court house in the city of Charlevoix, county of Charlevoix, and state of Michigan, that being the place where the circuit court for said county is held, the undersigned will sell at public auction to the highest bidder, the lands and premises described in said mortgage, or so much thereof as may be necessary to pay the amount due on said mortgage, as aforesaid, with seven per cent interest, and all legal costs, together with said attorney fee, as provided by law, the lands and premises being described in said mortgage, as follows, to-wit:

All that certain piece or parcel of land situate in the Township of Marion, county of Charlevoix, and state of Michigan, and described as follows, to-wit: The southwest quarter of the southwest quarter of section twelve, township thirty-three north, range eight west.

Dated, February 2nd. 1927.

Albert F. Bridge, Executor of the estate of John Nicholls, deceased,
Mortgagee.

A. L. Fitch.
Attorney for the Executor of the Estate of John Nicholls, deceased, mortgagee.
Business address; Charlevoix, Michigan. 5t13



ease the pain.

Nothing brings such comforting relief as the original Baume Bengué. It starts to drive out pain as soon as you apply it.

GET THE ORIGINAL FRENCH
BAUME BENGUÉ
(ANALGÉSIQUE)

Babies Love It

For all stomach and intestinal troubles and disturbances due to teething, there is nothing better than a safe Infants' and Children's Laxative.

MRS. WINSLOW'S SYRUP

Raising the Family- Uncle Ike didn't quite get the Girl's Childhood Stuff

DID YOU SEE MY HAT? I SAY MY HAT- H-A-T- HAT!
LOOK! DO YA KNOW WHAT I MEAN?
AW RATS!
WHAT'S THE MATTER WITH HIM?
YOUR BRAIN AS HIS MIND IS ABSOLUTELY EMPTY!

Alabaster Lamps

By Margaret Turnbull

Copyright, 1927, by Margaret Turnbull. WNU Service.

(Continued from page three)

Mary, stop crying. I never knew anything so—so silly."

"It isn't silly, but so very." Mary sniffed, trying to regain her self-control. "I've hated him good and hard for—for three and I just hadn't begun to like him with you."

Her mother patted Mary's shoulder. "I only thought of him—for your sake."

"You'd hate me," Mary told her firmly. "I'd go and work anywhere first—even in Dabbs' grocery store."

Her mother started. "There won't be any question of that. Rather there's the car. Send that boy away, Mary."

"Wouldn't it do you good to go out?"

"No it wouldn't. Leave me alone with my thoughts and my novel. I want to go over everything by myself, calmly. We'll tackle the lower problem tonight, after I've had my think."

"Then I might as well motor," said Mary.

Mrs. Johnston frowned.

"I don't like it. But go and ride with your idealized grocer's clerk. If you want to. Remember, always, that Mother's wary eye will be upon you when you return. I'm behind you, of course, if I didn't know you'd do it anyway and never tell me the utter ordinary details."

Then she'd the smile of perfect understanding.

"And, of course," Mrs. Johnston admitted boldly, "I want to know every thing. Don't leave out of a single thrill, Mary."

Mary kissed her. Mrs. Johnston raised herself on a fresh white elbow and called to Mary's back: "Ride on the rear seat, Mary, and don't forget that you're poor low, very poor, indeed."

Mary could visualize the impish smile on her mother's face that accompanied this remark.

She had fully intended at least beginning the drive on the rear seat, but after that and hearing her mother was at the window to see, she climbed to the seat beside Ned, announcing:

"Mother's not coming, and you're to please take me a different route today."

Mrs. Johnston was not at the window. Her face was set and hard as she tried to make up her mind whether she would let this grocery shop situation develop before she hotfoot to New York, or let it go. It was puzzling, but to go now might solve Mary's problem and her own. The solution, however, was very difficult, through lack of available funds.

In his office, C. M. Dabbs, once more embarked on his elegant task of composition, wrote, tore up and rewrote, all afternoon. When he finally ceased writing he had one correct short note which he put into his pocket, carefully destroying the others. He still could not decide whether or not to send it.

Dorothy Sabler, having waited in vain for either sign of life at Mary's door, or at least telephone, from Ned, had begun the privilege of seeing him safely by [illegible] with Mary. [illegible] Dorothy [illegible] [illegible] [illegible]

WELL KNOWN BUSINESS MAN PASSES MONDAY

Robert Mears Had Been in Business Here Many Years

Robert Mears, well known Charlevoix business man, died shortly after noon Monday at the Petoskey hospital, a victim of pneumonia. He had been ill but a short time and his death came as a shock to the family and their many friends.

Deceased was born in Ottawa county, Ohio, June 23, 1865 and was 61 years of age at the time of death. He was married to Mabel Dickinson at Kingsville, Canada, October 25, 1890. The couple moved from there to Petersburg, Michigan, where they made their home until coming to Charlevoix 19 years ago. During most of his residence here Mr. Mears owned and operated a cigar store and billiard hall.

Besides the widow, deceased is survived by a daughter, Vera, of this city, and one sister, Mrs. Orr of Toledo, Ohio. Mr. Mears was a Mason of many years standing, being a member of the Petersburg Blue lodge and had taken the Royal Arch degree at Charlevoix and Counsel at Petoskey.

Funeral services were held Wednesday afternoon from the home on Upright avenue, under the auspices of the local Masonic order. Rev. B. G. Mattson of the Congregational church, officiated. Interment at Brookside cemetery.

Broderwear Hosiery, all colors, $1.00; "Onyx" Hosiery, pointed heel, $1:65 to $2.50. Holley Gift Shop.—Adv. 7-t3.

* * * * * * * * * *

METHODIST CHURCH

* * * * * * * * * *

Next Sunday—sermon at 10:30 a. m.

Church school at 12:00 noon.

Epworth League at 6:00 p. m.

Sermon, "Trust your eyes" at 7:00 p. m.

The evening service will have as its special feature the showing of a set of pictures direct from the office of the national president of the Anti-saloon League, who is the resident Bishop of the Detroit area of the Methodist Episcopal church. The pictures are just newly produced, and show the present condition of the anti-liquor crusade. Next Sunday is temperance Sunday, and all who are interested in law enforcement are invited to attend this evening service.

Father and son banquet next Monday evening at 6:00. The men are getting their tickets and selecting their boys for the occasion. If any man wants a boy provided for him, let him confer with the pastor. Circuit Judge Parm Gilbert will be the speaker, and the address will be delivered in the dining room at the tables. Space is limited in the dining room so better get tickets early.

The Rev. Mr. Linnell of Boyne City, the Presbyterian pastor, was the special speaker at the men's meet Monday evening. His subject was, "A man's duty to the Church." It was well presented and much appreciated by the men.

The Ladies' Literary and Sewing Club met with Mrs. C. E. Pollock, Thursday afternoon, this week.

The Colonial Home Service was enjoyed by a large number of people at the First Methodist church last Sunday. Several members of the church participated in rendering the program. Mr. Oluf Nordrum had general charge of the service. Mr. Sam Brown led the worship with prayer. Mr. A. Edwards gave an excellent fifteen minute talk on "Home Religion." Mrs. Edward Stewart spoke interestingly to the junior church. An "old people's choir" led the singing with Mrs. John Joliffe at the organ. The pastor's sermon on "Practical Religion" was an exposition of the book of James, in which he discussed the every day matters of living. Mr. John Joliffe concluded the service with prayer. The detailed arrangement of the program was made by Mrs. A. Edwards. Altogether it was an unusual and very happy morning in the church.

Let us do a neat, thorough job, giving you all the comfort and convenience of electricity. Let us install a G-E wiring system throughout—with all materials made by General Electric, the most satisfactory system—also the low rates to follow it lasts a lifetime.

GE WIRING SYSTEM
—for lifetime service

WOOD BROS.

Zonite

For Cuts and Wounds

Prevent infection! Treat every cut, wound or scratch with this powerful non-poisonous antiseptic. Zonite actually kills germs. Helps to heal, too.

EMBODIES STUDY OF ALCOHOLIC PROBLEM

"Prohibition at Its Worst" Added to Library Collection

A much talked of book, "Prohibition at its worst" by Irving Fisher—has recently been added to our city library, and is recommended to all who are interested in the the eighteenth amendment.

It embodes a study of the alcohol problem for the last twenty years during which time the author has radically changed his attitude toward prohibition.

It also endeavors to cover all important data brought out in the testimony at the hearing of the sub-committee of the U. S. Senate last April.

Strange to say much of the testimony given by the wets as statistical has upon investigation proven to be lacking in truth. For instance, their statistician testified to arrests in 157 cities, and in a large percentage of cases the police heads in those cities have since declared the figures inaccurate or unverifiable.

One chapter is devoted to alcohol and longevity and contains statements of leading physicians regarding the use of alcohol.

Dr. Cubot of Harvard Medical school says, "Physicians are using it less and less in the treatment of disease owing to the recognition that it is a narcotic and not a stimulant. Alcohol is now seldom used in acute illness except as a substitute for food in cases where previous drinking has made it unwise to withdraw it."

Dr. Hunt of the U. S. Public Health Servicr, Washington, says "It is time alcohol was banished from the medical armament. Whiskey has killed thousands where it cured one."

QUEER CRAFT IS ALSO A MARVEL

(Continued from page one.)

Detroit with all personal belongings gone except those worn on their back, and their Great Dane dog.

The couple with their "crew" live on the ship the year 'round. In the summer they run a training ship, teaching classes of young lads how to swim, paddle and sail. They are taught how to handle themselves while aboard ship, and, on a whole, such training tends to lessen drowning accidents.

This summer Mr. Moore intends putting into service a large canoe, much on the style of an old-time war canoe, in which a large number of boys can be taken out for paddling lessons. Two 16-foot sail boats will also be added, and, along with sailing the big ship, the lads will be given training aboard the smaller craft. Week-end sailboat races, swimming and paddling races, etc., also entertain and keep the lads interested in the training course.

* * * * * * * * * *

CHURCH OF GOD

P. A. June, Pastor

* * * * * * * * * *

Weekly schedule of services to be held during the coming week:

Morning worship, 10:30 a. m.

Sunday school, 11:45 a. m.

Evening service, 7:30 p. m.

Prayer meeting Wednesday evening, 7:30 p. m.

The Sewing Circle meets this Thursday with Mrs. C. E. Shelden. Invitations are extended to all. Come if you can.

The subject for the Sunday morning service will be: "Sowing and Reaping." Christ said: "The harvest truly is great, but the laborers are few."

We cordially invite you to attend services with us.

Avoid fire risks from burning-out chimneys by using our honest-to-goodness Snot Destroyer. Charlevoix Hdw. Co.—Adv. 2tf.

DIED AT RIPE AGE OF EIGHTY-FOUR YEARS

Death Takes Rev. Abram VanAuken of Vanderbilt

Word has been received of the death at Vanderbilt, of the Rev. Abram VanAuken, at the age of eighty-four.

Many of the older residents of Charlevoix, will remember the deceased, who for nearly fifty years was a Congregational minister in northern Michigan. While he never held the local pastorate, he has preached here on many occasions and has always attended the association meetings, though some time ago on account of his own health and his wife's blindness, Mrs. VanAuken, survives her husband. While they never had any children of their own they adopted and raised seven.

Forty-nine years ago last September, Rev. VanAuken, with John Yuill, walked from Vanderbilt to Muncelona to the organization meeting of the Cheboygan Association of Congregational churches and both expected to be present at the Jubilee meeting to be held in the same place next fall.

The experiences of these pioneers in the gospel have been most interesting and worthwhile. Rev. VanAuken served well his day and generation and we pay tribute to his memory.

To the Electors of the City of Charlevoix

I am a candidate for office of City Treasurer, and would solicit your support, at the March primaries. If nominated I will do my utmost to merit your support.

Very truly,
John Cook

Adv. 8t2 pd

LARGE TIMBER WOLF SHOT NEAR BREVORT

Enters Farm Home and Attacks Wife and Children

Mrs. Robert Alexander and children were made the victims of a savage attack by a large timber wolf in their home in Brevort township.

The animal made desperate evidently by hunger forced its way through the doorway of the kitchen and made a rush at the children who were playing on the floor. Mrs. Alexander got between the wolf and the children and called to her husband to get a gun, and she also was leaped upon by the animal and borne to the floor. Before it could do serious harm Alexander appeared with a gun and first kicking the wolf from the prostrate form of his wife fired as the wolf made its escape through the doorway and slightly injuring it.

It was making towards the woods when Mrs. Lottie Page, a neighbor, hearing the shot came out of her home with a loaded shotgun in her hand and seeing the wolf made a lucky shot killing the animal.

While the wolves have been reported as being numerous in Brevort and surrounding townships, and have done considerable damage, this is the first instance that one has been known to have attacked a human being. The Alexanders are of the opinion that the attack was caused by starvation as the animal appeared to be weak from exhaustion. St. Ignace Enterprise.

All these factors contribute to your feeling of security as you drive a Buick—

Extra power in the famous Buick Valve-In-Head Engine. Extra protection from Buick 4-Wheel-Brakes because their operating parts are drop-forged steel. Extra safety (and easier steering) from the five-bearing-surface steering gear.

Surround your family and yourself with safety. Buy a Buick!

THE GREATEST BUICK EVER BUILT

Heaton & Hooper

BOYNE CITY, MICHIGAN

SENIOR PLAY SCHEDULED NEXT TUESDAY

"It Pays to Advertise" Full of Amusing Situations

The senior class of Charlevoix high school will present their annual play, entitled "It Pays to Advertise," at the Palace Theatre, Tuesday evening, March 1st.

The cast of characters follows: Mary Grayson, Frances Milner; Johnson, Milo Chew; Comtesse DeBeaurin, Virginia Parker; Rodney Martin, Willard Smith; Cyrus Martin, Vincent Madison; Ambrose Peale, Hubert McCann; Marie, Julia Britton; William Smith, George Higman; Donald McChesney, Keith Wagner; Miss Burke, Iola Chew; Ellery Clark, Isben Nordrum; George Bronson, Charles Sterritt.

Rodney Martin, son of millionaire soap king, Cyrus Martin, falls in love with his father's secretary. Cyrus Martin refuses to recognize his son's choice, Rodney, with the help of a friend, starts in the soap business. A French Comtesse enters the plot with a most unique proposition. The play is one of interest and is packed full of amusing situations. Don't miss it. Palace Theatre—8 o'clock.

FATHER AND SON BANQUET MONDAY EVENING

Closer Relationship Between Dad and Boys Is Object

Advance ticket sales for the Father and Son banquet at the First Methodist church Monday evening, indicate more than usual interest in the event. Judge Parm C. Gilbert of Traverse City, will give the address.

Ten years ago the nation became alarmed at the growing gap between the interests of boys and their dads. Efficiency drives and high powered salesmanship led to such constant strain that family relationships were being neglected. Many catastrophies in the life of the youth of the nation constituted a problem and psychologists everywhere called for an annual halt so that through the inauguration of a nation-wide movement directed by the best citizenship the needed correction could be brought to notice and the remedy applied. The movement has gained momentum with each successive year and all leaders have given study to the effort.

* * * * * * * * * *

CONGREGATIONAL CHURCH

B. G. Mattson, D. D., Minister

* * * * * * * * * *

Morning sermon on "A Survey of the Possessions of Faith."

At six p. m. The young people's church hour under the direction of the Endeavor society, assisted by the pastor and attended by an increasing number of young people and people with youth in their hearts.

The program next Sunday night will center around the birthday of Longfellow. Music, poetry and biography with other features and incidents of interest, will make the hour inspiring and enjoyable.

Services at Ironton at 2:30 p. m.

The monthly church night meeting at the Charlevoix church will occur March 3, Thursday night with fellowship supper and brief address with plans being shaped for active parish co-operation in observance of the lenten season and the formation of an Easter membership class. The most fruitful period of the church year should be the next three months. Increasing interest indicates that our hopes will be fulfilled.

Eveline Township Caucus

Notice is hereby given that a township caucus will be held in the Mountain School House, on Monday, March 7, at 1:00 p. m., for the purpose of placing in nomination candidates for township offices for the ensuing term and for the transaction of such other business as may properly come before it. By Order of Committee.

Ralph Price, clerk, of said township of Norwood, Michigan.—Adv. 8t1.

Hayes Township Caucus

Notice is hereby given that a township caucus will be held in the Hayes Town Hall, on Monday, March 7, at 1:00 p. m., for the purpose of placing in nomination candidates for township offices for the ensuing term and for the transaction of such other business as may properly come before it.

By order of Committee,

Lenna Cooper, clerk of said township of Hayes, Michigan.—Adv. 8-t2.

Buy your boys' and girls' hosiery now at Campbell's one week clean-[illegible]

NR TO-NIGHT TOMORROW ALRIGHT

MAKE THE TEST TONIGHT

BE WELL and HAPPY

Get Relief. Drive Out the Poisons

Auto-Intoxication, Constipation, Biliousness, are caused by defective elimination. For over thirty years Nature's Remedy, NR Tablets has proven a safe, dependable relief for these conditions.

GET NR TODAY AT YOUR DRUGGIST'S

CENTRAL DRUG STORE

SAFE FOR ALL

It used to be that the only fellow who could safely buy used cars was the expert who could tell what he was getting and the junk dealer who didn't care. Personally, we have found it profitable to make the world safe for used car buyers—amateurs as well as experts.

BENJ. BROWN

Charlevoix, Michigan

A USED CAR IS ONLY AS DEPENDABLE AS THE DEALER WHO SELLS IT

Charlevoix Hardware Company

The Sale is going strong.

Better jump in between now and Saturday night and make a profit on something you need.

Clean Up Time is Just Ahead

Only one big Radio Bargain left. Someone is going to win it this week.

Charlevoix Hardware Company

NORTHERN MICHIGAN'S FINEST STORE

Three Big Departments—Hardware, Furniture, Electrical

Old Time Dancing Party

—AT—

K. of P. Hall, Friday, Feb. 25

Music by Miller's Orchestra

FOX TROTS, WALTZS, TWO STEPS
QUADRILLES, VIRGINIA REELS

DANCES FOR OLD AND YOUNG
DANCING FROM 9:00 P. M., ON

Bill $1.00 Extra Ladies 25c

W. E. Byers John Boss

BYERS & BOSS

Auctioneers

We will cry your sales and clerk them. Furnish cups for all day sales.

Book sales at Courier Office

or call us by phone. All dates are made at The Courier office, phone 2-J. Phone any one of us and we will take care of your sale.

CHARLEVOIX COURIER

VOLUME 34 NUMBER 9. EIGHT PAGES COURIER, CHARLEVOIX, MICH., WEDNESDAY, MARCH 2, 1927 PRICE $2.00 PER YEAR

CITY MOURNS PIONEER'S PASSING

ALBERT E. MASON MERCHANT HERE NEARLY 50 YEARS

Known For His Sterling Character—His Departure Heartfelt Over Entire Community.

The death of Albert Eugene Mason has reached the sympathetic heart of Charlevoix and brought genuine sorrow and a direct personal loss to every home in the city.

Mr. Mason was operated on for removal of appendix at the local hospital about a month ago. His condition soon improved and he was removed to his home, where complications set in which resulted in his death last Saturday morning at 6 o'clock.

Albert Eugene Mason was the son of Seth F. and Eliza A. Mason and was born at Point Aux Barques, Michigan, on March 29, 1853. In the fall of 1855 the family, which then consisted of the father, mother and four children, the youngest, John, being but twenty-four hours old, set sail in a schooner for the village of Pine River (now Charlevoix). The schooner anchored in Lake Michigan and the passengers were landed in small boats. The house they first occupied was built by the Mormons on the bank of Pine River near the present site of the Charlevoix Lumber company. Later they moved to a log cabin on the south shore of Round Lake and then built a frame house on the south terrace at the corner of Belvedere avenue and Bridge street. Seth Mason acquired a homestead of about 160 acres and carried on the trade of a cooper as well as farming, fishing and trapping.

Mr. Mason attended high school at Cleveland, Ohio, and then entered the law school of the University of Michigan, graduating with the class of 1878. He was admitted to the bar and then returned to Charlevoix where he practiced law in the office of Colonel Wisner. The confinement incident to the work resulted in failing health so he abandoned the legal profession, and formed a partnership with Olander Blair about 1880. They conducted a grocery store for several years and then Mr. Blair withdrew from the partnership. Mr. Mason continued to operate a grocery and general merchandise store until a few months ago. At one time he also operated a branch store at Phelps and for a time was owner of the schooner Sea Gem.

On December 17, 1891 he married Nettie Empey. He is survived by Mrs. Mason; two children, Helen of Sarasota, Florida, and Perry of Ann Arbor; one grandchild, Beverly, of Ann Arbor; also five brothers and sisters, Mrs. J. A. Markham, Mrs. Julia Ackert, Mrs. John Ackert and Oscar Mason of Charlevoix, and John Mason of Mercedes, Texas.

He was a member of the Congregational church and of the Masonic lodge.

Funeral services were held in the Congregational church on Wednesday, March 2nd, at two o'clock, the Rev. Herman Burns and the Rev. Bernard G. Mattson officiating.

In commenting on the departure of Mr. Mason, our business associate for so many years, we cannot help but remark on the most outstanding of his many splendid personal characteristics—that of his honesty. It was brought forcibly to our attention Saturday morning, after his death by Mrs. Robt. M. Johnston. About two months ago while in Mr. Mason's store she found two one dollar bills on the counter. They were given to him and the incident forgotten. Friday, while on his death bed, Mr. Mason had his son, Perry, return the money to Mrs. Johnston, saying no one had claimed it and it was hers. How many would have taken the trouble? This is but one instance which shows the splendid character of our departed friend, and leaves no chance to overestimate his qualities. He possessed them all to a superlative degree. He was possessed of a big soul and a man of high ideals. Charlevoix people as a whole knew him as a dear friend and companion. He had been tested in the scales of achievement and kindly works and his absence will cause an aching void.

The free-for-all battle royal at the Legion Boxing Contest next Monday night will be the funniest mix-up you ever witnessed. Admission free.—Adv. 9t1pd

LECTURE COURSE NUMBER COMING THURSDAY

Casford Concert Company Popular Lyceum Entertainers

Fern L. Casford, who heads the Casford Concert company which will appear here Thursday evening, March 10th, on the local Lyceum course, is one of the most popular artists in the the Lyceum concert field.

Fern Casford, after graduation from the University of Nebraska School of Expression, spent several seasons in Lyceum and Chautauqua work, giving complete programs alone. Her specialties are miscellaneous readings and impersonations. She also is a capable pianist.

With Miss Casford are Winifred Casford, a sister, who is a talented violinist and soprano, and Byrne Smith, well-known harpist.

Trios of violin, piano, harp, duets of harp and violin, solos of harp, violin and voice, together with notable groups of readings, make up this diversified program.

There is real entertainment and artistry in the program of the Casford Concert company

FATHER AND SON BANQUET MONDAY

TWO HUNDRED AND THIRTY WERE IN ATTENDANCE

Address by Judge Gilbert on "The Crossroads of Life" Full of Good Common Sense.

Charlevoix fathers and sons to the number of two hundred and thirty seated themselves at the tables in the First Methodist church Monday evening, the occasion of the Father and Son banquet. The spirit of the gathering was in true harmony with the significance of the occasion and hardly a more successful meeting could have have been expected.

The dining room was very prettily decorated in patriotic colors. A small American flag was found at each plate and beautiful potted flowers adorned the tables. The banquet, served by the Ladies' Literary and Sewing Club of the church, was the subject of much favorable comment and just the sort of feed to satisfy the hunger needs of men and boys. Music by the church orchestra during the march to the tabes and during the early part of the banquet was highly appreciated.

The club president, Frank F. Bird, announced a devotional message by Rev. C. E. Pollock, who centered his thought around the theme, "Affectionate Brotherhood." He emphasized the benefits that follow when men and boys recognize a brotherhood relation existing between them in a community, and to do team work for their mutual benefit. The value of affection between them was made evident. The club president then presented Prosecuting Attorney A. L. Fitch, who, in a humorous and much appreciated manner, presented the speaker of the evening, Judge Parm C. Gilbert.

Judge Gilbert spoke on the subject, "The Crossroads of Life." His address was interspersed with much fine humor and loads of good common sense. He emphasized the idea that it is a man's privilege and duty to befriend and help boys at the critical places in life, thus saving them from making wrecks of themselves on life's highway. His message was heart-reaching and soul-stirring.

The men will meet again next Monday evening at six-thirty. A. J. Duncanson, superintendent of East Jordan schools, will give the address.

MRS. REINHART SURPRISED ON BIRTHDAY

Twenty Friends Gathered to Help Celebrate Occasion

Mrs. Charles Reinhart was the victim of a very pleasant surprise last Monday evening, when 20 of her friends gathered at her home on Lincoln avenue to help celebrate her birthday.

Progressive pedro was enjoyed during the early part of the evening, with Mrs. Reinhart and Dan Potter carrying off first honors. Gertrude Clark and George Shearer won consolation honors. A dainty luncheon, with a lovely candle-covered birthday cake as the main feature was served at midnight. Mrs. Reinhart received many fine presents from her friends in remembrance of the occasion.

WILL BUILD UNDER THE UNIT SYSTEM

SUCH IS THE PLAN ADOPTED BY JOINT SCHOOL BOARD AND CITIZENS COMMITTEE

Recommend Immediate Construction of Thirteen Room Building to House All Grades and Kindergarten With Gymnasium—Bond Issue for $100,000.00.

For the benefit of the tax payers of Charlevoix School District No. 1, we the school board of said district and the advisory committee of five, after due investigation and consideration do believe that it is the consensus of opinion of a great majority of the tax payers of said school district, that a new school building is greatly needed and should be constructed without delay

We have been in conference with several of the leading architects specializing in school building construction and have gathered data that we believe will enable us to build the sort of building most needed, under the unit system. We have, after diligent survey of the matter from many angles, decided that a grade school to house all grades and the kindergarten should be constructed on the corner of Mason and Grant streets and a gymnasium connecting the grade school unit with the present high school, should be constructed as double unit. The grade school to contain about thirteen rooms and the gymnasium to be approximately sixty by 100 feet inside.

The construction of the building to be fire proof throughout and the double unit to be built and furnished including a modern heating and ventilating plant at a total cost not to exceed $150,000.00.

We shall recommend that the tax payers vote for and pass a bond issue of $100,000.00 to be spread over a period of ten years in serial form. If this method is adopted the present five mill tax or Sinking Fund Tax as it is generally known, together with the approximatrly $50,000.00 on hand, will meet every requirement of this building program without additional monies being raised. A schedule of this bond program is hereunder spread for your consideration. This spread is based on the present assessed valuation of the city and and township of Charlevoix which totals $3,637,000.00. Five mills raising annually about $18,000.00.

Principal		Interest	Payment	Reserve
$100,000.00	for 1 year at 5%	$5,000.00	$10,000.00	$3,000.00
$ 90,000.00	for 1 year at 5%	$4,500.00	$10,000.00	$3,500.00
$ 80,000.00	for 1 year at 5%	$4,000.00	$10,000.00	$4,000.00
$ 70,000.00	for 1 year at 5%	$3,500.00	$10,000.00	$4,500.00
$ 60,000.00	for 1 year at 5%	$3,000.00	$10,000.00	$5,000.00
$ 50,000.00	for 1 year at 5%	$2,500.00	$10,000.00	$5,500.00
$ 40,000.00	for 1 year at 5%	$2,000.00	$10,000.00	$6,000.00
$ 30,000.00	for 1 year at 5%	$1,500.00	$10,000.00	$6,500.00
$ 20,000.00	for 1 year at 5%	$1,000.00	$10,000.00	$7,000.00
$10,000.00	for 1 year at 5%	$ 500.00	$10,000.00	$7,500.00
$100,000.00		$27,500.00	$100,000.00	$52,500.00

Our school district is now raising General Fund monies on a ten mill tax roll spread to cover maintenance and other necessary expense for the upkeep of our schools and city library besides the five mill tax spread for Sinking Fund above stated, and it is our unanimous belief that the continuation of the ten mill tax together with the annual saving of approximately $3,500.00 to be saved in consolidating the north and south side schools with the new grade school unit will meet every requirement in the maintenance of our school system, without a raise over the 1926 taxes.

The reason that we have chosen the Mason street and Grant street location for this proposed new unit is, that the State Board of Education as well as all consulted architects recommend east, south and west light for the schools.

Building under this unit system will allow a future addition to be built to the north end of the grade unit if ever required, without sacrificing the building and at some future time a new high school can be constructed on the present high school site whenever the tax payers believe that the school district is ready for the third unit.

We have considered the proposition of remodeling the old central school building for a gymnasium and after careful consideration of this feature we have arrived at the conclusion that the expense would not warrant the investment, as the roof would have to come off and be replaced and many changes necessary of an expensive nature. The building is also practically square and not the right proportion for auditorium and gymnasium purposes.

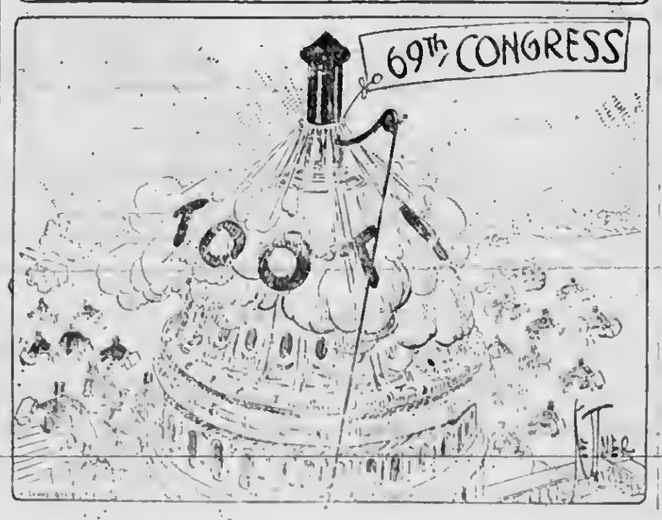
The new gymnasium unit should be so constructed and arranged so that it could be utilized for auditorium purposes with stage, physical training classes, lecture courses, class plays, debates, city conventions and other civic gatherings as well as all high school athletic events.

We have not entered into a contract with any architect or firm of architects and will not do so until a vote has been taken and the proposition adopted by the district. We will have, however, a general sketch or sketches on display that will give those interested in this project, information in a general way of the size and location of this double unit.

We shall call a mass meeting at the high school in the near future at which time we shall be glad to place the proposition before those interested in this important project, an open discussion may be had in detail and the voter become informed in the matter.

Board of Education: Mrs. Arthur Bergeon, Annie B. Saltonstall, H. A. Craig, Oluf Nordrum, Alonzo Powers.

Citizens Committee: M. A. Levinson, Charles H. Emrey, F. J. Fessenden; Allen Campbell, Mary A. Cooper.



DELIGHTFUL PROGRAM BY MUSIC PUPILS

Home of Mrs. Wm. Bogart Scene of Happy Gathering

The music pupils of Mrs. Edyth Allen gave a recital followed by light refreshments at the home of Mrs. William Bogart, 107 E. Dieright avenue, last Saturday afternoon at 2:00 o'clock.

Following is the program:

"Folk Song with variations" (Bischhalf), Helen Bogart.

"Tinkling Bells" (L. A. Engbert) June Davey.

"Sing, Robin, Sing" (Spaulding) Gloria Dickie.

"Boat Ride" (Joseph L. McGrath) Florence Smith.

"March of the Little Sword," Norma Smith.

Duet, "The First Violet of Spring," Lucille and Helga Bogart.

"The First Waltz" (Schmoll), June Davey.

"Little Fairy Waltz" (Strabbee), Gloria Dickie.

"Little Indian Chief" (Lily Strickland), Helena Bogart.

Florella Valo (Richard Kount), Florence Smith

HEALTHY BODY A GREAT ASSET

P. T. A. MEMBERS DISCUSS HEALTH OF CHILDREN

Parents Express Desire That Service of School Nurse Be Engaged

The second meeting of the Parent-teachers Association was held in the high school assembly room, Wednesday evening, February 23rd. The attendance was most gratifying. In the absence of the president, Mrs. E. E. Cross, the meeting was called to order, and was most efficiently conducted by Miss Bigge.

Since we are all well agreed, that best results can be obtained because of a "Healthy Body" the thought stressed at this meeting was "Health." The program, in charge of Miss VanderHaagen, was most interesting. It was opened with two vocal numbers by the second grade, "The Tooth Brush" and "Mary had a Little Cold." Following this, master Teddy Mattson gave a modern version of "Little Jack Horner." The next number which was most interesting and unusual was given by a group of the fifth grade pupils. These boys and girls first played on mouth organs and then sang, "The Nightingale," and "Wait for the Wagon," and concluded this part of the program by singing, "There Was a Crooked Man."

After the reading of the minutes of the last meeting, most satisfactory reports were given by the treasurer, as well as by the membership and health committees.

A most interesting paper, and one which showed much thought and preparation on "Health Conditions" was then presented by Mrs. C. N. Bridge. The follow-up work, showing the necessity for, and stressing the duties of "The School Nurse," was most efficiently handled by Miss Caroline Geiken. And Miss Geiken who, now holds the position of school nurse, in the Boyne City schools, knows where of she speaks. Open discussion then followed, at which time a motion was carried, to the effect that P. T. A. wished to go on record as being highly in favor of securing the services of a school nurse as soon as possible.

During the social part of the meeting which followed, the men of the faculty of the Charlevoix public schools, served delicious refreshments. The next meeting of the P. T. A. will be held during the last week in March, at which time Mrs. Raymond, the state president, will be with us.

Political Announcement

To the Voters of Charlevoix County:

I wish to thank the people of our county for the co-operation they have given me as Commissioner of Schools, and also to assure them that I shall continue to do my best to fulfill the duties of my office and to secure for our county schools those conditions that make for efficiency.

I shall appreciate your vote.

Adv. 8t2. Archie C. Belding.

John L. the 2nd, will appear for the first time before a Charlevoix audience at the Legion Boxing Contest next Monday night, Booker's Garage, 8:30—Adv. 9t1pd.

Monday, March 7th, is the date when Dr. Leahy, the Optometrist, will be at the Hotel Charlevoix.—Adv. 8t2.

BILL NOW UP TO THE SENATE

CAPTIAL PUNISHMENT MEASURE PASSES THE HOUSE

Death Penalty for Thugs and Murderers Outstanding Feature at State Capitol

[By Roy W. Fennell]

[illegible] the second week of the [illegible] and other [illegible] been more [illegible]

One [illegible] crowded [illegible] the senate [illegible] crowded back to gallery [illegible] were there more [illegible] otherwise the blue [illegible] have been [illegible]

Wednesday afternoon and far [illegible] crime [illegible] of Mr. [illegible] tore the [illegible] hearing held in the [illegible] by the judiciary [illegible] senate galleries [illegible] with interested [illegible] Senator Green, who is [illegible] a terror toward the [illegible] was one of the [illegible]

Two capital punishment bills have been [illegible] in the senate, but are held up in committee while the entire party awaited the outcome of the fight in the house over the Armstrong capital punishment bill, made a special order for Thursday afternoon.

Whether the arguments pro and con of Wednesday changed any legislative opinion is doubtful.

Thursday afternoon in the house there was less fervid oratory, but plenty. A large number of the members made short talks on the Armstrong bill. Here again floor and galleries were packed. Not a single motion went by default. A vote was demanded and had on every proposition or amendment.

After the oratory subsided and the vote on the Armstrong bill was taken, it was carried by a vote of 61 to 35, and now goes to the senate for its approval, amendment or rejection.

The bill provides for death by electrocution, if death be the verdict of the jury, and Jackson prison is designated as the place of execution.

Members who voted for the bill were Armstrong, Brady, Brake, Brown, Bulge, Callahan, Cameron, Joseph L. Campbell, Wm. B. Campbell, Claney, Deboer, Ate Dykstra, Emerson, Espie, Farrand, Fuller, Gillett, Good, Goodwine, Green, Hall, Hamley, Harris, Hart, Hulett, Johnson, Langsford, Lawson, Look, McKinnon, Main, Martin, McEachron, McLain, P. J. Miller, Ming, D. F. Morrison, E. C. Morrison, Musson, Netting, Palmer, Raucholz, J. Herbert Read, Chas. H. Reed, Archie M. Reid, Richardson, Rorick, Sargent, Simpson, Skeels, Snow, Strauch, Teagan, Wm. J. Thomas, Turner, Walters, Wardell, Warner, Woodley, and Speaker Gardner—61

Those who voted against the bill: Bartlett, Birk, Birkholm, Black, Boyle, Bradley, Brainerd, Clement, Coleman, Cook, Cowan, Culver, Darin, Deshano, Farrier, Fitch, Haight, Hartman, Hartzog, Holland, Huff, Jahnke, McDonald, McNitt, Murphy, Odell, Osborn, Rose, Walter J. Thomas, Town, Trestrail, Upjohn, Wade, Watson, Wojcik—35.

Representative John Espie of Clinton, is credited with making the clearest and most convincing argument in favor of the bill. He was ably assisted by Chas. H. Reed, publisher of the Clio Messenger, who is one of the ablest speakers among the representatives.

Senator Arthur Wood's bill requiring party enrollment passed the senate and goes to the house. The bill requires party registration and will prevent members of one party voting in the primary of another

(Continued on page six.)

Poltical Announcement

I wish to announce to the voters of Charlevoix, that my name will appear on the ballot as a candidate for the office of City Treasurer, at the March 7, primary. I will greatly appreciate the support of my friends and all who believe that the interests of the city will be subserved by me in the event of my nomination and election. I believe my qualifications are such that will enable me to handle the work of this office in a satisfactory and business-like manner. If nominated and elected I will give my full time and attention to the duties of the office. Respectfully soliciting your support, I am sincerely [illegible]

(Adv. 8-2t.

CORRESPONDENCE

NORWOOD

George Lord is visiting relatives at Petoskey this week.

Mrs. Edd Jones of Charlevoix, visited Mrs. Dice last Wednesday.

Vanden Faenlac, fell while playing in the barn last Sunday and injured himself quite badly.

Mrs. Irving Lord visited her aunt and uncle, Mr. and Mrs. Pete Turkel, near Kewadin last week.

Mr. and Mrs. George Light and son, George Jr., accompanied by Miss Alice Siminow, spent Sunday in Charlevoix.

Mr. and Mrs. Jacob Ypma motored up from Grand Rapids last Thursday and visited at the Charles Greeley home until Monday.

The entertainment given by the L. A. S. last Friday night at the town hall was well attended and enjoyed by all present.

Mr. and Mrs. Dick Kirby and family, who have spent the winter months in Charlevoix, expect to move back to their home in Norwood this week.

Sam Alward, Jacob Ypma, Plenny Genett and Marion See, enjoyed fishing on Torch Lake last Sunday. Mr. Ypma bringing in a four pound trout.

Born, to Mr. and Mrs. Glen Brennen, February 21st, of East Chicago, Ind., a son, named Richard Charles. Mrs. Brennen will be remembered as Drucilla Richardson.

(Too late for last week.)

Mr. Cooling of Ellsworth, was in this locality last week buy live stock.

Mr. and Mrs. Ira Alward and family of Ellsworth visited Sam Alward Sunday.

Miss Rosa May Beery of Charlevoix, spent the week end with her parents.

Mr. and Mrs. Earl Ferrill of Eastport, spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Morris Henry.

Mr. and Mrs. Orion McKenzie and family, of Charlevoix, called on Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Santos Sunday.

George Lord spent the week end with his daughter, Mrs. Odor McKenzie and family of Charlevoix.

Mr. and Mrs. G. E. Beard of Petoskey, spent Saturday night and Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. I. L. Dice.

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Holecheck enjoyed a visit with Mr. and Mrs. Edd Gregory of Charlevoix last Tuesday.

Mrs. Hoag and Mr. Forrest of Petoskey visited Mr. and Mrs. [illegible] spent [illegible] with [illegible]

[illegible] Mrs. Ed Wilson [illegible]

Avoid Poorly Balanced Breakfasts

Start the day with Quaker Oats —food that "stands by" you.

If you feel tired, hungry, "fidgety," hours before lunch, don't jump to the conclusion of poor health. Thousands have unenergetic mornings because they start the day with wrong breakfasts.

To feel right, you must have a well-balanced, complete breakfast ration. At most other meals—lunch and dinner—you get it. But breakfast is a lagging meal, often badly chosen.

Thus Quaker Oats, containing 16% protein, food's great tissue builder, 68% carbohydrate, its great energy element, plus all important vitamines and the "bulk" that makes laxatives seldom needed, is the dietetic urge of the world today.

Don't deny yourself the natural stimulation the rich food offers you.

Get Quaker Oats today. Grocers have two kinds: Quick Quaker, which cooks in 2½ to 3 minutes, and Quaker Oats.

Quaker Oats

days were: The husband, Walter Mocher and daughter, Enid, accompanied by a friend, Mrs. Cornhopper, also Forrest and Clare VanDusen.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Chvatil of Charlevoix, and family, visited at the Holecheck home Sunday. While here Mr. Chvatil accompanied the children on the ice to skate, drawing them on a hand-sled, when he fell, cutting his ear. He was taken to a doctor, and will be confined to his home for a few days.

IRONTON

Mrs. Berry is on the sick list.

Mrs. Oscar Ward and Mrs. Lewis Brown called on Mrs. Berry Sunday.

Mr. Mattson and son of Charlevoix, called at the Berry home Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Peterson are very comfortably settled in their new home.

Junior Atchison had the misfortune of cutting his hand quite badly while playing at school Friday.

The Ladies' Aid will meet with Mrs. Paul Nason Thursday for an all day meeting and potluck dinner.

[illegible] had a fine time at the Ladies' Aid at Mrs. Peterson's. [illegible] were thirteen ladies present.

(Too late for last week.)

Mr. Mr. Jackson left for [illegible] Thursday.

We are glad to hear that Thomas Nadeau is improving.

Mrs. Cecil Berry spent the week end with her parents.

Miss Ethel Ward, who is working at Central Lake, spent the week end with her parents.

The Ladies' Aid will meets with Mrs. Peterson for an all day meeting and potluck dinner.

Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Smith of Charlevoix, called at Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Ward's home Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Lee Barnum and family, of Lake City, spent the week end at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Sam Alexander.

Mr. and Mrs. Bernie Ward, Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Krulik and Mr. and Mrs. Mark Saunders, spent Sunday with their parents.

BENTLEY HILL

Seems good to see crows in February.

Oscar DeGroot helped G. Rubingh butcher last week.

Tena Drenth visited at the home of J. Hocksema this week.

H. J. Timmer has been in this vicinity contracting pickles.

Bert DeGroot was a business caller in Central Lake last week.

George Koster of Grand Rapids, is doing some carpenter work for his parents.

Dr. Duffie was called to the DeMoulpied home, Mr. DeMoulpied being sick.

Mrs. Duston was a visitor at the home home of her parents at Pleasant Hill.

CLARION

C. E. Geyer is confined to his home by illness.

Mrs. Gladys Everts is in Charlevoix this week, attending court as juror.

Dan Mareau was stricken suddenly ill on Sunday evening, and taken to the hospital at Petoskey for treatment.

A party of friends and neighbors gave D. B. Hinkley a pleasant surprise on Saturday, when they came with well filled baskets and served a fine pot luck supper, in honor of his birthday.

New line stamped bed spreads, pillow cases, luncheon sets, towels, boudoir pillow, etc., at Holley Gift Shop.—Adv. 7-tf.

BARNARD

Zero weather at present writing.

Miss Jessie Cork spent Sunday at home.

Mrs. Burns has been quite ill, but is better at present.

Most of our pupils are back in school after the epidemic of hard colds.

Michael Garber is preparing to move to his own farm in the near future.

Another progressive pedro party was given at the Grange hall on Saturday evening, which it goes without saying was enjoyed by all.

The community meeting held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. James Hlock last Tuesday evening was attended by a large crowd. A program was rendered, games were played and supper served all of which made up a very enjoyable evening.

MOUNTAIN DISTRICT

Clare Staley won the February prize in the Arithmetic contest.

Elva Gould is absent from school today.

The snow plow went thru this way Tuesday and again today, we surely appreciate it.

Oswald Hosegood's smile, is due to the nice trout he speared last Saturday. His first real thrill.

Harold Towsley left today for Charlevoix, after spending a couple of weeks with Clare Staley.

Oswald Hosegood is the honor student in February tests, receiving 90 or above in five subjects.

Mrs. Case and daughter, Esther, spent the week end with their cousin, Mrs. Simpson of Boyne City.

Our teacher gives red stars for tardiness and bad behavior. So far Oswald Hosegood has a clean record.

Little Margery Scott started to school again Tuesday, after being absent six weeks with whooping cough.

Esther Case will soon be able to go back to school. Her eye is doing nicely, but still has to be kept bandaged.

Arthur Staley of Charlevoix, came up and fished a week on the bar and also did the chores for his brother, Ernest.

Annie and Jim Wilson had a fish supper with the Bert Staley family on Thursday evening. Jim furnished the fine pumpkin and everybody surely enjoyed it.

Lort and Ernest Staley returned home Saturday evening, after spending a week in Grand Rapids purchasing stock for the Staley Bros.' Hardware in Charlevoix.

Mrs. Case gave a party Wednesday afternoon in honor of Oswald Hosegood's birthday. The mothers were invited to help enjoy the fun. The children had a marshmallow roast and afterwards refreshments were served. The birthday cake was decorated with thirteen candles. A happy day for Oswald.

MURRAY SCHOOL

Maxine Wintland visited school Wednesday.

Many pretty birds are being attracted to the class house by hanging a piece of suet on the outside of the window.

Washington's birthday was observed by decorating the boards with his picture, hatchets and cherries. Everyone had a quotation which was [illegible] from Mary Gallagher as motto [illegible] observed in the entire.

[illegible] M. E. musical concert was [illegible] Those pronounced features of the [illegible] unusual ability of Karen Peterson, Ellen A. Peterson, Mary [illegible] Marjorie and Marie Williams, Charles and Peg Shier should be [illegible] they sing [illegible]

To the Electors of Eveline Township
Vote for
"Bill" Sanderson
9t1 --Committee

Mothers Treat Colds The New "Direct" Way

No Longer Necessary to "Dose" Children With Internal Medicines to Break Colds.

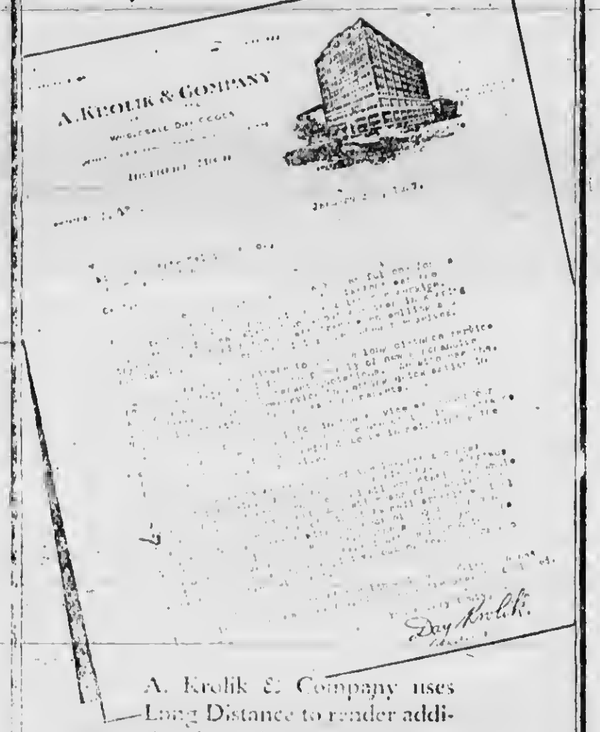
Children [illegible] set to [illegible] Vapo[illegible] [illegible] stomach. [illegible] croup, [illegible] or any other cold trouble, [illegible] freely. There is nothing to [illegible] you just "rub it on."

VICKS VAPORUB

OVER 21 MILLION JARS [illegible]

MICHIGAN BELL TELEPHONE CO.

Long Distance Brings Buyers to Pre-Inventory Sale



A. Krolik & Company uses Long Distance to render additional service to customers.

LET THE COURIER PRINT YOUR SALE BILLS

Nature's Remedy (NR Tablets) relieves: Sick Headaches, Auto-Intoxication, Constipation, Biliousness.

NR TO-NIGHT
TOMORROW ALRIGHT

SOLD BY YOUR DRUGGIST
CENTRAL DRUG STORE

An Amazing Success

Feen-a-mint

The Chewing LAXATIVE

Chew It Like Chewing Gum

A pleasure to use. Very efficient. Children love it. No taste but that of sweet mint. The most popular laxative because it's a "satisfier." 15c and 25c.

VALET AutoStrop Razor

sharpens itself

FLIT

DESTROYS

Moths, Roaches
Bedbugs, Flies
Other Household Insects

LET US SOLVE YOUR TIRE PROBLEMS

Our answer will be—equip your car with Goodyears. You will get longer mileage and more trouble free service from them than any tire we have ever handled. They are preferred, and bought, by more car owners than any other kind because of their quality and dependability. This season the Goodyear have brought out a new type—a better tire than ever made before. And the spring sales have opened with BIG PRICE REDUCTIONS. Watch for our Goodyear tire announcements and prices each week from now on.

BENJAMIN BROWN

ALABASTER LAMPS

By Margaret Turnbull.

(Chapter seven continued)

Ned had the fire on in record time. As he stooped to gather up his tools, Mary stepped off the planks to gather some flowers at the edge of the pool. Ned thought he heard a faint cry. It was such a tiny, baffled sound it at first he didn't think it important and could have gone about his business if he had not seen that Mary was no longer there. Nor was she anywhere in sight.

He ran at a tree-choked gate of pool such a spill as he had never encountered in all his universe of toys.

[illegible]

Ned put her down and laughed. "You ought to see what you look like. You look exactly like a wet kitten," he told her as he felt in his pocket for a handkerchief.

Gravely, Ned divided the handkerchief [illegible] Mary [illegible]

"Gee," Ned [illegible]

"I hate to blast your hopes, but I [illegible]

Ned looked at Claude and gasped. He leaned toward him and said: "They're the same color as Miss Johnston's."

Claude Melnotte Dabbs rose, his lips compressed. "Ned, you've had a hard day and I've come darn near losing you, so nothing on earth will make me pick a fight now. But if you want to do me the greatest favor—take a nap, and wake up able to say one single sentence straight through without dragging that girl's eyes in."

He left the room abruptly. "All the same," Ned told himself as he reached for a book, "their eyes are very much alike."

Mary Johnston slept the sleep of exhausted youth, and woke refreshed. To find her mother sitting at her bedside.

"Why, Mummy," Mary stretched out a slim, warm hand to her mother, "have you been worrying about me?"

Mrs. Johnston stooped and kissed her. "You are all I have in the world, so you're rather precious to me. You're not to get up. I've had my dinner, and yours is on the tray ready to bring up."

"Mother!" Mary lay still and wondered. "You get a dinner! Why I never even dreamed you knew how!"

"There's lots of undiscovered country about mother, though you've known her all your life, Mary. You'll find it out some day."

Mary finished her dinner and when she relinquished the tray said: "Mother, couldn't we sort over the jewelry tonight?"

Mrs. Johnston agreed and went from [illegible] with the tray. Mary lay back on the pillows and contemplated the ceiling, a little frown between her brows. If it was not having to sell the jewelry and being poor, what was it that was worrying mother? Surely she was not worrying about this—this Mr. Dabbs?

At the same moment Claude Dabbs, still at his desk, also frowning, looked up from his writing as Ned came into the room.

"C. M., aren't you rather jumping at conclusions? 'Johnston' is far from being an uncommon name, and 'Mary,' with 'Polly' for short, is far from being uncommon either; therefore the combination really tells you nothing." Claude nodded. "I told myself that [illegible]

"All the same," Ned continued reluctantly, "I will tell you something I've noticed about Mrs. Johnston. She has a little black mole on the lobe of her ear. Rather fetching, like the dark stone of an earring. And behind the same ear she has a single lock of pure white hair."

"A bit like a thumb-mark and just behind the ear?"

"Yes."

Claude rose, excitedly, then sat down suddenly. "Polly—or I'm a Dutchman! Do you suppose she's got her suspicions about me, and came here to verify 'em?" demanded Claude.

"Never heard her mention your name," Ned declared. "Certainly never asked me any questions."

"All the same, I don't like the way things look," Claude said doggedly. "There's something behind it. I'm going to be on the safe side."

Ned looked at him curiously, and a little uncomfortably. What safe side could there be for a man in C. M.'s position, if his utterly absurd deduction that lovely Mrs. Johnston was his "Polly" had any foundation in fact.

"I'm going to send her back the money," declared Dabbs. "Going to send her back her cursed five hundred and feel that my soul's my own. I scraped and saved that money the first year I was clear of debt, and I've held it all this time just for—just for this chance."

He opened a small drawer in his desk, and reached for a roll of bills with a rubber band about them, wrote a few words on a sheet of paper, sealed it with the money in an envelope, directed it, then went to the store door.

Although the store was closed and shuttered, there was a light in its dim recesses. Young John Slater, an assistant, was there.

"John," called Claude, take this letter up to the White House. You can take the car. I don't care how late you come back, if there's no answer."

Young John granted assent and disappeared with the note, whistling at the thought of having the car to himself as late as he wished.

On Mary's bed lay two empty jewel cases. Mary sat propped up against the pillows and her mother sat at the foot of the bed. Between them was a heap of glittering things. If Mary said: "Rather that old ring. You don't want to keep that," her mother would say: "Mary, you gave me that ring when you were only twelve. How can I part with it?"

In the middle of an animated discussion about an old jade bracelet, the doorbell rang. Mrs. Johnston, after waiting for some one to answer it, suddenly realized that she was the only some one available, and went down stairs.

Young John Slater stood waiting impatiently. "Mr. Dabbs he asked me to give this note into your hands and if they was [illegible] answer [illegible]

Mrs. Johnston managed to indicate that he might wait in the hall, and went swiftly into the library, shut the door and held the letter as though it was a deadly explosive. Presently she opened the letter. Five one hundred dollar bills fell out. Mrs. Johnston picked them up, together with the note which had been folded around the bills. The note began without preamble.

"If you are the Polly Johnston who married me in New Brunswick, some twenty years ago, you will know why I am returning the money. I have felt worse than the devil about it for more years than I like to remember. For God's sake don't refuse me the chance to get financially straight. I won't intrude otherwise, without your permission. If you are not my Polly Johnston, send it back and ever—

"Claude Dabbs."

Polly Johnston gave a low whistle. "It's a godsend," she said aloud as she put the money in her desk. She threw the note on the fire, watched it burn and went into the hall.

"Tell Mr. Dabbs there is no answer."

Young John went out into the night and Mrs. Johnston went up to Mary, arranging her story as she climbed the stairs.

Mary, fingering the jewels, yawned a little. She idly planned several beginnings for the next chapter of her life in Clover Hollow. They were all different, yet each began with the morning's interview with the grocer's clerk. She thought this was odd, but concluded that poverty and the country were narrowing her horizon. She looked up as her mother entered the room.

With a sudden movement of her hand, Mrs. Johnston swept the "for sale" jewels into the box.

"We won't have to bother with them yet awhile. I've had a telegram from New York. We're to go there and negotiate a loan on the land. I want you with me, of course. I couldn't leave you here alone. We'll have to take the first train tomorrow. It's the 9:30, I think. Will you be feeling up to that, Mary-girl?"

"I feel perfectly all right, Mother. It's only a bit sudden, and I can never care about the city in this weather. But I'll be ready."

"We'll stop on our way to the station and get Mrs. Pulsifer to come and look after the house. Good night, dear, and if you dream of drowning, just call Mother."

Mary looked at her mother, standing in the doorway and ready to snap the light out.

"Lovely old things," she called. "Go and get your own beauty sleep. I'll have pleasant dreams."

When the darkness enfolded her, however, she made a distinctly wry face. How much she wondered, was she a business necessity in this contemplated trip to New York, and how much was it her mother's pleasure [illegible]

(Continued on page 7)

His Coat Was Off and He Was in the Pool.

her hand and tried to hurry her to the farmhouse. Though it looked deserted, Ned thought he could see signs of life. Mary was so hampered by her wet garments, which were plastered to her with mud, that he picked her up in his arms, refusing to listen to her protest. After the initial request to be put down, Mary simply let her head rest on his shoulder and shook with cold.

At least that was Ned's belief until he looked down at her face. She was quivering with laughter.

"I can't help it," she gasped. "I'm grateful for your saving my life, and all that, but I can think of nothing but how much I want to wipe your face. It's—it's so streaky!"

Are You "Toxic?"

It Is Well, Then, to Learn the Importance of Good Elimination.

FUNCTIONAL inactivity of the kidneys permits a retention of waste poisons in the blood. Symptoms of this toxic condition are a dull, languid feeling, drowsy headaches and, sometimes, toxic backache and dizziness. That the kidneys are not functioning as they should is often shown by scanty or burning passage of secretions. Many readers have learned the value of Doan's Pills, stimulant diuretic to the kidneys, in this condition. Users everywhere endorse Doan's. Ask your neighbor!

DOAN'S PILLS 60c

Stimulant Diuretic to the Kidneys

Foster-Milburn Co., Mfg. Chemists, Buffalo, N. Y.

her wet garments. Instantly she eliminated from her world everything but Mary, until she had her in her arms and was convinced that she was safe and sound.

Then, and only then did she include Ned in her gaze, and for a moment Ned wished he were invisible. The mother's eyes were like those of a tigress who has recovered her cub and sights the hunter who tried to take it away. They softened, almost instantly, when Mary told her all she owed to Mr. Carter.

The tigress disappeared utterly as Mrs. Johnston hurried Mary into the house, with instructions as to a hot bath and bed. Then she turned to Ned and ordered him home as fast as he could go. He might come tomorrow.

She held out her hand and thanked him gratefully and sincerely, and yet dismissed him hard into the shades of the grocery slap from which he came.

Ned drove away with no thought of bitterness in his heart. Mrs. Johnston was absolutely within her rights. Mary was a precious possession. Besides, though Ned felt [illegible] to formulate this thought to himself, it made the game so much more exciting to have opposition. An implacable mother was also [illegible] as a rival.

This latter thought brought Ned up with a sharp start. It dawned upon him that he was dreaming wildly, with very little foundation for his dreams. He knew [illegible]

[illegible]

[illegible]

[

William Charles Palmer

Republican candidate for
Commissioner of Schools

Faithful service, downright honesty, and strict economy are my policy. When I spend a dollar I want to be able to point to a dollar's worth of value received. Let's do our duty at the polls, as citizens, next Monday, March 7.

Yours for all that is highest and best,

WM. C. PALMER

The CHARLEVOIX COURIER
Issued every Wednesday at
CHARLEVOIX . MICHIGAN

DuBois & Usher, Publishers
A. J. Usher, Editor and Business Mgr.
Courier Building Van Pelt Place

Entered at the Post Office in Charlevoix, Mich., as second class matter.

Member Michigan Press Ass'n.

Advertising Rates

For advertising rates apply for schedule.

Notices of church or lodge socials and entertainments, where admission is charged, regular rates.

Obituary poetry, regular rates.

Card of Thanks, 25 cents.

TERMS OF SUBSCRIPTION

One copy, one year $2.00
One Copy, six months $1.00
One Copy, three months .....$ .60

THE DANGER OF COMMUNISM

It is nearly one hundred and forty years since the Constitutional Convention met in Philadelphia which was to lay the foundation for the greatest nation in the world. This is a statement of fact which cannot be contradicted. The essential problem before the convention was to guarantee liberty while imposing absolute self-restraint; to make possible the rule of the majority and the protection of the rights of the minority. There was nothing in history except in the ancient Republics, which had any direct bearing on the problem, to guide the fathers of the constitution. The result was a rigid constitution, capable of interpretation in terms of the liberty of the individual and the protection of his rights, and for one hundred and forty years we have acted as a nation with no suggestions that we have reached the zenith of our progress. The day is here, however, when a vigorous and even violent effort is being made to destroy the foundation upon which this liberty is built. We have referred heretofore to the indifference to the menace of willowy politicians who lean with the breath of communism and comport themselves according to their idea of the political trend in the United States. It is true that they often mistake a puff of wind for a gale, a small cloud for a potential storm. Nevertheless, they themselves are dangerous and it behooves the people of this country to take cognizance of the communistic allies in high political position and the so-called conservative newspapers tainted with communistic principles.

AN ASSET

From purely selfish motives one cannot afford to violate confidence or treat credit with indifference. Society rests on a foundation of good faith. If one could not depend on another to do what he had pledged himself to do, he would soon find himself in a whirlpool of suspicion and distrust. If a man says he will meet a responsibility or obligation, and fails to do so, he does himself serious injury. If he allows his word to be impeached or his credit to be impaired, he forfeits confidence and stands out an exception to the rule among men. Most people are honest. Not only are they on the square, but by prompt fulfillment of promises or agreements they jealously guard that reputation in order to avoid possible suspicion. Integrity threads the social and business fabric of this country, and they who prove false to trust constitute an unhappy, struggling minority.

LOBBYING

Nebraska has a lobbyist law, such as is proposed for Michigan. In that state lobbyists are required to record their names with the secretary of state, at the same time announcing the particular piece of legislation they intend discussing with members of the legislature. According to the secretary of state of Nebraska there are fully 100 lobbyists attending the present session of the legislature at Lincoln, fully sixty per cent of whom have signed the lobby register as required by law. The classes they represent cover about every human activity. They include the different railroad brotherhoods, insurance, banking, telephone industry, oil men of different classes, electric companies operating power plants and selling juice in its various forms, labor unions, manufacturers, barbers, publishers, school teachers, plumbers, fish and game, building trades, hairdressers, beauty shops, good roads, league of women voters, motor vehicles, lawyers, doctors of many kinds, clay products, and so on. One man said he was lobbying for the common people, if you know what that means. Such a law, it is predicted, will work no hardship for those interested in beneficial legislation for Michigan, whose proponents would have no compunction in stating their desires before legislative committees. At the same time it is hard to see exactly where such a measure would curb the activities of those who choose to do their lobbying in hotel rooms and other places far removed from the scenes of legislative activities.

TOURIST TRADE

In a few short months, almost weeks, the tourist will be rolling over the improved highways of Michigan, gathering evenings in hotels, rooming house and camps. They will come in increasing numbers this years due to the efforts that are being made to induce people from outside states to visit this paradise for the visitor during the summer season. It is not too early to begin planning for their reception. We cannot very well invite them here and not treat them with genuine cordiality after they arrive if we expect them to come year after year. We know that the tourist properly treated is a source of wealth to the state. We should provide adequate camping sites, easily available to business districts, and should show them we have a genuine interest in their welfare and comfort. The aggregate expenditures of automobile tourist for a yearly total much larger than one would ordinarily guess. At Mitchell, South Dakota, an accurate check was kept last year on every tourist visiting that city and afterwards it was found that for every car parked in the tourist camp in that city an average of $8.54 was spent. If this amount 20 per cent went to the filling stations, the balance going to the business places of the city. Almost every community in Michigan has some spot that could be easily converted into an admirable camp site. More camp sites will mean more visitors and more visitors will mean more money spent in the state during the tourist season.

TIME FOR ACTION

The European corn borer is threatening the loss of Michigan's corn crop. The most feared pest of modern times made its first appearance in a small spot in the southeastern part of the state two or three years ago. Despite the most rigid quarantine, with highways guarded my patrols, it is spreading into new territory and now the whole of the lower half of the state stands to be ravaged. State and national forces are being mobilized for the coming battle. Unchecked the monster is capable of destroying an entire crop. The adult form of the corn borer is a moth. It can wing its way in a few hours over dozens of fields, and when air conditions are right has traveled in a direct line a distance of 150 miles. The borer was first found in Massachusetts in 1917. It is now covers a territory of approximately 100,000 square miles; 18,000 squnre miles were added in 1925, according to the United States Department of Agriculture. A few days ago congress appropriated $10,000,000 to help carry on the fight. Every county in Michigan should begin training men to take up the work of battle when the time for their assistance arrives. The borer hides itself inside the stalk and ear, where it cannot be reached by insecticide dust or sprays. Men must be trained to conduct a scientific war if extermination, novices can have no place on the battle lines.

Now is the time for action.

PLANT MORE SPRUCE TREES

The spruce is one of the most beautiful trees to be found in America. Winter or summer its graceful boughs are covered with deep green needles. The spruce grows straight and tall and it is seldom that you will find a gnarled or unsightly member of its family. Besides being a beautiful adornment to any landscape, the spruce also is extremely valuable for a number of uses if planted in the proper place.

Spruce trees planted along highways and railroads at strategic points make splendid snow fences as well as beautify the right-of-way. For the farm they provide a splendid windbreak for buildings during the winter as well as shelter for farm animals during the late fall months. Spruce grows fast, is hardy and need little attention.

A few years from now spruce trees will be extremely valuable, not only for pulpwood, but also for logs, and the man who has large merchantable spruce for sale will be fortunate.

LARGEST TAXPAYERS

The Boston News Bureau recently published a graph which showed that out of every $100 of gross revenue earned by industry, mining, agriculture, banks and public utilities, including railroads, in 1925, the following taxes were paid:

Manufacturers, 94 cents; mining, $2.41; agriculture, $2.50; banks, $3.58; public utilities, including railroads, $4.53.

These figures do not include federal income and profit taxes. The figures indicate that public utilities, including railroads, paid in taxes $3.59 more of each $100 gross revenue than manufacturing, $2.12 more than mining, $2.03 more than agriculture, and 95 cents more than banking.

John L. the 2nd, will appear for the first time before a Charlevoix audience at the Legion Boxing Contest next Monday night, Hooker's Garage, 8:30—Adv. 9t1pd.

THE PUBLIC RESPONSIBILITY

There is more reason at present for confidence that the railroad problems of the United States will be solved in a manner beneficial to the public, the employes and investors in railway securities than there has been within the last 20 years.

The progress made is due mainly to a better understanding of the railroads on the part of the public, and the future of the railways is in their hands.

Legion Boxing Contest, Hooker's Garage, next Monday. See the fun. —Adv., 9t1 pd.

WITHOUT APOLOGIES

We all have our pet peeve. We have one. We like to see a collector lay his bill on the counter without apologies and ask for his money—why shouldn't he? He has earned his money and accommodated me by charging it for my convenience. Our pet peeve is the fellow who hides our bill in his pocket and introduces his mission by asking how much he owes when he owes nothing—sort of slips up on your blind side and tries to sugar-coat the quinine.

One fact stands out in bold relief in the history of men's attempts for betterment. That is when compulsion is used, only resentment is aroused, and the end is not gained. Only thru moral suasion and appeal to men's reason can a movement succeed.—Samuel Gompers.

Coming March 7.

Dr. Leahy, the Optometrist, will be at the Hotel Charlevoix, Monday, March 7. Curing headache a specialty.—Adv. 9t1.

AGED PIONEER DIED LAST WEEK TUESDAY

Henry Nowland Was One of County's Few Civil War Vets

Henry Nowland passed away at the home of his daughter, Mrs. Earl Clark, in this city, Tuesday night, February 22nd, from the effects of a paralytic stroke received some ten days previous.

Mr. Nowland was born at New Boston, Wayne county, Mich., November 18th, 1844.

Mr. Nowland was among the few surviving veterans of the Civil War. At the opening of the war, he served his country for 18 months in the U. S. Cavalry, and was then transferred to Co. D. 24th Michigan Infantry—known as the Iron Brigade—and served during the duration of the war. He was mustered out at Springfield. While assigned guard-duty in Washington he saw President Lincoln many times. At the termination of the war, he guarded Confederate prisinoers for some three months.

Mr. Nowland came to Northern Michigan in 1868, and in 1872 took up a homestead. He was united in marriage to Kate Johnson, Oct. 23, 1873. Mrs. Nowland died in 1886. Deceased is survived by one son and one daughter—John Nowland of Detroit, and Mrs. Earl Clark of this city.

Funeral services were held at the home, Thursday afternoon, conducted by Rev. V. J. Hufton, pastor of the Methodist church. Interment at the Charlevoix cemetery.—Charlevoix County Herald.

The free-for-all battle royal at the Legion Boxing Contest next Monday night will be the funniest mix-up you ever witnessed. Admission free.—Adv. 9t1pd

Subscriptions taken for all magazines at Holley Gift Shop.—Adv.7t3.

ST. MARY'S CHURCH

Rev. Fr. Odelo, Pastor.

Sunday services 8:00 a. m. and 10:00 a. m.

Services Monday and Tuesday, 8:00 a. m.

Services Saturday 7:00 a. m.

Ladies' Altar Society meets Thursday afternoons.

ADVANCE SHOWING

Of the New Spring Coats for Ladies and Misses.
Step in and look them over before the choice ones are gone.

Prices are very reasonable

$15 to $50

M. A. Levinson & Co.

LEGION
Boxing Contest

Sponsored by Leslie T. Shapton Post
No. 226, of Charlevoix
---AT---
HOOKER'S GARAGE

Monday Evening, March 7
Commencing at 8:30 p. m.

Five or Six 3-Round Bouts Between Local Fistic Experts

Final exhibition a free-for-all battle royal between all contestants and others who desire to enter, with a prize for the winner.

Admission Free - Come Prepared for the Collection

METHODIST CHURCH

Next Sunday—"A Man of Sorrows"—sermon at ten-thirty. The Sacrament of the Lord's Supper will be served at this hour. All who desire may participate in the sacrament.

"Holy Night"—sermon at seven o'clock. The feature of unusual interest will be a pantomimic reproduction of "Cotter's Saturday Night." Bobby Burns never said truer things than in this great protestant poem of democracy. It breathes the spirit of Christian liberty, based on right principles.

Sunday school at twelve o'clock.

Junior church mets at ten-thirty and will be accorded a welcome place in the adult service. A message from the pastor will be part of their worship, and a folder of value will be given each Junior.

Christian Science Society

Sunday service 10:45 a. m.
Subject: "Man."
Sunday school at 12 o'clock.
Wednesday evening service 7:45.
Reading room open Tuesday and Saturday, 3 to 5 p. m.

The public is cordially invited to attend our service.

Our New Tostwich equipment has arrived and we ask you to kindly call and get acquainted with a

TOSTWICH
"THE TEST IS IN THE TASTE"

THE SUGAR BOWL
218 Bridge Street Geo. Glados, Prop.

Zonite
For Cuts and Wounds
Prevent infection! Treat every cut, wound or scratch with this powerful non-poisonous antiseptic. Zonite actually kills germs. Helps to heal, too.

Since 1857
Eagle Brand has raised more healthy babies than all other infant foods combined.
Borden's
EAGLE BRAND
CONDENSED MILK

THE OLDEST BANK IN CHARLEVOIX COUNTY
FORTY-THIRD YEAR IN BUSINESS

1884 1927

It's Appreciated

Whether you start your account with a small or a large amount your business is appreciated here. The man behind the window who handles your transactions—the officer with whom you discuss some business or financial problem, will, you will find, take an interest in your affairs, in a way that conserves your time and in a manner that suggests our appreciation of your patronage.

Charlevoix County Bank

CHARLEVOIX, MICHIGAN

Bridge & Company

THE BANK ON THE CORNER

LOCAL NEWS BRIEFLY TOLD

Get the Habit—Read the Courier

COMMUNITY CALENDAR
Coming Events

March 7. Legion Boxing Contest, Hooker's garage, 8:30 p. m.

March 10. Last number Lyceum Course, Palace Theater.

March 15. W. C. T. U. meeting with Mrs. M. B. Hooker.

March 17. Catholic Ladies' supper.

March 18. Program by school music department, Palace Theater, 8:00 p. m.

March 23. Parent-Teacher Association meeting, high school, usual hour.

March 25. Spring vacation of public schools begins.

March 29. W. C. T. U. honorary members banquet.

April 8. M. E. Ladies' Aid supper.

April 10-17. Holy Week services at First Methodist church.

April 17. Easter Cantata. Baptist church, 4 p. m.

April 17. Easter Sunday.

Dr. W. H. Parks of Petoskey, was a Charlevoix visitor last Sunday.

William Wallace, Jr., made a business trip to Petoskey Tuesday afternoon.

Mrs. Grover Genett is in Charlevoix hospital this week for medical treatment.

Mrs. Lee Allard spent Thursday and Friday of last week in Manistee visiting friends.

E. A. Ruegsegger of Boyne City, was a business visitor at the court house this week.

Mrs. Thomas LaLonde of Detroit, is in the city this week attending to business matters.

Jerome Cole of Boyne City, was a Charlevoix business visitor on Monday of this week.

Oscar P. Nels left Wednesday morning for Grand Rapids on a few day's business trip.

Alfred Brown of Petoskey, was a Charlevoix business visitor last Thursday afternoon.

E. N. Clink of East Jordan, was a business visitor at the court house the first of this week.

R. F. Sloan returned to Muskegon, Sunday, after spending a few days here last week on business.

Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Robinson of Boyne City, visited Charlevoix friends and relatives Tuesday.

Mrs. Jennie Stahulak of Kewadin, had a goiter removed at the Charlevoix hospital last Wednesday.

Leon Miller, Petoskey attorney, was in the city the first of this week on business at the court house.

Campbell Shaw returned Saturday from Detroit, where he has been employed for the last month or more.

The Literary and Sewing Club will meet with Mrs. Fred Trimble on Thursday afternoon of this week.

Henry Fike of Boyne Falls, deputy game warden for Charlevoix county, was in the city Tuesday on business.

Mrs. Henry Isaaksen and son, Harold, both had their tonsils removed at the Charlevoix hospital Sunday.

Dalton Gay of East Jordan, is spending the week with Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Usher while serving on the jury.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Gregory returned last Saturday from Flint, where they have been spending the winter.

The Pythian Sisters held a very successful and enjoyable bridge party at their hall last Thursday afternoon.

Mrs. H. K. Allen left Saturday for Muskegon, where she will visit for a week at the home of Mr. and Mrs. C. V. Miles.

Miss Mary Finucan returned home Sunday from an extended visit with relatives in New York state and other eastern points.

Miss Helen Mason arrived Monday afternoon from Sarasota Florida, called here by the death of her father, Albert E. Mason.

Mr. and Mrs. George Cheney of St. Louis, Missouri, arrived in town the latter part of last week to spend a short time visiting relatives.

Fred Cartier and daughter, Betty Jean, returned Saturday from Grand Rapids, where they had been visiting Dr. Clair Cartier for a few days.

The Charlevoix Coal & Ice company is making numerous changes in the arrangement of their offices on Bridge street this week.

Henry Block and Herbert Wakefield left Monday morning for Flint, to drive back two new Chevrolet cars for the Block & Simmons agency.

Mrs. Laura Zipp arrived in the city Tuesday from Detroit, accompanying the body of her aunt, Mrs. Harrison Berdan, here for burial.

Don't forget Charlevoix high school's basketball game at East Jordan Friday night. A large delegation will follow the team to East Jordan.

The next meeting of the Parent-Teachers association will be on Wednesday, March 23. Mrs. Raymond, state president, will address the meeting.

Charlevoix county's delegation which left Monday to attend the state Republican convention at Grand Rapids, included Judge J. M. Harris, E. N. Clink, Charles Novak, W. J. Gallagher and H. C. Myers. All sections of the county were represented in this list.

Mr. and Mrs. Philo Campbell spent from last Friday until Monday in Alpena with Mr. Campbell's mother, Mrs. Ben Campbell, who has been quite ill.

Mrs. Archie Livingston entertained a party of thirty-six friends at the Livingston Pine Point cottage in honor of her husband's birthday anniversary last Sunday.

Leslie Shapton Post No. 226, American Legion will put on a program of boxing matches at Hooker's garage Monday evening. Everyone interested is invited to come.

Mr. and Mrs. Swain Smith and daughters, Leona and Cleora, returned Tuesday from Florida, where they have been spending the winter months. They made the trip by auto.

Quite a number of local Knights of Pythias have signified their intention of attending a joint meeting of the East Jordan and Charlevoix lodges of this order at East Jordan Wednesday evening.

The Charlevoix high school seniors presented their annual class play, "It Pays to Advertise," to a full house Tuesday evening. The unanimous opinion is that all those who were not there missed a great treat.

Block & Simmons, local Oakland, Pontiac and Chevrolet dealers, report the following car sales for the last week: Matthew Routley, Chevrolet Coach; Neil Barry, Central Lake, Pontiac Landau Sedan.

Up until the time we go to press one jury case has been tried at this term of court, that of the People vs. Reynold Perket, charged with desertion. He was found guilty. Several divorce decrees have also been granted.

Group No. 3 of the W. C. T. U. will meet with Mrs. Hooker, Friday, March 4, at 2:30 o'clock. All members and voters interested requested to attend. A program will be presented which will appeal to all those interested in the election and other public measures.

Horace B. Hipp, one of the officers and boosters of the Charlevoix county fair, died some days ago at his home in East Jordan. He had been a county road commissioner, supervisor and was a member of the Masons at East Jordan. Mr. Hipp was very well known to Charlevoix people.

Henry Fike, our new deputy game warden, will prove very popular with every true sportsman of the county, but probably not so much so with violators. His first act as a conservation officer was to drop into Charlevoix Tuesday and pick up a local man for having a spear in his shanty after closed season.

Tom L. Belding will broadcast a program of old-time violin music from the Perry Hotel, Petoskey, through station WBBP, sometime between 6:15 and 7:00 p. m., Friday, March 4th. Charlevoix radio fans will undoubtedly be interested in hearing Mr. Belding, who on many former occasions, has pleased northern Michigan radio fans.

LEGION TO PUT ON BOXING CONTEST

Battle Royal Will Be the Big Event of Evening

Leslie T. Shapton Post No. 226, American Legion, will stage an entertainment at Hooker's Garage next Monday evening, of unusual character, in which local fistic experts will be in the lime-light for several 3-round bouts.

Boxing contests, in our opinion, are about the cleanest in the line of athletic stunts that can be staged. Especially so when those taking part are local boys, who, as a rule, enter in the contest with all there is in them.

On Monday night the Legion boys will stage five or six 3-round bouts between local boys, winding up the program with a free-for-all battle royal, in which all contestants in prior events and others who care to will take part in.

No admission will be charged, but a free-will collection will be taken to meet expenses incurred in putting on the event. The success of this event depends entirely on the interest taken by the public, and if successful, it will be followed up by similar events at intervals.

A number of our local boys have been in training for several weeks, and the evening will undoubtedly prove to be very entertaining.

BAPTIST CHURCH

Preaching service at 10:30 a. m. Theme of sermon: "Run Quickly."

Bible school at noon.

B. Y. P. U. at 6:00 p. m.

Preaching service at 7:00 p. m.

The stereopticon will be used to show pictures in the study of our Baptist mission work in our mid-week service on Thursday evening.

A cordial invitation to all.

Watch Tunney wallop Dempsey at the Legion Boxing Contest, Hooker's Garage, next Monday night, 8:30.—Adv. 9t1 pd.

CHARLEVOIX LOSES ESTIMABLE CITIZEN

Mrs. Harrison Berdan Laid to Rest Wednesday

Mrs. Harrison Berdan passed away February 27th at the home of Mrs. Arthur Zipp in Detroit. She was 73 years of age at the time of her death. The remains were brought to Charlevoix for interment.

Mary Moore was born at Harbor Springs, Michigan, August 7, 1854. A few years later she moved to Charlevoix and was united in marriage to Harrison Berdan, on November 6, 1893. At this time Mr. Berdan was postmaster at Charlevoix.

For the past several years Mrs. Berdan had been a semi-invalid and, although unable to be very active, was always interested in things pertaining to community betterment. Recently she had been spending the winters in Detroit and the summers in Charlevoix.

The deceased is survived by a brother, Charles Moore of Port Huron, Michigan.

In the passing of Mrs. Berdan, Charlevoix and its citizens deeply feel the loss of a friend and neighbor. Her noble character and sterling qualities were exemplified in her life and she passed, leaving with us the memory of a life well spent.

The funeral services were held at ten thirty Wednesday morning at the Campbell residence, 109 East Upright. The Rev. B. G. Mattson conducted the services. The remains were laid to rest in Brookside cemetery.

To the Electors of the City of Charlevoix

I am a candidate for office of City Treasurer, and would solicit your support, at the March primaries. If nominated I will do my utmost to merit your support.

Very truly,
John Cook

Adv. 8t2 pd

Card of Thanks

We wish to express our sincere appreciation to those who so kindly rendered assistance during our recent bereavement. Especially to the donors of the beautiful floral tokens, and for the many comforting words and acts of kindness. Wm. S. Gregory, Children and Relatives.—Adv. 9t1.

COURIER BARGAIN COLUMN.

Courier Want Advs. are One Cent per word per insertion. Minimum charge is 20 cents per insertion, for anything under 20 words. All Want Advs. are strictly cash in advance except to those who have ledger accounts. Please remember this when sending in your copy.

WANTED—MISCELLANEOUS

WANTED TO TRADE—A turkey gobbler or will buy another. Louis Shupton, Rt. 1, phone 7009f13. 9-t2.

WANTED—To buy a business proposition, or will invest capital with time. Address "J", care Courier. 4t5pd.

WANTED — Mackinaw boat hull, with or without sails or motor. Give dimensions, conditions and equipment and best cash price. J. F. Miller, 3475 Lycaste Ave., Detroit, Mich. 9t2.

WANTED—TO RENT

FOR RENT—On share basis, farm in Barnard district, near Charlevoix. Five cows on the farm. Write Wm. N. Lewis, care VonPlinten-Fox Co., Iron Mountain, Mich. 9t2.

FOR SALE—LIVE STOCK

FOR SALE—A farm team, weight 2400 pounds. Call or phone Russell Alward, Rt. 4, phone 7007F13, Charlevoix. 9t1.

FOR SALE—Red and white cow, freshened February 10th. Frank Hyek, phone 7000F4. 9t2.

FOR SALE—Thoroughbred Barred Rock Cock at half price. Also Cod Liver Oil at $1.25 per gallon. William Sanderson, East Jordan, Rt. 2, or Boyne Falls. 9t2.

FOR SALE—MISCELLANEOUS

FOR SALE — Sugar bush outfit, about 300 buckets and two sap pans. Inquire of Albert Balch, Charlevoix, Rt. 1, phone 7004F4. 9t2.

FOR RENT—HOUSE

FOR RENT—8-room house with basement furnace, bath, garage, hen house, park, garden, fruit. Possession May. Address B. P. Wilkinson, Bellaire.—7-tf.

HELP WANTED.

WANTED—Girl or woman for general housework. Good wages. Write Mrs. Bert Gingell, Atlanta, Mich., 8t2.

SALESMAN WANTED—For lubricating oils, greases and paints. Excellent opportunity. Salary or commission. The Jed Oil & Paint Co., Cleveland, Ohio. 9t1 pd.

WANTED — Men 18-35, Railway Mail Clerk positions. Big salary commence. Experience unnecessary. Write George Robbins, for free particulars about instruction for this examination. 365 Hurchell Bldg., Washington, D. C.—7-t8.

Food Brands We Recommend

We recommend the following brands of foods since we know by careful test and thorough investigation that they are exceptionally good.

Monarch Brand Coffee

Monarch Brand Teas

Monarch Brand Vegetables

Monarch Brand Fruits

Once a user of Monarch Brand products, you will buy no other.

Milton Block

1905 1927

FOR COMFORT

A savings account is a mighty comfortable possession. It is insurance against worry and trouble. It enables its owners to grasp the opportunity when it comes and helps him meet the coming years with a smile. It is a kind of guarantee of happiness. If you haven't a savings account, start one now. This bank will be glad to have it.

Charlevoix State Savings Bank

CHARLEVOIX, MICHIGAN

W. S. Richardson, President.
A. D. Crimmins, Vice President.
Archie Livingston, Cashier.
G. W. Richardson, Asst. Cashier.

Friday and Saturday Specials

Be Saving

Buy your table supplies where you can obtain the best values. If you are an economical housewife, you will make that dollar go as far as possible. Dealing with close buyers is a delight to us. And we usually sell them, because they recognize the values we offer them.

Grocery Department

No. 2½ can Peaches	15c
No. 2½ can Apricots	15c
1 lbs. bulk Cocoa	25c
2 dozen Oranges	55c
2 lbs. Prunes	25c

Meat Department

3 lbs. Liver Sausage	25c
2 lbs. Frankforts	35c
Bolonga, per lb.	15c
Sugar Cured Corned Beef, per lb.	20c

FARMERS! IF YOU HAVE BEEF, VEAL OR CHICKENS FOR SALE, COME IN AND SEE US.

MARTIN BLOCK

Opposite Post Office Phones 12 and 142

NEW PALACE THEATRE

ATTRACTIONS FOR THE COMING WEEK

Saturday and Sunday, March 5 and 6

Zane Grey's "FORLORN RIVER" with Jack Holt, Raymond Hatton; Arlette Marchal and Edmund Burns. A cyclonic Zane Grey thriller, produced amid the wild natural beauty of the western crags and canyons on the spectacular scale that has placed Paramount-Zane Grey pictures in a class by themselves among out-door classics of the screen. A Burn-'em-up action tale of the cattle country, it's renegades, and it's rustlers. Done in such a fashion as to make other so-called "westerns" seem slow motion pictures by comparison. Also a comedy "Hold Still."

Wednesday, March 9

"THE SCARLET SAINT" with Mary Astor and Lloyd Hughes. Big show! Big cast! Seusations! Surprises! Here it is the big surprise drama—the revelation of young womanhood which rebels against marriage that ties her to old age. A sensational expose of beautiful June shack—led to bleak December and the way out found through love and sacrifice. Also Felix the cat "Hunts the Hunter" and Fox News.

COMING—Corinne Griffith in "Infatuation."
COMING—Richard Dix in "The Quarterback."

IT PAYS TO PRESENT A NEAT APPEARANCE
HAVE YOUR HAIR CUT REGULARLY
—AT—
Denny's Bob and Beauty Shoppe
Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Sternberg
Props.

Brighten Your Home With Fresh Cut Flowers
—OR—
Blooming Plants
Flowers for all occasions
A. E. EDWARDS
FLORIST
We're as near as your telephone

BILL NOW UP TO THE SENATE

(Continued from page one.)

party. The senate later recalled the bill from the house.

Senator Peter Lenoon has introduced a bill providing for compulsory jail sentences for persons convicted of sale or transportation of liquor.

Senator Conrad M. Poulon has a bill providing sentences of from 5 to 10 years for throwing stench bombs and 10 to 25 years for throwing or planting an explosive bomb.

Bills aimed at more stringent laws against thieves and killers are popular and go through the hopper without delay. The Pulver bill which prohibits life prisoners from appearing before the parole commission passed the senate and is now in the house. Together with the Rushton bill, which provides that if an assault is committed by any one engaged in committing robbery or burglary armed a life sentence is mandatory, the judge has no discretion.

Senator [illegible] Wanty of Centerville introduced a bill providing for licenses for motor boats on the inland lakes, the licenses to be granted yearly by the superintendent of public instruction. Fee named is fifty cents. Wish somebody would introduce a bill to eliminate the [illegible] the next time I'd be tempted to [illegible] the bill [illegible] for it.

The [illegible] state [illegible] bill [illegible] Eaton [illegible] the [illegible] of the [illegible] the state [illegible] years [illegible] the [illegible] bonds [illegible] the [illegible] year [illegible] the [illegible] rates.

Senator Joseph Quigley of Grand Rapids has a bill providing [illegible] squirrels [illegible] the [illegible] bounty.

Senator Seth Pulver of [illegible] sponsored a bill [illegible] mitted [illegible] the [illegible] make it a misdemeanor [illegible] work [illegible] Legislature [illegible] the [illegible] legislature.

Senator Baird of Rose City has a bill on which would prohibit sale of any state owned land bordering on any inland lake or stream.

The house killed the Carney bill increasing speed of motor boats on inland lakes to 25 miles. It was laid on the table. That ends it, in all probability.

House passed the Pulver bill increasing salaries of stenographers of Supreme Court Justices to $2,000. Second bill to pass both houses and now awaits the governor's signature.

Representative Wm. C. Birk of Bayard, has introduced a bill providing that cuttings and slashings of timber must be cleaned up and moved [illegible] feet from any railroad, highway or power line. Claims it will prevent a large proportion of the forest fires.

Rep. Martin R. Bradley of Hermansville asks for an appropriation of $75,000 for the Upper peninsula agricultural school at Menominee.

Rep. Joseph Warner of Ypsilanti, introduced a bill requiring a school census in each district in the state during the last 20 days in May.

Rep. Calvin Campbell of Indian River, has introduced a bill which would transfer the 5-cents per acre tax on state lands, now paid to the counties, to school districts and townships.

Senator Chet Howell of Saginaw, who last year moved up from the house, is after radical changes in the laws governing auto drivers, in a bill recently introduced. It would revoke licenses for nearly all offences, aiming particularly at violations of the liquor laws, and provides jail penalties for driving while the license is suspended.

A bill introduced by Senator Howard Baxter of Grand Rapids, would have the state see that children born out of wedlock are supported and educated by the father. The bill is strongly drawn and would provide for extradition of fathers who had fled to other states to avoid paying the penalty. Mr. Baxter claims the state should see that these children should have a chance in life.

A bill introduced by Representative Frank Darin of Detroit, would permit metropolitan newspapers to charge regular commercial rates for state advertising, outside of that arising out of judicial proceedings.

The anti saloon league proposes to make jail sentences mandatory for liquor law violators, and to permit officers to secure search warrants upon affidavit that they had smelled brew or liquor fumes. The bill, said to be framed by [illegible] was introduced by Senator Pulver.

Rep. Simpson's bill to punish prison trusties who attempt to escape from prison yards or farms passed the house and now goes to the senate.

CORRESPONDENCE

MURRAY SCHOOL

[illegible] work [illegible] Wolf [illegible] in [illegible] Elsie [illegible] Vacation [illegible] Teacher [illegible] Edison [illegible] Perry went to Central Lake last Monday, on account of illness of [illegible] intermediate [illegible]

A surplus of [illegible] is nearly as unnecessary as a whiskey shop. No good to anybody.

News comes to us that a Mr. Cooper living near Ellsworth and our Miss Peters VanderStreet are married. Our very best wishes go with them. Hope they may live in or near Atwood.

Several from Atwood attended the play and supper at the Norwood town hall last Friday evening. The play was fine. Eats didn't come amiss.

(Too late for last week.)

Geo. Parsons has a new passenger bus—a good one.

Sometimes it's hard to "shut up," but it is still harder to be "shut up."

Eber Jolliffe left on Saturday for Mackinaw, where he has employment with Schral Road Construction Co. during 1927.

From six acres of ground, Albert Ezinga received a check for $857.00 from the Leonard Seed Co. for radish seed. Not so bad?

The L. A. S. met with Mrs. Maurice Henry last week Thursday. Next meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. Ethan Jolliffe, March 3.

Mrs. Lillian Blow met with quite a bad accident last Sunday, when she injured one of her eyes. Dr. McMillan of Charlevoix is attending her.

We understand that four men are in the race for highway commissioner of Banks township, namely: Andrew Essenberg, Edward Klooster, D. McPhee and W. P. Smith.

We are thankful—thankful for health, thankful for sickness. Also, Atwood news has been omitted for eight weeks. Sickness was the cause. Lots of people seemed to be concerned. They not only inquired often, but offered their help. Pretty neighborly, we say. Unless we had been sick we would not have known how many well-wishers we have. May God bless you, is our prayer.

OF INTEREST TO FARMERS

By B. C. Mellencamp

State Club Leader Visits County

Mr. A. G. Kettunen, state leader of boy's and girl's clubs, spent the 24th and 25th of February in Charlevoix county visiting boy's handicraft clubs.

During his visit the County Normal class was met and given an outline of the club work carried on with many of the rural schools. More and more rural school teachers are heading boy's and girl's clubs and giving them instruction of a nature that is not included in the class-room, such as manual training and sewing.

The five clubs in this county are making rapid progress in their work and are turning out articles of a high type of workmanship, such as bird-houses, necktie racks, broom holders, bird houses, etc. The boys are already making plans for the achievement days that will be held in the various schools, during the month of May, at which time the work done by the clubs and leaders in each school, Miss Lottie Webster; [illegible] school, Miss Celia Howe; [illegible] school, John Strathers; [illegible] school, Miss Dollie Dolsen; [illegible] school, Miss Pearl Palmer.

One of the outstanding features of each of the achievement days at which the boys and girls display their club work is the demonstration or judging contest. Here the boys and girls are given an opportunity to show their knowledge of the work they have been doing in the club. Each boy and girl is given a score card and is required to score the articles on display. Their scores are then compared with those of the leader and the one coming nearest to the leader's score is declared the winner.

Soil and Fertilizer Meeting

[illegible] four meetings that [illegible] conducted by [illegible] with Mr. [illegible] were held [illegible] Monday [illegible] Tuesday [illegible] Wednesday [illegible] Thursday [illegible] Mr. Culver [illegible] Soil Specialist [illegible] Agricultural College [illegible] Mr. Culver is the life of the party. He has the ability to put over his message in a manner that makes it interesting and instructive.

It is absolutely essential that plenty of organic matter be incorporated in the soil in order to maintain soil fertility.

In the discussion of fertilizers it was brought to the attention of the farmers that of all the elements necessary for plant growth there are only four that are apt to be deficient, namely, nitrogen, phosphorus, potash and calcium.

Of the three elements purchased in commercial fertilizers a high percentage of phosphorus is necessary. Nitrogen and potash can largely be taken care of when plant residues and green manuring crops are turned under often, legume crops raised, and farmyard manure added as often as possible, but phosphorus being largely sold from the farm is apt to be lacking.

Adding 30 to 40 lbs. of acid phosphate to every load of manure is a paying investment. In all cases it was proven that the higher analysis, the fertilizers, the cheaper the units of plant food purchased. Much interest was shown in the use of lime, and as a result of these meetings three carloads of limestone were ordered and nearly 200 yards of marl were spoken for.

Ton Litter Club

Michigan State College each year conducts a ton litter contest and awards a gold medal to each farmer who can produce a litter of pigs weighing one ton in six months from date of farrowing. In addition cash prizes are offered to those producing the heaviest.

County agent Mellencamp, has a supply of application blanks for this year's contest and hopes some of our most successful hog raisers will enter and compete for state honors. Remember any farmer is eligible to enroll without charge. Merely send your name and address and number of brood sows to your agent at Boyne City immediately as this information has to be sent in before March 15. Any litter farrowing between Feb. 15th to May May 15th inclusive can be entered this year. Any breed eligible.

Come on farmers let's see who our champion hog raiser is. Send your name in now, or drop a line, and we will talk over the details.

FRESHENING BREEZES

It is time that all good men came to the support of their party, including the fellow who offered to buy the Chelsea cement plant last summer.

Right now it looks as if the boys were trying to make it cool for Coolidge.

A pioneer is the oldtimer who can remember when fifteen dollars a month was top-notch wages for a farm hand.

Capital punishment seems to depend upon whether you believe in the Old or New Testament.

The whole [illegible] to be in favor of [illegible] except the gunmen.

What has become of the old-fash[illegible] [illegible] who [illegible] [illegible] of the homestead?

[illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [

JUST KIDS—Impossible
BY AD CARTER
IS 'AT SO GRAND?
YOU HONEST TO GOODNESS DON'T KNOW WHO CHARLIE CHAPLIN IS?
INTERNATIONAL CARTOON CO.

Alabaster Lamps

By Margaret Turnbull

Copyright, 1926, by Margaret Turnbull
WNU Service

(Continued from page three)

to let the next chapter begin with the grocer's clerk?

In her own room, Mrs. Johnson disrobed, her heart beating to the time of the confidences Claude had made: "Not yet, Claude Dabbs, but you shall you know about Mary." Then she pressed her next order, which was to order the Dabbs [illegible] too engaging to prow from Mary's [illegible] a-bed from her own."

Claude Dabbs waited until he knew there was no answer, and the return of the money.

"Then it was Polly."

He turned on the [illegible] of optimism that the library was still on [illegible] he took it. Ned was [illegible] the window [illegible] the house. [illegible]

In Her Room Mrs. Johnson Disrobed.

"It looks as if it was Polly. I feel that it is, crazy as it may seem to you. I hope she got all I meant, as well as the money."

Ned turned on him, more excited than Dabbs had yet seen him. "The girl! Uncle Claude, you'll have to explain things to her, won't you?"

"Yes, but who is she? That's what I want to get at," Claude said. His tone was that of a man hard-driven, holding on to his patience by sheer will power. "Is she an adopted daughter? Who was her father, and how old is she? Why do you think I told you what I did the other night, if it wasn't that I wanted to know who the girl is?"

Ned crossed to him, and put his hand on his shoulder.

"I give you my word, Claude Dabbs, I didn't realize it. I'm not more innocent nor more stupid than the average, but I slept through the last part of your story and my mind has been on other things. I didn't get you at all. Do you mean to say you—"

"Yes," and this time Claude's control snapped. "I want to know whether she's mine or not."

He wrenched himself away from Ned's hand. "I don't know that it will make a blamed bit of difference to anyone but me, but I'd like to know."

The morning came and went without news from the White house. By this time Ned was anxious. He had promised Claude to wait for him until he returned from a trip to the express office.

Immediately on his return Ned followed Claude into the private office,

"Get Miss Pulsifer on the wire; read this message going to the White house. She's got orders to pack the trunks, set the house in order, and lock up. The key and the trunks are to be sent to New York. Says it was Mrs. Johnston who telephoned. Says the girl said they were only going up for the day, but the mother never opened her mouth. What do you make of it?"

"Looks to me, C. M. as though Mrs. Johnston wanted to keep Miss Johnston from con," and added mentally, but did not say it, "or me."

"That's what I figured out."

"Did you find out from Mrs. Pulsifer where the trunks were to go?"

"Sure." He took out a small leather notebook and opened it. "Hotel Plaza, New York."

"By G—d, I believe you're right and it is Polly up to her old tricks. Never fear, you'll get her always runs away. Well, this time, two can play that game. This time I'm going after her."

Ned, who already had made up his mind to follow Mary, cast what it [illegible] and prepared to break from Pence Valley and Claude Dabbs if need be took him up at once with "That's the way to talk."

"You know, I know," Claude admitted, slowly. "It's the way you [illegible] I [illegible] fifty-eight and one twenty [illegible] But I didn't have the money."

"I've got the money," Ned began, but Claude stopped him peremptorily

"[illegible] Don't [illegible] about money."

"But you see," began Ned, but never [illegible] the subject [illegible] Claude [illegible] Ned [illegible]

"[illegible] Don't [illegible]

"[illegible] Mrs. Pulsifer [illegible] the [illegible] Claude [illegible] Ned [illegible] Mr. Carter [illegible] she would [illegible] all he had done [illegible] sorry she [illegible] go. They were [illegible]

"Sailing? When?"

"I've not quite [illegible] think Europe first. Mother decided suddenly."

"But you can't go yet. I beg pardon, Mr. Johnston, but I wanted to see you. I'd rather die to say, I—"

"Yes, yes, Mr. Carter. I'll be so much obliged if you'll tell Phoebe, and here is Mother, she'll be so grateful, too."

"But Miss Johnston, Mary—"

"Good by, Mr. Carter."

At the other end of the line the receiver was hung up.

Claude came in and found Ned with his hand still on the telephone receiver, his face a study in perplexity.

"What's up?"

"They're going abroad, and soon. We've got to start things, right now. How soon can you get ready?"

"Ned!" Claude gasped. "Abroad! I hadn't really planned anything like that! Why, by Jiminy, Ned, I've never traveled farther than New York."

"Time you did. Look here, Claude Dabbs, are you going to sit here in Pence Valley and let everything slide as you did before, or are you going to find out the truth—about Mary?"

"If that girl's mine, I mean to know it."

This was so exactly Ned's state of mind that he found himself glaring at C. M., as at a rival, and with difficulty refrained from retorting, "So do I." Fortunately his brain told him that this was no time to tell Mary's possible father, if indeed that was Claude's proud position, his honorable intentions.

"Then you'd better come out into the world with me, and pursue Mrs. Polly Johnston."

"I'm—coming," Claude told him. "You go to New York tomorrow, Ned, and if we can't get the same steamer, we'll take the next. I'll fix things here while you find out Polly's plans. I'll join you in New York."

"I'll go tonight."

"All right, and I'll join you tomorrow, and—and the best on the ship, Ned. You're my guest."

"I have money."

"Yeh, but you're coming with me, and we're going to have plenty, especially if you're—" Claude stopped abruptly and blushed rather lamely, "traveling with me."

Ned wondered what was on his mind. He was amazed at this Claude Dabbs.

Claude gave him a clue almost immediately. "Are yours 'Carter' or 'Rangely' this trip?"

Ned shifted to his feet and faced him but Claude stopped him before he could speak.

"You see, Ned, Miss Selden telephoned the station a day or so ago and sent a telegram to your father. It said that his son was living here under the name of 'Carter.' Guess the girl didn't realize she was on a party wire and what that means in the country."

Ned stopped him. "You mean to say you knew?"

"Sure, I've known ever since you met the girl. She volunteered the information."

"And you never asked me a single question?"

"Why should I? Ain't we friends? I knew you'd tell me when you were good and ready."

Ned drew nearer and put out his hand. "Thanks. Do you want to know why?"

Claude sniffed and shook his head as he took Ned's hand. "I guess not. You see, I do know Loren Rangeley, and of all the old well, never mind and excuse me, Ned, for he's your father, and of course that's one thing to his credit. All I mean to say is if there's two sides to any question and Loren Rangeley's on one, let me get on the other."

"You know my father?"

"Only just in a business way."

This helped Ned very little. What could the great Loren Rangeley have to do with a country grocer? Suspicions began to cross his mind. Before he could stop himself, he said: "I say, Uncle Claude, what are you holding out on me?"

To his surprise, Claude Dabbs looked positively confused. "You're dead right, Ned, I haven't been entirely open with you either, but that can wait. All you have to tell me is whether you'll be 'Carter' or 'Rangeley' on this trip."

Ned hesitated. "I'd rather be 'Carter,' but we're apt to meet people who know me as Rangeley, so Carter's off."

(TO BE CONTINUED.)

AT THE MOVIES

Napoleon's Guns Are Used in Movie

A pair of dueling pistols once the property of Napoleon the Third of France will be seen on the screen at the Palace Theatre next Wednesday, March 9, in "The Scarlet Saint," First National's latest feature attraction. There is a thrilling duel scene between Lloyd Hughes and Frank Morgan. The pistols used were made for Napoleon by Gaston Remitte, famous French armorer. They were loaned to First National by Captain Charles Noe Daly of Toronto, Canada.

Mary Astor and Lloyd Hughes are co-featured in "The Scarlet Saint" with a supporting cast that includes Frank Morgan, Jed Prouty, Jack Raymond, Antrim Short, Lorna Duveen and George Neville.

Holt Jumped His Way Into Screen Fame

Jumping a horse off a towering cliff into a river hundreds of feet below will hardly appeal to the majority of screen aspirants as a safe and sane way of breaking into the movies, but it was the means used by Jack Holt to gain a foothold in the picture business. The immediate result of that daredevil jump was a four week stay in the hospital, but when he came out, he found a film contract waiting for him.

His latest appearance is in Zane Grey's adventurous romance, "Forlorn River," in which he plays the role of outlaw-hero. Raymond Hatton, Arlette Marchal and Edmund Burns are the other principal players. The picture opens at the Palace Theatre, Wednesday, March 16.

Burning - out chimneys caused many bad fires. Avoid this fire loss by using our Soot Destroyer. It does the work. 15c per pound. Charlevoix Hdw. Co.—Adv. 2tf.

The poorest place to die in is a town that's not made a better place to live in.

The pleasing light gray color of concrete dresses up any street

Money Saving Facts About Concrete Highway Pavements

Concrete is durable.

It will not shove, roll or rut. It remains as true and even as built.

Concrete pavement is now satisfying taxpayers in many counties and every state in the Union.

Maintenance cost is low. It does not require periodic resurfacing.

Wet or dry, concrete provides the safest surface for traffic.

Oil drippings will not cause concrete to disintegrate.

Concrete pavements are clean, smooth, dustless, free from stickiness and usable twelve months in the year.

6,000 miles of concrete pavement were placed on highways in the United States in 1926.

Concrete gives you more road surface value for each dollar invested than any other type.

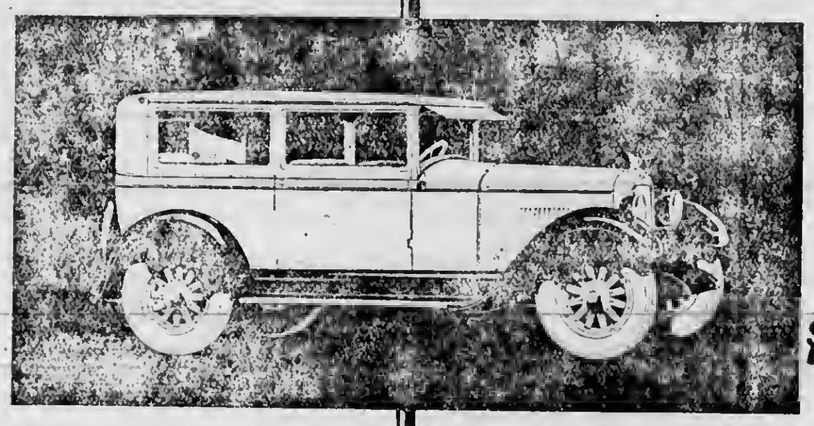
PORTLAND CEMENT ASSOCIATION
Dime Bank Building
DETROIT, MICH.
A National Organization to Improve and Extend the Uses of Concrete
OFFICES IN 33 CITIES

LET THE COURIER PRINT YOUR SALE BILLS

GENERAL MOTORS' LATEST ACHIEVEMENT

The New and Finer

PONTIAC SIX



SEDAN $775

Oakland today announces an entirely new line of Pontiac Sixes, notably enhanced in beauty, incorporating numerous refinements in design, and carrying new low prices.

New Fisher Bodies

Never in any low-priced six have been achieved such commanding beauty and luxury as in this latest achievement of General Motors. Lending luster to even the Fisher tradition of masterly craftsmanship, the new bodies by Fisher are longer, lower and superbly executed to the slightest detail.

All New Duco Colors

All body types are finished in new combinations of Duco colors. Original and fresh, these colors range from Beverly Blue and Black on the Sedan to Cherokee Gray on the Sport Cabriolet.

New Beauty and Style

Pontiac Six beauty has always been outstanding. But now in these new and finer models has been achieved not only new beauty but also an arresting rakishness—the results of a deeper radiator; larger, heavier, and more sweeping crown fenders; and more massive headlamps. Windshield and body pillars are narrowed to conform to the accepted custom-built vogue and to provide a wider arc of visibility. Window ledges are smartly recessed and finished in a contrasting color.

Mechanical Refinements

In addition to the numerous elements of greater beauty and style, the new and finer Pontiac Six introduces many new features and refinements in engineering design—such as tilting-beam headlights with foot control, new transmission and brake levers, steering wheel with aluminum spider, a clutch even smoother and more positive in action and an oil-sealed universal joint.

Two New Body Types

Two entirely new body types of characteristic beauty have been added to the Pontiac Six line. These are a dashing, youthful Sport Roadster, finished in Lucerne Blue, striped with Faerie Red; and a 4-passenger Sport Cabriolet, with Brevoort Green top and fenders, and body in Cherokee Gray, striped with orange to rival in smartness the highest priced cars of the day.
Come in and see the New and Finer Pontiac Six!

AT NEW LOW PRICES

Sedan	$775	Sport Roadster	$775	Sport Cabriolet (4-pass.)	$835
Coupe	775	Landau Sedan	895	DeLuxe Landau Sedan	975

All prices at factory

BLOCK & SIMMONS
113-15 Antrim St., Charlevoix, Mich.

LOCKED AUTOS SELDOM STOLEN

CAR OWNERS CAN MINIMIZE NUMBER OF THEFTS

Leaving Ungarded and Unlocked Car Has Resulted in High Insurance Rates.

A huge yearly saving in automobile insurance rates can be effected by automobile owners if they will heed the warning of insurance companies which appears in unmistakable terms in the 1927 auto rate manual. Two significent changes are found: an increase in the theft insurance rates and elimination of credit for approved locking devices. The Western Auto Undertakers' Conference states through its secretary manager that the new manual will go into effect February 14. It is entirely up to the automobile owner as to whether or not these new and drastic rules will prevail in 1928, since it is the owner rather than the insurance company who sets the rates.

Locks are almost useless against the professional theft, who, like a safe cracker, operates when he is sure that he will not be disturbed for several hours. He can steal any car ever built, if given enough time. However, statistics show that a large majority of automobile thefts are committed by non-professional thieves of the joy-rider type, who almost invariably select the car which is easiest to drive away with the minimum loss of time. Such thieves are interested only in gaining free transportation for a few hours, after which they usually abandon the car. They often wait in front of a large building for an unwarry driver, whom they see leave his car without locking it. It is at this time that the theft is committed.

This type of a thief will not as a general result bother with locked cars, since the time element is all-important. He waits for an opportunity to steal an unlocked car, and is away in a flash as soon as the owner has turned his back.

It is to prevent just such losses as this that automobile companies build locks into their cars. Yet large numbers of car owners are in the habit of leaving the car unlocked while away for a few minutes and it is on such occasions that the theft is most likely to occur. The carelessness is costing the American motorist enormous sums yearly in unnecessarily high insurance rates. These rates are not fixed by the insurance companies; they are fixed by the automobile owner. If thefts could be reduced in number, there would be a corresponding reduction in the cost of insurance.

It is not alone the loss of the car or the damage it might suffer before being eventually recovered which keep the rates sky-high. Many an owner has forced his fellow drivers to pay a repair bill on his car by claiming damages from theft which he is himself responsible for. This is all included in the cost of insurance. Then to these expenses must be added the extra cost incurred in investigating a large number of adjustments, all of which must be included in the rates.

The small effort necessary to lock the car when leaving it even for a few minutes would be repaid many times if automobile owners would observe this precaution. Even though the car is stolen and eventually recovered, and all damages are repaired to the best of the ability of expert mechanics, there is the chance that the treatment which the car received at the hands of a thief will leave it permanently crippled to the extent that no repairs short of a complete rebuilding will make it run. It is sometimes extremely difficult to obtain an complete adjustment as this, since it is manifestly impossible to prove the extent of liability on the part of the insurance company in such a case.

Many automobile companies, Buick among them, take extra precautions to aid in the recovery of stolen cars by an intricate system of serial numbers some of which are secret. Through them Buick has been able to recover many lost cars and bring about the arrest of the thief. But the owner of the stolen car is found to suffer some loss. No matter how much he pays for insurance, the automobile owner will continue to take these losses as long as he neglects to take ordinary precautions against theft.

Legion Boxing Contest, Hooker's Garage, next Monday. See the fun. —Adv. 9t1 pd.

DEATH CLAIMED AGED RESIDENT LAST SUNDAY

Mrs. Wm. S. Gregory Died in Petoskey Following Operation

Mrs. Wm. S. Gregory, age 67, a resident of this vicinity for many years, died at the Lockwood hospital, Petoskey, Sunday, February 27th, at eleven o'clock, after a recent operation.

Ella M. Baker was born to Mr. and Mrs. Wm. S. Baker in Exter, Ontario, Canada, August 28th, 1860. At the age of six years she moved to Dearborn, Michigan, with her parents, who afterwards moved to Barnard township. On January 13, 1876 she was married to Wm. S. Gregory, also of Canada, also of Canada and Barnard. The couple took up their residence in Emmet county, where ten children were born to them. Besides being a loving mother to her own family, Mrs. Gregory loved and mothered four grandchildren, Willis and Clifton Gregory and Lee and Ethel Newson.

Deceased is survived by her husband, five children; Mrs. Pearl Scott of Charlevoix; Mrs. Arlo Crites and Mrs. Charles Spare of Detroit; C. L. Gregory of Harbor Springs, and Wm. Gregory of Hayes township; two sisters, Mrs. Celestia Hamiln of Charlevoix and Mrs. Jennie Wade of Manton, Mich., also nineteen grandchildren.

Funeral services were held Tuesday afternoon from the Baptist church, Rev. Herman Burns officiating. Interment at Brookside.

SUNDAY SCHOOLS HELD TEMPERANCE PROGRAM

Rosetta Bolton Won Prize in Declamation Contest

Last Sunday was quarterly temperance Sunday and observed in the Sunday Schools of Charlevoix with temperance programs, special temperance instruction in the classes and new recruits sought for the National Prohibition Guards.

In the afternoon at the Baptist church Norman Ance, Eloise Tillotson, Margery Carey and Rosetta Bolton competed in the declamatory contest sponsored by the W. C. T. U. A. silver medal was awarded by the judges to the last named contestant for a recitation entitled, "Don't Let Him In."

Dr. Burns, in making the presentation, said he should like to give medals to all who took part. The object of the medal contests is education and creation of sentiment in favor of temperance and prohibition, and while only one can receive the prize, all contribute equally toward the objective.

DO IT NOW

---A---

NEW CAR FOR YOUR OLD CAR

The Latest Finishes

Have your good car refinished with

Duco — Lacquers or
Nitro — the High gloss
Egyptian — Varnishes

ATCHISON AUTO SHOP

Phone 93 - 204 Mason St.

Let us do a neat, thorough job giving you all the comfort and convenience of electricity. Let us install a wiring system that will meet your needs—with all materials and labor guaranteed to the highest standard. Call us today.

WIRING SYSTEM

WOOD BROS.

LOCALS DEFEAT PELLSTON QUINT

OUTCLASSED OPPONENTS IN ALL DEPARTMENTS OF GAME

Play East Jordan There Next Friday Night in Final Game Before Harbor Tournament.

Charlevoix's Red and White basketball team added another to their string of victories last Friday evening by decisively defeating Pellston on the local court 25 to 12.

Charlevoix excelled in every department of the game. Pellston took an early lead by scoring the first basket, but Charlevoix soon got her bearings and with smooth team play, accurate passing and well placed shots soon piled up a comfortable margin of points. The score at the half was 13 to 1.

A substitution, Scott for Beaudoin, threw the brunt of their balance at the beginning of the second half and Pellston held them even in the first part of this period. Beaudoin back at his old position before the fourth quarter saw Charlevoix's margin steadily increase. Substitutions made in the fourth quarter were made freely, Coach Ruetter using all of his second string men.

Captain Hamilton played his usual aggressive game, figuring in most of the play and was a bulwark on the defense. McCann loomed up prominently as high point scorer, advancing time after time from his guard position to sink long ones for the locals. The work of Smith, Beaudoin, Cheney and Novak was also above par. Coach Wells of East Jordan refereed.

The junior girls class team won a close and exciting game from the freshman girls in the preliminary, 13 to 12.

Charlevoix plays at East Jordan next Friday night in her last game before the tournament at Harbor Springs. East Jordan was defeated a week before last on the local court in a close game. Plenty of opposition is looked for in the coming encounter, as the East Jordan outfit always puts up a strong battle on their home floor.

Broderwear Hosiery, all colors; $1.00; "Onyx" Hosiery, pointed heel, $1.65 to $2.50. Holley Gift Shop.—Adv. 7-t3.

Watch Tunney wallop Dempsey at the Legion Boxing Contest, Hooker's Garage, next Monday night, 8:30.—Adv. 9t1 pd.

* * * * * * * * * * *

WHAT IS CHILD ACCOUNTING

* * * * * * * * * * *

1st. Child Accounting is keeping an accurate educational, physical, and continuous census record of each child in the state, between the ages of five and twenty.

2nd. Keeping a copy of these records in the school where the child attends, another in the county commissioner's office, and a third in the office of the Superintendent of Public Instruction.

3. Changing these records to correspond with the resident changes of the students.

Who Makes These Records

1st. Census Takers who make the census enumeration securing much information concerning each child and his parents. Legal form 1a.

2nd. Commissioner of Schools makes the necessary corrections on the census field sheets (Form 1a.) and makes a duplicate copy for his own files; make for form 3, master family card, one for each family in the county; makes form 2, childs individual card, one for each child in the county; makes duplicates of forms 2 and 3 for the Superintendent of Public Instruction; corrects and files monthly and other reports from each of the schools of the county.

3rd. Boyne City, being a city of over three thousand population, takes care of its own Child Accounting.

4th. Teachers make initial reports of students at the opening of school; make form 2 for each new student coming into the school, and a duplicate for the commissioner's office; make transfers on proper forms for those leaving or entering school; make form 10 which is a monthly summary for the students in attendance, and a dupliente for the Commissioner's office; make form 9 for each child in school and two duplicates at the time the child leaves the school, one for the commissioner, and one for the school which the child is going.

5th. State Superintendent of Public Instruction keeps a continuous census of all the children in the state from the reports received, from time to time, from the commissioners of the state.

Child Accounting Costs

1st. Child accounting has already cost the department of public instruction one million dollars according to Mr. Hill, who is at the head of the work in the state.

2nd. Antrim, Roscommon and Emmet counties are paying fifty cents per hour for actual service; Alpena, nine hundred for the year; Mecosta, whose school population equal that of Charlevoix county, has two full time clerks, one of which receives $1,500.00 per year. Charlevoix county has paid fifty cents per hour for actual service. Counties paying more could be named, but these are cited and give you an idea of what can be expected from our own county cost.

3rd. The law states: "The actual and necessary expense incurred by the commissioner of schools, as determined by him or her, in taking the census or his or her own county, including the expense for clerical help in making out the census reports of the various school districts of the county, the keeping of child accounting records for the various school districts in accordance with the rules and regulations adopted by the superintendent of public instruction, for the equivalent of a continuous school census for each school district, and the continuous accounting of each child of each school district, and the card and filing cabinets for the same, shall be audited and allowed by the board of supervisors or the county board of auditors."

4th. Many reports have gone out from Charlevoix [illegible] regarding Charlevoix county commissioner of [illegible] office for the months of [illegible] provided. She is able to do his work evenings and at [illegible] which were [illegible] the child accounting clerk hire has been provided for under a separate law stated above. Clerks for this work have received fifty cents per hour for services actually rendered. By this method pay stops when work stops, while there may be months that will show a large bill of expense, the lack of work during the summer will offset this. The present plan seems less expensive to the county, than the hiring of a full-time clerk. The average monthly cost for this service is estimated at forty to fifty dollars.

Archie C. Belding,
Commissioner of Schools.

Avoid fire risks from burning-out chimneys by using our honest-to-goodness Soot Destroyer. Charlevoix Hdw. Co.—Adv. 2tf.

WE STILL HAVE HOPES FOR THIS YOUNGSTER

This Kid Must Be a Regular One. What Say?

Under the caption of "Wy Abhor Scandals, But—", the editor of the Nashville News, Mich., prints the following introduction:

There's a fellow whose home is in Maple Grove township, we must tell you about.

Morals don't seem to mean a thing to him.

He's unmarried, yet he lives openly with a woman that he's crazy about.

And doesn't care a continental what the neighbors say or think.

He has no regard for truth or law.

The duties of a so-called good citizen are the bunk, so far as he is concerned.

He never has a good word for anybody, though he may occasionally smile when you meet him.

Even when his friends try to do him a good turn, he is very apt to cry and sob about it.

He never thinks of paying a bill.

He has never worked a lick.

He won't go to church.

He can't play cards, dance or sing.

As a conversationalist he's null and void.

He neglects his personal appearance.

He simply won't wash or shave his face.

He wouldn't turn in a fire alarm if the house should burn.

He never thinks of helping some one in need.

He lacks opinions.

Even on the prohibition question no one knows exactly how he stands.

One minute he's dry.

The next minute he's wet.

But we must say this for him: his parents are mighty fine people.

He is Dewey, Jr., born to Mr. and Mrs. Dewey Jones, at Pennock hospital, Saturday, February 5th.

But we are sure that he will mend his way.

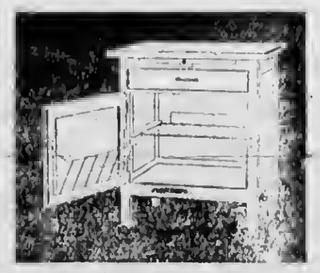
Hayes Township Caucus

Notice is hereby given that a township caucus will be held in the Hayes Town Hall, on Monday, March 7, at 1:00 p. m., for the purpose of placing in nomination candidates for township offices for the ensuing term and for the transaction of such other business as may properly come before it.

By order of Committee.

Lemol Cooper, clerk of said township of Hayes, Mich.

HERE ARE THE TABLES YOU HAVE BEEN LOOKING FOR



This table is a Laflat Porcelain top table which is guaranted to stay flat. The cabinet is finished in three coats of white enamel. Drawer is full lip dustproof, dovetailed front and back with framed in three plywood bottom. Roomy cupboard with sliding shelf. Kettle cover rack on door.

Here's just the table you want for your extra kettles and dishes.

LAFLAT PORCELAIN TOP TABLE, size, 22x27 inches, for... $20.00

Looking this table over you will find that it has a drawer for everything. From Silverware to dish cloths. The drawer are roomy and large. Cabinet is finished as above. The hardware is high grade rust resisting.

LAFLAT PORCELAIN TOP TABLE, size, 24x30, for... $29.50

We have other pieces of the Kitchen. Such as Sellar's Cabinet, high stools, chairs, unfinished tables, etc.

Our low prices on this merchandise cannot be compared with others.

Charlevoix Hardware Company

NORTHERN MICHIGAN'S FINEST STORE

Three Big Departments—Hardware, Furniture, Electrical

The COACH $595 f.o.b. Flint, Mich.

More for Your Money than you ever thought possible

Already the Most Beautiful Chevrolet is scoring the greatest success in Chevrolet history! And why? Because no other car of equally low price ever supplied so completely all the attractions and advantages of a high-priced automobile!

Here truly is more for your money than you ever thought possible—more than even Chevrolet could offer, were it not for the economies of tremendous volume production.

Come in—see the Most Beautiful Chevrolet. Learn what makes it the greatest value triumph in automobile history!

—at these amazing low prices

The Touring or Roadster	$525	The Sport Cabriolet	$715	1-Ton Truck (Chassis only)	$495
The Coupe	$625	The Landau	$745	½-Ton Truck (Chassis only)	$395
The Sedan	$695

Balloon tires now standard on all models.
In addition to these low prices, Chevrolet's delivered prices include the lowest handling and financing charges available.

PETOSKEY AUTO SALES

East Mitchell Street, Petoskey, Michigan

BLOCK & SIMMONS, Charlevoix, Local Agents

QUALITY AT LOW COST

Big Saturday Special

EMBROIDERED WORK

We will close out our present line of Embroidered Work at greatly reduced prices. The line consists of

Center Pieces Pillow Tops Dresser Scarfs
Buffet Sets, Etc.

The entire line goes at practically cost price. Buy while the reduction is on.

WITHERS' VARIETY STORE

LET THE COURIER PRINT YOUR SALE BILLS

CHARLEVOIX COURIER

VOLUME 32 NUMBER 10. EIGHT PAGES COURIER, CHARLEVOIX, MICH., WEDNESDAY, MARCH 9, 1927 PRICE $2.00 PER YEAR

BETTER PROTECTION IS SOUGHT

MOVE AIMED TO STOP NETTING IN LOCAL WATERS

Game and Fish Committee of Commercial Association After a Game Warden for Charlevoix

Headed by members of the fish and game committee of the Association of Commerce, a concerted effort is being made to have a game warden appointed for Charlevoix county with headquarters at Charlevoix.

Charlevoix sportsmen feel that they are not receiving sufficient protection at this end of the county and we believe they are justified in their attitude. Persistent netting in Round Lake and Lake Charlevoix is the chief bone of contention. This practice has gone unchecked for years with the resultant decrease of game fish. Minor infractions of game laws are brought to public attention constantly and sportsmen now feel it is time for action.

It is not the intention of backers of the move to in any way discredit our present conservation officers. On the contrary, a game warden at Charlevoix could cooperate with and lessen the duties of our present force. Probably no county in northern Michigan has a situation similar to that in ours. Located in the eastern portion of the county are 80 miles of rainbow streams and rivers, enough to keep one warden constantly on the job watching them. Lake Charlevoix has a shore line of 72 miles, together with numerous inland lakes and smaller trout streams in the western and central portions. Taking this all into consideration, one can plainly see why violations get by the attention of officers so easily. One or more game wardens, located into the eastern end of the county, cannot cover this large amount of territory.

Netting, as we all know, is done mostly at night, and nearly all at Charlevoix. A conservation officer with headquarters in the eastern end of the county, spending his nights there, cannot be here at the same time. And, even if unscrupulous netters are discovered and the game warden notified, they can make their haul and get away before he arrives on the scene. Hook and line fishermen at Charlevoix during the summer months probably outnumber those in the eastern end of the county three to one. These are a few of the reasons why local sportsmen want a game warden located at Charlevoix.

Cooperation of local citizens as well as all those interested in conservation would be a great help. When a violation is seen, it should be reported to the proper officers at once. To tell about it among friends some time later does not remedy the situation. Fishing at Charlevoix is one of its main attractions to summer resorters. We may profit by it or kill it. It's up to us.

DICKENS CLUB ARE ENTERTAINED

Guests of Two Members at Home of Mrs. Harley Ochs.

Mrs. Harley Ochs, and Miss Minnie Payton, dressed as Signor Jupe and his daughter, Sissy, entertained the Dickens Club, Wednesday afternoon, with a one o'clock luncheon at the home of the former, 202 Clinton St. Mr. Barkis, Little Nell, Captain Cuttle, Clarn Peggotty, in fact the members of the Dickens family, residing in Charlevoix, attended this family reunion.

Two tables were decorated in the club colors of Chinese blue and yellow. The license tag on "Merrylegs," the circus dog, who was tied with ropes from the circus pole directed the guests to their places. A four course luncheon was served with hostess at each table. Signor Jupe disappeared as usual but returned bringing a basket filled with favors for each of the guest whose presence afforded much merriment.

Building New Boat

Hamilton & Son are now building a 32-foot auxiliary ketch rig for Dr. B. L. Benker of East Jordan. The craft will be equipped with a 25 h. p. motor, and has accommodations for a party of four. They have also recently finished a 10 foot addition to their dock and have built a new gasoline pump house 17 and 11 feet in dimensions.

Try my battery and tire shop for service. Benj. Brown.—Adv. 10tf.

MRS. T. HERRINGTON DIED AT HOME HERE

A Native of Germany—Had Lived Here Many Years

Mrs. Julia Paal Herrington was born in Germany, February 2, 1868, and passed away at her home in Charlevoix, March 6th, 1927 at midnight.

When she was five years of age she came with her parents to America, making her home near Port Huron, this state. In the year 1898 she was united in marriage with Thomas Herrington at Black River, Michigan. They made their home in Frederick, Michigan, for fourteen years, removing to Boyne City for one year, and then making their residence in Charlevoix, where they have since lived. Two children were born into this home, Pearl and Earle, twins. Pearl passed away three years ago.

Mrs. Herrington was reared in the the Lutheran church, later uniting with the First Methodist Episcopal church of this city. She was an excellent wife and mother, an industrious worker for her home and others, a devout christian and a highly respected and much loved woman by all who knew her best.

The funeral service was conducted by her pastor, Rev. C. E. Pollock, at the home Wednesday at 2:00 p. m.

BOXING MATCHES DREW BIG CROWD

HOOKER'S GARAGE CROWDED WITH FANS MONDAY NIGHT

Local Lads Traded Wallops Freely—Another Show Planned at Near Future Date

Hooker's garage was packed Monday evening with eager fans on hand to see the boxing show staged by the local American Legion post. Attendance was up to all expectations and no one was disappointed from lack of action on the part of performers.

From the first two-round bout, staged between two small Indian lads to the final free-for-all, the boxers mixed freely and furnished spectators with plenty of action. Gravelin and Dixon, matched for the semi-final bout, a three-round contest, threw a lot of gloves into each other's faces and won a hearty applause. The final bout between Atchison and Allen proved the headliner. Both boys mixed freely, showed lots of speed and gave a fine exhibition. All matches were declared a draw.

A free will collection taken at the door after the show netted the Legion in the neighborhood of $75.00. This money was used to defray expenses of the show, a small sum was set aside to be used for a similar entertainment in the near future and the balance was divided among the boxers, all local lads, as prizes. Music by the Charlevoix band during intermissions was greatly appreciated and the Legion extends their thanks to the band members.

Fans were more than satisfied with the show and will be pleased to hear that another is planned to be staged in the near future. Boxing, when properly handled is a good, clean sport and looked upon with great interest.

MAKING NUMEROUS CHANGES AT GARAGE

Increased Business Forces Enlargement of Departments

Benjamin Brown has been carrying out a program of changes in his garage and salesroom throughout the winter, the latest being an addition to the electric repair department in which the vulcanizing department will be installed, thus bringing the two in the same room.

Also, due to the increase in the number of Dodge cars in this territory and demand for accessories, Mr. Brown has been forced to increase the capacity of the parts department. The office back out of the store is now being utilized for this purpose and the space formerly used for a bicycle repair shop is now a part of the accessories room. Tire racks have been moved into the storeroom and in their place is a tier of drawers to hold miscellaneous merchandise. In other words, Mr. Brown is all set for a busy season, and with the numerous improvements completed expects to be able to give better and more prompt service.

St. Patrick's Day dance at I. O. O. F. hall, Thursday evening, March 17. Music by Durance Orchestra.—10tf.

HEAVY VOTE WAS POLLED IN CITY

CONTESTS FOR VARIOUS OFFICES BROUGHT OUT VOTES

Cook Defeats Hamilton for Treasurer, Palmer Carries County for School Commissioner.

A three corner fight on the county ticket for the office of school commissioner, and contests for the office of city treasurer, justice of the peace and aldermanic honors in the third ward on the city ticket, resulted in a spirited battle of ballots at Monday's primary election.

In the city 508 votes were cast, rather unusual for a spring primary. Arthur Bergeon, as mayor, will serve the city for a sixth term. In the contest for city treasurer between John Cook and A. J. Hamilton, Cook was re-elected by a 337 to 133 vote. J. R. Cooper lost to C. R. Ashdon, for justice of the peace, by a vote of 294 to 173. For aldermanic honors in the third ward, D. H. Eckinger, present incumbent won over his opponent, C. B. Sheldon, by a vote of 121 to 66.

Precincts heard from indicate that Wm. C. Palmer of Clarion, is winner in a field of three, for the office of county school commissioner. His opponents were A. C. Belding, present incumbent, and Mrs. Amelia Kaden, of Boyne City.

The vote as cast in the city on the two tickets is as follows:

City Ticket

	1w	2w	3w
For Mayor—
Bergeon	60	186	171
For Clerk—
Hamilton	55	165	137
For Treasurer—
Cook	57	171	140
Hamilton	23	64	46
For Justice of the Pence—
Ashdon	36	139	118
Cooper	37	74	62
For Park Commissioner—
Partridge	63	165	146

Vote of the Wards:

First Ward

For Supervisor
Craig 65
For Alderman—
Partridge 64
For Constable—
Howard 52

Second Ward

For Supervisor—
Bugbee 172
For Alderman—
Livingston 168
For Constable—
Johnson 157

Third Ward

For Supervisor—
Archie Alcock 162
For Alderman—
Eckinger 121
Sheldon 66
For Constable—
Weikel 142

County Ticket

	1w	2w	3w
For County School Commissioner—
Belding	58	124	118
Kaden	3	21	16
Palmer	20	86	62

Cards of Thanks

We wish to thank the Charlevoix fire department, high school boys, neighbors and friends who so kindly offered their assistance during the fire last Thursday. Oluf Nordrum and family, Miss Manson, Miss Miller, Miss Keller.—Adv. 10tf.

Get your auction bill printed here.

UNDER THE DOME AT THE CAPITOL

LITTLE DOING DURING EARLIER PART OF THE WEEK

Horton Bill, Providing Funds to Fight Corn Borer, Approved By the Senate.

Remarkable was the quiettude of the early part of the week. Both branches met Monday afternoon but in neither was a quorum present. The Republican state convention at Grand Rapids was too great an attraction. Both senate and house convened at two o'clock Wednesday afternoon, however, and now that politics has been cleared from the decks to a greater or less extent business is booming.

A brief session of the house was held Tuesday evening at which Rep. Joseph Armstrong of Detroit, introduced a bill which would make the Public Utilities Commission take charge of radio affairs in the state in the matter of control of broadcasting stations.

The rain-makers of the legislative body have about decided that the Arabs are endeavoring to steal their last oasis by enactment of the Pulver resolution, which recently passed the senate and is now in committee in the house. The resolution rescinds action taken 14 years ago petitioning congress for a constitutional convention. If four more states should petition similarly, congress could call for a constitutional convention, at which time an amendment repealing the prohibition law could be brought before the country, even though that were not the primary reason for the states asking for a convention. So the wets don't want the Pulver resolution to pass the house, and a fight on the matter is freely predicted.

Another of Senator Pulver's bills passed the senate Wednesday. This has been dubbed the "smelling" bill, and permits officers to obtain search warrants on affidavit of scenting the odor of liquor or mash, but does not warrant an agrest unless actual manufacturing of liquor is found.

The Horton bill, providing funds to fight the corn borer, also was approved by the senate Wednesday. This appropriates $200,000 for 1927 and a similar amount for 1928, and this appropriation automatically brings Michigan into liason with $2,000,000 from the Federal government, to be used in the corn borer war in Michigan during the next two years.

Senator Joseph E. Watson, who is a Bronson banker, with a long and distinguished service in both houses, introduces a bill providing a minimum sentence of 20 years for bank robbers.

The senate concurred in a house resolution which will put the proposed constitutional amendment allowing organizations of metropolitan districts up to the voters of the state again at the spring election of April 14. This amendment would permit two or more cities, villages or townships to combine for financing and operating public utilities.

Senator Person of Lansing, fosters a bill providing for a retirement fund for state employes, who would establish the fund by paying in from three to four per cent of their salaries, and would entitle them to receive certain sums upon their retirement, after a minimum service of 15 years.

Wayne's delegation will be likely to put up a hard scrap if a resolution introduced by Rep. Joseph E. Warner of Ypsilanti in the house Wednesday comes to the floor. The proposition is for a constitutional amendment providing for a state apportionment on the basis of citizenship rather than number of inhabitants. Mr. Warner also introduced a resolution for an amendment providing that the superintendent of public instruction be appointed by the state board of education, instead of by popular vote.

Rep. Archie M. Reid of Detroit, fathers a bill to allow Detroit to invest its sinking fund in city special assessment bonds, and another to allow the creation of special tax districts for public improvements.

The Watson bill extending mechanics' lien privileges to apply to furbearing animals and dogs passed the house.

Senator Peter B. Lennon is up in arms because his concurrent resolution providing for an investigation into crime conditions in Michigan, and aimed primarily at Detroit, has been sent to the house committee on rules and resolutions, a sort of community cemetery. The resolution passed the senate by a good majority, and Senator Lennon proposes to put up a fight to see that it does not expire in the house.

The Brake bill to exempt fruit packers and shippers from the operation

(Continued on page six.)

ANOTHER PIONEER CALLED BY DEATH

MRS. WILLARD A. SMITH ONE OF EARLY SETTLERS

Passing Causes Deep Regret in Community Where She was Known and Loved.

Charlevoix citizens were deeply saddened last Thursday afternoon by the death of Mrs. Willard A. Smith, which occurred at her Park avenue home about 3:30 o'clock. Mrs. Smith had been an invalid for the past two years. On the afternoon of her death she had been watching the Nordrum fire from the window of her home and was in excellent spirit and seemingly normal condition. The sudden turn which caused her death shortly after was a severe shock to members of her family and numerous friends.

Nancy M. Bagley was born at Ellenburgh, New York, September 25, 1850, the daughter of Samuel K. K. and Euretta Bagley. Her early life was spent at Ellenburgh. In the year 1866 she moved with her family to Banks township, where, in December 18, 1870 she was united in marriage to Willard A. Smith, now deceased. Immediately after their marriage the couple moved to Charlevoix, first living in a small house on the Belvedere resort, later building a home on Park avenue, where Mrs. Smith spent the remainder of her life.

Deceased is survived by two daughters, Mrs. Ira A. Adams, Charlevoix; Mrs. H. O. Smith, Toledo, Ohio; one son, Willard A. Smith of Charlevoix; three grand children, Vincent Madison of Charlevoix; Florence M. Smith and Willard A. Smith, Jr., of Toledo, Ohio; also one sister, Mrs. William Coulter of Rochester, Michigan.

Funeral services were conducted Sunday afternoon at 2:00 o'clock from the residence, Rev. B. G. Matson of the Congregational church officiating. Interment at Brookside.

Mrs. Smith was a devoted Christian and was probably one of the oldest members of the local Methodist church. She was an earnest worker for any good cause; her sympathy was warm and true and she never failed to extend a helping hand. Charlevoix can ill afford to lose citizens of her type and her passing will be greatly regretted.

ENTERTAINED AT BIRTHDAY PARTY

Mrs. Hugh L. Brady Hostess in Honor of Her Grand-daughter

Mrs. Hugh L. Brady entertained eight small girls, Friday, Mar. 4th, in honor of her grand-daughter, Miss Jane Brady, who was celebrating her eighth birthday.

The table was prettily decorated with the cake and its eight lighted candles as the center piece. Each little guest received an Easter sonnet of gay paper and a small box of candies. They left expressing the hope that Grandma would have another party soon.

Tire repairing a specialty. Benj. Brown.—Adv. 10tf.

TEXAS AND SULPHUR MINING

"TOD" LEWIS WRITES OF TRIP IN LONE STAR STATE

"A Wonderful Bird is the Pelican; His Beak Holds More Than His Belly Can"—Tod Saw One

Oral (Tod) Lewis and bride, who are spending the winter in Texas, writes interestingly of a recent visit made to one of the sulphur mines in that vicinity, and also of a boat trip and interesting sights. Personal references in the letter have been left out and Tod and his wife, from all indications, are spending a very happy and pleasant winter.

The letter follows:

There are but three places in the world where sulphur is mined in the manner it is at Hodgkins Mound, about three miles from here, the other locations being Louisana, and a place called Freeport.

A hole is drilled down to the sulphur, usually to the depth of about 800 feet, and a 10-inch steel casing is used. Inside of the casing is three smaller pipes. Down one of the pipes they run water, down the other super-heated steam. You know water boils and becomes steam at 210 degrees, but this is heated to over 400 degrees, almost twice as much as regular steam. That's why they call it super-heated steam.

When the steam comes into contact with the water at the bottom of the hole, it is so hot that the water instantly boils. The boling water melts the sulphur and it floats on the top of the water in the quickly formed hole.

The third pipe is about two or three feet shorter than the other two, and when the sulphur water rises to the end of this shorter pipe, it is pumped up and piped to huge vats. These vats are built of lumber in such a way that they can be torn down after the water runs off or evaporates and the sulphur block becomes hard. The block is located near the railroad tract where it can be easily loaded. As the sulphur gets as hard as rock, it is necessary to use dynamite to break it up, and it is loaded into pocket cars with a steam clam. It is then carried by rail to the loading docks, where it is reloaded in boats for most any port in the world.

A friend and myself were on a block which was 200 feet wide, 300 feet long and 20 feet high, or approximately 36,000 tons. If you don't believe me, figure it out yourself at 60 pounds per square foot. One would not think there was a very high percentage of sulphur in a piece of this stone like substance, but United States geographical tests show it to be 98 per cent pure sulphur.

You will no doubt wonder where and how all this super-heated steam is formed. There are two boiler houses and each house has 26 boilers. These boilers are of the improved tubular type, averaging about 15 feet wide and 20 feet long. Each boiler is heated with three feed pipes, using natural gas (which is plentiful down here in all forms) or crude oil.

I will send a piece of sulphur rock to you so you can see what it is like. This sulphur when pulverized can be used for any and all purposes such as sprays and fumacides. Well, I guess this is enough about sulphur to last you for a while.

(Continued on page 8)

Goodyear high quality tires at the latest reduction in price will please all tire user. Benj. Brown.—Adv. 10tf.

THE BUSY MAN

If you want to get a favor done
By some obliging friend,
And want a promise, safe and sure,
On which you may depend,
Don't go to him who always has
Much leisure time to plan,
But if you want your favor done,
Just ask the busy man.

The man who leisure never has
And never has a spare
He's always "putting off" until
His friends are in despair.
But he whose every waking hour
Is crowded full of work,
For of the art of wasting time
He cannot stop to shirk.

So when you want a favor done
And want it right away,
Go to the man who constantly
Works twenty-four hours a day.
He'll find a moment sure, somewhere,
That has no other use,
And fix your wish, the busy man
Is common sense.

Tapping Time

CORRESPONDENCE

NORWOOD

Wm. Loushia is visiting his sister at Central Lake at present.

Mr. and Mrs. Glen Pearl visited at the Hull home last Friday.

The farmers are now getting ready for the maple syrup season.

Mrs. Harris Pierce was a guest at the Hilton home near Charlevoix last Friday.

Seventy or more voters turned out at the township caucus held at the town hall Monday.

Several of our citizens attended the boxing match held in the Hooker garage Monday evening.

Oscar Light of East Jordan, spent a few days with his brother, George Light and family last week.

Mr. and Mrs. Plenny-Genett visited Mr. and Mrs. Albert Supernaw of Ellsworth, one day last week.

James Runyon visited his father, John Runyon of EastJ ordan, last week. Mr. Runyon is in poor health.

Mr. and Mrs. Colon McKenzie and family of Charlevoix, spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Merril Richardson.

Mr. and Mrs. John McCann of Charlevoix, spent Saturday night and Sunday at their cottage in Norwood.

Mrs. R. B. Stafford was a guest at the L. A. S. meeting, which was entertained by her mother, Mrs. Ethan Jolliffe of Atwood, last Thursday.

Vanden Faculac, who fell while playing in his father's barn a couple weeks ago is in the Charlevoix hospital and is improving.

Rev. Conklin announces that the regular Sunday morning services will begin next Sunday at the usual hour at Norwood. Everyone welcome.

Mrs. Haskins, who has spent two months in Grand Rapids, returned to her home in Norwood last Saturday accompanied by her daughter, Mrs. Boomstra, also Mr. and Mrs. Claud Thompson of Grand Rapids.

A party of fifteen friends and neighbors gathered at the home of Mr. and Mrs. R. B. Stafford last Saturday evening and reminded Mrs. Stafford of her birthday. The evening was spent in games and music, after which refreshments were served and all enjoyed a fine time.

Why buy poor tires at a low price when you can buy a Goodyear tire at that price. Benj. Brown.—Adv. 10tf.

CLARION

W. C. Palmer was a business caller in Charlevoix on Saturday.

Mrs. Lena Hager of Petoskey, is visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. M. Gokee.

Mrs. N. C. Griswold entertained at cards on Saturday evening in honor of Mr. Griswold's birthday.

The Johnson camp has broken up, part of the men returning to their home at Spruce, and some to Alanson.

Mr. and Mrs. Leo Holmberg of Petoskey, were guests at the A. Holmberg home on Saturday evening.

Don Moreau returned Sunday from Lockwood hospital, where he has been taking treatment for nervous trouble.

About sixty guests attended the pot luck supper given at the home of Anton Holmberg on Saturday evening, in honor of his birthday anniversary.

We are at your service on Willard batteries and Goodyear tires at a very low price. Benj. Brown.—Adv. 10tf.

MOUNTAIN DISTRICT

Wm. Sanderson, school treasurer, was nominated for supervisor.

Clare Staley is absent from school today (Tuesday) on account of sickness.

Esther Case went back to school Monday after being absent two weeks with an injured eye.

No school Monday on account of caucus and primary election being held in the school house.

Mrs. Case and daughter, Esther, and Ernest Staley, were the Sunday guests of Mrs. Simpson of Boyne City.

We will observe Patron's Day, Friday, March 11th. A nice program has been arranged, with Mr. Mellancamp as speaker.

On Thursday evening, March 3rd, Mrs. Case, teacher of the Mountain school, had a pleasant surprise, when about thirty-five patrons and friends arrived to remind her of her birthday. The party was arranged by Mrs. Bert Staley and Mrs. Case's daughter, Esther, and was a perfect surprise as Mrs. Case was just getting ready to retire when the crowd came in. Five tables of progresive pedro were played and those who did not care for this game were entertained by other games and music. A delightful luncheon was served by the ladies, topped off by the wonderful cake, decorated with (?) candles and made by Mrs. Staley. The guest of honor was the recipient of several lovely present and after wishing her many more happy birthdays, the party dispersed about two o'clock a. m.

Our aim is to please you with Willard Batteries and Goodyear tires. Benj. Brown.—Adv. 10tf.

BENTLEY HILL

Mrs. B. DeYoung is on the sick list.

Miss Grace Hoogwerf is working in Charlevoix.

Miss D. Dewey spent the week end at the home of B. DeGroot.

Miss D. Dewey was home visiting her parents near Bellnire.

Edward Klooster is home from Central Lake Aid is getting along fine.

Dr. Duffie was called at the home of Edward Klooster, their daughter being sick.

If nothing prevents Hans DeYoung will celebrate their twenty-fifth wedding anniversary, March 10.

Mrs. G. VanderArk, Mrs. W. Kooyer and Mrs. A. Ruis, called at the home of Mrs. Joe Reamsma Friday.

Mrs. H. Reamsma went to Grand Rapids, where she will stay with Fred Reamsma and family for a few weeks.

Mr. Harry Cooper and Miss Perces VanderStreet, were married February 26. Their many friends join in congratulation.

MURRAY SCHOOL

Dorothy Wasuquam had the misfortune to cut her hand while sliding down hill Wednesday.

The Peter's team met the Yahr team in a game of basketball at the Murray school. In the first half it looked as if Peter's was losing, but it takes them sometime to get in motion. In the last half the score was 25 to 16 in favor of Peters. Mr. Jolliffe of Hopyard, acted as referee, McCalmon of Murray as time keeper.

The members of the seventh and eight grades were surprised by a birthday party given in honor of Simon Peters' birthday. The feature of the evening was the cake, which proudly held sixteen candles. Games were played. Everyone left at 9:30 with a light heart.

I have combined my battery and tire repair shop and will give all car owners the service that they are looking for. Benj. Brown.—Adv. 10tf.

No Increasing or Continued dosing necessary with NATURE'S REMEDY (NR, Tablets). There is no griping, sickening or weakening sensations, for Nature's Remedy produces a natural action, without perturbing or stirring up the intestinal content before elimination, preventing the absorption of the toxins by the circulation—that is the reason why you feel stronger, brighter, animated and rejuvenated.

¶ PROVE IT—Make the Test Tonight—take one NR, drink a full glass of water. Tomorrow you will know what it means to be free from Constipation, Biliousness, Sick headache.

NR TO-NIGHT TOMORROW ALRIGHT

SOLD BY YOUR DRUGGIST
CENTRAL DRUG STORE

OF INTEREST TO FARMERS
By B. C. Mellencamp

Another Car of Limestone Sold

The fourth car of limestone purchased in Charlevoix county this winter has been distributed from Boyne Falls during this week and will be used by three farmers in correcting soil acidity. This makes a total of approximately 160 tons that have been bought by some 16 farmers. Henry Lange, Henry Goetch and August Rachner are the farmers who hauled limestone from the last car and it is hoped that the farmers around Boyne Falls will carefully watch the results these men obtain from its use and see for themselves.

It is regretted that no more limestone can be delivered much before the 1st of May, as at the time orders for three more carloads taken at our recent soils and fertilizers meetings were sent in to Petoskey, all the limestone available had been ordered in advance by other counties.

Much activity has been shown in marl, and plans are being made to open up several beds located in different parts of the county. In many cases marl is a much cheaper source of lime than limestone and as a result should be used in large quantities. When marl can be purchased for $1.00 per yard, can any progressive farmer afford not to use it?

In any case if you are interested in its use, if your community is interested, or if you want your land tested for soil acidity, let your agent know and he will be glad to work with you.

Two New Clubs Organized

At the present time Charlevoix county has nine sewing clubs for girls and six handicraft clubs for boys, as a result of two clubs organized recently by your agricultural agent. This means that there are approximately 110 boys and girls between the ages of 10 and 20 who are diligently working on their projects and, incidently, doing a fine job of it.

The following are the clubs, members, and leaders of the two new clubs organized at the Hopyard school:

Leader, Wesley Jolliffe.

Name, Lake View Handicraft Club.

Members, Ernest O'Brien, Pres., Walter Dyer, Vice Pres., Homer Struthers, Sec., Charles Bilow, treas.

Leader, Miss Lena Cooper.

Name, Lake View Sewing Club.

Members, Rosa O'Brien, Pres., Dorothy Struthers, Vice Pres.; Doris Struthers, Sec. and Treas., Dorothy Bilow, Opal Seymour and Helen Pearl.

The clubs are already making preparations for the Achievement Days to be held on May 3rd and 4th at which time the local champion will be selected from each club. Later a big county Achievement Day will be held to select the county champion

Our garage, battery and tire shop is at your service. Benj. Brown.—Adv. 10tf.

LARGE GOITRE REMOVED

Without Operation. Indiana Lady Reports Results. Colorless Liniment Used.

Jeanetta Williams, New Ross, Ind., says: "My goitre came out almost even with my chin and ran up behind my ears. I could not lie on my back for I felt like I would choke and I had terrible spells with my heart. My eyes were affected and was very nervous. I went to be operated on and was told that it was too dangerous. Now my friends hardly know me and my health is greatly improved. I will be glad to answer any letters."

Sold at all drug stores or write Sorbol Company, Mechanicsburg, Ohio. Locally at F. J. Fessenden's drug store.

VALLEY-TO-LAND BUICK A 32-10

sets a

value

for the dollar

that always is the Standard of Comparison

WHEN BETTER AUTOMOBILES ARE BUILT BUICK WILL BUILD THEM

Heaton & Hooper
BOYNE CITY, MICHIGAN

AT THE MOVIES

Corinne Griffith is Styles Leader

With the number of beautiful and stylishly dressed women in Hollywood running up into the hundreds, it is a difficult problem to decide whom they look up to as their fashion arbiter.

But according to recent advices from the sunkist land, it is reported that the acknowledged leader in film colony is Corinne Griffith, fascinating film star. This lovely little actress is reported to set the styles in clothes.

In her latest picture, "Infatuation," the star is said to bring some new styles to the screen, many of which are expected to be worn by fashionable women as soon as they can communicate with their dressmakers.

At the Palace Theatre, Saturday and Sunday, March 12 and 13.

BARNARD

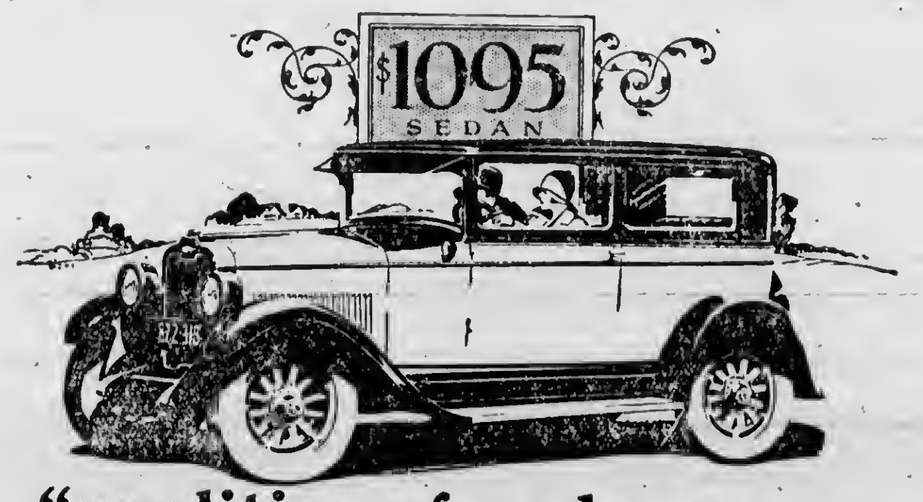
The Ladies' Aid Society are meeting this Wednesday at the church. Pot luck dinner.

George Cork of Pontiac, arrived on Sunday to see his brother, Lee, who is very ill at Charlevoix hospital.

Mr. and Mrs. Levi Molton motored up from Grand Rapids on Saturday, on account of the serious illness of her brother, Lee Cork.

Lee Cork was taken seriously ill with appendicitis last week and was operated on Friday evening. His condition was very serious for a few days, but the last reports were that he was some better.

Burning out chimneys caused many bad fires. Avoid this fire loss by using our Soot Destroyer. It does the work. 15c per pound. Charlevoix Hdw. Co.—Adv. 2tf.



"qualities of endurance once undreamed-of in a car of the thousand dollar class"

In completing its famous 100,000-mile treadmill run in less than six months without the failure of any vital part, the Greater Oakland Six displayed qualities of endurance once undreamed of in a car of the thousand dollar class!

Yet, dramatic as was this publicly conducted test, it only re-proved what thousands upon thousands of owners already know: that the Greater Oakland Six is winning and holding good will——not so much by the superlative beauty of its Fisher Bodies, nor by the marked advantages of Oakland's advanced engineering, but by long life and dependability that have been demonstrated under every conceivable condition of use!

And as a result, all over America the Greater Oakland Six is establishing levels of owner satisfaction that have never been reached by any other car of comparable price!

Oakland Six, $1025 to $1295. The New and Finer Pontiac Six—at New Low Prices—$775 to $975. Bodies by Fisher. All prices at factory. Easy to pay on the General Motors Time Payment Plan.

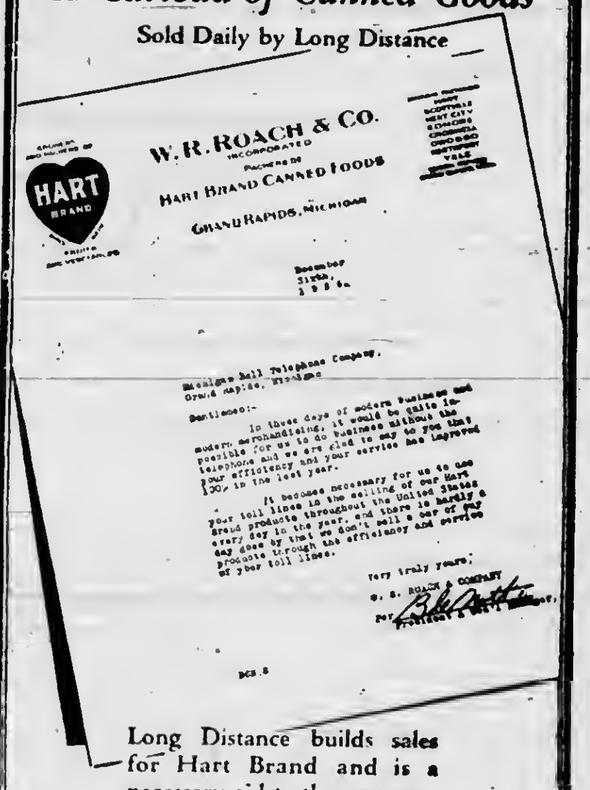
BLOCK & SIMMONS, 113-115 Antrim St., Charlevoix, Mich.

The Greater
OAKLAND SIX
PRODUCT OF GENERAL MOTORS WINNING AND HOLDING GOOD WILL

MICHIGAN BELL TELEPHONE CO.

A Carload of Canned Goods

Sold Daily by Long Distance



HART BRAND
W. R. ROACH & CO.
INCORPORATED
HART BRAND CANNED FOODS
GRAND RAPIDS, MICHIGAN
Michigan Bell Telephone Company,
Grand Rapids, Michigan
Gentlemen:-
In these days of modern business and modern merchandising, it would be quite impossible for us to do business without the telephone and we are glad to say to you that your efficiency and your service has improved 100% in the last year.
It became necessary for us to use your toll lines throughout the United States as our Hart Brand products throughout the United States every day to the year, and there is hardly a day does by that we don't sell a car of our products through the efficiency and service of your toll lines.
Very truly yours,
W. R. ROACH COMPANY
By
President & Gen'l Manager.

Long Distance builds sales for Hart Brand and is a necessary aid to the customer as well as to the producer.

Children's Colds

Are best treated externally. Clear them overnight—without "dosing" by rubbing Vicks over throat and chest at bedtime.

VICKS VAPORUB

An Amazing Success

Feen-a-mint

The Chewing LAXATIVE

Chew It Like Chewing Gum

A pleasure to use. Very efficient. Children love it. No taste but that of sweet mint. The most popular laxative because it's a "satisfier." 15c and 25c.

VALET AutoStrop Razor

sharpens itself

FLIT

DESTROYS

Moths, Roaches Bedbugs, Flies

Other Household Insects

W. E. Byers — John Boss

BYERS & BOSS

Auctioneers

We will cry your sales and clerk them. Furnish cups for all day sales.

Book sales at Courier Office

or call us by phone. All dates are made at The Courier office, phone 2-J. Phone any one of us and we will take care of your sale.

ALABASTER LAMPS

by Margaret Turnbull.

(Chapter Eight Continued)

"Best both of us sail under our true colors from now on and just be our natural, brutal selves! Well, get under way, Ned, and I'll start things here. Jiminy! Polly won't leave me gasping this time. Thought it never would have occurred to me to follow but for you."

Mary Johnston had departed from Clover Hollow with the expectation of returning on the afternoon train, or the next morning at the latest. They went directly to the Plaza, where her mother left Mary and took her own way to the lawyer's office. At least that was the version Mary was allowed to believe.

As a matter of fact, Mrs. Johnston went directly to Loren Rangeley's bank, was ushered at once into the president's private office and held a long consultation. At the end she had negotiated a loan on the land; so that much of her version was true. She had also told Mr. Rangeley that she wished to get away on the first steamer to Europe, where she could live better and cheaper than she could here. It would be better to stay there until her financial position became secure, or at least improved, and it would serve to take Mary away from an undesirable suitor.

Loren Rangeley listened, gravely sympathetic. His quick, cold eyes noted that Mrs. Johnston had lost none of her charm for him; that she wore very well indeed. The loan he was making was amply secured. Indeed, there was every chance of the land experiencing a boom. He was in possession of facts that made this almost a surety, but he did not tell her so. It suited his purpose that while he waited and made up his own mind, she should not be in a position to know that financially she was quite secure.

He agreed with her that it would be better to go abroad with the girl. It is to be noted that even with this lend, and the fact that Mrs. Johnston had been staying in the town Dorothy Selden had wired from, he asked no questions concerning his son. He could and did, by the mere summoning of a private secretary, secure for Mrs. Johnston accommodation on a steamer.

"When do you wish to sail?" Rangeley asked.

"Saturday," said Mrs. Johnston coolly. Somehow she did not like his smiling scrutiny any better this time than she had the last. It would be better to escape before he brought the battery of his elderly charms to bear upon her. In her present financial condition it might be difficult to hold him off successfully. Flight, now, might be as useful in her case as in Mary's.

Mr. Rangeley was mildly surprised at this sudden action, but on the whole pleased. He meant to go abroad this summer himself. Nothing like promptness in action. Mary's suitor must be indeed objectionable to cause Mrs. Johnston to take such drastic measures.

Mrs. Johnston left, with the money and the steamer reservations. At the last moment Mr. Rangeley told her that business might compel him to cross over, possibly within a few days, but Polly Johnston refused to borrow trouble. She took a cab back to the Plaza to break the news to Mary.

Mary listened without speaking, and with wide, homesick eyes. It was incredible! What was there to hold Mary in this country?

Mrs. Johnston had invented the story about the suitor to suit her own purposes, without really visualizing Ned in the background to give her an color. Had she unconsciously told the truth?

It could not be possible that her wonderful Mary had any real feeling about the grocer's clerk. If she had, then thank the Lord they were going! But she would let Mary infer that it was to escape Loren Rangeley. His name once mentioned, Mary made no protest.

It was only when they were dressed for dinner, and their guests had been announced, that Polly ventured to tell the girl the sailing date was Saturday.

Mary said nothing, but under dark brows her blue eyes looked the question that her mother knew must sooner or later be answered.

CHAPTER IX

Not for long now could Polly count on blind obedience. It was not in the nature of things, nor the nature of a grown up daughter. Polly decided the time had come for a frank confession.

While Mary brushed her hair, Polly announced that she meant to go to Venice and look about for a place to spend several months, cheaply and comfortably.

Mary said it sounded interesting, but did not commit herself further. She was tired and hurt by these half-confidences.

Frankness was impossible, until her mother was frank with her. She would not degrade her mother's intelligence, or her own, by playing the hypocrite. Mary said she was sleepy and went to bed. But not to sleep.

Mrs. Johnston stayed in her own room, the door slightly open between them. She disrobed and stood in her dressing gown before the long mirror, a wonderful color study in a soft, clinging chiffon robe of blue, with her red hair flaming against white shoulders. Polly did not take her usual nightly delight in the spectacle. She brushed her hair with no eyes for the vision in the mirror.

"Got to do it, Polly. Come," she said to herself and put down the comb. She went to the door and softly opened it.

"Mary, want to sleep?"

Mary shook her head, turned on the reading light, threw a rose-colored dressing gown over her shoulders and patted the bed beside her. She recognized from her mother's face that the time had come.

"I'd like immensely to have you come and talk yourself out to me. It's been—quite a while," she announced with a sly look up at her mother.

Mrs. Johnston sighed. There was no doubt she was in for it. She sat down, looked at Mary, shut her eyes and took the plunge.

"Mary, I'd like to talk about your father."

Mary sat up. Of all the unlikely things. Talk about her father! Bluebeard's door was about to be opened. From her earliest youth she could remember her mother saying: "Mustn't ask mother questions about father, Mary. It only makes Mummy unhappy and miserable." What could it mean?

Mrs. Johnston settled herself back on Mary's bed.

"How much do you know about me, Mary?"

"Only that you're the nicest mother ever invented," Mary told her, honestly. "The best-looking and the best friend a girl ever had."

Mrs. Johnston leaned over impulsively and kissed the girl.

"I only hope you'll think exactly the same when I get through."

"Hurry up, Mother, and tell. You sound like a 'best seller.'"

"I have known some less interesting plots. Well, we'll begin with the fact that I was born of poor people, in Lilliekills, N. J. My mother and father both died when I was a little thing, about twelve, and a kind woman brought me up. She took me to New Brunswick, and sent me to school. I helped about the house after school hours. She kept a boarding house. I had only one relative in the whole world, my Uncle Michael, my mother's brother, and he was as crabbed an old bachelor as ever drew breath. He was supposed to be in Pennsylvania somewhere, working in the iron mines, when my people died. But nobody could find him, so Mrs. Bradley took me in.

"Mrs. Bradley died, and her sister came and took the house and ran it as a students' boarding-house. I was inherited with the house, and kept right on working there. Mrs. Thomas, the sister, took no interest whatever in me. All she cared about was keeping the house clean and getting the work done. She didn't keep enough servants to do that comfortably, so I had to work from morning to night. It was ghastly."

She paused, looked at Mary shyly and began to describe the men at the boarding house. Mary listened, fascinated. To think that her mother was capable of keeping this odd ghost to herself all these years. It was most romantic. She waited eagerly for the first mention of her father. Her mother hadn't mentioned any Johnston yet, most of her talk was about some man named Dabbs. Her mind wandered off, thinking about the name and the man it suggested to her.

"It must be painful to have a name like that."

"Do you think so?" asked her mother, a little uncertainly. "Well, anyway, this young man lived in the house, but he never looked at me—"

"Mother!" scoffed Mary. "A lovely red-headed girl like you! I don't believe it."

"But you must, darling. There's a lot of difference between red-headed

"Mother, How Brave You Were."

Mrs. Johnston, with lots of money and pretty clothes to set off her looks and hair, and a big, overworked, red headed stepmother-maid in a boarding house.

"I hated nearly all men. I had a mind and hopes above my station. I was paid so little that I could only save money slowly. I wanted to get enough to nerve myself to leave that house. My ambition at that time was to be a school teacher."

She smiled at the girl and Mary smiled back.

"Mother, how brave you were. My heart just aches to think of you, with all your brilliant ideas, tied down that way."

"Bless you, Baby!" her mother exclaimed. "My lost uncle turned up just about then, and found me out. He was a terrible creature; six feet tall, very dry and brittle and had a bad cough, and a vile temper. What was left of his carroty hair had turned a yellow-gray. The poor thing hadn't long to live.

"He had worked too hard, and lived too roughly, to know how to take care of himself. He had plenty of money, I discovered, and while he knew how to take care of it, he didn't know how to spend it. He didn't want to leave it to any one, especially to a girl. But I was all he had—poor soul." For a moment, Mary's mother caressed the toe of her slipper in silence.

"But Mother, please," urged Mary, "how can I wait until you get to me?"

Her mother came back from some long built cavern of her mind.

"Of course," she admitted, "that would naturally interest you most. Though Uncle found me and told me of his money, he swore me to secrecy as far as Mrs. Thomas' boarding house was concerned. He was like a lot of unmarried people, tremendously keen about marrying off the rest of the world. Mrs. Thomas had had a bad first and a wretched second husband, and hated men even worse than I did. She assured Uncle that I was a good girl and kept myself to myself and was perfectly safe.

"Uncle went away without committing himself in any way, but two days later a letter came, saying I was to come to a certain address to see him. I went. It was a private sanitarium, and Uncle was very ill indeed.

"He had his lawyer with him, and then and there I was ordered to get married. Uncle wanted to know that his money was going to some properly married woman with a man to look after her. I think some woman had treated him badly when he was young and poor. He wanted me to get married before any one knew I had any chance of getting money. He wanted me tied up to a hard-working lad who would expect to work for me, and would start honest, as he said, and have a family at once, and as large a family as possible.

"I was shocked and angry, furiously angry. But oh, how I wanted that money! There, it was, dangling in front of me, a chance to learn all the things I longed to know, a chance to travel, to have pretty clothes, all the things I'd sworn to have. My dearest day dreams could be realities now, but would be lost to me unless I had a man to hang them on. I, who hated men, who hadn't wanted, and never had had a young man."

"Oh Mother, what did you do?"

"I didn't know what to do. I came home simply beside myself. I couldn't confide in the cook or Mrs. Thomas. I knew what would happen. They would laugh at me—and despise me. It's odd, isn't it? It's always the women who've made the worst matrimonial blunders who laugh the hardest.

"I found Mrs. Thomas in a fine rage. I'd forgotten to do the third floor before I went out. That was the floor young De Harms, Woods and Dabbs occupied. I went up there as quickly as I could get my things off and began slapping things together. Young Dabbs' room I left to the last, because—well, because he was a decent young fellow and wasn't so faultfinding as the others."

"I thought you hated all men," commented Mary, slyly.

Her mother ignored her. "I went to his room. There he was, sitting all huddled up by the window. I asked him if he minded my doing up the room while he was there, and he said he didn't. He had a telegram clutched in his hand. I could see that he was troubled. By and by I couldn't stand it any longer. I forgot my own troubles. I'd never been so sorry for anyone in my life. I went up to him, and quite forgetting I was a servant, said:

"Mr. Dabbs — Claude — what's wrong?"

"Claude!" Mary exclaimed. "Claude Dabbs? What a funny name! Why, it's the same as—"

Her mother stopped her with a quick: "It was funnier than that. I discovered afterward it was Claude Melnotte Dabbs."

Mary's soft laugh rang out, and then she checked it.

"Oh Mother, I'm sorry. I'm so interested. Hurry and tell."

(Continued on page 7)

Overdoing?

Hurry, Worry and Overwork Bring Heavy Strain.

MODERN life throws a heavy burden on our bodily machinery. The eliminative organs, especially the kidneys, are apt to become sluggish. Retention of excess uric acid and other poisonous waste often gives rise to a dull, languid feeling and, sometimes, toxic backaches and headaches. That the kidneys are not functioning perfectly is often shown by burning or scanty passage of secretions. More and more people are learning to assist their kidneys by the occasional use of Doan's Pills—a stimulant diuretic. Ask your neighbor!

DOAN'S PILLS 60c

Stimulant Diuretic to the Kidneys

Foster-Milburn Co., Mfg. Chem., Buffalo, N. Y.

Avoid Draggy Mornings by Eating Right Breakfasts—Get

QUICK QUAKER

"Stands By" You All Morning

Cooks in 2½ to 5 Minutes

LET THE COURIER PRINT YOUR SALE BILLS

$670

¾-Ton Chassis f. o. b. Detroit

GRAHAM BROTHERS TRUCK—

Think of a Graham Brothers Truck at $670!

Quality, power, speed, ruggedness, fine appearance, low operating cost—dependability for day-in and day-out performance!

Improved Dodge Brothers engine!

Only great mass production enables Graham Brothers to build so good a truck at so low a price.

Graham Brothers Trucks are built in ¾, 1, 1½ and 2-Ton capacities. They meet 91% of all hauling requirements. They are sold by Dodge Brothers Dealers Everywhere.

GRAHAM BROTHERS DETROIT

BENJAMIN BROWN

CHARLEVOIX, MICHIGAN

The CHARLEVOIX COURIER
Issued every Wednesday at
CHARLEVOIX . MICHIGAN

DuBois & Usher, Publishers
A. J. Usher, Editor and Business Mgr.
Courier Building Van Pelt Place

Entered at the Post Office in Charlevoix, Mich., as second class matter.

Member Michigan Press Ass'n

Advertising Rates

For advertising rates apply for schedule.

Notices of church or lodge socials and entertainments, where admission is charged, regular rates.

Obituary poetry, regular rates.

Card of Thanks, 25 cents.

TERMS OF SUBSCRIPTION

One copy, one year $2.00
One Copy, six months $1.00
One Copy, three months .....$ .60

STUDY OUR GOVERMENT

Government is a science, and politics is enextricably mixed up with government. If every citizen would undertake to make a study of our government in particular, he would undertake a job that he would find absolutely fascinating. Such a study would inevitably make him a better citizen, at least from the point of view of performing his civic duties and acting as if he had a direct interest and responsibility in governmental affairs.

One question which has always persisted, which has never been answered completely, and which will always persist, is: "What is the best form of government?" Each nation must answer that question for itself, but never to the satisfaction of all the people, because perfection is unattainable. The reasons why perfection is practically impossible are to be found in the progress of the world itself; in changing conditions; in new developments; in invention, discoveries and the changing character of the people. Therefore what is or should be sought is an adequate rather than a complete solution of the problem. Bryce, in discussing the historical evolution of democracy, points out that when the curtain rises on the eastern world in which civilization first appeared, kingship is found existing in all considerable states, and chieftainship in tribes not yet developed into states. This condition lasted on everywhere. The turn towards government of the people and away from kingship came not from any doctrine that the people have a right to rule, but from a determination to put and end to lawless oppression by privileged class. The break down of the old Roman oligarchy was a step towards the development of civic rights and the popular element in the Roman constitution was strengthened. But historians point out that Rome never became more than partially democratic. Then came the fall of the Roman Republic and the rule of the people, such as it was, ended there.

The experiment which really began with the Constitutional convention in 1787 has resulted not only in an adequate government for the United States, but has had a great influence on all the governments of the world. There is no question that the present government of the United States began with a great doubt in the minds of many, including George Washington, Thomas Jefferson and Alexander Hamilton, as to whether it would be a success. During the one hundred and forty years since the Constitutional convention, this country has passed through many crises, including the great Civil war. If the experiment proposed in 1787 and put into effect in 1789 had not been successful, and if the foundations laid then had not been stable, this government in its present form would long have ceased to exist. There are many who think that the Civil war was not as great a crisis as other incidents in our history. There were dangers attendant to the development of our financial system which might have wrecked the country and forced a change in the form of government. The free silver danger in 1896, and, further back, greenbackism, were serious situations in the development of the country. The first fifty years were a period when the real foundations of our government were laid in the interpretations of the Constitution by the Supreme court of the United States, and through the maintenance of the balance of authority and liberty which is necessary in any government which looks toward permanence and stability.

Wither's Variety Store

St. Patrick's Day Novelties

The Store where Every Day is Bargain Day.

98c
WATKINS
GIANT
VANILLA

GOOD NEWS!
BIG-BARGAINS!

Is your Vanilla supply low? Then drop me a post card. I will deliver right away or I will prepay parcel post charges on orders of $3.00 or over.

WILLIAM HUNTER
Charlevoix, Mich.

Wait for Watkins-It Pays!

CAPITAL PUNISHMENT

The lower house of the Michigan legislature has declared by a substantial majority in favor of capital punishment. Whether this same wave of public sentiment will sweep up to and overwhelm the senate is yet to be determined, but whatever the fate of this measure during the present session, there is no disputing the fact that the public has been thoroughly aroused, they are going to demand some sort of disciplinary measures that will effectually stop the present growth of crime in this state.

We do not believe the average individual is ready in favor of the legalized taking of human life, except as a last resort for the protection of society. Where crime is allowed to become attractive, where men and women are deliberately engaged in taking it up as a profession, where organized efforts are put forth to save criminals from prison cells, then something radical from a preventive standpoint must be done if society is to continue.

We have no desire to criticise those who are in favor of capital punishment. The staggering growth of crime in recent years has won thousands of converts to the belief that "an eye for an eye" is all there is left. Governor Fred W. Green has assured the citizens of Michigan that he is committed to a policy of determined warfare against crime. As long as he is governor the convicted criminal is going to be made to serve out the sentence of the court; judges and prosecutors will be urged to speed up court procedure, while enforcement officers are warned that there must be prompt apprehension of the guilty following the commission of a crime. Two years should be allowed to work out such a program, rather than to allow the backward swing of the pendulum to a point inconsistent with the age of civilization in which we live.

NO FURTHER REDUCTION

It seems certain at the present time that this congress will adjourn without taking any action in the matter of further tax reduction, or more particularly a reduction in the corporation tax. It is fully admitted that this reduction is both desirable and necessary, that a sufficient surplus exists to make it possible, but for some reason or other it cannot be done. We are not disposed to assume that politics is mixed up with tax question, but it is a little difficult to understand and reconcile the various arguments, statements and assertions in connection with this matter. It is always difficult to understand why any matter involving politics must be complex and why the simple problem—a surplus, and excessive taxes, and a willingness to reduce the taxes—cannot be solved at once. However, politics and simplicity are apparently irreconcilable.

SAFETY IN CHECKS

One of the subjects most prolific in the way of texts for comment is that of the safety provided by banks to persons to engage in financial transactions of any kind. Many more persons should adopt the plan of making payments by checks instead of in currency.

Every few days the newspapers publish accounts of thefts which have been committed in cases of persons who withdraw sums of money from the banks, or pay money they have kept in their homes for payments on property or other transactions.

A bank check eliminates all possibility of loss of money in making payments. Bankers are particular to know that persons presenting checks for payment are entitled to the money, and even if a check is stolen it is highly improbable that it can be negotiated by the thief. Banks require identification before making payment on checks, and the writer of the check can immediately stop payment on it if it is stolen.

Persons who keep money in the home do so at their own risk. Would-be thieves have means of securing information which may not be suspected by the person who keeps money in his home, or they may even take a chance of finding currency hidden around the house. The resulting loss is the same.

There is no reason why an individual should draw currency from the bank when a check will complete a financial transaction; neither is there any excuse for a person who receives money undertaking to be his own banker.

BACK TO THE FARM

The farm has much left to compensate those who will cling to the oldest of human endeavors, the tilling of the soil. Despite the uneconomic conditions that have hindered agriculture of late years, there still remains sufficient prosperity to make it a desirable occupation for those who have a willingness to work and make the most of their opportunities. For over a decade the tide of population was away from the farms and towards the cities. Now it is beginning to swing back again. Many thousands who gave up farm life and followed the lure of higher wages into the industrial centers, are now convinced that all the glitter they first visualized was not gold. They have come to the day of their awakening and are going back to take up life where they left off.

They have learned that, except for the few, the city did not have many of the substantial things of life to offer them. They have discovered that back out on the farm they will have a better chance to rear their boys and girls to clean and upright manhood and womanhood. This new generation of American farmers will be a more contented generation. Their short transition to the city has not taken from them their respect for the old-fashioned things that made empire builders of their forefathers. Under this new impulse the country church will be rehabilitated, it will again be the melting pot of community life, its influence for good will have a new force in the agricultural life of the state. By all means let us hasten that day.

BECOMING A LOST ART

The art of letter writing, like the art of conversation, seems to be falling into disuse, yet who doesn't thrill at the prospect that the mail will bring a letter? But many letters contain little more than humdrum accounts of daily trivialities, and frequently even they are told in a complaining way, and too many are of the "Sorry - I - haven't written - sooner - I - must - close - now - as - I - have - so - much - to - do" type. Rarely are excuses interesting to the reader. If the writer had really wished to write sooner he could have made an opportunity. Tales of woe, unless given a humorous slant, are too depressing for the friendly letter, and letters that start, "There is nothing to write about," should never be written. It should be no more difficult to write a letter than to carry on a conversation for a letter is simply a conversation at long distance.

AGENTS OF PROSPERITY

In his annual report, secretary of the treasury Melon calls attention to the banking capacity in excess of commercial and industrial needs. He says in part:

"This great banking capacity springs from the broadly spreading method of hand-to-mouth buying, with less money tied up in inventories;

"From better organization of transportation, both of railroad and automobile truck, the greater speed reducing the total amount of goods in transit and the capital so tied up, as well as the waste enroute."

PUBLIC SENTIMENT

Public sentiment is everything. With public sentiment nothing can fail; without it nothing can succeed. Consequently he who moulds public sentiment goes deeper than he who enacts statutes or pronounces decisions. He makes statutes and decisions possible or impossible to be executed.—Abraham Lincoln.

FRESHENING BREEZES

They say the woman always pays, but this time our sympathy goes to young Ormison.

The old-fashioned native who committed suicide by going over into the Irish settlement and hurrahing for the Republican party, has been succeeded by the gent who leaves the garage doors closed while he runs the motor to warm up the car on a frosty morn.

Folks delight in figuring out how many things Henry Ford could do with two billion dollars. Well, one thing he couldn't do, and that was to run a country newspaper without advertising.

The fellow who is driving a golf ball before him from Florida to California estimates it will take over a million strokes. We hit one that far with one sock last summer right after we'd missed an eight-inch putt.

The free Florida orange racket has started up again. If you want any oranges or grapefruit it's always a good plan to take the town grocer into your confidence.

Many a citizen who wouldn't loan his next door neighbor a ten spot without a promisory note, will haul right off and cash a check for the first stranger that happens along.

Scientists say man retained his tail some time after he became intelligent. You will observe that was in the days before the wife could lean over and slam the automobile door shut.

One thing that leads us to believe the stories of George Washington's greatness—he didn't begin his name with an initial.

Pure thots and short skts. don't go together, says the good morals league. Mebbe that was the original intention.

Prohibition enforcement officials will be allowed to let their sense of smell lead them to places where illicit liquor is being made, if a bill introduced by Senator Pulver becomes a law. What a good thing that fried onions are not banned by the statutes.

Bad check artists are again abroad in Michigan. It's always a good plan not to go into the banking business without first obtaining a state or national charter.

And Now in Closing—

I hope I shall always possess firmness and virtue enough to maintain what I consider the most enviable of all titles, the character of an "honest man."—George Washington.

* * * * * * * * * *
* CONGREGATIONAL CHURCH *
* B. G. Mattson, D. D., Minister *
* * * * * * * * * *

At the service last Sunday the pastor introduced a series of lenten sermons on "The Mastery of the Divine Master" with a study of the character of John the Baptist. The subject for the coming Sunday morning will be "The Self Mastery of Christ."

The evening service next Sunday will continue the plan of an open question forum. These evening meetings are being led by our young people with a hearty invitation to any and all the congregation to be present, and bring written questions for discussion.

The midweek meeting was announced for the hour of 6:45 p. m. Thursday as a special workers meeting in the interest of an active campaign of parish visitation during the lenten season.

The service at Ironton was held last Sunday after the pastor had conducted the funeral service for Mrs. Willard A. Smith in Charlevoix. A goodly congregation waited faithfully for the pastor to arrive forty-five minutes late. The service will be held at two-thirty on time next Sunday.

You can be successful in boosting your town, but don't try to shove it

New Spring Stock
Of
Peter Pan Prints Peter Pan Ginghams Peter Pan Voils
Guaranteed Fast Colors 50c a yard
New Spring Patterns in
Percales, Ginghams, Challies, Silkolines
M. A. Levinson & Co.

"PARIS"
Sewing Machine
Makes a Perfect Stitch

The "Paris" has reliable spring top tension, positive take-up, automatic tension release, self-setting needle, needle cannot be put in wrong, strong perfect feed, shuttle ejector, self-threading shuttle, automatic bobbin winder, is complete with full set of attachments and does all kinds of work.

This Machine is a good buy at $60.00
OUR CASH PRICE DURING SALE
$39.75

The "Paris" is built extra fine for the retail trade. Substantial and beautiful, full quarter sawed golden oak woodwork, strong, light-running, ball bearing, grey iron ribbon stand, four drawers, hand lift, apron front. Manufactured by the New Home Sewing Machine Co., and practically the same machine. We absolutely guarantee the quality. See them on display in our window.

S. M. SEE & SONS
RELIABLE HOUSEFURNISHERS

PALACE THEATRE
Tuesday Evening, March 15
8:00 p. m.
"LADY FRANCES"
"MARIA--MARI"
"LADY-BUG, LADY-BUG"
The Musical Event of the Year
Given by the school music department.
Don't Miss It.

Zonite
For Cuts and Wounds
Prevent infection! Treat every cut, wound or scratch with this powerful non-poisonous antiseptic. Zonite actually kills germs. Helps to heal, too.

Since 1857
Eagle Brand has raised more healthy babies than all other infant foods combined.
Borden's
EAGLE BRAND
CONDENSED MILK

THE OLDEST BANK IN CHARLEVOIX COUNTY
FORTY-THIRD YEAR IN BUSINESS

1884 1927

It's Appreciated

Whether you start your account with a small or a large amount your business is appreciated here. The man behind the window who handles your transactions—the officer with whom you discuss some business or financial problem, will, you will find, take an interest in your affairs, in a way that conserves your time and in a manner that suggests our appreciation of your patronage.

Charlevoix County Bank

CHARLEVOIX, MICHIGAN

Bridge & Company

THE BANK ON THE CORNER

LOCAL NEWS BRIEFLY TOLD

Get the Habit—Read the Courier

COMMUNITY CALENDAR
Coming Events

March 10. Last number Lyceum Course, Palace Theatre.

March 11. W. C. T. U. meeting with Mrs. M. B. Hooker.

March 15. Program by school music department, Palace Theatre, 8:00 p. m.

March 16. Woman's Missionary Society, birthday supper at Congregational church.

March 17. Catholic Ladies' supper.

March 23. Parent-Teacher Association meeting, high school, usual hour.

March 25. Spring vacation of public schools begins.

March 29. W. C. T. U. honorary members banquet.

April 8. M. E. Ladies' Aid supper.

April 10-17. Holy Week services at First Methodist church.

April 17. Easter Cantata, Baptist church, 4 p. m.

April 17. Easter Sunday.

Frank Kenyon was a Charlevoix visitor over the week end.

The W. C. T. U. will meet Friday, at 2:30, at the home of Mrs. M. B. Hooker.

O. D. Hammond left Wednesday morning for Grand Rapids on a business trip.

William Wallace, Jr., made a business trip to Boyne City last Friday afternoon.

Dick Fultz and family spent Sunday with relatives and friends in Boyne City.

Mrs. Raymond Seymour, who underwent an operation at the Petoskey hospital some four weeks ago, returned to her home in this city Sunday afternoon.

Miss Emily Prussing of Traverse City, visited Charlevoix friends over the week end.

The Busy Bees meet on Friday afternoon of this week with Mrs. Andy McCall, Jr.

Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Usher and daughter, Ardis, visited relatives in East Jordan Sunday.

Martin Block is using a new Chevrolet delivery car, a recent purchase from Block & Simmons.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Glassenger of Petoskey, visited Charlevoix friends and relatives last Sunday.

Cartier's tailor shop is receiving a new coat of wall paper this week. Elmer Poole is doing the job.

Mrs. Alex. Cameron returned last Wednesday from Chicago, where she has been spending the winter.

The Literary and Sewing Club will meet with Mrs. Benj. Brown on Thursday afternoon of this week.

Henry Block left Tuesday for Pontiac, Michigan, after Pontiac cars for the Block & Simmons agency.

Regular meeting of the Pythian Sisters, Monday evening, March 14. Refreshments at close of meeting.

Changes are being made at the express office this week to allow for more space in the shipping room.

Earl A. Young made a business trip to Petoskey, Boyne City and Harbor Springs Monday afternoon.

Miss Monica Smith was a guest at the home of Mr. and Mrs. George June, Midway, several days last week.

Benj. Brown and Floyd Griffin left Sunday for Detroit, and will drive back new Dodge cars for the Brown agency.

Will Finucan of Grand Rapids, was in the city over the week end visiting his sisters, Mary and Eleanor Finucan.

Sam Hamilton returned last Thursday from Grand Rapids, where he had been spending a few days on business.

A. H. Buttars and F. P. Geiken of Pellston, were in Charlevoix last Wednesday to attend the funeral of A. E. Mason.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Ranger spent last Sunday near Horton Bay visiting Mrs. Ranger's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Robt. West.

John Veenstra, living south of the city, is driving a new 4-door Dodge sedan purchased from the Benj. Brown agency last week.

M. B. Hooker left Tuesday for Mt. Pleasant, with the intentions of buying several teams of work horses. He made the trip by auto.

Baxter Relief Corps will hold a special meeting Tuesday, March 15, to initiate a large class. Every member is requested to be present.

Charles Spare and Arlo Crites returned to their home in Detroit last Wednesday, being called here by the death of Mrs. William Gregory.

Mrs. L. J. McCann received a fine box of fresh dates last week from her son, Luther, who is now located at Coachilla Valley, California.

Annie Kenning Wood returned to Charlevoix Tuesday from Clawson, Grand Rapids and Chicago, where she has been spending the winter.

Joseph Deerwood of Sault Ste. Marie, who will be remembered as a resident of this city about twenty years ago, visited friends here over the week end.

Mrs. Arlo Crites, Mrs. James Weldon and Mrs. Dave Anderson returned to Detroit Saturday afternoon, having been called here by the death of Mrs. Crites' mother, Mrs. W. S. Gregory.

The W. E. Byers dray line have added a new one and one-half ton Graham truck to their fleet of cars, recently purchased from the Benj. Brown agency.

Perry Mason left Monday for his home in Ann Arbor. He was accompanied by his mother and sister, who will make their home with him for an indefinite time.

Mrs. L. D. Coulter of Detroit and Mrs. Wm. Coulter of Rochester, Michigan, were in Charlevoix over the week end, called here by the death of Mrs. Willard A. Smith.

Petoskey tax payers will be asked to vote on the matter of raising $5,000.00 at the spring election for city advertising purposes. The proposition carried unanimously last year.

William Cook and wife are home from Florida, where they have been spending the winter. They are about the first among our local people who have been in the south to return home.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Sears, Sr. and Mr. and Mrs. Frank Sears, Jr., arrived in Charlevoix Tuesday morning, having motored through from Florida, where they have been spending the winter.

Born, to Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Loveface of Detroit, February 6, an eight pound baby boy, who will be known as John Bell II. Mrs. Loveface will be remembered by Charlevoix friends as Miss Hilda Anderson.

Wyers & Smith report the sale of several cars during the past week: a Hudson brougham to George Glados, Essex coaches to Glenn See and Orson Everts, a Whippet to Floyd Black; and Essex sedans to Ben Yettaw and Rev. B. G. Mattson.

The Petoskey city council has followed the example of many other city councils throughout the state and other states and has adopted a special milk ordinance, providing for the licensing of milk delivery dealers, retail dealers and milk stations and for the inspection of these places.

Charlevoix high school basketball team lost a close game to East Jordan at the latter city last Friday evening. East Jordan outplayed the local squad during the first three quarters of the game and a final quarter rally by the local, nearly upset Jordan's large lead. Charlevoix led by one point with but a minute or more to play, when a field goal for East Jordan cinched the game for them just before the final whistle.

St. Patrick's Day dance at I. O. O. F. hall, Thursday evening, March 17. Music by Durance Orchestra.—10t1.

WHAT OTHERS SAY OF COMING LYCEUM BILL

Casford Concert Company Sure to Please Most Critical

An exceptional musical and entertainment organization, the Casford Concert company, will appear on the Lyceum course here Thursday evening, March 10, 1927.

Fern L. Casford, reader and pianist, Winifred Casford, violinist and soprano, and Bryne Smith, harpist, compose the company and present a program of outstanding interest.

Wherever these popular young entertainers go, critics are unanimously enthusiastic. The following comments are typical.

Wonderfully pleasing, highly talented and much appreciated.—Rochester, N. Y.

Miss Fern L. Casford is a real artist. She puts both head and heart into her work as an entertainer. She has that rare ability to please folks under adverse conditions as well as under most favorable environments. She always leaves something worth while to think about.—Lincoln, Neb.

The Casford Concert company played to a capacity house and pleased immensely.—Ft. Plain, N. Y.

Their program was high class in every respect. They pleased our most critical music lovers.—Savannah, N. Y.

NORDRUM RESIDENCE DAMAGED BY BLAZE

Second Story a Compete Loss—Will Rebuild at Once

The Oluf Nordrum residence on Park avenue was badly damaged by fire last Thursday. The blaze was discovered shortly afternoon by Mrs. Don Campbell, who was sick in bed at her home on River street, across the river from Park avenue. She called her husband's attention to the fire and he immediately turned in the alarm and notified the Nordrum family, who were unaware of the impending danger.

The fire, which probably started from a spark on the roof, crept all through partitions of the second story and kept the fire department busy for more than an hour to check it's advance. Most personal belongings were removed to safety. The loss was covered by insurance and Mr. Nordrum will rebuild at once.

METHODIST CHURCH

Sermons next Sunday:

"The Church in the Heart." 10:30 a. m.

"Confucious or Christ," 7:00 p. m.

China is in the limelight today. She has her name quite frequently on the front pages of our great dailies. What is it all about? See the still pictures, the pantomine, "The Spirit of China" and hear the music next Sunday evening at the hour of worship.

The Epworth League meets for young people's hour at six o'clock next Sunday. A good leader and a good program and a welcome to all are provided.

Rev. J. B. Pettling, Methodist Episcopal minister in Boyne City, was the men's special speaker last Monday evening. His subject was "Vision." He was much appreciated by the men. The superintendent of the East Jordan schools will be the special speaker next Monday evening at six-thirty o'clock. Another big attendance is expected.

Prayer meetings on Tuesday evening at seven for the young people and on Thursday evening at seven-thirty for all people.

A fine company of Epworth League young and their friends met for a pot luck supper with Rev. and Mrs. C. E. Pollock at their home and spent the evening last Tuesday in fellowship, games and progressive plans.

The Sunday school is having a fine interest in Bible study each Sunday at noon.

Easter plans are now under way.

The Juniors will meet for worship at the regular morning hour next Sunday. Every Junior will be welcome.

Notice!

I have the agency for a high grade line of Lubricating Oils, Paints and Roofing material, and can furnish these useful articles direct from the factory at an attractive price. I will make a specialty of repairing leaky roofs, re-placing old roofs, putting on new roofs and furnishing material for that purpose. Let me figure out the best way to remedy your roof troubles. A. C. Hansen, phone 227. —Adv. 10t2.

COURIER BARGAIN COLUMN.

Courier Want Advs. are One Cent per word per insertion. Minimum charge is 20 cents per insertion, for anything under 20 words. All Want Advs. are strictly cash in advance except to those who have ledger accounts. Please remember this when sending in your copy.

WANTED—MISCELLANEOUS

WANTED—Dressmaking. Mrs. Lizzie Powell, 306 Hurlbut avenue, phone 434.—10t4.

WANTED—Well drilling and well repair work of all kinds. Address Charles Klienfelt, Harbor Springs, Mich., phone 162-F5—10t1.

WANTED—Mackinaw boat hull, with or without sails or motor. Give dimensions, conditions and equipment and best cash price. J. F. Miller, 3475 Lycaste Ave., Detroit, Mich. 9t3-c o w-pd.

MISCELLANEOUS

ORDER your "Betty B" Hats for Easter now. Children and adults. Mrs. Russel, 202 Grant St., phone 61. 10t2.

WANTED—TO RENT

FOR RENT—On share basis, farm in Barnard district, near Charlevoix. Five cows on the farm. Write Wm. N. Lewis, care VonPlaten-Fox Co., Iron Mountain, Mich. 9t2.

FOR SALE—LIVE STOCK

FOR SALE—Red and white cow, freshened February 10th. Frank Hyek, phone 7000F4. 9t2.

FOR SALE—Purebred Barred Rock Cockerals at half price. Also Cod Liver Oil at $1.25 per gallon. William Sanderson, Enst Jordan, Rt. 2, or Boyne city Phone. 9t2.

FOR SALE—REAL ESTATE

FOR SALE—8 acres covered with second growth timber, on M-11, inside city limits, suitable for filling station, auto camp and store. Write "H." care of this office. 10tf.

FOR SALE—MISCELLANEOUS

FOR SALE—Garland range, burns wood or coal, in good condition. Inquire at 200 Sheridan street. 10t1.

FOR SALE — Sugar bush outfit, about 300 buckets and two sap pans. Inquire of Albert Balch, Charlevoix, Rt. 1. phone 7004F4. 9t2.

FOR RENT—HOUSE

FOR RENT—8-room house with basement furnace, bath, garage, hen house, park, garden, fruit. Possession May. Address B. P. Wilkinson, Bellaire.—7-tf.

HELP WANTED.

WANTED — Sales representative with car and small capital to sell nationally advertised line. Time sales financed. A dignified, money making proposition for right man. Box 267, Lansing, Michigan. 10t3.

1905 1927

FINANCIAL IMPETUS

The history of business proves that the right banking connection gives financial "impetos" for a proper start, and insures a successful finish. The completeness of our organization provides all those elements of personal service which appeal alike to the beginner in finance and the experienced user of banking facilities. We'd be glad to talk to you whenever you are in our vicinity.

Charlevoix State Savings Bank

CHARLEVOIX, MICHIGAN

W. S. Richardson, President.
A. D. Crimmins, Vice President.
Archie Livingston, Cashier.
G. W. Richardson, Asst. Cashier.

LENTEN SPECIALS

For Friday and Saturday

Fish foods will occupy an important place on all Lenten menus—and since they will—we have made special preparation to have an ample supply on hand. We offer these as week-end specials:

Franco-American Spaghetti, per can.....10c
Oil Sardines, 2 cans for.....15c
1 lb. can of Richelieu Sardines for.....15c
Red Salmon, a pound can for.....30c
Richelieu Fish Flakes, can.....15c
Fresh Salted Mackerel, per lb.....25c

Let us supply these important articles of diet for your table.

MARTIN BLOCK

Opposite Post Office Phones 12 and 142

NEW PALACE THEATRE

ATTRACTIONS FOR THE COMING WEEK

Saturday and Sunday, March 12-13

Corinne Griffith in "INFATUATION." Orchid of the screen, in another triumph, of drama and beauty—just as you loved her in "Black Oxen" and "Classified" you'll rave over her now! For wives and husbands and lovers! For women who tell their men too much, and for men who refuse to listen until—! But see it! It's as big as your own heart—as close to your life as your own love. Corinne Griffith at her best—a triumph! Also Fox comedy "Moving Day."

Wednesday, March 16

Hoot Gibson in "THE MAN IN THE SADDLE." Let'er rip boys! Hoot is off again on one of his raring, tearing, rip-snorting rides, hell-bent-for-election. Never before has Hoot given you a more daring, exciting picture! Hoot in a comedy-thriller that'll keep you in suspense and hilarious laughter. It's a hard to beat picture. Also "Life Missing Link" and Fox News.

COMING—Harold Lloyd in his latest and greatest comedy "THE KID BROTHER." Second showing in Michigan.

COMING—"LUNATIC AT LARGE."

COMING—Clara Bow in "MANTRAP."

$5.85 $6.00 $6.50

Young Men Who Care About Their Personal appearance.

We have just received a shipment of "Doggy" Spring Oxfords." They are snappy, good looking "kicks."

CAMPBELL BOOT SHOP

Over the Coffee Cups

Discussion naturally turns to the kind of coffee used. The choice seems to be the

Monarch Brand

Nothing adds more to the success of the day than a good cup of coffee at the morning meals. Use no other than Monarch Brand, and always be assured of a good drink. We have sold it for years and recommend it to our customers.

Milton Block

STYLE·QUALITY·PERFORMANCE

Comparable to the Costliest Cars

The Most Beautiful Chevrolet in Chevrolet History

at these low prices!

The Touring or Roadster	$525
The Coach	$595
The Coupe	$625
The 4-Door Sedan	$695
The Sport Cabriolet	$715
The Landau	$745
½ Ton Truck Chassis Only	$395
1 Ton Truck Chassis Only	$495

All Prices Fob Flint Michigan
Balloon tires now standard on all models.

In addition to these low prices, Chevrolet's delivered prices include the lowest handling and financing charges available.

Because it provides elements of style, quality and performance comparable to the costliest cars, and because it is offered at amazingly reduced prices—the Most Beautiful Chevrolet is everywhere acclaimed as the greatest sensation of America's greatest industry.

Come in! See and drive this greatest triumph of the world's largest builder of gearshift automobiles. Learn for yourself what amazing value is offered in the Most Beautiful Chevrolet—how closely, in style, quality and performance, it compares with the costliest cars.

PETOSKEY AUTO SALES
East Mitchell Street, Petoskey, Michigan
BLOCK & SIMMONS, Charlevoix, Local Agents

QUALITY AT LOW COST

Permanent streets are a good investment—not an expense

Don't Let Your Community Make the Same Mistake

Within recent years many communities have made the mistake of paving their highways at what they considered a "bargain price." The taxpayers thought they would save thousands of dollars.

In many instances the maintenance has not only wiped out the hoped for saving, but has exceeded original cost. And in many cases also it has been necessary to build entirely new streets—of permanent construction.

There are communities, however, which know that cheapest is not always the best. Many of these also built streets several years ago. And they built for permanence with concrete.

These concrete streets, built in accordance with approved standards of highway construction, are in as good condition today as when they were laid.

Which of these communities will yours be?

Send for our free illustrated booklet—"Concrete Streets for Your Town"

PORTLAND CEMENT ASSOCIATION
Dime Bank Building
DETROIT, MICH.
A National Organization to Improve and Extend the Uses of Concrete
Offices in 31 Cities

UNDER THE DOME AT THE CAPITOL

(Continued from page one.)

of the minimum working week hours for women and minors has passed the house.

Senator Chas. E. Green of Richmond has introduced a bill providing that control of construction of trunk lines through villages and cities be taken from the state highway department and given to the counties in which such good roads are located.

The house has passed a bill introduced by Rep. Jesse E. Fuller of Alma, requiring the superintendent of public instruction to give a bond of $10,000, the expense to be borne by the state.

A bill sponsored by Rep. Wm. Farrand of Detroit providing more severe punishment for persons giving false alarms of fire passed the house, as did one introduced by Rep. W. P. Strauch of Vernon, regulating the compensation of veterinarians in contagious livestock disease work.

Rep. Chas. Culver of Detroit has introduced a bill providing for a state board to examine, register and license chiropractors.

Rep. John Gillette of Kalkaska, fosters a bill providing for consolidation of libraries in adjoining townships if the voters of the proposed districts approve.

Rep. Wm. J. Thomas of Cummingsburg sponsors a bill denying divorce to any person who has previously been divorced for any reason except infidelity.

Rep. Fred Ming of Cheboygan, has introduced a bill requiring individual trappers to take out a special license. Non-residents are barred.

Senator Karcher of Rose City, introduced a bill giving the conservation department authority to purchase the Salling-Hanson tract of pine in Crawford county. There are 8,238 acres in the tract, of which about 80 acres is virgin white pine, said to be the largest tract left to the state. The price asked is about $80,000.

Rep. Fred Ming introduced a bill to clear up the matter of corporation reports. Two reports are now required by law, when it seems but one should be necessary.

Rep. Brake of Fremont introduced a bill to license meat markets and grocery stores and to prohibit their doing business on Sunday.

Rep. Robert Wardell of Detroit introduced a bill Thursday which would make mandatory the teaching of United States history, civil government, patriotism and the duties of citizenship in all schools.

Several bills have been introduced amending the gas tax law. One by Rep. Earl McNitt of Wexford county would divide the county share of the money equally between all the counties of the state, with the provision that each county must present plans for the use of the money before it is apportioned.

Rep. Chas. Bartlett of Detroit, introduced a bill Thursday making changes proposed by Gov. Green in the workmen's compensation act.

Both branches held a brief session Friday morning and adjourned until Monday night at 8 o'clock.

ANNOUNCE PRICE OF NEW CAR LINE

Dodge Brothers Places 6-Cylinder Car on Market

Public announcement was made in January that Dodge Brothers, Inc., will enter the market this summer with a car in the higher priced field. Since that time Dodge Brothers dealers everywhere have been beset with an incessant flood of inquiries regarding the new supplementary car.

Benj. Brown, local dealer, has just received an official announcement from Detroit emphasizing some of the statements previously made regarding the new car and containing information of interest to many prospective purchasers.

"We are pleased to advise Dodge Brothers' dealers that progress on the supplementary car is thoroughly up to schedule and it will be available for moderate retail delivery on or before July 1st, the date heretofore announced.

"We are naturally receiving many inquiries seeking a description of the car. It's specifications will not be released, however, until it is ready to be shown.

"While the announcements concerning it, already made, have emphasized the fact that it will be a considerably higher priced car in no way conflicting with our present standard product, there are doubtless a number of buying prospects who have been led to believe that the difference in price between our standard car and the supplementary car will be small, and therefore, some of your prospects may be disposed to defer their spring purchase of present product until full announcement of the supplementary car.

"In order to dispel any such uncertainity that may exist we are therefore advising you authoritatively that the supplementary car will be sold at a price of $1,650.00 F. O. B. Detroit, for the four door Sedan.

"We also take this occasion to again assure you that production of the present Dodge Brothers power plant and the sale of our present standard line of cars will be continued; rumors inconsistant with this statement are false and misleading and should be promptly and vigorously denied."

LEGAL NOTICES

Order for Publicaiton

State of Michigan, the probate court for the county of Charlevoix.

At a session of said Court, held at the probate office in the city of Charlevoix, in said county, on the 4th day of March A. D. 1927.

Present: Servetus A. Correll, Probate Judge.

In the matter of the estate of Albert E. Mason, deceased.

The above estate having been admitted to probate and Perry E. Mason appointed executor thereof.

It is ordered that four months from this date be allowed for creditors to present their claims against said estate, and that such claims will be heard by said court on Saturday, the 9th day of July, A. D. 1927, at ten o'clock in the forenoon, at the probate office in the city of Charlevoix.

It is further ordered, that public notice thereof be given by publication of this order for three successive weeks previous to said day of hearing in the Charlevoix Courier a newspaper printed and circulated in this county.

Servetus A. Correll,
Judge of Probate.

Adv. 10-13

Mortgage Sale

Default having been made in the conditions of a mortgage made by Albert L. Johnson and Alma L. Johnson, husband and wife, to John Nicholls, of Charlevoix, Michigan dated the second day of February, A. D. 1912, and recorded in the office of the Register of Deeds of the county of Charlevoix, state of Michigan, on the second day of February, A. D. 1912, in Liber 18 of Mortgages, on page 61, whereby the power of sale contained in said mortgage has become operative, on which mortgage there is claimed to be due at the date of this notice the sum of Four Hundred Twenty Dollars and Fifty Cents as principal and interest, and Twenty-eight Dollars and Fifty-seven Cents, in taxes paid by the mortgagee on the lands described in said mortgage, together with an attorney fee of Fifteen Dollars provided for in said mortgage, and no suit or proceeding at law having been instituted to recover the moneys secured by said mortgage or any part thereof;

Therefore, by virtue of the power of sale contained in said mortgage, and the statute in such case made and provided, notice is hereby given that on Friday, the 29th day of April, A. D. 1927, at ten o'clock in the forenoon, at the east front door of the court house in the city of Charlevoix, county of Charlevoix, and state of Michigan, that being the place where the circuit court for said county is held, the undersigned will sell at public auction to the highest bidder, the lands and premises described in said mortgage, or so much thereof as may be necessary to pay the amount due on said mortgage, as aforesaid, with seven per cent interest, and all legal costs, together with said attorney fee, as provided by law, the lands and premises being described in said mortgage, as follows, to-wit:

All that certain piece or parcel of land situate in the Township of Marion, county of Charlevoix, and state of Michigan, and described as follows, to-wit: The southwest quarter of the southwest quarter of section twelve, township thirty-three north, range eight west.

Dated, February 2nd, 1927.

Aihert F. Bridge, Executor of the estate of John Nicholls, deceased.
Mortgagee.

A. L. Fitch,
Attorney for the Executor of the Estate of John Nicholls, deceased, mortgagee.
Business address: Charlevoix, Michigan. 5t12

Order for Publication

State of Michigan, the Probate Court for the county of Charlevoix.

At a session of said court, held at the probate office in the city of Charlevoix, in said county, on the 14th day of February, A. D. 1927.

Present: Hon. Servetus A. Correll, Probate Judge.

In the matter of the estate of Elizabeth Newman, deceased.

The above estate having been admitted to probate and Llewellyn S. See appointed administrator thereof.

It is ordered that four months from this date be allowed for creditors to present their claims against said estate, and that such claims will be heard by said court on Thursday, the 23d day of June, A. D. 1927, at ten o'clock in the forenoon, at the probate office in the city of Charlevoix.

It is further ordered, that public notice thereof be given by publication of this order for three successive weeks previous to said day of hearing in the Charlevoix Courier, a newspaper printed and circulated in this county.

Servetus A. Correll,
Judge of Probate.

Adv. 8-13

Mortgage Sale

Default having been made in the conditions of a certain mortgage made by Edward B. Ward and Annie E. Ward of Charlevoix, Michigan to John Nicholls of Charlevoix, Michigan, dated the 3rd day of October, A. D. 1908, and recorded in the office of the Register of Deeds for the county of Charlevoix and state of Michigan, on the 3rd day of October, A. D. 1908, in Liber 44 of mortgages, on page 188, whereby the power of sale contained in said mortgage has become operative, on which mortgage there is claimed to be due at the date of this notice the sum of Four Hundred Ninety-nine Dollars for principal and interest, and an attorney's fee of Ten dollars, provided for in said mortgage, and no suit or proceedings at law having been instituted to recover the moneys secured by said mortgage or any part hereof;

Now, therefore, by virtue of the power of sale contained in said mortgage, and the statute in such case made and provided, notice is hereby given that on Friday the 29th day of April, A. D. 1927, at ten o'clock in the forenoon, the undersigned will sell at public auction to the highest bidder, at the east front door of the court house, in the city of Charlevoix, Michigan, (that being the place where the circuit court for said county of Charlevoix is held) the premises described in said mortgage, or so much thereof as may be necessary to pay the amount due on said mortgage, with seven per cent interest, and all legal costs, and said attorney's fee, as provided by law, the premises being described in said mortgage as follows, to-wit:

Lot number One Hundred Thirty-five of Upright & Hurlbut's addition to the city of Charlevoix, according to the recorded plat thereof.

Dated, January 31st, 1927.

Albert F. Bridge, Executor of the estate of John Nicholls, deceased.
Mortgagee.

A. L. Fitch,
Attorney for Mortgagee.
Business address: Charlevoix, Michigan. 5t12

Mortgage Sale

Default having been made in the conditions of a certain mortgage made by Minnie Jane Smith of Charlevoix, Michigan, to Celia N. Bridge of Charlevoix, Michigan, dated the Fourteenth day of October, A. D. 1916, and recorded in the office of the Register of Deeds of the county of Charlevoix, State of Michigan, on the Sixteenth day of October, A. D. 1916, in Liber 52 of Mortgages, on page 180, whereby the power of sale contained in said mortgage has become operative, on which mortgage there is claimed to be due at the date of this notice the sum of Nine Hundred Two and Seventy-five one-hundredths Dollars as principal and interest and the further sum of One Hundred Three and 20/100 Dollars paid in taxes on the land described in said mortgage and the further sum of Twenty dollars as an attorney fee provided for in said mortgage, and no suit or proceedings at law having been instituted to recover the moneys secured by said mortgage, or any part thereof;

Therefore, by virtue of the power of sale contained in said mortgage, and the statute in such case made and provided, notice is hereby given that on Friday, the 29th day of April, A. D. 1927, at ten o'clock in the forenoon, at the east front door of the court house in the city of Charlevoix, Michigan, that being the place where the Circuit court for said county is held, the undersigned will sell at public auction to the highest bidder, the premises described in said mortgage, or so much thereof as may be necessary to pay the amount due on said mortgage, as aforesaid, with seven per cent interest, and all legal costs, together with said attorney fee, as provided by law, the lands and premises being described in said mortgage as follows:

All that certain piece or parcel of land situate in the city of Charlevoix, county of Charlevoix, state of Michigan, described as follows: Beginning four hundred sixty and one-half feet east of a point where the north line of the Emmet and Grand Traverse State Road (now known as Petoskey Ave.) intersects the east line of Michigan Avenue, the same being the southwest corner of a lot owned by Jennie Gail Vandermade; thence east along the north line of Petoskey Avenue sixty-six feet; thence north one hundred fifty-six and three-fourths feet; thence west sixty-six feet; thence south to the place of beginning, the same being Lot number One of Block number three of Fox and Eaton's unrecorded plat to the village of Charlevoix, Michigan.

Dated, February 2nd., 1927.

Celia N. Bridge,
Mortgagee.

A. L. Fitch,
Attorney for Mortgagee,
Business address: Charlevoix Michigan. 5t13.

NOTICE OF CHANCERY SALE

State of Michigan, in the Circuit Court for the County of Charlevoix, in Chancery.

Donald O. Boudeman and Dallas Boudeman, Jr., Plaintiffs, vs. Hattie McNeill, Defendant.

In pursuance and by virtue of an order and decree of the Circuit Court for the County of Charlevoix, Michigan, in chancery, dated the 6th day of January, A. D. 1927, in the above cause in said court pending wherein Donald O. Boudeman and Dallas Boudeman, Jr., are plaintiffs and Hattie McNeill is defendant, said suit having been filed to foreclose a mortgage on which, by the terms of said decree, there was due on the date of said decree, namely, Two Thousand Three Hundred Five and 34-100 Dollars ($2,305.34).

Notice is Hereby Given, That I shall sell at public auction to the highest bidder at the east front door of the Court House in the City of Charlevoix, Michigan, (said Court House being the place for holding the Circuit Court for said county) on the 25nd day of March, A. D. 1927, at two (14) o'clock in the forenoon of said day, Central Standard Time, all or so much thereof as may be necessary of the land and premises described in said decree, together with interest, costs and charges of sale, to pay the amount due to said plaintiffs by the terms of said decree, together with principal, interest, taxes, insurance and costs of said plaintiffs at the time of said sale.

The premises to be sold are described as follows, to-wit:

The east one-half of land owned in the City of Charlevoix, County of Charlevoix and State of Michigan, and described as follows, to-wit: The west one-half (½) of Lot Three and Two (2) in Block Four of Dixon's Addition to the Village (now city) of Charlevoix, according to the plat thereof recorded in the office of the Register of Deeds of Charlevoix County, Michigan.

Dated at Charlevoix, Michigan, January 25th A. D. 1927.

Lisle M. Buhan,
Circuit Court Commissioner and for Charlevoix County, Michigan. Business Address, Charlevoix, Michigan.

Adams and VanHorn,
Attorneys, for Plaintiff,
Business address: 114 West South St., Kalamazoo, Michigan. 5t4

BUSINESS CARDS

Farm Property — Lake Frontage
A. C. BELDING
REAL ESTATE BROKER
Charlevoix, Mich.
Game Preserves — Detroit Property

GLASSES FITTED
Consult
DR. J. LEAHY
OPTOMETRIST
Expert on Eye-Strain.
Petoskey, Mich.
Phone 443 for Appointment

BELLE LOUISE FLEWELLING
Palmer Chiropractor
Post Office Building
Phone 347
Office hours 2 to 5 daily
Monday, Wednesday and Friday
7 to 8

R. J. MADILL
Building Contractor
Ask for Estimates
Phone 121 Charlevoix, Mich.

D. T. McHUGH
General Contractor
Phone 214
CHARLEVOIX, MICHIGAN

R. B. ARMSTRONG
PHYSICIAN AND SURGEON
Special Attention to Diseases of Eye, Ear, Nose and Throat
Priest Bldg. Phone 255

DR. F. F. McMILLAN
Physician and Surgeon
Office above Postoffice
Phone 17
Charlevoix - - Michigan

A. L. FITCH
ATTORNEY AT LAW
Office in Court House
Phone 48
Charlevoix - Michigan

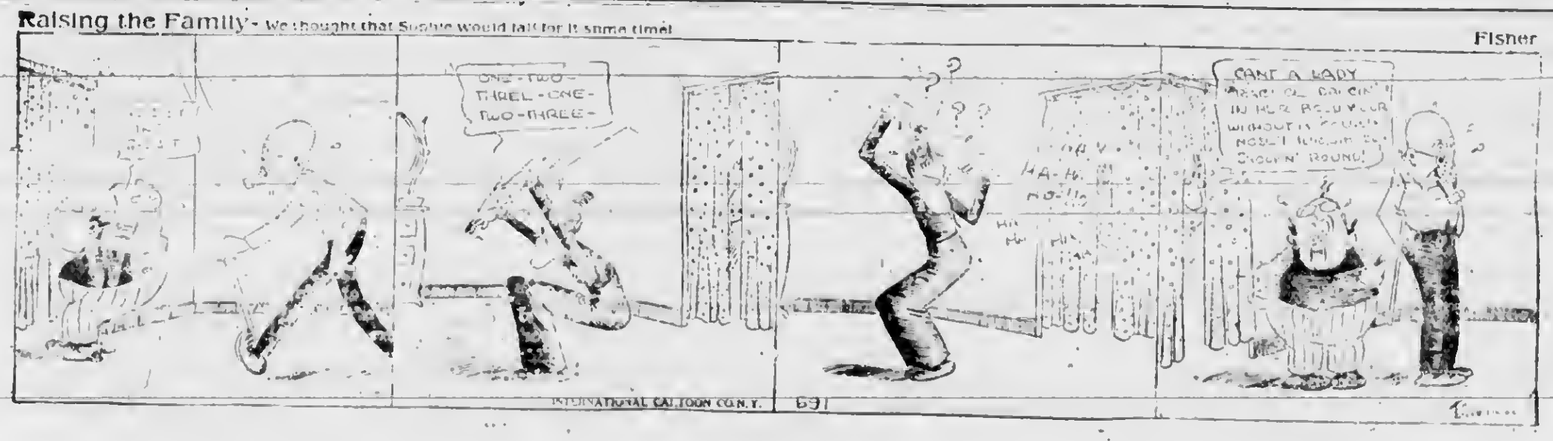
Nothing brings such comforting relief as the original Baume Bengué. It starts to drive out pain as soon as you apply it.

GET THE ORIGINAL FRENCH
BAUME BENGUÉ
(ANALGESIQUE)

Babies Love It

For all stomach and intestinal troubles and disturbances due to teething, there is nothing better than a safe Infants' and Children's Laxative.

MRS. WINSLOW'S SYRUP



Raising the Family - We thought that Sophie would talk for it some time!
Fisher
ONE-TWO-THREE-ONE-TWO-THREE-CAN A LADY
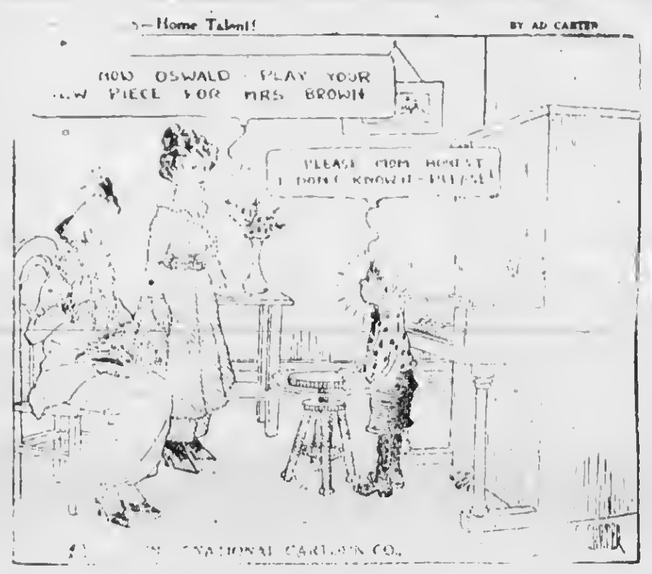
INTERNATIONAL CAL TOON CO. N.Y.



—Home Talent!
BY AD CARTER
NOW OSWALD - PLAY YOUR ...W PIECE FOR MRS BROWN
PLEASE MOM HONEST I DON'T KNOW!! - PLEASE!
...NATIONAL CARTOON CO.

Alabaster Lamps

By Margaret Turnbull

Copyright, 1925, by Margaret Turnbull, WNU Service

(Continued from page three)

Her daughter's mirth was not the pleasantest sound in Mrs. Johnston's ears just then. "I discovered that this young man, with the funny name, was in great trouble. His father was dying and the boy had no money to go home with, and his mother was quite too poor to send him any."

"Oh, poor thing. Of course you loaned him your savings."

"I didn't. I told him my troubles, and offered him five hundred dollars—if he would marry me."

"Mother! You didn't!"

"Sorry dear; but I can't stop to make this romantic. I'm telling you the plain, unvarnished truth. I thought his troubles and mine showed me a way out. I said if he would marry me and show himself to my uncle, I would give him five hundred dollars. He was to promise to go away and never try to see me again. He was to leave me to go my way alone, while he went his."

"But Mother! What a cold-blooded thing to do!"

"Wasn't it?" agreed Mrs. Johnston, much embarrassed. "But you see it didn't seem like that to me, Mary. Please remember that he was only my door of escape and it was absolutely a business proposition."

"Oh Mother!"

"I can't help it, Mary. That's what I offered him, and after the first moment of astonishment, and when he was convinced that I was not fooling him and would actually have the money—I had two hundred and fifty dollars of my own savings to show him—he agreed."

"Oh dear," groaned Mary, "then he was just as bad!"

"I don't know," Mrs. Johnston said thoughtfully. "I've often wondered. You see, his father was dying."

"That's so, I'd forgotten."

Mrs. Johnston looked as though she was about to say something in her own defense, thought better of it, and went on, doggedly: "Uncle wasn't told anything about the agreement. Both my uncle and his lawyer were favorably impressed with Claude.

"Uncle insisted that we have the ceremony performed at once, and that suited both of us. Claude looked sick with anxiety, and was eager to get it over and start home. We were married before a justice of the peace, who knew neither of us. Right after the ceremony Claude went home with half of the five hundred in his pocket. The other half was to be his when he signed the papers agreeing to leave me alone, and not to block any petition I might make for divorce, on the grounds of desertion, later. The lawyer had to have time to draw the documents up."

"Mother, I simply can't recognize you as the calculating girl who married that way!"

"You'll have to, Mary. I did it. Just in time, too, for my uncle died that night. I was free and the money was mine. I left the boarding house and went to a quiet little hotel. I never told the people at the boarding house anything about the money, or the marriage.

"The lawyer was kind. He made arrangements for me to go to France and live with some friends of his sister who would finish my education. I was supposed to be a young widow."

"I see. Then you went over to France, where you met my father. But how did you get rid of that poor young man?"

Her mother looked at her, so terribly embarrassed that for a moment Mary's heart stood still.

"Mary, I—I didn't get rid of him at once. He came back—I be—. But I went to France just the same, and—you see—and I never told him. I've never gotten rid of him. Mary, can you forgive me?"

"Forgive you!" Mary leaned forward and clutched her mother tightly. "I haven't anything to forgive. You've always been the best mother in the world."

They clung together for a moment, Mrs. Johnston glad of the excuse to hide her face. Then Mary's voice came to her, slightly muffled by the mass of her own dark hair which had fallen over her mother's ear. "Didn't he know about me, Mother, ever?"

"No."

"Couldn't he guess? I'll have to hate him, you know, if he guessed and didn't follow you."

Polly felt that justice demanded that she lay no more than his due share of blame on the shoulders of Mary's father. "He didn't know I was going," she said, limply. "I ran away from him."

Mary released her mother with a little amazed gasp.

"Poor, poor, Father!"

"Poor Father!" echoed Mrs. Johnston indignantly. "Little he cared for anything but just getting hold of me and my money and dragging me out to his miserable grocery store in Peace Valley."

Mary sat, upright, with astonished eyes, gazing at this extraordinary parent of hers. "But Mother! You said Peace Valley. You're dreaming!"

"It's only too real!"

"Then it was our Mr. Dabbs, and am I—I am really Mary Johnston Dabbs, the grocer's daughter?"

"He need never know!"

"He's got to know!" Mary declared. Her mother looked at her determinedly. "I've the right to say whether or not he is to know. I owe him nothing," and in her indignant desire to clear herself in her daughter's eyes, she added a few particulars of the story Claude had told Ned. But from her own angle. She stopped suddenly.

Mary was looking at her with a queer expression, not shocked, but neither was it sympathetic. Mrs. Johnston stumbled on and reached the locked door episode. She would have given worlds never to have begun, but once begun the story must be told, and the facts were the same, though from a quite different angle. She thought it would strengthen her case with her daughter to know that Claude had gone back on his sworn word.

Mary leaned forward with upraised finger and placed it gently across her mother's lips. "I always doubted those wife-in-name-only stories," she said. "Don't try to fool yourself or me. You liked Claude Dabbs more than a little. You singled him out of the crowd in that boarding house, Mother, you were romantic about him even then."

"I was not!" Mrs. Johnston indignantly defended herself.

"Stuff and nonsense!" retorted Mary, rising to the defense of her absent father. "If you hadn't liked him a lot, you would have telephoned and had him put out."

What can a woman say to a daughter like that? Mrs. Johnston said nothing, just sat back and—blushed.

"I'm glad you can blush," Mary went on. "Nice tale to tell a girl who thought she was a poor half-orphan, while all the time she had a perfectly good father keeping a grocery store, Ned Carter's uncle's store, she added to herself. And this thought brought a new joy. Now her mother could not make such a frightful fuss about the grocer's boy.

"Was it because you discovered who the grocer's clerk's uncle was, that you left Cliver Hollow?"

Mrs. Johnston nodded. She was frightened at Mary's bringing Ned Carter into this intimate discussion.

"When did you see him?' Father, I mean."

"I didn't see him. He wrote me."

"What did he say?"

Then Polly told about the note and the money.

Mary frowned. "I think Father's acting awfully well," she remarked. "How much further have you got to run?" she asked casually.

"I don't know," Mrs. Johnston rose abruptly. "We sail Saturday, anyway."

"Mother, don't go like that. I love you more than ever, and from the first minute I saw him, I liked Claude Mellotte Dabbs."

"Mary—" Her mother held her tightly. "You're a perfect darling, but you don't need to lie to make me feel better."

"Cross my heart, Mother," declared Mary. "Hope I may die if I'm not ready to love your Claude. Wouldn't it be glorious if Father only had money enough to come dying after us!"

With this ringing in her ears, Polly Johnston put out the light and left the room.

Left to her own thoughts Mary found them thronging thick and fast, and she felt so excited she could not sleep. She tried to consider calmly what her mother had told her, but it was not a thing one could consider calmly.

Mary seldom spoke of her own experiences, but she had toiled among the refugees of the late war. She had, child though she was, done yeoman's work with the first awful rush of the wounded, until Mother carried her away lest she break under the strain. Though she had only fetched and carried for trained workers, she had brushed against birth, death and raw wounds, and had stamped forever on her plastic soul the truth that one was either man or woman or brute beast, and that clothes, money and calling were only camouflage for the human soul.

Mary had her own thoughts in the matter of her father. Claude Mellotte Dabbs must be nice, since Mother had married him and Ned Carter liked him, so Mary was not at all prejudiced as she thought of her big, dark-haired, clean-shaven father.

Mrs. Johnston Dabbs, to give her proper name, also found it difficult to sleep. The years, she was fond of telling herself, had made her philosophic, but philosophize as she would, she found that retelling her story had taken its toll in nerves and sleep.

Mrs. Johnston believed that mere parenthood gave neither man nor woman ownership or legal rights in human beings. She believed that parents were indeed privileged when their offspring truly loved them. She believed that her child should be utterly free to love her or not, to go from her or stay, as she chose. But oh, if she could only own Mary, body and soul, for a few moments!

Life was going to be very difficult for her, from now on, unless she could get Mary to see the necessity for flight from the pursuing grocer! If Mary were only twelve years old once more!

In the morning Polly Johnston looked like a princess in exile, but she acted like a weary, bored woman, and she had no time for anything but the necessary words required to start them on their work of packing and last-minute shopping. Mary was to attend to the shopping.

Mary had that morning ventured to open the subject, discussed so freely last night, only to find herself snubbed for her pains, as her mother absolutely refused to answer questions.

What Mary did not know was that her mother's attitude had been aggravated by an early morning message to the effect that a Mr. Carter wished to speak to her on the telephone.

Ned had arrived in town at an hour too late for a casual acquaintance to call or telephone, and this morning the hotel operator had called Mrs. Johnston instead of Miss Johnston.

Mrs. Johnston was very gracious when she understood who was speaking. She was glad that he was in town, and quite willing to take any message for Miss Johnston, who had gone out. No, Mrs. Johnston could not tell when her daughter would return to the hotel. Mary was with some dear friends, who might only part with her when they brought her to the steamer in time for sailing.

Mr. Carter was disappointed and alarmed, though he endeavored not to let the latter fact become apparent.

"Are you sailing today?" Ned had asked.

"No, not today," had been Mrs. Johnston's half-informative answer.

After that there was nothing for Ned to do but end the conversation.

He had to face the fact that short of giving away Claude's plans and his own, he must talk no more to Mrs. Johnston. Nor must he try to see Mary until they met on the steamer. Mrs. Johnston was capable of rendering it extremely unpleasant for him, if he did.

He left word for Claude Dabbs at their hotel, and went out to do his best in the matter of finding the sailing date of the Johnstons, and secure their own passage.

Only when she had said the final and conventional good-by and hung up the receiver, did Polly Johnston relax. A wave of loneliness crept over her. She had no real link with the actual world now, save through Mary. Mary, who must soon leave her for some man.

In the back of her mind, when she was honest with herself, Polly knew that the fear was not that Mary would marry, or leave her, but that Mary would marry some one of whom she, Polly, did not approve, and who would like, and side with, Claude Dabbs.

(TO BE CONTINUED.)

ST. MARY'S CHURCH

Rev. Fr. Odelo, Pastor.

Sunday services 8:00 a. m. and 10:00 a. m.

Services Monday and Tuesday, 8:00 a. m.

Services Saturday 7:00 a. m.

Ladies' Altar Society meets Thursday afternoons.

In the Mormon tabernacle at Salt Lake City you can hear a pin drop; but in some of our churches you can't even hear a coin drop.

The PUBLIC enthusiastically ENDORSES

DODGE BROTHERS

Latest Improvements

Study these improvements carefully. Notice how basic they are—how each definitely contributes to the value and desirability of Dodge Brothers Motor Car. And remember—they are IN ADDITION to the new chrome vanadium five-bearing crankshaft, excellent new starting and lighting system and many other improvements recently announced

A New Clutch—Simple, Prompt, Sure and Silent
Softer Pedal Action
Easier Gear Shifting
Greater Steering Ease
New Body Lines—smart and graceful
New Color Combinations of Striking Beauty
Still Sturdier Bodies
Seats Re-designed for even greater comfort
More Rigid Engine Mounting—providing still smoother motor performance
Improved Propeller Shaft, Differential and Axle Shaft—creating greater sturdiness and dependability
And many other Smart New Refinements of Detail

The effect of these improvements is striking and definite. Smartness, sturdiness, silence and engine performance are brought to a new point of perfection. Buyers are outspoken in their enthusiasm. Investigate for yourself at the earliest opportunity

Standard Sedan..... $ 970.00
Special Sedan..... $1020.00
DeLuxe Sedan..... $1155.00
Delivered

BENJ. BROWN
CHARLEVOIX, MICH

We Also Sell Dependable Used Cars

Tremendous Reductions in

Goodyear Tire Prices

Lower Than Ever in History of Tire Making

Now is the time and this is the place to get them. Whether you need tires now or not, you'd better come in and look over the new Goodyears. If you don't want them right now, pay a small deposit and we'll hold them until you are rady for them. We want to sell you this good, long mileage tire while this great price reduction is on.

We Carry Them in All Sizes

High pressure, Ballooons and Truck Tires. We give you service—put on your tire for you—right out of fresh stock. You'll like our tires and fair treatment. Come in and look them over and get our prices.

BENJAMIN BROWN

UPPER MICHIGAN SEEKING SANITARIUM

Six Counties in Group Effort to Obtain One.

Northern Michigan says the Petoskey Evening News, wants a state owned and operated tuberculosis sanitarium located somewhere in the northern section. Northern Michigan boards of supervisors representatives, Petoskey women's clubs representative, Petoskey Rotary and Kiwanis clubs, Petoskey and Cheboygan businessmen all joined in a big luncheon meeting at the Perry hotel last Wednesday and heard the question discussed by state and local speakers. Following this meeting a group of supervisors gathered from the northern counties and took definite action to ask the state for such an institution.

The supervisors named a committee with J. C. McLin, chairman of the Emmet county board, as it's president, to meet with the state department heads to work out plans for presenting the matter to the state legislature. Other members of the committee representing their counties are Samuel J. Smith, Cheboygan county; C. H. Schaub, Charlevoix county; Arnell Engstrom, Grand Traverse county; August Speeman, Otsego county; Merle F. Nellist, Crawford county.

Avoid fire risks from burning-out chimneys by using our honest-to-goodness Soot Destroyer. Charlevoix Hdw. Co.—Adv. 2tf.

TEXAS AND ITS SULPHUR MINING

(Continued from page one.)

After leaving Freeport it was just a short distance to the gulf. We drove on the beach for about ten miles, then parked our car, rented a boat, attached a little out-board motor we had with us, and went up the Intercoastal canal. This is a canal dredged out by the government for the purpose of moving ships and necessary merchandise in time of war, without the enemy observing them. It's only about 30 feet wide and 20 feet deep.

We went across hundreds of acres of land covered with water of a depth from one to three feet. There were numerous small islands and rivers leading off from the channel, which means that all kinds of water fowl harbor there. We saw thousands of ducks and wild geese on these lakes. Also numerous pelicans and flamingos. Flamingos are about the size of a turkey and have a bill about 18 inches and legs 3 feet long. It sure looked strange to me to look out over a body of water half as large as Lake Charlevoix and see one of these big birds standing on bottom out in the middle.

The trip was a very enjoyable one and impressed me greatly, and we hope to cover other territory of like nature before long.

P. S. We had fresh strawberries for dinner today. Have garden vegetables all the time.

Our low service on Goodyear Tires will be a surprise to you. Benj. Brown.—Adv. 10tf.

AT THE MOVIES

A Galloping, Hilarious

western comedy, with the irrepressible Hoot Gibson in the starring role, will be the piece de resistance of the Palace Theatre's program, Wednesday. The picture is "The Man In The Saddle," a Universal-Jewel production and said to be one of Gibson's best pictuers in several seasons. The picture is from an original screen story by Charles A. Logue, and was directed by Clifford Smith with Fay Wray, Sally Long, Charles Hill Mailes, Duke R. Lee, Emmett King, Clark Comstock and others in the cast.

Truck, Balloon and high pressure tires at a great reduction. Benj. Brown.—Adv. 10tf.

All of our Children's First —Quality— "BABY MINE SHOES" Placed on Sale for a Quick Clearance at $1.69 Sizes: 3 to 8. Regularly sold for $2.25 and $2.50 CAMPBELL'S

Brighten Your Home With Fresh Cut Flowers —OR— Blooming Plants Flowers for all occasions A. E. EDWARDS FLORIST We're as near as your telephone

DO IT NOW ---A--- NEW CAR FOR YOUR OLD CAR The Latest Finishes Have your good car refinished with Duco, Nitro, Egyptian — Lacquers or the High gloss Varnishes ATCHISON AUTO SHOP Phone 93 - 204 Mason St.

Our New Tostwich equipment has arrived and we ask you to kindly call and get acquainted with a TOSTWICH "THE TEST IS IN THE TASTE" THE SUGAR BOWL 218 Bridge Street Geo. Glados, Prop.

Are you looking for a Good Used Car?--We have them

We have several good used cars, taken in on trades. They have been re-conditioned in our repair department, are in first-class shape, newly painted and priced to move quick. If you are in the market for a car, you cannot afford to overlook the following bargains:

2 Ford Tourings — 1 Ford Truck
2 Ford Coupes — 3 Ford Sedans
1 Light Six Studebaker — Chevrolet 1-ton Truck with panel body

DO YOU NEED A NEW BATTERY?
6 volt Batteries ..... $10.00 up
12 volt Batteries as low as $16.00
We Carry a Complete Line of Firestone Tires and Tubes

WYERS & SMITH
Hudson, Essex, Willys-Knight, Whippet
Guaranteed Repair Service — Cars Repainted

LIVE STOCK

BUSINESS SENSE FOR LIVE STOCK

Emphasis today must be placed on the business side of farming and this is especially important in live stock farming. The producer who does not arrange his production and marketing according to markets and costs will fail.

"The successful live stock farmer always figures to get the greatest amount of profit from his finished stock," says W. W. Shay, swine extension specialist at the North Carolina State college. "The man who had 75 hogs averaging 175 pounds each on September first, had a total of 13,125 pounds and the price was $15 per hundred, making their value at the market amount to $1,968.75. If the freight rate from his station was 30 cents per hundred on a minimum car of 10,000 pounds or 848, this subtracted from the gross price would have left him $1,920.75. If the cost of raising the hogs was $7 per hundred, or $918.75, his net profit on the car would be $1,002 minus yard charges and shrinkage."

But this farmer should not have sold for another two weeks, in which time he could easily have added another 20 pounds to each of the hogs, making them average 195 pounds each and with a total weight of 14,625, when at the same price they would have been worth $2,193.75. Making the same deductions for freight and cost of production, he would have had a profit of $1,122. In other words, the profit on the car of hogs would have been increased by $120 for the two weeks of feeding, which is $60 per week for his labor.

In the first case, states Mr. Shay, there was a profit per pig of $13.36, and in the last case a profit per pig of $14.98. The price might have gone down, but this is hardly likely during September, according to an average of several years' prices. Measured in terms familiar to North Carolina farmers, Mr. Shay estimates the loss of selling too soon to be the market value of over two bales of cotton.

Bedding Farm Animals in Summer and Winter

Bedding farm animals is of fine practice and ought to be done both summer and winter for many reasons. In the first place the farm animals, when in the stables any time in the year, keep clean. During the winter season animals well bedded are made more comfortable than when compelled to stand on the wet, cold manure. If they lie down they do not get all stained and plastered with urine and excrements and difficult to brush and curry.

For bedding there is nothing so good as finely cut straw, and it should be used freely. Its absorbing qualities keep the urine well preserved and add very much in making the manure what it should be when spread on the fields.

Most farms have quite an abundance of straw, and it can be made of great benefit if used as bedding. In fact, there is no other use for most of the straw. This gets back on the fields where it rightly belongs after the grain is removed.

To sell straw is a great waste, and counting the expense and the time it takes to bale it and haul it to market a farmer gets but very little for it. Make it into manure by bedding all the farm animals with it, and very much profit is derived from increased fertility of the soil.

Live Stock Items

Change the pastures often and if possible keep the ewe lambs separate from the old ewes.

* * *

Watch the ewes to see that dung tags do not gather. Keep them clipped away, especially during the breeding season.

* * *

Keep the ewes out of the cockleburs. Do not allow them to get their wool filled with burs. This not only makes them look unsightly, but it is very damaging to the wool.

* * *

The shipper who is wise will if it is at all possible, make shipment of his hogs as different individuals are ready for the market. He can thus get at least an average of market conditions.

* * *

While age the wool usually becomes coarser, shorter and less dense. Size is a factor, too. A large sheep is a heavy feeder and should shear a fair fleece if it is to be a paying animal.

* * *

Ventilation of calf barns can usually be easily secured by having the windows tip in at the top.

* * *

Plenty of sunshine and good ventilation are perhaps the most important factors in keeping calves healthy during the winter months.

* * *

The man who has had experience, and carefully noted it, has found that when a horse works hard he must have about all the good hay and pasture he will eat or he keeps his weight and strength.

PLANNING TO MAKE IT HOT FOR THUGS

Riot Guns and Speedy Cars at Disposal of County Authorities

Holdup men, burglars, bank robbers, etc., will receive a hot reception in this city, says the Petoskey Evening News. Should any of the lawbreakers attempt to follow their profession in that vicinity, stated Herman Kays, former member of the Michigan secret service department, and head of the Northern Michigan Protective Agency, recently organized with headquarters in that city.

Riot guns for use of the city police department, sheriff's forces, employees of the Protective Agency, and head of the Northern Michigan have been ordered and should be here within a few days, said Mr. Kays, and the guns will be so placed as to be instantly available for use.

In addition to the riot guns a fleet of high-powered automobiles has been arranged for through the co-operation of Petoskey garage owners. These cars, like the guns, will be available for use in emergencies. The fastest and most powerful cars in the region are included.

New and modern alarm systems and other protections against robberies, are being installed by banks and other business places.

The Rebekah Circle will have a progressive pedro party at the Odd Fellow hall, Friday evening, March 11. Lunch served. Bill, 25c. Everybody come.—Adv. 10-1t.

TOURNAMENT STARTS MARCH 11TH, 12TH

Classes C and D Meet at Harbor Springs for Elimination

Thursday night of this week the elimination basketball tournament for Class C and D teams in this district opens at Harbor Springs for a two day and three evening run (March 11 and 12th).

Last year, the tournament was held at Harbor and proved successful. Harbor plans this year to make it a farther success and all persons in the community should be interested in it and endeavor to attend at least some of the games.

The first game is called at 7:00 o'clock Thursday evening and the contests will continue all day Friday, Friday evening and all day Saturday, terminating in the finals Saturday night. B. W. Ledewyk, assistant coach at Central State Normal, and C. D. Crane of Sturgis will be the referees.

The following teams are expected: Class C: Boyne City, Mancelona, East Jordan, Charlevoix and Harbor Springs. Class D: Pellston, Alba, Alanson, Ellsworth, Central Lake, Boyne Falls, Bellaire and Mackinaw City.

STATE FOREST FIRE LOSSES SMALLER

State Marshall Files His Report for 1926 With Lansing Office.

The annual report of Charles Lauer, chief of the fire marshal's division of the state department of conservation, has filed his annual report for forest fires and fire losses in Michigan for the last year with the department in Lansing. The report shows few fires and smaller losses in 1926 than in 1925.

Report on number of fires and losses in nearby counties include:

Alpena	62	14,005.31
Antrim	30	19,125.58
Charlevoix	57	58,919.96
Chippewa	118	225,056.62
Cheboygan	59	64,589.91
Emmet	73	81,175.31
Grand Traverse	108	218,969.94
Kalkaska	11	21,907.56
Mackinaw	13	42,507.34
Manistee	88	33,787.85
Presque Isle	36	808,224.83
Wexford	68	64,080.26

Stroud Family Surprised

Last Friday evening twenty-five old friends and neighbors gathered at the home of Mr. and Mrs. E. E. Stroud, on Petoskey road, to remind Mrs. Stroud of her birthday. The evening was spent in playing progressive pedro. The crowd departed at a very late hour, wishing Mrs. Stroud many more happy birthdays.

Christian Science Society

Sunday service 10:45 a. m.
"Subject. "Substance."
Sunday school at 12 o'clock.
Wednesday evening service 7:45.
Reading room open Tuesday and Saturday 2 to 5 p. m.

The public is cordially invited to these services.

Card of Thanks

We wish to express our sincere gratitude and appreciation for the many expressions of kindness and sympathy and for assistance received from our neighbors and friends, during the illness and following the death of our beloved husband and father.

Mrs. A. E. Mason, Perry and Helen. Adv. 10t1.

There are two kinds of parties in this country: political and parting.

IMPORTANT

We consider our used car department a major division of this business and conduct it accordingly. You will receive the same courtesy, the same intelligent service and honest dealing as you would expect to receive if you were buying a new car.

BENJ. BROWN
Charlevoix, Michigan

A USED CAR IS ONLY AS DEPENDABLE AS THE DEALER WHO SELLS IT

"LOOK INTO IT" slip-top cans - all sizes
easy to open - self-sealing clean-convenient-no waste
BEST PAINT SOLD

Before Investing Investigate

YOU wouldn't buy a pair of shoes without seeing them. Why buy your paint on trust? B. P. S. Paint comes in slip-top cans—let us open one and show you why B. P. S. Paint is true economy. SMELL IT. You will find the odor of strictly pure Linseed Oil. TEST IT BETWEEN YOUR FINGERS. It is ground to the finest degree—makes it work easily under the brush, covers a large surface—SAVES GALLONS.

Years of Satisfaction

Investigation of B. P. S. quality will convince you that B. P. S. is an "honest paint" and the quality in the paint means years of satisfactory wear to you.

Let us show you the beautiful, clear tone shades of B. P. S. Paint. These beautiful shades enable the house owner and painter to select handsome combinations for house painting.

Charlevoix Hardware Company
NORTHERN MICHIGAN'S FINEST STORE
3 Big Departments—Hardware—Furniture—Electrical

Beautiful Walls

Neu-Tone—the supreme washable, sanitary, flat wall paint will make your walls exquisite beautiful.

Let us help you plan the decorations for your home to be carried out with Neu-Tone. Sanitary for every room of the house.

Let us give you the wonderful Neu-Tone wall ...

WOOD BROS.
Hardware and Electrical Supplies

LET THE COURIER PRINT YOUR SALE BILLS

CHARLEVOIX COURIER

VOLUME 22 NUMBER 11. EIGHT PAGES COURIER, CHARLEVOIX, MICH., WEDNESDAY, MARCH 16, 1927 PRICE $2.00 PER YEAR

OPPOSITION IN FOUR TOWNSHIPS

EVELINE MARION, NORWOOD, HAYES HAVE TWO TICKETS

Reports Show Excitement Over Coming Election Most Keen In Recent Years.

All indications point to plenty of excitement in adjacent townships at the coming April election. With but one exception, in Charlevoix township, two tickets appear on the ballots, and from all reports competition for township officers is keen. This condition shows that our country brothers are interested in affairs in their respective communities—just as they should be. The line-up in the various township follows:

Hayes Township—Ticket No. 1
Supervisor—Howard Stephens.
Clerk—Lenna Cooper.
Treasurer—Platt Webster.
High Com.—Grant Ferguson.
Justice of the Peace (full term)—Amandus Evers.
Overseer of Highways—Andie Everett.
Member Board of Review—Frank Burnett.
Constables—Andrew Struthers, Jerry Haggerty.

Ticket No. 2
Clerk—Marry Copping.
Treasurer—Arthur Burnett.
Highway Com.—William Price.
Justice of the Peace (full term)—Sam Shantz.
Overseer of Highways—Emma Hair.
Member Board of Review—E. H. Burgess.
Constables — Lawrence Send, Robert Minier.

Marion Township—Ticket No. 1
Supervisor—Jay Adams.
Clerk—Earl Shapton.
Treasurer—Frank Matchett.
Highway Com.—Albert Elliott.
Justice of the Peace—H. L. Francisco.
Member Board of Review—H. E. Cunningham.
Overseer of Highways—Edd Boss.
Constables—Albert Baleli, Howard Blackwood, Charles Cellner, Robert Matchett.

Ticket No. 2
Supervisor—John Smith.
Clerk—William Withers.
Treasurer—James Cook.
Justice of the Peace—Arlo Wickersham.
Member Board of Review—D. E. Ingalls.
Overseer of Highways—A. B. Clarke.

Eveline Township—Ticket No. 1
Supervisor—William Sanderson.
Clerk—Ralph Price.
Treasurer—Douglas Tibbits.
Highway Com.—William Lange.
Jusice of the Peace—Clarence Tonley.
Member Board of Review—Arthur Nicloy.
Constable (west side)—Frank Hammond.
Constable (east side)—William Howe.

Ticket No. 2.
Supervisor—Frank Wangemann.
Treasurer—Albert Carlson.
Highway Com.—Joseph Kemp.
Constable (east side)—Richard Hoeggren.

Norwood Township—Ticket No. 1
Supervisor—Orton VanHusen.
Clerk—F. E. Richardson.
Treasurer—Edd Gregory.
Highway Com.—Henry Genett.
Justice of the Peace (full term)—James Heeres.
Member Board of Review—George Block.
Constables—Mamie Gregory, Annie Gernell, Mary Wells, Hattie Holeckeck.

Ticket No. 2.
Clerk—Richard Paddock.
Treasurer—R. E. Stafford.
Justice of the Peace (short term)—Sam Carnill.

Charlevoix Township
Supervisor—William H. Cook.
Clerk—Neil McAulay.
Treasurer—Stella O'Brien.
Highway Com.—Joseph Shores.
Justice of the Peace (full term)—Eugene E. Stroud.
Justice of the Peace (to fill vacancy—3 years)—George W. Dennis.
Member Board of Review (full term)—Bert Helms.
Constables—George Cook, Coban McKenzie, John Robinson, George Eigleton.

Truck, Balloon and high pressure tires at a great reduction. Benj. Brown.—Adv. 10tf.

COUNTY GAME WARDEN BUSY

WORK OF PLANTING STREAMS HAS ALREADY STARTED

Attention Called to Brush Fire Law. Permits Must Be Obtained to Start Fires.

With the ice fast disappearing in the lakes, county game wardens will have less trouble with set-line fishermen. Wm. Lemieur, who lives about a mile and a half northwest of East Jordan on the Charlevoix-East Jordan road, found this occupation very unprofitable last Sunday when Game Warden Henry Fike happened along and found him using three set lines in South Arm. He was taken into court and fined.

Under the direction of county conservation officers, the work of planting feeders to rivers and streams in the county with trout fry has already begun. In the neighborhood of 100,000 brook trout fry were planted last week in the feeders of Boyne, Jordan and Bear rivers by our county game warden. Although it is very early in the spring to start this work, the hatchery at Oden had a large surplus of trout fry which were in danger of dying if not planted at once. The remainder of the large batch of trout will be distributed throughout the district when they reach the fingerling stage. By this time they are large enough to take care of themselves and a bigger percent reach maturity. Applications for fry have been sent out by Clarence Wood, chairman of the Commercial Association game and fish committee, and answers have already been received assuring him of a generous response from the conservation department.

With the snow gone and dry season about to set in, another important matter is called to the attention of the public especially farmers clearing up land or cleaning up brush after the winter's wood cut. Anyone desiring to burn brush must first get a permit from the supervisor of their respective township or from the county fire warden. A request for such a permit addressed to Ed. Deuel of Boyne City, will be given prompt attention. Many disastrous fires start from this source and the law concerning such will be enforced to the letter.

Tax Returns Reported Good

A report from the Charlevoix county treasurer states that the annual March settlement of township and city taxes is being made at this time. The office also states that tax returns are very good and as this office is in receipt of only unpaid taxes they report the amount is comparatively low.

Anniversary Celebrated

Relatives of Martin Block were entertained at the Block residence, Saturday evening, at six o'clock, dinner in honor of Mr. Block's birthday anniversary. Decorations and favors were in signs and colors of St. Patrick's Day.

Our 1 service on Goodyear Tires will be a surprise to you. Benj Brown.—Adv. 10tf.

PLANS UNDER WAY TO RE-STOCK PHEASANTS IN VICINITY

Two years ago it was not an uncommon sight to see numerous pheasants cross the road ahead of your car while making a drive through the country surrounding Charlevoix. Last summer and fall, however, it was a rare sight.

Through the efforts of Ed. Deuel, district game warden, and with the assistance of Charlevoix sportsmen, an effort will be made to re-stock this portion of the county with this very desirable game bird. Two baskets of pheasants eggs have been sent for from the state farm and will be distributed among farmers who have signified their willingness to set them under hens for hatching. Others desiring to cooperate in the matter may write to this office and sitting of eggs will be given them. They may be assured their assistance will be appreciated.

Some time back this paper received and published many letters from farmers expressing their view on the desirability of pheasants as game bird. Their attitude in some cases was very plain. But we are glad the opinions were not unanimous. We have openly heard some farmers say they shot every pheasant that came onto their premises this practice will be stopped.

MASS MEETING FRIDAY NIGHT

NEW SCHOOL PROPOSITION TO BE BROUGHT UP AGAIN

Recommendation of School Board and Citizens Committee Will Be Openly Discussed

A mass meeting will be held in the high school assembly room at 7:30 on Friday evening of this week for the purpose of reviewing the school building program as outlined by the school board and citizen's committee.

In accordance with the announcement made in this paper two weeks ago, the school board has arranged a prospective program and studied details from many angles and have unanimously agreed to submit the new proposition to the voters at an early date.

This program is a recommendation to construct a double unit which includes grade school and gymnasium. It also recommends that the north and south side schools be closed and their operating expenses applied to the operation and maintenance of the new unit. This question, however, will be discussed at the mass meeting and disposed of by the will of the people in the most satisfactory manner.

The school board believes this new unit should surely be acceptable to the tax payers, as the agitation for a new building has been in their minds for several years. And, to this end they authorized and directed additional money be raised the past three years to purchase the necessary property for this expansion and sinking fund monies have been put aside from year to year as a foundation to begin this new project. They belive the time is now ripe to pass this new school proposition, which is well within our means, and thereby relieve congestion in the high school and many of the lower grades.

As a city, Charlevoix need an auditorium for civic affairs and one need admit that our present gymnasium room meets that need. The gymnasium should be connected with the other school units so that classes in physical training can be carried on under proper supervision by a tutor or instructor who knows the science of health building.

It has been found that from year to year more use arises for a central gathering place which will seat a large audience in comfort and convenience. A new gymnasium would also double the following of high school athletics and give a better community backing to our various ball or athletic events.

BIRTHDAY PARTY WAS ENJOYED BY KIDDIES

Mrs. John Stevens Entertained in Son's Honor.

Mrs. John Stevens entertained ten small boys and girls Saturday, March 12th, in honor of her son, Ralph, who was celebrating his third birthday anniversary.

The table was prettily decorated for the occasion, a large birthday cake with its candles occupying a conspicious place. The little folks enjoyed the afternoon by playing games and other amusements. Master Ralph received many nice presents from his little friends.

Avoid fire risks from burning-out chimneys by using our honest-to-goodness Soot Destroyer. Charlevoix Hdw. Co.—Adv. 2tf.

Enter—Exit

UNDER THE DOME AT THE CAPITOL

LEGISLATIVE BRANCHES GROWING RESTLESS FROM DELAY

Capital Punishment Main Topic of Discussion—Many New Bills Up for Consideration

By Leo W. Leighner.

Weary with watchful waiting for the real business of the legislature to get under way, many of the members are complaining of the dilatory tactics which presage prolongation of the session until crop plantings. Two hour daily sessions for three days in the week, with a brief session Monday evenings and Friday mornings have been the rule and while business in both houses are growing restless. Much hope is expressed that another week will see things getting under way in earnest.

The main topic of discussion the past week has been the capital punishment proposition. The Armstrong bill, which passed the house 61-35, is still held up in the judiciary committee of the senate which seems adverse to reporting it out. Senator Cass Jasnowski of Wayne has been the subject of much chaffing this week over his proposition to go over to Jackson prison to ascertain how many of the condemned murderers there will admit their guilt and to compile their views on capital punishment. It is said three of the committee of seven favor reporting the bill out for settlement on the floor and three are opposed, with one still undecided. There is an insistent demand for the bill and opinion now seems to be that Tuesday will bring matters to a head and that the bill will come before the senate. At first it was thought the bill would meet defeat in the upper house, but two prominent members expressed the opinion Thursday that the bill would pass the senate and go to the governor for his approval or rejection. So far no one claims to know what his derision will be.

The gas and weight tax bills and highway finance combine a question which is vexing the legislators. Dozens of propositions have come to light, some of them in the form of bills and others yet in embryo. A public hearing before the roads and bridges committee late last week has as yet borne no fruit, but present appearances are that a compromise measure will soon come up on which an agreement may be made. One thing seems certain and that is that the poorer counties will fare better in the division of the funds than ever before.

Highway maintenance will be greatly increased this year over former years through the action of the administrative board Monday in releasing $4,500,000 for maintenance work in 1927. This will permit a more thorough care of the gravel roads and it is hoped will result in all of them being treated with dust-layer which gave such good results last year on those roads which received the treatment.

Governor Green has the prison commission working to ascertain if it is good business to go ahead with the construction of the women's prison at Okemos or to continue present methods of farming them out to the Detroit institution, with its new prison for women.

Both branches of the legislature held short sessions Monday evening and adjourned out of respect to the memory of Representative Joseph A. Dziengielewski of Hamtramack, who died from pneumonia at an Ann Arbor hospital Sunday morning. Both houses appointed committees to attend the funeral.

Senator Lennon's proposal to do away entirely with state taxes and meet expenses from a tobacco tax is bringing in floods of remonstrances and support from all over the state. Mr. Lennon's idea is in form of a resolution putting the matter up to a state-wide vote at the November election.

Another proposition which is bringing both supporting and adverse petitions from all sections of the state is Rep. Ate Dykstra's proposition to have Bible readings in all public schools.

Great satisfaction is expressed by many of the legislators over the news from Washington that Senator Couzens has recommended the appointment of Congressman Earl Michener of Adrian to the position of United States judge for the eastern district of Michigan.

University of Michigan will receive approximately $15,000,000 during the coming two years if bills introduced by Senator Sink of Ann Arbor go through. One bill asks for $2,400,000 for 1927 and $2,525,000 for 1928, most of which would go for more land and new buildings which president Little

(Continued on page six.)

P. T. A MEETING NEXT WEDNESDAY

DRIVE FOR NEW MEMBERS IS NOW IN PROGRESS

Mrs. Randall, State President, Will Lecture on Aims of Association

The Charlevoix Parent-Teachers' Association will hold their next meeting in the assembly room at the local high school Wednesday evening, March 23rd.

So far there has been a deplorable lack of interest from the majority of those who should be the most concerned and the meeting is in the nature of a membership drive. The main objects of the P. T. A. are to promote child welfare, bring into closer relationship the home and the school; and secure for every child the highest educational advantages. As the first precept of the association is the promotion of child welfare, every parent with children of school age should give the movement the support it deserves.

Probably by this time all parents with children in school have received a small circular, in which the aims of the association were set forth, and an appeal made for them to attend the next meeting. This is a move in the drive for members. Each parent receiving this little circular is asked to signify their intentions and return the envelope to the membership committee for their files. They are also asked to enclose their dues if possible, which are 25c a year. For this small amount the parent is in a position to have a knowledge of school activities and improvements as well as a voice in the welfare of his child in relation to school affairs. The P. T. A. needs the close cooperation of every parent in Charlevoix. School affairs are most important in every community and should be given the closest scrutiny by parents with the future of their children in view. Let's not have it said that Charlevoix citizens lack interest in their institutions of learning.

Mrs. Randall, state president of the Parent-Teachers' Association will be present March 23rd to lecture on interests of the association and local officers extend a cordial invitation to the public to meet with them on that date at the high school.

Surprised on Birthday.

Ten couples, invited by Mr. Bogart, surprised Mrs. Bogart at their home on Hurlbut avenue, Saturday evening, the occasion being Mrs. Bogart's birthday anniversary. The evening was spent at progressive pedro.

Benefit Bridge Party

Mrs. Goodrich entertained at bridge at her home on the Boulevard Monday afternoon for the benefit of the Charlevoix Chapter, O. E. S. Twelve tables of bridge spotted [illegible]

A public supper will be served at Mrs. M. B. Hooker's by the Ladies' Aid Society of the Methodist church, Friday, March 25th, from 5:30 until all are served. Bill of fare [illegible]

HARBOR WON C CLASS TOURNEY

MACKINAW CITY WINNER IN CLASS D SECTION

Many Exciting and Speedy Games Played Saturday Night—Good Playing Shown.

(From Petoskey Evening News.)

Harbor Springs second annual district basketball tournament closed Saturday night with a good crowd out and with Harbor Springs the Class C champion, Mackinaw City the Class D champ and Pellston the consolation champs in Class C. Mancelona won third place in this class by some very hard, clever playing. Mackinaw upset the dope to win in Class D but Harbor had been picked for the Class C place by the smart fans.

Some good team work was displayed by several of the teams as well as surprising individual ability to shoot baskets.

Irwin High Man

Irwin, left forward for the little Bellaire team won the honors for high point man in any single game, scoring 17 points in a game against Alanson. Peebles, center on the fast Ellsworth team, ran him a close race with 16. Other high scorers were H. Moore, Alanson 10; Cornell, Harbor Springs, 12; Davidson, Mancelona, 15; Shepard, East Jordan, 12; Higman, Charlevoix, 6; Dietz, Mackinaw City 10; Brown, Mancelona 15; Stewart, Harbor Springs 10; Taylor, East Jordan 7; Hignite, Alba 12; Burch, Pellston 13; Anderson 11.

Fans considered Cornell, of Harbor Springs, and Dietz, Mackinaw City, of the most value to their team in winning their respective championships.

Harbor 22, Charlevoix 12.

Harbor Springs defeated Charlevoix in the finals of the Class C, 22-12 in a very fast game. Harbor took an early lead and at the end of the half led 9-2, Charlevoix getting only two foul baskets while Harbor took 4 goals and 1 foul.

In the second half Charlevoix scored ten points while Harbor scored 12. This half was speedy with the two teams playing on even terms.

The Lineups—

Charlevoix		Harbor Springs
Beaudoin	RF	Lane
Higman	LF	Cornell
Cooper	C	Stewart
McCann	RG	Hahn
Smith	LG	Linehan

Substitutes: Taylor for Lane, McBride for Cornell, Grimes for Stewart, Campbell for Hahn, Allerding for Linehan. Field goals: Stewart 5, Cornell 1, Higman 2, Beaudoin, McCann, Hahn. Foul goals: Cornell, Hahn, Beaudoin, McCann, Higman, and Cooper. Referee: Lodewyk Mt. Pleasant.

Mackinaw Also Wins.

Mackinaw City won the Class C championship defeating Ellsworth 16 to 14 in a very fast and interesting game. The Mackinaw City boys played their best game of the tournament, coming from behind in the second half to win. The first half ended in Ellworth's favor 10-6. In the second half Mackinaw began using clever team work and made several long shots. The score was tied several times in the last few minutes of play.

(Continued on Page 8)

FLOWERS IN BLOOM, BOYS PLAYING MEGS, SPRING AGAIN HERE

March 14th and Spring has come to northern Michigan. To outside subscribers and those of our local residents, who annually spend the winter and early spring months in more favorable climates, it will, no doubt, be hard to credit. However, the assertion is true if weather conditions are harbingers.

The Courier has received enumerable accounts of flowers in bloom, and pussywillows in bud. Mrs. Glenn Cook, who operates an extensive flower garden during the resort season, Alleni, supported by the assertion of neighbors, that daisies were in bloom in her outdoor gardens on Monday, March 14, fully a week earlier than spring is officially announced.

Snow is gone except for small patches where the drifts were deepest in midwinter, pond ice, and the choppers are entirely free of ice. The birds are [illegible] The boys who stole as [illegible] is gone.

CORRESPONDENCE

BENTLEY HILL

Daniel Brat is on the sick list.

Miss Jessie Hookema visited with Miss Lena Dreuth a few days.

T. Clark was in this vicinity on business this week.

Mrs. Sweringa from Chicago, is visiting friends in this vicinity.

A number of girls surprised the Misses DeGroot with a visit Thursday.

Miss D. Dewey has gone home where she will visit her parents a few days.

J. W. Thurm, the school commissioner, visited the Bentley Hill school.

Miss Lelia Cox and Mrs. Cox from East Jordan, visited with P. DeYoung's.

Mrs. Gertrude VanDerSarl, who has been on the sick list, is back in school again.

Mr. G. Keeler from Grand Rapids, visited Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Pastoor Thursday.

We were glad to hear that Mr. and Mrs. J. Bisscher are proud parents of a baby boy.

Mr. and Mr. Kno Elzinga and Mr. and Mrs. Herman Dreuth visited at the home of Bert Dreuth.

A number of people from this vicinity attended the dance at Boyne City Friday evening. All were home by midnight.

Our garage, battery and tire service is 1927 right up to date. Benj. Brown. Adv. 10tf.

MURRY SCHOOL

Ines McCall was absent Tuesday.

Dorothy Wiseman was absent Monday.

Simon Peterson was absent Monday. Theodore Meyer has been absent from school for a few days.

Mr. Cox visited the Murry school Friday afternoon.

Mr. Bailey spent a few days at his home near Petoskey.

Lyle Peterson was absent from school Monday.

Everybody had birthdays in March. The following are those who had birthdays: Anderson, Wilbur Price, Myrtle Yohn, Leroy Farquhar, Joseph Speigel. Games were played and everybody enjoyed the basket of candy served by Mrs. McCalmon.

Monday afternoon we all hiked over to Hayes township hall to attend the Hayes township school party. Everybody had a good time.

Treat Colds Externally

For sore throat, bronchitis or deep chest colds, rub Vicks VapoRub briskly over throat and chest and cover with warm flannel.

Vicks acts in two ways—both direct: absorbed like a liniment and inhaled as a vapor. A quick relief for the cold troubles of all the family.

VICKS VAPORUB

OVER 21 MILLION JARS USED YEARLY

An Amazing Success

Feen-a-mint

The Chewing LAXATIVE

Chew It Like Chewing Gum

A pleasure to use. Very efficient. Children love it. No taste but that of sweet mint. The most popular laxative because it's a "satisfier." 15c and 25c.

VALET AutoStrop Razor

sharpens itself

FLIT

DESTROYS

Moths, Roaches Bedbugs, Flies

Other Household Insects

Your Breakfast and "Getting Ahead"

Big Business Institutions Urging Food That "Stands By" for Better Morning's Work

THAT 70% or more of the day's important work falls into the four short hours before luncheon is a recent fact, brought out by a nationwide investigation by business experts.

This many important institutions, like the Consumers Company of Chicago, the General Electric Company, 1,093 department stores like Marshall Field and many others prove right breakfast eating on workers as important to success.

As a result, Quaker Oats breakfasts are being given a boost to meet the ambitious workers day.

Containing an excellent food balance of protein, carbohydrates, minerals, Vitamin B, Quaker Oats puts the right start in the day. Get Quaker Oats at your grocer's today.

Quick Quaker

[illegible] Thursday, March 10th. [illegible] week ending March 5th, [illegible] Those who were [illegible] Mrs. Ralph Price, Mrs. Wm. Sweet, Earl Johnson, Ernest Dorothy Farquhar, Mrs. Ethel Yohn, Hazel Baker, Robert Bachelor, Ruth Odell, Agnes Anderson, Wilbur Price, Myrtle Yohn, Leroy Farquhar, Joseph Speigel. Games were played and everybody enjoyed the basket of candy served by Miss McCalmon.

Monday afternoon we all hiked over to Hayes township hall to attend the [illegible] party. Those present were Mrs. Ralph Price, Mrs. Wm. Sweet, Earl Johnson, Ernest Dorothy Farquhar, Mrs. Ethel Yohn, Hazel Baker, Robert Bachelor, Ruth Odell, Agnes Anderson, Wilbur Price, Myrtle Yohn, Leroy Farquhar, Joseph Speigel, William Mandel, Arvilla Yohn, Loari Markey, Frank Mandel, Bethel Batcheloson, Ralph O'Dell, Roy Finnegan, Frances Speigel.

We are at your service on Willard batteries and Goodyear tires at a very low price. Benj. Brown. Adv. 10tf.

EVELINE

John Knudsen sold his hay to J. Gish.

Mrs. E. Sherman is sick with a cold.

It looks like we are soon going to have spring.

The Ladies' Aid met with Mrs. Marion Jackson of Ironton, last Wednesday.

Mrs. Martin Pedersen of Loch Farms was taken to the Charlevoix hospital last Sunday.

James Zitka returned home one day last week from the north, where he has been working all winter.

We are sorry to hear that Mrs. Gust Carlson had the misfortune to fall and break her arm last week.

Why buy poor tires at a low price when you can buy a Goodyear tire at that price. Benj. Brown.—Adv. 10tf.

CLARION

Mrs. W. D. Padgett entertained at cards on Saturday evening.

The Ladies' Aid met at the home of Mrs. Colden on Friday afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. L. E. Thomas and G. P. Brill, were in town Monday for a short time.

J. P. Colden, who came up from Pontiac to attend the funeral of Mrs. Moreau, at Topinabee, returned home Sunday evening.

Mr. and Mrs. Don Moreau were called to Topinabee on Sunday, to attend the funeral of Mr. Moreau's mother, Mrs. Josephine Moreau, who died Thursday at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. E. P. Gibert.

At a township caucus held here on Saturday, two tickets were placed in nomination:

Ticket No. 1

Supervisor, J. W. Colden.
Clerk, Allen Sherk.
Treasurer, Clyde Kent.
Board of Review, H. O. Easton.
Justice of the Peace, A. E. Greenhoe.

Ticket No. 2

Supervisor, W. H. Murner.
Treasurer, GladysEverts.

Derwin Banks attended the funeral of Mrs. Moreau, at Topinabee on Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Ben Bustard of Petoskey, and Mrs. J. W. Colden, were in Topinabee on Sunday.

IRONTON

It will soon be time for the Maple syrup season.

Minnette Berry accompanied Miss Howe to Charlevoix Friday.

Mrs. Berry, who is at the Charlevoix hospital, is improving.

Hugh King is getting a long nicely from his recent operation.

Mr. and Mrs. Bernie Ward called at the home of their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Ward.

Miss Howe motored to Charlevoix Friday to spend the week end with her parents.

The Ladies' Aid will meet at the church Wednesday for an all-day meeting and potluck dinner.

Mrs. Hugh King and Ula Berry called at the Bridgestine home Sunday. Ula came to see her father.

Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Price and little Nancy motored to Charlevoix, Thursday. Mrs. Bridgestine went with them.

Our aim is to please you with Willard Batteries and Goodyear tires. Benj. Brown. Adv. 10tf.

NORWOOD

Mrs. A. Tomlinson spent the week end at her home in Charlevoix.

The robin red breast has been seen here in the locality, so we know that spring time is near.

Mr. and Mrs. Chvatil and family of Charlevoix, visited Mr. and Mrs. Fred Pearsall family Sunday.

Mrs. S. M. Green of Charlevoix called on Mrs. Kirby last Tuesday afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred and Arthur Kenny of Charlevoix, visited Mr. and Mrs. Pearsall Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Ira Sherard of Ellsworth, visited Mr. Sherard's mother, Mrs. H. Wedge Tuesday afternoon.

Mrs. Grant Pearsall visited Mrs. Frank Gray of Boyne City Saturday afternoon.

Donald McCall, Mr. [illegible] Park Lee Monday.

Last Thursday evening a party [illegible] Mrs. [illegible] Mrs. Page [illegible] Mrs. [illegible] East Jordan.

Burning your old mattress may make bed fuel for a few days. Avoid this fire hazard by using our Sanitary Mattress. Let us renovate your mattress. Adv. 10tf.

ATWOOD

[illegible] Sunday Mrs. A. Sumner and Mrs. Henry Kenny were in Charlevoix Thursday.

Mrs. [illegible] of Boyne City, was a visitor here Wednesday.

Carlton Sherman of Charlevoix was a visitor here Monday.

Only one person in two thousand, it is said, lives to be one hundred years of age, and only one in one hundred reaches sixty.

Maurice Henry will start driving wells in a few days.

Miss Alice Kloster is entertaining a cousin from Holland, Mich.

Charles Lord went to Ann Arbor last Friday for treatment.

George Kloster and wife, returned to Grand Rapids last Saturday.

Several went to Harbor Springs last Saturday evening to attend the basketball tournament.

Rose Kloster, who is attending a business college in Grand Rapids, will come home in April.

Banks township caucus was held at Ellsworth on Friday afternoon last. 239 votes were cast. There will be two tickets at the April election. Supervisor and Commissioner of Highways is the excitment. Look for a big crowd on election day, April 4. Now Mr. Voter, get out and do your duty. You are not a real citizen unless you do.

I have combined my battery and tire repair shop and will give all car owners the service that they are looking for. Benj. Brown.—Adv. 10tf.

BARNARD

W. N. Lewis of Iron Mountain, was a business visitor in our midst last week.

Henry Walker returned on Saturday from Chicago, where he has been employed for some time.

Calvin and "Billy" Ball of Levering, visited their cousin, Glenn Cummings, and family, last Tuesday and Wednesday.

The next community meeting will be held at the church on Friday [illegible]

Yes NR is the most economical as well as the safest and most dependable laxative. It fits in with a thrifty housewife's budget. You get 25 doses for 25c, 60 doses for 50c, 180 doses for $1.00. More real relief than you can get elsewhere for its price—or for any price. Keep the family free from Constipation, Biliousness, Sick headaches. Make the Test Tonight — take ono (Nature's Remedy) NR Tablet—Drink a full glass of water—See how much brighter, stronger and better you feel in the morning.

NR TO-NIGHT TOMORROW ALRIGHT

SOLD BY YOUR DRUGGIST
CENTRAL DRUG STORE

[illegible] May 25th. Everybody [illegible] much fun when [illegible] Monday, and [illegible] enjoyed on [illegible]

We [illegible] and Mrs. Henry Walker [illegible] Monday, and [illegible] reported [illegible] Lewis farm are [illegible] above the [illegible] the near future.

We understand that Mrs. Henry Walker underwent an operation for appendicitis on Monday afternoon. At last report she was as well as could be expected.

The Ladies' A.I. meeting at the church last Wednesday was well attended and everybody enjoyed the bountiful dinner. They meet next month with Mrs. A. J. Bolhuis.

Anna Gornell sustained a painful injury when she sprained her ankle near the Charlevoix school house on Friday in consequence of which she is out of school this week.

MOUNTAIN SCHOOL

(Contributed by Mt. School)

We have two new pupils in school, Goldie and Robert Erfourth. Goldie is in the sixth grade and Robert the fourth grade.

Ann Wilson was a school visitor Monday.

Clare Staley hooked a nice trout on Saturday.

Our faithful Pat is now making the route by car.

Nyle Gould was absent from school Monday forenoon.

Mr. Hosegood took a load of hay to Boyne City on Monday.

Mr. Flora of Grand Rapids, was in this vicinity a few days last week.

There is much excitment in the neighborhood over the coming election.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Erfourth have moved on the George Loomis farm.

Mr. and Mrs. Lisle Wilson and daughter, Annie, attended the party at the county Farm on Saturday night.

Jim Wilson, Mr. Hosegood and Mr. Erfourth, opened up the ravine road so the mail carriers could get thru.

Friday, March 11th, was Patron's Day in our school, with a good crowd in attendance. The school exhibit was on display and the pupils received many compliments on their neat and attractive work. Dinner was served at noon, which consisted of several courses, the last being both white and caramel ice cream with cake. The afternoon program was as follows:

Address of Welcome, Bruce Sanderson.

Song, "America the Beatiful," audience.

Recitation, "I Love You Mother," Elva Gould.

Recitation, "Little Boy Abe," Oswald Hosegood.

Story, "Newly Married," Robert Erfourth.

"Trio," Mr. and Mrs. Sanderson and Mr. Scott.

Recitation, "Three Little Kittens," Margery Scott.

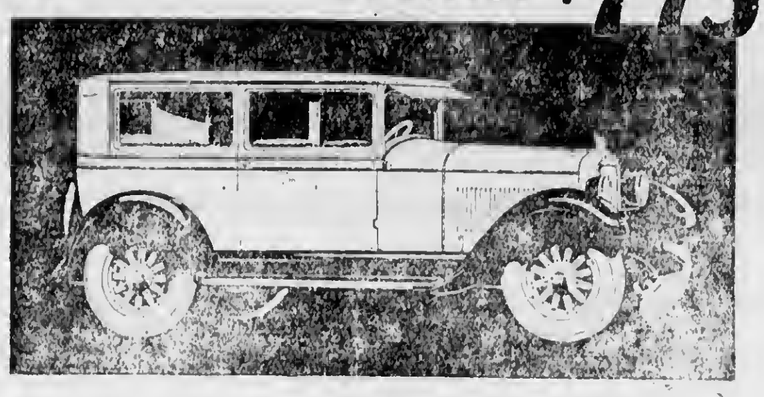
(Continued on page six)

GENERAL MOTORS' LATEST ACHIEVEMENT

The New and Finer

PONTIAC SIX

Sedan $775



General Motors startled the world last year by developing the Pontiac Six to meet the demand for a six of truly high quality and truly low price. Now, after the greatest first year ever enjoyed by a new make of car, comes the New and Finer Pontiac Six—representing General Motors' most recent achievement! ... New Fisher Bodies, longer, lower and more arresting in their beauty! All new Duco color combinations! New mechanical improvements and refinements including new crown fenders and Ching-beam headlights with foot control! And in spite of all these added features—even lower prices!... Come in! Learn the truly amazing value offered in this history-making car—

AT NEW LOW PRICES

Sedan $775 Sport Roadster $775 Sport Cabriolet (4 pass.) $835
Coupe 775 Landau Sedan 895 DeLuxe Landau Sedan 975

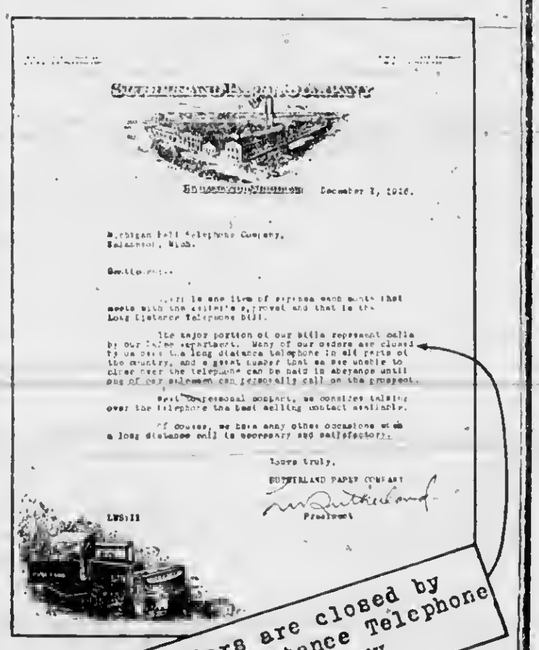
Oakland Six, $1025 to $1295. Bodies by Fisher. All prices at factory. Easy to pay on the General Motors Time Payment Plan.

BLOCK & SIMMONS, 113-115 Antrim St., Charlevoix, Mich.

MICHIGAN BELL TELEPHONE CO.

The Long Distance Telephone

is used by this Kalamazoo Firm to close many orders.



Many of our orders are closed by us over the Long Distance Telephone in all parts of the country

LET THE COURIER PRINT YOUR SALE BILL

W. E. Byers John Boss

BYERS & BOSS

Auctioneers

We will cry your sales and clerk them. Furnish cups for all day sales.

Book sales at Courier Office

or call us by phone. All dates are made at The Courier office, phone 2-J. Phone any one of us and we will take care of your sale.

(Chapter Nine Continued)

It was Claude Dabbs' shadow that darkened the sky for Polly. What power could Claude have over her, unless she chose to give him that power? The answer always mocked her. She was afraid of Claude Dabbs because she had treated him unfairly, and she had always been afraid of him because of Mary. It had been because of that fear she had lived abroad with the child for so many years. As Mary grew older and there was no sign from Claude, she had grown bolder and roamed freely about America, until like a fool she had carelessly blundered into his very stronghold.

In her mind's eye, she pictured Claude as a great, fat, middle-aged man. She knew that she was only drawing on her imagination, and that Mary, who had seen him, did not seem to have been physically repelled. Polly would, of course, expire by slow torture before she asked Mary what he looked like.

CHAPTER X

Having gone slowly and carefully through the shopping lists to satisfy herself that there remained only toothpaste and lavender water for their traveling bags, Mary entered a drug store. While she waited for change she was suddenly conscious of being closely scrutinized.

Mary did not turn her head, and only when she went from the cashier's desk did she try to locate her persistent admirer.

When she did, she went first white, then red. There stood Claude Dabbs, better dressed, or differently dressed, than Mary had ever seen him.

Claude, who had seen her on the avenue and followed her, now stood looking at her earnestly as he waited for her recognition. When it came—for not for ten thousand angry mothers would Mary ignore her own father—he moved quickly to her side and held out his hand for the packages.

"If you're going back to your hotel I'd like to walk with you."

Mary, her heart beating quickly, put the little bundles in his hand.

"Yes, I've finished my shopping," she said, simply.

"Will you walk, or ride?"

"Ride, I think," replied Mary.

Claude Dabbs stopped a passing taxi and helped his daughter in. She gave the hotel and street address to the driver, and as she did so, Claude said: "I'm at the Langdon."

Mary had looked at him, a little frightened, when he got into the cab. What was he going to say to her first? Of all the impossible situations in the wide world, this was the most impossible! If she asked him why he was there, if she asked the simplest question, think what she would precipitate! She leaned back in the cab and left it to Claude Dabbs.

Claude Dabbs looked at her, saw that she was leaving it to him, and though he had planned this meeting a hundred times, did not know which beginning to make. He could think of nothing but how blind he had been. "Good God! Why didn't I see it the first time?" he thought to himself. "She's so like my mother."

He turned to the girl, and said: "Mary, will your mother be in when we get to your hotel?".

"I think so."

"Then do you think you could come to my hotel, and talk to me for a few minutes. I've got a sitting room. We could be quite private."

Now Mary knew she was in for it, but she loved the glory simple way he was taking it. Absolutely direct. What was Mother running away from?

"If I don't stay too long," she answered. "Mother will be anxious, if I am not back in half an hour."

"I'm a will do it." He spoke to the driver.

They said nothing more, except to remark on the weather.

At the desk, when he received his key, Mary noticed that, as she stood a little apart, Dabbs was evidently telling the clerk she was his daughter. She knew at once that this was his careful thought for her and did not mind in the least the manner of his doing it. Indeed, it was a good manner.

As they went up in the elevator Claude had a sudden dread that Ned might come back, and find them, and he did not want that. Plenty of time for Ned, when he, Claude, found out where they stood. He opened the door of the sitting room and ushered Mary in. She had time to think, swiftly and confusedly, that this was doing it rather well for a country grocer. He seemed unable to speak. She felt a like disability lie upon her own tongue. She sat down and waited.

Claude crossed to the door and closed it. Mary instinctively felt the struggle and difficulty going on in his mind. He did not yet know how much she knew or did not know. She felt sorry for him, and quite involuntarily tried to help.

"Father—"

C. M. Dabbs shot out a strong arm. Mary was lifted out of the chair and held firmly. She heard a voice above her—hat, imploring:

"Say that again, my girl, and say it slow."

"What?" asked the startled Mary, rather faintly. There was not much space to speak in.

"What you called me then. Oh, my God, girl, do you know that it's true?"

Mary drew back and looked up at him.

"Heavens!" she gasped. "Did I say it out loud? I was afraid I would."

"Say it!" commanded C. M., and shook her a little.

"Don't Dad, you frighten me."

She was engulfed in C. M.'s embrace. He held her closely and she found it not in the least alarming or uncomfortable.

He was murmuring to himself: "My little girl! My Mary!" Then he held her off, as she had him, and looked at her. Mary looked into a pair of blue eyes marvelously like her own. There was a softness of tears behind them, but none fell.

"Don't be frightened. Your father doesn't mean to be rough. Only—

"Say That Again, My Girl, and Say It Slow."

My God! All the years I've wanted you. I'll never forgive Polly for that."

Mary—raised her head warningly. "Not a word against Mother!"

C. M.'s grasp upon her tightened again. "Not a word—only she should have told me, long ago."

"Yes, I think so too, Dad." Mary agreed that I can't make her see it."

C. M. looked down at her sternly. "How long have you known?"

"Since last night. I haven't been able to think about anything else—but Mother won't talk about it, and she made me promise not to tell. I didn't tell, did I?"

"Not exactly, perhaps." C. M. assured her. "You—er—said 'Father,' all right—if, and I heard you."

"Dear old dad," said Mary tried to [illegible] "what will we do when Mother knows?"

C. M.'s arm tightened about her, as though for protection. Mary leaned on it.

"The thing that's got to be understood between us at once, is that my mother is the sweetest, best looking, most wonderful mother a girl ever had. Father, what were you thinking about to let her get away from you?"

Claude frowned. He led Mary back to her chair and sat down beside her. "See here," he said, looking at his daughter in alarm, "I don't know how much Polly has told you."

"Everything."

"Everything." C. M. started from his chair, changed his mind and sat down heavily. "Then that saves me something. We're not going to discuss it."

Mary nodded. "Let's take everything for granted, and go right on from now. That will be the best thing."

"How can we?"

"We must," Mary announced with decision. "There's got to be certain reticences."

"Oh, Lord!" groaned Claude. "You don't think I want to talk over these 'certain reticences' with you." He breathed heavily. "No, it's Polly." He looked at Mary as though they had been in league for years. "How can we get 'round her?"

Mary shook her head.

Claude looked at her moodily. "I know Polly." He looked down at the carpet, busy with his problem.

Mary came to him quickly, perched herself on his knee and put her arm about his neck. He did want petting so badly. "Mother will simply have to take notice of my father."

C. M. promptly kissed her. It was a nice kiss, on the cheek, and C. M. wasn't clumsy about it either. Mary's appreciation of him rose. He had a certain deftness, this big man. He wasn't clumsy nor was he vulgar. Mother might have, but Claude interrupted her train of thought.

"One thing I can't forgive is keeping you from me. I can hardly keep from squeezing the life out of you, Mary. I'm so glad to have you within reach, and know you're my girl. But the little Mary! By Jimboy! How sweet you must have been with your hair down your back, or maybe tied with a big bow of ribbon, and little strapped slippers on your cute little feet. Polly cheated me out of that. Why, look, you're a great big girl, and I'm a strange man to you, and you may be engaged to some hulking fellow, for all I know, and no room in your life for a father."

Despite the fact that he tried to treat it lightly, Mary felt the poignant regret in his tone, and her heart ached for her father. What could she do to make him know that he had not only a place in her life but her heart.

"I'm not engaged," she assured him, as she put up her hands to her smart little hat and jerked it off, and slipped from his knee. "Maybe no one will ever ask me." Claude made a little noise of scornful unbelief, but Mary stopped him. "Stare hard at that picture and don't look around until I tell you."

Dabbs obeyed her, wondering a little, and Mary slipped the hairpins from her head.

"Now!"

C. M. felt something soft and silky touching his hand. He looked at Mary. Her hair down her back as a child would wear it, she was standing beside him, smiling fearlessly. The years seemed to have slipped away from her.

"There, poor old Dad. Pretend I'm little Mary."

Dabbs laid his big hand caressingly on the silky head, but shook his own. "You're a dear, Mary, but put it up my girl. It isn't the same thing. Not but what I'd be content enough if I could have you running in and out of my house now, but there's Polly. I'll have to take you back to her, and then what?"

Mary could not answer him. She went to the mirror over the little writing desk and began piling up her hair. "Shall I tell her I've seen you?" she asked.

Dabbs watched her, fascinated. It was wonderful to think that slender lovely thing was his daughter. "Would that be a good thing, do you think?"

Mary thought for a moment, then shook her head. As she slowly put a shell pin in, she had made up her mind to tell him about Mother. It was the best thing, to be absolutely frank. She couldn't juggle things the way Mother did: "You'd better know about Mother," she announced. "We're sailing for Venice tomorrow."

"Tomorrow! Venice?"

Mary nodded as she drove home the last two pins and reached for her hat. "Mother's running away. We're running away from you, and my instinct tells me Mother will run far."

Dabbs sat down on the arm of the chair, thinking.

"And if I tell her I've seen you—why, she'll move again, and it won't be Venice, and I won't be able to tell you where we are going."

"You're not to tell her," Dabbs said, decidedly, "and it will be Venice. Do you know your hotel?"

"The Royal Danielli."

"Well, say nothing. I'll meet you there."

"You'll meet us! Oh, Father! Can you leave the grocery shop?"

Dabbs nodded, smiling. "Easy! I can, when it's you."

Mary smiled her hat with a saucy air. "Then you'll tell Mother there. May it's romantic!" Dearly would she like to see the meeting.

C. M. crossed the room, took her by the short hair and lifted her face so that he could look into the eyes that she tried to hide with her long lashes.

"It isn't too much," he said. "And much as it would please you to plan [illegible]

[illegible] the affair, young lady, you can't. Polly Johnston and I will manage that part of it by ourselves."

"Oh Father, how could you?"

"I'm not so slow as I look, daughter, and I know Polly. She was never to be driven, or coaxed either. Polly will have to settle it herself, and that's the only safe way."

Mary gave his arm a squeeze. "Oh, C. M. Dabbs, you're a wonder. If the angels had asked me, I couldn't have picked any father I'd like better."

Claude looked at her gravely. "I'm rough, in some ways, girl, but if you like me I haven't wasted my life."

"I only wish I was a boy, Father. How we would develop your grocery business together, and make money so that Mother would admire us!"

Dabbs frowned. "I don't want you a boy. The angels suited me, too, when they picked you." He held Mary's hand tightly in his. "Mary, is Polly like that still? Does she care as much about money, I mean?"

Mary studied her father as she answered: "She does and she doesn't. Mother isn't easy to explain. She likes the things money brings with it—and she hasn't much left."

Dabbs started. "How's that?"

Mary explained as much as she knew, and Dabbs frowned as she mentioned the borrowing from Loren Rangeley.

"Mary, shall we give her money?"

Mary shook her head. "Not now. It wouldn't be quite safe. Mother would use it to run further away from—us."

Dabbs looked pleased at the "us" but he frowned a moment afterward, and when Mary touched his arm gently, looked down at her warily. "I'm trying to figure out, daughter, whether you're right about the money. I guess you are, though. As you say, Polly'd only use it to get further away from me, and that would keep us apart. Besides, it mustn't be money that brings Polly to me. It must be you. You can see that."

"Of course. I mean, Mother's point of view, too. Mary reflected, wishing to be absolutely fair to the absent, which is always so difficult a task when sympathies are mostly with those present. "But I somehow feel on your side, Dad, and when the pennies—I'll warn you and we'll get together. Then we will see what Mother does. She's—well, surprising. You can never tell about Mother."

She moved toward the door. Mother would be waiting and she was beginning to trouble her. "Can I say after us to Venice, Father. We've so much to say to each other—there's no time just for us today. Aunt," she paused to make this emphatic, "you must not leave Mother alone on the elevator with me. If Mother saw us with you, she would [illegible] say a word.

"Must we you say, good-bye? I suppose it's safer, but I hate it." They moved to the door with her, and—they reached it he said, hesitatingly: "Mary, do you need any money? I've plenty."

"Generous old dear," Mary thought, but what she said was: "Oh, I'm quite all right, as long as Mother's holds out. The question is, how long can you spend the pace Mother's setting?"

Claude started to speak and stopped himself. "Oh, I can hold out for some time," he told her cheerfully, "and there's always the grocery business."

Mary patted his arm. "Of course, and if it wasn't for Mother, I'd go back with you now like a shot and keep books or sell things behind the counter. Wouldn't it be fun? It's Mother who keeps me from doing it. Mother can't be left alone, you see."

Claude Dabbs put his arm about his daughter. "I know it. I always knew you were all right, Mary. It won't come to leaving Polly. We'll try and arrange it so we can each have a share of you, sort of share and share alike."

Mary patted his hand, but looked a little dubious. She put an arm about his neck and drew his head down and kissed him. "I may have to be a little for you," she warned him, "but surely in such a good cause, I'll be forgiven. At least I'll chance it."

The elevator came and she was gone, and he knew that the better part of valor should keep him from watching from his windows. But all the fears and cares of a family man, which begin with the child's birth and spread gradually and with decreasing force through the long years of the child's growth and maturity, had suddenly assailed Claude Dabbs, and he wondered, fiercely, what Polly could be thinking of to allow such a girl as his Mary to go about alone.

CHAPTER XI

Mary marveled that she was able to conceal from her mother the exciting fact that she had met and talked to her father. It seemed to her quite impossible that she could sit beside her mother and think about her father, and her mother suspect nothing and [illegible] Mary did not quite know why Mother was thinking along.

For the first time in her life Mary realized that she would be sorry. People could be as close as Mother and she had been, and yet so widely separated that one deliberately drew down the [illegible] the other out in darkness and could know nothing of the thoughts and feelings behind the curtain.

Claude's heart and head were full of Mary. She [illegible] his thoughts to the exclusion [illegible] so absorbed [illegible] that Mary [illegible] from

(Continued on page 7)

These Wives of Ours!

We took them from the shelter of their families, gave them two or three rooms and a share of our salary—then left them sitting there among the wedding presents, a bit bewildered.

But they knew how—these wives of ours. They knew how to make rooms into homes, and how to get more merchandise out of a dollar bill than we ever did. We're lucky to have wives. How do they do it?

Look through this paper, week after week. You will find advertisements covering almost every human need. They are filled with hints for the household, hints for health, hints for clothing, hints for keeping young. They are virtually little essays on life. No wonder these wives of ours follow them so carefully. As one wise wife said: "It isn't so much that I know housekeeping so well. I know where to learn it!"

Most advertising is prepared especially for women. Read it. It forms an authoritative textbook on good housekeeping

Faulty Elimination

Should Be Corrected—Good Elimination Is Essential to Good Health.

IF you would be well, see to your elimination. Faulty kidney action permits toxic material to remain in the blood and upset the whole system. Then, one is apt to have a tired, languid feeling, and, sometimes, a toxic backache or headache, and often some irregularity of secretion, such as scanty or burning passages. More and more people are proclaiming the value of Doan's Pills, a stimulant diuretic, in this condition. For more than forty years Doan's have been a winning favorite the country over. Ask your neighbor!

DOAN'S PILLS 60c

Stimulate Diuresis to the Kidneys

[illegible]

BUSINESS CARDS

Farm Property Lake Frontage
A. C. BELDING
REAL ESTATE BROKER
Charlevoix, Mich.
Game Preserves Detroit Property

GLASSES FITTED
Consult
DR. J. LEAHY
OPTOMETRIST
Expert on Eye-Strain.
Petoskey, Mich.
Phone 443 for Appointment

BELLE LOUISE FLEWELLING
Palmer Chiropractor
Post Office Building
Phone 347
Office hours 2 to 5 daily
Monday, Wednesday and Friday
7 to 8

R. J. MADILL
Building Contractor
Ask for Estimates
Phone 121 Charlevoix, Mich.

D. T. McHUGH
General Contractor
Phone 214
CHARLEVOIX, MICHIGAN

R. B. ARMSTRONG
PHYSICIAN AND SURGEON
Special Attention to Diseases of Eye, Ear, Nose and Throat
Priest Bldg. Phone 255

DR. F. F. McMILLAN
Physician and Surgeon
Office above Postoffice
Phone 17
Charlevoix - - Michigan

A. L. FITCH
ATTORNEY AT LAW
Office in Court House
Phone 48
Charlevoix - Michigan

You can always find men who are willing to ride on the band wagon. What Charlevoix needs are men who are willing to fill it with gas and "crank" it up.

The CHARLEVOIX COURIER
Issued every Wednesday at
CHARLEVOIX - MICHIGAN

DuBois & Usher, Publishers
A. J. Usher, Editor and Business Mgr.
Courier Building Van Pelt Place

Entered at the Post Office in Charlevoix, Mich., as second class matter.

Member Michigan Press Ass'n

Advertising Rates

For advertising rates apply for schedule.

Notices of church or lodge socials and entertainments, where admission is charged, regular rates.

Obituary poetry, regular rates.

Card of Thanks, 25 cents.

TERMS OF SUBSCRIPTION

One copy, one year $2.00
One Copy, six months $1.00
One Copy, three months .....$ .60

CHIROPRACTORS SEEK RELIEF

The chiropractors of this state are once more seeking relief before a Michigan legislature. They are being opposed in this by many people who do not subscribe to their methods of treating the ills of humanity. Powerful interests are at work to prevent them from being recognized in full as a legitimate profession. Michigan now has a chiropractic law that recognizes practitioners under certain restrictions. The chiropractors claim the law is administered by a board of examiners unfriendly to them. They are seeking to remedy this by supplementary legislation. This relief, should be granted them, but so hedged as to prevent graduates from evading the law with little additional competency that will do more harm than good. We are not [illegible] the chiropractors [illegible] practice their profession [illegible] but we do believe that [illegible] should be required to [illegible] a standard of education [illegible] that will protect the public [illegible] ignorant and unscrupulous [illegible] it is [illegible] assault on our [illegible] liberties.

HOSPITAL NOTES

Mrs. Martin Peterson of Ironton, is in the hospital receiving medical treatment.

Lorrain Riggs of Onaway, was operated on for ruptured appendix last Wednesday.

Lucy Fuller is in the hospital this week receiving medical treatment.

Mrs. Abe Nowland submitted to an operation last Wednesday. She is doing nicely.

A. J. Usher was operated on for removal of goiter last Thursday morning. His condition is very satisfactory.

Brighten Your Home With
Fresh Cut Flowers
—OR—
Blooming Plants
Flowers for all occasions
A. E. EDWARDS
FLORIST
We're as near as your telephone

98c
WATKINS
GIANT
VANILLA

GOOD NEWS!
BIG BARGAINS!

Is your Vanilla supply low? Then drop me a post card. I will deliver right away or I will prepay parcel post charges on orders of $3.00 or over.

WILLIAM HUNTER
Charlevoix, Mich.

Wait for Watkins-It Pays!

COUNTY AUTO DEALERS HELD BANQUET

Met at Wolverine Hotel, Boyne City Last Wednesday

Nearly twenty of the prominent automobile agents, located in "The Five Michigan Lake Cities", viz, East Jordan, Charlevoix, Petoskey, Harbor Springs and Boyne City attended a banquet given in the Dutch room of the Wolverine Hotel on Wednesday evening of last week. Heaton & Hooper, W. E. Daniels and E. J. Olson sponsored the affair. Matters concerning the automobile business for the coming season were freely discussed we are informed and little differences were aired to everyones satisfaction.

The guests were entertained at frequent intervals by Brown's orchestra of that city, which provided numbers that reflected credit upon that organization and its leader.

LOCAL YOUNG MAN MARRIED LAST WEEK

Ceremony Performed at Bride's Home in Pickford, Mich.

Charlevoix friends will be interested to learn of the marriage of John H. Cross, son of Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Cross of this city, to Hulda Maxine Thomas, daughter of Mrs. Mary Thomas of Pickford, Mich., which occurred Tuesday, March 8, at the bride's home.

Immediately after the ceremony a luncheon was served by the bride's mother and sister-in-law, after which the couple left for Sault Ste. Marie for a brief stay. The happy couple are now at home to their friends in their new [illegible]

CLASS TOURNAMENT STARTED THIS WEEK

Finals and Consolation Next Tuesday and Wednesday

The annual class elimination [illegible] was held in the gymnasium. On Wednesday a meet of [illegible] games were played. Play will occur on Monday night, Tuesday at Seven o'clock when three more games will be played. It will then be possible to pick the first two places among the class teams, both girls and boys. On Tuesday night at seven-thirty the finals will be played off. Last year a great deal of interest was shown in the fine games put on at this tournament and it is hoped the same will be shown this year.

On Thursday night of next week a stunt night will be put on mostly for the sake of amusement. The Junior High boys team will meet the Junior High Girls team and will also the boys first high school team and the girls first team. The games will be played under girls rules. This should afford much entertainment. A free throw tourney will also be conducted, and on that night the best free thrower among the boys and girls will be determined.

AT THE MOVIES

Ankle length skirts won't come back while bobbed hair remains popular. Bobbed hair is too comfortable to become passe. Therefore, short skirts and short dresses will be popular for many years to come.

Such is the logical deduction of Alice Joyce, featured Paramount player. Known as one of the best dressed women on the screen, her observations on feminine style were made after she had played in a picture that required her to wear both long and short hair and skirts.

The film was Adolphe Menjou's latest Paramount starring vehicle, "The Ace of Cads," which comes to the Palace Theatre, Wednesday, March 23. The early part of Michael Arlen's story is laid in 1906, the latter, twenty years later. Extreme care was taken by Director Luther Reed that the players be costumed in the authentic styles of each period. Consequently, Miss Joyce's clothes ranged from straight-front "Gibson girl" dresses to modern frocks which barely hid the knees. When the 1906 sequence was finished, Miss Joyce breathed a sigh of relief.

Leon Errol will appear in his latest film, "The Lunatic at Large," which comes Saturday and Sunday, March 18-19, with Dorothy Mackaill co-starred.

The picture is an adaptation of J. Storer Clouston's three famous lunatic books. Full sway is given Errol's legs and First National officials are convinced that audiences will soon be awailing a new Errol film as anxiously as they await a Chaplin or Langdon picture—and principally because of those inimitable collapsible legs.

Fred Newmeyer, one of Harold Lloyd's most noted directors, directed this picture. Kenneth MacKenna has a featured role.

ORIGINAL GATHERING AT R. L. LEWIS HOME

Dinner Party Guests Came Friday From Far and Near

Mr. and Mrs. R. L. Lewis as Chief "Big Joe" and Squaw "Little Joe," entertained with a dinner last Friday evening for the following out-of-town guests:

Abe Martin and his spouse; a couple direct from the Bowery of New York; bareback rider, a circus clown; country cousins from Waller Farm; country cousins from Ironton, with their handboxes and bird cage the canary (which some claimed to be only a guinea hen) refused to sing; two hard old lumber jacks; four old fashioned ladies, who were just too sweet for anything; Sis Hopkins and her husband; an up-to-date radio man, who was so full of electricity his whole face lighted up by his bulbuous nose; a very poor couple who arrived in suits of burlap, which were becoming, however; and most noted, Charlie Chaplin and Aunt Jemima.

The party turned out to be a merry one and will be long remembered by those present.

BAPTIST CHURCH

This church has made no spectacular effort with programs during the winter, but has been quietly forging ahead. Congregations have been uniform size in the mornings, also the evening congregations have increased more than fifty percent. It has not been shown over other years that we have greater power to draw men than the old gospel and the [illegible] from each [illegible] Sunday [illegible] we all [illegible] more help [illegible] efforts.

[illegible] were [illegible] Dr. [illegible] Every young person or Endeavorer should hear this talk. It will be [illegible] to hear it.

The Ladies' Aid are meeting today with Mrs. Charles Carey. They are doing a great amount of sewing. Their meetings are an inspiration, and their fellowship a great pleasure.

OF INTEREST TO FARMERS

Plans have been completed to hold a big cherry meeting at the Armory in East Jordan on March 22nd, in the afternoon beginning at 1:30 slow time. The entire public is cordially invited and urged to attend. At the present time it is estimated that fully 20,000 young cherry trees will be set out on Charlevoix county farms this year, and in most cases the new fruit growers are inexperienced in this new field of work. If you belong to this latter class by all means plan to attend and learn about the details connected with successful and profitable cherry production.

Mr. D. H. Hootman, Spec., in Horticulture of M. S. C. will be present and will discuss the subjects of cherries in all of its phases. For several years Mr. Hootman has been studying cherries and will be in a position to give us valuable information and suggestions in the setting out of trees, pruning, spraying and harvesting.

In cherries, the same as anything else, much of your future success depends on the kind of start you make. So, if in doubt on any question, you cannot afford to miss the opportunity of hearing Mr. Hootman and getting properly started in this new field.

Don't forget the date: March 22, place the Armory, East Jordan.—Time, 1:30 p. m., standard time.

W. C. T. U. MET THIS WEEK AT HOOKER HOME

Fine Program and Social Hour Enjoyed By Those Present.

The Woman's Christian Temperance Union meeting held at Mrs. Hooker's last Friday afternoon was largely attended. Mrs. A. Edwards led the opening devotions using the 37th Psalm as the lesson.

After the routine business Mrs. Simmons read an interesting paper on the topic, "Get out the Vote," giving history of the development of the election system, and showing the effort to guard against fraud and the need of more instruction for voters.

The musical numbers by the Ogden girls and little Miss Trimble were much enjoyed. A social hour followed the adjournment during which group 2 served refreshments.

The next regular meeting will be held at Mrs. Arnold's, April 8th. A Fellowship supper with inspirational program is planned for March 29th at which new members and all Honorary Members will be guests.

BANKS TWP. CAUCUS A SCRAPPY AFFAIR

Keen Competition Brought Out Largest Vote in History

According to reports from Banks township, the annual spring caucus there drew out the largest vote in election history. Opposition for nearly every township office resulted in keen competition and voters turned out enmass to support their candidates at the polls. The following officers were nominated:

Supervisor, Richard D. Young.

Clerk, T. E. Boss.

Treasurer, Wm. Kenyer.

Highway Com., D. McPhee, who won from a field of three by a one vote margin.

Justice of the Peace, George Rudnagel.

Member Board of Review, H. H. Whitney.

Constables, George Nelson, Dudley Edson.

Township Comm., ensuing year, Hans DeYoung, C. E. Bearss, H. J. Timmer.

There's a closed season for quail, squirrels, rabbits and black bass, but apparently none for wayward husbands.

Courier Want Ads. pay.

New Spring Stock
Of
Peter Pan Prints Peter Pan Ginghams Peter Pan Voils
Guaranteed Fast Colors 50c a yard
New Spring Patterns in
Percales, Ginghams, Challies, Silkolines
M. A. Levinson & Co.

HUDSON
The Super-Six Principle Freed to the Limit

New riders, new buyers and thousands who merely witness its vivid dash on the road are saying "There is nothing like it in the world."

Standard Models
Coach $1285 - - - Sedan $1385
Custom Built Models
Brougham $1575 - - 5-Passenger Sedan $1750 - - 7-Passenger Sedan $1850
All prices f. o. b. Detroit, plus war excise tax
WYERS & SMITH, Charlevoix, Michigan

STALEY BROS.
HARDWARE
Opens Saturday, March 19th.
With a complete line of Hardware and Sporting Goods. Specials for Opening Day.

14 Quart Granite Dish Pans, regular price $1.25
Sale price 89c
17 Quart Granite Dish Pans, regular price $1.50
Sale price 89c
12 Quart Granite Water Pail, regular price $1.25
Sale price 89c
8 Quart Granite Convex Kettle, regular price $1.25
Sale price 89c
No. 30 Granite Preserving Kettle, regular price $1.50.
Sale price 89c

FREE WITH EACH 89c PURCHASE OF THE ABOVE ONE LARGE WASH BOWL

Here you are ladies, Pyrex Pie Plates, Large, regular price $1.00. Sale price..... 50c

WHILE THEY LAST

228 Bridge St. Phone No. 86

THE OLDEST BANK IN CHARLEVOIX COUNTY
FORTY-THIRD YEAR IN BUSINESS

1884 1927

"The little savings bank in the home means more for the future of the children of a family almost than all the advice in the world. It gives them the right start."

William McKinley

Charlevoix County Bank
CHARLEVOIX, MICHIGAN
Bridge, & Company
THE BANK ON THE CORNER

LOCAL NEWS BRIEFLY TOLD

Get the Habit—Read the Courier

COMMUNITY CALENDAR
Coming Events

Mar. 18. [illegible] school, 7:30 p. m.

Mar. [illegible] ... hour.

Mar. 25. Spring vacation begins. Schools begins.

Mar. 29. W. C. T. U. Fellowship supper.

Apr. 10-17. [illegible] at First Methodist church.

April 17. Easter Cantata, Baptist church, 4 p. m.

Apr. 17. Easter Sunday.

Regular convocation, R. A. M. No. 141, Monday evening, March 21st. Work in Royal Arch degree and a lunch.

Mrs. Charles Sterritt is spending the week in Grand Rapids.

James Wyers made a business trip to Petoskey last Thursday.

F. J. Fessenden and son left Monday for Grand Rapids on business.

The cancelled number of the lecture course will be given April 18th.

A. L. Fitch made a business trip to Cheboygan the first of the week.

Earl Johnson of Boyne City, is the new deliveryman at Jacob's grocery.

Ed. Duell, district game warden was in Charlevoix Tuesday on business.

Albert Freiberg of East Jordan, was a Charlevoix business visitor last Friday.

Ben Sledder of Armour, & Company, of Traverse City, was in the city Monday.

The Misses Lillis Flanders and [illegible] Petoskey [illegible]

[illegible] Saturday.

[illegible] Grand Rapids.

[illegible] Monday.

[illegible] Petoskey [illegible] summer.

F. F. Sloan of Muskegon, is in [illegible] for a few days looking after business interests.

Mr. and Mrs. Harold Hallett [illegible] Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Robert Krulik at Alden.

Mrs. C. E. Helber left Tuesday for Grand Rapids, called by the serious illness of her sister.

Mr. and Mrs. H. Dagwell of Indian River, were Sunday guests of their daughter, Mrs. F. F. McMillan.

D. T. McHugh, accompanied by Earl Young, left Saturday for Chicago. They will return this week.

James N. Milford of Petoskey, local representative for the National Biscuit Company, was in the city Monday.

Mrs. Richard Ryan returned Monday from a short visit with her daughter, Mrs. R. Tobias, of Grand Rapids.

Albert McMillan, small son of Dr. F. F. McMillan, who has been ill with pneumonia for the past three weeks is convalescent.

Geo. Drost of Elkhart, Indiana, who was employed at the Benj. Brown garage several years ago, was in the city Monday.

Mr. and Mrs. Wright Carr and daughter, Mrs. Florence Swafford of East Jordan, were in the city Monday visiting friends.

Leo A. Rorabacher, pharmacist of Traverse City, is employed at the Fessenden drug store during Mr. Fessenden's absence.

Edgar E. Smith left Wednesday for Grand Rapids and will return with a new Hudson for the Wyer's and Smith salesroom.

Mr. Foster of the Northern Auto Company reports the sale of Ford cars to Chas. Tuhy, H. Baumgartner and the Chicago Club.

Capt. C. N. Smith of the state lake-patrol is registered at the Hotel Charlevoix. Capt. Smith is supervising repairs on his boat.

F. R. Williams, attorney of East Jordan and Belle Roy, stenographer, were at the court house Thursday on business.

Mrs. Russell of 202 Grant street, expects to have a tonsil operation performed at the Charlevoix hospital sometime this week.

John Ackert returned last week from Grand Rapids, where he has been spending the winter.

Miss Vida Black, bookkeeper at the office of Booth's Fisheries, returned Saturday from a two week vacation spent in Grand Rapids and Detroit.

Miss Maggie Colter returned last week from Green River, near East Jordan, where she had been visiting at the home of her brother, Sam Colter.

Word has been received from Dr. W.W. Mitchell, who with his family is spending the winter in Miami Beach, Florida, expressing the pleasure they derive from the home-town news in the columns of the Courier and congratulating the city on the splendid success of the winter sports.

Charles Hamlin, accompanied by Mrs. Hamlin, returned Saturday from a few week's visit with relatives in Niles, Michigan and Elkhart, Indiana.

The Mary Brewster Circle of the Congregational church will hold a social gathering and tea at the home of Miss Eva Adams at 206 Michigan avenue Thursday, March 24th.

Bankers of Charlevoix county are holding a get-together meeting in Boyne City Tuesday evening at the Wolverine Hotel. The dinner hour will be followed by a business session.

The Literary and Sewing club of the M. E. church will meet at the home of Mrs. Joe Moore on Mason street, Thursday afternoon. Roll call to be aswered with an item of Irish history.

Capt. Chambers and nephew, Thos. Chambers, who have been spending the winter in Chicago, have returned to Charlevoix and are repairing the Sanford for the Beaver Island run.

Jack Jardine has been appointed manager of the Standard Oil filling station in Harbor Springs and will assume his new duties, April 1st. Mr. Jardine has been the assistant at the local station for some time.

According to the official canvass of votes in Charlevoix after the March 7 election, William Palmer's majority over his nearest opponent was 301 votes. The official count was as follows: Palmer, 968; Belding, 667; known, 162.

Officials of the Charlevoix County Bank (on the corner) have announced [illegible] with new bank signs on either [illegible] of the front entrance. The [illegible] are in modernistic [illegible] those formerly in use [illegible]

[illegible]

[illegible]

[

Chevrolet stands unchallenged as the world's largest producer of gear-shift trucks.

With its powerful valve-in-head motor—now equipped with an AC oil filter and AC air cleaner; with a 6-inch channel steel frame, super-rugged rear axle and modern 3-speed transmission, recently improved—the Chevrolet Truck is praised by users everywhere as the greatest commercial car value of all time.

Come in and see the truck that has won worldwide leadership. Learn why it has given such supreme satisfaction to so many users of every type—big fleet operators and individual owners.

for Economical Transportation

—at these Low Prices!

1-Ton Truck Stake Body	$680
1-Ton Truck Panel Body	$755
1-Ton Truck Cab and Chassis	$610
1-Ton Truck Chassis	$495
½-Ton Truck Chassis	$395

All prices f.o.b. Flint, Mich.

In addition to these low prices Chevrolet's delivered prices include the lowest handling and financing charges available.

PETOSKEY AUTO SALES
East Mitchell Street, Petoskey, Michigan

BLOCK & SIMMONS, Charlevoix, Local Agents

WORLD'S LOWEST PRICED GEARSHIFT TRUCK

—and No Place to Go!

We find ourselves, almost without realizing it, a nation on wheels.

We drive or ride in more than 22,000,000 motor vehicles.

We pack the paved highways coming in and out of town. We over-run even so-called remote regions. And we are pounding to pieces all but permanent roads.

This year probably 3,000,000 new cars will be on the road. Compared to this increase, the mileage of new permanent roads will be insignificant.

We don't want to be a nation on wheels, with no place to go.

The answer is, build more, and where necessary, wider concrete roads and streets—and start building them now.

Not in a long time have general conditions been so favorable for carrying on such public works as permanent highway building

PORTLAND CEMENT ASSOCIATION
Dime Bank Building
DETROIT MICH.

A National Organization to Improve and Extend the Uses of Concrete

Offices in 31 Cities

UNDER THE DOME AT THE CAPITOL

(Continued from page one.)

says are badly needed. The other bill asks for the removal of the present limitation of $3,700,000 on the sixth-mill tax.

The house passed the DeBoer bill reducing the privilege tax on building and loan associations, and on motion of Rep. Watson of Capac the bill was given immediate effect. The legality of the proceeding is seriously questioned, because the constitution provides that only such acts as are immediately necessary for the preservation of the public peace, health or safety may be given immediate effect, a provision, however, that is ignored with more or less frequency.

The senate Thursday passed the bill providing for the superintendent of public instruction giving bonds in the sum of $10,000. The bill had previously passed the house and now goes to Governor Green.

Under Rep. John Simpson's bill, which has now passed both houses, prisoners attempting escape from prison may be held guilty of felony and may be given not more than three years additional sentence.

A plan to move the Pontiac asylum to Lansing is proposed in a bill introduced by Senator Quinlan of Grand Rapids. The bill appropriates a million dollars to be spent within the next two years in erecting a new asylum on state-owned lands in Lansing. It is proposed to discontinue the Pontiac institution, wreck the buildings, which are said to be in poor condition and sell the lands, which are claimed to be worth $4,000,000 or more.

Senator Charles E. Green of Richmond introduced a concurrent resolution providing for the appointment of a commission to revise and codify the laws relating to banking trust companies and loan companies.

Senator Jankowski of Detroit introduced a bill Thursday providing for state pensions not exceeding $1.00 per day to all persons over 70 years of age who have an annual income of less than $300, and owning property valued at less than $3,000.

Under a bill introduced by Senator Pulver, it will be necessary for highway officials to hold a hearing before they can condemn private lands for highway purposes.

Senator Condon of Detroit has introduced a bill providing for an increase in the salaries for Supreme court justices to $15,000. The present salary is $10,000.

Senator Brighton of Escanaba would abolish the township system of caring for the poor in counties with a population of less than 175,000.

Senator Binning in a bill introduced Thursday proposes to entitle the state to be loaned on mortgage in state banks from one-tenth of the assets to one-twentieth.

The corn borer bill was passed by the house at the Friday session and given immediate effect. The bill had previously passed the senate and is now ready for the Governor's signature. The bill provides for state cooperation with the federal government in the fight against what is undoubtedly the most serious insect pest which has ever threatened agriculture in America. Of the 3,000,000 acres now affected by the pest, 900,000 are in Michigan, so that practically one-third of the ten million government appropriation will probably be spent in this state. The bill passed Friday carries an appropriation of $200,000.

Villages are authorized to establish sewers and sewer disposal systems under a bill introduced by Representative Chas. H. Reed of Clio. Mr. Reed has also introduced two bills affecting the publication of election and registration notices.

Both branches adjourned Friday noon until Monday night at 8 o'clock.

The senate passed the Comlon bill, providing for severe penalties for planting stench and other bombs, and the bill now goes to the house for approval.

Representative Ate Dykstra of Grand Rapids has a bill in which would abolish trading stamps, except those issued by individual stores.

A bill introduced by Representative Joseph L. Campbell of Hastings would make the law providing for organization of township school districts not applicable to places over 1,500 population. The present limit is 750.

The Republican state central committee held a meeting here Wednesday and elected Dennis E. Alward secretary and John Weibla of Detroit as assistant secretary. Secretary of State John S. Haggerty was elected treasurer and Mrs. Jacob Steketee of Grand Rapids was chosen vice chairman.

MOUNTAIN DISTRICT

(Continued from page two.)

Reading, Mrs. Case.

Recitation, "Love of Country," Bruce Sanderson.

Address, Mr. Belding, Commr.

"Solo," Mr. Scott.

Recitation, "Abou Adhem," Goldie Erfourth.

"Gettsburg Address," Clare Staley.

"Instrumental" Piano and Flute, Mr. and Mrs. Sanderson.

Dialogue, "Washington and Lincoln," Nyle and Howard Gould.

Address, Mr. Mellancamp, County Agricultural Agent.

Song, "America" audience.

Toastmaster, Mr. Sanderson.

Mr. Sanderson, as toastmaster, filled the role very creditably. He gave Mr. Mellancamp a very unique and original introduction and Mr. McClancamp responded with a highly interesting and educational talk on "The School, The Home and The Church." This address was very ably and ably rendered and each person present assured the speaker that they felt more than repaid for coming.

When we stop to consider the fact that it costs the tax payer the small sum of $12 towards the County Agricultural Agent's salary, we should consider ourselves very fortunate in having such a highly educated and capable a man as Mr. Mellancamp to represent our county. We, the teacher, pupils and patrons of the Mountain school, wish to again extend to Mr. Mellancamp our hearty thanks for his services on our Farmer's Day.

On account of being unable to reach the ice, Mr. Belding arrived a little late, having had to drive around by the way of East Jordan. Some of those who had to go home early, missed a very interesting talk on "Education of Today" and Mr. Belding's dream of what it will be tomorrow. Those of us who know Mr. Belding will appreciate his sentiments as he is very broad-minded and sympathetic with the youth of today. His explanation of the system of grading eighth grade examinations, a system of which he is one of the many things improved upon since Mr. Belding entered the field as [illegible] The chivalrous way in which he expressed his opinion of Mr. Parker's successor, is worthy of comment and helps to prove in how high esteem our Mr. Belding is. If more political candidates would assume his attitude it would help to eliminate a greater part of the party antagonism now in existence.

We, the teacher and pupils wish to extend our thanks to the various committees, who performed their duties so faithfully and capably. Lastly, we want to thank Mr. Scott, Mr. and Mrs. Sanderson for the excellent music, but we feel that Mr. Scott was amply repaid for his services as he had three pieces of pie for dinner.

Try my battery and tire shop for service. Benj. Brown.—Adv. 10tf.

* * * * * * * * * * *
* LEGAL NOTICES *
* * * * * * * * * * *

Order for Publication

State of Michigan, the probate court for the county of Charlevoix.

At a session of said court, held at the probate office in city of Charlevoix, in said county, on the 10th day of March A. D. 1927.

Present: Servetus A. Correll, Probate Judge.

In the matter of the estate of Abner Compton, deceased.

The above estate having been admitted to probate and Myron Compton appointed administrator thereof.

It is ordered that four months from this date be allowed for creditors to present their claims against said estate, and that such claims will be heard by said court on Tuesday, the 19th day of July A. D. 1927, at ten o'clock, in the forenoon, at the probate office in the city of Charlevoix.

It is further ordered that public notice thereof be given by publication of this order for three successive weeks previous to said day of hearing in the Charlevoix Courier a newspaper printed and circulated in this county.

Servetus A. Correll,
Judge of Probate.

Adv. 11-13

Mortgage Sale

Default having been made in the conditions of a mortgage made by Albert L. Johnson and Alma K. Johnson, husband and wife, to John Nicholls, of Charlevoix, Michigan, dated the second day of February, A. D. 1912, and recorded in the office of the Register of Deeds of the county of Charlevoix, state of Michigan, on the second day of February, A. D. 1912, in Liber 48 of Mortgages, on page 61, whereby the power of sale contained in said mortgage has become operative, on which mortgage there is claimed to be due at the date of this notice the sum of Four Hundred Twenty Dollars and Fifty-Cents as principal and interest, and Twenty-eight Dollars and Fifty-seven Cents, in taxes paid by the mortgagee on the lands described in said mortgage, together with an attorney fee of Fifteen Dollars provided for in said mortgage, and no suit or proceeding at law having been instituted to recover the moneys secured by said mortgage or any part thereof;

Therefore, by virtue of the power of sale contained in said mortgage, and the statute in such case made and provided, notice is hereby given that on Friday, the 29th day of April, A. D. 1927, at ten o'clock in the forenoon, at the east front door of the court house in the city of Charlevoix, county of Charlevoix, and state of Michigan, that being the place where the circuit court for said county is held, the undersigned will sell at public auction to the highest bidder, the land and premises described in said mortgage, or so much thereof as may be necessary to pay the amount due on said mortgage, as aforesaid, with seven per cent interest, and all legal costs, together with said attorney fee, as provided by law, the land and premises being described in said mortgage, as follows, to-wit:

All that certain piece or parcel of land situate in the Township of Marion, county of Charlevoix, and State of Michigan, and described as follows, to-wit: The southwest quarter of the southwest quarter of section twelve, town ship thirty-three north, range eight west.

Dated, February 2nd, 1927.

Albert L. Bridge, Executor of the estate of John Nicholl, deceased.
Mortgagee.

A. L. Fitch,
Attorney for the Executor of the Estate of John Nicholl, deceased, mortgagee.
Business address: Charlevoix, Michigan. 5tf2

Order for Publication

State of Michigan, the probate court for the county of Charlevoix.

At a session of said Court, held at the probate office in the city of Charlevoix, in said county, on the 10th day of March A. D. 1927.

Present: Servetus A. Correll, Probate Judge.

In the matter of the estate of Albert E. Mason, deceased.

The above estate having been admitted to probate and Perry E. Mason appointed executor thereof.

It is ordered that four months from this date be allowed for creditors to present their claims against said estate, and that such claims will be heard by said court on Saturday, the 9th day of July, A. D. 1927, at ten o'clock in the forenoon, at the probate office in the city of Charlevoix.

It is further ordered, that public notice thereof be given by publication of this order for three successive weeks previous to said day of hearing in the Charlevoix Courier a newspaper printed and circulated in this county.

Servetus A. Correll,
Judge of Probate.

Adv. 10-13

Mortgage Sale

Default having been made in the conditions of a certain mortgage made by Edward B. Ward and Annie E. Ward of Charlevoix, Michigan to John Nicholls of Charlevoix, Michigan, dated the 3rd day of October, A. D. 1908, and recorded in the office of the Register of Deeds for the county of Charlevoix and state of Michigan, on the 3rd day of October, A. D. 1908, in Liber 44 of mortgages, on page 188, whereby the power of sale contained in said mortgage has become operative, on which mortgage there is claimed to be due at the date of this notice the sum of Four Hundred Ninety-nine Dollars for principal and interest, and an attorney's fee of Ten dollars, provided for in said mortgage, and no suit or proceedings at law having been instituted to recover the moneys secured by said mortgage or any part thereof;

Now, therefore, by virtue of the power of sale contained in said mortgage, and the statute in such case made and provided, notice is hereby given that on Friday the 29th day of April, A. D. 1927, at Ten o'clock in the forenoon, the undersigned will sell at public auction to the highest bidder, at the east front door of the court house, in the city of Charlevoix Michigan, (that being the place where the circuit court for said county of Charlevoix is held,) the premises described in said mortgage, or so much thereof as may be necessary to pay the amount due on said mortgage, with seven per cent interest, and all legal costs, together with said attorney's fee, as provided by law, the premises being described in said mortgage as follows, to-wit:

Lot number One Hundred Thirty-five of Upright & Hurlbut addition to the city of Charlevoix, county of Charlevoix and state of Michigan.

Dated, January 31st., 1927.

Albert F. Bridge, Executor of the estate of John Nicholls, deceased.
Mortgagee.

A. L. Fitch,
Attorney for Mortgagee.
Business Address: Charlevoix, Michigan. 5t13.

Mortgage Sale

Default having been made in the conditions of a certain mortgage made by Minnie Jane Smith of Charlevoix, Michigan, to Celia N. Bridge of Charlevoix, Michigan, dated the Fourteenth day of October, A. D. 1916, and recorded in the office of the Register of Deeds of the county of Charlevoix, State of Michigan, on the Sixteenth day of October, A. D. 1916, in Liber 52 of Mortgages, on page 480, whereby the power of sale contained in said mortgage has become operative, on which mortgage there is claimed to be due at the date of this notice the sum of Nine Hundred Two and Seventy-five one-hundredths Dollars as principal and interest and the further sum of One-Hundred Three and 20/100 Dollars paid in taxes on the land described in said mortgage and the further sum of Twenty dollars as an attorney fee provided for in said mortgage, and no suit or proceedings at law having been instituted to recover the moneys secured by said mortgage or any part thereof;

Therefore, by virtue of the power of sale contained in said mortgage, and the statute in such case made and provided, notice is hereby given that on Friday, the 29th day of April, A. D. 1927, at ten o'clock in the forenoon, at the east front door of the court house in the city of Charlevoix, Michigan, that being the place where the Circuit court for said county is held, the undersigned will sell at public auction to the highest bidder, the premises described in said mortgage, or so much thereof as may be necessary to pay the amount due on said mortgage, aforesaid, with seven per cent interest, and all legal costs, together with said attorney fee, as provided by law, the lands and premises being described in said mortgage as follows:

All that certain piece or parcel of land situate in the city of Charlevoix, county of Charlevoix, state of Michigan, described as follows: Beginning four hundred sixty and one-half feet east of a point where the north line of the Emmet and Grand Traverse State Road (now known as Petoskey Ave.) intersects the east line of Michigan Avenue, the same being the southwest corner of a lot owned by Duane Gail Vandermade; thence east along the north line of Petoskey Avenue sixty-six feet; thence north one hundred fifty-six and three-fourths feet; thence west sixty-six feet; thence south to the place of beginning, the same being Lot number One of Block number three of Fox and Eaton's unrecorded plat to the village of Charlevoix, Michigan.

Dated, February 2nd., 1927.

Celia N. Bridge,
Mortgagee.

A. L. Fitch,
Attorney for Mortgagee,
Business address: Charlevoix Michigan. 5t13.

NOTICE OF CHANCERY SALE

State of Michigan, in the Circuit Court for the County of Charlevoix, in Chancery.

Donald O. Boudeman and Dallas Boudeman, Jr., Plaintiffs, vs. Hattie McNeill, Defendant.

In pursuance and by virtue of an order and decree of the Circuit Court for the County of Charlevoix, Michigan, in chancery, dated the 6th day of January, A. D. 1927, in the above cause in said court pending wherein Donald O. Boudeman and Dallas Boudeman, Jr., are plaintiffs and Hattie McNeill is defendant, said suit having been filed to foreclose a mortgage on which, by the terms of said decree, there was due on the date of said decree, namely, Two Thousand Three Hundred Five an 34-100 Dollars ($2,305.34).

Notice is Hereby Given, That I shall sell at public auction to the highest bidder at the east front door of the Court House in the City of Charlevoix, Michigan, (said Court House being the place for holding the Circuit Court for said county,) on the 22nd day of March, A. D. 1927, at ten (10) o'clock in the forenoon of said day, (Central Standard Time,) all or so much thereof as may be necessary of the land and premises hereinafter described, to raise the amount due to said plaintiffs by the terms of said decree, together with principal, interest, taxes, insurance and costs the said plaintiffs of the time of said sale.

The premises to be sold are described as follows, to-wit:

The parcels of land situated in the City of Charlevoix, County of Charlevoix and State of Michigan, and described as follows, to wit: the west half (½) of Lots One and Two (1, 2) in Block Four (4) of Dixon's addition to the village (now city) of Charlevoix, according to the plat thereof duly recorded in the office of the Register of Deeds of Charlevoix County, Michigan.

Dated at Charlevoix, Michigan, January 27th, A. D. 1927.

Lisle Shanahan,
Circuit Court Commissioner in and for Charlevoix County, Michigan. Business address, Charlevoix, Michigan.

Adams and VanHorn,
Attorneys for Plaintiff,
Business address, 114 West South St., Kalamazoo, Michigan. 5t7.

ease the pain

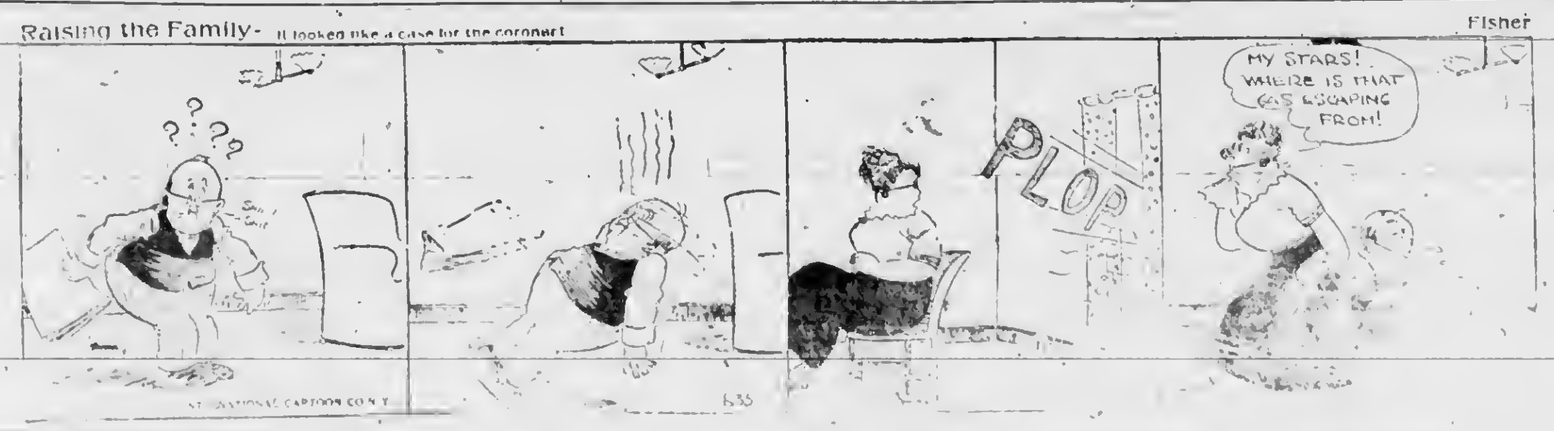
Nothing brings such comforting relief as the original Baume Bengué. It starts to drive out pain as soon as you apply it.

GET THE ORIGINAL FRENCH
BAUME BENGUÉ
(ANALGESIQUE)

Babies Love It

For all stomach and intestinal troubles and disturbances due to teething, there is nothing better than a safe Infants' and Children's Laxative.

MRS. WINSLOW'S SYRUP



Raising the Family- It looked like a case for the coroner!
Fisher
? ? ?
PLOP
MY STARS! WHERE IS THAT GAS ESCAPING FROM!
635
© NATIONAL CARTOON CO. N.Y.

JUST KIDS—Cake Day. By Ad Carter

YUH KNOW MOM! I DONT WANT TO BOTHER YUH BUT YUH WONT FORGET IM GONNA LICK TH' DISH WILLYUH?
IF YOU ASK ME THAT AGAIN YOU WONT LICK THE PAN AN I'LL LICK YOU! NOW GET OUT OF THE KITCHEN BOTH OF YOU AN I'LL CALL WHEN THE PAN IS READY!!
I JES' BROUGHT UP SOME WOOD MOM- YUH WONT FORGET THAT WILL YUH MOM?
INTERNATIONAL CARTOON CO.

Alabaster Lamps

By Margaret Turnbull

(Continued from page one)

a successful voyage. It was his scholarship year. For the first time in their acquaintance Mary was glad to see Claude. His bad temper was roused by the news that Claude had actually had Mary there, in the house, and yet had said nothing at all about Ned. As though that were not enough, Claude calmly announced that he transfer their reservation to the next ship sailing a few days later.

It had been a difficult matter for him to obtain passage on the same boat with the Johnstons and now these efforts were in vain.

When the change had been made Ned asked: "Why didn't you tell Miss Johnston I was in town?"

"Because I forgot you, and everything else, Ned. All I could think of was that Mary is my own girl and nothing that Polly does will keep me away from Mary when she wants me."

Ned's feeling of exasperation gradually gave way to the thought that in reality Claude had done him a good turn. By not mentioning him to Mary, Claude had saved the explanation that he was not Carter, but Ned Carter Rangeley. Moreover, there would be no need, if they traveled on different ships, for her to know it until they met. There are some explanations that should come from the lover. This was one. Mary still believed him the grocer's clerk.

The next morning Ned determined that, by hook or crook, he would have speech with Mary before the steamer sailed. He could easily get on board, and the chances were that he would be able to have a word alone.

He became aware that Claude was regarding him steadily across the breakfast table.

"Far be it from me, Ned, to worm myself into any business of yours, but if you should be thinking of looking up Mary before she sails, my advice is—Don't!"

"What's wrong with the idea, supposing I entertained it?"

"Everything," said Claude, all the kindness gone from the blue eyes. "It's a bad idea. It would mess up my plans. If necessary, I'm prepared to rope and tie you to prevent it."

He leaned across the table, his eyes growing soft again: "Why boy, can't you see? There's some women you can rush, and others you've gotta let run a little before you throw the rope. Of course, I haven't been so successful in my own affair that I should set up for a guide, but I know about Mary. If I were you- I wouldn't."

"Enough said," Ned quickly agreed. "But once over the water, C. M., I'll play my game without interference."

Claude's caution prevented Ned meeting his father, Loren Rangeley bade Mrs. Johnston an impressive farewell. He carried himself so, paternally toward Mary that only her fear of antagonizing her mother prevented her from raging aloud against him.

The same jealousy, in a different degree, prevented Mrs. Johnston from telling Mary of Ned's message. The sight of his flowers, a modest touch covered that others found Claude attractive, and Ned even accused Claude of being too popular.

Ned Even Accused Claude of Being Too Popular.

"Polishing up for Mary," was his explanation and excuse.

A curiously congenial pair they were, finding an infinite variety of things to talk about. They seldom mentioned Mary, and Ned wanted to talk about Mary. He had reached the stage when if the beloved's name is not mentioned by someone, there is no conversation. Some one, any one, every one, must speak of her, to live.

(TO BE CONTINUED.)

If America runs out of gold she can always fall back on discarded wedding rings.

One great economic waste is killing a perfectly good sheep to make a college diploma.

MARCH AGRICULTURAL FINDINGS

REPORT FOR MARCH MADE BY U. S. AGR'L DEPT.

Slight Change in Land Value With Increase in Demand For Farms Generally.

The stocks of corn, oats and rye on Michigan farms are less and those of wheat, barley and potatoes are greater than on March 1 of last year, according to the March crop report issued by Herbert E. Powell, commissioner of agriculture, and Verne H. Church, U. S. agricultural statistician for Michigan. The percentages of all these crops remaining in the farmers' hands is near the five year average, being in most cases. For the United States as a whole, the amount of wheat is greater than last year and the stocks of all other crops are less.

Corn: It is estimated that 30 per cent of the crop is still on farms. The total crop in 1926 was 2,872,000 bushels. Last year 261,000 as the present holdings were 16,551,000 one year ago. The merchantable quality is rated at 91 per cent, as compared with 85 per cent last year and 90 per cent the five year average. A small surplus is grown in any county where three per cent or less is reported shipped out of the county where grown.

The Detroit Stock Exchange reports the total of 1,414,000 bushels as compared with 1,815,000 one year ago. Reports received by the 71 correspondents indicate that 23 per cent, or 2,340,000 bushels, are on Michigan farms on March 1. One per cent is equivalent to 102,000 bushels represented the holdings. The average is on March 1 is 20 per cent of the crop. The portion of the crop to be shipped out of the county where grown is estimated at 58 per cent, three per cent more than last year and five per cent more than the average for the last ten years.

The stocks for the country as a whole amount to 150,143,000 bushels against holdings of 95,279,000 one year ago which were the smallest on record for March 1.

Oats: Michigan reserves on farms amount to 20,206,000 bushels against 22,364,000 one year ago, the former representing 39 and the latter 42 per cent of the crop. The average amount shipped out of the county where grown is 22 per cent. Owing to a partial failure of the crop in some northern counties and more or less weather damage during harvest the surplus in many counties was less than usual. As a result only 17 per cent will be shipped.

The national stocks on farms are reported at 423,957,000 bushels, which is over 150 millions less than on March 1, 1926.

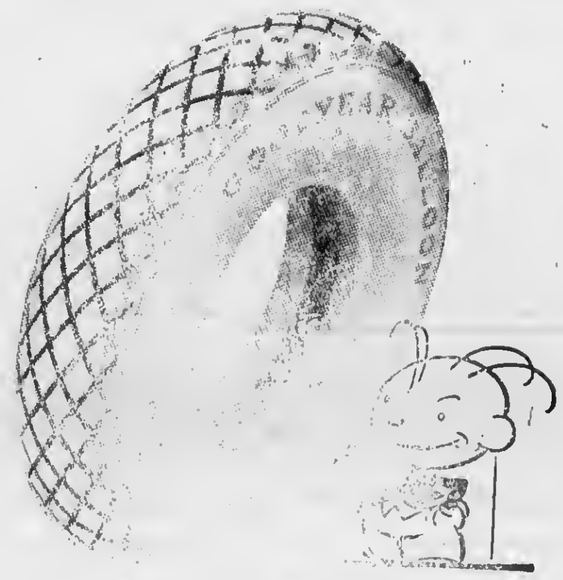
Barley: Reports from correspondents indicate that 20 per cent of last year's crop is still in the hands of Michigan farmers. This is equivalent to 758,000 bushels as compared with holdings one year ago of 741,000 bushels. The greater portion of the crop each year is fed on the farms, the average shipments out of the county being only 12 per cent. This year it is estimated that only nine per cent will be shipped.

The holdings throughout the United States amount to 40,829,000 bushels as compared with 53,466,000 on the corresponding date in 1926.

Potatoes: It is estimated that 30 per cent of the crop is still on farms in the state as compared with 28 per cent one year ago. This represents holdings of 8,964,000 bushels against 6,835,000 on March 1 of last year. After deducting food and prospective seed requirements, the amount that will be sold will bring the season's car-lot movement up to approximately 16,500 cars, or 2,300 more than were shipped from the 1925 crop. Prevailing prices during the remainder of the shipping season will affect the movement to a considerable extent. About 50 per cent of the crop is expected to move from the counties where grown.

Land values: There has been very little change in land value during the past year. There seems to be a slightly improved demand in southern counties but no improvement in the northern districts. Very few farms are being sold on cash basis, the greater portion of the transfers involving exchanges for other property.

Courier Want Ads. pay.



Tremendous Reductions in Goodyear Tire Prices

Lower Than Ever in History of Tire Making

Now is the time and this is the place to get them. Whether you need tires now or not, you'd better come in and look over the new Goodyears. If you don't want them right now, pay a small deposit and we'll hold them until you are ready for them. We want to sell you this good, long mileage tire while this great price reduction is on.

We Carry Them in All Sizes

High pressure, Balloons and Truck Tires. We give you service—put on your tire for you—right out of fresh stock. You'll like our tires and fair treatment. Come in and look them over and get our prices.

BENJAMIN BROWN

Choose Your Winter's Reading Among These SPECIAL BARGAINS

GOOD ON RURAL ROUTES ONLY

Charlevoix Courier, regular price $2.00
Grand Rapids Evening Press, regular price $4.00, both for $5.60

Charlevoix Courier, Grand Rapids Evening
Grand Rapids Herald, regular price
$4.00, both for $5.50

Charlevoix Courier, and Michigan Farmer,
both for $2.50

Charlecoix Courier, Grand Rapids Evening
Press and Michigan Farmer,
one year for $6.10

SPECIAL MAGAZINE RATES

Ask us for cut prices on your magazine renewals. There is hardly a one but what we can save you from 50c to $2.00. Write us a postal card or call at the office.

The Charlevoix Courier

Charlevoix, Michigan

SHOULD STOP TO CONSIDER SOURCE

U. P. EDS MAKE TOO MUCH OF COMPLAINER'S QUACKING

Cheboygan Editor Makes Caustic Comment on Story of Muskegon Writer.

The occasional weeping and wailing of some "backyard" hunter from the Southern part of the state is forever stirring the ire of our Upper Peninsula sportsmen, with unjust criticisms, complaints, etc. Editor Al Weber of the Cheboygan Democrat speaks our convictions on this sort of thing in the following article:

"Michigan newspapers, and particularly the upstate ones, are paying too much attention to the vampings of a would be southern Michigan sportsman hailing from Muskegon who a short while ago wrote a story for his home paper after he had suffered a rarebit 'dream, and the gist of that story was, that he had ventured into the wild and dangerous fastness of the Chippewa county last fall in search of a festive buck, but that he had been disappointed in getting his meat because the habitdares up there had all the deer killed off before he arrived on the slaughter field, and that it was a common practice for the upstate folks to shoot deer all the year around and that the chief means of sustenance for these up state habitdores was deer meat all the year around, etc. etc., etc.

"Just how one would expect from a certain class of fellows who go into the woods during the deer season for meat and meat alone. This man's creed has caused the upstate newspaper writers to turn their guns onto the whole of the southern Michigan's sportsmen and class them all along with this type, when in reality there are some others that cannot subscribe to anything he has said. There are a whale of a lot of honest-to-goodness deer slayers that have as yet to see a slaughtered doe in the forests and they hunt in some of the territory most populated by hunters during the deer season. There are some southern Michigan hunters that would never take a boy home with them if they did not purchased it from some local resident, but these cases are not the rule.

It is the unreasonable quacking of such men as this Muskegon fellow that causes all the trouble for the honest sportsman that would do the most meddling with the game and conservation laws, and presumes to know the most about what is necessary for the salvation of the public and the country."

DO IT NOW

---A---

NEW CAR FOR YOUR OLD CAR

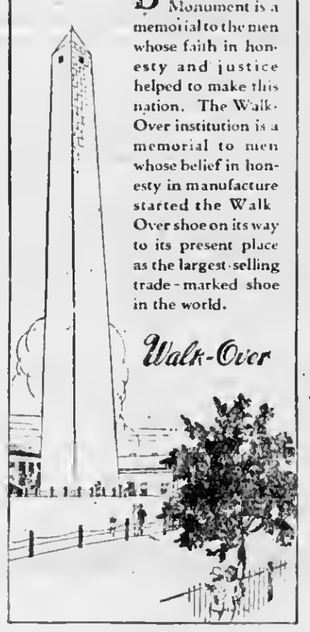
The Latest Finishes

Have your good car refinished with

Duco or Nitro Egyptian Lacquers or the High gloss Varnishes

ATCHISON AUTO SHOP

Phone 93 - 204 Mason St.



BUNKER HILL Monument is a memorial to the men whose faith in honesty and justice helped to make this nation. The Walk-Over institution is a memorial to men whose belief in honesty in manufacture started the Walk Over shoe on its way to its present place as the largest-selling trade-marked shoe in the world.

Walk-Over

See Them at

Campbell Boot Shop

ENTERTAIN AT BIRTHDAY PARTY

Eleven Little Guests Present at Fred Myers' Home.

On Friday, March 11, Mrs. Fred Myers entertained from 3:30 to 6:30 in the afternoon in honor of her daughter, Helen.

The guests numbered eleven and were: Alice Usher, Janet Livingston, Bernyce Lamphear, Dorothy and Margery Partridge, Wilma and Adeline Bellinger, Dorothy Staley, Virginia Block, Iuha Glados and Edna Wyers.

Miss Helen entertained her friends first with a joke lunch, after which the birthday supper was served, including the birthday cake decorated with eleven candles.

The young hostess received many gifts from her friends to make her eleventh birthday anniversary one to be remembered.

Tire reduction on Goodyear tires. Benj. Brown.—Adv. 10tf.

What Are You Stepping On?

There is a vast difference between stepping on an accelerator and stepping on a puddle of slush.

Step along to a bigger measure of success in life in one of the new 26 model Nash Cars, which are proving so attractive to those who plan to ride through March weather into a delightful summer. . . A demonstration is convincing—may we arrange one for you?

(A Nash Car to suit every taste)

Prest-O-Lite Batteries

Goodrich Silvertown and Kelly Springfield Tires

H. R. Fowler

113 Bridge St. Telephone No. 54-J

SOUTH SIDE CIRCLE. MET AT ARMSTRONG'S

Fine Dinner Termed "A Barrage of Culinary Delights."

The South Side Circle met at Mrs Armstrong's Monday evening, and enjoyed an abundance of hospitality and good cheer, always associated with the Armstrong home. Having been asked to report this pleasant gathering, such phrases as "a barrage of culinary delights raked the guests," or "savory viands graciously served" occur to me. Take your choice, as either will fit. (I was about to divulge that "covers were laid for thirty," but caught myself in the nick of time.)

Dinner partners were decided by lot, and Ernie Dawson's fears on drawing No. 13 proved well founded, he said, when his partner turned up in his smiling fair mate. It was thought that 13 were seated at one of the tables, but the superstitious were mollified by discovering the North's baby tucked against his mother to make the fourteenth.

The contracting humorist, Will Parmelee, told of a recent meeting with a prominent Petoskey man:

"He objected because I said Charlevoix was about to grab their 'million-dollar sunset' slogan, or use something almost indentical. He got real hot un and talked about an injunction. Finally he demanded to know how ours was to read. I told him that as Petoskey advertised it's sunset, we are going to advertise our moonshine- and tried, always used. When I left a moment later I thought I was shaking hands with the tail of dead fish."

MRS. DOUGHERTY DIED AT FRANKFORT MICH.

Took Up Residence in This County In the Year 1882.

Mary Whitley Dougherty was born January 4th 1858, in Gray county, Ontario, Canada, and passed Wednesday, March 9, 1927, at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Natzel, in Frankfort, Michigan, aged sixty-nine years two months and five days.

She was united in amrriage with William Dougherty at Bracebridge, Canada, in the year 1873 coming to Charlevoix in the year 1882, where they resided until 1917, when they removed to Frankfort.

Into this home were born thirteen children, eight of whom, three sons and five daughters, are living. There are also twelve grandchildren and four great grandchildren. Four sisters and two brothers of Mrs. Dougherty also survive.

The deceased was a devoted wife and a loving mother. Since her husband's death, she has spent the most of her time with her children, her husband having passed away in 1923. About thirty-five years ago she united with the First Methodist Episcopal church of Charlevoix where her membership has since remained. The funeral service was held at the church, Saturday at 2:30 p. m., Rev. C. E. Pollock officiating.

Goodyear high quality tires at the latest reduction in price will please all tire user. Benj. Brown.—Adv. 10tf.

HARBOR WON CLASS C TOURNEY

(Continued from page one.)

The Lineups—

Mackinaw City		Ellsworth
Sullivan	RF	Yettaw
Dietz	LF	Elzinga
Desy	C	Peebles
McGoon	LF	Kloster
Cassidy	LG	VanderArk

Field goals: Dietz 4, Desy 2, Peebles 2, Elzinga 2, Sullivan, Yettaw. Foul goals: Dietz 2, Peebles 2, Elzinga 2. Referee, Crane, Sturgis.

Mancelona 23, East Jordan 22.

Mancelona won third place in Class C when they defeated East Jordan 23-22, in one of the fastest games of the tournament. Both teams were over anxious. Bailey, the Mancelona guard again showed some very clever guarding, not allowing any short shots from his side of the floor. He was among the best guards at the tournament. The teams were tied several times in the last minutes of play with Mancelona getting the lead, just as the game ended.

The Lineups—

Mancelona		East Jordan
Davidson	RF	Sheppard
Cochran	LF	Gleason
Loehler	C	St. Charles
Brown	RG	Barnette
Bird	LG	Taylor

Substitutes: Smith for Cochran. Field goals: Brown 7, Sheppard 6, St. Charles 2, Cochran, Davidson, Taylor 2. Foul goals, Barnette 2, Taylor 2, Brown, Cochran, Davidson, Bird 2. Referee, Ledewyk, Mt. Pleasant.

St. Patrick's Day dance at I. O. O. F. hall, Thursday evening, March 17. Music by Durance orchestra.—Adv. 11-1t.

The door that is hardest to keep the wolf from is the one to the sedan.

ANOTHER PIONEER CALLED BY DEATH

Mrs. Stafford Died at Home of Her Son on State Street.

Mrs. Flora Clara Hubbard Stafford, was born in Rogers Point, Clinton county, New York, December 10, 1839, and passed away at her son's home in Charlevoix, March 13, 1927, aged 87 years, 3 months and 3 days.

About the year 1862, she was united in marriage with Mr. John Bigbee. They made their home in Hillsdale county until the death of Mr. Bigbee in 1865.

In 1869 she was married to Daniel Stafford, and with him made her home in Norwood, Michigan. Mr. Stafford passed away in 1902. For the last fifteen years Mrs. Stafford has made her home with her son, John Bigbee of Charlevoix.

Two children were born to the first marriage, Annie and John, the former dying about two years ago.

For more than a half century Mrs. Stafford had been a member of the Methodist Episcopal church. She was a woman of faith and religious devotion.

The funeral service was held at the Bigbee home on State street, Thursday morning at ten o'clock, Rev. C. E. Pollock officiating. Interment was made at Norwood, where the body of Mr. Stafford was laid to rest.

St. Patrick's Day dance at I. O. O. F. hall Thursday evening, March 17. Music by Durance orchestra.—Adv. 11-1t.

* * * * * * * * * *

METHODIST CHURCH

* * * * * * * * * *

Worship with sermon and Junior church at ten-thirty next Sunday morning. The pastor will preach.

"Hawaii, The Beautiful" is sermon theme at the seven o'clock service next Sunday evening. Hawaiian music by the orchestra, hulls, Pantomine and a set of beautiful Hawaiian still pictures will make this service both instructive and attractive.

Mr. Duncanson of East Jordan, gave a very good address to the men Monday evening. There will be another excellent meeting of the men next Monday evening at six-thirty with an entertaining speaker. All men are welcome.

Prayer meetings each Thursday at 7:30 p. m. and each Tuesday at 7:00 p. m. The young people are invited to the Tuesday evening. All are invited to attend the Thursday evening service.

Rev. C. E. Pollock will address the men's meeting in the Presbyterian church in Boyne City Friday evening this week.

Rev. C. E. Pollock officiating at the funeral service of Mrs. James Wasegishick at the first Methodist church last Thursday morning at ten o'clock.

* * * * * * * * * *

CONGREGATIONAL CHURCH

B. G. Mattson, D. D., Minister

* * * * * * * * * *

At the morning service the pastor will continue his lenten series with a sermon on Christ's Mastery of Circumstances.

The Sunday school under the leadership of Mr. A. J. Steiger is continuing its excellent record for attendance and interest. A recent letter from Mr. Bridge to the school was much enjoyed. A branch of the National Junior Rifle Corps is being organized through Dr. Mattson's class of high school young men.

Sunday evening at six the young people's church service will present the topic the life of St. Patrick, missionary to Ireland in the middle ages, presented by Georgia Kelderhouse. The pastor will continue the question hour with practical discussion of the church considered as a society of the friends of Jesus.

The meeting last Sunday was well attended and greatly enjoyed.

Distribution of lenten literature and plans for systematic visitation in the interest of increased attendance at church services and the promotion of an Easter membership class continue to be the most important activities stressed in church plans and work.

Ironton church service at 2:30 p. m.

The Ironton church held a successful all-day meeting Wednesday this week for work. The Ladies' Aid served and served a potluck dinner. The men put on a shingling bee with a big force of willing workers on the church roof.

Notice!

I have the agency for a high grade line of lubricating Oils, Paints and Roofing material, and can furnish these useful articles direct from the factory at an attractive price. I will make a specialty of repairing leaky roofs, re-placing old roofs, putting on new roofs and furnishing material for that purpose. Let me figure on the best way to remedy your roof troubles. A. C. Hanson, phone 227.—Adv. 10t2.

Our garage, battery and tire shop at your service. Benj. Brown.—Adv. 10tf

Charlevoix Hardware Company

Cleaning-Painting Brightening-Up Time is at Hand

and all your wants are here under one roof.

PAILS, MOPS, SCRUB BRUSHES

The neatest oval mop-pail, can't upset, with wringer, you ever saw; Sweepers, Hoovers, (sale or rent); Floor Wax, (An Electric Polisher for rent), all things for cleaning.

PAINTS

We honestly believe the R. I. P. S. brand the best paint to be had or we should not have changed from the line handled for years by this store.

We have R.-I.-P.-S. Paints, Varnishes, Lacquers for all purposes in all colors and shades. Call and see the possibilities and combinations.

MURESCO AND ALABASTINE

And the best line of Paint Brushes ever brought into town.

Some odds and ends of paints and enamels in small cans, enough to brighten up an old chair or table. Everybody's doing it. Costs a trifle.

FLOOR COVERINGS, ARMSTRONG - CONGOLEUM

Piece stuff and rugs and a splendid selection of Wool Rugs.

A piece or two of New Furniture, New Shades at the windows and the house is like new.

THE WHOLE LAYOUT IS HERE AND THE PRICES ARE RIGHT.

Charlevoix Hardware Company

Three Big Departments—Hardware, Furniture, Electrical

NORTHERN MICHIGAN'S FINEST STORE

Beautiful Walls

Neu-Tone—the supreme washable, sanitary, flat wall paint will make your walls exquisitely beautiful.

Eighteen selected tints show any interior color scheme to be carried out with perfect assurance of color harmony in every room of the home.

Let us give you more particulars about this wonderful flat wall paint.

A Color Card for the asking.

WOOD BROS.

Hardware and Electrical Supplies

ANNOUNCEMENT

A new restaurant will open on Saturday, April 2nd, opposite the Hotel Charlevoix, under the name of Kumeta Lunch; owned and operated by Mrs. Merettia Bassett and Mrs. Slyvia Brodin.

From 11:00 a. m. to 2:00 p. m. a chicken and fish dinner will be served at 50c a plate; and from 2:00 p. m. to 5:00 p. m., free lunches consisting of coffee and doughnuts will be given on the opening day.

If home cooking, good service, reasonable prices and prompt attention, will please the public, then give this new restaurant a trial.

Pies, cakes, and doughnuts will be for sale at any time after the opening.

Meal tickets, if wanted—$6.00 worth for $5.00.

Mrs. A. K Wood

announces the opening of her Millinery Store with a complete line of Ladies', Misses' and Children's Hats. Full line of Dress Flowers. Call in and see them at 109 Bridge street.

LET THE COURIER PRINT YOUR SALE BILLS

CHARLEVOIX COURIER

VOLUME 3[illegible] NUMBER 12. EIGHT PAGES COURIER, CHARLEVOIX, MICH., WEDNESDAY, MARCH 23, 1927 PRICE $2.00 PER YEAR

CADILLAC WINS NORTHERN MEET

ST. FRANCIS, TRAVERSE CITY, TOOK CLASS C HONORS

Locals Dropped Opener to Harbor Springs—Win Consolation By Defeating Cheboygan

The Cadillac high school quintet coached by Bert Nobett, won the northern Michigan regional basketball championship at Petoskey Saturday night by scoring a brilliant 25 to 17 victory over the strong Manistee high five before a crowd of over 2,000 spectators, which packed every available inch of room in the spacious Petoskey high gym.

Cadillac won because it played smarter basketball because it passed better, shot more and because the players worked together. It looked to be outplayed in the first half when Manistee seemingly threatened with Stanek and Sobrowski and Stanek breaking away from all guards on a last desperate attempt to win.

[illegible] led at the half 11 to 6. In the third quarter Manistee [illegible] the lead of the third quarter, which stood 16 to 14. After the third period the Manistee team [illegible] at a terrific pace and [illegible] in desperation while one point of Cadillac, and [illegible] the chance of victory [illegible] Jimmy Cadieux, one of [illegible] Michigan's greatest forwards, [illegible] the oval through the hoop for two [illegible] in rapid succession to give [illegible] a lead that held to the final [illegible] of the game.

St. Francis of Traverse City, captured the class C regional championship by scoring a thrilling victory over Harbor Springs High, 15 to 11. The parochials, tutored by an unpaid coach, Louie Moran, who teaches the boys the intricacies of basketball because he loves the game played a whirlwind brand of ball in disposing of the Harbor youths, who were unable to locate the rag basket with any consistency.

There was little [illegible] in the first half, which [illegible] 6 to 5, with the Parochials on the long end. In the third quarter the Harbor youths recovered their eyes and tied the count at 10 all at the three-quarter post. The pace the two teams set in the final quarter was terrific, both Martineau and Stanek or St. Francis going out on four personals. Hahn's free throw was the only point registered by the Harborites in the last stanza, while Emerson, brilliant St. Francis center, and Peewee Moran, midget forward, dropped in deuces to give their team the winning margin.

Martineau Moran and Emerson were the outstanding performers for St. Francis, Emerson, caging eight of the 15 points accumulated by his team. Cornell, Stewart and Lane featured for Harbor.

The class D regional title went to the powerful band of St. Anne's high school of Alpena, which scored an overwhelming victory over Ellsworth high in the finals, running up a 68 to 15 count.

Charlevoix's hopes for a Class C championship were knocked in the head Thursday when Harbor Springs scored a decisive 15 to 8 victory. Charlevoix's defeat may be attributed to the fact that it received four breaks during the contest, their shots hovering straight for the hoops, only to roll around the iron ring [illegible] a drop on the planks. Time and [illegible] were the big noises on both occasions, while Hannan and Boosalis played games for Charlevoix that deserved a better fate.

MAKING LOCAL HOSTELRY A PLEASANT PLACE

Birds and Mounted Specimens Always Interesting to Visitors.

The Hotel [illegible] has been [illegible] and bunchoned with paint, varnish and new paper in preparation for the coming season.

The hotel lobby improves daily in appearance. Its always showed well to attractive [illegible] exchange. [illegible] Winder, the owner, is justly proud of [illegible] the [illegible] and [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] of prize. Specimen of mounted game adorn the walls as well as the mantle and Mrs. Winder [illegible] the other [illegible] of adding [illegible] from time to time [illegible] interest transient guests.

CLASS TOURNEY IS IN PROGRESS

FINAL GAMES SCHEDULED FOR THURSDAY EVENING

Boys vs. Girls Promises to Be Feature Event of Tournament—Girl's Rules to Prevail.

Basketball Petoskey tournament was a success, and so is the Charlevoix class tournament. Each game so far has been fast and hard-fought [illegible] and many new players have come into the limelight as men who will play and fight for the Red and White when Coach Bachen calls for basketball candidates next season.

Last Wednesday night saw the first battle start promptly at 7:00 o'clock between the Junior High and the Seniors. The boys who are due to wear caps and gowns had little difficulty in sending the graders to the consolation by a score of 25 to 12. In the second game the Sophomore girls won from the eighth graders in a hard-fought game, 18 to 12. It was anybody's game until the final minute of play when the Sophs made three baskets to put the game on ice. In the closing battle of the night, the Junior girls succeeded in humbling the Senior girls 9 to 8. This was an exceptionally good game as may be seen by the close score.

In the first game Monday night the Sophomores upset the dope by defeating the Seniors 19 to 16. The Sophs led at the half by a large score and a strong rally by the Seniors threatened in the last stanza. This game was marked by strong rallies on both sides. The timid Freshmen girls and the chesty Sophs then took the floor. The fans were treated to another upset in the dope when the "greenies" defeated their upper classmen by a score of 18 to 8. Then came the Junior and Freshmen boys. The Freshies presented a strong defense in the first half, holding the Juniors to two baskets. In the second half, however, the Juniors had everything their way and the final score was 23 to 6 in

(Continued on page 8)

AUTO DEALERS TO BANQUET HERE WEDNESDAY

Benj. Brown and James Wyers to Be Hosts at Meeting

Automobile dealers of Charlevoix, Emmet and Antrim counties will attend a banquet and business meeting at the Hotel Charlevoix, Wednesday evening, March 23rd.

James Wyers and Benj. Brown, local automobile dealers are the hosts of the evening. Following the banquet, speakers from various automobile factories will give instructive talks on the subjects pertaining to the mechanism and sales producing qualities of the various makes of machines.

Shoes need repairing? Bring them to John Smith at Campbell's.—Adv. 12-tf.

Trucks, Balloon and high pressure tires at a great reduction. Benj. Brown.—Adv. 10tf.

COUNTY FAIR FUND TURNS OUT TO BE NO XMAS PRESENT

It is quite interesting and surprising to learn that the money distributed to the county fairs every year by the state does not come from the state treasury at all, as a donation by the state, but comes direct from the counties receiving the same as stated by Auditor General, O. B. Fuller, who says the state creates a fund of $75,000 each year to assist fairs, but each county receiving money is assessed a sufficient amount in taxes to cover the money turned back to them for fair purposes. The impression has been general that the money given to the fairs by the state is a juicy plumb, but it appears the sum might just as well be appropriated by the board of supervisors in the first place and avoid the extra work and detail and costs necessary to switch it back and forth until it arrives at it's proper destination. The fund is pro-rated to fairs in proportion to the amount of money given in premiums this is it will be seen that Charlevoix county is not so very stingy with its county fair after we once add all contributions and appropriations up.

CONCERNING NEW SCHOOL BUILDING

PLANS APPROVED AT MASS MEETING FRIDAY

Proposition Will Be Voted On Early In April—Should Have Public Approval

Chairman Boyer of Edgewater [illegible] a mass meeting last Friday evening and [illegible] to the people of the [illegible] to submit a [illegible] school building and [illegible] main- [illegible] the construction to include a [illegible] grade school and gymnasium. After the meeting was [illegible] presided by W. A. Craig and other members of the school board and citizens committee who had discussed [illegible] entered into by a great many of the citizens present.

Mr. Holmes of the Bengt Warren [illegible] Company of Lansing [illegible] together with [illegible] before the people [illegible] the methods used in school construction [illegible] upon later date.

It was the desire of the school board and the citizens committee that the people of the district should [illegible] the whole proposition and the [illegible] vote taken near the close of the meeting showed conclusively that the [illegible] was at the time acceptable [illegible] the majority of those present.

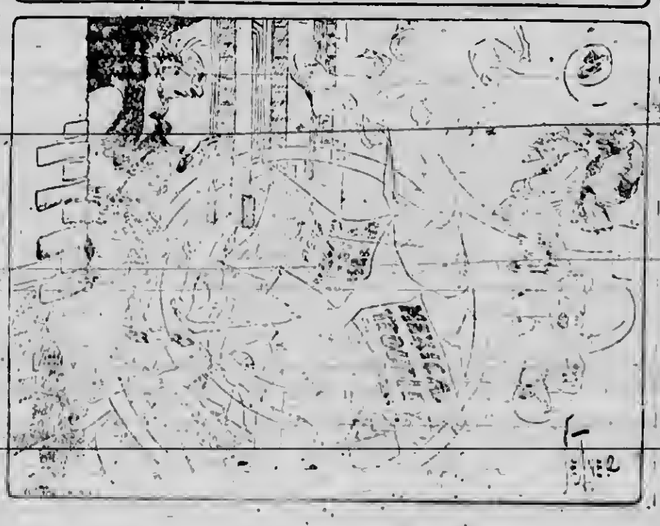
The committee had received opinions [illegible] board of trustees in favor of a larger gymnasium than had been recommended by the board and committee, but the matter will be submitted as presented by the board and committee at the mass meeting last Friday night, as has outlined below, believing that the gymnasium program as recommended provides adequate room for every school need as well as practically every civic need that may arise. The proposition as presented was a bond issue of $125,000, to be paid serially over a period of fifteen years and it appears quite probable that this issue can be carried out without a raise over the 1926 taxes. That is, it is the opinion of the board and committee that the savings at hand together with said bond issue of $125,000.00 will construct and maintain the new unit as well as to meet the expense of ordinary cost of repairing the high school and Central building.

The gymnasium which is included in this program, will be 60 by 102 feet over all, giving a stage with the a depth of twenty feet at the west end and ticket office and entrance lobby at the east end of twelve feet. The inside measurement of the gymnasium will be 60 by 90 feet which will seat approximately twelve hundred people for basketball games and approximately eighteen hundred for conventions. The stage will be utilized during games by constructing bleachers and a three row balcony will be included in this gym.

The program as outlined contemplates the use of the new grade unit as a consolidated school. It is thought that this consolidation together with the saving of monies now paid out for our present gymnasium will aid us materially in the maintenance of the new unit. Many residents of both the north and south sides have expressed themselves as being in favor of the consolidation because of the advantages the new grade unit will have over the Wurl school, such as each teacher having a single grade to teach, modern school equipment, modern heating

(Continued on page eight)

Whirl of the March Wind



UNDER THE DOME AT THE CAPITOL

CAPITAL PUNISHMENT NOW A DEAD ISSUE

Cram Bayer Bill Passes Senate And Was Given Immediate Effect.

(By Lily-Lou W. Tuthill.)

[illegible] the [illegible] door [illegible] the [illegible] [illegible] [illegible]

CORRESPONDENCE

MURRAY SCHOOL NOTES

Some of the children, accompanied by Miss McCalmon, attended the basketball tournament at Petoskey, Friday evening.

Classes were held at Murray school Saturday for the seventh and eighth graders. South America was thoroughly reviewed in the 7th grade geography class, also some work in spelling. The 8th grade took history covering the period of exploration. Eleven attended.

The school children were surprised Friday by their parents all coming in at noon, bringing with them baskets loaded with goodies. Dinner was served by the mothers. The afternoon was spent in listening to classes. After classes, the following program was furnished by the parents: song, by all; talk, Mr. Scroggie; recitation, Mrs. John Murray; song, Mrs. Scroggie and Mrs. Shantz; song, Marjorie Mawby, Elbert Anderson and Simon Peters; recitation, Mrs. Shantz. Mrs. Shantz was elected the new chairman, with Mrs. Scroggie as assistant. The next meeting is to be held April 25th. The children were all delighted by a big basket of pop-corn given by Mrs. Hain.

We are at your service on Willard batteries and Goodyear tires at a very low price. Benj. Brown.—Adv. 10tf.

NORWOOD

The burial of Mrs. Daniel Stafford was at the Norwood cemetery last Thursday morning.

Mrs. Thayer of Traverse City, is spending a few days with Mr. and Mrs. Frank Richardson.

Mrs. Nelson of Kalamazoo, is enjoying a visit with her sister, Mrs A. E. Stafford and husband.

Mrs. Clarence Boomstra and Mr. and Mrs. Jacob Yma of Grand Rapids, were called to the bed side of Mrs. Boomstra's mother, Mrs. Hoskins, Wednesday.

Russell W. Speet, accompanied by his employer, Mr. Frances Bradahl of Manton, arrived Sunday afternoon and are guest at the home of the former's parent, Mr. and Mrs H. K. Pierce.

We understand that Kenneth Pierce has purchased the Chas. Richardson farm. It will be known hereafter as "Sunset View Farm," and will be operated by Mr. Pierce and his father. They propose making extensive improvements on the farm and buildings.

Burning out chimneys caused many bad fires. Avoid this fire loss by using our Soot Destroyer. It does the work. 15c per pound. Charlevoix Hdw. Co.—Adv. 2tf.

BENTLEY HILL

Mr. Liberty is busy painting for Henry Heeres.

M. Henry was in this vicinity repair pumps recently.

O. Feltenburger is working for Thomas DeMouldpied.

Frank Boss had the misfortune to lose a cow last week.

Mr. and Mrs. J. Heeres are the proud parents of a baby boy.

D. H. Brat was a business caller at Charlevoix one day last week.

Miss Merle Setzema went to Harry DeGroot's, where she will work.

Mrs. Siveringa, who has been visiting here, returned to her home Tuesday.

Mr. Hoogewerf's horses made a long and swift trip without a driver Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. G. Koster, who have been visiting here, returned to their home in Grand Rapids, Saturday.

A number of people gathered at the home of Mrs. Veenstra, and helped her celebrate her sixty-eighth birthday.

We were sorry to hear that Mr. A. J. Usher had an operation, but we were also glad to hear he was getting along so good.

Why buy poor tires at a low price when you can buy a Goodyear tire at that price. Benj. Brown.—Adv. 10tf.

BARNARD

Another winter.

Several activities are being planned in the church and Grange.

Don't forget the community meeting on Friday evening at the church.

Michael Garbee has moved to his new home the former A. Kerr place.

Anne Turnell is able to be in school again, after her painfully sprained ankle.

Jan Bottema made a short visit to Lime last week, after spending the winter in Dillagh, Mich.

Mr. and Mrs. John Clarke of Grand Rapids, are visiting their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Clarke.

We are glad to note that our school has the full complement of pupils with the return of Mrs. Conklin. Mildred Yeiter and Bertha Boss, moved in from the Hunt Widow day. They will attend school from the station. Water [illegible]

I have combined my battery and tire repair shop and will give all car owners the service that they are looking for. Benj. Brown.—Adv. 10tf.

FAIRVIEW-BANKS

Everybody be out and vote Monday, April 4th.

Our commissioner, Mr. Escalator and his crew of men greatly improved our roads the past week.

Jay Kuiper hauled wood for H. DeGroot and H. J. Timmer the past week.

J. B. Oosterhaan was in Central Lake on business last week, Tuesday.

Our spring weather of last week caught cold and it looks like winter at this writing.

Mr. and Mrs. James Wheeler visited with Mr. and Mrs. Frank DeJong Thursday evening.

Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Drenth visited with Mr. and Mrs. H. DeGroot, Thursday evening.

H. DeGroot and H. J. Timmer, called on Mr. and Mrs. James Wheeler Friday evening.

Mr. and Mrs. John Goeman are visiting friends and relatives in Grand Rapids at present.

Mrs. H. J. Timmer, who was called to Zeeland, Mich., to attend the funeral of her father, William Staal, returned home Tuesday afternoon.

Our aim is to please you with Willard Batteries and Goodyear tires. Benj. Brown.—Adv. 10tf.

ATWOOD

Sugar making.

Farming has begun.

William Joliffe has a new car.

Maurice Henry started to drive wells this week.

Services at the M. E. church now at 10 o'clock, sun time.

Mrs. Shaffer of Ironton, is visiting her daughter, Mrs. Albert Harwood.

Old papers for sale at Courier.

AS Mother Nature Intended.

The skillful blend of herbs, barks and roots — Nature's Remedy (NR Tablets) always safe and dependable. Try Nature's Remedy for one week and see how much better you feel, how it restores the animated, invigorated feeling with freedom from Constipation, Biliousness, Sick headaches.

NR TO-NIGHT TOMORROW ALRIGHT

SOLD BY YOUR DRUGGIST
CENTRAL DRUG STORE

Banks township board was in session Tuesday and Wednesday.

The L. A. S. meets with Mrs. Irvin Lord at its next regular session. Dinners cut out—pie and all.

Mr. VanDerStick purchased an Essex car on Monday last from the Elzinga Bros. garage.

Mrs. Elizabeth Peebles of Ellsworth, is in our vicinity visiting for a few days. At present she is at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Jim Heeres.

Born to Mr. and Mrs. James Heeres, on Sunday morning, a 10 pound baby boy. He will answer to the name of James, Jr.

Herman Heeres has the material on the ground for an up-to-date barn to be built this coming spring. Geo. Sarasin of Norwood, is the carpenter. We'll watch Herman's "Smoke."

CLOVER SEED SCARCE ALFALFA PLENTIFUL

Many Farmers Sowing Alfalfa in State This Spring

Many Michigan farmers are sowing alfalfa this spring in place of red clover seed. For the first time in history, alfalfa seed in this state is selling under the price of red clover seed, reports the Blue Valley Creamery Institute. Nineteen dollars a hundred pounds is being asked for hardy alfalfa seed, compared to $40 a hundred for red clover seed, while in many communities even grimm, that hardiest of all varities of alfalfa, recommended where there is any danger of winter killing, is selling as low as $34 per hundred pounds. The Blue Valley Creamery Institute, with headquarters at Chicago, is helping farmers take advantage of this very unusual situation by bringing about co-operation with local business men in the organization of 10,000-acre alfalfa clubs throughout the Mississippi valley states.

The comparatively low price of alfalfa seed this year is due to a good crop last season in both the United States and Canada. On the other hand, an extraordinary poor harvest of red clover seed in 1926 resulted in one of the smallest seed crops of that kind in many years. Yet the comparatively low supply of red clover seed is not sufficient this year to meet normal demands. Last year, approximately 80,000,000 pounds of red clover seed were available, while the seed this year the supply is estimated at less than 60,000,000 pounds. The supply of good alfalfa seed available for planting this year's new crop is around 60,000,000 pounds, which is nearly the same as last year's supply, the largest in history.

The scarcity and extremely high price of red clover seed, however, is but one important reason why alfalfa is more popular than red clover this year. The other reasons for the greater popularity of alfalfa this year are its superiority to red clover in all rotations, including the short or three-year rotation, its better quality hay, its high acre yield its greater returns per acre whether fed or sold, its greater effectiveness in combating noxious weeds, and a more ready establishment in dry years.

NEWSPAPER ADVERTISING BEST

Public utilities are using more than half their yearly advertising appropriations, estimated at twenty-five million dollars, to tell their messages to the public through newspapers, according to a recent report of the Public Utilities Advertising Association.

Gas and electric utilities, says the report of the Public Utilities Advertising Association, show a proportion of expenditures for newspaper space greater than 65 per cent. In 1925, the last year for which figures are available, electric light and power companies spent 71 per cent of all advertising outlay in newspapers, and gas companies spent 65 per cent.

"The high percentage of advertising expenditure which is devoted to newspapers is again testimony of the appreciation of utility men of the value of newspaper advertising," says the report.

"There is every indication that the public utilities, in their endeavor to sell their service scientifically, are using newspapers for the direct and indirect results accomplished, thus rapidly overcoming the attitude that a utility must advertise in a newspaper in return for its goodwill."

Avoid fire risks from burning-out chimneys by using our honest-to-goodness Soot Destroyer. Charlevoix Hdw. Co.—Adv. 2tf.

ST. MARY'S CHURCH

Rev. Fr. Odelo, Pastor.

Sunday services 8:00 a. m. and 10:00 a. m.

Services Monday and Tuesday, 8:00 a. m.

Services Saturday 7:00 a. m.

Ladies' Altar Society meets Thursday afternoons.

BUICK

THIS car's performance will win your heart, especially the smooth, effortless flow of power from an engine that is vibrationless beyond belief.

And Buick value will amaze you—

—Value made possible by great volume and its savings—the earnings of leadership, which are used continually to further enrich Buick quality.

The Greatest BUICK A3410 Ever Built

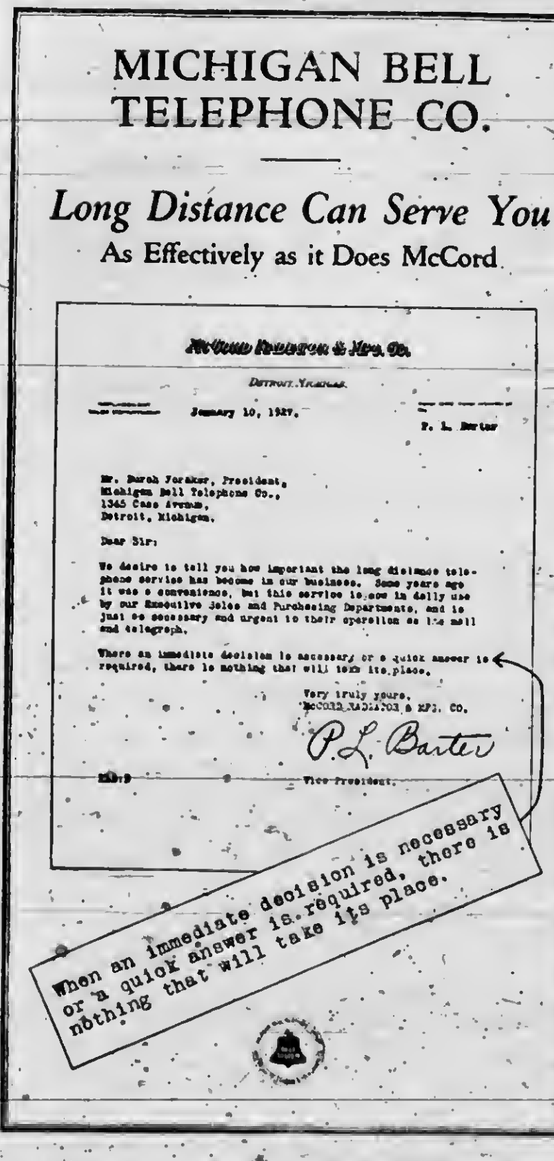
Heaton & Hooper

BOYNE CITY, MICHIGAN

MICHIGAN BELL TELEPHONE CO.

Long Distance Can Serve You

As Effectively as it Does McCord



Michigan Bell Telephone Co.

Detroit, Michigan

January 10, 1927.

P. L. Barter

Mr. Sarah Forster, President,
Michigan Bell Telephone Co.,
1365 Cass Avenue,
Detroit, Michigan.

Dear Sir:

We desire to tell you how important the long distance telephone service has become in our business. Some years ago it was a convenience, but this service is now in daily use by our Executive Sales and Purchasing Departments, and is just as necessary and urgent in their operation as the mail and telegraph.

Where an immediate decision is necessary or a quick answer is required, there is nothing that will take its place.

Very truly yours,
Michigan Bell Telephone Co.
P. L. Barter
Vice-President.

When an immediate decision is necessary or a quick answer is required, there is nothing that will take its place.

The Baby's Cold

Control that "closing" with internal creams that is delicate little stimulus. Treat colds externally with Vicks. You just rub it on.

VICKS VAPORUB

An Amazing Success

Feen-a-mint

The Chewing LAXATIVE

Chew It Like Chewing Gum

A pleasure to use. Very efficient. Children love it. No taste but that of sweet mint. The most popular laxative because it's a "satisfier." 15c and 25c.

These Cars are DOUBLY guaranteed!

YOU RECOGNIZE the emblems shown below. But do you know what General Motors has done to make each car the outstanding value in its price class? How it is using its great resources to provide each with a finer engine—a stouter chassis—a more beautiful, more lasting body—a finish that defies wear and weather—quality materials in those hidden places where quality is most needed? You'll save money on your new car by clipping the coupon below. Mail it TODAY.

CHEVROLET

7 models—$525 to $745. The quality car of the low-priced field. 3-speed transmission. Dry-disc clutch. Smooth, powerful engine. Fisher Bodies. Duco finish. Fully equipped.
CHEVROLET TRUCK CHASSIS: ½-ton, $395; 1-ton, $495.

PONTIAC

5 models—$775 to $875. Has latest 6-cylinder engine in its price class. Fisher Bodies. Duco finish. Beautiful, stylish lines. Value proved by unprecedented sales.

OLDSMOBILE

11 models—$875 to $1,190. Gratifies your finer taste. Satisfies every need. Fisher Bodies. Duco finish. 6-cylinder motor. Harmonic balancer, 4-wheel brakes and other new features.

OAKLAND

7 models—$1,095 to $1,295. The "six" that is winning and holding goodwill everywhere. Fisher Bodies. Duco finish. Rubber silenced chassis and other tested improvements. 4-wheel brakes.

BUICK

18 models—$1,195 to $1,995. Everybody knows Buick's worth. Now finer than ever. New models vibrationless beyond belief. 6-cylinder valve-in-head engine. Fisher bodies. Duco finish.

LaSalle

6 models—$2,495 to $2,685. The new and beautiful car designed and built as a companion car to Cadillac. Has V-type 8-cylinder engine. Bodies by Fisher. Duco finish. Now on display.

CADILLAC

50 body styles and types—$2,995 to $9,000. The pioneer in the 8-cylinder field. Standard of the world. Duco finish. Bodies by Fisher and Fleetwood. 500 different color and upholstery combinations.

(ALL PRICES F.O.B. FACTORIES)

GENERAL MOTORS

CLIP THE COUPON

GENERAL MOTORS (Dept. A), Detroit, Mich.

CHEVROLET ☐
PONTIAC ☐
OLDSMOBILE ☐
OAKLAND ☐
BUICK ☐
LASALLE ☐
CADILLAC ☐

Please send, without obligation to me, illustrated literature describing the General Motors product I have checked—together with the name of the nearest dealer in case I may wish a demonstration. ALSO YOUR PROVING GROUND BOOK.

Name .....

Address .....

FRIGIDAIRE ☐ DELCO-LIGHT ☐

ALABASTER LAMPS

COPYRIGHT 1925 BY MARGARET TURNBULL WNU SERVICE

by Margaret Turnbull.

(Chapter Eleven Continued)

Claude, a charming companion in every other respect, was, on the one vital subject, dumb.

Ned fumed, in secret, knowing that with Claude Dabbs all half-measures were useless; he would either have to declare his whole purpose, or keep silent. Since he knew nothing yet of Mary's feelings, he kept silent.

He wished heartily that Claude and his Polly would play out their comedy by themselves and leave him a clear field with Mary. Mary in Venice! The combination would be heavenly, but not if everywhere that Mary went a mother and father, utterly estranged, followed.

As their journey brought them closer to Mary, the two men communed in their hearts with the totally different images they had set up of the same girl.

The real and very different Mary—in that instead of only being what they thought, was all that and more—slept as tranquilly as an Italian railway carriage would permit.

As the time drew near when she might reasonably expect her father to appear, Mary thought of nothing else, and grew nervous lest she should betray, in some unguarded speech, the thoughts that were uppermost in her mind.

Polly Johnston steadily refused to disclose her plans to Mary. Polly's nights were sleepless, her days restless. It was as though she felt some approaching change and strove to evade it.

Several wakeful nights followed their arrival in Venice, and one morning Polly awoke with a headache. Though she kept up valiantly until after luncheon, she was compelled finally to seek her darkened bedroom. Mary knew that Polly could not endure being read to or talked to while her head was like that. So, when Mary proposed that she should spend the afternoon in St. Mark's, just around the corner, there was no excuse Polly could justly offer to oppose the plan, though she did not like it.

Mary laughed down all suggestions that she was quite too attractive to wander about alone. Mary was an American, though she had had a foreign bringing-up, and she reminded her mother of this, and that she knew how to take care of herself.

Polly, who had wandered about as she chose when Mary's age, realized she was being absurd.

She told Mary to go, but not to stay late, and if she, Polly, did not feel better, she would have her dinner in bed. In that case Mary might dine with the Dabbs, whom they had met on the train. Mary acquiesced, somewhat absently. Having made her mother comfortable, or at least as comfortable as a headache would allow, Mary set forth.

Venice, that lovely city of the sea, seemed to Mary to be looking her best that afternoon. The sun shone warm on the piazza. The shops had a sleepy look, their awnings like drooping eyelids, and the patches of shade were grateful to the eye. Mary thought Venice was like a lovely, seductive woman, who, past her first youth, stirred men's hearts to pity for all she had lost, and then to passion for the ageless beauty which she still retained.

Mary had made brief visits to St. Mark's with her mother, but now she hurried up the steep stone stairs toward the galleries and the capella di oro. A service was in progress before one of the altars.

Mary paused a moment to see the genial old custodian, whose greeting was as toothless as it was friendly. As she stood peering down into the dim church, she was conscious of some one near her, watching her. She looked up into Ned Carter's eyes.

She could scarcely believe it, and yet something she read in his eyes made her stretch out her hand. Ned grasped it, and that steadied her. She thought she heard him murmur "Mary." She was not sure. She turned, confusedly, her hand still unaccountably in his, and they went through the doorway that led to the golden horses. It was so narrow here that quite naturally she recovered her hand. As they stepped out into the sunshine, and the cool sea breeze, Mary felt herself able to face Ned.

To her conscious amazement, she found this no easy thing to do. There was a shining something in his eyes, to which she seemed loathe to give a name, or to fully recognize. There was so much confusion in her mind, thoughts half formed flitting across it like birds of the night, that she finally left it to Ned to break the silence. All he seemed able to say was "Mary!"

"Are you here," Mary began desperately, "with my—"

Ned gave a swift look about to assure himself that they were alone.

"Oh, what does it matter who I am with? I'm here because you are here, and I couldn't stay in Clover Hollow without you. I've followed you, Mary, to tell you—"

"Hush!" said Mary warningly, and put her finger gently against his lips, for out of the little doorway had appeared the wondering heads of a German youth of about twenty, and his bride.

Mary moved away, seated herself on the stone parapet beneath the horses and looked out over the piazza. Ned stood beside her, looking down.

"My father—" she began.

"Yes, I came here with C. M. Dabbs, and I know where he is, but I'm not to meet him for half an hour yet. Surely you can listen to me for that length of time. If you don't," he threatened, "I won't tell you where to find him. If you're kind to me, I'll lead you to him."

"Mr. Carter, aren't you a little sadder in your methods?"

"I'm anything you like except 'Mr. Carter.' And if I seem sudden, look at the provocation. At a certain shop your father is waiting, and once he gets within hailing distance I'll be pushed, shoved, ignored or kicked into the background. So, Mary No you don't, my dear. There's absolutely no use in our running around looking at things in shop windows. Down this alley-way there's a flight of stone steps leading to the canal. If you'll come that way, we could wait in the shade for a gondola."

"To take me to father—"

"Eventually? yes," admitted Ned, "but primarily to listen to me."

"About father? Oh, I should love to hear about him!"

"Would you? Well, I've lots to tell. A wonderful traveling companion. But first you must hear about me."

They had reached one step and while Ned signaled a passing gondola, Mary thought of him and wondered at herself. Why should she go with him? Mother would never approve of this! Nevertheless, she waited for his gondola and listened to him with a smile. It was like walking into a trap, but was she so unwilling to be caught?

She had one wild impulse toward flight as Ned concentrated his attention upon getting the gondola ready for his lady. It would be so easy to slip away now. As she made the first step his hand was on her arm, very gently but compellingly, and she had stepped into the gondola.

They sat side by side for a few moments in silence as the gondola made its way into the Grand canal. Then Ned turned to her and spoke about Venice, its sudden and unexpected charm for him when he had first seen the city. He loved it. This lazy method of locomotion was perfect. Did she not think so? Mary could rhapsodize with him over Venice to his heart's content, and began to think she had been fearful without cause.

They had turned from the Grand canal into a narrower, half-deserted by-way, quite evidently leading to the private entrance of several old palaces. Over the wall of one stretched green branches and creepers she felt, as of an old garden, once hidden from the neighbors. The canal was here quite dark with shade. Here and there long lashes of starlight stole between thick walls and stone bars across the water.

I admit to being Mary, I've kept it for you. Isn't it lovely?"

Before Mary could reply, her hand was crushed in his, his shoulder was against her own and his lips close to her ear were murmuring, so that she alone could hear all that he longed to tell her. It was extremely jerky and incoherent. In fact, there was very little sense in it. It was rather like what every man does with his preconceived idea of how he is going to conduct his love scene. Ned, being very much in love, made a fool botch of it. In fact, the astonished Mary could not distinguish anything except that she was disturbing the even tenor of his life considerably, that she was adorable, and—though everything was implied that should have been implied there was not a single word about marriage or engagement. Most of it was "Oh, Mary!"

They were approaching the old bridge. The bridge, low and dark, seemed to Mary the proper place to arrest the stream of Ned's declaration. She determined to release her hand. It did not seem easy. She tried it, however, and turned her face so that she might look at him and make him understand. As she turned, the lips so close to her ear brushed her cheek, met her mouth and clung there.

It was the first time for Mary. Other men had tried to kiss her mouth, just as other men had asked her to marry them, but none had succeeded.

When the gondola shot from under the bridge into the sunlight, the gondolier, who of course must have suspected, if he had not seen, burst out into one of his cries of warning that precede a turning. Ned involuntarily straightened up, came out of his dream and looked guiltily at Mary.

Mary was furious. Her cheeks flamed. She felt her whole body was one burning blush. She hated him. It was as though he had kissed her in the open street. But she hated herself more, for even while she blushed to remember his lips, she had a horrible suspicion that she would like to be kissed again.

CHAPTER XII

How can a man apologize for kissing a lady? It's not done. One either goes on, or leaves off, and if circumstances or places compel one to leave off abruptly, then surely the lady should understand.

Ned, who had kissed several on the way to Mary, was completely at a loss. None of them had taken it just like this: grown red, then silent, and refused to meet his eyes. He would not have cared if they had, but he did care now. He made one or two attempts at speech, but the shoulder shrank from his, the hand refused to be held, and the face remained averted.

The high gods, who love a lover, saw his plight and gave Ned the only words that could help him.

"I'm not sorry. But I am sorry you take it like this."

A voice from far away said: "It was like a servant girl out with a—"

"Grocer's boy," finished Ned. "I suppose that's why you feel insulted."

The colored marble he had been sitting beside for the last few moments, returned to life. "Ned Carter! You know it wasn't that. Naturally I resented you—" but the voice stopped abruptly and the blue eyes had a haze of tears.

Ned gathered up the limp hand again, very gently, and kept his eyes fixed on the water of the sluggish canal. "What am I to do? How are you to know that I am mad about you, unless I tell you? And how can you know whether you like kissing me, unless I try it?"

"You're outrageous. I know nothing about you, not to—oh—in a gondola in broad daylight!"

Ned's laugh echoed across the canal. "Oh, Mary, I adore you. How long will it take you to learn that by heart? I'll say it all over again, tonight, and in the darkest corner of Venice."

"You will not get a chance. You will please land now, and take me to my father."

"If I do, will you think about me?"

"Oh, yes, I'll think about you," and with that Ned had to be content.

"Mary, your father's very fond of me."

"That's the one thing I know in your favor."

"If you ask Claude Dabbs, he will tell you all about me."

"I shall not ask my father."

This being exceedingly satisfactory to Ned, he went on a few steps in silence, glancing down at the adorable hat this loveliest of ladies wore. It was faced with blue that matched her eyes. He wished she would look up.

"How are you to know—if you do not ask?"

She looked up, and down again quickly. "Oh, I shall know."

"If you leave it to your heart," he murmured close to her ear, "I shall be satisfied."

"If my father were not standing there watching us," said Mary in the same conversational tone, "I would slap you, good and hard."

She left her hand forward eagerly to greet Claude. He came as eagerly to meet his girl, and Ned found Mary very much out of the picture. The girl who had been hard in him, was very sweet and shamefully to Claude. It was Claude who kindly held Ned within the charmed circle, and Mary who made him feel out of touch.

All the rest of that lovely afternoon Mary was aware about with the two men who loved her. It was agreed between Mary and Claude Dabbs that if Polly kept to her room

(Continued on page 7.)

Keep Fit!

Good Health Requires Good Elimination

TO be well, you must keep the blood stream free from impurities. If the kidneys lag, allowing body poisons to accumulate, a toxic condition is created. One is apt to feel dull, languid, tired and achy. A nagging backache is sometimes a symptom, with drowsy headaches and dizzy spells. That the kidneys are not functioning properly is often shown by burning or scanty passage of secretions. If you have reason to suspect lagging kidney functioning, try Doan's Pills, a tested stimulant to the kidneys. Used throughout the United States. Ask your neighbor!

DOAN'S PILLS 60c

Sold by all dealers

Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, N. Y.

$670

¾-Ton Chassis f. o. b. Detroit

GRAHAM BROTHERS TRUCK—

Think of a Graham Brothers Truck at $670!

Quality, power, speed, ruggedness, fine appearance, low operating cost—dependability for day-in and day-out performance!

Improved Dodge Brothers engine!

Only great mass production enables Graham Brothers to build so good a truck at so low a price.

Graham Brothers Trucks are built in ¾, 1, 1½ and 2-Ton capacities. They meet 91% of all hauling requirements. They are sold by Dodge Brothers Dealers everywhere.

BENJAMIN BROWN

CHARLEVOIX, MICHIGAN

AUCTION SALE

The undesigned will sell at Public Auction on the Henry Hamlin farm, located ½ mile south of Burgess, or 4 miles west of Bay Shore on M-11, on

Wednesday, March 30

Beginning at 1:00 p. m., the following described property:

Team of Daple Gray Mares, 8 and 12 years old, wt. 2800.
Guernsey-and-Durham Cow, 3 yrs. old, due to freshen June 2.
Guernsey and Durham Cow, 2 yrs. old, freshened, March 14.
Durham Cow, 2 yrs. old, freshened Dec. 18.
Durham Cow, 3 yrs. old, due to freshen June 1.
Six Yearlings, Bulls and Heifers.
O. I. C. Sow; 2 yrs. old, due to farrow July 1.
O. I. C. Sow, 1 yr. old, due to farrow March 31.
Duroc Jersey Sow, 2 yrs. old, due to farrow April 8.
7 O. I. C. Pigs, 8 weeks old.
One Stag, 2 yrs. old.
New McCormick Deering Mower.
2-horse Walking Cultivator.
Five-tooth Cultivator.
3-horse Evener.
2-horse Evener and Single Tree.
Double Box for wagon.
New 36-in. Buzz Saw 8-inch Pulley.
New Cross-cut saw.
3-gal. Pressure Sprayer.
Dozen Potato Crates. 2 dozen Baskets.
Quantity Early Seed Potatoes.
Jewel Range. Kitchen Cabinet.
Fur Robe. Two Rockers.
Bed and Springs.
Enameled Baby Bed.
Many other articles too numerous to mention.

TERMS OF SALE

All sums of $10.00 or under, cash; on all sums over $10.00, 8 month's time will be given on good, approved, bankable paper, bearing interest at 7 per cent payable at the Charlevoix State Savings Bank. 5 per cent discount for cash on all sums over $10.00. All goods must be settled for on day of sale.

FLOYD C. HOPPER, Prop.

DAVID SMITH, Clerk. W. E. BYERS, Auctioneer.

ARCHIE LIVINGSTON, Note Clerk.

LEGION WILL STAGE ANOTHER BOXING SHOW

Out-of-Tuwn Experts to Mix With Local Battlers

Following up their recent successful boxing show, Leslie T. Shapton Post No. 226, American Legion, have about completed arrangements for a larger and better program on Monday evening, March 28th.

Where there are six bouts on the previous schedule, twelve will be pulled off next Monday evening. Four out-of-town fistic experts, two from Boyne City and a like number from Petoskey have been signed, and are matched up with some of our most promising local glove wielder. "Bulldog" Allen, known as the Milwaukee Battering Ram, and "Kid" Atchison Charlevoix tornado, who showed their wares to the satisfaction of all in the previous show, are billed for the main bout, a 6-rounder.

The boxing show is not a money-making proposition for the Legion and no admission is charged. A free-will collection will be taken at the door, however, to defray expenses of the show. Music will be furnished by the Charlevoix band and it is also possible that a wrestling match will be arranged.

Special Sale

Saturday only—Brooms for 25c and 40c at Charlevoix Grocery Co.—Adv. 12-t1.

PRE-NUPTIAL PARTY FOR MISS FLANDERS

Mrs. A. W. Dietz Hostess at Her Loeb Farms' Home

A pre-nuptial rainbow shower was given in honor of Miss Ida Flanders, Saturday evening, March 19th, at the home of Mrs. A. W. Dietz at the Loeb Farms.

Many original games were played and prizes awarded for skill, following which a two course luncheon was served to the party of twelve guests. The lunch table was prettily decorated with a miniature rainbow and small pots of gold. Other room decorations were in harmony—the seven rainbow shades being hung from above effecting a true rainbow impression.

After lunch Miss Flanders was directed by the hostess to follow the rainbow ways to the spot of gold where her friends had secreted their gifts for the bride-elect.

Joe Shanley (the Mike McTigue of Boyne City) at the Legion Boxing Show next Monday night at Hooker's Garage. Be there. Adv. 12-t1 pd.

ASSOCIATION OF COMMERCE MEETING FRI.

Winter Sports Committee to Submit Extensive Report

DO IT NOW

—A—

NEW CAR FOR YOUR OLD CAR

The Latest Finishes

Have your good car refinished with

Duco — Lacquers or
Nitro — the High gloss
Egyptian — Varnishes.

ATCHISON AUTO SHOP

Phone 93 - - 203 Mason St.

Brighten Your Home With Fresh Cut Flowers

—OR—

Blooming Plants

Flowers for all occasions

A. E. EDWARDS
FLORIST

We're as near as your telephone

98c
WATKINS
GIANT
VANILLA

GOOD NEWS!
BIG BARGAINS!

Is your Vanilla supply low? Then drop me a post card. I will deliver right away or I will prepay parcel post charges on orders of $3.00 or over.

WILLIAM HUNTER
Charlevoix, Mich.

Wait for Watkins-It Pays!

PICKING the girl friend takes real thought. There are high steppers, good lookers, and good cookers. You have to make a choice. Buying shoes is different. You don't have to decide between good fit, jazz style, and price. Walk-Over gives them all to you. Walk-Overs fit as if they grew on your foot. They have style range second only to women's hats. They have quality that wears like your best friend at a price that can't be beat.

Walk-Over

CAMPBELL BOOT SHOP

Sparkote liquid roofing is made of an inert heating, waterproof gum fibre asbestos. An application on your roof will stop all leaks for 10 to 15 years. It is put on with a brush. Sold by A. C. Hansen. Phone 227. 12t2pd.

BRIDGE-DINNER PARTY AT SHANAHAN HOME

Mrs. Shanahan Hostess at Two Delightful Affairs

Mrs. Lizie Shanahan entertained Tuesday evening at the Shanahan home on Clinton street with the second of a spring of bridge-dinners, the first having occured Wednesday evening of last week.

The yellow motif was carried out in decorations—yellow candles and daffodils were in profusion. The twenty guests were served by the Misses Jessie Allen and Irene McCann, young friends of the hostess.

Get your paint, roofing material and lubricating oil at factory prices from A. C. Hansen.—Phone 227. 12t2pd.

Legion Boxing Show, Hooker's Garage, next Monday. Come and see the fun.—Adv. 12-t1 pd.

Private sale of household furniture all day Saturday, March 26th. 314 Antrim street. Isabelle W. Mitchell. 12t1.

ALTERATIONS AIMED TO BETTER SERVICE

Brown & Wallace Making Numerous Changes at Oil Station

The Sinclair Oil station, corner Belvedere avenue and Bridge street, is undergoing extension alterations in preparation for the coming season.

To make room for larger driveways on each side of the pumps, the front half of the present building is being torn down. Space for rest rooms and an office will be made by building onto the east side and extending the building back. It is also the intent of the owners, Brown & Wallace, to construct a second story for oil tanks and storage, also a basement in which will be installed a furnace heating system. Oil tanks in the second story will feed through pipes with faucets both inside and outside the building, making them more convenient and in rainy weather.

A new drain rack, a feature of the outdoor improvements, will be modern in every respect, insuring patrons against delays in crank case service.

Twelve snappy boxing matches at Legion Boxing Show at Hooker's Garage next Monday night. Be there. —Adv. 12-t1 pd.

WILL ORGANIZE TO CHECK ROBBERIES

(Continued from page one.)

Since Mr. Ellsworth will have to appear in every county of the state, it will be necessary for all the county bankers to cooperate on the part of the county bankers will respectively [illegible]. The plan is to [illegible]

Come to the evening entertainment at Loeb School, April 1st. Help us purchase a flag. 12t1pd.

CONGREGATIONAL CHURCH
B. G. Mattson, D. D., Minister

Sermon topic for the morning, "Christ's Mastery of Men."

Sunday school at noon. The attendance steadily advances and the interest is very encouraging.

The young people's church service will be led by Mabel Turpin and the theme will be "The Spirit of Youth as a Messenger of the Kingdom." Interesting accounts will be given of new and successful ways in which youth is today carrying out the spirit of the early disciples of Jesus. Old people as well as young people attend this service and find it inspiring.

Service at the Ironton church at 2:30 p. m.

St. Patrick Party

Mr. and Mrs. R. L. Lewis entertained Thursday evening of last week with a bridge party at their home on Park avenue, in honor of St. Patrick. The guests, who numbered twenty-eight were in Irish costumes. House and lunch decorations were in green in commemoration of this Irish feast day.

METHODIST CHURCH

Rev. J. O. Randall, D. D., District Superintendent, will preach next Sunday morning at 10:30. Dr. Randall is a finely cultured Christian gentleman, and has a message for the people who are interested in modern enterprises and problems.

Another wonderful evening is planned for next Sunday at seven o'clock. Still pictures, music, sermon and illustration,—something entirely different—will make the evening worshipful and profitable. "Happy Sunday Evening" is a good phrase for these bright cheery hours of spiritual uplift.

The Epworth League meetings at six each Sunday evening are proving very popular. A large number attend and profit by the interchange of ideas. A good fellowship hour is planned for next Sunday at six p. m.

The men are planning two more great Monday evenings before the spring vacation. Next Monday evening the supper will be at six-thirty p. m. A good speaker is provided. Last Monday evening Mr. A. L. Fitch, gave a very forceful and instructive address on "Officer's Problems." Things that the ordinary citizen seldom, if ever, think about were presented, and instructed those who listened to them.

Young people's prayer meeting each Tuesday evening. Some practical matters are discussed by the pastor at each of these meetings. The hour is seven and the time one half hour.

Thursday evening at seven-thirty the regular prayer meeting of the church is open to all who desire to attend. These are profitable hours.

The pastor officiated at the funeral of Paul Adamin of Bay Shore at the Greensky church last Monday afternoon at 2:30.

Detectable. What does this mean? This is what you get when you buy Heath and Milligen Paints. Best since 1851. Staley Bros. Hardware. 12t1.

Ladies Sport Coats

For this Spring and Summer we are showing some very smart Sport Coats with or without fur collars that are very reasonably priced. A practical coat for this season's wear.

We will be pleased to have you look them over.

$20.00 to $50.00

M. A. Levinson & Co.

2nd LEGION
Boxing Contest

Sponsored by Leslie T. Shapton Post No. 226, of Charlevoix

—AT—

HOOKER'S GARAGE

Monday Evening, March 28

Commencing at 8:30 p. m.

Ten or Twelve 3-Round Bouts Between Out-of-Town and Local Boxers

Special attractions: Klutz and Wicks of Boyne City and Johananson and Houghts of Petoskey will take on the pride of Charlevoix's fistic experts. Main Event: 6-round bout between "Bulldog" Allen and "Kid" Atchison. Prizes for all performers.

Admission Free - Come Prepared for the Collection

STALEY BROS. HARDWARE

228 Bridge St. Phone No. 86

For your Hardware, Paints, Varnishes, Kalosmines, Paint Brushes, Rakes, Hoes, Shovels Anything in the Hardware line

We serve you

STALEY BROS. HARDWARE

THE OLDEST BANK IN CHARLEVOIX COUNTY
FORTY-THIRD YEAR IN BUSINESS

1884 1927

The Most Important Job--

you will probably have to do is to raise that boy or girl of yours!
But—how far will he or she ever get unless you teach them to save money?
You cannot start too early. Why not give them their chance now? Why not start a Savings Account in their name today with a dollar or more?

Charlevoix County Bank

CHARLEVOIX, MICHIGAN
Bridge & Company
THE BANK ON THE CORNER

LOCAL NEWS BRIEFLY TOLD

Get the Habit—Read the Courier.

COMMUNITY CALENDAR

Coming Events

Mar. 24. Easter Easter ... new pure, ... much ... night left Tuesday for home.
Mar. 25. ... of the city.
Mar. 25. Spring vacation by public ... Boys Brass ... duties ... schools begins.
Mar 28. Public ... of Shakespeare ... Club.
Mar. 29. ... of Rapid ... treatment.
Mar. 30. ... of Detroit ... in spring.
April 10-17. ... at first ... for court.
April 17. Easter Cantata, Baptist church ... p. m.
April 17. Easter Sunday.

E. E. Shanahan was ... Muskegon.

The regular ... of the Pythian Sisters ... March 28th.

W. E. Biggs ... auction ... Cadillac Tuesday of last week.

Vacation ... Friday, March 25th, ... the Charlevoix public schools.

Mrs. Robert Bridge left Tuesday for a few week's visit with her parents in Lansing.

Busy Bees of the I. O. O. T. M. will meet Friday afternoon with Mrs. Raymond Nowland.

Mr. and Mrs. John Roen left Tuesday for Washington, D. C., on an extended business trip.

Mrs. Harry Gregory is assisting at the Charlevoix Grocery company's store for a few weeks.

The Misses Bernice Courier and Genevieve Supernaw visited friends in East Jordan Sunday.

Frank Poole and Leo Powers arrived Tuesday afternoon from Mi- ... daughter, Mrs. DeForrest H. Wood on Petoskey avenue.

Chas. Gallagher of Beaver Island, is in the city awaiting the opening of navigation. He will work on the steamer Sanford, running between Charlevoix and the Island.

Mrs. Leo Powers and small daughters, Dorothy and Ethel, returned last week from Miami, Florida, called by the serious illness of Mrs. Power's mother, Mrs. Jeuett Kirkpatrick.

O. A. Solomon left Monday to attend a meeting of the Michigan Bell Telephone company plant association which was held in Saginaw, Tuesday. He will return later in the week.

Floyd B. Brown, accompanied by his room-mate, Roy Stewart, of Boyne City, who are attending school at Big Rapids, spent the week-end with Lloyd's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Benj. Brown.

Mr. and Mrs. D. J. Eckinger entertained ten friends at their home on Belevedere avenue, Friday evening. The evening was spent playing games, after which the hostess served refreshments.

The members of the W. C. T. U. will meet at the M. E. church next Tuesday at 6:30 p. m. for a pot-luck, fellowship supper which will be followed by a program and social hour. Dr. R. G. Mattson will be the speaker.

... Lodge, No. 19, will meet Saturday, March 26. Visitors ... Perchal and Golden Rule degree ... Dinner will be served following the completion of the work. All ... urged to be present.

... Literary and Sewing club of the M. E. church will meet ... home of Mrs. Jay Grinnell at ... Cross Wednesday afternoon. All members who plan to attend, ... with Mrs. Benj. Brown, phone 2 ...

... Mrs. ... Stewart ... Mrs. ... graves at Petoskey ... and with a Charlevoix ... Ellsworth, Sunday afternoon, ... the corner of ... street and ... Cemetery. Every member ... present.

Among ... Sunday guests registered at the Hotel Charlevoix were ... Mr. ... accompanied by his ... Flint. Mr. ... is ... local agent ... Charlevoix ... frequently during the summer.

... medal ... Catechism Examinations of last ... by the Mary Society of St. Mary's parish was reported successful. The ... includes installation ... Next Sunday will be candidates' ... the ... day of the church.

... Northern Michigan road commissioners ... a meeting at Cadillac last week ... endorsed the proposal to increase the gas tax to five cents a gallon, ... the extra tax among ... and counties for road building. ... Byers of Charlevoix ... a ... the meeting.

... Firestone Tire Company held a meeting at the Hotel Perry in Petoskey, Friday evening. Charlevoix was represented by James Wyers and Edgar Smith of Wyers & Smith, Ford agency, Joe Fisher of the Northern Sand Company and Bernard Ward of the Charlevoix Cooperative Association.

Art Fischner of Beaver Island, is in Charlevoix awaiting the opening of navigation. He will work on the freighter, J. B. Johns.

Block & Simmons, Chevrolet dealers, report the sale of a delivery car to Albert E. Edwards and a coach model to Earl Smith.

The Min-Eva lunch room opposite the post office, has been redecorated during the past week and presents a very neat and pleasing appearance.

The Misses Elsie VanderWall and Juanita Secord, teachers in the Lincoln school, spent the week-end at the Secord home near East Jordan.

Mrs. R. Wellman and daughter, Doris, of Detroit, are guests of Mr. and Mrs. George Roderick at their home in the Buttar's house on State street.

Mrs. R. Wellman and daughter, Doris, of Detroit are guests of Mr. and Mrs. George Roderick at their home in the Buttar's house on State street.

George and Earl Herrick of Muskegon, spent the week-end visiting at the homes of John Roen, W. T. Driggett and other Charlevoix friends.

Rev. C. E. Pollock spoke before the seventh grade at the Charlevoix schools last Wednesday morning. His subject was "Springtime and Youthtime."

Mrs. Fred de Castro of Milwaukee, Wisconsin, arrived Friday to spend the summer in Charlevoix. Mrs. de Castro will be remembered as Irene Halversen.

Mr. and Mrs. Fay Bradley were week-end visitors at the L. E. Roderick home in Boyne City. Mr. Bradley is the assistant in the office of the county clerk.

Mrs. N. D. Corbett returned to her home in Cheboygan, Saturday, after spending the winter with her ... George LaBlanc and John Cross returned Sunday from Beaver Island, via the fishing tug Venus, owned by John McCann of Beaver Island. The Venus was unable to make the port, because of the ice in the harbor entrance, so was forced to return to Northport, but Messrs. LaBlanc and Cross, undaunted, jumped ice floes to shore.

Mr. and Mrs. Harold Usher and small daughter, Louise Ann, accompanied by Claire Usher, who is attending Junior College in Grand Rapids, returned to Grand Rapids Sunday, having spent the week-end with their parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Usher. While in the city, Mrs Usher visited her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Wright Carr in East Jordan.

The "Experience Social," held by the Methodist Ladies' Aid at the M. B. Hooker home on Antrim street, was largely attended. A brief address was given by the pastor, Rev. C. E. Pollock, on "Service," a business meeting was followed by the fun of the "experiences," and a fine supper was served the public. More than seventy dollars was realized from the event.

It has been reported by relatives of Fred Gregory, that Fred has been given another promotion by executives of the company with which he has been affiliated for the past three years, and is now general manager as well as factory manager of the branch factory of the Eaton Chair Company, located in Monticello, Indiana. Fred is a local high school and normal school graduate and has many Charlevoix friends who will be pleased to know of his success.

An item clipped from the Petoskey Evening News, will be of interest to local friends of Charles Bailey, popularly known as "Chuck". The item states that Charles is in a Cleveland hospital where he has submitted to two operations for appendicitis, but is not improving as fast as his surgeons had hoped. Charles and his father, Thos. Bailey of the Petoskey Grocery company, have both many Charlevoix friends who, while representing the company in this territory, who will be glad to hear of the young man's complete recovery.

Although the navigation season has not been officially opened, two fishing tugs, the Charles Frank, owned by Chas. Henderickson, Jr., and the Sea Hawk, owned by Harold McCann left port last week to set nets for the spring catch. Fortunately they returned before the ice in the harbor blocked in the harbor entrance. The Venus however was not so fortunate. She took mail to Beaver Island Friday and was compelled to lay over in Northport until the local harbor entrance was cleared. Passengers aboard the Venus on the return trip were forced to land via ice floes.

Notice is hereby given that I, Joe Seymour, having bought all shares in the Charlevoix Grocery Company, will be responsible for only such bills against said company bearing my signature.
Adv. 12-1t. Joe Seymour.

COURIER BARGAIN COLUMN.

Courier Want Advs. are One Cent per word per insertion. Minimum charge is 20 cents per insertion, for anything under 20 words. All Want Advs. are strictly cash in advance except to those who have ledger accounts. Please remember this when sending in your copy.

FOR SALE—LIVE STOCK

FOR SALE—Two good work horses, ... Hardware Company, Inc., Charlevoix, Mich.—12-1t.

FOR SALE—Corn ... in the ... of ... Sebewaing ... 1912 ... 12-1t.

WANTED—MISCELLANEOUS

WANTED—Dressmaking. Mrs. Lizzie Powell, 206 Hurlbut avenue, phone 144. 10tf.

WANTED—Old ... to run. We pay ... hock as $10 for ... cows. Don't ... it longer. We have ... buyers. Write ... Meat Company, ... Michigan. 11-4t pd.

WANTED—Mackinaw boat ... well, with or without sails or motor. Give ... engines, ... and equipment and best ... price. J. P. Miller, 2175 ... Ave., Detroit, Mich. 11-3t pd.

FOR SALE—MISCELLANEOUS

FOR SALE—... pressure ... Nash ... man, $225.00. ... C. ... Building, Charlevoix, Mich.—11-4t.

FOR SALE—Slightly used kitchen range in excellent condition. Inquire Sinclair Oil Station.—11tf.

FOR SALE—Household ... Saturday all day, March 26th, 304 ... street. Isabel ... Mitchell.—12t1.

FOR SALE—Golden Bantam Seed Corn. Average test 92 per cent. W. J. Stevenson, 921 State street.—12-t1 pd.

FOR SALE—Franklin Foy 150-egg Incubator, price $8.00; vacuum Washing Machine, hand-power; price $12.00. Mrs. K. P. Hathway, East Jordan, Rt. 3, phone 154-f13.—12-t1.

FOR SALE—One Edwards 2 cylinder 6 h. p. gas engine; one swing saw; wood machine and belt; one 36 inch cut-off saw; one 24 inch cut-off saw. All in first class condition. A. C. Hansen. Phone 227. 12t2pd.

FOR SALE—REAL ESTATE

FOR SALE OR TRADE—100 acre farm located 4 miles west of East Jordan or 2 miles east of Ellsworth, 60 acres clear, nearly all seeded, exceptionally well suited for dairy farm; basement barn 36 by 48, new chicken coop 14x40; good small house. Will sell or consider trade for Charlevoix property. Address John TerWee, East Jordan, Mich.—12-tf.

FOR RENT—FARMS

FARM FOR RENT—Eighty acres, good loam soil, fair buildings, silo, 30 acres alfalfa meadow, good apple orchard, located on stone road half mile south of Loeb Farm. Ready, April 1. For terms, write H. L. Barnum, Lake City, Mich.—11-t2.

HELP WANTED.

WANTED — Sales representative with car and small capital to sell nationally advertised line. Time sales financed. A dignified, money making proposition for right man. Box 267, Lansing, Michigan. 10t3.

LADIES — Make money sewing aprons. Materials, patterns, instructions furnished. Experience unnecessary. Write. (Enclose stamp) to MAIDELL APRON CO., Schenectady, N. Y.—12-t1 pd.

WANTED — Man for responsible position in your locality with a willingness to learn and an ambition to become independent. Write Central Distributing Co., Spokane, Washington, for particulars. 11-3t.

Tender Juicy Steaks

Just the kind the housewife likes to put on the table. Let us furnish your meat supplies.

STEAKS
ROASTS
BOILING PIECES

Everything in the Grocery and Meat line—and we are proud of the quality.

Milton Block

1905 1927

Riches of Two Kinds

"Riches amassed in haste will diminish, but those collected little by little will multiply."

Hundreds of years ago the thinkers realized that systematic saving was the only sure road to success.

Conditions haven't changed and in our time, too, the successful man is the man who builds slowly yet surely.

Save systematically; the end is sure.

Charlevoix State Savings Bank

Capital and Surplus over $40,000.00

CHARLEVOIX, MICHIGAN

W. S. Richardson, President.
A. D. Crimmins, Vice President.
Archie Livingston, Cashier.
G. W. Richardson, Asst. Cashier.

Friday and Saturday Specials

... the ... thrifty buyer takes advantage ... week-end specials. We have found by ... experience that they look over our list of bargains before ... on their week-end shopping tour ... has ... us in our efforts to ... this store ... complete, our headquarters for thrifty shoppers.

Following ... specials for Friday and Saturday:

...	$2.75
... Flakes, 3 pkgs. for	25c
...	10c
...	25c
...	25c
String Beans, per can	15c
2 lbs. Pop Corn	25c

Meat Department

... Sausage	25c
... Head Cheese	25c
Bologna	15c
Frankfurters	35c

MARTIN BLOCK

Opposite Post Office Phones 12 and 142

NEW PALACE THEATRE

ATTRACTIONS FOR THE COMING WEEK

Saturday and Sunday, March 26-27

Harold Lloyd in "THE KID BROTHER"—the big comedy of 1927. Comedy gems from this comedy genius have become a habit. "Safety Last," "Grandma's Boy," "The Freshman," "For Heaven's Sake"—all done in true road-show fashion. And now with "The Kid Brother," Lloyd leads the laughter for 1927. Lloyd, more so than any other screen comedian, gives you a real run for your money. Every picture tried and proved "there" by preview audiences, thus absolutely insuring your evening's entertainment. "Make them funny, but keep them human," is Lloyd's motto. And here's one reminiscent in theme—wholesomeness and heart-appeal of "Grandma's Boy," with twice the laughs—Oh, mommer, how "The Kid Brother" does cut up! Also a comedy, "Midnight Follies." Prices: Adults 40c; Children 20c.

Wednesday, March 30

"MANTRAP," with Ernest Torrence, Clara Bow, and Percy Marmont. A drama of the Northland—of two men and a girl who vamps wise and foolish alike, and then hurls them at each other's throats. Unforgetable! Also Felix the Cat and Fox News.

COMING—"COHENS AND KELLYS."

Zonite

For Cuts and Wounds

Prevent infection! Treat every cut, wound or scratch with this powerful non-poisonous antiseptic. Zonite actually kills germs. Helps to heal, too.

Since 1857

Eagle Brand has raised more healthy babies than all other infant foods combined.

Borden's EAGLE BRAND CONDENSED MILK

DODGE BROTHERS MOTOR CAR

Facts

that Draw Crowds and Sway Buyers

Little wonder Dodge Brothers Motor Cars today are accorded such widespread and enthusiastic commendation—.

Smart new body lines and attractive color combinations—

A new seating arrangement that provides still more roominess and comfort—

A new clutch, simple, sure, silent—

Softer pedal action, easier gear shifting—

Quicker acceleration, still greater steering ease—

More rigid engine support—and smoother performance—

New, silent-type muffler—

Sturdiness and dependability made still more pronounced by vital betterments in body construction and in the propeller shaft, differential and axle shafts.

Add to these the new five-bearing chrome vanadium crankshaft, with its remarkable improvement in engine performance, the excellent new starting and lighting system and many other recent betterments, and you understand why owners proclaim today's car—

"The Most Dodge ever built!"

Standard Sedan.....$ 970.00
Special Sedan.....$ 1020.00
DeLuxe Sedan .....$ 1155.00
Delivered

BENJ. BROWN
CHARLEVOIX, MICH

We Also Sell Dependable Used Cars

UNDER THE DOME AT THE CAPITOL

(Continued from Page One)

sion and permit the Governor to appoint a new commission. Present members of the commission are George Lord of Detroit, Wm. S. Linton of Saginaw and Chas. H. Baxter of Loretta.

The senate has passed the measure making mandatory the sentence of bank robbers at least 20 years.

Representative Louis Wojcik's bill placing a ban on manufacture, sale or possession of any type of machine gun passed the house, one of a number of bills sponsored by the uniform crime laws commission. The house has passed all three bills pertaining

The Howell sanitarium plant is to be saved, if it does at all. Speaker Gardner is strong for it and will do everything in his power to retain the sanitarium at Howell, which is in his county. It is now freely predicted that the Howell plant will be improved and continued and that another plant will be erected at Ann Arbor.

The senate prohibition committee has reported out a bill introduced by senator Lennon, providing a minimum sentence of one year in prison for a person making beer, wine or whisky in his home.

Increased workingmen's compensation was the subject of a public hearing before the house labor committee Wednesday night. The bill, which is a labor union proposition, was introduced by Rep. Frank Wade of Flint. It is favored by Governor Green, who spoke before the committee, but is opposed by the manufacturers generally throughout the state, although the General Motors Corporation's representatives said they favored the proposition. House floor and galleries were crowded to hear the debate, in which about twenty speakers participated.

Rep. Ate Dykstra's bill requiring Bible readings in public schools still reposes in committee, while floods of petitions for and against are pouring in from all sections of the state.

Senator Arthur Wood thinks banks should be open on spring election days and has in a bill which will allow them to legally do business on such days.

Michigan State College asks appropriations to the total of $3,111,415, for buildings, improvements, extension work, etc., for the coming year.

Rep. Joseph Armstrong sponsors a bill calling to hold all state, county and township elections in November, doing away with the multiplicity of election days. It would save a lot of unnecessary expense, but would make a rather complicated affair of the general elections.

Governor Green has signed the bill which changes the name of the Michigan College of Mines at Houghton, to the Michigan College of Mining and Technology, with a greatly enlarged field of endeavor. The law becomes effective 90 days after final adjournment of the legislature.

The state administrative board did something that will be approved by a great majority of the people of the state when it adopted the suggestion of Highway Commissioner Rogers that strips of forest along trunk line highways be acquired and preserved by the state whereever possible.

Governor Green made the appointment Thursday afternoon of Judge Harry Keidan of Detroit to succeed the late Judge George P. Codd.

The Governor also submitted to the legislature an exhaustive report on the building of the new Jackson prison, showing that if completed according to plans the total cost would amount to approximately $13,000,000. The Governor suggests that present plans be dropped and that the state build a prison, not a palace. He estimates that several millions can be chopped off the proposed cost and still have a prison quite good enough.

Senator Thomas Read of Shelby has introduced a bill decreasing exemptions under the inheritance tax law from $30,000 to $10,000, when inherited by husband or wife and from $5,000 to $3,000 when inherited by a son or daughter.

Senator Martin of Fruitport has a bill asking that the deer season be changed to November 5-20.

Senator Persons of Lansing wants the Governor empowered to remove county or city school officials.

Representative Henry L. Rose of Escanaba would have divorce hearings secret, at the option of the judge.

Representative DeBoer of Grand Rapids has in a bill asking for the age of teachers to be raised from 50 to 60 before they are eligible for teacher's pension.

Representative Dexter Look of Lowell has introduced a bill placing property adjoining county roads under the same control of commissioners as is now the case with trunk line roads.

Highway Commissioner Rogers will submit plans for the year's work on state highways to the administrative board Monday. The capitol has been thronged this week by visitors from all over the state trying to get their pet roads into the program.

Committee on state affairs in the house has reported favorably on Rep. Wm. J. Thomas' bill authorizing the administrative board to sell the so-called industrial school farm, just east of Lansing, now occupied by the Groesbeck municipal golf course. The bill removing the Governor's veto power in the state administrative board was also reported out and its passage recommended. At the morning session Friday this bill was passed by the house. It is an administration measure proposed and adopted on the Governor's recommendation.

A highway bill was introduced at the Friday morning session which would do away with state highway awards to counties on county roads. This would not, of course, affect awards already provided for.

Brief sessions were held by both branches Friday morning and the customary adjournment was taken until Monday night.

Goodyear high quality tires at the latest reduction in price will please all tire user. Benj. Brown.—Adv. 10tf.

MACKINAC BRIDGE PLAN BOBS UP ANEW

Conservation Dept. May Be Asked to Make Investigation

Practicability of constructing a four mile bridge across the Straits of Mackinac from Lower to Upper Michigan would be investigated by the Department of Conservation under the terms of a resolution now under preparation by the attorney general's department. A full report would be submitted to the next legislative session.

Proposal to build such a bridge has been made for several years and occasionally tentative plans have been formulated by private engineers. The size of the financial outlay that would be required, however, has heretofore been too great to win sufficient support.

Nothing but a survey of conditions at the straits to determine the necessity for spanning both sections of Michigan is contemplated by the resolution. At present these waits are traversed by two state-owned ferries.

Try my battery and tire shop for service. Benj. Brown.—Adv. 10tf.

The greatest jokes are not always on the illyers; they're in them.

LEGAL NOTICES

Order for Publication

State of Michigan, the probate court for the county of Charlevoix.

At a session of said court, held at the probate office in city of Charlevoix, in said county, on the 10th day of March A. D. 1927.

Present: Servetus A. Correll, Probate Judge.

In the matter of the estate of Abner Compton, deceased.

The above estate having been admitted to probate and Myron Compton appointed administrator thereof.

It is ordered that four months from this date be allowed for creditors to present their claims against said estate, and that such claims will be heard by said court on Tuesday, the 19th day of July A. D. 1927, at ten o'clock in the forenoon, at the probate office in the city of Charlevoix.

It is further ordered that public notice thereof be given by publication of this order for three successive weeks previous to said day of hearing in the Charlevoix Courier a newspaper printed and circulated in this county.

Servetus A. Correll,
Adv. 11-13 Judge of Probate.

Mortgage Sale

Default having been made in the conditions of a mortgage made by Albert I. Johnson and Alma K. Johnson, husband and wife, to John Nicholls, of Charlevoix, Michigan, dated the second day of February, A. D. 1912, and recorded in the office of the Register of Deeds of the county of Charlevoix, state of Michigan, on the second day of February, A. D. 1912, in Liber 48 of Mortgages, on page 61, whereby the power of sale contained in said mortgage has become operative, on which mortgage there is claimed to be due at the date of this notice the sum of Four Hundred Twenty Dollars and Fifty Cents as principal and interest, and Twenty-eight Dollars and Fifty-seven Cents, in taxes paid by the mortgagee on the lands described in said mortgage, together with an attorney fee of Fifteen Dollars provided for in said mortgage, and no suit or proceeding at law having been instituted to recover the moneys secured by said mortgage or any part thereof;

Therefore, by virtue of the power of sale contained in said mortgage, and the statute in such case made and provided, notice is hereby given that on Friday, the 29th day of April, A. D. 1927, at ten o'clock in the forenoon, at the east front door of the court house in the city of Charlevoix, county of Charlevoix, and state of Michigan, that being the place where the circuit court for said county is held, the undersigned will sell at public auction to the highest bidder, the lands and premises described in said mortgage, or so much thereof as may be necessary to pay the amount due on said mortgage, as aforesaid, with seven per cent interest, and all legal costs, together with said attorney fee, as provided by law, the lands and premises being described in said mortgage, as follows, to-wit:

All that certain piece or parcel of land situate in the Township of Marion, county of Charlevoix, and state of Michigan, and described as follows, to-wit: The southwest quarter of the southwest quarter of section twelve, township thirty-three north, range eight west.

Dated, February 2nd, 1927.

Albert F. Bridge, Executor of the estate of John Nicholls, deceased, Mortgagee.

A. L. Fitch,
Attorney for the Executor of the Estate of John Nicholls, deceased, mortgagee.
Business address: Charlevoix, Michigan. 5t13

Order for Publication

State of Michigan, the probate court for the county of Charlevoix.

At a session of said Court, held at the probate office in the city of Charlevoix, in said county, on the 4th day of March A. D. 1927.

Present: Servetus A. Correll, Probate Judge.

In the matter of the estate of Albert E. Mason, deceased.

The above estate having been admitted to probate and Perry E. Mason appointed executor thereof.

It is ordered that four months from this date be allowed for creditors to present their claims against said estate, and that such claims will be heard by said court on Saturday, the 9th day of July, A. D. 1927, at ten o'clock in the forenoon, at the probate office in the city of Charlevoix.

It is further ordered, that public notice thereof be given by publication of this order for three successive weeks previous to said day of hearing in the Charlevoix Courier a newspaper printed and circulated in this county.

Servetus A. Correll,
Adv. 10-13 Judge of Probate.

Mortgage Sale

Default having been made in the conditions of a certain mortgage made by Edward B. Ward and Annie E. Ward of Charlevoix, Michigan to John Nicholls of Charlevoix, Michigan, dated the 3rd day of October, A. D. 1908, and recorded in the office of the Register of Deeds for the county of Charlevoix and state of Michigan, on the 3rd day of October, A. D. 1908, in Liber 44 of mortgages, on page 488, whereby the power of sale contained in said mortgage has become operative, on which mortgage there is claimed to be due at the date of this notice the sum of Four Hundred Ninety-nine Dollars for principal and interest, and an attorney's fee of Ten dollars, provided for in said mortgage, and no suit or proceedings at law having been instituted to recover the moneys secured by said mortgage or any part thereof;

Now, therefore, by virtue of the power of sale contained in said mortgage, and the statute in such case made and provided, notice is hereby given that on Friday the 29th day of April, A. D. 1927, at Ten o'clock in the forenoon, the undersigned will sell at public auction to the highest bidder, at the east front door of the court house in the city of Charlevoix, Michigan, that being the place where the circuit court for said county of Charlevoix is held, the premises described in said mortgage, or so much thereof as may be necessary to pay the amount due on said mortgage, with seven per cent interest, and all legal costs, together with said attorney's fee, as provided by law, the premises being described in said mortgage as follows, to-wit:

Lot number One Hundred Thirty-five of Upright & Hurlbut addition to the city of Charlevoix, county of Charlevoix and state of Michigan.

Dated, January 31st., 1927.

Albert F. Bridge, Executor of the estate of John Nicholls, deceased, Mortgagee.

A. L. Fitch,
Attorney for Mortgagee.
Business Address: Charlevoix, Michigan. 5t13.

Mortgage Sale

Default having been made in the conditions of a certain mortgage made by Minnie Jane Smith of Charlevoix, Michigan, to Celia N. Bridge of Charlevoix, Michigan, dated the Fourteenth day of October, A. D. 1916, and recorded in the office of the Register of Deeds of the county of Charlevoix, State of Michigan, on the Sixteenth day of October, A. D. 1916, in Liber 52 of Mortgages, on page 480, whereby the power of sale contained in said mortgage has become operative, on which mortgage there is claimed to be due at the date of this notice the sum of Nine Hundred Two and Seventy-five one-hundredths Dollars as principal and interest and the further sum of One-Hundred Three and 20/100 Dollars paid in taxes on the land described in said mortgage and the further sum of Twenty dollars as an attorney fee provided for in said mortgage, and no suit or proceedings at law having been instituted to recover the moneys secured by said mortgage, or any part thereof;

Therefore, by virtue of the power of sale contained in said mortgage, and the statute in such case made and provided, notice is hereby given that on Friday, the 29th day of April, A. D. 1927, at ten o'clock in the forenoon, at the east front door of the court house in the city of Charlevoix, Michigan, that being the place where the Circuit court for said county is held, the undersigned will sell at public auction to the highest bidder, the premises described in said mortgage, or so much thereof as may be necessary to pay the amount due on said mortgage, as aforesaid, with seven per cent interest, and all legal costs, together with said attorney fee, as provided by law, the lands and premises being described in said mortgage as follows:

All that certain piece or parcel of land situate in the city of Charlevoix, county of Charlevoix, state of Michigan, described as follows: Beginning four hundred sixty and one-half feet east of a point where the north line of the Emmet and Grand Traverse State Road (now known as Petoskey Ave.) intersects the east line of Michigan Avenue, the same being the southwest corner of a lot owned by Jennie Gail Vandermade; thence east along the north line of Petoskey Avenue sixty-six feet; thence north one hundred fifty-six and three-fourths feet; thence west sixty-six feet; thence south to the place of beginning, the same being Lot number One of Block number three of Fox and Eaton's unrecorded plat to the village of Charlevoix, Michigan.

Dated, February 2nd., 1927.

Celia N. Bridge, Mortgagee.

A. L. Fitch,
Attorney for Mortgagee,
Business address: Charlevoix Michigan. 5t13.

NOTICE OF CHANCERY SALE

State of Michigan, in the Circuit Court for the County of Charlevoix, in Chancery.

Donald O. Boudeman and Dallas Boudeman, Jr., Plaintiffs, vs. Hattie McNeill, Defendant.

In pursuance and by virtue of an order and decree of the Circuit Court for the County of Charlevoix, Michigan, in chancery, dated the 6th day of January, A. D. 1927, in the above cause in said court pending wherein Donald O. Boudeman and Dallas Boudeman, Jr., are plaintiffs and Hattie McNeill is defendant, said suit having been filed to foreclose a mortgage on which, by the terms of said decree, there was due on the date of said decree, namely, Two Thousand Three Hundred Five an 34-100 Dollars ($2,305.34).

Notice is Hereby Given, That I shall sell at public auction to the highest bidder at the east front door of the Court House in the City of Charlevoix, Michigan, (said Court House being the place for holding the Circuit Court for said county,) on the 22nd day of March, A. D. 1927, at ten (10) o'clock in the forenoon of said day, Central Standard Time, all or so much thereof as may be necessary of the land and premises hereinafter described, to raise the amount due to said plaintiffs by the terms of said decree, together with principal, interest, taxes, insurance and costs due said plaintiffs at the time of said sale.

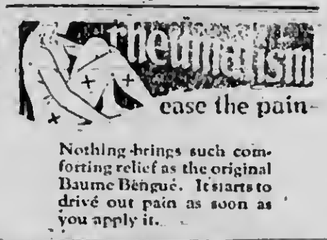
The premises to be sold are described as follows, to-wit:

The parcel of land situated in the City of Charlevoix, County of Charlevoix and State of Michigan, and described as follows, to-wit: the west half (W½) of Lots One and Two (1, 2) in Block Four (4) of Dixon's addition to the village (now city) of Charlevoix, according to the plat thereof duly recorded in the office of the Register of Deeds of Charlevoix County, Michigan.

Dated at Charlevoix, Michigan, January 27th, A. D. 1927.

Lisle Shanahan,
Circuit Court Commissioner in and for Charlevoix County, Michigan. Business address, Charlevoix, Michigan.

Adams and VanHorn,
Attorneys, for Plaintiff,
Business address, 114 West South St., Kalamazoo, Michigan. 5t7.



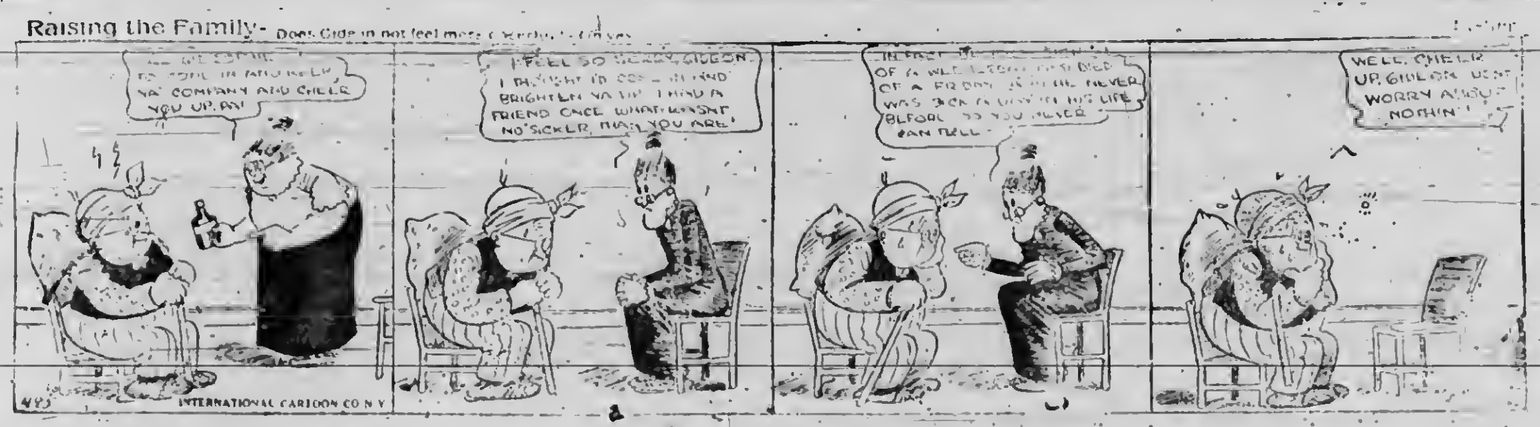
Nothing brings such comforting relief as the original Baume Bengué. It starts to drive out pain as soon as you apply it.

GET THE ORIGINAL FRENCH
BAUME BENGUÉ
(ANALGESIQUE)

Babies Love It

For all stomach and intestinal troubles and disturbances due to cold it is, there is nothing better than Mrs. Winslow's Infants' and Children's Laxative.

MRS. WINSLOW'S SYRUP



Raising the Family- Does Gideon not feel more Cheerful this Morn
I'M GOIN' TO TOWN IN MOTHER'S NA' COMPANY AND CHEER YOU UP, PA!
I FEEL SO HEAVY, GIDEON. I THOUGHT I'D GET - SOMETHING BRIGHTEN YA UP. I FIND A FRIEND ONCE WHAT HASN'T NO SICKER THAN YOU ARE!
IN FACT OF A WEEK LAST FRIDAY OF A FRIDAY IS AS THE NEVER WAS BACK IN QUESTION MY LIFE BEFORE SO YOU NEVER CAN TELL
WELL, CHEER UP, GIDEON DON'T WORRY ABOUT NOTHIN'
INTERNATIONAL CARTOON CO N Y

JUST KIDS—Forgery. By Ad Carter
SAY TOMMY HOW DO YUH SPELL HAFTA IS IT HAFTA OR HAFFER?
I GUESS IT'S ONE OF THEM IF WORDS YUH KIN SPELL EITHER WAY!
Dear Teacher Please excuse willie from school today Willie is a good boy... he will hafta mind the baby while I go out
Mrs Smith
INTERNATIONAL CARTOON CO.

FLIT
DESTROYS
Moths, Roaches
Bedbugs, Flies
Other Household Insects

VALET
AutoStrop
Razor
sharpens itself

BUSINESS CARDS

Farm Property Lake Frontage
A. C. BELDING
REAL ESTATE BROKER
Charlevoix, Mich.
Game Preserves Detroit Property

GLASSES FITTED
Consult
DR. J. LEAHY
OPTOMETRIST
Expert on Eye-Strain.
Petoskey, Mich.
Phone 443 for Appointment

BELLE LOUISE FLEWELLING
Palmer Chiropractor
Post Office Building
Phone 347
Office hours 2 to 5 daily
Monday, Wednesday and Friday
7 to 8

R. J. MADILL
Building Contractor
Ask for Estimates
Phone 121 Charlevoix, Mich.

D. T. McHUGH
General Contractor
Phone 214
CHARLEVOIX, MICHIGAN

R. B. ARMSTRONG
PHYSICIAN AND SURGEON
Special Attention to Diseases
of Eye, Ear, Nose and Throat
Priest Bldg. Phone 255

DR. F. F. McMILLAN
Physician and Surgeon
Office above Postoffice
Phone 17
Charlevoix - - Michigan

A. L. FITCH
ATTORNEY AT LAW
Office in Court House
Phone 48
Charlevoix - Michigan

When a fellow wants something put thru, he's a voter. When he wants to keep something from going thru, he's a taxpayer. After it goes thru, he's just a citizen and darn glad of it.

W. C. T. U. NOTES

The prohibition re-organization bill (providing for civil service examination for all prohibition agents) which has been pending in congress for more than three years, passed the senate before adjournment with but six votes against it. Union Signal.

The mass of propoganda that is primarily selfish—if not actually vicious—grows and will continue to grow as the economic forces group themselves in larger and larger units. If powerful groups like the anti-prohibition forces persist in distorting facts, as Irving Fisher points out in his admirable books, "Prohibition at its Worst," must not the school teach youth to weigh facts and to be critical of their sources? Journal of the National Education Association.

There is only one way to get rid of prohibition, and only one way—amend the constitution by removing from it the Eighteenth Amendment. Electing a wet President will not do it. Electing a wet congress will not do it. Electing a wet Governor will not do it. Electing a wet Mayor will not do it. No one who can be elected has anything whatever to do with prohibition except to uphold the constitution of the United States which contains the Eighteenth Amendment.—Dearborn Independent.

The W. C. T. U. is a law-obeying, law-enforcing organization with every member pledged to obey the law. Every union is a center through which sentiment for law enforcement is made. Every woman is urged to join us in a protest from the womanhood of America against modification of the prohibition law and in a great educational campaign for law observance. "Yes, it's the law and it's a good law." Michigan Union.

True to it's educational purpose, the Woman's Christian Temperance Union has started a movement to put social drinking out of date because it is bad form. With it's fifty-four years of experience and present membership of 600,000 typical American mothers and home women, it maintains that drinking as a part of home entertainment is obsolete and un-American.

Society leaders ought to be American leaders. They ought to make the standards of society conform to those of patriotic law observance. It should be bad form to flout the constitution.

The best people in America do not drink. The President does not drink nor the first lady of the land; they serve no liquor at the White House nor does society drink or serve in their presence.

It is further noticeable that the best element of Americans, in general, not only are observing the law but also are taking a stand on the side of the constitution.—Ella A. Boole, National W. C. T. U. President in Union Signal.

Courier Want Ads. pay.

Protect Your Busy Morning Hours with Sustaining Food—Get

QUICK QUAKER

The Breakfast that "Stands By" You
Cooks in 2½ to 5 Minutes

Mrs. A. K Wood

announces the opening of her Millinery Store with a complete line of Ladies', Misses' and Children's Hats. Full line of Dress Flowers. Call in and see them at 109 Bridge street.

Alabaster Lamps

By Margaret Turnbull

© 1926, by J. Margaret Turnbull. WNU Service.

[illegible] with Mary [illegible] would [illegible] by telling a [illegible] Claude allow her mother to suppose that she was dining with the Farleys, and Mrs. Farley was a dear and would understand if Mary told her at the last minute that she was dining with friends. She would telephone from her hotel and Claude could come and take her to dine and bring her back.

With this they had to be content. They parted from Mary before they reached the entrance to her hotel.

Polly's head ache was better, but she decided not to get up. When Mary came into her room, ready to go to dinner, Polly was sitting up in bed, a tray before her.

"My word, Mary, you look sweet. Turn around and let me see if I'll like you as well when you leave the room as I do when you come in.

"The Farleys ought to appreciate you, Mary, to young Farley go be there tonight? If his mother knew we were poor it might make a difference, you know."

"I hope it does." Mary answered lightly, apparently engrossed with her image in the glass. "I could do with less of young Farley."

Then what is it, her mother thought, that makes her look just that way? It must be a man!

"Anyone interesting among the new arrivals?"

"I don't know." Mary answered honestly. "I'll look them over when I go down, and report."

She kissed her mother and hurried away.

Polly rested back against her pillows and sighed. How long could she keep Mary? Not very long, if the men of this generation were at all like those of the last. Well, at any rate Claude should not have her. Mary must have her chance and not be dragged back to a village grocery store—the same one from which her mother had fled so many years ago.

Mary explained to Mrs. Farley, having first telephoned Claude, that she was dining with an old friend.

Mrs. Farley, who had no daughters and adored Mary, watched with interest Mary's meeting with a big, dark, middle-aged man who looked rather distinguished.

Mary thought her father looked stunning. It was frightfully romantic, she told him, eloping with one's father in a gondola.

"You wouldn't even look at me if Mother were here in all her glory. Mother is—oh, Father, Mother is a perfect peach!"

"There was a poet, long ago, who put what I feel about Polly in a nutshell," Claude answered. "It was something about: 'If she isn't my peach, I don't care how peachy she is.'"

"Father! Stop! Don't murder. 'If she be not fair for me, What care I how fair she be.'"

"That's it. Just at this minute Polly leaves me cold and I wouldn't look at her tonight, not so long as I had you to myself."

"Father, that can't be true. It must not be. Because I've set my heart on making Mother look at you."

Buy 19  the 27

Tires!

Why spend your money for a tire that is out-of-date, behind the times?

Buy the new tire---the 1927 tire---the tire that is proclaimed as

The Greatest Tire in the World

It's the new-type All-Weather Tread Goodyear Balloon. It changes all present ideas about balloon tire mileage. It gives positive traction, protection against skidding.

No more tread pot-holes! No more cupping, and uneven, costly wear! This new tire fixes that!

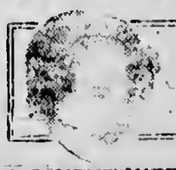
We have this great new Goodyear in your size. It costs no more than old-fashioned balloons. See it today. You'll understand better why "More People Ride on Goodyear Tires than on any other kind!"

30x3 1-2 Pathfinder Fabric	$8.20	29x4.40 All-weather Balloon Cord	$12.85
30x3 1-2 Pathfinder Cord (oversize)	$9.85	30x3 1-2 Tubes for	$1.90
30x3 1-2 Goodyear All-weather Cord	$11.65	29x4.40 Tubes for	$2.40

Other sizes proportionally priced

BENJAMIN BROWN

Only the Udylite Tub is-Dent-Proof-Rust-Proof



...about ... my machine ... in this ... weeks of use and the pol... Udylite on my old ... in a month!

DO NEXT WEEK'S WASH FREE. Find out what a lot of washing machine value your money will buy. The Udylite tub . . . stainless and rustproof . . . is two gallons bigger than any other.

The impeller, made of smooth, glossy Bakelite, won't wear or scratch in 10 years. The dainties fabrics are thoroughly cleansed with [illegible]

WOOD BROTHERS

START CAMPAIGN AGAINST BORER

SOUTHERN COUNTIES LISTED AMONG THOSE INFESTED

Federal and State Authorities Cooperating in Battle to Stop Spread of Insect.

The $10,000,000 campaign to delay the spread of the European corn borer to the corn belt, recently authorized by congress, began March 11. The United States department of agriculture in cooperation with the five states of New York, Pennsylvania, Ohio, Michigan, and Indiana, will conduct the campaign. The infested area is largely in these states and now includes about 80,000,000 acres. The appropriation will be used to compensate farmers for work done by them in connection with the clean-up not normally usual in ordinary farm operations and to purchase and operate such machinery and supply equipment as is required in carrying out control measures thoroughly in the counties designated.

The purpose of the campaign is to clean-up the borer as far as possible in the infested area and to prevent the serious damage to the corn crop in Illinois, Iowa, and other corn belt states; that would result from its further spread. In the clean-up, the cornstalks either will be gathered and burned or plowed under cleanly, care being taken not to drag any debris to the surface afterwards. Corn stubble will be destroyed with a stubble pulverizer. All cornstalks, piles of cornstalks and corncobs around barnyards and feed lots will be cleaned up and burned. The plan is to pay the farmers for work that is done over and above their normal farming operations at a rate not to exceed $2 per acre for field corn and not to exceed $1 per acre for sweet corn.

The first step to be taken in the campaign will be to notify farmers of the necessary mensures which they must take according to the regulations adopted. It is expected that individual farmers voluntarily cooperating in the clean-up will take the necessary measures by May 1. Following May 1, all infested farms will be inspected. If reported as meeting all requirements as to control measures, the individual farmer will be compensated for extra work as provided by the regulations.

Where the regulations have not been complied with either intentionally or unintentionally, the federal forces under the authority of the state departments of agriculture will conduct the necessary clean-up. The farm cost of such enforced clean-up will be charged to the individuals on whose farms the work is done and will be collected on the same basis as taxes by the State authorities.

Prior to May 1, a large number of local field demonstrations in the selection and operation of machinery effective in borer control work will be given as part of an intensive educational and publicity campaign to be put on cooperatively by the department extension service, the extension divisions of the state agricultural colleges, and county extension agents, the extension divisions of the state agricultural colleges, and county extension agents. This campaign will consist of educational field meetings, activities of county and local committees in the interest of which a campaign of the boys' organization to the press, and [illegible] through the extension [illegible].

The campaign will be under the general supervision of Dr. A. F. Wo[illegible] chief of the bureau of entomology, U. S. department of agriculture. R. I. Gardner, specialist in charge of corn borer control, will be assigned to Ohio. Under him will have general supervision of the field work. The department bureau of entomology will have direct supervision of the work. Dr. W. H. Larrimer is administrative in charge in Washington. L. H. Worthley, in charge of corn-borer control work for the bureau of entomology for the past eight years, will head the field organization with headquarters at Toledo, Ohio. The field organization will consist of five major divisions of (1) general operations, (2) inspection, (3) engineering, (4) education, and (5) information.

The division of general operations, under the supervision of Mr. Worthley, will include matters to handle supplies and equipment and all fiscal and accounting matters. The engineering division, also under Mr. Worthley, will carry out the plans for the inspection and certification of infested farms and the compulsory clean-up.

The territory will be divided for regulatory work with one district comprising Ohio, Indiana and Michigan in charge of E. G. Brewer, at Cleveland, Ohio, and a second district, comprising New York and Pennsylvania in charge of H. N. Barthey, at Erie, Pa. The engineering division will be charged to C. O. Reed, of Ohio State University. This division will have charge of the inspection of machinery used in the campaign, the instruction of operators, the conditioning and operation of the machinery in the field, and like matters. C. E. Farrell and Reuben Brigham of the department extension service, have been designated by the secretary in charge of the education and information divisions, respectively.

The following are the Michigan counties in which the clean-up will be conducted: Bay, Branch, Calhoun, Genesee, Hillsdale, Huron, Ingham, Jackson, Lapeer, Lenawee, Livingston, Macomb, Monroe, Oakland, Sanilac, Saginaw, Shiawassee, St. Clair, Tascola, Washtenaw, and Wayne counties; and selected townships in Kalamazoo and St. Joseph counties.

MRS. KANE REMEMBERED ON BIRTHDAY

Twenty-five Friends Gathered to Help Her Celebrate

Mrs. Frank Kane of Hayes, township, celebrated her 68th birthday anniversary Thursday, March 17, when twenty-five friends spent the day at the Kane home to assist her in making the day one long to be remembered.

Guests commemorated the Irish saint's day by the wearing of the green. At noon a St. Patrick's dinner was served, guests leaving in late afternoon after presenting Mrs. Kane with many beautiful and useful gifts.

Local Girls Entered

Coeds at Western State Normal at Kalamazoo are playing an interclass volley ball series for the campus championship under supervision of the women's physical education faculty. Among the students taking part are Misses Margaret Fitch and Joyce Mayne of Charlevoix.

Our garages battery and tire shop is at your service. Benj. Brown.—Adv.

MASONIC PARTY WAS A DECIDED SUCCESS

Dancing and Cards Furnished Entertainment Thursday Evening

The informal party given by the entertainment committee of the local Masonic order in their temple Thursday evening of last week, was a decided success from every standpoint. The party was given for Masons and their friends, each member of the order having the privilege of inviting one non-Mason.

Bunco and card were the features of the evening. Music for the dancing was furnished by Weckstead, Sarah Hamlin, Mrs. Bessie Foote, Mr. O. Sherman and Mr. Shepherd, who they called the dancing room, after each had played a few dances. Most of the old time dances they played for the old time quadrilles. Later in the evening the committee with the assistance of the women served refreshments.

Hi Heeled soles a specialty at Caudill's shoe repairing department.—Adv. 12-t1.

CONCERNING NEW SCHOOL BUILDING

(Continued from page one.)

and would offer [illegible] unsanitary conditions. Here is the opportunity for gymnastic exercises and physical training will also be carried.

The new grade unit will include seven grade rooms and a kindergarten. This unit will represent [illegible] education [illegible] the [illegible] and will be [illegible] and modern cabinets.

The kindergarten room will be [illegible] and will be [illegible] with five places, window seats and special play and study equipment. Separate toilets adjacent to this room will be provided for these little tots.

The school board will present this project to the tax payers soon as [illegible] necessary legal steps can be taken, probably in April.

This concerned a program [illegible] and thoroughly [illegible] by the school board and [illegible] and they believe [illegible] represents Charlevoix's need of a fire proof school building.

The Courier along with other progressive citizens of the city realize the immediate necessity of a new and modern school. It is our belief that the joint school board and citizen's committee have presented a sound and practical plan before the voters which should have the support of all.

Public Concert

The Shakespeare and Dickens clubs are holding their weekly meeting next Monday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock in the Congregational church. There will be a musical program, and the public is cordially invited to attend.

Special Sale

Saturday only—Brooms for 25c and 49c at Charlevoix Grocery Co.—Adv. 12-t1.

St. Patrick Party

Charlevoix encampment, I. O. O. F. entertained Thursday evening with a St. Patrick dancing party. Music was furnished by Darance's orchestra. A very good time is the verdict of all who were there.

—Best leather used in Campbell's shoe repairing department.—Adv. 12-t1.

Birthday Party

Mrs. Clarence Withefs entertained at the Withers' home 702 Bridge street, Wednesday afternoon from 3:00 to 5:00 o'clock, in honor of the seventh birthday anniversary of her daughter, Mildred. The seven guests who were present left Miss Mildred many pretty gifts to make the occasion a memmorable one.

John Smith, Charlevoix's cobbler for 45 years, now at Campbell's.—Adv. 12-t1.

Coming April 4th

Monday, April 4th, is the date when Dr. Leahy, the Optometrist, will be at the Hotel Charlevoix, one day only. Headache, dizziness, nervousness, cross-eyed and all other symptoms of eye-strain corrected. —Adv. 12-t2.

GOITRE RETURNED

After Two Operations, And Then Removed By External Treatment.

Mrs John Nashlund, Iron River, Mich., says, "I am surprised at the results obtained from one bottle of Sorbol-Quadruple. I have had Goitre for 20 years, and have had two operations. One year after last operation it commenced to grow again. I have used one bottle of the liniment and it has disappeared." Sold at all drug stores, or write Sorbol Company, Mechanicsburg, Ohio. In Charlevoix at Pessenden's drug store.

HELD SHINGLING BEE FOR IRONTON CHURCH

Sound of Hammer Did Not Drown Witty Remarks of Workers

The [illegible] shingling bee at the Ironton Church last week was a notable example of real wild and nearly team work, by the men and women of the [illegible] who were served dinner on Wednesday by Mrs. Cline, Mrs. and Friday. The coffee for lunch was provided by the Ladies' Aid Society and the generous use of the steaming comfort was kindly [illegible] Mrs. Bert Alexander, president of the Ladies' Aid. The [illegible] gave their services: Will Pyle, Dallas Dean, Eli Sherman, Wm. Cline, Phil Pyle, Nelson Thompson, Matthew Saunders, Robert Sherman, Will Mogerman, Geo. Sullivan, Earl Sherman, Peter Nelson, Ernest [illegible] Peterson, Will Henderson, Sam Woodworth, George Winkler, Lee Pierce, Cecil Brown, Orlie Sherman, [illegible] Wallace [illegible] moth, "Nip" Carlson, Marion Dean and Jack D. Matson.

[illegible] up [illegible] the head of which [illegible] and [illegible] Rev. [illegible] Pastor of the Methodist church, [illegible] Ironton church last Sunday morning.

CLASS TOURNEY IS IN PROGRESS

(Continued from page one.)

their foes. The freshies put up a game battle.

Tuesday night saw the first round of the consolation when the Sophomore girls won from the eighth graders 22 to 16. The Sophomore girls drew a bye. In the first round of the consolation for boys, the eighth graders trimmed the Freshmen to the tune of [illegible]. That the eighth graders have played the girls, using the latter's rules. The boys won, but not without a struggle.

Wednesday, after school, the Seniors play the Sophs in the final girl's consolation game. Thursday night has a big treat in store for Charlevoix fans. To start the fireworks, the Junior girls will play the Freshmen girls in the finals for the championship. Following this the championship game for boys between the Juniors and Sophs will be played.

You've heard of men playing football without headgear and a Ford running many miles on a flat tire, but you've never heard of a high school boy's team, dressed in bloomers, middies, little bow ties, silk socks, and carrying a vanity case to powder the freckles on their noses, playing a girl's team. They have their Mama's permission to play against the girls so it will be a real battle. Watch the blushes of the—well, it doesn't matter who all will take part in the great game. Miss Thomas will referee and Conch Buchen will umpire. We have two of the best officials in the north, but we will need them to do away with the hair-pulling and face-scratching and the other female habits which tend to mar the features of handsome men. The line-up for the big game follows: Pankinville forwards: Higman, Beaudoin, Wagner; centers: Smith, McCann; guards: Cooper, Novak, Williams. Tarnipville forwards: Boyer, Ripley, Marphy; centers: Emmens, Smith, Kelderhouse; guards: Struthers, Ikens and Withers.—Student Reporter.

Expert Shoe Repairing at Campbell's. John Smith, cobbler.—Adv. 12-t1.

Cup on Display

The silver cup won by the Charlevoix high school basketball team at the northern Michigan tournament held in Petoskey last week, is now on display in the north window of the Sugar Bowl. This cup is the award of the Michigan State Athletic Association for consolation [illegible] in that class.

Dr. J. Leahy, the Optometrist, will be at the Hotel Charlevoix Monday, April 4th.—Adv. 12-t2.

Prohibition is in its infancy. That is why people till want their bottle.

Legion Boxing Show, Hooker's Garage, next Monday. Come and [illegible] 12-1t-pd.

Charlevoix Hardware Company

Cleaning-Painting Brightening-Up Time is at Hand

and all your wants are here under one roof.

PAILS, MOPS, SCRUB BRUSHES

The neatest oval non-pail, can't upset, with wringer, mop over rough floors, Hoover (side or rear); Floor Wax, (An Electric Polisher for rent), all things for cleaning.

PAINTS

We honestly believe the B. P. S. brand the best paint we have ever handled or we would not have changed from the line handled for years by this store.

We have B. P. S. Paint, Varnishes, Enamels, Floor Paints for all purposes and all colors, and shades. Call and see the possibilities and our variations.

PUMICO AND ALABASTINE

At this time of the year [illegible] are brought into use.

Some odds and ends of paint and varnish in small cans, enough just to [illegible] up a rocking chair or table. Everybody's doing it. [illegible]

FLOOR COVERINGS, ARMSTRONG - CONGOLEUM

Floor [illegible] and a splendid selection of Wool Rugs.

A piece or two of Furniture Now Stocked at the Windows and the Bargain Hi Grade.

THE WHOLE LAYOUT IS HERE AND THE PRICES ARE RIGHT.

Charlevoix Hardware Company

Three Big Departments—Hardware, Furniture, Electrical

NORTHERN MICHIGAN'S FINEST STORE

Next to Good Health-- A Good Car

A good car is like good health—upkeep is not expensive. One's earning capacity is at the maximum, there is a full measure of recreation. A man is free of many limitations which otherwise restrict him.

Automobile transportation opened a bigger, better life to everybody. That's why so many millions own cars today.

The new Nash Cars will take you far beyond your present horizon. May we show them to you?

NASH—26 MODELS

H. R. Fowler

113 Bridge St. Telephone No. 54-J

Goodrich Silvertown--Kelly Springfield Tires

Prest-O-Lite Batteries and Service

W. E. Byers John Boss

BYERS & BOSS

Auctioneers

We will cry your sales and clerk them. Furnish cups for all day sales.

Book sales at Courier Office

or call us by phone. All dates are made at The Courier office, phone 2-J. Phone any one of us and we will take care of your sale.

LET THE COURIER PRINT YOUR SALE BILLS

CHARLEVOIX COURIER

VOLUME 3[illegible]BER 13. EIGHT PAGES COURIER, CHARLEVOIX, MICH., WEDNESDAY, MARCH 30, 1927 PRICE $2.00 PER YEAR

AN APPEAL TO ALL CITIZENS

SCHOOL BOND PROPOSITION OF VITAL IMPORTANCE

Careful Housing and Teaching of Our Children Should Be First In Thoughts of All

Let us start from common ground and try to think our way through this question. In common with every other community in our America we acknowledge responsibility for the education of the youth of the community and we mean to provide adequate facilities for that education. The present building equipment of the Charlevoix public schools is not adequate to our present and future needs. The time is not far distant, even if it should now be postponed, when either extensive and costly repairs or some other building program will be forced upon the community by immediate necessity or by the pressure of state educational requirements. These facts are generally recognized.

For a number of years progress has been made toward the time for action by the purchase of land adjacent to the present buildings sufficient for an adequate school site, and a fund of some fifty thousand dollars has been accumulated by a moderate increase in the school tax. A large proportion of this tax has been paid and will continue to be paid by property owners, not permanent residents of Charlevoix. These people are substantially able to pay their share of the tax and will not be driven away from "Charlevoix the Benutiful" when our little city becomes still more beautiful both in appearance and in character by the erection of a new school plant for the welfare of our best asset, the boys and girls of our homes.

The plan proposed has been fully explained and is financially sound, backed by expert opinion and adequate guarantees. It is economical in that it provides for the continued use of the present buildings to the full limit of their usable life with only a moderate outlay of repairs and such changes as will make them more decent and sanitary and with great relief from the present unhealthy and inefficient congestion.

The plan proposed will not increase the present tax rate which will continue even if the bond issue rejected, which would only mean postponing the problem to be inevitably raised at some future date.

The present proposal has been reached by the joint wisdom of the school board and a committee of citizens appointed to cooperate with the board, in making visits to other communities and in collecting all available data. It has their unanimous support. They are our own neighbors, business associates and fellow citizens. We and they have the same things at heart—the welfare of the children of our community, the good name and reputation of our fair city, and the wise and economical expenditure of public funds. They have taken us fully into their confidence. We should take them into ours. We believe they are both trustworthy and competent. If these fellow citizens of ours our not competent, what group could any of us select who would be so?

The time has come to decide this proposition on its merits, with entire freedom from personal or factional influences. The big and worthwile things of life often demand some sacrdice for their attainment. Let us all be willing to make our share of these sacrifices with cheerful good will. Let us make common cause in the interest of the present and future welfare of the youth of our community. They are worth more than all the other values put together.—Robert Bridge, Bernard G. Matyson, Archie Livingston.

Died at Vanderbilt

The office of the county clerk was closed Tuesday due to the death of Mr. Roderick's father, which occurred in Vandebilt, Saturday. L. N. Roderick has been a resident of Boyne City for many years and has local friends who will regret his passing. The funeral was held Tuesday in Boyne City and interment was made in that city.

PLAN HOLDS BIG POSSIBILITIES

WOULD OPEN REAL ESTATE DEVELOPMENT TO BIG AREA

Effort Being Made to Convert State Owned Land Into Park—Prospects Look Bright

Favurable progress is being made on a proposition concerning the usage of property now owned by the State along Lake Michigan south of Charlevoix for Stute park purposes, according to L. S. See, chairman of the Chnrlevoix Association of Commerce road committee.

The State owns approximately 500 acres of lund starting south of Snuth Point and running well beyond the mouth of McGeagh Creek. With the exception of one 160-acre block the strip is nurrow and has a lake frontage of approximately 1 1-2 miles. It is admirably suited for park purposes, is beautifully wooded and has an excellent stretch of bathing beach.

A communication from Governor Fred W. Green, in which he states the proposal is worthy of careful consideration has been received by the local committee working on the matter. Another communication from R. H. Hoemaster, Superintendent of State Parks, informs us that the matter had been referred to the state department of conservation by Governor Green and in turn referred to Mr. Hoffmaster, who states that from information they have obtained from land economics survey, maps the property could be used for park purposes very satisfactorily. He also stated that before making recommendations to the director and commission he would like to examine the proposition more closely and would be in Charlevoix early this spring to look the property over.

If the proposition is carried through successfully, it is proposed to extend the present lake shore drive south along Lake Michigan to Norwood. This would make a scenic drive second to none in Northern Michigan. It would open up lake shore property along this stretch to real estate development and increase the property valuation of that entire territory. The closest cooperation of all land owners along the route should be given to put the proposition across.

P. R. ROSS SURPRISED ON HIS BIRTHDAY

Progressive Heart and Pot Luck Lunch Were Enjoyed

P. R. Ross was surprised at his home, 102 Nettleton street, Monday evening, when friends arrived to help him celebrate his birthday anniversary.

Guests who were Mr. and Mrs. Ora Waterman, Mr. and Mrs. John Kerr, Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Nelson and Mrs. Chas. Hamlin, Mr. and Mrs. Lester Carr and Ralph Waskburn, played progressive hearts early in the evening. Interesting [illegible] was served.

"An Evening With the Radio," a musical comedy to be given by amateurs at the [illegible] Friday evening, April 1. High School Assembly room, 7:15 p. m. Admission 35 and 25c. An evening of [illegible] Don't fail to be present.—Adv. 13-1t.

THREE AUCTIONS LISTED IN THIS WEEK'S COURIER

With the spring well advanced, auction sales have started coming in. This week's issue of the Courier contains three sales as follows:

On Tuesday, April 5th, Wm. S. Gregory will sell a large list of live stock, farm machinery, produce and household goods at his farm, located 6 miles north of Charlevoix, just off M-11 at Burgess corner. See adv. on page 3.

On Thursday, April 7th, Albert and Ernest Staley will dispose of their live stock, farm machinery and produce. Sale will be held at farm, located 6½ miles north of East Jordan or 3 miles south of Ironton Ferry. See adv. on page 3.

Mrs. Grace Gibb will sell a large list of household furniture on Saturday, April 9. The sale will be held at the home on Park avenue. See bills, page four.

Beer & Boss, local auctioneers, have asked us to announce that they will conduct a community sale at some date in the near future. Anyone having articles to be sold can list them with W. E. Beers at an early date.

SPEAKING ABOUT "FISH" STORIES

HERE IS A REAL ONE—NO "BUNK" ABOUT THIS

Cold Creek at Beulah Knee Deep With Fish During Annual Smelt Run

While other resort towns pull every string to gain publicity, the little town of Beulah, located 32 miles south of Charlevoix on M-11, has been "sitting on top of the world" insofar as publicity is concerned for the past week or more, reaping the benefits of newspaper headlines throughout the state regarding the annual run of smelt from Crystal Lake into Cold Creek, which flows under the main street of that town.

Probably few people, who each evening read their daily papers and casually scan the headlines of the smelt run at Beulah, realize just what it is all about, and if told about it would think someone was trying to "spoof" them. The writer, however, was fortunate enough to make the trip to Beulah last Thursday evening and witness this annual phenomena, and will vouch for the statement that the sight "is well worth the price of admission."

In the first place, the village of Beulah presented the appearance of a Fourth of July celebration. One almost had to elbow his way up and down the streets, it being estimated there were better than three thousand people on hand for the fun. Cold Creek, in which the run takes place, flows across the main street of the village, almost in the center of the business district. It is probably two hundred yards from this street to where the creek enters Crystal Lake and in this short distance is where most the uctivity took place. The smelt start their journey up the creek soon after dark each night. Game wurdens posted along its banks watch the run, keeping the crowds away from the banks until the creek is literally black with fish. When they think the run is far enough advanced, a gun is fired for a starting signal and the fun starts.

Talk about a stampede! No Western gold rush could touch it. And fish—our party dipped a bushel basket full in about three minutes at the most. The writer's job was to hold the basket while the other two fellows dipped, and it actually appeared as though it was raining fish. Old men with grey whiskers, youngsters in knee pants, all were so thick in the stream that there wasn't even a chance to fall down. Some wore wading suits, others hip boots and some no boots at all. Most any container that would hold a fish was used as a dip. Some had corn poppers, wire waste-paper baskets, banana crates, beet forks, pitch forks, huge bags with a hoop around the opening, landing nets and other nets, in fact, anything that would hold a fish was brought into service. When someone didn't have his feet in your net, you hail your feet in his, and from a standpoint of fun "it was some party."

From a publicity standpoint, the event cannot be beat. Governor Green and a party were on hand for the fun last Wednesday evening. Newspaper reporters from all over the state wrote up the affair and besides this, two motion picture outfits were there to take films. Beulah realizes the publicity value of this annual smelt run and has not been backward on "cashing in" on it.

UNDER THE DOME AT THE CAPITOL

LEGISLATIVE MILL NOW RUNNING FULL BLAST

Lennon Prohibition Bill Provides Stiff Fine and Jail Sentence for Bootlegger

(By Len W. Feighner)

Hampered by lack of water or something with more power to it, the legislative mill has been on half rations for the past ten weeks, but there must have been a freshet over the week-end, for the old mill wheel is turning in pretty good shape last week.

The hottest scrap of the session up to date, in the upper house, developed the first of the week over the Lennon prohibition bill, which provides at least year in jail for bootleggers and rum runners. The bill as originally presented would have placed the same penalty on private makers of home brew and wines, but Senator Lennon himself presented an amendment removing the word "manufacture" from the bill, and this amendment carried. Tuesday the senate, after some discussion, passed the bill by a vote of 22 to 9.

Another heavy scrap of the week has been over the proposed tuberculosis sanitarium question. Speaker Gardner, who favors the Howell proposition to the exclusion of all others, has had rather the best of the argument so far, but he has a worthy opponent in Representative Upjohn, who is fighting for a new sanitarium at Ann Arbor. Several conferences have been held and it is thought likely that the final outcome will be that the Howell plant will be retained and improved for the care of incipient and convalescent cases and that a new institution will also be erected at Ann Arbor.

Highway construction and finance, with all the proposed gas and weight tax measures in regard to it, has been another fruitful topic of discussion and various compromise measures have been offered. Many bills are being held in committee awaiting some proposition pleasing enough to the legislators to insure its passage without a pitched battle.

Representative Darin of Detroit, has a bill in proposing a judicial council consisting of one judge of the supreme court, one circuit court judge, one judge of probate, one judge of the recorder's court of Detroit, a justice of the peace, a member of the faculty of the law school at U. of M., a representative of the attorney general's office and four members of the bar, all to be appointed by the Governor for a six-year term and to serve without compensation. This commission to recommend to the legislature such propositions as it deemed in the public interest and to the supreme court any proposed changes in practice.

The house has passed the Bradley bill appropriating $75,000 for maintenance of the agricultural school at Menominee, and the McEachron bill appropriating $90,000 for a new barracks for the state police. Also the Bartlett bill defining as perjury the securing of false signatures and affidavits on primary election petitions and making such petitions null and void; the MacDonald bill making it a felony to tamper with hoisting or pumping machinery at mines, the Bryant bill setting up a system of inspection for the prevention of contagious diseases among bees, and the Ming bill to extend more state aid to county normal schools.

Representative Edward D. Skeels of Whitehall, sponsors a bill permitting garage proprietors to place a lien on automobiles for repair bills.

Representative John Holland introduced a bill to provide for an 8-hour labor law. This is a biennial bill with Mr. Holland, and he hopes some day to get favorable action on it.

Representative Fred Mrog of Cheboygan, has introduced a conservation bill which provides for zoning by the conservation director, the condemnation of fire hazards, patrolling when necessary, compulsory cleaning up by owners of all fire traps and would subject persons who maliciously set fires to a fine of $5,000 and a maximum term of 20 years in prison.

There were barbers, cosmeticians, hair-dressers and some hair-puller hovering around the senate chamber Tuesday night, where the house committee on public health and the senate committee on state affairs held a joint hearing on bills which would place hairdressers and cosmeticians under state supervision and license. Committee reports are

(Continued on page six)

LEGION BOXING BOUTS A "WOW"

ENTHUSIASTIC CROWD CHEERS MODERN GLADIATORS

Ten 3-Round Matches Did Not Lack Plenty of Action and Excitement

(By King Saunders)

The American Legion boxing card staged at Hooker's Fight Arena last Monday night was a huge success from every standpoint.

The colorful and enthusiastic crowd of approximately eleven hundred fans overflowed the bleachers and seating space, and before the gong sounded for the first bout, the "Standing Room Only" sign was hung up.

There were ten 3-round bouts on the card and all the boys stepped out and showed their wares in such a style that turned the highly expectant spectator into a mob of wildly cheering, listic fans. The manly art of cauliflowering ears seems to have struck their fancy and the Legion is going far in trying to supply this form of amusement.

The first bout between Heise and Gill proved to be a fast and entertaining opener. In a last minute spurt, Gill came out with some nice work and sewed the match up.

Snider and Bolton in the second match, gave us fine an exhibition of boxing as the entire card had to offer. They didn't hesitate to mix it up and they thrilled the crowd with their punching ability. Standing toe to toe and exchanging blows freely; they put on three rounds of good fast boxing. This match, no doubt, was the most exciting of the show.

In the next bout MacCarthy and Scott went three rounds to a draw in an interesting match. This was followed by Covenough of Petoskey and Weeks of Boyne City, who gave an exhibition of fast work. The men being well matched stirred up a lot of action and it is was a whiz from start to finish.

In the Houghts and Crandall go the Petoskey man gave weight to Crandall but proved to be equal to the occasion. They boxed to a draw through three rounds of plenty of action.

"Bulldog" Allen and Stub Russell in the sixth turn, started at the bell

(Continued on Page 8)

BIRTHDAY PARTY FOR MRS. MEARS

Friends Gathered to Help Her Celebrate Occasion

Friends of Mrs. Robert Mears surprised her at her home on State street Monday evening, the occasion being her birthday anniversary.

The guest played cards early in the evening, after which a pot luck lunch was served. Among those present were Mrs. C. Shaw, Mrs. A. Sherman, Mrs. R. Sinclair, Mrs. R. M. Porter, Mrs. O. V. Schmidt, Mrs. Peterson, Mrs. A. McNeil, Mrs. A. Pfister and Mrs. Ed. Scott.

[illegible] of the Methodist Ladies' Aid Club will hold a furniture Sale, in building next to Heller Gulf Station on Saturday April 2nd.—Adv. 13-1t.

On his Monday [illegible] Ware.—Adv. 13-1t.

WINTER SPORTS GAINED IMPETUS

MESSRS. YOUNG AND McHUGH GIVE INTERESTING REPORT

Show Charlevoix May Become Famous Wintering Place—Committees Report

Meeting in special session last Friday evening in the council rooms, the Charlevoix Association of Commerce with, thirty-five members and others in attendance, listened with great interest to the report of Earl Young and D. T. McHugh on their trip to Lake Placid, N. Y.

The meeting was called to order promptly at 8 o'clock by Charles H. Emrey, president, and in the absence of Robert Bridge, F. E. Cartier, acted as secretary. Two letters relative to the matter of making a state park of state owned property lying south of Charlevoix on Lake Michigan shore were read, as was also one from the conservation commission relative to a petition for a game warden at Charlevoix and others referring to summer newspaper advertising.

Clarence Wood, chairman of the fish and game committee, reported that applications for fish fry had been sent to the department of conservation and favorable replies received with an assurance that this territory would be well stocked this season. F. E. Cartier, speaking for the yacht committee, reported favorable progress on a Charlevoix-Mackinac race for Q-R type sail boats. If this plan is carried through, these smaller type boats will leave Chicago at the same time of the annual Chicago-Mackinac race, only they will have Charlevoix as their destination and be here for the annual Lake Charlevoix regatta.

J. J. Hallett, who recently returned from a winter spent in western states, gave an interesting report on his trip and conditions as he found them in California. "Joe" says California is a wonderful place, the only trouble being that there was no ice fishing.

In making their report on the Lake Placid trip, Messrs. Young and McHugh used a stereoptican picture machine, showing around a hundred photographs taken while in that famous winter resort. Views of various forms of winter entertainment were shown and explained in detail, as were also the ski slides, toboggan slides and other amusements features. The enthusiasm with which the citizens of Lake Placid enter into entertaining their winter visitors was most outstanding. The spirit of Winter sports is reflected in their dress, store and street decorations and every citizen of the town takes an active part in this form of amusement for a short time each day. In other words they are sold on winter sports themselves and one cannot possibly feel at home unless taking a part themselves. That the occupation is profitable was very evident from the prosperous appearance of the town's business district and the number of large hotels necessary to furnish accommodations for winter visitors.

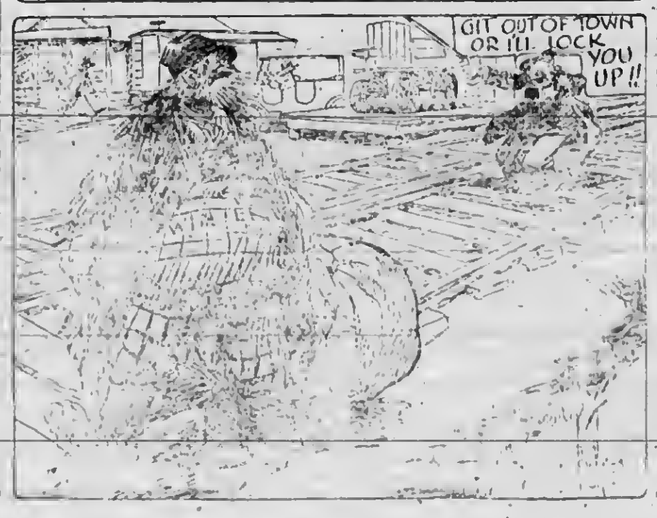
Various pieces of literature, programs, schedules, pamphlets, etc., gathered on the trip were shown association members by Messrs. Young and McHugh, who also pointed out that as far as geographic location is concerned, Charlevoix's was the same as that of Lake Placid, and with the exception of mountain scenery, Charlevoix is on a par with the famous eastern winter place. A general discussion which ensued showed that Charlevoix Association of Commerce members were very much alive to our possibilities as a winter resort and plans for next winter's program gained considerable impetus.

"Quality goes in before the name goes on" Paints sold at Staley Bros. Hardware.—Adv. 13-1t.

AMERICAN LEGION ENDORSES UNIT BUILDING PLAN

[illegible] meeting held Thursday evening of last week, members of [illegible] Post No. 22[illegible] placed their endorsement on the proposed unit building plan [illegible] by the joint committee, and will help [illegible] the proposition at the [illegible] election [illegible], and we hope similar [illegible] of the city.

The Vagrant



CORRESPONDENCE

BARNARD

Our high school boys and girls are enjoying their spring vacation at home.

Miss Violet Dodd of Charlevoix, visited Anna Gurnell over the week end.

Robert Matchett and family entertained their relatives from Kingsley on Sunday.

Mrs. Henry Walker is at home from the hospital and is recovering nicely from her operation.

Mr. Ricksger of Alden, Michigan visited his sister, Mrs. Dhaseleer, one day last week. He has just returned from the West, where he has been since last July.

The Ladies' Aid meets next Wednesday with Mrs. Martin Block in Charlevoix instead of with Mrs. A J. Bolhuis as announced before.

Our teacher reports that he has some bright pupils in the school When asked in hygiene test how milk is pasturized, one pupil answered: "Turn the cows out to pasture."

The community social meeting last Friday evening was attended by about one hundred people, some being from Ellsworth and Charlevoix. Everyone enjoyed the program, especially the number by the young men's quartette. Other games and stunts were played and the Boys' and Girls' Pig Club had an exhibit of their stock. In this contest Dennie Bloomfield and Carlton Smith won first prizes. The committee on the "eats" are to be commended on the fine supper provided, making the evening one to be remembered.

I have combined my battery and tire repair shop and will give all car owners the service that they are looking for. Benj. Brown. -Adv. 10-tf.

NORWOOD

Mrs. Hoogerhyde and son, Arthur, visited at the Jones home.

Mr. and Mrs. Algie Porter and family of Ellsworth, visited at the Greeley home Sunday afternoon.

Mrs. Wm. Abel entertained the L. A. S. Wednesday afternoon. Plans were made to serve dinner election day, Monday, April 4th, in Norwood.

Mr. and Mrs. C. F. Board of Petoskey, called on Mr. and Mrs. I. L. Dice Sunday afternoon. Mrs. Dice returned home with them for a few days visit this week.

Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Boomstra and son, Wilbur, have returned to Grand Rapids, after attending the funeral of Mrs. Boomstra's mother, Mrs. Haskins, on Thursday.

Mr. and Mrs. J. O. Hess, Mrs. Rilla Strickler and daughter, Mildred, and John Feichter attended the funeral of their aunt, Mrs. Haskins, last Thursday. After visiting their brother and wife, Mr. and Mrs. I. L. Dice, they returned to their home at South Bend, Ind., on Saturday.

Our aim is to please you with Willard Batteries and Goodyear tires. Benj. Brown.—Adv. 10tf.

CLARION

C. E. Geyer was quite ill last week.

Dan Moreau has purchased a Pontiac sedan.

N. C. Griswold went to Grand Rapids on Friday.

Mrs. Marie Hull gave a card party on Saturday evening.

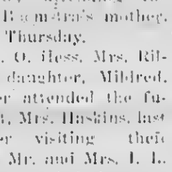
The Ladies' Aid met at the home of Mrs. J. C. Hass, on Thursday afternoon.

Mrs. Frank Lake returned last week from Petoskey, where she had been for a couple of weeks.

Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Mizer of Mancelona, came up Friday to attend the funeral services for George Brown.

Mrs. Reinhard Kalbfleisch was called to Grand Rapids last week by the illness of her daughter, Mrs. Bert Northouse.

Mr. and Mrs. Dan Moreau, Derwin Banks and sister, Dorene, and Roland VanCamp drove to Traverse City on Sunday.



Fine for catarrh when melted in a spoon or snuffed up the nose and vapors inhaled.

Head and Chest Colds Relieved In a New Way

A Salve which Releases Medicated Vapors when Applied Over Throat and Chest.

Inhaled as a vapor and, at the same time absorbed through the skin like a liniment, Vicks VapoRub reaches immediately inflamed, congested air passages.

This is the modern direct treatment for all cold troubles that is proving so popular in Canada and the States where over 17 million jars are now used yearly.

Splendid for sore throat, tonsilitis, bronchitis, croup, head and chest colds, catarrh, a llama or hay fever.

Just rub Vicks over throat and chest and inhale the medicated vapors. It quickly loosens up a cold.

VICKS VAPORUB

OVER 21 MILLION JARS USED YEARLY

Why Children Need Breakfasts that "Stand By"

80% of the Day's Important School Work Falls in 4 Morning Hours, Noted Educator Reveals

ARE you letting listless mornings, brought on largely by wrong breakfasts, handicap your child's school work?

Recent investigations, conducted in over 2,000 American schools and colleges, reveal 80% of the so-called "hard" studies as falling in the morning. This percentage is confirmed by Prof. Willard, of Northwestern University, and other leading educators.

Thus Quaker Oats breakfasts, providing the excellent food balance of protein, carbohydrates, vitamines and the "bulk" to make laxatives seldom needed are being urged as a duty of parents in protecting their children's most important working hours. No other cereal grown compares in food balance.

Serve every morning. Their rich Quaker flavor makes them savory and enticing ... delicious breakfasts that yet "stand by" one. Get either Quick Quaker, which cooks in 2½ to 5 minutes, or regular Quaker Oats today at your grocer's.

Quaker Oats

Mrs. Kate Hull and Mrs. Margaret Kelly attended the meeting of the Federation Club at Boyne City on Thursday afternoon.

[illegible] Brown [illegible]

[illegible] Fourth [illegible]

[illegible] Mrs. Cleveland [illegible]

[illegible] Mrs. Brown [illegible]

[illegible] Mrs. Brown [illegible]

[illegible] Mrs. Brown

ALABASTER LAMPS

by Margaret Turnbull.

(Chapter Twelve Continued)

Claude Dabbs laughed, and put his big hand over Mary's little one. "Just you listen to me, my Mary, and let Polly alone. The devil himself couldn't make Polly look at me."

"Wait and see. Maybe what the devil can't do, Mary can."

But Claude was saying: "I'm to have you for tonight, daughter, and tomorrow if there's anything to be done, toward making Polly look at me." He changed the subject, keeping Mary busy heeding him Italian words to say to the waiters and the gondolier.

Not for a moment suggesting a grocery background, was waiting at the landing. His eyes made Mary happy, furious and shy. It was ridiculous, but she could not seem to help it.

The dinner, whether owing to Ned or Claude Mary could not really tell which, they both seemed such capable, competent men, was delicious. Their table was decorated with flowers, which always seem doubly rare and precious in Venice. Her two men, Mary felt, were the most distinguished in the room. The two men were equally sure that she was the most attractive girl in the world.

After dinner, and coffee in the lounge, they went up to Claude's sitting room to talk and smoke. It was a happy evening. In the presence of his daughter, Claude was at his best. Ned, reveling in the fact that Mary was noting every shade of her father's feeling for him, drew Claude out for his daughter's sake.

When "the loveliest evening," as Mary told her father, was over and Cinderella Mary must fly home, Ned remembered that Claude had never once called him Rangeley that evening. What a night and a moon to explain under!

He admitted, cheerily, that he was ready to take upon his shoulders the duty of seeing Mary home, suggesting that it would be safer for both Mary and Claude. Mary simply slipped her hand into her father's and looked at him. Ned's arguments were as nothing.

"I guess we'll risk that, my boy, if Mary is" he said Claude.

Ned stood on the landing steps and watched them move away. Mary had agreed to meet Claude at the Accademia at three the next afternoon. As Claude turned to direct the gondolier, Ned had whispered:

"Come twenty minutes earlier for me."

But as the gondola moved away, he wasn't sure that Mary had heard him.

When she had said good night, at the doorway of his Royal Danieli, Mary found it was later than she thought and with a little apprehensive feeling went directly to her own room.

There was a light still burning in Polly's room, and reluctantly Mary opened the door between their rooms and looked in.

"Come in, Mary," called her mother.

Polly was sitting up in bed, reading, or pretending to read, and before Mary could scold her for reading after a headache, Polly began:

"To save trouble, Mary, and to avoid unnecessary conversation, you were not with the Farleys tonight. They all went to bed an hour ago, and in the hall I heard young Farley asking his mother where you were and why you did not dine with them tonight."

Mary looked at her mother, for half a second without speaking. She had not expected to be caught quite so soon.

Watch Elimination!

Good Health Depends Upon Good Elimination.

RETENTION of bodily waste in the blood is called a "toxic condition." This often gives rise to a dull, languid feeling and, sometimes, toxic backaches and headaches. That the kidneys are not functioning properly is often shown by burning or scanty passage of secretions. Thousands have learned to assist their kidneys by drinking plenty of pure water and the occasional use of a stimulant diuretic. 50,000 users give Doan's signed endorsement. Ask your neighbor!

DOAN'S PILLS 60c

Stimulant Diuretic to the Kidneys

Foster-Milburn Co., Mfg. Chem., Buffalo, N. Y.

"I went to Father's hotel, and dined with him and Mr Carter." The whole truth seemed what the situation called for.

Polly Johnston gasped and leaned forward. She had gotten more than she bargained for. "Your father! Claude Dabbs?"

"Yes," said Mary demurely. "I like him tremendously, Mother."

"How long have you known him to like him tremendously?"

"Since the day before we left New York. I met him in the druggist's and

"Mary, Was It Claude Who Told You to Keep Me in Ignorance?"

went in his hotel there, the Langdon, and—"

"Mary! Was it Claude who told you to keep me in ignorance?"

"Oh no, Mother. I thought you might not like my knowing him. But I simply had to—Father doesn't like secrecy a bit. He wants to take care of us both."

"How like Claude," Polly sneered. "Take care of us both behind the grocery shop, I suppose."

"Oh Mother! How can you? He seems perfectly capable of taking care of any number of people. I trust him."

"I do not," her mother snapped. "We'll leave tomorrow."

Mary rose to go to bed and looked at her mother. To Polly Johnston, Mary seemed suddenly older, and different. Who shall say how little, or how much, a kiss may alter a maiden's character and outlook on life?

"Mother, I won't run away again. If you can't stay and face facts and Father you will have to leave me behind to do it."

There was a long look between those who had been mother and daughter only a moment ago, and were now two women of different ages measuring each other like opponents.

It was Polly who spoke first, and though her voice was not raised, Mary shivered, for never had her mother spoken like that before. "Very well then, we stay. You can see all you want of your father, openly."

"And you?"

Polly Johnston laughed. "You are not the only one who can keep a secret." She pushed the canopy aside and reached for a telegraph blank and her fountain-pen on the table beside her bed. "I shall wire Loren Rangeley in Paris, tonight."

"Loren Rangeley in Paris?" Mary went white, started to speak again and turned away.

Polly Johnston, beginning to write her message, looked up eagerly to see if the girl would weaken. It was the first time they had ever pitted their wills against each other, and it was distinctly unpleasant. She wished to Heaven they had not started this, or that the child would give in, instead of standing there white and desperate.

Mother," Mary was facing her, and though there were tears behind her eyes, her voice was steady. "You know I hate Loren Rangeley. He's the coldest, hardest man I know and if you or even divorce my father to marry him for his money. I'll try to feel the same toward you, Mother, but I never will."

She was gone. The door closed behind her before Polly could get to her feet. She started to follow her, and then stood still, breathing fast. What could she do? If she refused Loren Rangeley and his money, what had she to fall back on but C. M. Dabbs?

That night Mary cried herself to sleep.

CHAPTER XIII

In the morning, having breakfasted in their respective rooms, as was their custom, Mary, dressed for the street, came to her mother's door.

At the sight of Mary's pale face Polly's heart misgave her. She knew that her own face was pale too, but she was able to say, in the coldest of tones: "If you have made any plan to meet your father this morning, I will not interfere."

"No," Mary answered in a tone equally tireless. "We are to meet at half-past three o'clock, at The Accademia."

"In that case, suppose you go to the church of San Rocco this morning at 11 o'clock to see the Grand Madonna there, and we can walk."

It had all the appearance of a pleasantly idle morning. Then Polly ordered her bath, she was dressed. The Polly Johnston, who could assume at any moment the perfect poise of the world, into the face behind the mask of which no human being could penetrate, realized the terrible gentleness might break to a middle-aged woman who had not looked ahead or contemplated it. A hundred times that morning Polly was ready to cry quarter; ready for any compromise that would leave her her Mary.

Claude Dabbs might have guessed something of Polly's plight and, been sorry. He had fought his own fight, and come through it whole, like the sturdy soul he was. Had Polly but known it, here, in Venice, was a Claude who was actuated by no small, revengeful feelings, but moved only by a real and very friendly desire to help, and also to share Mary. But Polly, shuddering at the thought of lonely years without Mary's companionship, turned away with equal disgust from the thought of sharing Mary, and the grocery shop, with Claude.

How could Mary conceive that her mother, so long distrustful and scornful of any emotion save the maternal, could turn with relief to the thought of cold, circumspect Loren Rangeley, as contrasted with Claude she remembered. Claude represented to Polly all the primitive emotions, with the disagreeable background of a shop. Not having seen Claude for twenty odd years, she created an image of a fat, middle-aged grocer with the uncontrolled emotions of a young man. Always there was that shop in the background, and the image caused her to shudder.

"If you wish to dine with your father tonight, I shall not object," she said to Mary as they turned toward the hotel and luncheon.

"Be reasonable, Mother," Mary pleaded. "Don't make me feel I've lost my mother because I've found my father."

Having made up her mind, Polly was able to carry things through gaily. "I'm afraid it will work out that way, but, of course, I've nothing to do with it."

"You have everything!" protested Mary vehemently. "It's all in your hands. Don't you see that Father—well, he just can't—unless you give some sign."

Polly's laugh did not ring pleasantly in her daughter's ears. "Claude Dabbs has been stalling his case rather cleverly, I see."

Mary stood still on the bridge leading to their hotel, regardless of the crowd of, chattering, staring Italians who were passing by. "Oh Mother, you don't get Father at all. He doesn't think he has any case. He thinks he must leave it to you. He feels he can't bring himself to your attention, Mother, it's awfully—delicate of him. You must see that."

"I only see that he is taking you from me, and I can see neither delicacy, nor any other evidence of good feeling in the process. Since it has to be endured, I'll endure, but I'm not kissing the hand that deals the blow. You will please discontinue the discussion, as long as you are in public, unless you can control yourself."

For the hundredth time that day poor Mary wondered why it was that those who loved one most, could, and did, so surely wound one. "I wasn't really going to cry, but if you will pretend to look at the boats for a moment, I'll pull myself together."

With the pulling together process, Mary hardened her heart. If Mother was going to shut her out completely, she could not, of course, confide in Mother. Ordinarily she might have told her mother a little, if not quite all, about Ned Carter, especially as she had remembered thus late in the day Dorothy Selden's warning. Mary would like to know now just what it was Dorothy had hinted. But Polly Johnston barred every avenue of approach, and continued to keep the bars up during luncheon. So Mary went to the Accademia twenty minutes early, with mutiny in her heart.

Ned stood waiting in the doorway. His face was turned from her as she alighted from her gondola, and Mary had time to study it.

It was extraordinary, the effect this man had upon her. She did not like it. She was used to men, and to their attentions. Why should this good looking grocer's assistant stir her in this manner? For one moment she contemplated flight. The next moment she rejected the thought as cowardly. Ned caught sight of her, and the look on his face revealed to Mary the extent to which this young man was enamored. Along with all the other emotions, she felt a sudden sense of power.

"Anything wrong?" Ned inquired, scanning her face anxiously.

"Everything! Where can we go and talk quietly until Father comes?"

"We could take a gondola."

"No! We could not!"

"Oh I say," Ned began.

Mary interrupted. "I simply won't [illegible]

(Continued on page 7.)

AUCTION SALE

The undersigned will sell at their farm, located 6 1-2 miles north of East Jordan or about 3 miles southeast of Ironton Ferry, on

Thursday, April 7

Commencing at 1:00 o'clock fast time, the following property:

Gray Mare, 9 yrs. old, wt. 1300
Black Mare, 10 yrs. old, wt. 1170
Jersey Cow, 7 yrs. old, fresh Dec. 4
Jersey and Durham Cow, 7 yrs. old, fresh Dec. 24
Holstein Cow, fresh May 1st
Guernsey and Jersey Bull, 1 yr. old
Holstein Heifer, 10 months old
Durham Heifer calf, 1 month old
Brood Sow
3 Shoats wt. about 150 lbs. each
Mitts & Mule Plow
Set Harrows
Riding Cultivator 2 5-tooth Cultivators
Farm Wagon, 1 inch tire
Double Wagon Box Farm Drill
Disc Harrow, large size
Metal to Metal Heavy Farm Harness
DeLaval Cream Seperator, No. 12
Garden Drill Grind Stone
Hay Rack Set Eveners
About 5 tons Loose Alfalfa Hay
Light Farm Wagon Cross-Cut Saw
Steel Truck Wagon
Set Cutter, Sleigh & Lumber Sleighs
Hay Rake
Deering, McCormick Mower, new Large Grind Stone
2 5-tooth Cultivators
Light Driving Harness Work Harness
Set Platform Scales, 650 lbs. capacity
2 Fireless Brooders
Thermo Water Fountain, 5 gallons
Root Cutter, for Poultry
Hay Rake Large Scalding Kettle
5 Gallon Potato Sprayer 2 Cream Cans
2 Set Wiffle Trees and Eveners
5 1-2 foot Cross Cut Saw
Steel Gasoline Barrel
Garden Cultivator Set Dump Boards
Potato Scoop Hay Knife
10 Hens, R. I. Reds
About 20 bushels of Carrots
About 25 bushels Early Potatoes
About 25 bushels Late Petoskey Seed Potatoes
Forks, Hoes, Shovels, Chains and other articles too numerous to mention.

TERMS OF SALE

All sums of $10.00 or under cash, all sums over $10.00; 8 month's time will be given on good approved, bankable paper, bearing 7 per cent interest payable at the People's State Savings Bank, East Jordan, Mich. 5 per cent discount for cash on all sums over $10.00. No goods to be removed until terms of sale are complied with.

Albert and Ernest Staley, Props.

WALTER CORNEAL, Clerk BYERS & BOSS, Auctioneers.

AUCTION SALE

The undersigned will sell at Public Auction at his farm, located 6 miles north of Charlevoix, just off M-11 at Burgess corners, on

Tuesday, April 5th

Commencing at 10:00 a. m., the following described property:

Team, own brother and sister, wt. 3200
Two first-class Grade Cows, due to freshen in May and June.
Two Yearling Heifers.
Heavy Lumber Wagon, like new Pair Light Sleighs
DeLaval Cream Separator
Deering Mower, 6 foot cut, new
John Deer two-way Plow
McCormick Binder
Hay Rake Stock Rack
Walking Plow 2 Spring Lever Drags
Riding Cultivator
2 one-horse Cultivators
Bean Puller Fanning Mill
Root Cutter Iron Kettle
About 100 Bushels of Oats
About 50 bushels Sweet Clover Seed
Peddle Grindstone and Sickle Grinder
Range Stove Heating Stove
2 Sets Double Harness
Material for 50 Potato Crates
6 tons Bailed Hay.
Mission Parlor Suite, like new
3-piece Bedroom Suite.
Combination bookcase and writing Desk
Sideboard Kitchen Cabinet
Stark Victrola
Extension Table
Cant Hooks, Shovels, Chains and many other articles too numerous to mention.

FREE LUNCH AT NOON

TERMS OF SALE

All sums of $10.00 or under, cash; on all sums over $10.00, 8 month's time will be given on good, approved, bankable paper, bearing interest at 7 per cent payable at the Charlevoix County Bank. 5 per cent discount for cash on all sums over $10.00. All settlements must be made before goods are removed.

Wm. Gregory, Prop.

EUGENE E. STROUD, Clerk. J. COLE, Auctioneer.
ROBERT BRIDGE, Note Clerk.

LAKE CHARLEVOIX THEIR CAMP SITE

SPEAK WORDS OF PRAISE FOR NEW LOCATION

Kamp Kairphree Will Be Located on Former D'Ooge Farm After 1927 Season

The following article was taken from the 1927 booklet, issued by the directors of Kamp Kairphree, which, for the past five years has been located near Alpena, Mich. The camp is in charge of Mr. and Mrs. George R. Swain of Ann Arbor, and, after the 1927 summer season will make its permanent home on the shores of Lake Charlevoix on what was formerly the D'Ooge farm. Their description of the new camp site is a credit to beautiful Lake Charlevoix, and we welcome them, believing that no better selection for a camp site could be made. Their article follows:

"Because of the impossibility of obtaining a reasonably long lease of this site, the directors have been compelled to find some other location. After considerable search, they take pleasure in announcing that for the permanent home of Kamp Kairphree they have acquired a tract of 161 acres on the north shore of Lake Charlevoix (Pine Lake), seven miles from Charlevoix and eleven from Boyne City. This tract is made up of fields, orchards, forest, and a wooded shore frontage of five-eighths of a mile, rising in natural terraces to a height of about 70 feet above the beach before open fields begin.

"Lake Charlevoix is a beautiful body of water with a shore line of something like 125 miles. It has a navigable steamer channel opening directly into Lake Michigan at Charlevoix, so that the new site is directly accessible to Great Lakes motor and sail boats.

"Charlevoix itself may be reached by direct fine automobile roads, by excellent resort special trains from many points south, and (during the summer) by commodious daily passenger steamers from Chicago.

"The tents of the camp will be placed on a natural terrace next to the shore, each with its own unobstructed outlook on the lake. On a second natural terrace 25 feet higher, up back of the tents and overlooking them, will be the new Lodge, a building more than twice the length of the present Lodge with separate dining and living rooms.

"Directly adjacent to tents and Lodge are over 50 acres of dense forest, mostly beech, maple and birch, but with some hemlock. The camp will have, on its own grounds, an athletic field with abundant room for base ball, volley ball, tennis, etc. The adjacent country is diversified with hills, valleys, and forest with narrow wandering roads fascinating for horseback riders to explore.

"Lake Charlevoix gives unexcelled opportunity for water sports and its waters are enough warmer than those of Lake Huron to make bathing and swimming more of a joy than ever.

"True, the much loved pines of Kamp Kairphree will be missed by those who have known them, but all things considered, the directors are confident that the attractions and advantages of the new site make it far superior to the old location. And in June, 1928, they hope to meet many old friends, as well as greet many new ones, at the opening of the new Kamp Kairphree in its permanent home."

DO IT NOW

---A---

NEW CAR FOR YOUR OLD CAR

The Latest Finishes

Have your good car refinished with

Duco Lacquers or
Nitro the High gloss
Egyptian Varnishes

ATCHISON AUTO SHOP

Phone 93 - 204 Mason St.

Brighten Your Home With Fresh Cut Flowers
—OR—
Blooming Plants
Flowers for all occasions

A. E. EDWARDS
FLORIST
We're as near as your telephone

CHANGES MADE ON CITY FIRE TRUCK

Trailer Dispensed With and Box Provided for Hose

The general redecorating and improvements at the court house have not been entirely confined to the offices in that building as will be seen the next time the city fire truck has occasion to make its appearance on the streets.

During the past week several improvements have been made on the fire truck. Chemical tanks formerly located at the rear of the machine have been moved in behind the drivers seat so they may be operated without his climbing down and going around to the rear of the truck. In place of the tanks a large box with a capacity of 1,000 feet of 2½ inch hose has been contracted, thus dispensing with the trailer which was a considerable nuisance, it being difficult to back the truck with a trailer fastened behind. Besides the hose box, two baskets will hold 700 feet of 1½ inch hose and 300 feet of chemical hose.

ALFALFA WILL CUT COUNTY FEED BILL

Statistics Compiled By Blue Valley Creamery Institute

The $84,024 spent annually by Charlevoix county farmers as part of Michigan's $14,599,000 yearly feed bill, can be reduced to a mere fraction of that amount if the farmers in this country will plant alfalfa this spring, according to the Blue Valley Creamery Institute.

The average farm in this section has less than 2.5 acres in alfalfa and more than 11 acres in less profitable forage crops. Alfalfa is yielding 2.27 tons to the acre, the others only one ton. Data compiled by the institute's chemists show that one acre of alfalfa produces as much protein as three acres of clover or nine acres of timothy.

The scarcity of farm produced protein is costing Michigan farmers millions of dollars a year. Even after piling on every cost item such as labor, fertilizer, seed, taxes and interest on the land, it has been found that by growing alfalfa protein can be "produced at home" for one-third its cost in certain purchased feeds. It was the striking increase in profits on average farms growing alfalfa which led the institute to undertake the establishment of 10,000 Acre Alfalfa Clubs throughout the Mississippi Valley, in cooperation with leading farmers, bankers and business men. The institute's experts estimate that one of these clubs increases the returns from the farms in the community where it is established by $300,000.

Our garage, battery and tire shop is at your service. Benj. Brown.—

FARMER HELD ON SERIOUS CHARGE

Claim He Shot at Boys in Redmond Township. Must Stand Trial

John Masney, Polish farmer of Readmond township, is in the Emmet county jail waiting trial in the circuit court on two serious charges. He is charged by Jay G. Cone with shooting at him with a shotgun, and by Chester Cone with assault with a deadly weapon.

Bond was fixed at $10,000 by Judge William Harris and the man's family is now endeavoring to secure bondsmen. It is alleged the man attacked the two boys, near his home.—Petoskey Evening News.

Will Build New Bath Houses

A. I. Creamer, manager of The Inn hotel, has announced plans to erect a new bath house to replace the old pavilion, which was torn down last fall. The new structure will be about forty feet long, attractive in design, and modern. It will be located at the north end of the Inn park, near the old pier.

Christian Science Society

Sunday service 10:45 a. m.
Subject, "Unreality."
Sunday school at 12 o'clock.
Wednesday evening service 7:45.
Reading room open Tuesday and Saturday, 3 to 5 p. m.
The public is cordially invited to attend our service.

Coming April 4th

Monday, April 4th, is the date when Dr. Lealey, the Optometrist, will be at the Hotel Charlevoix, one day only. Headache, dizziness, nervousness, cross-eyed and all other symptoms of eye-strain corrected. —Adv. 12-t2.

France has recently installed a billion candlepower light near Paris that can be seen for 90 miles. Can it be they are trying to throw a little light on their debt-paying program?

P. T. A. MEETING WELL ATTENDED

State President Gave An Interesting Talk

The Parent-Teachers' Association met in the high school assembly room last Wednesday evening, March 23rd. An unusually large and interested crowd was in attendance.

The meeting was presided over by the vice president, Miss Bigge. After the reading of the minutes of the last meeting by the secretary, and singing by the entire audience, the high school band, under the leadership of Mr. TerWee, played several numbers concluding with "America." This was followed by some vocal numbers by the fourth grade.

The chairman then introduced Mrs. Raymond, president of the state P. T. A., who gave a most interesting and inspiring address. Mrs. Raymond expressed her appreciation of the music rendered by the high school band and highly commended the parents and patrons of the Charlevoix public schools for giving this splendid opportunity to their boys. In her address, Mrs. Raymond said: "The love of children is the common tie which should unite us in holiest purpose." She then went on to tell how, that only through such organizations as a P. T. A. could the best be accomplished for our schools and our children, and thus could the things of the school be brought back to the home.

At the close of the meeting punch and wafers were served, during which time the high school band entertained with several numbers.

Easter Candies and Imported Easter Novelties for the Kiddies at Holley Gift Shop.—Adv. 13-t3.

HOSPITAL NOTES

Valdemar Peterson of Boyne, submitted to an operation at the hospital last Tuesday.

Mrs. G. A. Lafave of East Jordan, submitted to an operation for removal of goiter on Wednesday of this week.

Mrs. Ness Tillotson was operated on for removal of goiter Sunday, and is doing very well at this time.

Wilma See, Pearl Smith and Roy Stafford has their tonsils removed at the hospital Sunday.

Mrs. Earl Richards of Bellaire, submitted to an operation Sunday.

Mrs. A. T. Jeffrey had her tonsils removed Wednesday.

Mrs. Martin Peterson and baby son returned to their home last Friday.

CONGREGATIONAL CHURCH

B. G. Mattson, D. D., Minister

Morning worship at 10:30, the pastor continuing the series of sermons on "The Mastery of Jesus"—with the special topic, "Jesus' Mastery of Spiritual Truth."

The Sunday school meets at noon. The attendance last Sunday was the highest for the year.

6:00 p. m., young people's church service hour. Leader, Maxwell Novak. The pastor will continue the question forum on the subject, "The Church a Society of the Friends of Jesus." All friends of youth and any visitors are cordially invited to this service.

Ironton service at 2:30. The regular Sunday school sessions will be resumed with this Sunday beginning the second quarter of the year. Sunday school session lasts 40 minutes, followed by devotional and preaching service of thirty minutes. Visitors always welcome. Roads are fine good.

Clubs to Hold Joint Meeting

The Dickens Club, Shakespeare Club, Sacred Altar Society, and the W. C. T. U. appointed members to a joint civic committee several weeks ago to study the condition of our parks, wayside trees, etc. The high school auditorium has been secured for a meeting at 2:30 p. m., Saturday, April 2nd. All members of the cooperative societies are invited to be present and hear the report and recommendations of the committee.

On Detroit Times Team

Alfred Jones, Harold Jones, Martin Halverson, Marshall Ackert and Pete Bacot, local boys playing on the Detroit Times basketball team during the past season, won second place in the Basketball Recreational League tournament held recently in Flint, according to an issue of the Detroit Times, date Sunday, March 27th.

Married at Harbor Springs

Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Flanders announce the marriage of their daughter, Ida, to Leslie Donald Welsheimer, of Harbor Springs, which occurred in that city Sunday, March 27. Miss Flanders is well known in Charlevoix, having attended the local high school for some time. The young couple will make their home in Harbor Springs.

Courier Want Ads. pay.

Ladies Sport Coats

For this Spring and Summer we are showing some very smart Sport Coats with or without fur collars that are very reasonably priced. A practical coat for this season's wear.

We will be pleased to have you look them over.

$20.00 to $50.00

M. A. Levinson & Co.

AUCTION SALE

Of Household Good

The undersigned will sell at Public Auction at her home, 209 Park avenue, Charlevoix, Michigan, on

Saturday, April 9

Commencing at 10 a. m., sharp, the following described property:

Dining Room Suite, fumed oak
Buffet
Round Dining Table with 2 leaves
6 Leather-Bottom Chairs
Leather-bottom Arm Chair
Small Oak Serving Table
Small Table, Ivory finish
6 Kitchen Chairs Sewing Table
2 small Light Oak Tables
6 Rocking Chairs Two Office Chairs
2 Large Mahogany Desks
2 Ivory Enameled Dressers
Chiffonier Desk Top
2 Stands
2 4-post Ivory Beds, with Box Springs and mattresses
7 Ivory single Beds with springs and mattresses
Baby Bed Day Bed with Mattress
Desk Lamp 2 Table Lamps
Number of Pictures
Number Rolls for Player Piano
5 small Ivory Wall Mirrors
Large Ivory Mirror
100 Novels of late fiction
Several pairs of Pillows
Bedding, Linen, Mattress Covers
Hoover Vacuum Carpet Sweeper
2 large 9x12 Congoleum Rugs
Black Bear Rug Five Wool Rugs
Five Porch Rugs Porch Swings
Number of Porch Chairs 2 Linen Boxes
Singer Sewing Machine
Wicker Bird Cage with Stand
2 Boat Compasses Boat Lantern
Round Oak Steel Range
Five Burner New Process Oil Stove with Oven
Extra Oil Stove Oven
Some China Dishes Cooking Utensils
Number of Chinese Lanterns
Mounted Deer Head
Mounted Alligator
Garden Tools Paints, Oils
Other articles too numerous to mention.

The above list contains a lot of almost new furniture, Rugs, Bedding, Etc., and every article will be sold.

TERMS OF SALE

All sums of $10.00 or under, cash; all sums over $10.00, eight month's time, on good approved, endorsed bankable paper bearing interest at 7 per cent, payable at the Charlevoix County Bank.

Mrs. Grace Oldham, Prop.

H. J. TIMMER, Clerk.
BOBT. BRIDGE, Note Clerk.

BYERS & BOS,
Auctioneers.

METHODIST CHURCH

Next Sunday's sermons:
"Please"—10:30 a. m. worship.
"The Call"—7:00 p. m. worship.

Another pleasant and profitable Sunday evening service is planned for next Sunday, with exquisite pictures, orchestra, special vocal music and sermon.

The prayer meetings of the week are at the usual hours. Young people's meeting for prayer and discussion, Tuesday evening for one half hour at seven. The general church prayer meeting is Thursday evening at 7:30 for one hour. All are invited to attend these well attended services.

Dr. J. O. Randall, District Superintendent of Grand Traverse District pleased and inspired a fine congregation of people last Sunday morning with his great message of Gospel leadership.

Card of Thanks

We wish to thank our friends and neighbors for their many acts of kindness and sympathy shown during the illness and at the time of death of our beloved mother, also for the many beautiful floral offerings.

Sons and daughters of Mrs. Haskins.—Adv. 13-t1.

STALEY BROS. HARDWARE

Spring Time is Clean Up Time. This means you will need

PAINTS VARNISHES
KALSOMINE BRUSHES RAKES HOES
FORKS SHOVELS

Make a list of what you want in garden seed—we can take cars of your wants.

Quality Merchandise—Reasonable Prices
Courteous Treatment

STALEY BROS. HARDWARE

228 Bridge St. Phone No. 86

WE DELIVER

THE OLDEST BANK IN CHARLEVOIX COUNTY
FORTY-THIRD YEAR IN BUSINESS

1884 1927

Think of That Savings Passbook--- in your inside pocket once in awhile—and you can always look the world squarely "in the eye."

If you haven't an account with us we have a passbook all ready to put your name on. Why not step in and claim it today?

Charlevoix County Bank

CHARLEVOIX, MICHIGAN

Bridge & Company

THE BANK ON THE CORNER

LOCAL NEWS BRIEFLY TOLD

Get the Habit—Read the Courier

COMMUNITY CALENDAR
Coming Events

April 1. "An Evening With the Radio." High School Auditorium. 7:45 p. m.

April 10-17. Holy week services at First Methodist church.

April 17. Easter Cantata. Baptist church. 4 p. m.

April 17. Easter Sunday.

Chas. Novak made a business trip to Lansing Monday.

James Wyers, Jr. was in Mancelona today on business.

Chas. Emrey was a business caller in Boyne City, Friday.

Mrs. Mary Blissett is reported ill at her home on May street.

Emrey Nyman of Petoskey, visited friends in Charlevoix Sunday.

The county ferry at Ironton is now running on summer schedule.

W. J. Gallaher, Jr., of St. James, Beaver Island, was in Charlevoix Monday.

Miss Minnie Payton was the week end guest of Miss Martha Warren of Petoskey.

Mrs. Edgar Smith left Wednesday for a few week's visit with relatives in Detroit.

F. J. Gallagher has purchased a new Ford car from the Northern Auto Company.

Fraak Sears, Sr., is reported ill at the Sears home on the north side, with pneumonia.

A. L. Fitch and sheriff David Vaugbn were in East Jordan on business Saturday.

Clayton Dutcher of Big Rapids, is speading the week with his aunt, Mrs. E. A. Stewart.

Mr. and Mrs. D. J. Eckinger were Sunday guests at the Jerome Cole home in Boyne City.

Mary Jane Cottage Cheese

Anybody who has ever tried it, exclaims over the velvety, fine-flavor of one of our biggest sellers, Mary Jane Cottage Cheese. We always have it in stock—always fresh.

22c

Per lb.

Week end Candy Special

Satisfy your craving for sweets by taking advantage of this low priced special.

(Mixed Candy, per lb.

25c

Milton Block

Chas. J. Smith, bookeeper at the Charlevoix County Bank is taking a two week's vacation.

Arthur Edmond and Henry Block were in Flint the first of this week after Chevrolet cars.

Miss Emily Pressing of Traverse City, is a guest at the Edw. O'Neil home on Antrim street.

A. W. Boesing of Swift & Company, Traverse City, was in Charlevoix Tuesday on business.

Ed. O'Neill, "Pete" Hallett and Kenneth Usher drove to Benlah last Thursday night to dip smelt.

Hugh Mayne, Milford Saunders and Charles Bellinger were in Mancelona Sunday visiting friends.

Lester Johnson, district manager of the Michigan Bell Telephone Co., was at the local office Tuesday.

Harry Porter left Monday afternoon for Detroit, to drive back a Hudson sedan for Wyers & Smith.

Wm. Taylor and wife, who have been spending the winter in Sarasota, Florida, returned home Friday.

Capt. M. J. Bonner, accompanied by Mrs. Bonner returned last week, from Grand Rapids, for the summer.

Mr. and Mrs. James Parsons returned last week from Detroit, where they have been spending the winter.

Herbert Jacobs, who comes here from Alabama, is the new mechanic at the Northern Auto Company's garage.

S. J. Ulrich and family, who have been spending the winter in Jones, Michigan, have returned to their home in Charlevoix.

H. R. Fowler reports the sale of a Nash light-six sedan to De. F. Wood and a Ford sedan to Versel Seymour, during the past week.

Mr. and Mrs. H. E. Richmond and Mr. and Mrs. Harlan McGhnn, motored to East Jordan and Boyne City, Sunday afternoon.

Miss Margaret Milner, teacher in the Detroit public schools, is spending the spring vacation with her mother, Mrs. Thomas Milner.

The Congregational Ladies' Aid Society will meet at the home of Mrs. N. A. Shores on Dixon avenue, on Wednesday of next week.

Archie Belding drove to Lansing the first of the week to attend a meeting of superintendents of schools to be held in that city.

Mrs. R. Stanley Swinton and daughter, Barbara Jean, of Ann Arbor, are visiting relatives in the city, are visiting relatives in the city.

The Pilgrim Circle of the Congregational church will meet at the home of Mrs. Louise Elston on Antrim street, Wednesday, April 6.

The Charlevoix Grocery Company, formerly owned by Raymond Seymour has been sold during the past week to Joe Seymour of this city.

Wm. Paddock, attending Michigan State College, is spending the vacation week at the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. R. W. Paddock.

Emil Nasson has taken a position with the Standard Oil company and will be stationed at the Petoskey filling station during the coming season.

Miss Dorothy Dean, teacher in the Cadillac public schools, is spending her spring vacation at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. B. D. Dean.

Margaret Fitch, who is attending the Kalamazoo State Normal School is spending the vacation week with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Fitch.

Benj. Ellis of Walloon Lake, Albert West of Horton Bay and John Leigl of Bay Shore were business callers at the court house Monday.

Miss Rita Hebert returned to Detroit last week. Miss Hebert has been visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Hebert for the past few weeks.

Word has been received by Mrs. John Miller, stating that her son, Dan Cannon, had accepted a position with the post office department in Chicago.

Florence Stout, who has been spending the winter months in Chicago, has returned to spend the summer with her mother, Mrs. E. A. Stewart.

Mr. and Mrs. Emery Gimble, son, Vernon, and daughter, Marguerite, spent the past week end in Big Rapids on a combined business and pleasure trip.

Appointments have been made to the entire teaching staff of the local schools, and the contracts are now awaiting the signature of the instructors.

John Kelderhouse, who has been attending school at Ferris Institute, in Big Rapids, is at home recuperating from an illness contracted while at school.

Mrs. B. L. Barrington entertained the Pilgrim Circle of the Congregational church at her home on Clinton street, Wednesday afternoon of last week.

Wm. Seymour, Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Supernaw and Mrs. Lucy Pearl were Sunday guests of Mr. and Mrs. Reed Gemett at their home in Bellaire.

Mr. and Mrs. George Roderick and Mr. and Mrs. Fayo Bradley were in Boyne City Tuesday, called by the death of Mr. Roderick's father, L. N. Roderick.

Mrs. Irwin Livingston, accompanied by Mrs. Ira Adams and Vincent Madison, are spending a few days in Chicago on a combined business and pleasure trip.

Miss Margery Swinton entertained at her home on Petoskey and Michigan avenue, Friday evening with a bridge dinner. There were four tables of bridge.

L. Davis, Boyne City representative of the Metropolitan Life Insurance company, attended the boxing bouts staged by the American Legion Monday night.

The Literary and Sewing Club of the Methodist church will entertain members of the Ladies' Aid at the home of Mrs. A. E. Edwards, Sr., Thursday afternoon.

Mrs. Geo. Jardine, accompanied by her son, Jack, and her daughter, Anne, and Earl Harrington were Sunday guests at the John Seiler home in East Jordan.

Earl A. Young attended a directors meeting of the Western Michigan Development League, held at the Stearns Hotel in Ludington, Monday afternoon and evening.

George Bacon, operator for the Western Union company, who has been stationed in Sarasota, Florida, during the past winter, has returned to his home in this city.

Mr. and Mrs. A. vonDolke, managers of the Beach Hotel, who have been spending the winter at their home in Detroit have returned to Charlevoix for the summer.

The Knights of Pythias will hold their regular meeting Thursday night. Work in the third rank. All members are urged to be present. Lunch will be served following the business session.

The Northern Auto Company reports the sale of a Ford coupe to Wm. Parmelee, a four-door sedan to John Robinson, a tudor sedan to Hugh Mayne and a touring car to Oscar DeGroot.

Mrs. B. K. Buchen, who is finishing her school term at the Mt. Pleasant Normal, arrived Friday to spend the spring vacation period with her husband, who is athletic director in the local high school.

The Wyers & Smith agency report the sale of a Hudson coach to George Pappas of Boyne City, an Overland Whippet to John Scott of Bellaire and an Essex to Clinton Cooper of Charlevoix.

Captain Gallagher of the freighter Griffin, was in Charlevoix last week taking soundings of the channel depths to determine the amount of water displacement allowable for navigation this season.

Rev. B. G. Mattson, accompanied by his family and Miss Eva Adams, spent Friday and Saturday of last week at Mrs. Mattson's camp, Osoha (Tall Pines)-of-the-Dunes, on Crystal Lake, near Frankfort.

Geo. H. Coverdale, superintendent of Charlevoix schools, left Friday to attend a meeting of superintendents to be held in Lansing during the coming week. He will visit his mother in Almont before returning.

Amos Nasson has returned to Charlevoix from Yuma, Arizona, having purchased the Nasson farm, located in Eveline township, on the Charlevoix-East Jordan road, formerly owned by his brother, Emil.

The U. S. Bureau of Fisheries boat Fulmar is undergoing extensive repairs. Roy Ripley and Harry Carson are in charge of the work. The Fulmar is overhauled each spring in preparation for planting fry which will begin as soon as the lake opens.

Henry Howe, who last winter purchased the Mrs. J. T. Oldham grocery, has been forced to move from the Ayers Coals building, which is being torn down, and has placed stock and fixtures in storage until a suitable location can be found.

P. J. Moran, daughter, Norene, and son Pat, accompanied by Miss Lucille Usher and Mrs. H. R. Fowler, left Monday for Detroit by auto. Mrs. Fowler expects to spend some time visiting her sister, Mrs. Nat Burney, the remainder of the party returning this week.

Carl Vrooman of Wyandotte, Grand Chancellor of the Knights of Pythias, and W. E. Hampton of Ann Arbor, Grand Keeper of Records and Seal, were in Charlevoix last Thursday to attend a get-together meeting of Traverse City, East Jordan and Charlevoix lodges.

Mrs. E. A. Cross, who suffered a painful injury to her foot when she fell on the ice in mid-winter, has recovered and returned to her own home on Petoskey avenue. Mr. and Mrs. Cross had been making their home with their daughter, Mrs. Clair Webster, since the accident.

Word comes from Chicago that Gerald Left successfully passed a recent examination for admittance to the bar and will soon establish himself as a practicing attorney. Mr. Left is a son of Frank Left of St. James, Beaver Island, and was a student at Notre Dame college.

Richard Lewis of East Jordan, was in the city Thursday on business.

Mrs. J. C. VanderHaagen, accompanied by her daughter, Miss Frieda VanderHaagen, instructor of music in the public schools and Tony Nevotny, left Friday by auto to visit friends and relatives in southern Michigan during the spring vacation period.

Instructors in the local schools, who are spending the spring vacation week out of the city are: Mrs. Leona McKinley, in Wheeling, West Virginia; Miss Elizabeth Hood, in Adrian; Miss Hazel Stewart, in Hastings and Kalamazoo; Miss Sarah Lamb, in Shepherd; Miss Eleanor Thomas, in Williamston; Miss Rocena Wilson, in LaPeer; Miss Martha Seaburger, in Big Rapids; Miss Juanita Secord, in East Jordan; Miss Gertrude Young, in Concord; Miss Florence Little, in Frankfort; Miss Eleanor Finucan, in Detroit; Stewart Coleman, in Port Huron and Walter Alexander in Detroit.

Dr. J. Leahy, the Optometrist, will be at the Hotel Charlevoix Monday, April 4th.—Adv. 12-t2.

COURIER BARGAIN COLUMN.

Courier Want Advs. are One Cent per word per insertion. Minimum charge is 20 cents per insertion, for anything under 20 words. All Want Advs. are strictly cash in advance except to those who have ledger accounts. Please remember this when sending in your copy.

WANTED—MISCELLANEOUS

WANTED—Dressmaking. Mrs. Lizzie Powell, 306 Hurlbut avenue, phone 434.—10t4.

WANTED—REAL ESTATE

WANTED—To hear from owner of land for sale. D. M. Leight, Alzada, Montana.—13-t4.

FOR SALE—MISCELLANEOUS

FOR SALE—Reed Baby Carriage. Inquire 108 Palmer Ave.—13-t1.

FOR SALE—Organ and two sewing machines. 102 Robinson street, phone 249-K.—13-t1.

FOR SALE—Slightly used kitchen range in excellent condition. Inquire Sinclair Oil Station.—11-tf.

FOR SALE—One Edwards 2 cylinder 6 h. p. gas engine; one swing saw; wood machine and belt; one 36 inch cut-off saw; one 24 inch cut-off saw. All in first class condition. A. C. Hansen. Phone 227. 12t2pd.

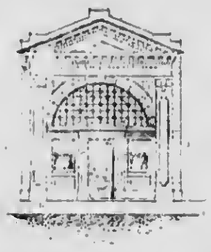
FOR SALE—REAL ESTATE

FOR SALE OR TRADE—100 acre farm located 4 miles west of East Jordan or 2 miles east of Ellsworth. 60 acres clear, nearly all seeded, exceptionally well suited for dairy farm; basement barn 36 by 48; new chicken coop 14x40; good small house. Will sell or consider trade for Charlevoix property. Address John TerWee, East Jordan, Mich.—12-tf.

HELP WANTED.

WANTED—Elderly woman for general house work and companion. Mrs. Millard Olney, 306 W. Hurlbut St., phone 434.—13-t1.

WANTED — Man for responsible position in your locality with a willingness to learn and an ambition to become independent. Write Central Distributing Co., Spokane, Washington, for particulars.—11-t3.



1905 1927

Growing and Thriving

Julia Ward Howe learned Greek after she was sixty; Michael Angelo took up painting at forty. The day you start encouraging your personal talent will enrich the rest of your life. The cost which you now think too high is astonishingly small if you have a healthy savings account in this strong, old bank. You can start with a dollar but it seems to grow and thrive for life.

Charlevoix State Savings Bank

Capital and Surplus over $40,000.00

CHARLEVOIX, MICHIGAN

W. S. Richardson, President.

A. D. Crimmins, Vice President.
Archie Livingston, Cashier.
G. W. Richardson, Asst. Cashier.

Buy Sugar Now

We have just received a car load of Sugar which will be sold at $7.25 per cwt.

Friday and Saturday Specials

Specials priced so low that every housewife in Charlevoix should lay in a good supply:

White R. N. M. Soap, per box	$3.75
White R. N. M. Soap, half box	$1.95
Yellow R. N. M. Soap, per box	$4.50
Yellow R. N. M. Soap, half box	$2.35
Ginger Snaps, 3 lbs. for	29c
Prunes, 2 lbs for	25c

MARTIN BLOCK

Opposite Post Office Phones 12 and 142

NEW PALACE THEATRE

ATTRACTIONS FOR THE COMING WEEK

Saturday and Sunday, April 2-3

"THE COHENS AND KELLYS," with George Sidney, Charles Murray and Vera Gordon. Didj' ever hear the story about the Irishman and the Jew? Well, this is it—at its finest and funniest! A remarkably funny characterization of the private lines of America's two greatest laugh producers, with a cast that makes perfection absolute. An Irish policeman; a Jewish merchant; a boy and a girl, and a little child to lead them while love conquers all—and Oi-Oi-begorrah—what a medley of human pathos and unadulterated joy. Also Fox comedy, "TWO LIPS IN HOLLAND." Don't miss this!

Wednesday and Thursday, April 6-7

Florence Vidor in "YOU NEVER KNOW WOMEN," with Lowell Sherman and Clive Brook. What do women want—wealth, power, fame or love? Here's one who had everything, but didn't know 'till it was almost too late. Then—but You Never Know Women. Also Life—"CUT PRICE GLORY" and a Fox News.

NOTE:—There will be a show every Thursday evening, starting April 7th.

COMING—Richard Dix in "THE QUARTERBACK."

Zonite

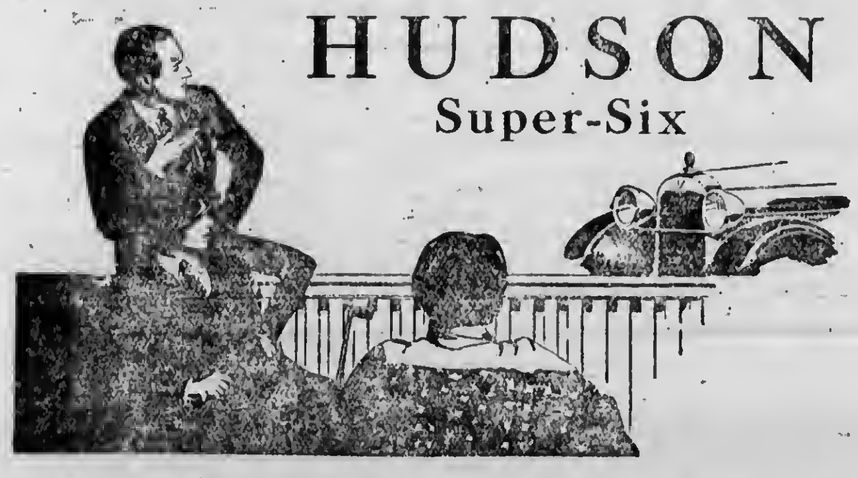
For Cuts and Wounds

Prevent infection! Treat every cut, wound or scratch with this powerful non-poisonous antiseptic. Zonite actually kills germs. Helps to heal, too.

Since 1857

Eagle Brand has raised more healthy babies than all other infant foods combined.

Borden's EAGLE BRAND
CONDENSED MILK



HUDSON
Super-Six

They Do Turn to Admire

The Super-Six principle freed to the limit now admittedly excels any development thus far known. There is nothing with which to compare it in performance, stamina, safety and economy of operation.

Its seven beautiful new bodies share with its brilliant performance in the greatest reception of all Hudson history.

HUDSON SUPER-SIX
Standard Models
Coach $1295 - Sedan $1385
Custom Models
Brougham $1575 - - 5-Passenger Sedan $1 - - - 7-Passenger Sedan $1650
All prices f. o. b. Detroit, subject to change without notice.

WYERS & SMITH, Agents Charlevoix, Michigan

(6109)

UNDER THE DOME AT THE CAPITOL

(Continued from page one.).

yet to come in. In the meantime, let us keep what hair we have.

Representative Chas. E. Haight of Lansing, demands in his bill that the state place white crosses at all highway points where automobile fatalities have occurred. The object is to impress drivers of the need for more care in driving.

Representative Frank Wade of Flint, sponsors a bill to prevent taking any statement from or making any settlement with any person injured in an automobile accident until the person had recovered.

It is likely the counties will receive a larger share of the weight tax money in the future, that the weight tax will remain unchanged and that the gas tax will be raised to three cents, by a compromise bill to be drawn by Attorney General W. W. Potter, at the instigation of a conference held at a dinner meeting held this week. There may be some heated discussions over the proposal, but as it is backed by the administration and the highway department it is more than likely to go through.

Arthur D. Wood of Munising, recently appointed state commissioner of pardons and paroles, has resigned as judge of probate of Alger county and Governor Green has appointed Richard W. Nebel of Munising to take his place as probate judge.

The liveliest scrap of the week in the house occurred Wednesday afternoon, over the Thomas bill, providing for ditching the present tax commission to give the Governor an opportunity of appointing new members of the commission if he so desires. John Espie, the Clinton warrior, defended the bill, as did W. J. Thomas who introduced it, while Representatives Chas. Culver and Conrad Netting led the hecklers. After a lively discussion the bill was passed to third reading.

Senator Chester M. Howell of Saginaw, introduced a bill Wednesday which will provide for the payment to counties of non-trunk line awards due the counties for the past three years. It makes provision for the payment of $712,000 to be made in August of this year and the balance of $486,000 in August, 1928.

The senate has passed the Condon bill providing for the codification of the general laws since 1915.

The proposition to sell the state-owned lands on which are located the Lansing "Groesbeck" municipal golf links, passed the house by a vote of 68 to 20, and now goes to the senate. There was a lively discussion and many representatives reserved the privilege of explaining their vote on the question. The section of selling state lands purchased several years ago as a proposed site for a new industrial home was also passed by a vote of 68 to 18.

President Little visited the legislature Thursday afternoon and urged the passage of the University appropriation bill of $15,000,000. The measures are in the hands of the senate finance committee.

The muck-debated capital punishment measure, supposed to be dead for this season may still be revived owing to repeated demands from about the state, but the chances are against it.

Both houses have passed a resolution asking Governor Green to designate a "Clean-up Week" for Michigan. Both houses have also passed the bill continuing the "Great Lakes-Ocean" deep water way commission.

Both houses have now passed the Hegrich poor grading bill, making many changes in the law, eliminating graft and "hoping for the best."

The labor committee of the house has reported out the Wade-Barkell workmen's compensation bill, increasing maximum compensation to $25 a week. This is a substitute measure and will likely pass although there is still opportunity for argument.

Upper peninsula legislators who can't very well go home for the week-ends are commencing to chafe under the long recesses. Most of them would like to finish up the work and go home. This spirit of unrest shows its effects in the longer sessions of the past week, and in the fact that the week-end adjournment of Friday morning was until 4 o'clock Monday afternoon. This has been the best business week of the session and next week promises to establish a new record.

Outside the Legislative Halls

Governor Green Monday asked the legislature to complete three of five of the cell blocks in the new state prison, at an expense of nearly three millions, which he says will provide for the present requirements by using what is usable of the old prison, and will take care of the delicit of nearly a million dollars now in the red on the state's ledgers against the prison funds, but he insists on "prison, not palace."

Highway Commissioner Rogers recommends to the administrative board the construction of 30-foot highways on trunk lines and 40 feet in the vicinity of the larger cities. A three-year program of construction is asked for, requiring $41,791,000 and the surfacing of 1,392 miles of road. It is believed that a continuing policy would be a vast improvement over the present plan of year-by-year construction.

Goodyear high quality tires at the latest reduction in price will please all tire user. Benj. Brown.—Adv. 10tf.

DR. F. H. WILKINSON HEADS CO. COMMITTEE

Other Local Men Also Named to Represent Charlevoix County

Dr. F. H. Wilkinson of this city, has received formal notification from Brigadier General Michael J. Lenihan, commanding the sixth Corps area, of his appointment to represent the war department in Charlevoix county as chairman of the committee in charge of the 1927 enrollment for the citizens' military training camps.

The appointment follows his election to the chairmanship of the military committee recently and brings all county committees in a body under the direct supervision.

Plans for this summer's camps, which Dr. Wilkinson has received from General Lenihan, provide for the appointment of separate quotas to each county to obtain an equitable allotment of vacancies to all parts of the sixth corps area, which comprises the states of Illinois, Michigan and Wisconsin. This, Dr. Wilkinson said, will give every young man in Charlevoix county, who can meet the requirements of the camp, an opportunity to attend.

Despite the facts that more camps will be held this year than ever before the response to the government offer of thirty days outdoor training without personal expense is expected to exceed the number of vacancies allotted. Only those who obtain complete enrollment at an early date can be assurred of the trip. Complete enrollment, Dr. Wilkinson explained, includes the proper filling out of the application blank, certificate of character from a reputable citizen, physical examination and inoculation. Local members of the committee are Principal North of the Charlevoix high school, Richard Paddock, and Dr. F. F. McMillan.

Try my battery and tire shop for service. Benj. Brown.—Adv. 10tf.

IMMORTALITY

A local philosopher of considerable merit declares in support of the belief in immortality that continuing to live is but a logical sequence to the present existence. He argues the conclusion of many that if we are not in process to richer and higher spheres, this life could justly be regarded as a colossal mockery of purpose and value. The intelligence that brought the world and its inhabitants into being is incapable of contrivance to feed, clothe and train a plan that develops and withdraws from a warming influence to a quiescence old and cold and then proceeds to snuff him out and cast him into unrecorded oblivion.

THE LAW OF PROSPERITY

Ralph Waldo Emerson: Wealth brings with it its own checks and balances. The force of political economy is in self-reliance. The only safe rule found in the self-adjusting method of demand and supply. Do not legislate. Meddle, then, stop the mouth with your sumptuary laws. Give no bounties; make equal laws; secure life and property and you need not give alms. Open the doors of opportunity to talent and virtue, and they will do themselves justice, and property will not be in bad hands. In a free and just commonwealth property rushes from the idle and imbecile to the active, the frugal, brave and persevering.

Many debtors can't see why they received so many bills January 1, as their creditors must surely know they won't pay.

LEGAL NOTICE

Order for Publication.

State of Michigan, the probate court for the county of Charlevoix.

At a session of said court, held at the probate office in city of Charlevoix, in said county, on the 10th day of March A. D. 1927.

Present: Servetus A. Correll, Probate Judge.

In the matter of the estate of Abner Compton, deceased.

The above estate having been admitted to probate and Myron Compton appointed administrator thereof.

It is ordered that four months from this date be allowed for creditors to present their claims against said estate, and that such claims will be heard by said court on Tuesday, the 12th day of July A. D. 1927, at ten o'clock in the forenoon, at the probate office in the city of Charlevoix.

It is further ordered that public notice thereof be given by publication of this order for three successive weeks previous to said day of hearing in the Charlevoix Courier a newspaper printed and circulated in this county.

Servetus A. Correll,
Judge of Probate.

Adv. 11-13.

Mortgage Sale

Default having been made in the conditions of a certain mortgage made by Minnie Jane Smith of Charlevoix, Michigan, to Celia N. Brider of Charlevoix, Michigan, dated the Fourteenth day of October, A. D. 1916, and recorded in the office of the Register of Deeds of the county of Charlevoix, State of Michigan, on the fifteenth day of October, A. D. 1916, in Liber 52 of Mortgages, on page 180; whereby the power of sale contained in said mortgage has become operative, on which mortgage there is claimed to be due at the date of this notice the sum of Nine Hundred Two and Seventy-five One-hundredths Dollars as principal and interest and the further sum of One Hundred Three and 20 100 Dollars paid in taxes on the land described in said mortgage and the further sum of Twenty dollars as an attorney fee provided for in said mortgage, and no suit or proceedings at law having been instituted to recover the moneys secured by said mortgage, or any part thereof;

Therefore, by virtue of the power of sale contained in said mortgage, and the statute in such case made and provided, notice is hereby given that on Friday, the 29th day of April, A. D. 1927, at ten o'clock in the forenoon, at the east front door of the court house in the city of Charlevoix, Michigan, that being the place where the Circuit court for said county is held, the undersigned will sell at public auction to the highest bidder, the lands and premises described in said mortgage, or so much thereof as may be necessary to pay the amount due on said mortgage, as aforesaid, with seven per cent interest, and all legal costs, together with said attorney fee, as provided by law, the lands and premises being described in said mortgage, as follows, to-wit:

All that certain piece or parcel of land situate in the Township of Marion, county of Charlevoix, and [illegible] described as the Southwest quarter of the Southeast quarter of Section thirty-three [illegible] 1927.

[illegible], Executor of the estate of John Nicholls, deceased,
Mortgagee.

[illegible] Michigan.
5413

A. J. SELLING
REAL ESTATE BROKER
Charlevoix, Mich.
Property

GLASSES FITTED
Consult
DR J. LEAHY
OPTOMETRIST
Expert on Eye-Strain
Petoskey, Mich.
Phone 553 for Appointment

DR. LOUISE FLEWELLING
Palmer Chiropractor
Loeb Office Building
Phone 317
Office hours 2 to 5 daily except Wednesday and Friday
7 to 8

R. J. MADILL
Building Contractor
Ask for Estimates
Phone 121 Charlevoix, Mich.

D. T. McHUGH
General Contractor
Phone 214
CHARLEVOIX, MICHIGAN

R. B. ARMSTRONG
PHYSICIAN AND SURGEON
Special Attention to Diseases
of Eye, Ear, Nose and Throat
Priest Bldg. Phone 255

DR. F. F. McMILLAN
Physician and Surgeon
Office above Postoffice
Phone 17
Charlevoix - - Michigan

A. L. FITCH
ATTORNEY AT LAW
Office in Court House
Phone 48
Charlevoix - Michigan

FLIT
DESTROYS
Moths, Roaches
Bedbugs, Flies
Other Household Insects

VALET
AutoStrop
Razor
sharpens itself

ease the pain

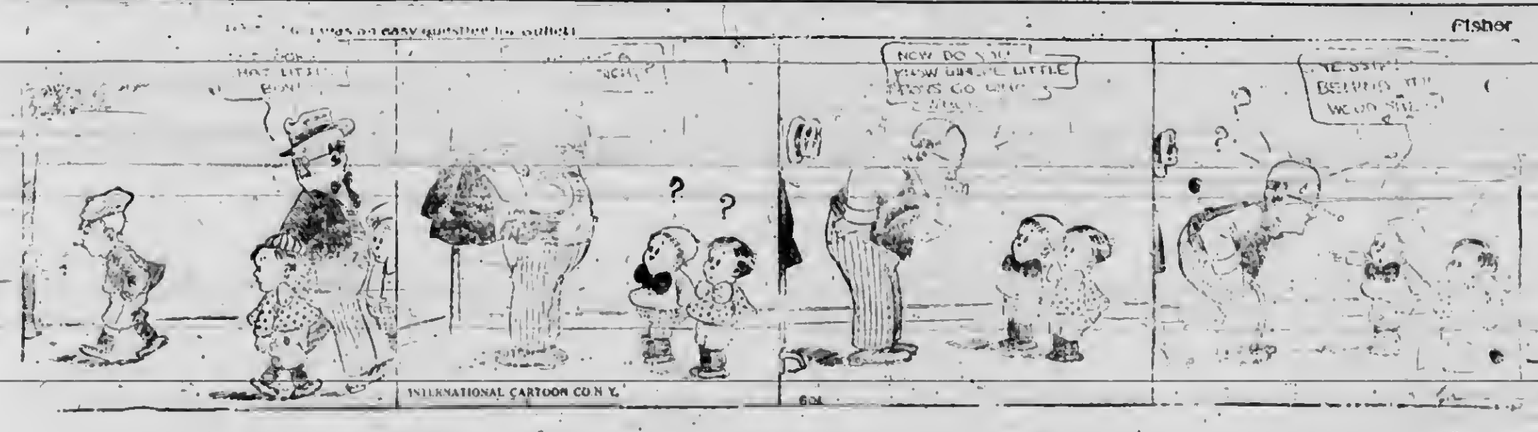
Nothing brings such comforting relief as the original Baume Bengué. It starts to drive out pain as soon as you apply it.

GET THE ORIGINAL FRENCH
BAUME BENGUÉ
(ANALGESIQUE)

Babies Love It

For all stomach and intestinal troubles and disturbances due to teething, there is nothing better than a safe Infants' and Children's Laxative.

MRS. WINSLOW'S
SYRUP



JUST KIDS— Of Course He Was There. By Ad Carter
YOUNG MAN DID YOU PLAY HOOKEY FROM CHURCH THIS MORNING?
NO SIR, WECOURSE NOT!
WELL THEN I SUPPOSE YOU CAN TELL ME THE TEXT OF THE SERMON?
YE SIR! DON'T WORRY Y'LL GET YOUR QUILT' WUZ THE TEXT
THOMAS WHO EVER HEARD OF A TEXT LIKE THAT— I'LL CALL UP THE MINISTER AN IF I FIND YOU HAVE BEEN LYING THERE'LL BE TROUBLE
IT SOUNDED LIKE THAT
YES DR. PRICE WILL YOU TELL ME WHAT YOUR TEXT WAS THIS MORNING
THE TEXT WAS 'FEAR NOT I WILL SEND THEE A COMFORTER'
WHA' DID I TELL YUH?
180
INTERNATIONAL CARTOON CO.

The railroads will be doing business at the old stand when the nation is old in centuries as it is now in years.

Steam or electricity—it matters not. The rails will be there, and the proud old locomotive, driving along, will speed its precious burdens of life and property, as of yore, to countless destinations happily waiting to receive them.—From the Toledo (Ohio) Times.

FRESHENING BREEZES

It will probably be hard to convince either Mr. Coffey or Mr. Johnson that the office of state superintendent of public instruction has finally been taken out of politics.

President Coolidge was right when he decided the McNary-Haugen bill did not jibe with "Michigan, Down on the Farm."

In the Mormon tabernacle at Salt Lake City one can hear a pin drop. A local minister tells us that in his church you can't even hear a rain drop.

Who can say that the radio program is not right up to the minute? They even start their bedtime stories for the kids at nine-thirty each night.

Manufacturers of silk hosiery are now bringing out a spare for each pair. We hope the ladies will not imitate the automobile when that runs carrying a spare tire, it is all with them.

Perhaps a pioneer is the chap who can remember when the town drunkard was the only native in the settlement who toted a hip flask.

Canada now levies a one dollar tax on every radio, which goes to provide better programs. We'd be in favor of such a law if it would succeed in eliminating the jane who persist in trying to imitate a child's voice while telling bedtime stories.

Evidently the cement made at Chelsea lacked some of those qualities that would bind it to the present state administration.

A young high school student, whose mother had been sentenced to a western penal institution, left a note saying, "life is just a laugh," before taking his own life the other day. Just a last despairing attempt at bravery from a heartsick boy who had been forced to face the sum total of human unhappiness. May he find the peace eternal that he sent his soul to seek.

And Now In Closing—

There will be many foodi bills introduced in the present session of the legislature, which will probably prevent an early adjournment, but on the whole common sense will prevail in preventing any of them from passing as laws. It is our observation that the members of the legislature enter earnestly into the tasks of serving the state and can always be depended upon to protect the people's treasury without hindering progress.

AUCTION SALE

of Household Goods

Friday April 8th

at 202 Grant St.

Beginning at 2:00 P. M. Sharp

Steinway Grand Piano, Rosewood case	Storm House
Steel Range, No. 8	Kitchen Cabinet
Hard Coal Burner	3 cane-bottom Chairs
Drop-leaf Table	Victrola with Records
Cane Rocker	2 single Beds, Springs and Mattresses
Stand	4 Rugs Ice Box
Double Bed with Springs and Mattress	Clothes Hamper
Chiffonier	Lace Curtains
Ironing Board	Cooking Utensils—Dishes
Fruit Jars	Pair Skiis and Hand Sled

Mrs. George M. Russel, Prop.

Terms of Sale: CASH W. E. BYERS, Auctioneer

EDITORIALS

CONSIDERATIONS

A TAX UPON PROGRESS

A RAILROAD NATION

In this land of vast spaces, transcontinental communications, one language, one government, with a people required by business and persuaded by social conditions to travel from place to place, and with territory ample for a prosperous and happy population far in excess of the present, the railroads will never lose their job as the nation's carriers.

We may annihilate distance by the airplane; we link the households of of the Pacific with the conversation of the Atlantic; we may radiograph and radiophone and instantaneously picture on the walls of our domiciles, Bill Jones kissing Sallie Sampson three thousand miles away, but the good old railroad ticket will still be the pass to prosperity for the men, women and children of America. People will still live close to Mother Earth, and the railroads will transport her progeny.

So, likewise, with the fruits of the fields, the products of the mines, the wealth of manufactured goods and all the essentials and luxuries wrought by industry.

That is about as far as criticism of the Senate is warranted. It must be remembered that these men do really remarkable legislative work, and it is necessary for them to be experts in finance, in economics, industry, international relations, and in a myraid and multitude of things which do not at all appeal to the ordinary man. We are approaching a Presidential election in 1928, and the closing days of the 69th Congress were the opening guns of the campaign. In the 70th Congress we shall have a plentitude of politics looking to the national election. Like all great problems, politics has petty things attached which are not particularly savory, but these things do no detract from the fundamental fact that business men must take an interest in both government and politics. There are those today who laugh at the old torch light processions of years ago, but the man who marched in a political parade went to the polls and voted. He was an infinitely better citizen than the man who sneers at him today and plays golf on election day.

COOLIDGE COURAGE

It took real courage for President Coolidge to veto the McNary-Haugen farm relief bill. Had he consulted his own political fortunes he could have allowed the measure to become a law, and afterwards, when the defects began to show up, could have justified his position by hiding behind the action of the senate and the house that passed the bill by big majorities. President Coolidge is no built of that kind of timber, he preferred to take the responsibility of preventing what he believed to be an economical mistake from becoming the law of the land, rather than to aid his candidacy next year.

Many believe the measure should

Our low service on Goodyend Tires will be a surprise to you. Benj. Brown.—Adv. 10tf.

Buy the 1927 TIRES!

Why spend your money for a tire that is out-of-date, behind the times?

Buy the new tire---the 1927 tire---the tire that is proclaimed as

The Greatest Tire in the World

It's the new-type All-Weather Tread Goodyear Balloon. It changes all present ideas about balloon tire mileage. It gives positive traction, protection against skidding.

No more tread pot-holes! No more cupping, and uneven, costly wear! This new tire fixes that!

We have this great new Goodyear in your size. It costs no more than old-fashioned balloons. See it today. You'll understand better why "More People Ride on Goodyear Tires than on any other kind!"

30x3 1-2 Pathfinder Fabric,	$8.20	29x4.40 All-weather Balloon Cord	$12.85
30x3 1-2 Pathfinder Cord (oversize)	$9.85	30x3 1-2 Tubes for	$1.90
30x3 1-2 Goodyear All-weather Cord	$11.65	29x4.40 Tubes for	$2.40

Other sizes proportionally priced

BENJAMIN BROWN

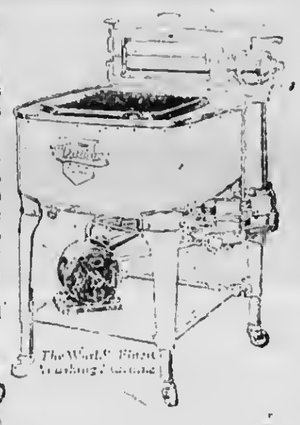
Only the Udylite Tub is Dent-Proof-Rust-Proof

MEADOWASHING! Amazing! I feel so confident about trusting my nicest things to this machine . . . works of use and the tub looks like new! And the copper tub on my old machine was all banged up in a month!

DO NEXT WEEK'S WASH FREE. Find out what a lot of washing machine value your money will buy. The Udylite tub . . . stainless and rustproof . . . is two gallons bigger than any other.

The impeller, made of smooth, glossy Bakelite, won't wear rough in 100 years. The daintiest fabrics are thoroughly cleansed with less friction than the gentlest hand washing.

NO MONEY DOWN
Wash with the Mead one while you FREE. Absolutely no ... If you decide to keep it, a nominal down payment is to cover delivery charges



Meadows

WOOD BROTHERS

COUNTY PARK COMMISSIONERS' REPORT

The public is the hardest taskmaster. Usually men are put in charge of public work, then no one pays any attention to what is done until some disgruntled individual begins to find fault with the work and by promulgating a statement made up of half truths and prejudiced opinion, discredits the work of men who have honestly and industriously tried to fill their duties. Half truths and distorted truths are the hardest to combat.

Very strong adverse criticism of the conduct of the affairs of the County Park Commission in regard to the conduct of the work on Whiting Park has developed in some sections. That commission is composed of W. H. White, chairman, who succeeded F. O. Barden; W. P. Porter of East Jordan; W. J. Pearson of Boyne Falls; S. M. Rose of Charlevoix; F. H. Wangeman of Eveline. These men by the terms of their appointment are serving without salary of any kind and for three years have carefully conducted the operation of the park.

At the beginning, in the fall of 1923, this commission was without funds, but in order that the park might be in some kind of condition for use of the public in the following spring (county appropriation for which was not forthcoming until the following January, 1924) the board borrowed $400.00 from the First National Bank, Boyne City.

During that season was expended:

Material and labor for 4 toilets, 5x12, 20 tables, 40 benches, 2 large tables	$ 867.00
Labor on grounds	16.44
Abstract of title	5.00
Recording Deed	1.10
Surveying	3.50
Total cash for season to Oct. 17, 1923	201.04
Paid Boyne City Lbr. Co. for labor, material and work on road, unpaid	256.69 leaving an unpaid balance carried over to next year of $256.69, with a balance of borrowed money of $8.96.
	$ 617.73

As no money was yet available from the county, the commission on October 20, 1923, borrowed an additional $300.00 to take care of this unpaid balance, making a total of $700.00 borrowed during the year.

During the year 1924 the receipts were as follows:

Apr. 23, 1923, borrowed from 1st Nat. Bank	$ 300.00
Jan. 29, 1924, County appropriation	1000.00
Jan. 10, '24, borrowed from 1st Nat. Bank	1000.00
Sept. 1, 1924	200.00
Bal. on hand from previous loan	8.96
Total receipts	$2,508.96

Expenditures, Oct. 17, 1923 to Oct. 17, 1924.

Paid on unpaid 1923 acct.	$ 256.69
Bath Houses	575.00
Surveying	124.60
Paid on notes given to 1st Nat. Bank, prin. & int.	720.86
Graveling beach road	162.25
Lbr. for culverts, beach rd.	33.76
Painting benches and tables	37.20
Park attendant	200.00
Paid on tables	75.00
Sundry small items	25.08
Total expd. for year	$2508.44

The beach road was estimated to cost $1700.00. The actual expenditure for grading and graveling was $800.91. $1.10 close of the year, Oct. 17, 1924, $1500.00 and interest was due the First National Bank with a balance of $7.59.

From Oct. 17, 1924 to Oct. 17, 1925 receipts were as follows:

Oct. 20, '24, rec'd. from county appropriation	$ 500.00
Jan. 2, '25, rec'd. from county appropriation	1100.00
Feb. 2, '25, borrowed from 1st Nat. Bank	50.00
Aug. 1, '25, sold 170 rods of fence	25.50
July 20, '24, borrowed from 1st Nat. Bank	500.00
Total receipts	$2176.02

Expenditures:

Boyne City Lbr. Co., cutting brush and clearing	$ 255.26
F. O. Barden Ebr. Co.	21.48
B. C. Hdw. Co., cement	8.29
Pipe for Spring	18.10
Clearing, cleaning brush	173.50
Building 160 rods road on upper woods road	98.00
Repair on roads	21.00
Labor on piping 2 springs	29.00
Cutting weeds and clean-up	10.00
Pd. on loans, 1st Nat. Bank	205.44
	1035.00
	1.17
	50.50
	1292.11
Annual picnic	126.11
Caretaker	50.00
Total	$2168.35
Bal. Oct. 15, 1921	$ 7.69

The charge for the Annual Farmers' Picnic is made up:

Hand Bills, Chx. Courier	$ 26.61
Powers, Baseball	75.00
Mellenramp, sport prizes	25.00
	$ 126.61

From Oct. 15, 1925 to Oct. 15, '26:

Balance	$ 7.69
Receipts, appropriation	1000.00
Receipt from donation to picnic	$1007.69
Cutting weeds and brush	43.00
Building 4 stoves	36.25
Pump	3.50
Cement	5.00
Plates for stoves	6.00
Clearing Beach	48.00
Repair benches	7.00
Repair of Shore road	7.25
Labor, repair	14.00
Clearing along hgwy.	12.50
Clearing, cleaning brush	49.50
Labor on ground during and after picnic, general caretaker work	24.00
Unpaid taxes accrued before park was taken over	119.31
Pd. note 1st. Nat. Bank	473.92
Bal. on Hand Oct. 15, '26	158.11
	$819.22

The note at the bank was met by payment as shown plus donation turned back by Mellenramp from picnic, $45.70.

By careful analysis of statement it will be shown that for the years 1925 and 1926 the actual money spent on the park for 1925 was $361.50, and in 1926, $256.00. The rest of the appropriation, $2000.00 for those two years was used to clear up the borrowed money.

The commission begins the season of 1927 with a balance of $158.11 with all obligations taken care of and the 1927 appropriation clear for work on the park.

For the whole time that the Park Commission has been working they have worked under very adverse conditions, with heavy responsibilities, and no money to work with. They went ahead and assumed financial responsibilities, some of them personal, in order that the public might not be disappointed. For the past two years the expenditures have been cut to the lowest possible point with the result that we have a well equipped playground that is a source of pride to the people of the county and is of very great drawing power to tourists, a great number of whom take advantage of it.

Charlevoix county contributes large sums to the county fair which lasts one week. The County Park costs the county $1000.00 per year and contributes to the health and pleasure of our people for 8 or 9 months in the year.

It is unfortunate that talk and rumors started by people who do not know the facts, or are only acquainted with a part of the facts, should jeopardize the continuance of this an essential part of the attractions of Charlevoix county.

W. H. White, Chairman
W. P. Porter
W. J. Pearson
Sam Rose
Frank Wangeman
Charlevoix County Park Comm.

Card of Thanks.

To my friends and neighbors for the kindness shown me while in the hospital, I wish to express my thanks.

Mrs. Henry Walter and family.
Adv 13-1.

Fine Selection of EASTER CARDS for Friends, all members of the Family at Hadley Gift Shop. Adv. 14-3.

Truck, Balloon and high pressure tires at a great reduction. Benj. Brown.—Adv. 10tf.

CLUBS RENDERED JOINT MUSICALE

LARGE AUDIENCE AT CONGREGATIONAL CHURCH MON.

Program Supervised by Mesdames Stelter and Livingston Was Greatly Appreciated

A rare and beautiful musical treat was afforded the people of the community last Monday afternoon, when the members of the Shakespeare and Dickens Clubs held an open joint meeting at the Congregational church. Each club has pursued its individual line of study during the winter but joint meetings have been held once a month, taking up the study of music. These meetings have been of such unusual interest that the meeting Monday was made public and the church was filled with a most appreciative audience.

The program was worked out jointly by Mesdames Stelter and Livingston, the former developing the subject of "Organ Music" and the latter "Church Music." Mrs. Fitch gave a most interesting paper on the origin and construction of the organ after which Mrs. Stelter played Bach's "Fantasia," and "Fugue in G Minor." Many of the composers of organ music having been studied in other connections during the year, Mrs. Stelter confined the remainder of her program to the composers of the present century. She gave an account of the life of the French composer and organist, Guilmant, who presided at the organ in one of the large French cathedrals, and she played in a most impressive manner his "Funeral March and Seraphic Chant." This was played at a Requiem mass two weeks after his death in the church in which he played for so many years. This and Bach's "Fugue" were perhaps among the most profound numbers of organ music that has ever been rendered in our community. Her last selection was a lighter number, Hiller's "Prelude in B flat Minor," which gave contrast to the program.

Mrs. Livingston presented Church Music in a most interesting manner. She traced the evolution of music from its beginning through the fourteenth century when St. Ambrose, Bishop of Milan, promulgated a series of regulations which enabled the clergy to sing Psalms with more precision. St. Gregory, two hundred years later, carefully revised the plain song into what is now known as the Gregorian chant music.

A choir composed of members of the two clubs, with Mrs. Stelter at the organ, illustrated the different features of Mrs. Livingston's paper. Two parts of the "Mass of the Angels," written by St. Gregory were sung in a most impressive manner. Mrs. Clinton Cooper explained the different parts of the Mass in a manner that revealed much of the sympathetic spirit of worship in music and the inner harmony of music in church worship.

The next great composer presented was Palestrina, who in the Renaissance of the sixteenth century, restored the entire system of church music. A Motet was sung to show how the presence of a soul in song immortalized Pulestrina's music.

The greatest impetus in the development of sacred music was the Protestant Reformation and Martin Luther was the leading spirit and the founder of choral music and hymns which for the first time was sung in the language of the people. Choral music added the finish to the Oratorio and the choir sang as an illustration of the feature the choral "Since By Death Came Man," from the "Messiah." The oratorio, passion music, sacred drama and anthems were discussed and the trio, "Lift Thine Eyes," from Elijah, was sung as an illustration of the latter which had its origin in the Church of England.

The Gregorian music and the Psalm tunes or Anglican Chant of the English church are perhaps the most noble feature of church music. The "Te Deum Laudannus" from the English Episcopal church was sung.

To illustrate the work on hymn tunes, "The Last Hope," by Gottschalk, with variations, was given. Mrs. Swinton explained the music and gave a most interesting account of its composition and Mrs. Swinton played the piano and Miss Swinton played the violin with the chorus of women's voices coming in at the verses of the hymn. The meeting closed by the singing of the hymn, "Sun of My Soul, Thou Savior Dear," by Kehle.

Onyx Silk Hosiery. Silk Underwear. Flowers for Coats. Hankerchiefs and Scarfs, make fine Gifts for Easter. See them at Hadley Gift Shop. Adv. 14-3.

FELLOWSHIP SUPPER PLEASANT AFFAIR

Sixty Enjoyed Fine Program and Satisfying Meal

The W. C. T. U. Fellowship supper Tuesday evening at the Congregational church was a very pleasant affair with about sixty present. Among the guests were several public officials and their wives.

Ten active and five honorary members were welcomed into the organization. Ladies on the supper committee, namely: Mrs. N. A. Shores, Mrs. George Kelderhouse, Mrs. Chas. Carey, Mrs. George Burns, Mrs. Ed Cook and Mrs. Chas. Novak, served a very satisfying meal. The following program was given at the tables:

Invocation, Rev. C. E. Pollock.

Community singing under the leadership of Mrs. Belding and Mrs. Stelter.

Welcome to guests and new members, Mrs. Saltonstall.

Address, "What Are We Fighting For," Rev. B. G. Mattson.

Playlet, "Your Place, My Place, Anyone's Place," Mrs. John Burns, Mrs. Cassie Hart, Mrs. Ed. Stewart, Judge Correll.

Benediction, Rev. B. G. Mattson.

Big reduction on Goodyear tires. Benj. Brown.—Adv. 10tf.

LEGION BOXING BOUTS A "WOW"

(Continued from Page One)

and furnished the crowd with an abundance of thrills throughout the entire distance. Swings and jabs to the head and body featured Russell's aggressiveness. Allen seemed to be slightly outclassed but was in better condition at the finish.

Higman and a Petoskey boy appeared the ring for the seven round melee and became so ingrossed in left hooks and rabbit punches that the final bell failed to stop them. In this match Higman had a slight edge on his opponent.

Red McCann and Young Cheveough of Petoskey, came on next for three rounds of good boxing. This was followed by Clute and Gravelin in the official windup of the show. This being the main event, it drew a great deal of interest and the fans were not disappointed. Both boys are fast boxers and showed much clever foot work. The entire route was full of action and brought the fans to their feet. The boys were very well matched and it would have been hard to favor either in a decision.

As a semi-windup, after the main event, Woods and Bearss put on a good exhibition of clever boxing.

It is with much enthusiasm that the American Legion puts on these boxing cards and the Post hopes that it is doing something to contribute to the entertainment of the community.

The Post also wants to express their appreciation to the band, the school board and Hooker and Son for the cooperation they so willingly gave.

Burning out chimneys caused many bad fires. Avoid this fire loss by using our Soot Destroyer. It does the work. 15c per pound. Charlevoix Hdw. Co.—Adv. 2tf.

CHANDLER PIONEER DIED LAST TUESDAY

Passed Away Unexpectedly Following Short Illness

George E. Brown, pioneer resident of Chandler township, and a resident of Petoskey for about two years, died last Tuesday night following a short illness. Since living in Petoskey, Mr. Brown had been connected with the Cruge store on Lake street and had many friends in that city.

Mr. Brown was born at Livonia, New York, November 30, 1863, and came to Michigan with his parents, who settled at Bridgeton, Newaygo county. He married Miss Alice Chrisman at Ashland Center, where they lived for several years before coming to Northern Michigan 31 years ago. From Chandler Mr. and Mrs. Brown moved to Clarion and then to Petoskey.

Surviving, besides the wife, are two children, Vernon Brown, of Petoskey, and Mrs. Bernice Hale, Manistique.

Avoid fire risks from burning-out chimneys by using our honest-to-goodness Soot Destroyer. Charlevoix Hdw. Co.—Adv. 2tf.

FAREWELL PARTY LAST SATURDAY

Jardine Entertained in Honor of Daughter-in-law

HOME-CREST FLOOR COVERINGS

In a Special Spring Showing of Unusual Interest

DESIGN Garden of the Lanterns sketched above is but one of the many attractive patterns we are showing. There are many others,—original and distinctive designs, each with its own interesting history. This is the opportune time for you to inspect our complete stocks and make purchases before Spring Cleaning. We are featuring a comprehensive selection of designs and color combinations in all standard sizes.

Charlevoix Hardware Company

Three Big Departments—Hardware, Furniture, Electrical
NORTHERN MICHIGAN'S FINEST STORE

Why This Man Likes His Motor Car

Rare indeed is it that one who ever owned an automobile has been without one since he bought his first car.

"Before I had a car I thought there were other things I needed more," said one of our old customers the other day.

"But now I know that I need a car more than anything else that money can buy."

When he said "car" he implied, of course, uninterrupted satisfaction in the use of it. That is what the Nash car quality, plus H R. Fowler responsibility, means to everyone who buys a car here.

Come in and talk it over.

NASH—26 MODELS

H. R. Fowler

113 Bridge St. Telephone No. 54-J

Goodrich Silvertown--Kelly Springfield Tires

Prest-O-Lite Batteries and Service

On Easter Morn
Will Your Hose Look Worn

Our new stock, with new colors, new styles and low prices, just unpacked. Rollins Runstop Hosiery is making a big hit in Charlevoix.

50c $1.00 $1.50 $1.95

CAMPBELL BOOT SHOP

LET THE COURIER PRINT YOUR SALE BILLS

CHARLEVOIX COURIER

VOLUME 32. NUMBER 14. EIGHT PAGES COURIER, CHARLEVOIX, MICH., WEDNESDAY, APRIL 6, 1927 PRICE $2.00 PER YEAR

CRITICISMS ENTIRELY UNJUST

PLAN OF STATE BOARD BEING FOLLOWED OUT

Obtaining Plans Before Bond Issue Would Prove Costly With Two Former Defeats

The report has been circulated by the school board and citizens' committee should obtain completed plans and specifications of the proposed unit before the proposition is put to a vote. In this regard we wish to inform you that this procedure is irregular and expensive. Had we carried out this method on all three propositions considered the total sum of twelve thousand dollars would be expended on going to vote three times and then it may be turned down and the money invested in plans and specifications entirely lost. The procedure now being taken is in accordance with the regular plan recommended by the State Board of Education and prominent architects. We have however procured sketches of the proposed unit without cost to the people and have in our own minds decided on the kind of construction to be used and have information of sufficient value to inform us of the cost and other details of this program.

We have been asked how we know that we can obtain bids and build the size and sort of building we are planing on and keep within the bond issue and not come before the tax payers for additional money to complete the unit, our answer is this: The architect who will draft our plans and prepare our specifications is a specialist in school house construction, he knows the prices of materials, cost of labor and other details along the line of building.

Now then, we do not enter into a contract with our architect nor do we pay him one cent until the program is adopted by vote. And not even then until the plans and specifications are perfected and bids advertised for and received from various contractors and surety bonds filed by the contractors, guaranting to produce the work at the prices of the bids. No school building program can be adopted finally without the consent of the State Board of Education, after the vote has been carried through successfully and the unit is cast, a complete set of plans and specifications must be submitted to said state board for approval.

Other [illegible] and approval and if there are any portions of the program not acceptable to the state board they will not approve of the plans and will so inform the local school board and architect.

So you understand [illegible] additional sums to complete the building is without foundation, and we will not enter into any [illegible] contract until the entire program has been so approved by both the local and state boards. The time has passed when school boards can misrepresent a proposition to the voters which is not entirely feasible and worthy. The laws governing this work have been so amended the past few years that misrepresentations are banished from school building programs.

Last year our school district set aside five of the fifteen tax mills into a sinking fund, this amount being a trifle more than $18,000.00. If this amount is continued along with the ten mills for library and school maintenance together with saving of

(Continued on Page 8)

The Ladies' Aid of the M. E. church will serve their annual Easter supper, Friday, April 8th from 5:30 o'clock until all are served. Bill 50 cents. 14t1.

CHARLEVOIX VOTERS SHOW LITTLE INTEREST IN ELECTION

With a total of approximately 125 votes cast in the entire three wards of the city, primary election Monday was the lamest in years. Lack of opposition for any city office probably accounts for the light vote, although it seems a deplorable condition that out of 800 qualified voters, only 125 displayed enough interest to go to the polls.

All Republican candidates on the [illegible] ticket received a majority in this city. The metropolitan district amendment carried locally by a small majority, but scored in favor in adjacent town-ships and other cities of the county. The entire city ticket was elected without opposition.

NEW PARKING SYSTEM WILL GO INTO EFFECT

Will Help Remedy Traffic Congestion Ouring Summer

Charlevoix city officials have decided to adopt the parallel parking system on both sides of Bridge street, and the order will go into effect as soon as markings have been made.

Charlevoix's summer traffic problem has been a vexing one for a great many years. It has become more so each year with the increase of automobiles parking at an angle which has been found unsatisfactory. When two large cars, or a car and a truck are parking on opposite sides of the street from each other, it leaves barely room for two cars to pass in the center. The new system will lessen the danger of cars unexpectedly backing away from the curb into those oncoming.

This will lessen the number of cars parked on the main street to some extent and may to some people seem a hardship. But when we stop to think that in the city one is lucky to get within blocks of the place they want to shop, we have nothing to kick about. The Courier believes city officials have taken a wise step in adopting this new parking system.

OFFICERS NAB CHECK FORGER

CIRCUMSTANCES LEADING TO ARREST STILL A PUZZLE

Woman Who Had Never Seen Guilty Party Gave Description of Right Man

County officers recently ran up against a complicated forgery case at Boyne City, and through very peculiar circumstances apprehended the guilty party.

It was found that a check had been forged on the account of L. C. Rouse, Boyne City oil station operator, on February 8th, and was drawn in favor of one Oscar Johnson and endorsed by Oscar Johnson. It was found that there had been two Oscar Johnsons in Boyne City, both having come from Mancelona, although in no way related, and one having moved back to that city. Investigation of the Mancelona Johnson convinced officers that he was not the man wanted. Likewise investigation of the Johnson living in Boyne City exonerated him also.

The check had been cashed at the Parker store in Boyne City, but no one connected with the firm could recall evidence which led the officers very much up [illegible] it [illegible] a man [illegible] check in the store [illegible] a man who came in [illegible] [illegible] with that of a certain man who had formerly worked for Rouse. Comparison of hand writing convinced officers that he was the man. A warrant was issued, he was soon apprehended in Alpena and the next day he confessed.

The queer part of this case came to light when it later developed that Harry Parker, son of the store proprietor, had cashed the check in payment of some merchandise, and the woman who gave the description had never seen the guilty party at all and was not in the store at the time. Officers are still puzzled over the coincident. The sheriff and his department are to be congratulated for the way in which they handled the case.

This case contains a moral for all: Never cash a check for someone you do not know without getting some definite information so that the person may be found later. Check forgeries happen every day.

Ice House Fire

Fire at the Widdifield ice house on East Lincoln avenue last Saturday afternoon resulted in very slight damage, although quick response by the fire department deserves the credit for this fact. Officers were at a loss to determine cause of the blaze for a time, but upon investigation, found it was the work of young lads. Such circumstances are regrettable and children should be watched and warned of the danger of playing with fire.

Best of Leather. Best of workmanship in our shoe repair dept. Campbell Boot Shop. -Adv. 14-tf.

Fine Selection of EASTER CARDS for Friends, all members of the Family, at Hall's Gift Shop. Adv. 13-c3.

COMMUNITY SERVICE IS KEYNOTE

AMERICAN LEGION STANDS FOR LOFTY IDEALS

Larger Membership and Education of Public In Their Ideals Among Other Aims

Leslie T. Shapton Post No. 226, American Legion, has joined with other posts throughout the country in a drive for members. The following article, written by one of our local legion members, gives readers an insight into the work and purposes of this organization:

To see that the United States is adequately defended on land and sea and in the air.

To prove the lot of several thousand disabled service men in hospitals.

To help many thousand war-made orphans.

To make better provisions for the care of insane veterans of the war, the number of whom is increasing at the rate of 7000 annually.

To make this a nobler and finer country.

These are purposes of the American Legion which will be emphasized in its drive for a larger membership and to educate the public concerning the ideals of the organization.

The American Legion has embarked on a program that is essentially one of community service, performed by each post in its own area. We are thinking in terms of giving not of getting.

The kind of service contemplated, in the performance of which keen competition will be stimulated among the various posts, includes the founding of libraries in small towns, tuberculosis clinics, Chautauqua movements, public swimming pools, movements to protect grade crossings, playgrounds for children, essay contests in schools, classes in citizenship for the foreign born.

This is an effort of the very highest type. It is usually supposed to fall within the duties of the ideal modern state. Permeated, as such effort carried on by the American Legion is bound to be, with sturdy patriotism and patient understanding of the shortcomings of human nature, it is certain to be a wholesome force in making this great republic a truer and more sincere democracy.

It is such work among the masses of our population, carried on by an organization whose members have made great sacrifices in their love of country, which makes certain "that government of the people, by the people, for the people shall not perish from the earth."

ENTERTAINED AT THEIR FARM HOME

Charlevoix Friends Gathered At James Block's Sunday

Mr. and Mrs. James Block entertained Charlevoix friends Sunday at their farm home in Barnard.

Among the guests were: William, Charles and Clarence Heise and families, Harold Withers and family and Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Nowland, Charles and Will Heise proved their skill at horseshoe scoring by defeating Raymond Nowland and Clarence Heise.

It is reported that the last mentioned will be unable to meet his payroll this week due to heavy betting.

Read the Courier, and get the news.

The Baseball Season Opens

UNDER THE DOME AT THE CAPITOL

DETROIT GANG KILLINGS IN THE LIMELIGHT

431 Bills Introduced in the House and More Than 300 So Far in the Senate

(By Len W. Feighner)

Gaunt spectres of the dead past stalked in the halls of the senate this week, when spiritualistic mediums brought to vision the ghost of the capital punishment measure dead and buried two weeks agone.

Like that the Banquo, "It will not down."

Recent gang killings in Detroit have created so much agitation and so much condemnation of the four recalcitrant senators who bottled up the Armstrong bill and refused to bring it out, that the Senate is again agitating the question, and it is altogether likely that unless the committee relents and reports out the Armstrong bill, a new bill will be introduced in the senate. Proponents of capital punishment in the senate are making a determined stand on this matter, and it is said that there are some of the opponents of the measure who believe that it should at least be brought to vote in the upper house. It is believed that Senator Jankowski of Detroit, one of the four who held up the bill, will agree to vote in favor of reporting it out with the understanding that the bill will be Amended in the senate to apply only to those who kill while committing a hold-up or a burglary, although it is a question if this would apply to the rum-running warriors who try to kill off rival gangs with machine guns.

Thursday afternoon's session of the house was given over almost entirely to a somewhat heated debate on the workmen's compensation increase and the bill was finally passed on general orders and will come up as a special order next Wednesday at 2:30. The maximum amount under the bill is fixed at $18.00 per week, and this is practically the only change from the present law.

A compromise was effected finally in the house on the tuberculosis hospital and sanitarium proposition, which has been a bone of contention all during the session. The compromise provides for the improvement and maintenance of the present hospital at Howell and also for the construction of one at Ann Arbor. Each institution was given half of the $4 million appropriation voted at the 1925 session, and sufficient additions to make possible a good start on the work on both institutions both of which are so badly needed.

Appropriations bills are being rolled out in the house in [illegible] numbers, but are being unmerciful[illegible] held in most cases. Neither of the [illegible] of Mayer State College bills [illegible] yet out of committee, but are expected out next week, which will likely see most of the appropriation bills considered. When these are out of the way there is a possibility of rapid action to close the work of the session.

A bill raising the salaries of circuit judges $2,500 per year has been reported out, after various amendments were proposed and considered.

There was a lively row in the house Tuesday afternoon when the senate bill making appropriations for the legislature for this year and the next one made its appearance. Representative Milton R. Palmer of Detroit offered an amendment providing that from and after January 4, 1927, each member of the legislature shall receive $5 per day for expenses. The amendment passed by a vote of 76-18, after a wordy battle. The bill now goes back to the senate for concurrence in the amendment. Predictions are about 50-50 as to whether the senate will concur. It is an undoubted fact that the present salary of $800 for the two-year term, the present pay of the members, will not pay their legitimate expenses during the sessions, but the voters of the state turned down a proposition last fall to raise the salary, and some of the members voiced the sentiment that they ought not to take this method of getting more money.

The senate Thursday so amended the house bill to allow senators and representatives $5 per day expense money that it will apply only when members are present in Lansing—or outside on committee work, and the bill was referred to the [illegible] committee. It is expected to be reported out and passed, although the attorney general has given an opinion that it cannot lawfully be done.

Another bill that passed the house after a strenuous scrap was the Wm.

(Continued on page six)

NOTED EXPLORER TO GIVE LECTURE

PROGRAM SPONSORED BY LOCAL KNIGHTS OF PYTHIAS

Lecture of Great Educational Value Promised Charlevoix Citizens April 22

Charlevoix citizens have a rare treat in store for them when L. O. Armstrong, dean of lecture staff, bureau of commercial economics, appears at the Palace Theatre on the evening of Thursday, April 22nd. Mr. Armstrong comes here under the auspices of the local Knights of Pythias, who are sponsoring the program on its educational merits alone. The following, taken from literature sent out by the Bureau describes Mr. Armstrong.

"Mr. L. O. Armstrong, dean of the lecture staff of the Bureau of Commercial Economics, is a speaker of international repute. He is a veteran explorer, wolf hunter, trail maker, and fisherman. He has a retentive memory and has seen more of the surface of North America than most outdoors. He has probably a keener and more intelligent knowledge of all outdoors of North America [illegible] than [illegible] men living. He is a [illegible] swimmer, expert in winter and summer [illegible] summer so[illegible] New [illegible] [illegible] [illegible]

CORRESPONDENCE

BARNARD

A good crowd attended the election on Monday.

Will Ayer and family, spent Sunday with relatives in East Jordan.

Mr. and Mrs. C. Cuckle of Horton Bay have moved to the Lewis farm.

Clyde Smith and family, spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Ed. Gregory.

Mr. and Mrs. Dhaeleer and children, spent Sunday with Mrs. Dhaeleer's brother and family at Alden.

The "Minister's Wife's New Bonnet" is the name of the play to be given at the church in the near future. Watch for the date.

Clara Dougherty entertained a crowd of friends on Thursday evening. Games were played and a fine supper was partaken of, making it a most enjoyable time for the young people.

Our aim is to please you with Willard Batteries and Goodyear tires. Benj. Brown.—Adv. 10tf.

NORWOOD

Norwood school is closed this week on account scarlet fever.

Clifford Genett is spending a few days with Russ and Sam Alward.

Arthur Brown, small son of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Brown of Norwood, is seriously ill with scarlet fever.

Mr. and Mrs. Dunn and daughter of Petoskey, spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Merril Richardson and family.

Mr. and Mrs. John Bugbee and son, Allison, of Charlevoix, spent Sunday afternoon at the Frank Richardson home.

Several cars from Charlevoix and other towns took the drive to Norwood Sunday and enjoyed the drive along the lakeside.

Miss Joyce Mayne, who has been spending her spring vacation with her parents, returned to Kalamazoo last Sunday, where she will take up her school work again.

Value

is the secret of Buick Success

. . . Because of the number of Buicks that people buy, you get value in a Buick that simply cannot be equalled at the Buick price . . . Buick puts the savings of volume—the earnings of leadership—right back into Buick quality . . . That's why Buick gives the satisfaction it does—why there are more than a million enthusiastic Buick owners.

Heaton & Hooper
BOYNE CITY, MICHIGAN

An Amazing Success

Feen-a-mint
The Chewing LAXATIVE

Chew It Like Chewing Gum

A pleasure to use. Very efficient. Children love it. No taste but that of sweet mint. The most popular laxative because it's a "satisfier." 15c and 25c.

Mothers!

Nature has a way of telling us when something is wrong. If your child is fretful, peevish, with a loss of appetite, it is Nature's danger signal for Intestinal Intoxication: Before retiring, give one NR Junior with a full glass of water, there will be no perturbing or stirring up, the action will be natural, consequently no griping or sickening sensations, neither will there be any risk of forming a habit requiring increased or continued doses. Faulty elimination and constipation will be corrected and the intimated, invigorated good feeling restored.

NR Juniors are little candy coated NR Tablets, one-third the medicinal strength of the regular NR Tablets — Nature's Remedy that have proven safe and dependable for over 30 years. Keep the children well and happy.

Get a 25c box

Sold By Your Druggist

CENTRAL DRUG STORE

Mrs. Ted Pearl and children, accompanied by her mother, Mrs. Stafford, and sister, Jessie, of Charlevoix, were guests of Mr. and Mrs. R. E. Stafford last Friday afternoon.

Miss Ann Jones and her pupils, have arranged a fine minstrel program to be followed by a box social to be given on Friday evening of this week, at the McGeagh school house at 8 o'clock.

The Norwood township officers elected at the election Monday for the year were: Orrin VanDusen, supervisor; Frank Richardson, clerk; Edd Gregory, treasurer; Plenny Gerrett, highway commissioner; James Heeres, Justice of the Peace; Hattie Holdcheck, Minnie Gregory, Mrs. Cole, Mrs. Wells, constables.

IRONTON

Mrs. Marie Heath is on Mt. Berry Sunday.

Miss Cecil Berry called at the Bridenstine home Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Marion Jackson and family, motored to Bellaire Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Sam Alexander called at the Bridenstine home Sunday.

Miss Cecil Berry of Charlevoix, was out to see her father one day last week.

Mr. and Mrs. Hugh King and son and Ula Berry made a business trip to Petoskey Saturday.

The Ladies' Aid Society will meet with Mrs. Wm. Scott Wednesday, for an afternoon meeting.

Mrs. Sam Alexander and Mrs. Ross Alexander, called on Mrs. Berry one day last week at the Charlevoix hospital.

Miss Zoe Patterson, who was working at the Bridinstine home for the past week, has returned to high school in Charlevoix.

Will Webb and mother called to see Mr. Berry Sunday, also bringing with them Mr. Berry's sister, Mrs. Emma Berry, from Petoskey.

The Ladies' Aid Society met Wednesday with Mrs. Matthew Saunder with an all day meeting and potluck dinner. There were twenty-two ladies present.

EAST CHANDLER

Mrs. Cora Willis, our school teacher, was a Boyne City caller Saturday.

Mrs. Constance Gallop was a business caller at Charlevoix and Petoskey last Tuesday.

Quite a number from here attended Mr. Stack's sale at Boyne Falls, Saturday afternoon.

B. C. Mellencamp, County Agent, held a field meeting at the farm of George Penfold Friday afternoon.

Harvey Howard and family of Johannesburg, were Sunday visitors at the home of their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Noah Howard.

Mr. and Mrs. Roscoe Howard, of West Chandler, are the proud parents of a baby boy, born March 24, named Kenneth Ervin.

Mr. and Mrs. Forrest Ashman, who have lived at Petoskey and Boyne Falls, for the past three years moved back to their farm last week.

BENTLEY HILL

Miss Elizabeth DeGroot is on the sick list.

Peter Timmer was in the vicinity, Thursday.

John Heeres is working for Herman Heeres.

Mr. and Mrs. M. Heeres and family, visited John Koster.

Miss Marie Setzema visited Gertrude Reamsma, Sunday.

Mrs. Garret Rubingh was a caller in Charlevoix, Thursday.

Mr. and Mrs. John Fleming are the proud parents of a baby girl.

Thomas DeMoulpied is on the sick list; and Dr. Duffie is attending him.

Mr. and Mrs. Jake Hooksma and family, visited Bert DeGroot.

Mrs. Henry Reamsma returned home Friday, after spending a few weeks in Grand Rapids.

Our garage, battery and tire shop is at your service. Benj. Brown.—

ATWOOD

Did you get fooled?

Easter Sunday, April 17th.

H. Klooster returned from Detroit last Friday.

Should the wind be from northwest on Good Friday—Good corn year.

Frank Brown has purchased a wind motor to pump water. He will install it this week.

We learn that Mr. Cobb has sold his farm and will go to Central Lake to make his future home.

Ernest Brown, who has been attending school in Huntington, Ind., will come home some time this month.

Rose Klooster is home from Grand Rapids and will clerk in the H. Klooster & Co. store during the summer months.

Mrs. Elizabeth Peebles of Ellsworth who has been at the Jim Heeres home for the past two weeks, returned home last Saturday.

We are sorry to learn of Mr. Maurice Henry's illness. We hope he will be all O. K. again in a few days. Dr. Bracher of East Jordan, is attending him.

L. A. S. met on Thursday last at the home of Mrs. Pearl Lord. All report a good time. One lady walked two miles either for exercise, reducr or appetite.

The Leonard Seed Co., of Chicago, is contemplating the feasibility of having a trial garden near Atwood. They will want about twenty acres. Moral: Boost Your Town.

Ethan Jolliffe sold another piano this week to L. O. Isaman of Ellsworth. Some are just beginning to find out that they can do just a little better with their home dealer.

Miss Sarah Klooster, who is attending college in Holland, Michigan, was home over Sunday. She came with her aunt, Mrs. Sarah Bruese, and both returned Monday morning.

308 votes cast at the annual Banks Township election. Richard DeYoung receiving the highest number of votes for supervisor and Dan. McFee for highway commissioner. T. E. Boss, clerk.

Miss Inez Triplett, who is teaching school in Boyne City, was home over Saturday and Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. John Triplett. Miss Triplett will sing an Easter solo at the M. E. church on Easter Sunday, time 10 o'clock a. m.

FAIRVIEW-BANKS

Farmers have started their spring work.

Jay Kuiper returned from Grand Rapids last Tuesday.

Miss Gladys Hawley spent the week-end with her parents at Alden, Mich.

GOITRE CAUSED SERIOUS CONDITION

Battle Creek Lady Saved from Operation. A Liniment Used.

Huldah Ashley, 29 Orin St., Battle Creek, Michigan, says she will gladly answer inquiries how she was relieved of staggering, fainting and choking spells by Sorbol-Quadruple. Sold by all drug stores, or from Sorbol Company, Mechanicsburg, O. Locally at F. J. Fessenden's.

More Eggs
Feed Cost Less!

Blatchford's "Fill the Basket"
Egg Mash

New Special Process. The only mash that contains 18 highest quality ingredients and 5 sources of animal protein. Exactly the food elements necessary for highest egg production. That's why we recommend Blatchford's—it's better and costs less peregg than any other mash.

Come in—
Get a Trial
Bag Today

ARGO MILLING COMPANY

DO IT NOW

---A---

NEW CAR FOR YOUR OLD CAR

The Latest Finishes

Have your good car refinished with

Duco	Lacquers or
Nitro	the High gloss
Egyptian	Varnishes

ATCHISON AUTO SHOP

Phone 93 - 204 Mason St.

Edward Klooster and Mr. Zimmerman, were in this locality last week buying cattle.

Miss Margie Timmer visited with her friend, Miss Ella Hoffman in Atwood, Wednesday.

Miss Minnie Oosterbaan of Central Lake, spent a few days here last week visiting relatives.

Oscar DeGroot of Wright district, and Warney Alexander were in this neighborhood Saturday.

Miss Ella Shooks of Grand Rapids, is visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Tony Shooks, this week.

Mr. and Mrs. James Wheeler visited with Mr. and Mrs. H. J. Timmer Wednesday evening.

Mr. and Mrs. John Timmer of Ellsworth, visited with H. J. Timmer and family, Friday evening.

Ralph A. VanDerHeide, "The Saginaw Medicine Man," was in the vicinity one day last week.

Mrs. Jno. Oosterbaan, Sr., is visiting friends and relatives in the southern part of the state this week.

Dick Oosterbaan and Peter Timmer, were dinner guest at Anthony Knijer's near Central Lake, Sunday.

Mrs. Lucy Boss and son, Willis, of Zeeland, Mich., are visiting with Mr. and Mrs. H. J. Timmer and family a few days.

Mrs. Mertus Rubingh and children, left Friday afternoon for a ten day visit with friends and relatives in Zeeland, Mich.

Peter H. Timmer, who has been employed as bookkeeper at the Townline Hatchery Co., in Zeeland, Mich., spent a few days here with his parents.

I have combined my battery and tire repair shop and will give all car owners the service that they are looking for. Benj. Brown.—Adv. 10tf.

MURRAY SCHOOL NOTES

The last basketball game was played Thursday night. Baseball has replaced basketball.

The box social was a success. Twenty dolars was cleared. This puts Murray out of debt with a fine basketball outfit, enough money to buy a new lamp, and about $7 in the treasury.

The visitors of last week were: Willis Gregory, Clifton Gregory, Roy Talbot-on, Mary Simons, Margaret Gimbel, Edna Zipp, Nina Johnson, Ahlwin McClellen and Ervin Racignol.

The next big event of the season is the 7th and 8th grade examination. Eleven members of the Murray school are looking forward to the event with great pleasure, the members being: Marjoire Mawby, Bints Mawby, Elbert Anderson, Lillian Baker and Wolfe Prier of 7th grade; and Doris Anderson, Viora Furguson and Ward Schantz of 8th grade.

Why buy poor tires at a low price when you can buy a Goodyear tire at that price. Benj. Brown.—Adv. 10tf.

EVELINE

Charles Zitka is the owner of a new car.

Hans Johnson is the owner of a new team of horses.

Mr. and Mrs. Peter Larson of Boyne City, spent Sunday with the latter's mother.

John Knudsen and family, who have been living on the Loeb Farms have moved up on their own farm in Eveline township.

We are at your service on Willard batteries and Goodyear tires at a very low price. Benj. Brown.—Adv. 10tf.

COMMUNICATION

To the Children of Charlevoix.

Dear Boys and Girls—Did you ever think what it would seem like to go into the woods and hear no sound of wild life? The stillness—the solitude that would surround you would be dreadful. Yet some of you thoughtlessly take your slingshots and wander forth with the deliberate intention of destroying the beautiful birds and squirrels that come to our city park, to make that place a happy play ground. The birds will cease to visit us each spring, as they journey towards their northern nesting home, if they are hunted with guns and slingshots.

Now suppose that every boy and girl, when visiting the park and our lovely Lake Michigan beach, fill their pockets with peanuts and bread crumbs and make friends with the sweet songsters and the cunning squirrels. You will be surprised how much you will learn about these little neighbors that you never knew before. Won't you rally to the call and resolve in your hearts that from this day on, you will be a loyal defender of wild life?

Learn to protect the trees, the flowers, the birds, the beasts, in fact, all help to make the world better and safer and more beautiful as you join the crusade of conservationists. It will pay big dividends in added joy to all of you.

Very kindly and respectfully,
Mrs. Cassie Hart

Special offer to the readers of this paper

WE want you to know that each of the seven quality automobiles named below is a General Motors car. We want you to know how General Motors doubly guarantees these cars—how it is passing the savings of vast manufacturing operations (1,200,000 cars last year) on to you—in finely built engines, Fisher Bodies, Duco finish, quality materials in those vital points where quality counts most in comfort, safety, long life and high resale value.

Read about the General Motors line. "A car for every purse and purpose." See the wide choice of models—the wide range of prices. Decide which car interests you most; then clip and mail the coupon.

As a special offer, we will also send you a wonderfully interesting little book about the General Motors Proving Ground. It gives facts which you ought to have before you select any car. Fully illustrated. And its reading may save you hard cash. Act today.

CHEVROLET 7 models—$525 to $745

The quality car of the low-priced field. 3-speed transmission. Strong rear axle. Smooth dry-disc clutch. Overhead valve engine. Fisher Bodies. Duco finish. Alemite lubrication. Fully equipped. CHEVROLET TRUCK CHASSIS: 1-ton, $395; ½-ton, $495.

PONTIAC 5 models—$775 to $975

A low-priced "six" which is a quality product in appearance and construction. Has largest 6-cylinder engine in its price class. Beautiful, stylish lines. Fisher Bodies. Duco finish. All conveniences included. Value proved by unprecedented sale.

OLDSMOBILE 11 models—$875 to $1190

Gratifies your finer taste; satisfies every need. A truly fine car at moderate cost. Beautiful Fisher Bodies. Duco finish. Powerful 6-cylinder motor. Harmonic balancer. 4-wheel brakes. Many other new improvements. And a wide range of models to choose from.

OAKLAND 7 models—$1095 to $1295

Winning and holding goodwill everywhere because of its advanced engineering and precision construction. Fisher Bodies. Duco finish. Rubber silenced chassis. 4-wheel brakes. A "six" whose quality is doubly assured as a product of General Motors.

BUICK 18 models—$1195 to $1995

Everybody knows Buick's worth. General Motors emphasizes Buick's statement that its new models represent "The Greatest Buick Ever Built." Vibration unbelievably reduced. Famous 6-cylinder valve-in-head engine. Bodies by Fisher. Duco finish. Many models.

LaSALLE 6 models—$2495 to $2685

General Motors' latest contribution to the fine car field. This is the new and beautiful car designed and built by Cadillac as a companion car to Cadillac. Has V-type 8-cylinder engine. Fisher Bodies. Duco finish. Now on display.

CADILLAC 50 body styles and types—$2995 to $9000

The pioneer in the 8-cylinder field. Standard of the world. Improved V-type 90-degree engine. Marvelous bodies by Fisher and Fleetwood. Duco finishes. A choice of 576 different color and upholstery combinations to emphasize individuality in ownership.

ALSO—

FRIGIDAIRE electric refrigerators. The largest selling electric refrigerator in the world. Built by General Motors. Many models—many prices.

DELCO-LIGHT electric plants. Another General Motors product. Brings you all the conveniences and labor-saving devices of electricity.

[ALL PRICES F. O. B. FACTORIES]

CLIP THE COUPON

WE WANT YOU to know more about General Motors and its cars and other products. Check the car that interests you most and mail in the coupon. We will send you, free, interesting illustrated booklets telling all about that car and what General Motors is doing to assure you of both value and satisfaction in car ownership. Clip the coupon now. Mail it TODAY. Don't wait.

GENERAL MOTORS

CLIP THE COUPON

GENERAL MOTORS (Dept. A), Detroit, Mich.

CHEVROLET ☐
PONTIAC ☐
OLDSMOBILE ☐
OAKLAND ☐
BUICK ☐
LASALLE ☐
CADILLAC ☐
FRIGIDAIRE Electric Refrigerators ☐
DELCO-LIGHT Electric Plants ☐

Please send, without obligation to me, your Proving Ground Book, together with illustrated literature describing the General Motors product I have checked, and the name of the nearest dealer in case I may wish a demonstration.

Name .....

Address .....

.....

(Chapter Twelve Continued)

shall I say to I'd do?" Mother found out last night. She was waiting for me when I came in."

"I thought her far too clever to be fooled long," commented Ned.

Mary continued: "Mother sent for—er—telegraphed to Mr. Rangeley, Mr. Loren Rangeley, to join her here."

Ned's exclamation made her look up, surprised. "How can you know what that means?" she asked, astonished.

Ned Stood Waiting in the Doorway.

"I—I'm not quite sure," Ned managed to say.

"It means that Mother will try to divorce my father and marry that cold-blooded fish—"

"Mary, don't! Loren Rangeley's my father!"

Only Ned's strong arm saved Mary from stumbling, perilously near the canal. "How can he be your father? Why, you're—"

"I'm Ned Carter Rangeley. I quarreled with my father. I told you all about that, long ago. That is, I told you everything except his name. You see, I wanted you to love—the grocer's clerk."

"It would be much easier than to marry Loren Rangeley's son."

"Mary! You don't mean that."

"I do. How could that be the reason for calling yourself 'Carter'? You did it before you ever saw me."

"I was tired of being just my father's son. I wanted Claude to like me for myself. Mary, you must believe me."

"I see my father," Mary interrupted. "I'm going to him."

"Not until I—Mary, marry me now, and then your mother won't marry my father, and Claude will have his chance."

"Utter and complete nonsense!"

"It isn't nonsense. You know it isn't. Mary, look at me. Is it such utter nonsense?"

"Father!" called Mary, moving quickly forward. "Here we are."

They moved together into the Accademia, and as Ned stopped to pay the fees, Claude and Mary went up stairs together.

"What's wrong, darling?" asked Claude.

Mary put her hand on his arm and drew him into a little room at one side, empty of sightseers for the moment. She noticed, with extreme annoyance, that it contained two or three paintings by Bellini. She feared she would always forget their beauty and only associate them with this most troublesome day of her life. "Mother knows," she said in a low voice.

"Well, that's all right," Claude answered easily. "Polly must know, sooner or later. I meant, what's the trouble between you and Ned?"

Mary decided that her father would be safe. "He wants me to marry him."

Claude looked at her. "The young devil! But I hardly blame him."

"He's Loren Rangeley's son."

"He couldn't help that. Don't you like him, Mary? Ned has sudden ways, but he's a nice boy."

"Father," announced Mary irrelevantly, "if you'll come behind that easel I'll kiss you."

"Sure," said Claude.

They came from behind the easel presently. Claude studiously avoided a glance at the painting, which he privately thought too ugly for words.

"Don't ask me to look at any more big, fat women who wouldn't take any exercise, lost their figures, and yet would have their portraits painted," he begged Mary. "Let's find Ned."

But Mary protested. "He can wait. You don't know everything yet, Father. Mother's sent for Loren Rangeley. She's going to marry him for his money."

"Loren's got quite a pile," Claude agreed calmly, "but then, there's me. She'll have to get rid of me, first. Unless she has?" He cocked an inquiring eye at Mary. Mary shook her head.

Ned joined them. Claude looked at him critically.

"Mary told me about you."

Mary gasped. Father was terribly direct.

"If there has to be a husband, right away," Claude observed to the Bellini in that room, "I'd rather it was Ned."

"If you'll come behind the picture of that big, thick woman, who's been roughly handled," Ned told him, "I'll kiss you."

"Don't be sickening," Claude warned him, as they moved away toward the entrance. "Where can we three go to talk about our lives in general, and have a little privacy. No churches, no palaces, and no picture galleries!" he warned. "My feet ache at the very thought of them, and they are all full of gabby guides." He paused near the gondola steps, and considered a moment. "We can take a gondola—"

He was unprepared and a little startled by the nimble of his companions, but continued gravely and without waiting for an explanation, "and go to my sitting room."

He handed Mary in, and turning to Ned, surveyed him coldly. "On second thoughts, which are often best, we'll leave you to find your way there yourself, and slowly. I've something to say to Mary, and," he added with a look that quelled Ned's tendency to rebel, "there are times when a father and daughter, actually like to be alone together, though you don't seem to think so."

A fatherly squeeze of Ned's arm helped Ned to interpret these remarks and to withdraw with better grace than Mary expected.

"What a comfort you are, Father."

"You don't have to marry Ned, you know, unless you happen to want to."

"Don't worry! Loren Rangeley will put his foot down. He knows Mother's money's gone. I'm only a poor grocer's daughter."

"Is your mother's money all gone?"

"Pretty nearly. That's why she's considering Loren Rangeley."

Claude considered her gravely. "Do you mind the grocery business, very much?"

Mary patted his arm. "Of course I don't. Only, Father, you're foolish to spend so much money traveling. When I go back we'll need to alter things a little. I can save you money by waiting behind the counter or keeping the books, until we see what I'm best fitted for. I do hope you'll let me ride around in the car with you when you deliver orders."

Claude's arm tightened about her. "You're my girl, all right," he said with husky voice. "But that isn't necessary. As a matter of fact, Loren will jump at the chance of getting my daughter for his son. Ned, of course, doesn't know this," he added quickly. "Ned thinks he's asking you to put up with what he's got. He has some of his mother's money, and he can earn more. He's quarreled with Loren, you know."

"Why should Loren Rangeley 'jump' at me?"

Here Father was silent. She was so young, so lovable, and so unlike the [illegible] she feared so little to [illegible]

"You see, daughter, I'm 'SCOUR-EEN' the 'Dirt Destroyer'." Then, in answer to her look of amazement: "You've seen the signs, surely. They're everywhere. It's a good article, too. I invented it out of Mom's old kitchen cleaner recipe. Then I had an idea for a fancy thing—it caught on—it's years since I've been a poor grocer. At first I kept quiet about it—well, because of Polly. I was fool enough to fancy she'd come back, if I had money. I thought I'd keep it dark and go and find her myself, and surprise her. But I never did. There was a time, when I had no money, when I really wanted to find her; but after considering everything well, I just couldn't. Remember, I didn't know about you."

"It kept piling up," Claude continued. "The money, I mean. If a man failed, and I as agent, sold you," and he twinkled at Mary over this time-honored joke, "loaned him money, blamed if his business wouldn't boom. He'd be paying it back to me in no time and I'd have all that spare cash on my hands. Money breeds money. I've spent all I wanted to, in a quiet way. I lived behind the grocery mostly to keep Aunt Lyddy happy, but I've had fun building and remodeling houses to suit me. The White house you and Polly lived in was one of them. I own nearly all of Clover Hollow." But, till I met Ned here, I never really enjoyed traveling about and using money on myself. I'm a kind of timid man about some things. With Ned, it's been grand. And you! When I knew about you, I knew what the money was for. Think of the fun I'll get out of just buying things for you! Now that Polly knows you know me, can't we go and do some shopping? I want to buy you all the things I've wanted to hang on somebody and didn't know you were waiting for me."

"Father, we mustn't be reckless. I can't take it quite all in. How many thousand have you?"

"It runs nearer to millions, Mary."

"Mercy, what will Mother say?"

Claude, watching her face, saw it change.

"What are you afraid of?" he asked bluntly.

But Mary could not, or would not, say. Her father helped her from the gondola.

When they entered the sitting room, he said: "You're not afraid of me?"

Mary shook her head. "I simply love you."

"H'm, I'm always afraid of those I love getting away from me."

He watched her remove her hat, and then move about the room. It was lovely, she told him, to be in his rooms. Still Claude had a feeling she was not at rest.

"If it's Ned, you needn't be uneasy," he told her, cryptically. But Mary apparently did not hear.

Claude went to the balcony and looked down.

"Here's Ned now. Pretty prompt, you are. I said half an hour."

"It seemed half a century," Ned told him, coming straight toward Mary. "Well, have you talked me over thoroughly, and come to the right conclusion?"

"Funny, isn't it," drawled Claude, as he saw Mary color, "but we had other things to talk about. When Mary mentions it, we'll take up your case. The question to consider just now is, are you prepared to face your father?"

"Father! Coming here?"

Claude nodded, surveying Ned coolly, but avoiding Mary's eyes. "You see our advantage. We can decide what we're going to do and pull the strings."

Ned, still astonished, looked at him in silence. He wondered, confusedly, whether this could be the explanation. Was Claude Dobbs the agent for Loren Rangeley? There was no time to follow that train of thought at present, but—he would return to it. "I see. Take the wind out of Mrs. Johnston's sails, eh?"

Mary rose with decision. "I'm going back to Mother. Father, you can see that I can't—"

"Can't join in with a lot of men to let a woman down, you mean?"

Mary looked at him dubiously. "I—well, something like that, only—"

"Only you wouldn't have put it that way. That's called sex-antagonism, daughter. Don't you trust me any more than that? I'm a man, but do you think I'd hurt you, or let Polly down for any man?"

"Father, it's all perfectly horrid. I'm so mixed up. I love you, and I do trust you, but Mother—well, she's mother."

"Sure," agreed Claude. "It would all be quite plain and simple if Polly hadn't muddled things up. It's the children who suffer from mixed motives and marriages. Well, my girl, we'll make it plain and simple again. All I ask of you is to stay here and give Mr. Rangeley, the elder, some ten, and keep him waiting while I go and talk to your mother."

Mary gasped. "Mother will never see you!"

"I think better of Polly than that," said Claude, and was gone.

CHAPTER XIV

Mrs. Polly Johnston returning from an aimless walk about the place was told by the [illegible] boy that there had just been given a message to the effect that a gentleman was waiting for her in the lounge.

"His card," she smiled Polly wrinkling her nose at the [illegible] mirror to see if [illegible] The boy handed [illegible] on which was [illegible] Johnston with pencilled [illegible] Rangeley."

"Take me up at [illegible]," the boy, "and [illegible] I will be down [illegible]

(Continued on page 7.)

What Is a Diuretic?

People Are Learning the Value of Occasional Use.

EVERYONE knows that a laxative stimulates the bowels. A diuretic performs a similar function to the kidneys. Under the strain of our modern life, our organs are apt to become sluggish and require assistance. More and more people are learning to use Doan's Pills, occasionally, to insure good elimination which is so essential to good health. More than 50,000 grateful users have given Doan's splendid recommendation. Scarcely a community but has its representation. Ask your neighbor!

DOAN'S PILLS 60c

Stimulant Diuretic to the Kidneys

Foster-Milburn Co., Mfg. Chem., Buffalo, N. Y.

GRAHAM BROTHERS TRUCKS

$670 ¾-Ton Chassis F.O.B. Detroit

$1245 1½-Ton Chassis F.O.B. Detroit

$885 1-Ton Chassis F.O.B. Detroit

$1445 2-Ton Chassis F.O.B. Detroit

Dual Rear Wheels Optional at Same Price

Quality—
Volume—
Low Price

BENJAMIN BROWN

Charlevoix, Michigan

AUCTION SALE

The undersigned will sell at Public Auction at his farm, on the Charlevoix-Boyne City Road, 8 miles east of Charlevoix, or 3 1-2 miles west of Horton Bay, on

Wednesday, April 13th

Commencing at 1:00 p. m., sun time, the following described property:

Bay Horse, 9 yrs. old, wt. 1200
Guernsey (State tested) cow, 8 yrs. old, freshen soon
Guernsey (State tested) Cow, 3 yrs. old, fresh now
Guernsey (State tested) Heifer, 3 yrs. old, freshen soon
Brindel Heifer, 3 yrs. old, freshen in about two months
Ideal Grain Binder
Deering Mowing Machine
Double-cylinder Hay Loader
Manure Spreader
Lumber Wagon
Riding Cultivator (two horse)
Peerless Plow Syracuse Plow
Spring-tooth Harrow
Potato Planter (two horse)
Hoover Potato Digger
Two Horse Bean and Corn Planter
Set of Work Harness Single Harness
Top Buggy
Five-tooth Cultivator
Gasoline Lantern Some Lamps
One barrel Fruit Tree and Potato Sprayer
DeLaval Cream Separator
Two Bean Pickers
One Cider Press
One-hundred and fifty feet Hay Rope (New)
Ten ton (more or less) Baled Hay
Ten bushels White Beans, hand picked
Ten cords Slab and Buzz Wood
20 bushels Potatoes
Quantity of Lumber
2 coils of Cedar Wood
200 Shocks Corn, in field
Thirty-gallon Kettle
1 Sap Pan Post Hole Digger
50 Cedar Posts
Shovels, Hoes, Pitchforks, Potato Scoop, quantity of useful books
Other articles too numerous to mention

TERMS OF SALE

All sums of $10.00 or under, cash; all sums over $10.00, nine months time on good, approved, endorsed bankable paper bearing interest at 7 per cent. payable at the Charlevoix County Bank. Five per cent off for cash on all sums over $10.00. No goods to be removed until terms of sale are complied with and all settlements must be made at time of sale.

Philip Howe, Prop.

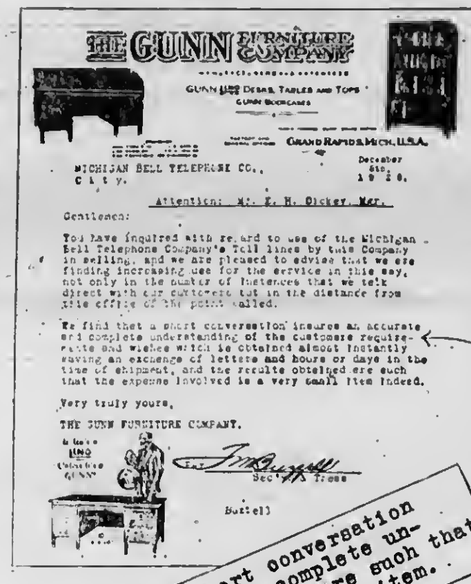
ROBERT BRIDGE, Note Clerk.
JOHN BOS, Clerk.

BYERS & BOS, Auctioneers.

MICHIGAN BELL TELEPHONE CO.

Long Distance Sells Furniture

Throughout America for Gunn



THE GUNN FURNITURE COMPANY
GUNN Line Desks, Tables and Tops
GUNN Bookcases
GRAND RAPIDS, MICH., U.S.A.
MICHIGAN BELL TELEPHONE CO.,
City.
December 6th, 1926.
Attention: Mr. E. H. Dickey, Mgr.
Gentlemen:
You have inquired with regard to use of the Michigan Bell Telephone Company's Toll lines by this Company in selling, and we are pleased to advise that we are finding increasing use for the service in this way, not only in the matter of instances that we talk direct with our customers but in the distance from this office of the point called.
We find that a short conversation insures an accurate and complete understanding of the customers requirements and wishes which is obtained almost instantly saving an exchange of letters and hours or days in the time of shipment, and the results obtained are such that the expense involved is a very small item indeed.
Very truly yours,
THE GUNN FURNITURE COMPANY.
Dec'r & Treas
Buttell

We find that a short conversation insures accurate and complete understanding and results are such that the expense is a very small item.

The CHARLEVOIX COURIER
Issued every Wednesday at
CHARLEVOIX MICHIGAN

DuBois & Usher, Publishers
A. J. Usher, Editor and Business Mgr.
Courier Building Van Pelt Place

Entered at the Post Office in Charlevoix, Mich., as second class matter.

Member Michigan Press Ass'n

Advertising Rates

For advertising rates apply for schedule.

Notices of church or lodge socials and entertainments, where admission is charged, regular rates.

Obituary poetry, regular rates.

Card of Thanks, 25 cents.

TERMS OF SUBSCRIPTION

One copy, one year $2.00
One Copy, six months $1.00
One Copy, three months .....$ .60

BANKS TOWNSHIP POLLED BIG VOTE

Largest Turn-Out In Election History There Monday

Predictions that Banks township would cast a large vote at the polls Monday did not run amiss. Monday day's election was a repetition of the caucus held earlier in the spring with a total of 282 votes cast in the township. Officers elected were the following:

Supervisor—Richard D. DeYoung.
Clerk—Tracey Boss.
Treasurer—Wm. Kooyer.
Highway Commissioner—Dan McPhee.
Justice of the Peace—George Rubingh.
Member Board of Review—H. H. Whitney.
Constables—George Nelson, Dudley Edson.

Dr. J. Leahy, the Optometrist, will be at the Hotel Charlevoix Monday, April 4th.—Adv. 12-t2.

WILL BUILD 26,841 MILES ROAD IN 1927

Besides Bridges and Maintaining 239,847 Miles Highway.

The construction of 26,841 miles of road and the maintainance of 239,847 miles are included in the 1927 State highway programs of 47 states according to reports received by the Bureau of Public Roads, United States Department of Agriculture. The programs also include the construction of a number of large bridges and the reconstruction of roads previously improved. On account of uncertainty of supporting legislation no estimnte of the season's work is possible as yet in Connecticut.

In carrying out the above programs it is expected there will be expended under the supervision of the State highway departments in the 47 states a total of $648,483,000.

In addition to the State expenditures approximate estimates indicate that counties and other lesser subdivisions of government will expend during the year $175,000,000.

Of the expenditures by the State highway departments of the 47 states approximately $424,000,000 is the estimated amount for road construction and, according to present plans, more than $56,000,000 additional will be spent for new bridges. For reconstruction of existing roads it is estimated that the expenditure will be nearly $27,000,000 and for maintenance approximately $126,000,000.

Quick service—expert workmanship in Campbell's Shoe Repair Dept.—Adv. 14-tf.

HOSPITAL NOTES

Mrs. Bell Whiteford of East Jordan, submitted to a major operation last Wednesday.

Mrs. Bertha Jensen of East Jordan, was operated on last Wednesday. She is doing nicely.

Mrs. A. T. Jeffrey had her tonsils removed at the hospital last Wednesday.

Frank Smith is in the hospital this week, for medical treatment.

Mrs. James Earl Submitted to an operation last Saturday and her condition is reported very satisfactory.

Glenn See had his tonsils removed at the hospital Sunday.

Miss Lora Crapsy of Petoskey, is general duty nurse at the hospital during the absence of Bertha Larson, superintendent, who is now enjoying a two week's vacation. Miss Helen Newman is acting superintendent.

Mrs. Harrington Hostess

Mrs. B. L. Harrington entertained at her home on Clinton street, Tuesday afternoon in honor of Mrs. Clara Todd, who is leaving in the near future for an extended visit with her daughter, Mrs. Sims Clark, in Grand Rapids and her son, Gordon, in Kalamazoo. The guests present were: Mrs. J. Price, Mrs. Charles Jefferies, Mrs. Wm. Cooper, Mrs. Emmet Coulter, Mrs. H. Cooper and Mrs. Clara Todd.

Mrs. O. D. Hammond entertained at her home on Dixon avenue, Friday afternoon, of last week, with a benefit bridge party for the local order of Pythian Sisters. Tables were reserved for forty players and the charge made for each player was turned into the lodge treasury.

John Smith is our Cobbler. Campbell Boot Shop.—Adv. 14-t1.

Christian Science Society

Sunday service 10:45 a. m.
Subject, "Are Sin, Disease, and Death Real?"
Sunday school at 12 o'clock.
Wednesday evening service, 7:46.
Reading room open Tuesday and Saturday, 3 to 5 p. m.
The public is cordially invited to attend our service.

Being in business is a position, but keeping in it is a job.

CIVIC COMMITTEES GAVE PARK REPORTS

Program of Improvements Recommended at Meeting

The joint civic committee appointed by some of the woman's organiznions of the city gave a very interesting report to the co-operating groups last Saturday afternoon at the high school auditorium. The report dealt mainly with our city park on the shore of Lake Michigan. Hundreds of our local people and many others from far and near picnic there every summer.

The committee suggests various needed improvements, which include the planting of beach grass and similar vegetation to stop the shifting of sand and the uncovering of tree roots; the sowing of wild flower seed to replace the flowers destroyed when the park was burned over a few years ago; interesting the boys and girls and everyone in the protection of the wild flowers, birds, squirrels, etc; naming the park to distinguish it from the new city park on Bridge street; installing toilet facilities; making a parking place for autos, etc.

The park commissioners had already planned some of these improvements for the present season and they have assured the committee they are glad to have their suggestions and co-operation. The funds at the disposal of the commission are limited and it is possible the women may organize permanently as an auxilliary or federation, with dues, which will assure them money to use for things they would like to see done and for which public funds are not available. A report was also made of the condition of some of the back yards and alleys in the vicinity of Bridge street.

Another meeting of the co-operating organizations will be held about April 29th.

Bring your shoe repairing here. Quick service best of leather. Campbell Boot Shop.—Adv. 14-t1.

METHODIST CHURCH
C. E. Pollock, Minister

Palm Sunday sermons "The Royal Superscription" 10:30 a. m. "The Present Age" 7:00 p. m.

The evening will be almost entirely an hour of music, song and pictures. Features of the evening will be a great hymn, a half hundred still pictures with a brief explanation, excellent special music.

In addition to the regular service program of the day there will be an afternoon sacramental and church reception program from 2:30 p. m. until six p. m. Parents who desire their children baptized, and any who are prepared for baptism should come some time during the afternoon Sunday to be cared for.

The ladies' literary and sewing club will meet Thursday afternoon this week at the church. The basement has been newly renovated and painted, through the courtesy of the club, and will be re-opened to the church services at this afternoon meeting. Mrs. Ted Pearl will be the hostess of the occasion.

The pastor spoke at East Jordan last Friday afternoon on "Youth Time and Spring Time." He also spoke at Boyne City last Friday evening on the subject, "The Justifications of Seventy-Six."

The Epworth League held a box social at the church last Tuesday evening, and a good time was enjoyed and some money realized toward the state Epworth League Institute at Albion.

Last Tuesday evening was a busy evening with a prayer meeting at seven, an official board meeting at seven-thirty and a Sunday school board meeting at eight-thirty. Large attendances were present for each of these affairs.

The Woman's Missionary Society met with the Queen Esthers for a very happy time at the McMillan home Wednesday afternoon.

HEAVY VOTE IN ALL TOWNSHIPS

(Continued from page one.)

Marion Township

Supervisor—Jay Adams.
Clerk—Willinm Withers.
Treasurer—Frnuk Matchett.
Highway Commissioner — Albert Elliott.
Justice of the Peace—H. L. Francisco.
Member Board of Review—H. E Cunningham.
Overseer of Highways—Edd Boss.

Clarion Township

Supervisor—J. W. Colden.
Clerk—Allen Sherk.
Treasurer—Clyde Kent.
Highway Commissioner — Elmer Larson.
Justice of the Peace—A. B. Greenhoe.
Member Board of Review—H. O. Easton.
Constables—Isaac Gerringer, J. B. Jones, Irwin Banks, Ed. Hetrick.

Courier Want Ads. pay.

Kayser Gloves

THE NEW SPRING GLOVES IN SILK AND CHAMOISETTE AT .....$1.00 and $1.50

GORDON HOSE

NEW SHADES OF SILK HOSE, silk to the hem, per pair $1.65

PHOENIX HOSE

ALL SILK HOSE IN ALL SHADES (Ask for lot 736) $1.95

ARTIFICIAL FLOWERS

THE VERY NEW FLOWERS FOR DRESSES AND COATS 50c, 75c, $1.00

M. A. Levinson & Co.

AUCTION SALE

I will sell at Public Auction at my farm, located 1 mile east and 2 miles north of Ellsworth, or 9 miles south of Charlevoix, known as the Crandall farm, on

TUESDAY, APRIL 12

Commencing at 10:00 a. m., the following property to-wit:

Black Mare, weight 1350
Grey Gelding, weight 1300
Grade Jersey Cow, fresh Feb. 4th.
Grade Jersey Cow
Grade Jersey Cow, 3 yrs., freshen July 10
Grade Jersey Heifer, 2 years old, due to freshen April 30
Grade Jersey Heifer, 20 months old, due to freshen October 10
2 Wagons, 3 inch tires
Double Wagon Box. 2 Spring Seats
Pair Sleighs, 3 inch runners
Pair Sleighs, 2 inch runners
McCormick Mower, new vertical lift, No. 6
McCormick Mower No. 4
2 Wood Frame Harrows
Lever Harrow, Spike-tooth Harrow
10x16 Disc. 5 Shovel Cultivator
7 Shovel Cultivator
Double Shovel Cultivator
Combination Hay and Stock Rack
Ohio No. 8 1-2 Cutting Box
Wood Rack. Iron Age Garden Drill
Hand Cultivator, nearly new
Grain Cradle, Scythe and Snath
2 single Buggies. 3-section Roller
Drag Saw. Beet Lifter. 6-inch Belt
100 feet 1-inch Rope, new
Witte Engine, 6 h. p.
McCormick Hay Rake, 8 foot
Parker Plow No. 52
Buzz Rig with 28 inch saw
Hay Fork and Blocks. 20 Gunny Sacks
2 tons Alfalfa Hay.
2 tons Timothy Hay
Set Team Harness. 6 Horse Collars
Single Work Harness
Driving Harness
2 Neckyokes. Set 3-horse Eveners.
Set Whiffletrees and Eveners
New Perfection Oil Stove
2 Bedsteads
20 Hens. 2 Barred Rock Roosters
4 Hen Turkeys. 2 Gobblers.
Chains, Forks, Hoes, Shovels and other articles too numerous to mention.

FREE LUNCH AT NOON

TERMS OF SALE

All sums of $10.00 or under, cash; all sums over $10.00, 9 months time on good approved, endorsed, bankable paper bearing interest at 7 per cent, payable at the Citizens' Bank of Ellsworth. Five per cent discount for cash on all sums of $10.00 or over. No property to be removed until terms of sale are complied with, and all settlements must be made at time of sale.

Bert Crandall, Prop.

H. J. TIMMER, Clerk.
M. J. ANDERSON, Note Clerk.

W. E. BYERS,
Auctioneer.

CLEAN-UP DATE SET BY GOVERNOR GREEN

State Executive Urges Drive to Halt Fire Losses.

A proclamation naming the week fo May 16-21 as "Clean-up Week" for the state of Michigan was issued last week by Gov. Fred W. Green.

The governor said:

"Statistics from the records of the state fire marshal show that 75 per cent of the fires are due to carelessness. Last year there was property loss of $17,538,503.26 accounting for 18,309 fires. There were 73 schools, 70 churches, 23 hospitals, 28 theatres, 137 hotels, and two children's homes damaged by fire and in addition there were 339 fatalities.

"The people of Michigan have to pay this tremendous fire loss of $17,538,503.26. By their earnest co-operation the citizens of this state can obtain far reaching results along fire prevention."

Avoid fire risks from burning-out chimneys by using our honest-to-goodness Soot Destroyer. Charlevoix Hdw. Co.—Adv. 2tf.

Big reduction on Goodyear tires. Benj. Brown.—Adv. 10tf.

STALEY BROS. HARDWARE

For Your

BUILDING SUPPLIES

PAINTS OILS VARNISH STAINS

OIL STOVES AND RANGES

COOKING UTENSILS AND SPORTING GOODS

Quality Merchandise—Reasonable Prices

Courteous Treatment

STALEY BROS. HARDWARE

228 Bridge St. Phone No. 86.

WE DELIVER

THE OLDEST BANK IN CHARLEVOIX COUNTY
FORTY-THIRD YEAR IN BUSINESS

1884 1927

"Success" Insurance

BEING "GOOD" TO A SAVINGS ACCOUNT IS JUST ABOUT THE BEST AND SAFEST 'SUCCESS' INSURANCE THAT ANYONE IN THIS COMMUNITY WILL EVER FIND.

AND THE BEST TIME TO START SUCH AN ACCOUNT IS TODAY.

Charlevoix County Bank

CHARLEVOIX, MICHIGAN

Bridge & Company

THE BANK ON THE CORNER

LOCAL NEWS BRIEFLY TOLD

Get the Habit—Read the Courier

Dan McCann left Monday for Chicago where he has taken a position.

Mrs. B. G. Mattson left Tuesday for Chicago, on a short business trip.

The Kirby family spent part of last week at their old home in Frankfort.

C. S. Dodge and grandson, Carlyn Oberlin, are spending the week in Flint on business.

Harold Hamlin of Clearwater, Florida, arrived Friday for an extended visit with relatives.

Richard Gregory, who has been ill with rheumatic influenza, is reported convalescent.

The Sanford made her first trip of the season on the Beaver Island run Wednesday, April 6th.

Born, Monday, to Mr. and Mrs. Carl Mitchell at their home on the north side, a baby boy.

Lloyd Curtis and Wm. Fessenden were Sunday guests at the Curtis home in Central Lake.

R. F. Sloan, accompanied by his son, Paul, spent last week visiting relatives in Chattanooga, Tenn.

Mr. and Mrs. Bert Alcox left Tuesday for Old Monroe, Missouri, on an extended visit with relatives.

Mr. and Mrs. George Roderick and son were Sunday guests at the L. E. Roderick home in Boyne City.

Mrs. B. K. Buchen returned to Mt. Pleasant Saturday after spending the spring vacation week in the city.

Norman Shanahan left Tuesday for Cedar Springs, where he will work with O. D. Hammond on the road job.

Carlton Oberlin, who has been spending the winter in Flint, is visiting his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. C. S. Dodge.

Glenn Ingalls returned from Detroit last week to resume his position as assistant at the local Standard Oil filling station.

Mr. and Mrs. L. E. Crandall returned Saturday from Port Orange, Florida, where they have been spending the winter.

E. Nickerson of Pentwater, succeeds Archie Russell as station agent at the local station of the Pere Marquette railway.

Regular meeting of Pythian Sisters will be held Monday evening, April 11th. Initiation will be followed by refreshments.

James Krulik returned the latter part of last week from St. Petersburg, Florida, where he has been spending the winter.

The Busy Bees of the L. O. T. M. will meet at the home of Mrs. Harry Powers on Grant street, Friday afternoon, April 8th.

Walker Mibs, bookkeeper at the office of the Charlevoix Abstract & Engineering company, is enjoying a two week's vacation.

Archie Russell of Grand Rapids, formerly Pere Marquette station agent, spent the week end in Charlevoix with his family.

Mr. and Mrs. Horace Harsha returned last Thursday from Birmingham, Alabama, where they have been spending the winter.

Herman Johnson, employed at the Northern Creamery Company left Saturday to visit relatives in West Branch, returning Tuesday.

Regular meeting of the county road commissioners will be held in the county road office in the court house, Thursday, April 7th.

Mrs. C. E. Sterrit returned Monday from the Burleson sanitarium in Grand Rapids, where she has been receiving medical treatment.

Mrs. D. E. Ingalls and daughter, Ida, accompanied by Miss Anne Jardine, motored to Muskegon last week to visit friends and relatives.

The Misses Faida and Hilda Ogden were week end guests of their cousins, Doris and Justine Reber at the Reber home in Petoskey.

C. E. Heller, manager of the local A. & P. store was called to Boyne City Tuesday to attend the funeral of his aunt, Mrs. Fred Heller.

The board of county poor commissioners will hold their regular meeting at the county infirmary in East Jordan, Wednesday, April 6.

Mr. and Mrs. E. L. Denny and family, accompanied by Glenn Rose and family of Petoskey, spent Sunday visiting relatives in Bellaire.

Regular meeting of Pine Lake Lodge No. 122, Knights of Pythias, Thursday evening, April 7. Work in the third rank. Lunch will be served.

Harold Jones returned Friday from Flint, where he has been spending the past few months. He will resume his work at Priest's studio.

The Literary and Sewing Club of the Methodist church will meet Thursday afternoon in the church parlors. Mrs. Ted Pearl will act as hostess.

Miss Carrie Geiken, school nurse in the Boyne City public schools, is spending the week of spring vacation at the home of her father, G. C. Geiken.

The Pilgrim Circle of the Congregational Ladies' Aid Society will meet next Wednesday afternoon with Mrs. Louise Elston at 210 Antrim street.

The next meeting of the Parent Teacher Association will be held April 14th, at which time Dr. Poole of the State Health Dept. will make an address.

Mrs. Herman Tysver of Gloucester, Mass., formerly Miss Faye Darr... of Charlevoix, is reported convalescent, following a serious major operation.

W. A. McCool, president and general manager of the Northern Creamery Co., of Traverse City, was at the local branch office last week on business.

Richard Saltonstall, who is attending school at Olivet college, is spending the spring vacation week with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Brayton Saltonstall.

Mrs. George T. Allen and small daughter, Maxine Claire, of Detroit, are visiting at the home of her mother, Mrs. Roy Ranger, at the Ranger home on Belvedere avenue.

The home of G. E. Beard, at 1101 Emmet street, Petoskey, was badly damaged by fire Saturday of last week. Mr. and Mrs. Beard were former Charlevoix residents.

Mr. and Mrs. E. N. Ruegsegger, Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Martin and daughter, Helen, Miss Edith Lamerson and Miss Helen McIntyre, all of Boyne City, were Sunday guests at the G. C. Geiken home on Belvedere avenue.

Mr. and Mrs. A. W. Goddard, accompanied by Mrs. Goddard's mother, Mrs. Nellie Wood, returned Thursday from Mt. Dora and Daytona Florida, to spend the summer months in Charlevoix.

The April meeting of the W. C. T. U. has been postponed to Tuesday the 12th. It will be held with Mrs. Chas. Arnold at 407 Dixon avenue and Mrs. E. E. Cross will preside. The topic "The Child in the Midst."

Mrs. John R. Whitehead arrived Friday to spend the summer with her husband who is employed at the local office of the Western Union. They will make their home in the Hanshew house on Sherman street.

J. G. Hoffman of Petoskey, who has been representing the Petoskey Grocery Company in this territory for the past five years, has returned from an extensive southern tour and resumed his work in this locality.

Mrs. C. J. Winter, proprietor of the Hotel Charlevoix, left Thursday for her home in Eaton Rapids. She expects to return on Saturday of this week and will be accompanied by her husband, Dr. C. J. Winter.

The Northern Auto Company reports the sale of four-door sedans to Dewey Scroggie, of Bay Shore, Thos. Bonner of Beaver Island, and Mrs. Mary Meikle of Beaver Island; a delivery car to Myers Beach of Charlevoix.

P. J. Moran and Mrs. Moran, who is convalescing from an operation recently performed in a Detroit hospital, returned from that city Sunday. They were accompanied by their son, Pat, daughter Norine and Miss Lucille Usher.

Dr. R. B. Armstrong, accompanied by Mrs. Armstrong, left last week for a short visit with their daughters, Miss Helen Armstrong of Chicago and Mrs. George Wiantz of Indianapolis. The doctor expects to return this week.

John Rathburn, who has been employed at the Courier office for the past two years, left Saturday for his home in Lake City. Mrs. Rathburn left the same day for Detroit, where she will visit her parents for two weeks before going to Lake City.

Wyers & Smith, local automobile dealers, report the sale of an Essex sedan to E. B. Davis of Petoskey, an Essex coach to Charles Marshall, an Overland Whippet to Wm. Higman, a Whippet to Mrs. Smith of Mancelona and a Whippet to Rasmus Svensdahl.

The Misses Esther and Ruby Powell arrived home on Wednesday of last week from Columbia, S. C., where they have been visiting their father, T. R. Powell. They stopped over in Detroit, enroute, for a visit with their sister, Miss Fanny Powell and other friends.

Harold Taylor returned Monday from Southern Pines, North Carolina, where he has been working the past winter at the Highland Pines Inn. Harold reports a heavy snowfall in that section of the east, during the month of March, which was a very unusual occurence for that locality at such a late date.

Cecile Louise Pollock, returned to her college studies in Albion College last Monday, after spending a week with her parents during the spring vacation. Miss Cecile is doing work in the conservatory on piano in addition to the regular college degree course. While home she assisted with the church music and also broadcasted for the High School radio service from the Perry Hotel in Petoskey. She reports a very happy year in Albion where she has become a member of the Delta Gamma Sorority, a leading women's intercollegiate society of high scholastic grade.

Onyx Silk Hosiery, Silk Underwear, Flowers for Coats, Handkerchiefs and Scarfs make fine Gifts for Easter. See them at Holley Gift Shop.—Adv. 13-t3.

Mary Jane Cottage Cheese

Anybody who has ever tried it, exclaims over the velvety, fine-flavor of one of our biggest sellers, Mary Jane Cottage Cheese. We always have it in stock—always fresh.

22c

Per lb.

Week end Candy Special

Satisfy your craving for sweets by taking advantage of this low-priced special.

Mixed Candy, 2 lbs. for

25c

Milton Block

DANCE HALL BURNED IN SPECTACULAR FIRE

Heavy Downpour of Rain Probably Saved Business District

Fire of undetermined origin completely destroyed the Lakeside pavilion, located on the Ayres Bonk property, foot of Clinton street, Tuesday night at about 10:30.

Fanned by a strong east wind off the lake, the fire was probably the most spectacular the city has witnessed for some time. The blaze had evidently gained considerable headway before the alarm was turned in and by the time the department arrived on the scene the entire building was a mass of flames, and beyond saving. Tongues of flame, carried by the strong wind, darted great distances from the building and the intense heat made it almost impossible to get within close range with hose lines. Buildings within a block range were showered with sparks, and had it not been for the heavy rain, Charlevoix would have probably suffered her greatest fire loss.

Local fire fighters are to be commended upon their efficient work in preventing nearby building from catching. The building was covered by insurance.

Entertained Twenty Guests

Miss Irene McCann entertained at the McCann summer home in Norwood, Thursday evening of last week. Mr. and Mrs. B. K. Buchen chaperoned the twenty guests. Miss McCann served supper after which the remainder of the evening was spent in dancing.

Burning out chimneys caused many bad fires. Avoid this fire loss by using our Soot Destroyer. It does the work. 15c per pound. Charlevoix Hdw. Co.—Adv. 2tf.

COURIER BARGAIN COLUMN.

Courier Want Ads. are One Cent per word per insertion. Minimum charge is 20 cents per insertion, for anything under 20 words. All Want Ads. are strictly cash in advance except to those who have ledger accounts. Please remember this when sending in your copy.

WANTED—MISCELLANEOUS

WANTED—Boarders. Mrs. Ruby Case, 905 Bridge street.—14-t1pd

WANTED—Dressmaking. Mrs. Lizzie Powell, 406 W. Hurlbut, phone 402.—14tf.

WANTED—Fruit trees to prune. Ten years experience. Have your orchard cared for by an expert. Satisfaction guaranteed. S. Reist, 211 Antrim St.—13-t2 pd.

WANTED—REAL ESTATE

WANTED—To hear from owner of land for sale. D. M. Leight, Alzada, Montana.—13-t-f.

FOR SALE—MISCELLANEOUS

FOR SALE—Reed Baby Carriage. Inquire 108 Palmer Ave.—13-t1-

FOR SALE—Childs stroller. Inquire 309 Mason street.—14-t1.

FOR SALE—Slightly used kitchen range in excellent condition. Inquire Sinclair Oil Station.—11-tf.

FOR SALE—3-wick oil burner kitchen range. Inquire 303 Mason street, Charlevoix.—14-tf.

FOR SALE—Golden Bantam Seed Corn. Average test 92 per cent. W. J. Stevenson, 921 State street.—14-t1 pd.

FOR SALE—6 Canary Bird singers and cages, 50 Victrola records (dance and vocal), 25c each. Mrs. M. Tehae, 1½ miles north of Miles, school house, on Ellsworth road.—14t1.

FOR SALE OR RENT

FOR SALE OR RENT—Garage in East Jordan known as the Lakeside Garage. Inquire Frank Zoulek, East Jordan, Rt. 2.—14-t4pd.

FOR RENT

FOR RENT—Three rooms and bath. Heat and water included in rent. Inquire Benj. Brown.—14-t1.

FOR SALE—LIVE STOCK

FOR SALE—Cow giving about 6 quarts of milk. Due to freshen June 1st. Call Plenny Genett, Rt. 4.—14-t2.

FOR SALE—10 Plymouth Rock Hens, price $1.25 each. Fred Trimble, Charlevoix, Mich.—14-t1-pd.

FOR SALE—REAL ESTATE

FOR SALE OR TRADE—100 acre farm located 4 miles west of East Jordan or 2 miles east of Ellsworth, 60 acres clear, nearly all seeded, exceptionally well suited for dairy farm; basement barn 36 by 48, new chicken coop 14x40; good small house. Will sell or consider trade for Charlevoix property. Address John TerWee, East Jordan, Mich.—12-tf.

HELP WANTED.

WANTED—Married man to work on farm. House furnished. Elmer Ingalls, phone 101OF21, Charlevoix, Rt. 1.—14tf.

1905 1927

CHECK TALK

NO. 1

Time to most of us is money, and time saved usually means money saved.

As a time saver a bank check ranks high. It saves many a step and steps take time,—and time is money.

Not much use of saying more, is there? You have the answer.

Visit this strong, friendly bank sometime soon and let us tell you how easy it is to start and maintain a time and money saving checking account under our plan.

Charlevoix State Savings Bank

Capital and Surplus over $40,000.00

CHARLEVOIX, MICHIGAN

W. S. Richardson, President.
A. D. Crimmins, Vice President.
Archie Livingston, Cashier.
G. W. Richardson, Asst. Cashier.

FRIDAY - SATURDAY SPECIALS

Here are a few week end bargains sure to catch the eye of the thrifty housewife. Everything in the line of Groceries and Meats will be found at this store—at prices which mean a saving to those who do their shopping here.

Peas, per can	10c
Corn, per can	10c
Pork and Beans, 3 cans for	25c
Milk, per can	10c
2 lbs. Fig Bars, for	25c
3 lbs. Ginger Snaps, for	29c
2 cans String Beans, for	25c

"You've Tried the Rest, Why Not Try the Best"

MARTIN BLOCK

Opposite Post Office Phones 12 and 142

NEW PALACE THEATRE

ATTRACTIONS FOR THE COMING WEEK

SATURDAY AND SUNDAY, APRIL 9-10

Richard Dix in "THE QUARTERBACK," with Esther Ralston. A special. Dare-devil Dick scores in "The Quarterback." The trickiest, funniest, fastest football game ever played. That's what you will see in Paramount's latest Richard Dix comedy. Richard and his pal, David Butler, are working their way through Colton by means of a milk delivery route. To speed matters up, they utilize their football knowledge and send their bottles whizzing through the air. Then—when they actualy get in the game—action starts and never stops 'till the final whistle blows. Fielding H. ("Harry-up") Yost, Michigan football mentor, was showing a group of young men the "ins and outs" of the game for scenes in Richard Dix's picture, "The Quarterback."

Also an Educational comedy, "THE HUMDINGERS."

Note—No advance in prices.

WEDNESDAY AND THURSDAY, APRIL 13-14

W. C. Fields in "THE POTTERS," a comedy of middle-class American life, its chief character, Pa Potter, a rather pompously, ineffectual man of middle-age, solid citizen, husband and father, with an alpaca office coat and patch on the seat of his trousers—a hero every day but pay-day.

Also "FELIX THE CAT" and Fox News.

Zonite

For Cuts and Wounds

Prevent infection! Treat every cut, wound or scratch with this powerful non-poisonous antiseptic. Zonite actually kills germs. Helps to heal, too.

Since 1857

Eagle Brand has raised more healthy babies than all other infant foods combined.

Borden's EAGLE BRAND CONDENSED MILK

FEEL WONDERFUL! Food that "Stands By" You

QUICK QUAKER

Protein, carbohydrates, laxative "bulk" and vitamines, plus toasty, creamy deliciousness. Cooks in 2½ to 5 minutes!

for Economical Transportation

CHEVROLET

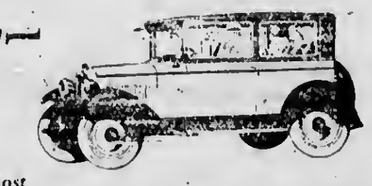
Higher Quality at Lower Prices Because of increasing Volume Production

January, 1925 —There was introduced a new Chevrolet which scored a tremendous success. Among its many new features were: a new and lowered rear axle, an improved unit power plant, a new and deplate disc clutch, a finish at ginger jar, semi-elliptic cantilever springs, steel spring cowl and dash lamps, and new Fisher bodies built in Duco ... and the price of the Coach was fixed at (f. o. b. Flint, Mich.) $735

August, 1925 —Chevrolet announced a new one cylinder value based on many new quality features, such as motor silencer, a new steering wheel with wood rim, new bodies, new hydraulic shock absorbers, a new type ... The Coach was reduced to (f. o. b. Flint, Mich.) $695

January, 1926 —... introduced a new one cylinder value ... following many improvements, such as ... a silent ... and the Coach was reduced to (f. o. b. Flint, Mich.) $645

and now—



The Touring or Roadster	$525
The Coupe	$625
The 4-Door Sedan	$695
The Sport Cabriolet	$715
The Landau	$745
½ Ton Truck (Chassis Only)	$395
1 Ton Truck (Chassis Only)	$495

All Prices Fob Flint Michigan

Balloon tires standard equipment on all models.

In addition to these low prices Chevrolet's delivered prices include the lowest handling and financing charges available.

The Most Beautiful Coach In Chevrolet History!

Climaxing all of Chevrolet's previous value triumphs, the Chevrolet Coach of today is acclaimed as the outstanding closed car value of all time. Beautiful new Fisher bodies—paneled and beaded, ralishly low and finished in new colors of genuine Duco ... full-crown, one-piece fenders ... bullet-type headlamps ... AC oil filter and AC air cleaner ... finer performance, greater riding comfort and remarkable steering ease. A car so marvelously beautiful that you must see it to appreciate it —Yet the price has been reduced to $595 f. o. b. Flint, Mich.

BLOCK & SIMMONS, Charlevoix, Local Agents
113-15 Antrim St.,

QUALITY AT LOW COST

UNDER THE DOME AT THE CAPITOL

(Continued from Page One)

J. Thomas bill to oust the present tax commissioners by calling the tax department a "Tax Commission." Back of the bill, so says John Reglo administration leader or so accredited, is a proposition to have a commission that will tackle a trifling matter of five hundred millions assessment back to Wayne county, which it is claimed was picked off by the present commission. The Wayne delegation put up a bitter fight against the bill, but it passed 63 to 30. Following the vote, Representative Robert Wardell of Wayne rose to explain his vote and in so doing read a letter from Attorney General Wm. W. Potter to the effect that a man could not legally hold the position of representative in the legislature and the position of superintendent of the poor at the same time. As Mr. Thomas is superintendent of the poor in Kent county, Mr. Wardell claims that he is not properly a member of the house. At any rate, the bill now goes to the senate, where its passage is freely predicted.

The state will undoubtedly vote next year on an amendment to the constitution which will remove the office of the superintendent of public instruction from politics, making the office appointive only by the state board of education. The concurrent resolution providing for ... with the ... question passed the ... with but one negative vote ... and will be ... probability also pass ... The proposition ... clothes ... the state board of ... to ... members and authorizing the board to elect the superintendent for a term of six years. The measure was fathered by Senator Thomas Read of Shelby.

Senator Herbert Rushton of Escanaba has introduced a bill authorizing the state highway commissioner to arrange with the Wisconsin authorities for a bridge between Menominee and Marinette, Wisconsin. He also introduced a bill providing that probate judges shall have been admitted to the bar.

The senate passed three house bills Monday afternoon which now go to the Governor. One provides for a larger fee from counties which send prisoners to the Detroit house of correction, one changes the time of the annual school census to May instead of March and the other provides for a fee of $1.00 per year for using the state employment bureau.

More and better country schools and $2,000,000 more in taxes will be the result of a bill which passed the house Wednesday, if the Senate concurs. The bill was introduced by Representative Wm. F. Turner of Morley, and provides that $2,000,000 be taken from the corporation tax receipts and given to the poorer districts of the state. The bill was severely criticized by Representative Charles Culver of Wayne, but there were but three adverse votes.

The senate, which has permitted the house to do most of the verbal scrapping of the past two weeks, got into the game itself Wednesday over a motion by Senator Jankowski that senate bill No. 156, making mandatory a sentence of not less than one year in jail for rum running or bootlegging be asked back from the house for reconsideration. Senators Lennon, Howell, Jankowski and Windruff told each other a lot of things, some of which might be true, and the latter averred that all the newspapers of the state were making fun of the senate over the bill. The vote on the motion was a tie at fifteen each and the bill stays in the house, where it is temporarily, possibly permanently, in committee.

A committee from the senate and the house was sent to Grand Rapids Friday to inquire into conditions at the Soldier's Home, following a report submitted by Assistant Attorney General Kit. Clardy that things had been going very badly.

The long-expected criminal laws codification came out of the judiciary committee of the house Wednesday, with the recommendation that it pass. The bill was amended in many ways in the committee, and will likely provoke much discussion before it is passed.

The senate held a lengthy session Wednesday afternoon, passing fifteen bills, only three of which were house measures. Of these three, one was a highway trade bill, and the other two were "dog" bills, providing for payment for stock and poultry killed by dogs.

Up to date 131 bills have been introduced in the house and more than 300 in the senate. While a few bills have been passed by both houses, the great majority of these more than 700 bills are still in committees in one branch or the other. When they commence to pile out on the floor, there will be plenty to do in both branches, although it is likely that many of the bills will be pigeon-holed by various committees.

Adjournment was taken Friday morning until Tuesday afternoon, when it is expected the fur will commence to fly in real earnest.

Goodyear high quality tires at the latest reduction in price will please all tire user. Benj. Brown.—Adv. 10tf.

AT THE MOVIES

Fields Puts Realism in Latest, "The Potters."

An unexpectedly appropriate bit of realism was injected into W. C. Fields' latest Paramount comedy, "The Potters," coming to the Palace Theatre Wednesday and Thursday. In one of the scenes, Fields, as Pa Potter, returns home flushed with a profitable sale of his oil stock, ... a new fur coat, carrying a portable radio set, his pockets stuffed with purchases. To the astonishment of Ma, Mary Alden, Pa struts into the room, takes off his coat, places his outfit on the table, opens up the aerial and tunes in. The scene was rehearsed without opening the set, which had been rented from a local dealer.

They Learned About Football From Yost.

Fielding H. "Hurry Up" Yost, Michigan football mentor, was showing a group of young men the "ins and outs" of the game for the scene in Richard Dix's latest Paramount picture, "The Quarterback," which comes to the Palace Theatre on Saturday and Sunday. One of the players walked toward the sidelines for a cigarette.

He'll never make that mistake again. Practice is practice with Coach Yost even though some of the men thought it was only acting. There may be no Paramount University but—on a field with Yost in charge—there's real honest-to-goodness Paramount spirit.

Old papers for sale at Courier.

MASSACHUSETTS PROPOSES TO DOUBLE STATE POLICE

With state-wide and united support already in evidence, and without opposition from any source, there is every prospect that the Massachusetts State Police patrol, as the force of uniformed troopers is officially known, will be substantially increased within the next two months. Favorable action has already been taken by the legislative committee on public safety on a bill to provide for an increase in the force, and the Ways and Means committee has held a public hearing on the proposal, with a favorable report under consideration by committee.

As proposed by General Alvan T. Fuller, commissioner of public safety, the bill would provide for an immediate increase of sixty men, bringing the size of the unit from 176 to 236, with a maximum of 300 to be reached by easy stages during the next two years. A bill embodying the plan was introduced in the legislature by Representative Slack. Whatever of success the proposal has met with to date has been regarded as the whole-hearted support of the public generally.

Our low service on Goodyear Tires will be a surprise to you. Benj. Brown.—Adv. 10tf.

It would save many husbands some good alimony money, if these men would marry those affinities of theirs in the first place.

LEGAL NOTICES

Mortgage Sale

Default having been made in the conditions of a certain mortgage made by Minnie Jane Smith of Charlevoix, Michigan, to Celia N. Bridge of Charlevoix, Michigan, dated the Fourteenth day of October, A. D. 1916, and recorded in the office of the Register of Deeds of the county of Charlevoix, State of Michigan, on the Sixteenth day of October, A. D. 1916, in Liber 52 of Mortgages, on page 180, whereby the power of sale contained in said mortgage has become operative, on which mortgage there is claimed to be due at the date of this notice the sum of Nine Hundred Two and Seventy-five one-hundredths Dollars, as principal and interest and the further sum of One-hundred Three and 20 100 Dollars paid in taxes on the land described in said mortgage and the further sum of Twenty dollars as an attorney fee provided for in said mortgage, and no suit or proceedings at law having been instituted to recover the moneys secured by said mortgage, or any part thereof;

Therefore, by virtue of the power of sale contained in said mortgage, and the statute in such case made and provided, notice is hereby given that on Friday, the 29th day of April, A. D. 1927, at ten o'clock in the forenoon, at the east front door of the court house in the city of Charlevoix, Michigan, that being the place where the Circuit court for said county is held, the undersigned will sell at public auction to the highest bidder, the premises described in said mortgage, or so much thereof as may be necessary to pay the amount due on said mortgage, as aforesaid, with seven per cent interest, and all legal costs, together with said attorney fee, as provided by law, the lands and premises being described in said mortgage, as follows, to-wit:

All that certain piece or parcel of land situate in the City of Charlevoix, county of Charlevoix, state of Michigan, described as follows: Beginning four hundred sixty and one-half feet east of a point where the north line of the Emmet and Grand Traverse State Road (now known as Petoskey Ave.) intersects the east line of Michigan Avenue, the same being the southwest corner of a lot owned by Jennie Gail Vandermade; thence east along the north line of Petoskey Avenue sixty-six feet; thence north one hundred fifty-six and three-fourths feet; thence west sixty-six feet; thence south to the place of beginning, the same being Lot number One of Block number three of Fox and Eaton's unrecorded plat to the Village of Charlevoix, Michigan.

Dated, February 2nd., 1927.

Celia N. Bridge, Mortgagee.

A. L. Fitch,
Attorney for Mortgagee.
Business address: Charlevoix Michigan. 5t13.

Mortgage Sale

Default having been made in the conditions of a certain mortgage made by Edward B. Ward and Annie E. Ward of Charlevoix, Michigan to John Nicholls of Charlevoix, Michigan, dated the 3rd day of October, A. D. 1908, and recorded in the office of the Register of Deeds for the county of Charlevoix and state of Michigan, on the 23rd day of October, A. D. 1908, in Liber 44 of mortgages, on page 488, whereby the power of sale contained in said mortgage has become operative, on which mortgage there is claimed to be due at the date of this notice the sum of Four Hundred Seventy-nine Dollars for principal and interest, and no proceeding at law having been instituted to recover the moneys secured by said mortgage, or any part thereof;

Now, therefore, by virtue of the power of sale contained in said mortgage, and the statute in such case made and provided, notice is hereby given that on Friday, the 29th day of April, A. D. 1927, at ten o'clock in the forenoon, at the east front door of the court house in the city of Charlevoix, county of Charlevoix, and state of Michigan, that being the place where the circuit court for said county is held, the undersigned will sell at public auction to the highest bidder, the lands and premises described in said mortgage, or so much thereof as may be necessary to pay the amount due on said mortgage, as aforesaid, with seven per cent interest, and all legal costs, together with said attorney fee, as provided by law, the lands and premises being described in said mortgage, as follows, to-wit:

All that certain piece or parcel of land situate in the Township of Marion, county of Charlevoix, and state of Michigan, and described as follows, to-wit: The southwest quarter of the southwest quarter of section twelve, township thirty-three north, range eight west.

Dated, January 31st, 1927.

Albert F. Bridge, Executor of the estate of John Nicholls, deceased, Mortgagee.

A. L. Fitch,
Attorney for the Executor of the Estate of John Nicholls, deceased, mortgagee.
Business address: Charlevoix, Michigan. 5t12

Order for Publication

State of Michigan, the probate court for the county of Charlevoix.

At a session of said court, held at the probate office, in the city of Charlevoix, in said county, on the first day of April A. D. 1927.

Present: Hon. Servetus A. Correll, Judge of Probate.

In the matter of the estate of Mary Dougherty, Deceased.

Helen Dougherty Bruce, having filed in said court her petition praying that said court adjudicate and determine who were at the time of her death the legal heirs of said deceased and entitled to inherit the real estate of which said deceased died seized.

It is ordered, that the 27th day of April, A. D. 1927, at ten o'clock in the forenoon, at said probate office, be and is hereby appointed for hearing said petition.

It is further ordered, that public notice thereof be given by publication of a copy of this order, for three successive weeks previous to said day of hearing, in the Charlevoix Courier a newspaper printed and circulated in said county.

Servetus A. Correll,
A true copy Judge of Probate.
Ady. Hall.

BUSINESS CARDS

HORACE S. MARSHA
REAL ESTATE BROKER
Accurate Fire Insurance and Survey Guide

A. C. BELDING
REAL ESTATE BROKER
Charlevoix, Mich.

GLASSES FITTED
Consult
DR. J. LEAHY
OPTOMETRIST
Expert on Eye-Strain.
Petoskey, Mich.
Phone 260 for Appointment

DELLE LOUISE FLEWELLING
Palmer Chiropractor
Post Office Building
Phone 317
Office Hours 2 to 5 daily
Monday, Wednesday and Friday
7 to 8

R. J. MADILL
Building Contractor
Ask for Estimates
Phone 121 Charlevoix, Mich.

D. T. McHUGH
General Contractor
Phone 214
CHARLEVOIX, MICHIGAN

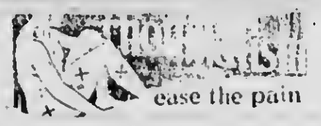
R. B. ARMSTRONG
PHYSICIAN AND SURGEON
Special Attention to Diseases of Eye, Ear, Nose and Throat
Priest Bldg. Phone 255

DR. F. F. McMILLAN
Physician and Surgeon
Office above Postoffice
Phone 17
Charlevoix - - Michigan

A. L. FITCH
ATTORNEY AT LAW
Office in Court House
Phone 48
Charlevoix - Michigan

FLIT
DESTROYS
Moths, Roaches
Bedbugs, Flies
Other Household Insects

VALET
AutoStrop
Razor
sharpens itself



ease the pain

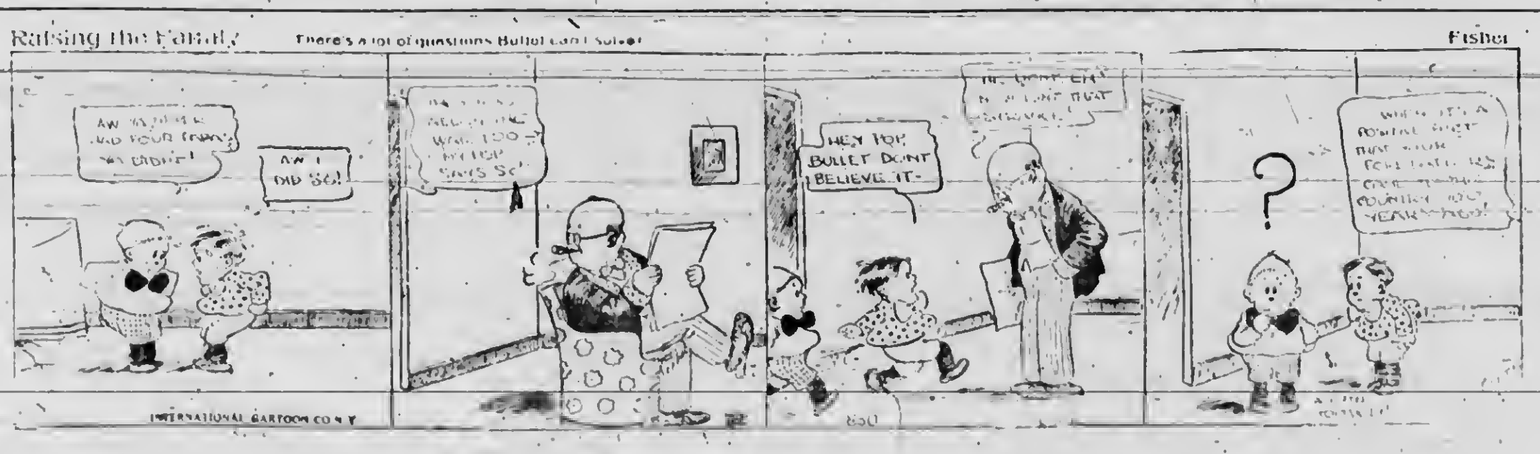
Nothing brings such comforting relief as the original Baume Bengué. It starts to drive out pain as soon as you apply it.

GET THE ORIGINAL FRENCH
BAUME BENGUÉ

Babies Love It

For all stomach and intestinal troubles and disturbances due to teething, there is nothing better than a safe, Infants' and Children's Laxative.

MRS. WINSLOW'S SYRUP



Raising the Family
There's a lot of questions Bullet can't solve!
Fisher
AW MA DIDJA KNOW FOUR FROM SIX EQUALS?
AW I DID SO!
WHAT TOO = MY POP SAYS SO
HEY POP, BULLET DON'T BELIEVE IT-
?
INTERNATIONAL CARTOON CO N Y

JUST KIDS— Saturday Mornin'.
By Ad Carter
SAY WILLIE! AIN'T IT DISGUSTIN' HOW GIRLS HAS GOT TER PLAY SCHOOL ON SATURDAY WHEN THEY DON'T HAFTA!
TEE-CHER TEE-CHER I KIN SPELL IT
I WANNA BE TEE-CHER!
YEH! AIN'T IT THOT
?
A. CARTER
INTERNATIONAL CARTOON CO.

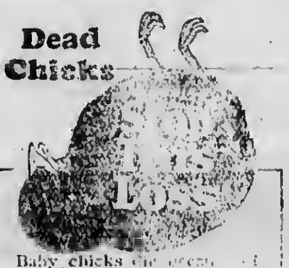
cause in that knowledge is a way to anticipate reaction and possibly to fortify ourselves against future troubles. Optimism mixed with caution is a great solvent for industrial troubles. The pessimist never benefits by prosperity, and the optimist very often oversteps the line which he thinks exists. Let us all look around and see how strong is the position of our industry, the position of our neighbor, and if there be weakness, let us help to strengthen, and if there be uncertainty, let us help to stabilize.

THE GAMBLERS

Now is a pretty good time to begin war on the man who persists in taking chances. With the coming of spring the highways will show an increasing amount of traffic, and while the majority will drive with caution and safety there will be those who are always responsible for the long list of accidents that fill up the pages of the newspapers during the automobile season proper.

Half a minute is not a long time, but it means the difference between life and death for thousands of men, women and children who have failed to observe the railroad caution signal to "Stop, Look and Listen." Death has been dared by a gamble with fate to save half a minute in time, the difference between stopping and starting. It is a criminal indictment against the intelligence and sanity of thousands of over-confident or careless car drivers. There is no excuse that rational people will accept, and while a great wave of public sympathy goes out to the victims there is a feeling in the background that someone took an unnecessary gamble—lost, and paid the price. You, Mr. and Miss Car Driver, may be the next to get what's coming to you, but you have no right to risk the lives of your companions.

Get your auction bill printed here.



Dead Chicks

Baby chicks die from wrong feeding and lack of proper care at the start. Stop this loss! Blatchford's Chick Mash raises the biggest percentage of chicks and matures them quicker. Try a bag and see for yourself.

Blatchford's Chick Mash

ARGO MILLING COMPANY

You don't have to take our word for it . . . .

—tests prove this house paint is the most economical

TESTED by practical painters and scientific laboratories over and over again, Devoe Lead and Zinc House Paint has proved its superior spreading and covering capacity. You can buy paints that cost less per gallon, but no other that costs as little per job. Because it covers better, spreads farther and lasts longer, it's the most economical paint you can buy.

Practical Tests Prove Devoe Quality

S. M. SEE & SONS

Charlevoix, Michigan

Alabaster Lamps

By Margaret Turnbull

(Continued from page 3.)

her face [illegible] a story [illegible] and [illegible] the elevator [illegible] wondering about the message.

Claude had chosen a secluded and recessed nook from which he could obtain an unobstructed view of those who entered from the lobby into the lounge. He wondered about Polly, after all these years. What was her mind toward Loren Rangeley? What changes had time wrought? He had only that momentary glimpse in the Hillsborough inn to go by.

When he saw her he forgot everything else. Changes? To be sure she had changed, as twenty years must change every man or woman, but she was Polly, and as he admitted to himself, still lovely enough to hold any man's glances. He saw how she was stared at as she came in indifferently

She Faced Him.

She was all in black. A black satin cape, lined with Delft blue, hung from her shoulders, and a hat of the same lovely color on her ruddy hair. She gave a swift look about her, and Claude rose.

As Claude came toward her, Polly stared, then her eyes changed and the pupils contracted. He had been much in her thoughts lately, and despite the years, she knew this must be the man she most dreaded. Indeed, after the first long look, she actually recognized him. Polly stopped for a moment, then came on. Claude stood in the corner waiting for her, and she faced him.

"A trick?" she asked in a low voice.

"No," Claude answered her steadily. "How are you, Polly? I am here with a message about Loren Rangeley. He will be at my hotel in half an hour, in time for afternoon tea, and the idea was that you should join us there to meet him."

"Whose idea?" asked Polly. "And who are us?"

"My idea," Claude answered as promptly, "and us are Mary and Ned Rangeley, Loren's son."

"I don't think I know him."

"Yes, I think you do, but you know him as Ned Carter. His name is Ned Carter Rangeley. He was at Teton Valley, with me."

"You, the young man who drove the car?"

"Yes," admitted Claude and waited.

He had not to wait long. "I don't like you either," Polly told him, looking [illegible] below. "And," [illegible] past hour for one of us."

[illegible] the interview [illegible] the rest, too, but [illegible] her way. [illegible] he said, "and [illegible] to her to change [illegible]."

[illegible] the desired [illegible] to go past that [illegible] to look at him [illegible] her. "The man [illegible] with the [illegible] I was neither a liar nor [illegible] not been so fatally [illegible] years ago. There [illegible] about Claude [illegible]

[illegible] as you can," she [illegible] him. "This [illegible]."

[illegible] Claude told her. "It was [illegible] and I understood [illegible] you here. I'm here merely on Mary's account."

"All right," decided Polly. "Leave Mary out of it, as much as you can."

Polly saw Claude's face change and realized that before her was a man who was keeping a tight rein on his emotions and speech, for her sake. Not this would he choose to speak to her of Mary.

"Mary told me that you had sent for Loren," he began, and he saw Polly flinch. "You might have known she would. You might have known how she'd feel about it."

"I did know."

"Well, then, you can understand when I told Mary that Loren was coming to see me, and that his coming to Paris had nothing to do with his wanting to see you but was purely a matter of business, that Mary wanted you to know at once. Mary thought she ought to rush to you right away and warn you of the true state of affairs."

"And for reasons of your own, you prevented her.—Well, I'm waiting to know the true state of affairs."

Claude drew a long breath and looked at the graven image beside him. It did not really seem worth while, but he had promised Mary. "That Loren would never have said—whatever he has said to you—if he'd known you were Mrs. Dabbs. I'm worth a great many thousands a year to Loren Rangeley. To find I am Dabbs of 'SCOURINE' the 'Dirt Destroyer.' If you haven't seen the signs on the billboards—"

"I have seen them. Deplorably ugly." But Polly was looking at him now.

"Well, ugly or not, you know it spells money. There's plenty for you and Mary."

(TO BE CONTINUED.)

EDITORIALS

PROPOSED ECONOMIC SURVEY

There has been some comment on the facts that Senator Walsh of Massachusetts introduced a resolution in the senate urging an economic survey of the United States, and it has been pointed out that such an inquiry would engage the attentions of thousands of individuals and consume at least ten years' time. We admire the Senator from Massachusetts, but we strongly suspect that his purpose in introducing the resolution was not so much to bring about the investigation he proposed as to focus attention on what he declared to be the lack of uniform and comprehensive prosperity throughout the country. The resolution at least raised a definite question as to the stability and scope of prosperity. This is a thing that industrial associations might study for their own benefit. They might investigate conditions in their territory or trade, and determine, without regard to politics, or political effect, the quality and quantity of prosperity which exists. If there is any weakness in our economic structure it would be well to know it, because in that knowledge is a way to World's Greatest, No Mistake!

Goodyear announced this new tire recently as "The World's Greatest Tire." Believe us—GOODYEAR WAS RIGHT!

We know a tire when we see one. And of all the tires we've ever seen, this new Goodyear — with an improved All-Weather Tread specially-designed for balloon tire wear—takes the prize!

You really are not tire-wise — you aren't up-to-date—if you don't know about this new-type All-Weather Tread Goodyear Balloon.

We have it. Come in—and try to make us take back anything Goodyear said, or that we say here. Learn why more people ride on Goodyear Tires than on any other kind.

Authorized Goodyear Service Station, offering the service and attention guaranteed to every user to help get every last mile out of Goodyear Tires and Tubes.

30x3 1-2 Pathfinder Fabric,	$8.20	29x4.40 All-weather Balloon Cord	$12.85
30x3 1-2 Pathfinder Cord (oversize)	$9.85	30x3 1-2 Tubes for	$1.90
30x3 1-2 Goodyear All-weather Cord	$11.65	29x4.40 Tubes for	$2.40

Other sizes proportionally priced

BENJAMIN BROWN

You Notice the Difference Instantly

We simply quote owners when we say that Dodge Brothers new five-bearing crankshaft, together with other improvements announced at the same time, has literally revolutionized the performance of Dodge Brothers Motor Car.

In zest, flexibility and smoothness of power delivery; you will go far up the price scale to find its equal. And the best test of that is personal experience—which we will be glad to provide at your convenience.

BENJAMIN BROWN
Charlevoix, Michigan

Touring Car	$ 865.00
Coupe	$ 920.00
Standard Sedan	$ 970.00
Special Sedan	$ 1020.00
DeLuxe Sedan	$ 1155.00

Delivered

We Also Sell Dependable Used Cars

DODGE BROTHERS
MOTOR CARS

FLOWERS
FOR EASTER

Just a few days and Easter will be here. Order early while our list is complete. In Cut Flowers we will have:

ROSES, CARNATIONS, SWEET PEAS, SNAP DRAGONS, LILLIES, TULIPS AND DAFFODILS. In Pot Plants: LILLIES TULIPS, DAFFODILS, HAYCINTHS, CINERARIAS, GERANIUMS, MARTHA WASHINGTON GERANIUMS, BEGONIAS, CALCEOLARIAS AND FOLIAGE PLANTS.

If you cannot visit our greenhouse, call at The Sugar Bowl and make your selections.

Albert E. Edwards, Florist

Member Florist Telegraph Delivery Assn.
Phone 374 1002 May Street

Monarch 100% PURE Paint LASTS LONGEST

Here's Why

Monarch 100% Pure Paint contains no cheapeners—no substitutes for Pure Carbonate of Lead, Zinc Oxide, Linseed Oil, Turpentine and Drier.

Your painter will tell you that many paints do.

Monarch 100% Pure Paint will cover better, spread farther and last longer because of its purity and is therefore the most economical paint you can purchase.

Come in and let us demonstrate Monarch 100% Pure Paint to you. You'll be surprised at what we have to say to you.

WOOD BROTHERS

This country is said to chase the dollar too much, but anyway the dollar seems able to get away from most of us.

A town is prosperous in proportion to the horse-power and horse sense of its business men.

SWING BRIDGE MAY NOW BE OPERATED

Several Accidents Have Occurred During Progress of Work

According to Foreman Mytton in charge of the state highway department crew working on the swing bridge, work is progressing very satisfactorily and will be completed some time this month. Major repairs have been completed and the bridge may now be swung to allow boats passage through the channel, although smaller repairs and re-planking the bridge are still to be completed.

The work has not been lacking in thrills and set-backs and several accidents which might easily have been of more serious consequence have taken place. Last Wednesday H. G. Oakes, resident engineer, stepped off the scaffold beneath the bridge into deep water and had to be rescued by members of the crew. Two days later, April 1st, the scaffold on the west side of the bridge collapsed, giving four workmen an unexpected bath in the icy waters of the channel. Martin Elzinga, local boy working on the job, is still nursing a badly smashed hand received while working with the bridge crew.

Everybody Come!

Minstrel Play and Box Social to be given by the McGeagh School pupils, on Friday, April 8th. Don't forget the date and bring a box.—Adv. 14-1t pd.

CRITICISMS ARE ENTIRELY UNJUST

(Continued from page one.)

money by consolidating the primary department, it is quite probable that this will adequately care for the maintenance of the entire school unit and pay the bond issue and interest within fifteen years. Outside of our school taxes, very few know that we have additional revenue coming to our school board. We receive annually approximately $9,500.00 from the state primary school tax, $3,500.00 from tuitions and $2,250.00 from the county to assist the county normal. The first two items are used for regular maintenance such as paying teachers and both are increasing each year.

The city and township tax rolls are increasing each year and this is due greatly to the increase in resort building. Our summer residents are paying approximately one-half of our entire city and township taxes and they believe in modern school construction, and modern school instruction, for they are spending more money per capita in the cities for new school projects than are we in the smaller communities.

We must provide everything possible in school efficiency in order to keep the students interested in school work as too many are leaving school before high school graduation.

The new double unit can be completed under the $125,000.00 bond issue together with the cash at hand. This means the complete unit with heating and ventilating plant and school furnishing.

[illegible] will be equipped [illegible] and used with [illegible] room with [illegible] and [illegible] will be used for [illegible] and [illegible] will be complete [illegible] gymnasium [illegible] it will seat about [illegible] and tournaments and eighteen hundred to two thousand at civic gatherings and conventions.

All members of the school board and citizens' committee are paying more than the average school taxes and they surely will not allow this building program to empoverish the tax payers of Charlevoix nor cause them hardship. We simply wish you to know that we stand for improvement in our present school system and the recommendation to be submitted to the voters April 7th, is justifiable and recommended for permanence.

Our present buildings are deteriorating and we are becoming somewhat like the Scotchman who ran his car backward to save the wear of his speedometer. Anyone can coast down hill. It takes sand, boosting and push combined with good citizenship to become prosperous and progressive. Let's not coast along any longer, but unite behind this building program and see it through to its finish, that our schools may be become equal to those of our neighboring cities. School Board and Citizens' Committee.

FINE PROGRAM FOR PO- [illegible] GRANGE MEETING

Scheduled For Saturday With Iron[illegible] Grangers'

[illegible] and evening program has been prepared for the meeting of Pomona Grange, which will be held with the Ironton Grange on Saturday, April 9th. Many speakers of prominence will address the meeting, and the following program is scheduled:

Afternoon

Song, By All.
Welcome, O. Saunders.
Response, Mr. Ewing.
Roll Call—"What Is the Greatest Thing in the Grange?"
"Are 'Bargain' Sales' Practical for Farm Women Who Wish to Buy Economically?"—Mrs. Hattie Murphy.
"What Practical Preparations for Summer Are Marks of a Thirfty Farmer"—A. J. Bolhuis
Music.
"Wills"—Judge of Probate S. A. Correll.

Evening

Community Singing.
"Outline of 1927 Program"—B C. Mellencamp.
Music.
"Oil Development"—Fred H. Merritt.

* * * * * * * * * * *
* ST. MARY'S CHURCH *
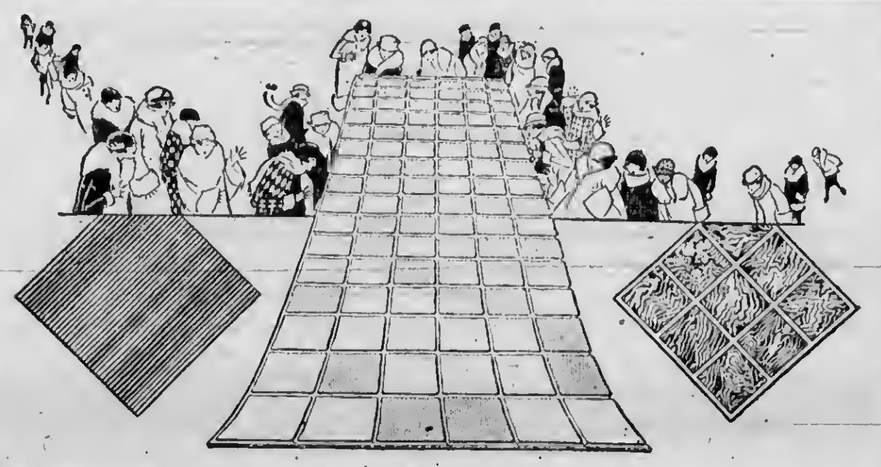
* * * * * * * * * * *

Rev. Fr. Odelo, Pastor.
Sunday services 8:00 a. m. and 10:00 a. m.
Services Monday and Tuesday, 8:00 a. m.
Services Saturday 7:00 a. m
Ladies' Altar Society meets Thursday afternoons.

Truck, Balloon and high pressure tires at a great reduction. Benj. [illegible] Adv. 10tf.



Handsome New Patterns Displayed This Week

THEY ARE ARMSTRONG'S--'Nuff Sed

Come in and see them.

Charlevoix Hdw. Co.

NORTHERN MICHIGAN'S FINEST STORE
THREE DEPARTMENTS—HARDWARE, FURNITURE, ELECTRICAL

Sunday school at noon. The record of honors classes and the names of individuals winning such honors was read last Sunday with much interest and applause. New goals are being set for the coming quarter and an earnest spirit prevails.

A special Good Friday service will be held at 7:30 p. m., April 15, with presentation by surpliced choir of the inspiring cantata by Stainer, "The Crucifixon." This is a noble composition by a master in the creation of sacred music, very solemn and tender in its unfolding, capable of stirring the deepest religious feeling.

Easter services will include Sunday morning worship April 17th, with flowers, Easter music, reception of new members, a brief sermon and the celebration of the holy communion.

At the regular evening hour of 7:30 the choir and pastor will present a special mid-lent service with [illegible] presentation by the pastor of "Christ the Ma[illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [

CHARLEVOIX COURIER

VOLUME 32 NUMBER 15. EIGHT PAGES COURIER, CHARLEVOIX, MICH., WEDNESDAY, APRIL 13, 1927 PRICE $2.00 PER YEAR

RETURN OF TWP. TREASURERS IN

ALL BUT TWO HAVE COMPLETED CHECK-UP

Total Amount of Delinquent Taxes In County Totals $29,949.38—Condition Good

Town hip and city treasurers, with the exception of St. James and Peaine t wnships, have completed their check-up with County Treasurer Flanders, and their reports show that $130,741.52 was turned into the county out of a total collectable tax of $180,389.54. This leaves $29,949.38 delinquent taxes.

The report of each township treasurer follows:

Arthur Shepard, treasurer of South Arm township, collected $6,301.76 out of a total of $7,363.97, leaving $1,062.21 delinquent.

Charles Friend, treasurer of Bay township, collected $3,875.68 out of a total of $4,716.68, leaving $841.00 delinquent.

Stella O'Brien, treasurer of Charlevoix township, collected $5,666.81 out of a total of $4518.95, leaving $852.14 delinquent.

Clyde Clute, treasurer of Eveline township, collected $1,503.74 out of a total of $2,117.66, leaving $613.92 delinquent.

William Leazier, treasurer of Hudson township, collected $1,857.83 out of a total of $2,370.05, leaving $512.19 delinquent.

Samuel W. Garringer, treasurer of Melrose township, collected $7,342.21 out of a total of $9,200.98, leaving $1,358.77 delinquent.

Frank C. Burnett, treasurer of Hayes township, collected $5,532.56 out of a total of $7,181.10, leaving $1,648.54 delinquent.

Robert Sherman, treasurer of Eveline township, collected $7,817.12 out of a total of $9,277.56, leaving $1,460.43 delinquent.

James Iverrg, treasurer of Norwood township, collected $3,432.48 out of a total of $4,583.87, leaving $1,151.39 delinquent.

Earl Chapman, treasurer of Marion township, collected $7,823.38 out of a total of $8,716.06, leaving $1,182.68 delinquent.

George Penfold, treasurer of Chandler township, collected $696.58 out of a total of $1,317.23, leaving $620.65 delinquent.

Miles L. Hott, treasurer of Wilson township, collected $1,471.61 out of a total of $5,591.96, leaving $1,120.35 delinquent.

Tate Stephenson, treasurer of Boyne Valley township, collected $1,706.17 out of a total of $6,251.86, leaving $4,545.69 delinquent.

Elma H. Cook, treasurer of the city of Charlevoix, collected $10,922.99 out of a total of $17,903.03, leaving $6,980.04 delinquent.

Ella Perkins, treasurer of the city of Boyne City, collected $24,861.38 out of a total of $31,328.72, leaving $6,467.72 delinquent.

Grace E. Boswell, treasurer of the city of East Jordan, collected $26,338.88 out of a total of $28,549.94, leaving $2,211.06 delinquent.

HONOR CLASS HELD BANQUET LAST WEEK

Fine Program and Interesting Address Were Enjoyed

The Honor Class banquet, held in the Congregational church dining room last Wednesday evening, was a very pleasant affair and was attended by all members of the class and some invited guests.

The National colors, which are also the colors of the class, predominated in the table decorations and the places were designated with international menus and program cards.

George Bergman gave the welcome and Bruce Reinhart the class history, which goes back to October 1922. Mr. R. B. Saltonstall also gave a short address and played several saxophone numbers, accompanied by Miss Higman at the piano.

Rev. B. G. Matteson was the speaker of the evening and gave the boys an inspiring talk, using his own earlier experiences as a background.

Arrested in Cheboygan

Joe Massey, sought by local officers for the past two years for failure to make payments on an automobile contract, was arrested last Monday in Cheboygan by Sheriff Itave Vaughn, and is now lodged in the county jail awaiting hearing.

Try my battery and tire shop for service. Benj. Brown.—Adv. 10tf.

DISPLAY OF REAL AMERICAN POTTERY

Potteries From All Sections of Country Represented

A meeting of more than usual interest was held at the Carnegie Library last Friday, when under the auspices of the Shakespeare Study Club the National exhibit of pottery was publicly shown.

Potteries from every section of our country were represented from the crude meal bowl of the Hopi Indians to vases and jugs lovely in form and color of modern ceramics.

Michigan was represented by vases of the Pewabic clay of the Detroit River valley.

An explanatory paper accompanied the exhibit.

Among the many interesting articles of the local loan was an ancient Arabian lamp antidating the Christian era, a tile from the Spanish Palace the Alcazar, as well as interesting groups of lustre ware and Majolica.

SCHOOL BOND ISSUE PASSED

PROPOSITION APPROVED BY OVER 3 TO 1 VOTE

According to Present Plans Ground Will Be Broken Within Next Six Weeks

Showing a complete reversal in opinion, voters of Charlevoix School District No. 1, city and township, passed the $125,000.00 bond issue for a new grade school and gymnasium last Thursday.

The old saying—"Three times and out" held true in this case. On two former occasions, once last September and again in December, voters of the district turned the issue down by better than 2 to 1. Last Thursday's election, however, polled the largest vote and showed taxpayers overwhelmingly in favor of the proposition, as will be showe by the following figures:

YES	380
NO	122
Spoiled ballots	5
Total votes cast	507

When it was learned that the issue had passed enthusiasm ran rampant. With their long cherished dream realized, school children expressed their approval by ringing the school bell loud and long. The high school band commandeered a large truck, upon which they paraded the town, tooting their satisfaction to everyone in general.

According to members of the school board, no time will be lost in starting operation. As soon as plans and specifications are secured and approved, bids will be let and work commenced. Residence buildings in the school property will be removed at once, in fact two buildings are being moved at the present time. If no unforseen difficulties arise to cause delay, it is expected the ground will be broken and work started within the next six weeks.

100,000TH PONTIAC SIX TURNED OUT

Production Sets New Record for Industry for New Automobile

The Oakland Motor Car company's production set a new mark for the automotive industry to shoot at on March 28th when the 100,000th Pontiac Six rolled off the assembly line in the future new plant at Pontiac, Mich., less than 15 months from the time car No. 1 was built.

In recognition of the company's achievement, not even remotely approached by any new car in the history of the industry, a brief ceremony was arranged at the factory A. R. Glancy, president and general manager of the Oakland Motor Car company handed the key of the 100,000th Pontiac Six to Mayor Charles L. Rockwell of Pontiac, who had christened the first Pontiac Six on 29 January 4, 1926, less than fifteen months ago. Several officials, including W. R. Tracy, vice president in charge of sales, and A. J. Brandt, vice president in charge of operations, were present.

Piano Service

E. V Smith, piano tuner, in Charlevoix April 18. Leave orders with W. E. Bellinger or at Holley Gift Shop.—Adv. 15-tf.

Old papers for sale at Courier.

Easter Candies and Imported Easter Novelties for the Kiddies at Holley Gift Shop.—13t3.

THREE BLAZES OVER WEEK END

ARGO MILLING COMPANY FIRE THREATENED STRUCTURE

Graves and Cartier Blazes Caused But Small Damage—Fire Fighters Given Credit

The local fire department put in a busy week end, answering alarms for three fires of considerable consequence, besides a couple smaller blazes for which no general alarm was sounded.

Saturday afternoon at about 2 o'clock, fire which was presumably caused by sparks from the chimney, started a small blaze on the roof of the F. E. Cartier residence on State street, burning through into the partitions. The fire was soon extinguished and damage was slight.

The Argo Milling company's elevator on River street, narrowly escaped complete destruction Saturday evening at about 6:30, when fire which started at the east end of the elevating floor at Hallway on the second floor, worked its way across the ceiling of that floor and spread up the hallway to the third floor. Nearly all the mill machinery was located in this end of the building. Belts, pulley shafts, grain chutes and other equipment were either burned or rendered temporarily useless. The blaze in some manner did not catch in a large quantity of split cedar kindling wood stored on the second floor, although burning the ceiling above it. The loss to grain and other produce in the mill from smoke and chemical cannot be estimated at this time. Members of the fire department are given due credit for the masterful way in which they handled the fire. Harry Craig, member of the firm, stated that rebuilding would be started as soon as insurance matters were adjusted.

A third fire Sunday morning at around 10:00 o'clock, at the Ray Graves home on Mason street, is thought to have started from chimney sparks. Damage to the extent of probably $100 was caused to the roof and in the attic where the fire burned through.

CHEBOYGAN EDITOR IS CHOSEN MAYOR

Al. Weber Winner in Contest for Cheboygan Honors

Al. H. Weber, well known Cheboygan newspaper proprietor, was elected mayor of that city in the election of last week, by a 2 to 1 vote over his opponent, Jos. D. Viau. The figures were Weber 1026, Viau 575.

Mayor Weber, who has an extended and favorable acquaintance all over Northern Michigan, is known as a most fearless and gifted newspaper man, who at all times has at heart the best interests of his home territory and state.

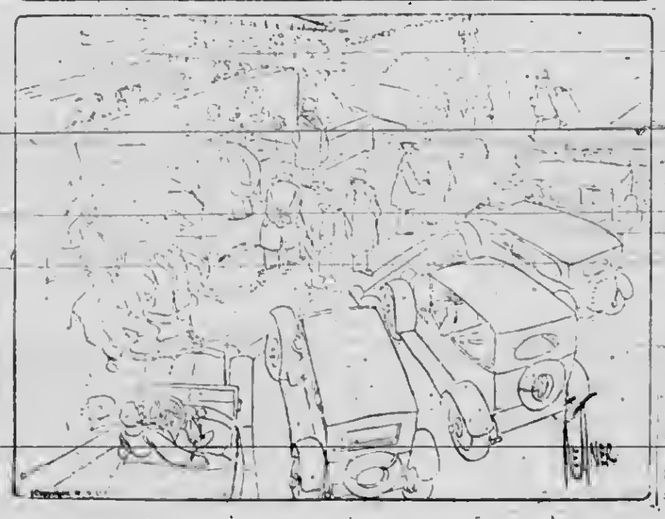
His newspaper, the Cheboygan Democrat, enjoys a wide circulation, and the personal observations of Editor Weber which are a weekly feature are closely read by the paper's many readers.

Notice

I have moved from my former residence in Charlevoix to the Fairchild place, on the Petoskey road, three miles from Charlevoix. Canine practice a specialty. Telephone 7000F13. D. F. Newman, Veterinarian.—Adv. 15t1pd.

Easter Candies and Imported Easter Novelties for the Kiddies at Holley Gift Shop.—13t3.

Easter Week



UNDER THE DOME AT THE CAPITOL

STATE'S FINANCIAL SHORTAGE RUNS INTO MILLIONS

General Tax of State May Be Raised to Cover Deficit—Pare Appropriation Bills

(By Leo W. Feighner)

"Daylight Government," promised by Governor Green in his campaign talks, evidently meant just what he said it would, even if the tenth takes the pockets of the taxpayers.

In a message which he personally delivered to the legislature Tuesday afternoon he made the startling disclosure that Michigan at the present time has a deficit of $3,500,000 in general fund moneys which on January 1 of this year, and that this will unquestionably reach the amount of over five millions by June 30.

His figures are taken from the report filed by Peat, Marwick, Mitchell & Co., accountants who have been working on the books since the first of the year. This deficit is in the general fund of the state, and is outside of the state highway fund, a report on which is expected in the near future. He reported that the highway department informed him that obligations of that fund, past due and payable, amounted to $5,151,136.31 on January 1.

The highway department estimates receipts and disbursements for the years 1927 and 1928 as follows: receipts $32,988,221.05; disbursements $26,158,357.74; which will leave but $6,527,283.31 for new contracts for 1927 and 1928.

These statements do not take into consideration reports which have previously been made in regard to Jackson prison, the Chelsea cement plant, and other state matters said to be in bad shape financially.

It is apparent that this deficiency is not a thing of sudden growth, but that it is an accumulation of several years. It is said that the state general tax should have been raised to $21,000,000 several years ago, instead of the $17,800,000 which has been collected, and that the state's purse has been going dry for some time, until something must be done to raise the funds required to take care of the state's institutions and other financial requirements as they should be.

It is now proposed to raise the state general tax to $22,000,000, and Governor Green states that the natural increase in assessed valuation will nearly if not quite take care of this additional amount, with but little if any increase in the normal tax rate.

It is the Governor's idea, too, that the state should have an efficiency expert on the job all the time, to get around and keep posted on the multifarious needs of the various state institutions and to make recommendations in regard to new buildings, alterations and other state matters which are now under more or less misused authority. This proposition of a state "business manager" has found several friends about the state house who are studying the proposition carefully.

Appropriation bills which are passing the senate numbers this week are being pared down as much as seems possible, but it will be impossible to take enough away to make any appreciable difference in the big deficit without seriously imparing the growth and efficiency of the state humanitary and educational institutions.

The senate passed a number of appropriation bills Thursday, among them being one of $75,000 for the new prison at Jackson, for the building program of the next two years. It is estimated that the total complete sufficient of the new cell blocks to [illegible] about 4,000 prisoners.

The proposed appropriation for the new U. P. state fair as Escanaba was cut by the senate finance committee to $25,000, instead of $50,000 but has not yet been acted upon.

The agricultural Drain bill gets $75,000 per year for the next two years for premiums, according to a bill which passed the senate. Senator Quinlan also introduced a bill appropriating $175,000 for new buildings and other improvements at the state fair grounds at Detroit.

A number of other appropriation bills were passed by the senate, among them those providing for the expenses of the state administrative board, the various state departments, the [illegible] commission employees, etc.

(Continued on page six)

FINAL NUMBER LYCEUM SERIES

CHESTER MILTON SANFORD WILL APPEAR NEXT MONDAY

"How to Choose a Vocation" Will Be Subject of Interest to Old and Young

A lecture telling how to choose the right vocation—a subject of vital interest to all—will be given here on the Lyceum course Monday evening, April 18, by Chester Milton Sanford, widely known authority on vocational training.

Mr. Sanford has devoted years to the study of young people and their jobs, and his lectures are based on first-hand investigations in many fields of business and professional activity.

"Pictures of the Misfits" is the lecture presented on his first appearance in a community. If he is filling a return engagement, he delivers an equally important lecture supplementing the first one.

Former Governor Hazel of Delaware says of Mr. Sanford and his lectures: "It has been my privilege to hear Professor Sanford once to twice a dozen different audiences. He makes me forget each time about the college, about lunch, as a professor, and takes me into the realm of the real, the living, throbbing life of industry. I see him as a father who knows boys and girls. I see him as a man who knows jobs and folks and always in love with both. His round table discussion held after the lecture is always something never to be forgotten. There you see young people, middle-aged people and old folks all interested interested in learning self-analysis."

Mr. Sanford's appearance next Monday evening will close the lecture course series for this season. According to Superintendent Coverdale, contracts have been signed for next winter's lyceum course, which will include five and possibly more very interesting numbers.

IMPROVEMENTS ADD TO GUESTS COMFORT

Hotel Charlevoix and Grounds Being Greatly Improved

Mrs. C. J. Winters, manager of the Hotel Charlevoix is having further improvements made to add to the pleasure of the guests during the coming season.

The space between the building and the shore of Round Lake is being beautified; a fountain of stone is being constructed, under the direction of Wm. Russell, with a pool for fish; lawn benches and sun umbrellas will make this small park attractive to transient as well as resident guests.

The management has also added a collection of curios in the hotel lobby, a white Alaskan owl, mounted and displayed on the mantle, making a considerable addition to the already extensive assortment of mounted bird and fish specimens.

Married at Harbor Springs

Mrs. Ruth O'Neill, for many years a resident of this city, who has been making her home in Benton Harbor for the past few months, was united in marriage, Saturday, April 9th to Merrit C. Lewis, of Charlevoix, at the Methodist parsonage in Harbor Springs. Mr. and Mrs. Lewis will reside in Charlevoix.

DEATH CLOSES ACTIVE CAREER

FRANK M. SEARS ONE OF CITY BUSINESS PIONEERS

Three Weeks' Illness With Pneumonia Result of in Weakened Heart and Sudden Death

Charlevoix [illegible] are again called upon to mourn the death of Frank M. Sears, which occurred at his home [illegible] Tuesday morning [illegible]

The deceased was [illegible] long [illegible] family, [illegible] from Dunedin, Florida, where they had been [illegible] the winter. Shortly after his arrival there he was [illegible] ill with [illegible] which developed [illegible] pneumonia. He was [illegible] improved [illegible] was well on the road to recovery, and his death which occurred when his heart condition, came as a severe shock to the many friends of the family.

We are unable to obtain information of Mr. Sears' early life, although it is generally known that he was one of the [illegible] business men, having at one time owned and conducted a [illegible] store here and up to the time of his death was engaged in operating a hack livery and storage garage catering to the summer visitors. His parents were charter members of the Belvedere Club, formerly the Belvedere Summer Home Association, and deceased's own business activities have dated back for a great number of years.

Besides his wife, deceased is survived by one daughter, Marion, of Pittsburgh, Pa., two sons, Franklin of Charlevoix and William W. of Chicago; also two sisters, Mrs. Marion Judd of Saginaw and Mrs. Susan Sears Thomas of Lake Forrest, Ill.

Funeral arrangements have not been fully completed, although it is understood that services will be held Friday under the auspices of the local Masonic [illegible] with Rev. B. G. Matteson of the Congregational church officiating. Interment at Brookside cemetery.

SEVERELY CUT IN AUTOMOBILE SMASH

Laundry Truck Rammed Dr. Wilkinson's Sedan Saturday

Dr. F[illegible] M. [illegible] badly [illegible] by flying glass [illegible] Saturday [illegible] about [illegible] o'clock, when [illegible] was run into by [illegible]

The [illegible] occurred on the corner of Bridge [illegible] and Petoskey avenue. Dr. Wilkinson states that, upon approaching the intersection he [illegible] brought his car to a halt and saw no vehicles coming from either direction. In the short space of time it took him to get his car underway again the truck was upon him, crashing at a high speed, estimated at between 40 and 50 miles an hour by eye witnesses. The terrible impact tore the running gear off the right side of Wilkinson's sedan, and turned it end for end. Pieces of flying glass struck the Doctor over the eyes and near the temple, inflicting severe cuts, and he is congratulating himself over the fact that he is able to tell about it.

WILL INSTALL NEW MOTORS IN REOMAR

Yacht to Be Taken to Bay City for Complete Overhauling

P. E. Olds' yacht, Reomar, will undergo a complete overhauling during the next two months.

The boat is now being put in running order after being [illegible] under the supervision of [illegible] who [illegible] would [illegible] D. Fee [illegible] Work [illegible] yacht, will [illegible] Two [illegible] motors will be [illegible] and awnings and canvas placed with new. Machinery [illegible] contemplated [illegible] the plant.

Mr. Brege says the [illegible] repair work [illegible] possible two months and then it will then be brought back to Charlevoix for the summer.

Get my prices on the best grade Paint and Motor Oil, by the barrel or by the gallon. Also on Felt Shingles, Roll Roofing and SolarKote. A. C. Hansen. Phone 227.—Adv. 15-t2.

Avoid fire risks from burning-out chimneys by using our honest-to-goodness Soot Destroyer. Charlevoix Hdw. Co.—Adv. 2tf.

CORRESPONDENCE

NORWOOD

Morris Henry is sick at his home.

April showers, brings pretty May flowers.

Fred Hull is suffering with a bruised hand.

Glenn Holecheck went to Flint, Monday morning, to work.

Mrs. Jerry Santoes is quite ill nt at her home near Norwood.

I. L. Dice is painting some of the state highway signs this week.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Raber, visited at the Pierce home, Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Supernaw of Charlevoix, were Sunday callers.

Otto Smith of Charlevoix, is on his grocery route again this season to Norwood.

Wm. Alward purchased a horse from the Wright farm near Ellsworth last week.

Clifford Genett motored to Cadillac last week and visted his mother and other relatives.

Miss Lela Nowland of Charlevoix, spent the week end with Mr. and Mrs. R. E. Stafford.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Wagner of Charlevoix, are visiting relatives at Norwood for a few days.

Rollie Baumbach of Antrim, was in this locality last week, threshing grain which was left from last fall.

Wm. McGuire of Central Lake, accompanied by a party of friends, were Norwood callers last Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. Ed. Jones, who spent the winter at the Brock farm on route 2, have moved back to their home in Norwood.

Mrs. Charles Raber of Burgess, and Mrs. Benj. Brown of Charlevoix, spent Monday with Mrs. Jerry Santoes, doing acts of kindness for her, while she is ill.

Wm. Mayne has built a new chicken coop with all modern improvements to raise baby chicks. He expects to place 200 White Leghorn chicks in it this week.

Mrs. J. K. Ypma, who was called here about three weeks ago by the sickness and death of her grandmother, Mrs. Haskins, returned to her home in Grand Rapids last Wednesday.

We are glad to learn that the three small children of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Brown, who have been suffering from scarlet fever, are now on the gain. No new cases of the epidemic, but the school will remain closed this week.

Our aim is to please you with Willard Batteries and Goodyear tires. Benj. Brown.—Adv. 10tf.

BENTLEY HILL

Mrs. Manley was in this vicinity Saturday.

Edgar Carpenter had his tonsils removed Wednesday.

Herman Heeres and family visited James Heeres, Sunday.

D. H. Brat returned home from his visit in Grand Rapids, Thursday.

Mr. and Mrs. Hans DeYoung and family, visited at the home of Henry Reamsma, Sunday.

Miss Elizabeth DeGroot is on the sick list. Her many friends wish her a speedy recovery.

A number of men from here worked at the Christian Reformed church at Ellsworth, Wednesday.

Mr. and Mrs. John VanStraten and Miss Kate VanStraten from Fairview district visited Bert DeGroot's Sunday.

We are at your service on Willard batteries and Goodyear tires at a very low price. Benj. Brown.—Adv.

More Eggs
Feed Cost Less!

Blatchford's "Filltite Basket"
Egg Mash

New Special Process. The only mash that contains 18 highest quality ingredients and 5 sources of animal protein. Exactly the food elements necessary for highest egg production. That's why we recommend Blatchford's—It's better and costs less per egg than any other mash.

Come in—
Get a Trial
Bag Today
ARGO MILLING COMPANY

An Amazing Success
Feen-a-mint
The Chewing LAXATIVE
Chew It Like Chewing Gum
A pleasure to use. Very efficient. Children love it. No taste but that of sweet mint. The most popular laxative because it's a "satisfier." 15c and 25c.

Breakfasts that 'stand by' you

Urged as Essential to Success by Great Business Institutions

THE business world has learned that almost 70% of the day's important work falls into the four short morning hours before luncheon.

Thus correct breakfast eating, as essential to good work, is being urged on employees in such famous institutions as General Electric Co., James McCreery's and many others.

To keep up with your job, you must be at your best mornings.

Thus Quaker Oats—providing an excellent food balance of protein, carbohydrates, vitamine "B" and laxative bulk, has become the dietetic urge of the world. Thousands, on expert advice, are making "Quaker" now their daily breakfast.

No other cereal grown compares in food balance. No other is quite so appetite enticing. Deliciously attractive food that "stands by" you in protecting your priceless morning hours.

Grocers have two kinds: Quick Quaker—cooks in 2½ to 5 minutes—and regular Quaker Oats. Get today for mornings at your best.

Quaker Oats

BARNARD

All the farmers are very busy plowing these days.

Mr. and Mrs. Howard Gornell and daughter, Minnie, spent Sunday, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Ed. Gregory.

Our teacher and pupils are busy getting ready for Township School Day and Exhibit, which will be held at Loeb school this year on May 24.

A special Easter service will be given next Sunday instead of the usual services. The program will be the Easter story with appropriate songs.

The Grange will give an entertainment and social on Friday evening, April 22nd. Two plays with other songs and recitations will be given. Warm sugar will be served as refreshments. Everybody come.

On Sunday the regular church service was enjoyed by the many present. Music and a solo given by Mr. Kirby and family, of Charlevoix, also a duet by Maggie and Effie Boss, added to the pleasure of the audience.

Why buy poor tires at a low price when you can buy a Goodyear tire at that price. Benj. Brown.—Adv. 10tf.

ATWOOD

Easter next Sunday.

We hail thee O! spring.

Whew! farmers are busy now.

Leonard Seed company unloaded a car load of garden peas at Charlevoix last Saturday, 610 bushels.

The Atwood school will give a literary and musical entertainment at the hall on Friday evening, April 22. Pay at the door—the L. A. S. will serve lunch and coffee after the entertainment called a penny social—go dwon the isle with plate and get what you want—one piece or 40.

Goodyear high quality tires at the latest reduction in price will please all tire user. Benj. Brown.—Adv. 10tf.

AT THE MOVIES

Hoot Coming in Humorous Movie

The trials and woes of a motion picture "extra" are humorously depicted in the opening scenes of "The Texas Streak," the Universal-Jewel starring Hoot Gibson, which comes to the Palace Theatre here Wednesday and Thursday, April 20-21.

The opening of the story finds Gibson as a mournful extra man stranded by his unsympathetic movie troupe in the wilds of Arizona because he has foolishly lost his railroad ticket home in a dice game.

Director Dwan Has Faculty of Getting Spontaneity From Cast

Because he stimulates them to their best creative efforts, both stage and screen actors like to work under the direction of Allan Dwan.

Mr. Dwan's skill in securing spontaneous action from his artists was well demonstrated by the brilliant cast with which he produced "Summer Bachelors" for Fox Films from the novel by Warner Fabian. The film is coming to the Palace Theatre for a two day's run beginning Saturday and Sunday, April 16-17.

Madge Bellamy heads the imposing list of actors in "Summer Bachelors," a comedy of how husbands play when their wives are away.

Our low service on Goodyead Tires will be a surprise to you. Benj. Brown.—Adv. 10tf.

OF INTEREST TO FARMERS
By B. C. Mellencamp

Home Demonstration Course Begins

"Meals for Health," will be the first subject for discussion for the homemakers of Charlevoix county, who have enrolled in the "Home Nutrition" course given by the extension department of the Michigan State College.

The first of the four meetings in the series will be held in East Jordan on April 14th, and in Boyne City on April 15th, for the leaders of the various groups. Mrs. Bernice Wells, food specialist from the Michigan State College will conduct the meetings and give the instructions.

From present indications there will be approximately eighteen communities organized and anxious to take advantage of the opportunity to receive this valuable instruction. It is hoped that all ladies, wishing to get the work, get in touch with the nearest leader and enroll in the group, or get in touch with your county agent, who will gladly arrange for your attendance. The following communities will have leuders and classes: Ranney district, Norwegian settlement, Pleasant Hill, South East Jordan, Chnddock school district, City of East Jordan, 2 groups, Boyne City, 2 groups, Clarion, Boyne Falls, Advance, Peninsula, Deer Lake, Walloon Lake, and two or three others not at time of writing organized.

Marl Beds to Be Tested

Mr. Larry Bell, specialist in Agricultural Engineering of Michigan State College will visit Charlevoix county this week and with the county agent will visit several of the marl beds, with the hopes that this soil sweetner can be made available to the farmers at a very nominal cost.

Fortunately there are unlimited supplies of marl in the county and there is no reason why it should not be used more extensively than at the present, as sweet soil is far more productive than a soil that is acid and the cost of the application is very nominal.

As soon as this visit is made, plans will be under way to have the marl dug, and distributed and a widespread effort to have its merits more generally known.

New Poultry Club Organized

The first poultry club in the county was organized during the first week of April at Boyne Falls, and will answer to the name of Boyne Valley Poultry Club. It consists of seven boys between the ages of 12 and 16, who are getting baby chicks of three different breeds, namely: Barred Rocks; Rhode Island Reds and White Leghorns.

Each member will send for at least 25 day old chicks and will keep accurate records of the cost of feed and endenvor to raise as many as possible. During the year these boys will receive instruction in feeding, breeding, culling and all other problems relating to the industry, as well as holding several meetings, where business and pleasure are combined.

The poultry club work has four projects namely: Baby chicks production, flock management and finally state poultry demonstration farm, where the college will send a specialist to inspect the flock.

The poultry industry is gaining ground every day in this county and it is hoped that interested parties will watch the progress made by the club.

The club members are: Ford Pearson, 12 years, Boyne Falls; Charles Williams, 13 years, Boyne Falls; Beryl Westoner, 13 years, Boyne Falls; Jimmy Nicewander, 13 years, Boyne Falls; Stanley Bachnick, 16 years, Boyne City; Marion Massey, 15 years, Boyne Falls; Cashmere Craker, 15 years, Boyne Falls.

Meetings for Sheep Raisers

Plans have been completed to hold three meetings in the county that will be of interest and value to owners of sheep. Vern Freeman, specialist in Animal Husbandry of Michigan State College, will be present and discuss all problems and questions regarding profitable sheep husbandry.

Considerable interest is being shown by farmers in sheep and justly so, as sheep can be profitably raised in this county, as has been proven by many breeders and any farmers who are interested in sheep should by all means plan to attend their nearest meeting and hear Mr. Freeman. We can learn something new every day. He who stands still accomplishes little. Following are the meetings.

First Meeting

Saturday forenoon, April 16th, at 10:00 a. m. fast time, at Orchard Bay Farm, one mile north and east of golf links, Charlevoix.

Second Meeting

Saturday afternoon, April 16th, at 2:00 p. m. fast time, at farm of Wilbur Spidle, six miles north of East Jordan on Charlevoix road.

Third Meeting

Monday forenoon, April 18th, at 10:00 a. m. fast time, at farm of Bert Lumley, three miles south of Boyne City on Deer Lake road.

Big reduction on Goodyear tires. Benj. Brown.—Adv. 10tf.

DO IT NOW
---A---
NEW CAR
FOR YOUR OLD CAR

The Latest Finishes

Have your good car refinished with

Duco — Lacquers or
Nitro — the High gloss
Egyptian — Varnishes

ATCHISON AUTO SHOP
Phone 93 - 204 Mason St.

NEW GOLF COURSE AT MACKINAW CITY

Adds to Attractiveness and Tourist Interest In West Michigan

The Headlands Golf course, construction of which has been started south of Mackinaw City, will have a background and setting unrivaled by any golf course in the world, according to Clarence V. Smazel, executive secretary of the Development League of Western Michigan.

The course will be partly below and partly on top of the plain which rises suddenly in a straight line across the head of the Lower Peninsula a mile south of that city. And from that plain the golfer will be able to see lakes Michigan and Huron, the mainland of the Upper Peninsula, the bays and points at the headlands of the Lower Peninsula, Mackinac, Round and Bois Blanc islands. The marvelous vista takes in lands that have been the battle grounds and hunting grounds of Indians since pre-historic times and with a paleface history that dates back almost three centuries, ancient beside that of most American, since the discovery of Lake Michigan by Jean Nicolet in 1634. Indians, French, English and Americans have fought for possession of the location since that time. It was an important mission and trading post before Detroit was known and for many years rivaled that city in importance as a military post. In fact, at the time of English occupancy when the entire English garrison, with wives and families, was massacred during the conspiracy of Pontiac in 1763, the region was the last outpost of civilization, with carriages of the latest style and other marks of civilization to uphold its standing. The clearing for the course also gives the public a view of a part of this remarkable vista from M-11.

Yet today the same wilderness prevails that then covered the lands and as one looks from the heights of the Headlands course the only evidences of civilization are the straits ferries and the gleaming white resort buildings on Mackinac Island.

Should President Coolidge decide to accept Michigan's invitation to establish the summer White House this year on Mackinac Island, the builders of the course, Lee and Glenn Chamberlain of Grand Rapids, want him to shoot the first round of golf there, for they consider it fitting that the president of the United States should be first to tee off on what will undoubtedly be the most interesting golf course in the world.

The land has already been cleared, except for a few evergreen and white birch trees for shade, and the course will be ready for use before the opening of the coming season. The building of this course is the sort of development that is needed in many sections of West Michigan. The Chamberlains hope that they will be able to make the wait of tourists for the ferries at Mackinaw City more interesting; in fact, they want to go farther than that and stop those tourists in Western Michigan for a few more days or a week and perhaps get them interested in a permanent summer home on the Riviera shores of West Michigan.

Truck, Balloon and high pressure tires at a great reduction. Benj. Brown.—Adv. 10tf.

ST. MARY'S CHURCH

Rev. Fr. Odela, Pastor.

Sunday services 8:00 a. m. and 10:00 a. m.

Services Monday and Tuesday, 8:00 a. m.

Services Saturday 7:00 a. m.

Ladies' Altar Society meets Thursday afternoons.

NR TO-NIGHT
TOMORROW ALRIGHT
MAKE THE TEST TONIGHT
BE WELL 'n HAPPY
Get Relief. Drive Out the Poisons
Auto-Intoxication, Constipation, Biliousness, are caused by defective elimination. For over thirty years Nature's Remedy (NR Tablets) has proven the safe, dependable relief for these conditions.
GET A 25¢ BOX — SOLD BY YOUR DRUGGIST
CENTRAL DRUG STORE

An Invitation

Name anything that a car does—any operation connected with driving—and we can assure you without qualification that these improved Dodge Brothers cars establish new standards for their type and price.

Consider this a personal invitation to test our statement on the highway

BENJAMIN BROWN
Charlevoix, Michigan

Touring Car	$ 865.00
Coupe	$ 920.00
Standard Sedan	$ 970.00
Special Sedan	$1020.00
DeLuxe Sedan	$1155.00

Delivered

We Also Sell Dependable Used Cars

DODGE BROTHERS
MOTOR CARS

MICHIGAN BELL TELEPHONE CO.

Long Distance is a Necessity to Motor Wheel Corporation

MOTOR WHEEL CORPORATION
MOTOR VEHICLE WHEELS COMPLETE
PRESSED STEEL PRODUCTS—VEHICLE WOODSTOCK
LANSING, MICHIGAN

December 4, 1926.

Mr. F. A. Eastwood, Manager,
Michigan Bell Telephone Company,
Lansing, Michigan.

My dear Mr. Eastwood:

In our business the use of the long distance telephone is not merely a convenience nor an assistance to our Sales, Engineering, Manufacturing, and Purchasing Departments, but is an absolute necessity.

The question is not "Shall we continue to use the long distance telephone?" but, rather, "How could we do business, under the present high pressure system, without the long distance telephone?"

When business is on the increase, more long distance calls result. When business shows a decrease, more long distance calls are necessary.

Very truly yours,
MOTOR WHEEL CORPORATION,
Secretary.

CC:B

When business is on the increase, more Long Distance calls result. When business shows a decrease, more Long Distance calls are necessary.

Quality
Low Prices

GRAHAM BROTHERS TRUCKS
¾ 1 1½ 2-Ton

BENJAMIN BROWN
CHARLEVOIX, MICHIGAN

(Chapter Twelve Continued)

"For Mary—yes."

"You're legally entitled to your share, without having to take me with it," Claude informed her coolly. "It will be much pleasanter than taking Loren's money, I can tell you that."

"It's all very interesting," Polly informed him, and now she was looking at the floor, "but still I fail to see why I should come—this afternoon."

"For Mary," Claude told her shortly. "Ned Rangeley's in love with her."

Polly started. "And of course, pleased?"

"Only if Mary wants him. I'd like to keep her to myself, just as much as you would, but we can't."

He gave her a long look.

"You might think of her, Polly. Why should our d—d blunder cloud this bit of her life? You've made a good job of Mary, so far, Polly. I have to hand you that."

"Well?" Polly flung at him.

"Well," Claude returned with finality, "finish your job."

Polly looked at him now, saw what he meant and went white for a moment. Claude waited, never taking his eyes from her. It was a long minute.

"I'll come. Wait till I change my gown."

"No time," Claude told her. "You look fine as you are."

"And the red-haired devil knows it," he added to himself as he marshaled her through the lobby to the gondola steps.

Polly studied the man who sat beside her as the gondola carried them along the canal. It was even faintly amusing that after all these years they should be sitting side by side in a gondola in Venice. Her mind flew back to the time she had so resolutely put behind her.

It began to dawn on the Polly Johnston of today that the Polly Johnston of yesterday had underestimated her mind. She went back, though it was a disturbing thing to do, with the man himself silent beside her, to the morning she had made up her mind to leave. She did herself justice. It was not the money, entirely, that had made her decide. She remembered doubting Claude's powers of imagination, of capability for life in a larger way than just that of a storekeeper in a country village. She remembered how she had tried the shibboleth that had shaken her newly awakened desire to stay with him.

She began to wonder about his life.

Claude touched her arm gently. He was holding out his hand to help her from the gondola, and he was doing it gracefully.

Mary and Ned had begun very badly. Claude's abrupt departure had found them both unprepared. Mary had risen to her feet impetuously and followed him to the door, only to realize that it looked absurd and to go back to the window, where she stood watching her father depart.

"One father gone and another father coming, makes a complicated afternoon," she ventured.

Ned agreed and suggested that to while away the time between fathers they might order a peculiarly rich tea.

The waiter had come and gone, and still they were in that tiresome sitting room, which seemed to Mary to have held them for ages.

"I suppose we'd better stay here?" she inquired lightly.

"Much—better," and Ned drew a wicker chair to the balcony window for her, and arranged himself on a cushion at her feet. Mary felt grateful. She did not have to meet his eye, in this position.

"Sure as we stay out of this room," he told her, "my father will turn up and then Claude will accuse us of deserting our posts."

"Do you call my father 'Claude'?" inquired Mary, for want of something better to say.

"I'll call him 'father,' gladly, as soon as you give me the right," Ned reminded her, and turned to see how she took it.

She did not take it well at all. She leaned against the chair, her face hidden in her hands.

"Mary, take your hands away and look at me. I never was more serious in my life. If you'll listen to me, you'll see how hard I'm trying to keep you from spoiling Claude's romance. But for you, your mother and Claude might be happy."

Mary's hands came away from her face now. "But for me! Why, I'm all that holds them together."

"So you think, but you're quite wrong. If you were safely removed from their grasp, Polly would think how lonely Claude was, and Claude would think how sad it was for Polly. Even at over forty, my dear, grown-ups can't make love before their children. But if you should engage yourself to a nice, handy, lovable young man, like myself, then that lets father and mother off to attend to their own affairs, while the responsibility for making Mary happy falls on the young man's shoulders. I know a pair that fairly ache for that responsibility."

He took a step nearer—and the waiter entered with the tea. By the time he had gone again, Polly and Claude had entered.

Even as Mary flew across the room to kiss and cling to her mother, her mind paid homage to her father's greatness. To bring Polly Johnston into this situation, with this promptness, was marvelous in his daughter's eyes. She longed to have been present to see it accomplished. Mother, of all people, sitting calmly at Claude Dabbs' tea table, drawing off her gloves and making conversation with Ned!

Claude came toward his daughter, a humorous question in his eyes. But it remained unspoken, for at that moment Loren Rangeley was announced and entered.

Ned, standing beside Mrs. Johnston-Dabbs, was the first to meet his father's eyes. Mary saw Loren stiffen, and then come forward with an easy: "Ah Ned. This is an unexpected pleasure."

"Quite," said Ned, without showing that one of his pet theories had gone all to smash. Far from Dabbs being Loren's agent, it was Loren who bore himself as though he was Claude's agent. Ned meant to get it out of Claude before the evening was much older. "I'm staying with Dabbs," he volunteered. He did not want to let his father down, either.

"I didn't know." Loren was making his way to Mrs. Polly with a smile and outstretched hand, but somehow or other Claude was there before him.

"Think I'll have to introduce this lady to you, Mr. Rangeley," he announced amiably. "Mrs. Claude Dabbs."

Loren's face was a study in mixed emotions, but Polly was calm and smiling as she lifted her eyes to his.

"Mrs. Dabbs has been separated from me for some years. By mutual agreement she used her maiden name, but we've never been divorced," Claude explained.

Loren's brows drew together, but before he could speak Claude had slipped his hand through Mary's arm and brought her forward. "And my daughter, Mary Dabbs," Claude continued with pride. "You knew her, of course, as Mary Johnston."

"Just so," Loren Rangeley's cold smile took in the whole party, as he asked: "And the reason for this little family party? You see, I only expected to meet you, Dabbs, and talk business, so I am a little—surprised."

"Naturally," Claude agreed, "but as you were coming we thought—"

Ned interrupted. "It's rather up to me to explain, Father. You see, I want to marry Claude Dabbs' daughter."

"I telegraphed you last night," Polly said, quietly, "to come at once. You see, Loren, I had never met your son, and naturally I wished to be assured—"

"Oh quite," Loren agreed hastily, his color coming back gradually. Then the red-headed beauty had not given him entirely away. It would have been awkward, especially in view of his relations with Claude. "The boy's of age, so my consent is hardly necessary. I congratulate you, Ned, on your choice" and he bent over the shrinking Mary's hand, and kissed it.

"Thanks, Dad," and for the first time in many months Ned's hand and his father's met in a hearty clasp. "And now," Ned turned to interpose between Polly and her daughter, "won't you allow Mary and me to leave you? You can discuss us so much more thoroughly, when we are gone," he said, smiling at Polly.

He put his arm about Mary, who was clinging to Claude's hand, and swept her from her father's grasp and through the door into Claude's

"Thanks, Dad," and for the First Time In Many Months Ned's Hand and His Father's Met.

bedroom, saying, "Your hat's in here, Mary." He closed the door and took her hat from the bed. "Put it on, darling, and not a word until we're clear."

Mary mechanically put on the hat, looked at herself in the glass and was whisked out into the hall, hurried to the elevator, and found herself being piloted to a gondola by a tall young man who laughed down at her and treated all the rest of the world as moving shadows.

He stooped to look under Mary's hat and the smile died out.

"That sort of an engagement will never hold me," Mary said quietly, meeting his eyes. "It was very cleverly done, but I can easily break it, and I will."

In the silence that followed this remark, she could hear Ned's heart beating hard and fast. "Then the idle apprentice hasn't won the master's daughter?"

"No."

The little word seemed to echo about them, although she said it so low.

"That settles—everything," Ned spoke slowly. "I'll go, tomorrow. You needn't be afraid," he added, "so stop shaking."

"You can't go. Father's fond of you."

"Yes, I'm fond of Claude Dabbs, too, but he'll have to get along without me. He has you. He won't care."

Ned reached in his pocket mechanically for a cigarette. Mary wished she could keep from looking at his mouth. What was there about it?

He was actually turning to speak to the gondolier, when Mary stopped him. They were nearing the fatal bridge and she knew now why she couldn't help looking at his mouth. It was because, warm, curving and generous, as it was now, it was shaped like Loren Rangeley's. If Ned were thwarted and disappointed and denied, it might become in time the same straight, hard, lean line that his father's mouth had become. The thoughts were unbearable.

"Ned," whispered Mary, "we might try it—until Father and Mother make up their minds."

Ned looked at Mary with positive dislike. "That's Mrs. Johnston's daughter speaking," he said coldly. "I'm in love with Claude's."

"It's Mary Dabbs who is giving you a chance," she told him with spirit. "Mary Johnston would throw you over like that!" She snapped her fingers in an airy gesture. "So make up your mind, Loren Rangeley's son, for the offer will be withdrawn in a moment. Why should I," she asked of blue sea and sky, "jump for joy at the chance of marrying Ned Rangeley, when it comes to that?"

Neither sea nor sky answered, but Ned did. "Done!" and his hand pressed hers.

Loren Rangeley, after gravely discussing his business with Claude, though uneasily conscious of Polly sitting nearby, took his departure. Before he left, Claude had told him that Ned was to be his partner and personal representative, and Loren had expressed the hope that Ned, who as he said, "had fallen on his feet," would appreciate his good luck. He was content, he said, to leave the boy in good hands.

When he had gone, Polly rose.

"Better wait for the children," Claude suggested. "Why not dine here, Polly? We could all have dinner together quietly, and discuss Mary's plans for the future, and make our arrangements for her."

Polly stood irresolutely looking down at the Grand canal, just as her daughter had done that afternoon, oppressed by the tumult of her thoughts.

"I want you to know, Claude, that it wasn't the money—your money. It was Mary alone that brought me here today. You may not believe that, but it's true."

"Why, Jiminy, I knew it, Polly. No need for you to tell me that."

"I can get along," she told him, "on what I've left, especially if I live over here. Do what you like for Mary, but leave me out."

"How can I?" Claude asked. "Mary will want you, and I'll want you to stay with Mary, whatever her plans are, until she marries Ned. I'll keep away as far as I can. You'll have to let me play around with Mary a little, but I won't bother you. Of course, you can and will live where you like. But I think Mary will want you near her."

Polly sank into the chair at the window and played with her gloves. "Mary!" she murmured. "What's my life going to be like, without Mary."

(TO BE CONTINUED.)

Keep in Trim!

Good Elimination Is Essential to Good Health.

THE kidneys are the blood filters. If they fail to function properly there is apt to be a retention of toxic poisons in the blood. A dull, languid feeling and, sometimes, toxic backaches, headaches, and dizziness are symptoms of this condition. Further evidence of improper kidney function is often found in burning or scanty passage of secretions. Each year more and more people are learning the value of Doan's Pills, a stimulant diuretic, in this condition. Scarcely a nook or hamlet anywhere but has many enthusiastic users. Ask your neighbor!

DOAN'S PILLS 60c

Stimulant Diuretic to the Kidneys

Foster-Milburn Co., Mfg. Chem., Buffalo, N. Y.

The Super-Six Principle freed to the limit

Fast Get-away and performance so smooth that only a stop watch shows how swift

HUDSON SUPER-SIX

Standard Models

Coach - - - $1285
Sedan - - - 1385

Custom Built Models

Roadster - - $1500
Phaeton - - - 1600
Brougham - - 1575
5-Pass. Sedan - 1750
7-Pass. Sedan - 1850

All prices f. o. b. Detroit, plus war excise tax

HUDSON Super-Six

WYERS & SMITH, Agents. Charlevoix, Michigan

6142

AUCTION SALE of Household Goods

The undersigned will sell at Public Auction, at their home, 214 Mason street, Charlevoix, on

SATURDAY, APRIL 16th

Commencing at 1:00 p. m., the following described property

The complete furnishing of a home as follows:

BEDS	SPRINGS	RENOWN STEEL RANGE NO. 8
MATTRESSES	DRESSERS	LARGE MIRROR	SEVERAL RUGS
COMMODES	ROCKING CHAIRS	PILLOWS	BEDDING
DININGROOM CHAIRS		COOKING UTENSILS	DISHES
DININGROOM TABLE		OIL STOVE	HEATING STOVE
KITCHEN TABLE	WARDROBES	SEWING MACHINE
2 CUPBOARDS	COUCH	BENCH WRINGER

OTHER ARTICLES TOO NUMEROUS TO MENTION

TERMS OF SALE

All sums of $10.00 or under, cash; all sums over $10.00, eight months time on good, endorsed, approved, bankable paper bearing interest at 7 per cent, payable at the Charlevoix State Savings Bank. No goods to be removed until terms of sale are complied with and all settlements must be made on day of sale.

MRS. R. M. McKEEL, Prop.

ARCHIE LIVINGSTON, Note Clerk. W. E. BYERS, Auctioneer.

I have combined my battery and tire repair shop and will give all car owners the service that they are looking for. Benj. Brown.—Adv. 10tf.

Our garage, battery and tire shop is at your service. Benj. Brnwn.—

W. E. Byers John Boss

BYERS & BOSS

Auctioneers

We will cry your sales and clerk them. Furnish cups for all day sales.

Book sales at Courier Office

or call us by phone. All dates are made at The Courier office, phone 2-J. Phone any one of us and we will take care of your sale.

BEST SINCE 1851

DEPENDABLE HEATH & MILLIGAN PAINTS & VARNISHES

PAINT NOW
Use Dependable Paints

TEN COMMON SENSE REASONS WHY—

1—The drier the siding becomes, the more gallons of paint you will need; the more gallons you need, the more hours of labor required to paint.

2—Paint has declined in price. Decay won't wait for paint to get cheaper.

3—The annual decay loss in this country, due to lack of paint, is greater by four times than the fire loss.

4—A coat of paint now saves costly lumber repairs later. You pay for paint whether you use it or not.

5—Paint is fire resistant. It is cheaper than insurance—and safer. Paint to protect the family, as well as the siding.

6—Paint and have the family proud of and satisfied with their home, instead of envying the attractiveness of your neighbor's.

7—Well-painted homes are cooler in summer and warmer in winter.

8—A well-painted home increases in dollar value more than the cost of the paint. It rents better.

9—It adds to your self-respect and to your standing as a thrifty citizen in your community.

10—It is an investment—not an expense. It is cheapest in the end.

Delay saves nothing—it wastes.
Save the surface and you save all.

We have a copy of a 64-page "How to Paint" book for you. Come in and get it.

STALEY BROTHERS HARDWARE

The CHARLEVOIX COURIER
Issued every Wednesday at
CHARLEVOIX MICHIGAN

DuBois & Usher, Publishers
A. J. Usher, Editor and Business Mgr.
Courier Building Van Pelt Place

Entered at the Post Office in Charlevoix, Mich., as second class mutter.

Member Michigan Press Ass'n

Advertising Rates

For advertising rates apply for schedule.

Notices of church or lodge socials and entertninments, where admission is charged, regular rates.

Obituary poetry, regular rates.

Card of Thanks, 25 cents.

TERMS OF SUBSCRIPTION

One copy, one year $2.00
One Copy, six months $1.00
One Copy, three months .....$ .60

EASTER

Easter comes at a glad season of the year. The festival itself, is both commemorative of the resurrection of Jesus Christ and as a memorial to the atonement wrought by the death of the Master upon the cross.

It is hailed with great acclaim in all the Christian churches of the world: In Greek and Latin and in the languages derived from them. Easter was known as "Padcha," "Pasch," "Pa ques," "Pascua," "Paques," etc., from the Chaldee word, "Pascha," the equivalent of the Hebrew "Pesach." The "Destroying Angel's" act is recalled by the last name—in "passing over" the households of the Hebrews when he smote the Egyptians, as disclosed in the twelfth chapter of Exodus.

This year Easter will fall on April 17. The way by which Easter is determined is that of the first Sunday after the paschal full moon—the fourteenth day of the calendar moon, or the full moon which happens upon or next after March 21: and if the full moon happens on a Sunday, then Easter days is the first Sunday following.

As usual, Charlevoix churches will observe Easter with elaborate programs. It is an event that the children and the grown-ups have learned to look forward to with much pleasurable anticipation; it is an event all should remember with some beautiful thought for the day.

THIS IS FLATTERING, INDEED

The following editorial was clipped from the April 3 issue of the Grand Rapids Herald, and speaks well of the efforts of the joint civic committees, who have already held meetings and are working for betterment of conditions in our parks. The editorial follows:

"A group of civic organizations in Charlevoix has banded in the appointment of a joint committee to chart plans for beautification of the city. Such a campaign in any city is evidence of a worth-while awakening and a promise of progress. But of especial interest is the carrying out of a city beautiful plan in a community dependent largely upon summer resort trade for its prosperity.

"It long has seemed to The Herald that many of our summer communities have been altogether too willing to depend wholly upon the natural beauties of surrounding lake dune and wooded country with no regard for conditions within their cities. Some of our finest resort centers are remembered for the dilapitation along their shipping docks, the run-down, unpainted buildings on main streets and the junk heaps in front yards.

"Attractiveness that catches the eye is necessary in the resort business. In fact, one of the chief assets of Michigan's summer playground country is natural beauty. If this beauty is in a measure offset by the ugliness of artificial structures, the resort business is hurt thereby. We do not recall "Charlevoix, the Beautiful" as a particular offender against the city beautiful ideal, but, nevertheless, in starting to make improvements it is setting an example which other centers in the playground country can afford to follow."

The editorial although a bit flattering in respect to Charlevoix, gives due credit to the women's organizations which are trying to better conditions. Every resort town could well fall in line.

A NEW FARM CROP

A suggestion that the agricultural problem might be solved to some extent if poor farm lands were converted into forests, was made by President Coolidge in proclaiming April 24 to. 30 "American Forest Week," and recommending its observance to the governors of 48 states.

"One-fourth of our soil," the President said, "is better suited to timber growing than anything else I cannot escape the conviction that our industrial and agricultural stability will be strengthened by bringing into full productive use this great empire of land.

"Although much progress has been made in public forestry, and hopeful beginnings in private industry, we still have a vast aggregate of idle or semi-idle forest land, and another large aggregate of poor farm land that might more profitably grow timber instead of adding to the problem of agricultural over production.

"Our migratory forest industries would be stabilized and made permanent. Rural industry would be greatly strengthened and vitalized. Agriculture would find in silviculture a strong ally, providing markets for farm produce and for surplus labor. Our farms themselves contain nearly a third of our woodland—an enormous potential farm asset if handled for continuous timber crops."

The President said, he proclaimed the seventh annual observance of forest week, which Canada had decided to celebrate at the same time, in the realization that "no other of our internal problems is of greater moment than the rehabilitation of our forests."

FRESENING BREEZES

The warning is out to scrub the mud off license plates instead of waiting for spring rains.

Maybe this would be a much more quiet world if a greater portion of the population would heed the request, "Aw, shut up!"

The passing of the last compositor at whom Horace Greeley once swore shows that the news print world is growing old.

The man whose wife is planning the garden knows that Herbert Hoover was right when he announced that there would be plenty of work for everybody in 1927.

Mussolini is not going to allow women to teach philosophy. How can he help it? For centuries all the really hard-boiled philosophy has been learned at their feet.

Onyx Silk Hosiery, Silk Underwear, Flowers for Coats, Handkerchiefs and Scarfs make fine Gifts for Easter. See them at Holley Gift Shop.—Ady. 13-t3.

MOUNTAIN DISTRICT

Mrs. Lyle Wilson is spending a week with her son, Rob, in Flint.

Mrs. Bob Wilson of Flint, is visiting friends and relatives for a few weeks.

Margery Scott has been absent from school several days with a severe cold and bronchitis.

No school this week as our teacher, Mrs. Ruby Case, is home attending her daughter, Esther, who is quite ill at her home in Charlevoix.

Friday evening, April 8th, Mrs. Case and daughter, Esther, entertained the parents and pupils of the Mountain school at their home, 905 Bridge street, Charlevoix. There were contests for the children and the grown-ups played progressive pedro. Bert, Willard and Howard Hould won the various prizes. At a late hour a two course luncheon was served, after which the thirty-one guests departed for home, all having spent an enjoyable evening.

METHODIST CHURCH
C. E. Pollock, Minister

Easter Sunday services—
Fellowship service 6:00 n. m.
Enster sermon 10:00 a. m.
Sunday school 12 noon.
Easter Vesper hour 4:15 p. m.
Epworth League 6:00 p. m.

To all the nbove services the public is cordially invited. The detailed program of the dny will be printed in the Bulletin of the church, which may be had at the morning services. Baptisms and church receptions will be cared for at any of the Sunday services. The Vesper service will be unusually attractive with vocal and instrumental music.

Entertained With Dinner

Mr. and Mrs. George Roderick entertained Boyne City friends, last Thursday evening, at their home on State street with a six o'clock fish dinner. Guests were, Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Burnett, Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Dean, Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Sarasin and Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Greene.

Spent Evening Playing Pedro

Will Seymour and Mrs. Lucy Pearl entertained a number of their friends at the Seymour home on south State street, Tuesday evening of last week The ten guests played pedro during the early part of the evening, after which the hostess served a delightful lunch.

Christian Scieneo Society

Sunday service 10:45 a. m.
Subject, "Doctrine of Atonement."
Sunday school at 12 o'clock.
Wednesday evening service 7:45.
Reading room open Tuesday and Snturday, 3 to 5 p. m.

The public is cordially invited to attend our service.

Statement of the Ownership

Management, circulation, etc., of the Charlevoix Courier, published weekly at Charlevoix, Michigan, required by the Act of August 24, 1912.

Editor—A. J. Usher, Charlevoix, Mich.

Managing Editor—A. J. Usher, Charlevoix, Mich.

Business Manager—A. J. Usher, Charlevoix, Mich.

Publisher—DuBois & Usher, Charlevoix, Mich.

Owners—A. J. Usher, Charlevox, Mich., Margaret S. DuBois, Charlevoix, Mich.

Known bondholders, mortgagees, and other security holders, holding 1 per cent or more of total amount of bonds, mortgages, or other securities—None.

(Signed) A. J. USHER,
Business Manager.

Sworn to and subscribed before me this 9th day of April, 1927.

Gerald W. Richardson,
Notary Public, Charlevoix County.
My commission expires June 11, 1930.

Kayser Gloves

THE NEW SPRING GLOVES IN SILK AND CHAMOISETTE AT .....$1.00 and $1.50

GORDON HOSE

NEW SHADES OF SILK HOSE, silk to the hem, per pair $1.65

PHOENIX HOSE

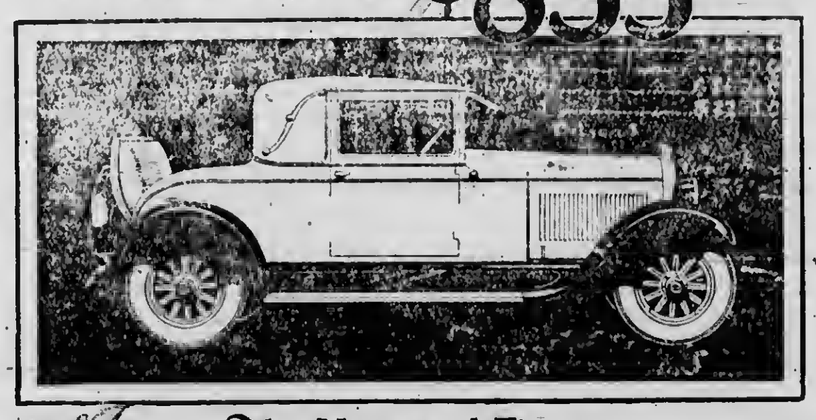
ALL SILK HOSE IN ALL SHADES (Ask for lot 736) $1.95

ARTIFICIAL FLOWERS

THE VERY NEW FLOWERS FOR DRESSES AND COATS 50c, 75c, $1.00

M. A. Levinson & Co.

The Lowest Priced Six of its Type in the World $835 4-passenger Sport Cabriolet



The New and Finer
PONTIAC SIX

Rising above all barriers of price and class, the New and Finer Pontiac Six Sport Cabriolet stands forth as one of the smartest and most beautiful cars in the world today.

Fisher craftsmanship achieved a masterpiece in the creation of its lines and now Oakland amazes the entire nation by offering the Sport Cabriolet at a price never before associated with such surpassing brilliance, such arresting style and thrilling six-cylinder performance.

Truly, in the Pontiac Six Sport Cabriolet have been attained a distinction of appearance and a degree of quality which its astonishingly low price does not even suggest. Only an inspection will reveal its revolutionary value. Come in and see it today.

NEW LOW PRICES

Sedan	$775	Sport Cabriolet(4-pass)	$835
Coupe	775	DeLuxe Landau Sedan	975
Sport Roadster (4-pass.)	775	DeLuxe Panel Delivery	770
Landau Sedan	895	DeLuxe Screen Delivery	760

Oakland Six, $1025 to $1295. Bodies by Fisher. All prices at factory. Easy to pay on the General Motors Time Payment Plan.

Block and Simmons, 113-115 Antrim St., Charlevoix

BAPTIST CHURCH

A full Easter program for Sunday at 10:30. "The Easter a Historic Certninty" will he the theme.

Bible school at noon. Easter Cantata at 4:00 p. m. This will be a real musical treat. B. Y. P. U. will meet at 6:30 and at 7:30 preaching service. "The Resurection Life," will be the theme.

It is expected that the teaching of Rom. 6:1-11 will be the first feature of the day's services.

A welcome awaits all who will come.

Notice to Contractors

Sealed bids will received by the Board of Charlevoix County Road Commissioners, at their office in the Court House, Charlevoix, Michigan, until 10:00 o'clock standard time, April 25, 1927, for the construction of several pieces of roads as follows:

5267 feet of Class A. 12 foot gravel road on the Marion Center road in Marion township.

6965.7 feet of Class A. 12 foot gravel road on the Horton Bay north road in Bay township

6552 feet of Class A. 12 foot gravel road on the Boyne Falls east road in Hudson township.

Bids on the above work are to be made according to bidding blanks furnished by the Commission and certified check for such amount as indicated in the bidding blank, must accompany the bid on each road.

All work on above pieces of roads to be done according to plans on file in the office of the County Road Commission and in accordance with state specifications.

Plans may be seen and bidding blanks obtained at the office of the County Road Commission.

The Commission reserves the right to reject any or all bids or any part thereof.

Ernest Peaslee, Deputy Clerk. W. E. Byers, Chairman.

Read the Courier, and get the news

Taking the Wear Out of a Day

A lot of folks used to have nervous breakdowns from too much rushing around on business or pleasure. Today they go more, do more, enjoy more, and still have plenty of time for rest because they come and go in the family car. Let us show you the modern conveniences built into the new

NASH CARS
26 MODELS
A car to suit every taste

H. R. Fowler
113 Bridge St. Telephone No. 54-J
Goodrich Silvertown—Kelley Springfield Tires
Prest-O-Lite Batteries and Service

THE OLDEST BANK IN CHARLEVOIX COUNTY
FORTY-THIRD YEAR IN BUSINESS

1884 1927

"Success" Insurance

BEING "GOOD" TO A SAVINGS ACCOUNT IS JUST ABOUT THE BEST AND SAFEST 'SUCCESS' INSURANCE THAT ANYONE IN THIS COMMUNITY WILL EVER FIND.

AND THE BEST TIME TO START SUCH AN ACCOUNT IS TODAY.

Charlevoix County Bank

CHARLEVOIX, MICHIGAN

Bridge & Compaoy

THE BANK ON THE CORNER

LOCAL NEWS BRIEFLY TOLD

Get the Habit—Read the Courier

H. A. Craig made a business trip to Mancelona last Saturday.

Ed. Bogart of East Jordan, was a Charlevoix business visitor last Saturday.

John Bronersky was a business visitor in Traverse City last Wednesday.

Mrs. Nelson Lindley was in Petoskey the first part of the week on business.

Dr. Bechtold of East Jordan, was a Charlevoix business visitor Tuesday morning.

Wyers & Smith report the sale of a new Hudson brougham to Charles Hendrickson, Sr.

Mr. and Mrs. E. D. Shafer of Petoskey, were Charlevoix business visitors last Thursday.

H. Brock returned Saturday from Port Orange, Florida, where he has been spending the winter.

Dr. and Mrs. R. E. Palmer of St. James, Beaver Island, were week-end visitors in Charlevoix.

Mrs. M. A. Levinson left Monday for Evelith, Minnesota, called by the death of her brothr-in-law.

Mr. and Mrs. Prescott Adams have returned home after spending a week death of her brother-in-law.

A. J. Brown, automobile dealer of Petoskey, was at the Benj. Brown garage Monday on business.

Richard Saltonstall returned Saturday to Olivet, where he is completing his senior term at the college.

Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Loeb and children, have returned from Chicago, where they have been spending the winter.

Mrs. Gertrude Blackwood has returned to her Charlevoix home after spending the winter in Indianapolis Indinna.

Mrs. Clara Todd left Thursday for an extended visit with her daughter, Mrs Sims Clark, in Grand Rapids and son, Gordon, who resides in Kalamazoo.

L. E. Thomas of Walloon Lake, was at the office of the register of deeds at the court-house Monday on business.

Janize S. Correll left Wednesday for a week's visit with his daughter in Muskegon. He will return next Wednesday.

H. C. Carlson of Cadillac, representing the Securities Funding Corporation was a business caller in Charlevoix Monday.

Mr. and R. S. Shapton arrived Monday from Southern Pines, North Carolina, where they have been spending the winter.

Mr. and Mrs. Richard Hammet, Sr., returned Sunday from Daphne, Alabama, where they have been spending the winter.

Earl Young and Volley Fox of Horton Bay, left Sunday morning in Mr. Young's car for Grand Rapids on a short business trip.

The Missionary Society of the Congregational church will meet with Mrs John Buras Wednesday afternoon, April 20th.

Mrs. Gerry Shores of Gloucester, Mass., arrived in Charlevoix Tuesday, called by the death of her brother, James Mitchell.

Harry Porter is expected to return this week from Grand Rapids with an Essex sport roadster for the Essex-Hudson salesrooms.

Harry Hunter of Detroit, state agent for the American Eagle Insurance company was a week-end business visitor in Charlevoix.

Miss Marjorie Myers is home from the University of Michigan to spend spring vacation with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Myers.

George Driggett, teacher in the Milwaukee public schools drove here Monday to spend a few days visiting his father, Wm. T. Driggett.

Harker Kirby and family drove to Frankfort last Thursday, to visit relatives. Mr. Kirby returned Friday and Mrs. Kirby Sunday.

W. F. Hill of Grand Rapids, special agent for the N. Y. Underwriters Insurance company, was at the County Bank Thursday and Friday.

M. Roy Brady left Sunday for South Bend, Indiana, where he will attend a dealers meeting of the Johnson Outboard Motor company.

Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Gallagher and daughter, enroute from Chicago to their home on Beaver Island, were Sunday guests at the Hotel Charlevoix.

W. M. VanWormer of Lansing, special agent for the Phoenix Insurance company, was at the County Bank Friday and Saturday on business.

Ladies of the Episcopal Guild will meet with Mrs. Ann Partridge at the home of Mrs. Henry Partridge on Petoskey avenue, Wednesday, April 20th.

Raymond Faulkner, Jr., student at the Unievresity of Michigan, is spending the Easter vacation with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Faulkner, Sr.

Eugene Fairchild and Dr. D. F. Newman, veterinarinn, made a business trip to National City, in the eastern part of the state, early in the week.

Mrs. E. Bowman returned to her home in East Jordan Monday morning, having been the guest of her sisters, Mrs. Maggie Colter, for the past week.

Supplies for Easter Dinner

It will be a delight for the housewife to select articles for Easter Sunday dinner at our store. Our splendid stock includes:

Ham, Poultry, Eggs, Green Vegetables, Staple and Fancy Groceries.

Did You Ever Try
BILLY-BOY MUSH
to fry

10c

for 2 lb. package

We also carry
WARD'S DOUGHNUTS per package

13c

They Can't Be Beaten

Milton Block

B. J. Gellick and E. B. Eckland of Grand Haven, were in the city last week inspecting the steamer J. B. Johns in preparation for the opening of navigation.

Lambert Saltonstall arrived home Saturday from the university of Michigan to spend the vacation week with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Brayton Saltonstall.

Margaret Brown, who is attending school at the University of Michigan, is spending the Easter vacation week with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Benj. Brown.

Wyers & Smith, automobile dealers, report the sale of an Essex coach and an Essex sedan to Wilbert Fotchman of Fotchman's Department store of Petoskey

W. A. Smith, Jr., for many years associated with the Sentinel Publishing company, left Monday for Boyne City, where he will sail on the steamer Griffin this season.

Mr. and Mrs. Russell Blakeslee, accompanied by F. W. Belcher of Detroit, are guests at the home of Mrs. Blakeslee's parents, Mr. and Mrs. James Gaskin, for the week.

E. Thorne of Grand Rapids, district manager for the Hudson-Essex automobile manufacturers, was at the local salesrooms, owned by Wyers and Smith, last week on business.

H. R. Fowler made a trip to Detroit last Saturday, returning Monday. He was accompanied home by Mrs. Fowler, who has been visiting relatives in Detroit for the past two weeks.

Miss Marion Sears, dietetician in the Homepathic hospital in Pittsburgh, Pa., and Wm. Sears of Chicago are expected here Thursday, called by the death of their father, Frank M. Sears.

Stanley and Betty Jean Cartier will leave Thursday for Grand Rapids. They will return Saturday by auto, with their brother, Dr. C. Cartier, who will spend the week-end with his parents in this city.

Mrs. Ruth Brock of 2019 Sherman avenue, Evanston, Illinois, has rented her home to the secretary of Vice-President Dawes and is expected to arrive in Charlevoix in the near future to spend the summer with her friend, Mrs. C. J. Winder.

M. B Hooker drove to Ann Arbor Thursday, returning Friday, accompanied by his daughter, Dorothy, Frieda McMillan and Charles Dagwell, university students, who will spend the spring vacation week at their respective homes in this city.

F. E. Payke, R. Wells, H. Boyle, H. Fuller and L. Pickett, line men for the Michigan Bell Telephone company are registered nt the Hotel Charlevoix for the week. They are repairing and installing equipment in preparation for the coming resort season.

Dr. and Mrs. C. J. Winder returned Saturday, by auto, from Eaton Rapids, where Mrs. Winder went to attend the drumatic presentation, "The Goose Hangs High," by the Eaton Rapids high school, of which her daughter, Miss Evelyn was a member of the cast.

Word received by W. H. Miller, warden at the Belvedere Club, states that Mrs. L. J. Heaton, well known Belvedere resorter and charter member of the association, is seriously ill at her home in Detroit with pneumonia. Mrs. Heaton in her 93rd year and is very well known in Charlevoix.

W. C. T. U. NOTES

The W. C. T. U. met Tuesday afternoon at Mrs. Arnold's with twenty-two members and several visitors present.

Mrs Jno. Joliffe conducted a very inspiring devotional service with the 107th Psalm as a basis: Mrs. H. S. Harsha and Mrs. Jno. Burns were appointed essay contest judges. The report of the findings of the joint Civic committee was presented and method of co-operation agreed upon. Mrs. Mary Cowan was made a local life member.

Nineteen pledged members have been secured since the March meeting. It was announced that the membership drive closes May 8th The names of those securing ten new members with dues paid will each be inscribed upon a brick which will be used to build a wall of defense at the 1927 National convention, this wall being typical of the wall the W. C. T. U. aims to build to keep out the liquor traffic forever.

Miss Eva Adams told of the opinion Australians have of Aemrican prohibition. Also of restrictions Florida is likely to place on auto drivers. She also described the "Slow Club" and suggested the need of one here. A visitor told of the method used in Portland to restrain Juvenile delinquency. The assigned topic: "The Child in the Midst," was presented by Mrs. E. E. Cross and a discussion followed.

After the meeting adjourned the hostess served refreshments and a social hour was enjoyed.

Our garage, battery and tire shop is at your service. Benj. Brown.—

HOSPITAL NOTES

Bradley Aachison was treated at the hospital Saturday evening for injuries to his head received at the Argo Milling company fire.

Mrs. Minnie Wiltse of Central Lake, submitted to an operation last Saturday.

Fred Hall of Charlevoix Route 4, submitted to a slight operation on his hand Tuesday.

Guy Oliver, 14 year old local Indian lad, had his gall bladder and appendix removed Wednesday. His condition is good.

Henry Brat had his tonsils removed at the hospital Wednesday.

Fred Ward of Harbor Springs, was admitted to the hospital Wednesday for medical treatment.

Mrs. Whiteford returned to her home in East Jordan, Wednesday, fully recovered from a recent operation.

Mrs. Charles Graves returned to her home Wednesday, after having been operated on at the hospital recently.

Dr. W. H. Parks of Petoskey, put in a busy day in Charlevoix Wednesday, performing operations at the hospital.

Superintendent's Report for Month of March

No. patients admitted	21
No. patients discharged	17
No. days care of patients	270
Average number per day	9
No. medical cases	1
No. surgical cases	19
No. accident cases	0
No. obstetrical cases	1
No. births	1
No. deaths	1
No. meals served	1368
No. patients in hospital Mar. 1.	7
No. pntients in hospital Apr. 1.	10
Highest number any day	12

Get your auction bill printed here.

COURIER BARGAIN COLUMN.

Courier Want Advs. are One Cent per word per insertion. Minimum charge is 20 cents per insertion, for anything under 20 words. All Want Advs. are strictly cash in advance except to those who have ledger accounts. Please remember this when sending in your copy.

FOR SALE—MISCELLANEOUS

FOR SALE—4-wick oil burner kitchen range. Inquire 303 Mason street, Charlevoix.—14-tf.

FOR SALE—Hatching eggs, single comb White Leghorn. $1.00 for fifteen. Henry Stephan, R. F. D. 1, 15t1 pd.

FOR SALE OR RENT

FOR SALE OR RENT—Garage in East Jordan known as the Lakeside Garage. Inquire Frank Zoulek, East Jordan, Rt. 2.—14-t4pd.

FOR SALE—LIVE STOCK

FOR SALE—Cow giving about 6 quarts of milk. Due to freshen June 1st. Call Plenny Genett, Rt. 4.—14-t2.

FOR SALE—Black Jersey Cow with calf. Cow just fresh. See John Bronersky, Bridge street, Charlevoix.—15-t1.

FOR SALE—REAL ESTATE

FOR SALE OR TRADE—100 acre farm located 4 miles west of East Jordan or 2 miles east of Ellsworth. 60 acres clear, nearly all seeded, exceptionally well suited for dairy farm; basement barn 36 by 48, new chicken coop 14x40; good small house. Will sell or consider trade for Charlevoix property. Address John TerWee, East Jordan, Mich.—12-tf.

WANTED—MISCELLANEOUS

WANTED—Heavy hens at Jeffery's Poultry Farm, 805 State St., phone 188.—15tf.

WANTED—Well drilling and well repair work of all kinds. Address Charles Klienfelt, Harbor Springs, Mich., phone 162-F5—15t1.

WANTED—Dressmaking. Mrs. Lizzie Pnwell, 406 W. Hurlbut, phone 402. 14tf.

WANTED—To buy a young, well broken horse, weight 1150 to 1200. Inquire R. S. Shapton, phone 7010F31. 15tf.

WANTED—REAL ESTATE

WANTED—To hear from owner of land for sale. D. M. Leight, Alzada, Montana.—13-t4.

HELP WANTED.

WANTED—Married man to work on farm. House furnished. Elmer Ingalls, phone 7010F21, Charlevoix, Rt. 1. 14tf.

WANTED—Married man to work on dairy farm. Steady job to man who makes good. Wm. Withers, phone 70004-F3. 15-pd.

WANTED—Man and wife to work on farm. Year round job for right party. H. Brock, phone 7006F12. Charlevoix. 15t2 pd.

WANTED—Man for general work in greenhouse and garden. Good opportunity for right man. Albert E. Edwards. Phone 347.—15t1.

1905  1927

CHECK TALK

NO. 2

Why pay cash when a check is available.

Years ago a checking account was only for those who had considerable cash,—not for the folks in moderate circumstances.

But that's all changed. Most anybody can open a checking account now and what a convenience it is. How easy it is to pay by check and how much safer.

This bank welcomes new checking accounts of moderate size and serves them just as it does the larger ones.

Charlevoix State Savings Bank

Capital and Surplus over $40,000.00

CHARLEVOIX, MICHIGAN

W. S. Richardson, President.
A. D. Crimmins, Vice President.
Archie Livingston, Cashier.
G. W. Richardson, Asst. Cashier.

DELICACIES FOR YOUR EASTER DINNER

We have made a special effort to have everything in our stock complete to make shopping for Easter a pleasure to the housewife. Make out your list, bring it to us, and we will fill out your order complete. Our stock includes Fresh, Green Vegetables, Fancy and Staple Groceries and everything in the Meat line. Following are a few specials:

Fresh Smoked Cottage Hams, just out of the smoke-house, slice or whole, per lb.....25c
Picnic Hams, per lb.....19c
5 lb. Pail Pure Honey.....60c
Strictly Fresh Eggs, 2 doz. for.....45c
Pound can Calumet Baking Powder for.....25c

Order Your Milk-Fed Chickens Early

MARTIN BLOCK

Opposite Post Office Phones 12 and 142

NEW PALACE THEATRE

ATTRACTIONS FOR THE COMING WEEK

Saturday and Sunday, April 16-17

"SUMMER BACHELORS," with Madge Bellamy, Allen Forrest, Matt Moore, Hale Hamilton and Olive Tell. Tramp, tramp, tramp the wives are marching. Every summer they repeat the hot weather exodus to the pleasant places of the country, leaving the husbands to their offices, their clubs, their loneliness and to—? ? ? Everybody is talking about "Summer Bachelors," the biggest box office attraction of the current movie season. Don't miss this big special. Also a Fox comedy, "EIGHT CYLINDER BULL." Note:—No advance in price.

Wednesday and Thursday, April 20-21

Hoot Gibson in "THE TEXAS STREAK." You'll howl with mirth when you see the drug store cowboy baffle the toughest gunmen in the west. You'll thrill to the quick at the hammering fights and the mad-cap horsemanship. A crackerjack Gibson western, fresh with the spirit of the virile West. Also Hodge Podge. "CLUSTER OF KINGS" and Fox News.

COMING—Richard Dix in "PARADISE FOR TWO."

COMING—Gilda Grey in "ALOMA OF THE SOUTH SEAS."

COMING—Lillian Gish in "THE SCARLET LETTER."

COMING—Lon Chaney in "TELL IT TO THE MARINES."

Zonite

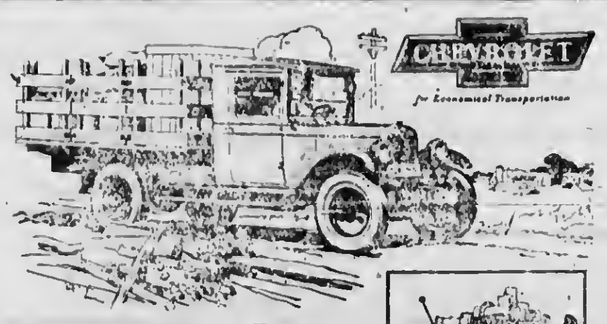
For Cuts and Wounds

Prevent infection! Treat every cut, wound or scratch with this powerful non-poisonous antiseptic. Zonite actually kills germs. Helps to heal, too.

Since 1857

Eagle Brand has raised more healthy babies than all other infant foods combined.

Borden's EAGLE BRAND
CONDENSED MILK



Quality Features

of the world's most popular gear-shift truck

Chevrolet is the world's most popular gearshift truck because it offers scores of quality features not found on any other haulage unit in the low price field.

Included in this list are numerous recent mechanical improvements of the utmost importance, such as—AC oil filter and AC air cleaner to protect the motor from excessive wear and to maintain at its peak efficiency the smooth, effortless power for which Chevrolet's motor has long been famous. Other new features are an improved transmission and new gear-shift lever; a new and more conveniently located emergency brake; crowned fenders; a new radiator of greater cooling capacity; a new 17-inch steering wheel—and even bullet-type headlamps to give a distinctive touch of smartness!

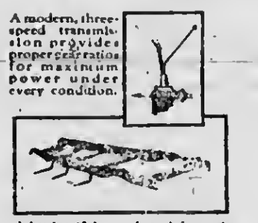
If you want efficient, truly economical transportation, come to our salesroom and see the Improved Chevrolet Truck!

1-Ton Truck with Stake Body	$680	1-Ton Truck with Panel Body	$755
1-Ton Truck Chassis	$495	½-Ton Truck Chassis	$395
1-Ton Truck Chassis with Cab	$610	Prices f.o.b. Flint, Mich.

In addition to these low prices, Chevrolet's delivered prices include the lowest handling and financing charges available.

The famous Chevrolet valve-in-head motor has been made even more dependable—with even greater operating economy.

The rugged Chevrolet rear axle possesses abundant strength and stamina for the heaviest haulage duty.



A modern, three-speed transmission provides proper gearratios for maximum power under every condition.

A husky, 6" channel steel frame is a contributing factor to the long life and faultless performance of Chevrolet Trucks.

PETOSKEY AUTO SALES, E. Mitchell St., Petoskey
Block & Simmons, Charlevoix, Local Agents,
113-15 Antrim Street

QUALITY AT LOW COST

The Concrete Street is Safe

CONCRETE streets are safest—wet or dry. They are rigid and enduring under the heaviest traffic. Economical to build and requiring little maintenance, the concrete pavement gives uninterrupted service.

When you pave, pave with portland cement concrete. Its attractive appearance and other exclusive advantages make it appropriate for business streets, boulevards and residential districts alike.

PORTLAND CEMENT ASSOCIATION
Dime Bank Building
DETROIT, MICH.

CONCRETE
—for permanence

UNDER THE DOME AT THE CAPITOL

(Continued from Page One)

The proposed new criminal code was passed by the house Thursday afternoon, following the reading of a message from Governor Green urging its passage. A number of amendments had been made by the judiciary committee, and these were approved and the code passed with but four negative votes. It is freely predicted that the senate will also pass the code next week.

The senate will undoubtedly have the death penalty bill to consider next week. The judiciary committee, which has held it up despite all opposition, has about decided to report it out, but absence of members of the committee for some of its sessions have persistently held it up.

Bandits and thugs got a bad scare when the house, on motion of Representative, Charles Calver, tacked whipping post amendments on the Rushton and Watson senate bills, whereby the sentencing judge was given authority to provide "10 to 30 lashes on the bare back, well laid on," as an addition to the prison penalty. The bills passed the house 89 to 2, but the senate Thursday declined to concur in the amendments, and the bills will likely now go to a conference committee.

The Wude-Bartlett workmen's compensation bill, a special order for Wednesday afternoon at 2:30, provided the house a vehicle for a spectacular scrap and the opportunity was utilized to the full. The hall of representatives was as full of argument as the Sapiro-Ford slander case, and the air was as full of invective as a toy balloon is of wind. The bill was finally passed, providing for an $18 compensation, the vote 81 to 12, but several of those who voted against the bill took a final slap at it in explaining their vote. The bill now goes to the senate. Thus ended the battle in the house between the forces of the administration and those of John Lovett, lobbyist for the Michigan Manufacturers' Association, the first skirmish of which was won by Governor Green when lobbyists were barred from the floors of both chambers, early in the session. The dozen representatives who voted against the increase in compensation were E. D. Skeels of Whitehall, V. W. Main of Battle Creek, Dr. James Unjohn of Kalamazoo, W. J. Deshano of Bay, J. R. Clement of Albion, Charles Calver, Robert Wardell, William Hart, Milton R. Palmer, Conrad J. Nettfing, James L. Johnson and William Walters of Wayne county.

Predictions of many of the dopesters were upset Tuesday afternoon when the senate, by a vote of 19 to 5, joined in the house proposition to vote themselves $5 per day "expense" money, with the provisions that members must actually be in attendance or out on committee work in order to drag down the "expense" money. The measure is retroactive to the beginning of the present session. The attorney general's office questions the legality of the proposition and Auditor General Fuller says he will not honor vouchers for the increased pay until the supreme court orders it. This brings out threats of a bill to remove the auditor general from the state administrative board and substitute the lieutenant governor. Perhaps that will scare Mr. Fuller into paying the vouchers; maybe not.

Senator George Leland has introduced a bill paporting to be a compromise measure to substitute for dozens of other highway measures which have been introduced. The Leland measure provides for a 3-cent gas tax and an equal division with the counties of the weight tax.

The Lennon bill requiring the A. T. & T. Co. to disclose the contract under which they collect four per cent of the gross revenue of the Michigan Bell Telephone Co., on demand of the public utilities commission, passed the senate Wednesday.

Senator Quinlan has in a bill compelling owners of automobiles to carry insurance sufficient to idemnify against accidents, to file a surety bond, or to file with the secretary of state a satisfactory statement of financial responsibility, and this must be done before registration is permitted.

The Callahan bill which has now passed both houses provides a penalty of 10 years in state prison for illegally driving away a motor car.

The investigating committee on the Soldiers' Home at Grand Rapids took up their work Friday, having been granted leave of absence for that purpose. The committee consists of Senator Lennon, Karcher and Bahorski, and Representatives Snow, Harnley, Juhnke, Musson and Wade.

The Boyle bill to shorten the time for foreclosure of mortgages from one year, the present law, to nine months, was defeated in the house Thursday. Representative Main of Battle Creek offered an amendment to cut the time to six months—but his amendment was ditched before the bill came to vote.

Leigh J. Hunt, the new director of conservation, says the department will ask for an increase of $800,000 in its appropriation, alleging that the state has never appropriated half enough money for the prevention of forest fires. This is more and more bills are being introduced having to do with municipal and county landing fields, regulations, licensing of being considered one of the most important activities of the state and it is altogether likely the increased appropriation will meet with favor.

Matters of aviation, also are receiving much attention and many pilots and other important matters. Governor Green wants airplane service for the state police and the conservation department could also use several machines to good advantage in locating and fighting forest fires, if landing fields were provided.

Governor Green, Attorney General Potter and Sir Henry Thornton, president of the Canadian National Railways, had a conference Monday afternoon to consider several changes in the contract between the state and the Grand Trunk, providing for the removal of the Grand Trunk tracks along the Woodward avenue super-highway. As a result of this conference it is probable that some important changes, highly beneficial to the state, will be made in the contract.

No question about it, the legislature has developed into a hive of industry of late and there must be some fellows in the bunch who want to get through before the trout-fishing season opens, the way they expedite the business. Really looks as though the next two weeks would see the bulk of the business pretty well out of the way.

Fine Selection of EASTER CARDS for Friends, all members of the Family at Holley Gift Shop.—Adv. 13-t3.

LEGAL NOTICES

Mortgage Sale

Default having been made in the conditions of a certain mortgage made by Minnie Jane Smith of Charlevoix, Michigan, to Celia N. Bridgo of Charlevoix, Michigan, dated the Fourteenth day of October, A. D. 1916, and recorded in the office of the Register of Deeds of the county of Charlevoix, State of Michigan, on the Sixteenth day of October, A. D. 1916, in Liber 52 of Mortgages, on page 480, whereby the power of sale contained in said mortgage has become operative, on which mortgage there is claimed to be due at the date of this notice the sum of Nine Hundred Two and Seventy-five one-hundredths Dollars as principal and interest and the farther sum of One-Hundred Three and 20/100 Dollars paid in taxes on the land described in said mortgage and the farther sum of Twenty dollars as an attorney fee provided for in said mortgage, and no suit or proceedings at law having been instituted to recover the moneys secured by said mortgage, or any part thereof;

Therefore, by virtue of the power of sale contained in said mortgage, and the statute in such case made and provided, notice is hereby given that on Friday, the 29th day of April, A. D. 1927, at ten o'clock in the forenoon, at the east front door of the court house in the city of Charlevoix, Michigan, that being the place where the Circuit court for said county is held, the undersigned will sell at public auction to the highest bidder, the premises described in said mortgage, or so much thereof as may be necessary to pay the amount due on said mortgage, as aforesaid, with seven per cent interest, and all legal costs, together with said attorney fee, as provided by law, the lands and premises being described in said mortgage as follows:

All that certain piece or parcel of land situate in the city of Charlevoix, county of Charlevoix, state of Michigan, described as follows: Beginning four hundred sixty and one-half feet east of a point where the north line of the Emmet and Grand Traverse State Road (now known as Petoskey Ave.) intersects the east line of Michigan Avenue, the same being the southwest corner of a lot owned by Jennie Gail Vandermade; thence east along the north line of Petoskey Avenue sixty-six feet; thence north one hundred fifty-six and three-fourths feet; thence west sixty-six feet; thence south to the place of beginning, the same being Lot number One of Block number three of Fox and Eaton's unrecorded plat to the village of Charlevoix, Michigan.

Dated February 2nd., 1927.
Celia N. Bridge,
Mortgagee.

A. L. Fitch,
Attorney for Mortgagee,
Business address: Charlevoix Michigan. 5t13.

Mortgage Sale

Default having been made in the conditions of a certain mortgage made by Edward B. Ward and Annie E. Ward of Charlevoix, Michigan to John Nicholls of Charlevoix, Michigan, dated the 3rd day of October, A. D. 1908, and recorded in the office of the Register of Deeds for the county of Charlevoix and state of Michigan, on the 3rd day of October, A. D. 1908, in Liber 44 of mortgages, on page 488, whereby the power of sale contained in said mortgage has become operative, on which mortgage there is claimed to be due at the date of this notice the sum of Four Hundred Ninety-nine Dollars for principal and interest, and an attorney's fee of Ten dollars, provided for in said mortgage, and no suit or proceedings at law having been instituted to recover the moneys secured by said mortgage or any part thereof;

Now, therefore, by virtue of the power of sale contained in said mortgage, and the statute in such case made and provided, notice is hereby given that on Friday the 29th day of April, A. D. 1927, at Ten o'clock in the forenoon, the undersigned will sell at public auction to the highest bidder, at the east front door of the court house, in the city of Charlevoix, Michigan, (that being the place where the circuit court for said county of Charlevoix is held,) the premises described in said mortgage, or so much thereof as may be necessary to pay the amount due on said mortgage, with seven per cent interest, and all legal costs, together with said attorney's fee, as provided by law, the premises being described in said mortgage as follows, to-wit:

Lot number One Hundred Thirty-five of Upright & Hurlbut addition to the city of Charlevoix, county of Charlevoix and state of Michigan.

Dated, January 31st., 1927.

Albert F. Bridge, Executor of the estate of John Nicholls, deceased.
Mortgagee.

A. L. Fitch
Attorney for Mortgagee.
Business Address: Charlevoix, Michigan. 5t13.

Mortgage Sale

Default having been made in the conditions of a mortgage made by Albert L. Johnson and Alma K. Johnson, husband and wife, to John Nicholls, of Charlevoix, Michigan, dated the second day of February, A. D. 1912, and recorded in the office of the Register of Deeds of the county of Charlevoix, state of Michigan, on the second day of February, A. D. 1912, in Liber 48 of Mortgages, on page 61, whereby the power of sale contained in said mortgage has become operative, on which mortgage there is claimed to be due at the date of this notice the sum of Four Hundred Twenty Dollars and Fifty Cents as principal and interest, and Twenty-eight Dollars and Fifty-seven Cents, in taxes paid by the mortgagee on the lands described in said mortgage, together with an attorney fee of Fifteen Dollars provided for in said mortgage, and no suit or proceeding at law having been instituted to recover the moneys secured by said mortgage or any part thereof;

Therefore, by virtue of the power of sale contained in said mortgage, and the statute in such case made and provided, notice is hereby given that on Friday, the 29th day of April, A. D. 1927, at ten o'clock in the forenoon, at the east front door of the court house in the city of Charlevoix, county of Charlevoix, and state of Michigan, that being the place where the circuit court for said county is held, the undersigned will sell at public auction to the highest bidder, the lands and premises described in said mortgage, or so much thereof as may be necessary to pay the amount due on said mortgage, as aforesaid, with seven per cent interest, and all legal costs, together with said attorney fee, as provided by law, the lands and premises being described in said mortgage as follows, to-wit:

All that certain piece or parcel of land situate in the Township of Marion, county of Charlevoix, and state of Michigan, and described as follows, to-wit: The southwest quarter of the southwest quarter of section twelve, township thirty-three north, range eight west.

Dated, February 2nd, 1927.

Albert F. Bridge, Executor of the estate of John Nicholls, deceased.
Mortgagee.

A. L. Fitch.
Attorney for the Executor of the Estate of John Nicholls, deceased, mortgagee.
Business address: Charlevoix, Michigan. 5t13

Order for Publication

State of Michigan, the probate court for the county of Charlevoix.

At a session of said court, held at the probate office, in the city of Charlevoix, in said county, on the first day of April A. D. 1927.

Present: Hon. Servetus A. Correll, Judge of Probate.

In the matter of the estate of Mary Dougherty, Deceased.

Helen Dougherty Bruce, having filed in said court her petition praying that said court adjudicate and determine who were at the time of her death the legal heirs of said deceased and entitled to inherit the real estate of which said deceased died seized.

It is ordered, that the 25th day of April, A. D. 1927, at ten o'clock in the forenoon, at said probate office, be and is hereby appointed for hearing said petition.

It is further ordered, that public notice thereof be given by publication of a copy of this order, for three successive weeks previous to said day of hearing, in the Charlevoix Courier a newspaper printed and circulated in said county.

Servetus A. Correll,
A true copy Judge of Probate.
Adv. 14-t3.

BUSINESS CARDS

HORACE S. HARSHA
REAL ESTATE BROKER
Also writes Fire Insurance and Surety Bonds

Farm Property — Lake Frontage
A. C. BELDING
REAL ESTATE BROKER
Charlevoix, Mich.
Game Preserves — Detroit Property

GLASSES FITTED
Consult
DR. J. LEAHY
OPTOMETRIST
Expert on Eye-Strain.
Petoskey, Mich.
Phone 443 for Appointment

BELLE LOUISE FLEWELLING
Palmer Chiropractor
Post Office Building
Phone 347
Office hours 2 to 5 daily
Monday, Wednesday and Friday
7 to 8

R. J. MADILL
Building Contractor
Ask for Estimates
Phone 121 Charlevoix, Mich.

D. T. McHUGH
General Contractor
Phone 214
CHARLEVOIX, MICHIGAN

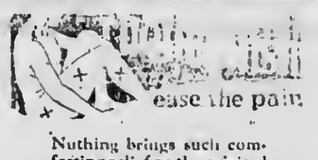
R. B. ARMSTRONG
PHYSICIAN AND SURGEON
Special Attention to Diseases of Eye, Ear, Nose and Throat
Priest Bldg. Phone 255

DR. F. F. McMILLAN
Physician and Surgeon
Office above Postoffice
Phone 17
Charlevoix - - Michigan

A. L. FITCH
ATTORNEY AT LAW
Office in Court House
Phone 48
Charlevoix - Michigan

FLIT
DESTROYS
Moths, Roaches
Bedbugs, Flies
Other Household Insects

VALET
AutoStrop Razor
sharpens itself



ease the pain

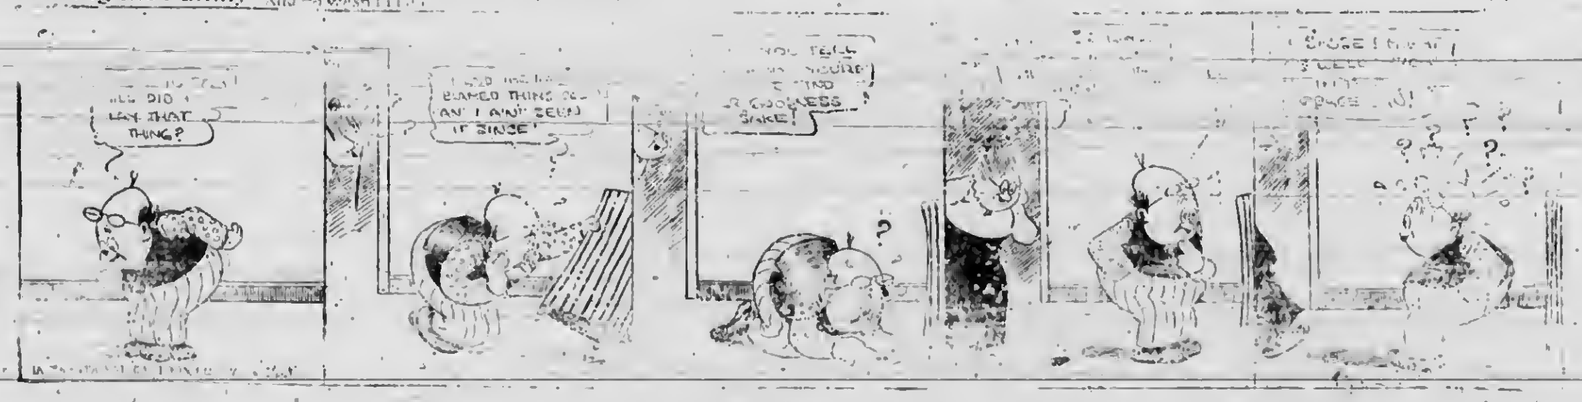
Nothing brings such comforting relief as the original Baume Bengué. It starts to drive out pain as soon as you apply it.

GET THE ORIGINAL FRENCH
BAUME BENGUE
(ANALGESIQUE)

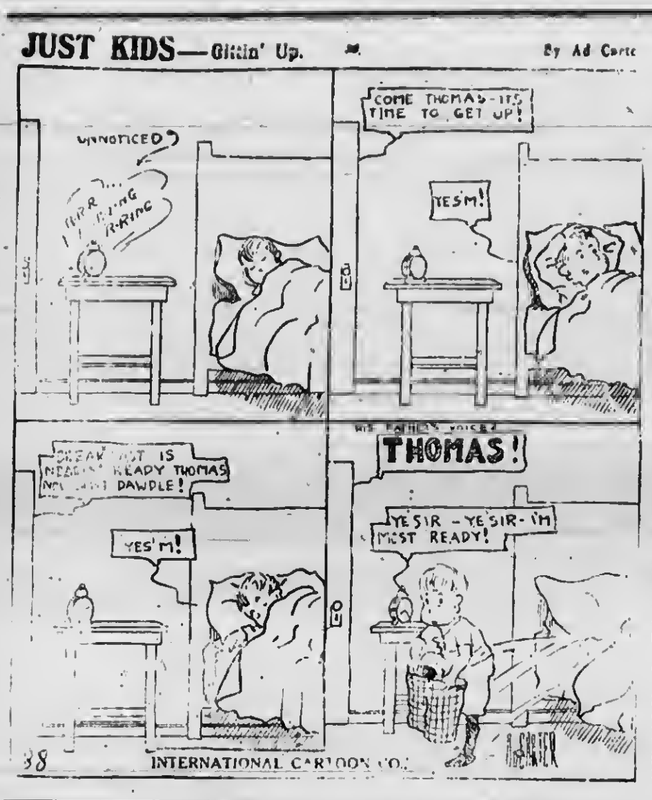
Babies Love It

For all stomach and intestinal troubles and disturbances due to teething, there is nothing better than a safe Infants' and Children's Laxative.

MRS. WINSLOW'S SYRUP



Raising the Family
HE DID SAY THAT THING?
I SEEN HIM DO SOMETHING AN' I AIN'T SEEN IT SINCE!
YOU FELL OVER A CHAIR FOR GOODNESS SAKE!
SAY! WHERE'S THE BABY?



Dead Chicks

Baby chicks die because of wrong feeding and lack of proper care at the start. Stop this loss! BLATCHFORD'S Chick Mash raises the biggest percentage of chicks and matures them quicker. Try a bag and see for yourself.

Blatchford's Chick Mash

ARGO MILLING COMPANY

FRESHENING BREEZES

A Boston doctor can detect poison in liquor by an ultra-violet apparatus while to get the same results the average individual is forced to take a couple drinks anyway.

From Kansas comes the story of the judge who issued an order restraining a wife either talking to or slapped her husband. And to think a few years ago we used to make fun of Kansas.

Michigan is asking for a "smell-'em-out" law for bootleggers in spite of the fact that it took 28 surgical operations to restore an English soldier's nose, injured in the war.

An Illinois judge presented his overcoat to a man arraigned before him on a charge of vagrancy. Always our luck to be about four months behind the parade.

A new high-speed camera, capable of taking 2000 photographs a second has just been invented. Too bad Fred Green didn't have one last summer to get a picture of the north country patriot who offered to buy the Chelsea cement plant.

A Chicago man, invited to a party, jerked two revolvers from his pocket and at the end of the third drink and shot out the lights. Ordinarily they go out of their own accord along about that time.

What has become of the old-fashioned bottle of burdock bitters that used to put in an appearance in the household about this season of the year?

A New York woman broke a parlor vase over her husband's head when she found him breaking one of the commandments. Can it be that this explains the old mystery of why a parlor vase?

Education is the lifelong pursuit of finding out how little we know.

We recommend this paint because

Grease Spots, Finger Prints, Pencil Marks, Soot, can be washed off any Velour Finished Wall

WE made this test ourselves. Deliberately soiling a wall painted with Velour finish, we cleaned it with soap, water and a sponge. After the wall had thoroughly dried, we looked it over carefully and there wasn't a trace of the marks left. That's why we are so enthusiastic about Devoe Velour Finish.

Practical Tests Prove Devoe Quality

S. M. SEE & SONS

Charlevoix, Michigan

EDITORIALS

WHY SWAT THE FLY?

It is said that Chicago is planning to build a monument to the cow that kicked the lantern that caused the famous Chicago conflagration years ago. They date the real growth of the city from that fire, when they claim the city took on a new lease on life and a boom started that has never ceased.

But why give all the credit to the cow? There were many other factors that entered into that fire. If they want to give all due credit let us suggest a tablet containing something like the following, with due apologies to the author of that well-known nursery story, "The House That Jack Built."

This is the site, where the fire occurred that started the boom for Chicago.

Here stood the stable that burned on the site, where the fire occurred that started the boom for Chicago.

Here lay the straw, that was in the stable, that burned on the site where the fire occurred, that started the boom for Chicago.

Here set the lantern, that fired the straw, that was in the stable, that burned on the site, where the fire occurred, that started the boom for Chicago.

Here stood the cow, that kicked the lantern, that fired the straw, that was in the stable, that burned on the site where the fire occurred that started the boom for Chicago.

Here sat the woman, who milked the cow, that kicked the lantern, that fired the straw, that was in the stable that burned on the site, where the fire occurred, that started the boom for Chicago.

Here flew the fly, that annoyed the cow, which the woman milked, that kicked the lantern, that fired the straw, that was in the stable, that stood on the site, where the fire occurred, that started the boom for Chicago.

So why swat the fly and build a monument to the cow? If it had not been for the fly the cow wouldn't have kicked the lantern that started the fire, etc.

MAKING MICHIGAN DRY

What is evidently an attempt to discourage rum running, once the bars are let down under the new liquor law in Canada, which goes into effect some time in May, is seen in the Lennon bill which has already passed the senate and now reposes in the house of representatives at Lansing with more than an even chance of being enacted into a law. The proposed measure makes it mandatory upon judges to impose a minimum sentence of $500 fine and imprisonment in prison for one year of all persons convicted of selling, bartering, importing of transporting liquor for sale. It is the most drastic dry law ever before attempted, and has support of the ardent drys, who fear a deluge of forbidden goods once our neighbor across the river becomes liberalized. Home owners will not be molested under the provisions of the Lennon bill, both the drys and the wets agreeing that the householder is well within his rights under the present liquor laws if he manufactures liquor for purely home consumption.

DANGEROUS HOMES

A safety bulletin called "Outguessing Child," has been issued to local house wives, read aloud at a large number of meetings of organizations, and broadcast by radio. It emphasises the fact that the home is still one of the most serious centers.

A city that had only seven automobile deaths in January had 16 fatalities in accidents in homes. One-third of the victims of such accidents are children. It is obvious that frequent warnings and continued educational work are essential if this unhappy state of affairs is to be ended.

Children themselves should be taught safety precautions at an early age. They are capable of much instruction along this line. Then parents must learn that prevention is up to them—keeping matches, poisons, scalding water, sharp articles and a large assortment of other potential dangers out of the children's way.

Incidentally, every responsible member of a household ought to know some of the fundementals of first aid.

"SELF-RESTRAINT

One of the principles of the American Constitution of the United States is that of self-restrain. Bryce says:

"The people have resolved to put certain rules out of the reach of temporary impulses springing from passion or caprice, and to make these rules the permanent expression of their permanent expression of their calm thought and deliberate purpose. It is a recognition of the truth that majorities are not always right, and need to be protected against themselves by being obliged to recur, at moments of haste or excitement, to maxims they have adopted at times of cool reflection. Like all great achievements in the field of constructive politics, and—like—nearly all great inventions in the fields of science and the arts, this discovery was the product of many minds and long experience. Yet its appearance in a finished shape, destined to permanee, was sudden, just as a liquid composed of several fluids previously held in solution will under certain conditions crystalize rapidly into a solid form."

DEMANDS PAY INCREASES

The Brotherhood of Railway Trainmen and the Order of Railroad Conductors are making demands for pay increases for all branches of employees' organization up to 7 1-2 per cent. These demands would total thirteen millions a year according to conservative estimates. It might be well for Western farmers to realize that if this increase is forced it will come principally out of the pockets of the farmers. This is a fact quite well known to the heads of the railroad unions and it is to them a matter of absolute inconvenience. The farmers are especially concerned with the demands for wage increases.

THE PUBLIC'S RIGHT

Labor may feel it is the first duty of industry to pay a living way. The consumer often feels industry's first duty is to him. But the public may reasonably demand that it share with industry and labor the further distribution of profits after the latter two have had a fair return on their capital and labor invested.

KNOWLEDGE

Knowledge of production alone may make a slave.

Knowledge of distribution alone may make a man a plutocrat.

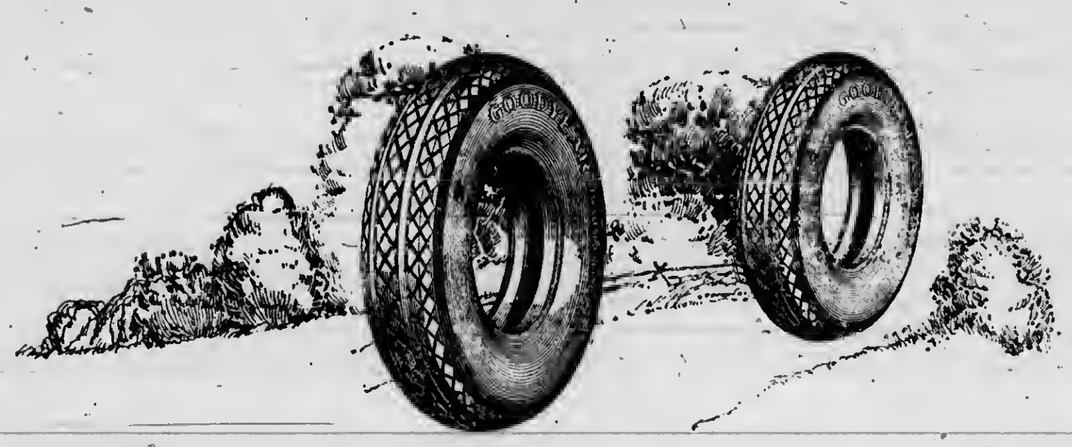
Knowledge of consumption alone may make a man a parasite.

Knowledge of all three makes a man an effective citizen of democracy.

—Glenn Frank.

The Bible says swear not at all. Of course this means not at all people.

BUY THE 1927 TIRE!



Why spend your money for a tire that is out-of-date, behind the times?

Buy the new tire—the 1927 tire—the tire that is proclaimed as

The Greatest Tire in the World

It's the new-type All-Weather Tread Goodyear Balloon. It changes all present ideas about balloon tire mileage. It gives positive traction, protection against skidding. No more tread pot-holes! No more cupping, and uneven, costly wear! This new tire fixes that!

We have this great new Goodyear in your size. It costs no more than old-fashioned balloons. See it today. You'll understand better why "More People Ride on Goodyear Tires than on any other kind!"

30x3 1-2 Pathfinder Fabric	$8.20	29x4.40 All-weather Balloon Cord	$12.85
30x3 1-2 Pathfinder Cord (oversize)	$9.85	30x3 1-2 Tubes for	$1.90
30x3 1-2 Goodyear All-weather Cord	$11.65	29x4.40 Tubes for	$2.40

Other sizes proportionally priced

BENJAMIN BROWN

ALL BETTER

High grade used cars today bear little resemblance to the used cars of yesterday. Roads are better, garages are better, automobiles are better and owners take better care. And we know better than to try and build good will with bad goods!

BENJ. BROWN
CHARLEVOIX, MICH

A USED CAR IS ONLY AS DEPENDABLE AS THE DEALER WHO SELLS IT

Let us do a neat, thorough job, giving you all the comfort and convenience of electricity. Let us install a G-E wiring system throughout—with all materials made by General Electric. It's the most satisfactory system—also the most economical, for it lasts a lifetime.

GE WIRING SYSTEM
—for lifetime service

WOOD BROS.

Withers'
Variety Store

announces

the opening of their new Candy line, consisting of Bulk Candies, a large assortment of Candy Bars and small boxed stock.

As a special inducement we offer for Saturday Only—

2 lbs. of

JELLY BEANS

—for—

14c.

SEE OUR COMPLETE LINE OF EASTER NOVELTIES

VILLAGE OF CLARION FADES INTO HISTORY

Once Prosperous Mill Town to Be Known as Walloon Lake

Clarion, one time prosperous mill town, lying some eight miles south of Petoskey on the Pennsylvania Lines, has lost its identity and will henceforth be known as Walloon Lake, according to a recent announcement of Pennsylvania railroad officials.

The order changing the name of the station has caused old timers to recollect the period some forty years ago when Clarion was a prosperous and well known village, with five or six mills (three of them good sized ones), a three story hotel building, barber shop, churches, several general feed and grocery stores; a school, railroad station, freight depot, lodge rooms, etc. Today, of all this prosperity remains only a small banking ground where the logs from small patches of timber are hauled in during the winter and in the spring loaded onto railroad cars for shipment.

A few families still make their home there, where once the mill whistles called hundreds of men to work. No trace of the big stores and other business places can be seen. Fires have taken their toll and the sites, cleared of ruins, are now used for garden patches by the surviving residents. Some of the better built homes are standing, as reminders of the vanished glories of other days.

The old U. B. church building, after having passed through several stages of existence as lodge room, community center and meeting hall, is falling into decay. The one room school building of pioneer days has been superseded by a two room structure of modern type. The old building became a Dunkard church and has now fallen into disuse. And now the station, repainted and renamed, becomes merely a point of arrival and leaving for patrons of the rapidly growing Walloon Lake resort.

C. H. S. ON LIST OF APPROVED SCHOOLS

Recognized by N. C. A. Assn. of Colleges and Secondary Schools

According to a letter recently received by Supt. Geo. H. Coverdale of the Charlevoix Public Schools, our local school has been placed on the list of approved schools of the North Central Association of Colleges and Secondary Schools. The letter received by Supt. Coverdale follows:

Ann Arbor, Michigan.
March 11, 1927.

Mr. George H. Coverdale,
Supt. of Schools,
Charlevoix, Michigan.

My dear Mr. Coverdale: The Michigan committee on North Central schools is pleased to inform you that your school was placed on the list of approved schools of the North Central Association of Colleges and Secondary Schools. This action was taken at the meeting of the association held in Chicago, March 15-18. A certificate of approval will be furnished your school within a few weeks. It is the recommendation of the committee that this certificate be framed and hung in a prominent place in your school in order that teachers, pupils and patrons may know the high rank that has been accorded your school by the association.

The Michigan Committee desires to congratulate your school on securing recognition by the North Central Association.

Very truly yours,
Michigan State Committee on North Central Schools, J. B. Edmonson, Chairman.

Maple Grove Grange Notes

Maple Grove Grange, No. 1255, met in regular session Tuesday evening, with a good crowd. Several applications were received for membership. A good program was given by the young folks.

A discussion was led by a few of the members on the McNary-Haugen bill and Grange insurance which was very interesting. Next regular meeting will be held Tuesday evening, March 17th. Visitors always welcome.—Secretary.

Burning out chimneys caused many bad fires. Avoid this fire loss by using our Soot Destroyer. It does the work. 15c per pound. Charlevoix Hdw. Co.—Adv. 2tf.

P. T. A. ORGANIZATION NEARING COMPLETION

Constitution Will Be Presented at April 14 Meeting

The Parent-Teachers organization is nearing completion. The constitution will be presented at the April meeting. The following persons have accepted work in the different committees:

Program, Miss VanderHaagen.
Membership, Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Bird.
Press and Publicity, Mrs. Clinton G. Cooper.
Social, Mrs. George Kehlerhouse.
Ways and Means, Mr. and Mrs. Merrit Miller.
Health and Physicial Training, Mrs. Clarence Bridge, Mrs. E. Hiller, and Mr Buchen.
Legislative, A. C. Belding.
Music, Mrs. Archie Livingston.
Literature, Mrs. Hacley Ochs.
Historian, Miss LaRue Higman.
Grade mothers for the north side, Mrs. Clarence Wood, Mrs. Henry Partridge and Mrs. P. R. Ross.
Grade mothers for the south side school, Mrs. Wm. Bogart, Mrs. Amos Webster and Mrs. Edgar Smith.
Grade mothers for the central school have not all been secured. A list will be priated later.

One of the projects under advisement by the P. T. A. is a Pre-School Child Circle. This no doubt, will be of interest to many. Word has been officially received by Mrs. E. E. Cross that Dr. Frank Poole of the State Health Department will be with us Thursday evening to talk to the Charlevoix P. T. A. The "Health of our children" should be a topic of vital interest to each and every one of us. Let us show this interest by being present at the next meeting of the P. T. A. at the high school auditorium, Thursday evening April the 14th, at 7:30 p. m. Promptly.

LAKE FRONTAGE TRACT SOLD IN MANISTEE CO.

Largest Single Piece Ever Sold In West Michigan

One of the largest single pieces of lake frontage ever to be sold in West Michigan has been taken over by a group of Detroit and Plymouth developers, J. J. Fagan & Co. of Muskegon, trustees for the West Michigan Lake Frontage Co. of the same city, announced today.

The sale includes five farms along the Lake Michigan shore in Arcadia township, Manistee county, totaling more than a mile and a half of lake frontage and 407 acres. Roy R. Parrott, C. R. Livengood and Howard Richard are the Detroit business men who now own it and expect to act soon to develop it.

The property is principally well wooded with a fine bluff overlooking a beach of golden sand and the green and blue waters of Lake Michigan. Four ravines provide natural passageways or driveways to the beach. The lake frontage is all covered with fine trees, evergreen predominating. Portage and Bear lakes are each only four miles from the property and Bar lake, Arcadia, as well as the fine trout streams of that vicinity, is less than a mile away. The new owners feel that they have a piece of property perfect in every respect for development as a resort subdivision.

No price was stated, but it is understood that the property sold for about $75,000. Although most frontage sales are not so large, the recent rapid movement of West Michigan lake frontage indicates that developers are rapidly organizing their forces to open much of the desirable property to summer home owners.

CONGREGATIONAL CHURCH
B. G. Mattson, D. D., Minister

Program of services for Good Friday and Easter Sunday.

Friday, April 15. The pastor and church committee, will meet the class of candidates for church membership at 7:00 p. m. in the lecture room. All those desiring to observe Easter by this sincere act of the confession of their faith in their risen Lord are heartily invited to be present at this meeting as a preliminary step to their reception into the church. This meeting will close before eight p. m. when the special musical service will begin. The choir will render the cantata of the Crucifixion, composed by Sir John Stainer and widely used in this country and England. It is a composition of great dignity and beauty and moving emotional power.

Sunday at the morning service the class of new members will be received into the church, infants will be presented for the sacrament of baptism. Easter music will be rendered by the choir, the pastor will preach a brief sermon on Christ's Mastery of Immortality, followed by the celebration of the holy communion.

The young people's society of Christian Endeavor will hold a sunrise prayer meeting at six o'clock, led by Virginia Parker. All young people and any others who desire will be heartily welcome.

The Sunday school will present an Easter pantomine by the primary department at the regular Sunday school hour of noon. A special Easter offering will be given by all the classes to be sent as an Easter gift to the mission hospital at Wni, India, where Dr. and Mrs. Beall our Michigan representatives, are at work.

The observance of Easter day will close with a special musical service at 7:30 p. m. in which will be included choral anthems, a men's chorus, solo numbers for voice and instruments, with a brief address on Christ's Mastery of the Master Spirits of the Ages.

We heartily invite everybody, young and old, not worshipping elsewhere to participate with us in any or all of these Easter services.

The regular service at the Ironton church will occur at 2:30. The services are being temporarily held in the grange hall until the plastering of the church interior is completed.

AUTOMOBILE FEES KEEP MOUNTING

Amount Collected First Three Months More Than Last Year

Automobile weight tax receipts collected in Michigan during the first three months of 1927 totaled $11,711,451.08 or an increase of $702,999.39 over the same period last year, according to announcement made by John S Haggerty, secretary of state.

Approximately $3,000,000 of this amount will be apportioned among the various counties of the state about April 15, according to Frank Fitzgerald, business manager of the state department of highways. Wayne county led with payments of $4,997,495.63 while Keweenaw county trailed the list with a total of $385.65.

Other counties included: Charlevoix $12,11?.40; Cheboygan $7,991.50; Emmet $15,461.46; Grand Traverse $28,244.75; Manistee $24,371.09; Wexford $19,901.68.

SOCIAL EVENTS

Mrs. Bert Beaudoin entertained Monday evening at her home on south Bridge street with a bridge party. Later in the evening the hostess served dainty refreshments.

Mrs. Robert Boutiron entertained with a benefit bridge party for the local chapter, O. E. S. at her home on Dixon avenue. Tuesday afternoon. There were eight tables in play, proceeds of which were turned into the general treasury fund of the chapter.

A group of ladies of the Methodist church surprised Mrs. M. B. Hooker at her home on Antrim street, Monday evening, the occasion being her birthday anniversary. Dorothy, daughter of the hostess, served a delightful birthday lunch.

Mrs. George Glados entertained last Wednesday afternoon with a benefit bridge party for the Charlevoix order of Pythian Sisters. Proceeds from the thirteen tables was turned into the lodge treasury.

CHARLEVOIX HARDWARE CO.

Awnings

We have added another necessary line and are prepared to attend to your CANVAS wants. A new Awning or Cover at your store front invites customers.

Has your house a porch or window that gets too much sun? A few dollars will make a wonderful change.

LAWN TENTS LAWN SWINGS
PORCH SWINGS

Prices are very reasonable. Come in and see the attractive patterns.

Charlevoix Hdw. Co.

NORTHERN MICHIGAN'S FINEST STORE
THREE DEPARTMENTS—HARDWARE, FURNITURE, ELECTRICAL

Make Your Easter Happy

And Buy Your Easter Hat at the

McCarthy Hat Shop

CUT PRICES FOR EASTER—THURSDAY, FRIDAY AND SATURDAY

Here you will find real merchandise, authentic in style, very newest shades and smartest styles, in California models, also New York styles.

HATS PRICED FROM $1.95 UP

McCarthy Hat Shop
101 Lake Street Petoskey, Mich.

FLOWERS
FOR EASTER

Just a few days and Easter will be here. Order early while our list is complete. In Cut Flowers we will have:

ROSES, CARNATIONS, SWEET PEAS, SNAP DRAGONS, LILLIES, TULIPS AND DAFFODILS. In Pot Plants: LILLIES TULIPS, DAFFODILS, HAYCINTHS, CINERARIAS, GERANIUMS, MARTHA WASHINGTON GERANIUMS, BEGONIAS, CALCEOLARIAS AND FOLIAGE PLANTS.

If you cannot visit our greenhouse, call at The Sugar Bowl and make your selections.

Albert E. Edwards, Florist
Member Florist Telegraph Delivery Assn.
Phone 374 1002 May Street

W. E. Byers John Boss

BYERS & BOSS
Auctioneers.

We will cry your sales and clerk them. Furnish cups for all day sales.

Book sales at Courier Office

or call us by phone. All dates are made at The Courier office, phone 2-J.J Phone any one of us and we will take care of your sale.

LET THE COURIER PRINT YOUR SALE BILLS

CHARLEVOIX COURIER

VOLUME 32. NUMBER 16. EIGHT PAGES COURIER, CHARLEVOIX, MICH., WEDNESDAY, APRIL, 20, 1927 PRICE $2.00 PER YEAR

EASTER WAS A GLORIOUS DAY

FINE WEATHER GREETED HUNDREDS OF CHURCH GOERS

Occasion Fittingly Observed With Special Services, Cantatas and Fine Programs

Easter Sunday, one of the greatest festival occasions of the church year, will long be remembered by Charlevoix citizens. It was like a day in July as far as warm weather and sunshine wns concerned and called out hundreds upon hundreds to the services in the various churches of the city.

Following an "all day" service nt the First Methodist church a week ago last Sunday, and special services each day throughout the week with the exception of Monday and Saturday, Easter festivities began with a fellowship hour with Sacrament of the Lord's Supper and receptions into the church at 6:00 a. m. An Easter sermon at 10:30, a fine musicul vesper service at 4:15 and Epworth League at 6:00 p. m. completed the day's worship at this church.

Easter programs at the Congregational church began last Friday evening when the church choir rendered the beautiful cantata of the Crucifixion. A sunrise prayer meeting for the young people was held at six o'clock Sunday morning, followed by reception of members, baptism of infants' sermon by the pastor and Easter music by the choir at the regular morning worship hour. An Easter pantomine was presented by the children at the Sunday school hour and the day's program closed with a special musical service in the evening.

A full Easter program at the Baptist church began at 10:30 a. m., when the pastor preached on the subject, "The Easter a Historic Certainty." This was followed by Sunday school at noon, Easter cantata nt 4:30 p. m., B. Y. P. U. at 6:30 and evening worship at 7:30 . All other of the city's places of worship carried a full Easter program.

Large crowds and the finest programs were reported from every church and the Easter just passed will go down in history as the most pleasant experienced in many years. Pastors commented on the loyalty of members, whose talent and faithful work made possible proper observance of the occasion.

LEGION BENEFIT SHOW AT PALACE THEATRE

Famous War Picture Coming Here Monday, April 25

Indorsed by school and church authorities as one of the outstanding educational pictures of the world war episodes, "The Big Drive" will be shown at the Palace Theatre on Monday, April 25, under the auspices of Leslie T. Shapton Post No. 226, American Legion.

Proceeds from the show will be used in the Legion's welfare fund, which was founded to provide money for welfare work among former soldiers and their needy families. The cause is a worthy one and merits loyal response from the public. An afternoon matinee has been arranged for children besides the evening performance.

"The Big Drive" is one of the few authoritive pictures made with authentic war scenes and the story includes heart-touching scenes of mother love in this country and the stern spectacular compaign of warfnre carried out in France.

Our Soda Fountain Opens Sunday. Specials for Snturday and Sunday will be Maple Nut Ice Cream, Strnwberry Ice Cream, Nut and Fruit Bricks, Bundy Pops. Fessenden, the Druggist.—Adv. 16-t1.

The Busy Bees will have n bridge and pedro party at the home of Mrs. Jnck Bugbee on State street, Friday afternoon, April 22. Price 35c—Adv. 16-t1.

WONDER HOW MUCH STOCK WILL BE WORTH

The stenmships Manitou and Puritan of the defunct Michigan Trnnsit company will be sold April 20 under the direction of a United States marshal, according to notices sent Wednesday to creditors. Order of sale was issued from n court at Grand Rapids, the ships going to the highest bidder. Proceeds of the sale will be used to satisfy maritime liens, mortgages and other claims against the company.

WHERE SCHOOL MONEY COMES FROM

1926 State School Expenditures Exceeded $80,000,000

The primary school fund is less than 20 per cent of the total amount expended annunlly in Michigan for the public schools, elementary and secondary, and not including the University, colleges or state normals, according to figures contained in the "Public School Handbook" issued recently by the Michigan Education Asscialion.

Last year the total umount of primary school money collected by the state was $16,175,793. Hence the total expenditures for the publlc schools of the state exceeded the $80,000,000 mark. In 1926 the new law which gives five per cent of the total primary school fund to the poorer districts of the state, with the remaining 95 per cent apportioned equally on a school census basis among all districts as in previous years, wus in effect. That five per cent totaled $810,833. This sum, taken from the total amount collected, left $15,364,960 which was apportioned to ull districts. Wayne county, by court action, sought to test the validity of the five per cent

(Continued on Page 8)

EXHIBITS WILL BE OF INTEREST

EXHIBITION TRAIN STOPS IN BOYNE CITY, APRIL 29

Soil Tests, Question Box, Short Talks for Benefit of Charlevoix Couoty Farmers

The first lime, legume and livestock special, consisting of three carloads of college exhibits and a lecture coach, will be operated in Western Michigan by the Pennsylvania railroad in co-operation with the dairy department, farm crops department nnd the agricultural engineering department of the Michigan State College and the state department of agriculture.

It will stop at Boyne City from 8:00 o'clock to 11:30 standard time on Friday forenoon, Aprll 29th. The entire public is cordially invited to inspect the many dairy, alfalfa, and lime exhibits housed in the three cars and to listen to short talks hy representatives of the Michigan State College on problems of vital interest to every farmer and to explain the exhibits.

The train will be equipped to test soil samples for lime requirements while you wait. Question boxes will be placed in convenient places to receive written questions. Miniature marl digging machinery will be on display. Don't miss the demonstration showing how to recognize high producing characteristics in young heifers. Three purebred heifers of the three leading breeds, will be carried on the train for your inspection. See the European corn borer exhibit showing methods of prevention and control.

Plan on visiting the train at Boyne City on the 29th of April and see these splendid exhibits. It is not often you can spend three hours as profitably as these.

FIFTY GUESTS WERE PRESENT AT PARTY

Delightful Dinoer-Dancing Party Last Thursday Evening

The Misses Virginia Parker and Leona Smith were charming hostesses Thursday evening, when they entertained fifty friends with a dinner. dance at Monte's restaurant.

Table decorations and favors were in pink and blue in Easter designs, making a very effective ensemble of spring suggestions. Four young girls, friends of the hostesses, served as waitresses. Music was furnished by Mr. and Mrs. Merritt Miller and E. L. Denny.

Recognized For Bravery

Friends of Mrs. Winifred Campbell, local telephone operntor, will be pleased to know that she has received notification that she has been designated to receive the Theodore N. Vail Medal for noteworthy public service and conspicuous bravery during a dangerous fire which completly destroyed the offices of the Pacific Telephone nnd Telegraph company in Los Angeles, California, during the winter of 1926.

Special Sundny dinner at the Hotel Charlevoix at the regular price, 75 cents. Dinner served from 12:30 to 2:00 p. m. 16t1.

MICHIGAN AT BEST IN SPRING

WHY NOT SPRING TOURISTS AND WEEK-END PARTIES

Cutover Lands and Abandoned Farms Never as Enticing as When Flowers Are in Bloom

Why not spring tourists in West Michigan, nsks Clarence V. Smazel, executive secretary of the Development League of Western Michigan. who makes his home here in the middle of the region in which the league is active.

Thuasands of people in Chicago, Detroit and other cities filled with the odors of industry and congestion would gladly drive hundreds of miles for a week-end trip that would give them one deep breath over a bouquet of trailing arbutus they had picked with their own hands, or that would permit them to breath air sweet with the perfume from those dainty blossoms or the more delicate hepaticas.

Cutover lands and abandoned farms are never half so enticing as when wild flowers are in bloom. The old slashing plains are supportiug increasing growths of trailing arbutus, while the sandy loam hills of the abandoned farms furnish the natural habitat for hepaticas (May flowers). Both species require some trees common, to the types of soil on which they grow, but dense forests kill the flowers. West Michigan's second growth trees are nowat astagewhere spring flowers have the most ideal conditions and while many regions of the nation are practically without wild flowers, this part of the country has greater supplies than ever before. There are, of couise, dozens of other species of wild flowers, among them, later in the season, the sweet wild columbine and lady slipper or moccusin orchid, both rare and highly prized. And before the wild flowers are far from all, West Michigan's breezes are scented by thousands of acres of blossoming fruit trees. Why not spring tourists and week-end parties in West Michigan; why not wives and families with fishermen who come May 1? The season holds a new hope for this region.

BROWN & WALLACE SIGN CREDIT TO CITY

Was Designed and Built By Leo W. Powers of Charlevoix

Probably by this time all of our citizens have seen the new electric sign, erected last week at the Sinclair oil station. It is indeed a credit to the city and exemplifies the progressive attitude of the owners, Brown & Wallace.

The sign, "which tells the world" that gasoline is sold at the Sinclair oil station, was designed and built by Leo Powers of the Sanitary Engineering company, and is an excellent piece of workmanship. It is 6x20 feet in dimensions, and has a chaser border of green, ruby red and amber 10 watt lights, operated by a motor flasher; also a special steady-burning day-light bulb for the "gasoline" portion of the display. The whole lighting outlay contains 240 lights.

Our Sodn Fountain Opens Sunday. Specials for Saturday and Sunday will be Muple Nut Ice Cream, Strawberry Ice Cream, Nut and Fruit Bricks, Bundy Pops. Fessenden, the Druggist.—Adv. 16-t1.

Quilt, Rug, Shoe and Corset sale, Saturday, April 23, by the Baptist ladies, next door to Holley Gift Shop.—Adv. 16t1.

UNDER THE DOME AT THE CAPITOL

PROPOSED NEW CRIMINAL CODE PASSES HOUSE

Workmen's Compensation Bill Raising Weekly Minimum Payments Passes the Senate

(By Len W. Feighner)

The solons of Michigan are certalnly not "soldiering" on the job these wonderful spring days. Whether they want to go farming or fishing, there is something in the air that makes them desirious of getting away from Lansing at the earliest possible monment, and they are grinding out bills from the legislative mill at a great rate.

Animosity between the two houses seems to have died down to a great extent and house bills are slipping through the senate, and vice versa, with real expedition; so much so, in fact, thnt criticism has been openly voiced that in some cases not sufficient consideration has heen given certain important measures.

The capital punishment measure, which has been a football for both houses all the session, and which is even yet being kicked around by the judiciary committee of the senate, was expected to be the big smoke of the week, but while the bill will probably be reported out in some form nnd the senate given an opportunity to tear it to bits or to vote on it, present indications are that it will be considernbly changed from the form in which the house passed it by such a decisive vote early in the session.

Conservation bills are going through both houses with a rush, and if they work as they should Michigan will suffer less from forest fires than she regularly has, because the cleaning up of slashings and other fire hazards will be compulsory.

And another thing—whether the capital punishment measure is enacted or not, criminals are not going to have as much of a snap as they have been, accustomed to, for every measure looking toward more severe and more speedy punishment is meeting with unanimous support.

The proposed new criminal code, which passed the house last week with something over a hundred amendments, kicked up a row in the senate Thursday when Senators Person of Lansing and Woodruff of Wayne insisted that it be read in full. This would take about a full day and Secretary Alward had just nicely got under headway when Senator Read moved that further consideration be postponed. The motion prevailed and before it comes up again next week it is hoped to find some way out of the monotony of hearing the bill read in full. Each senator has been asked to read and study the bill in private. Possibly some of them will. It is one of the most important mensures of the session, and much credit is due Judge Harris of Charlevoix county and his committee for the arduous and painstaking work they have put on the measure during the past two years.

The workmen's compensation bill raising weekly minimum payments to $18, passed the senate Thursday afternoon, with Senator Cummings of Centreville registering the only negative vote, and now goes to the Governor for his signature. This is the bill which has been so bitterly opposed by John Lovett, lobbyist for the Michigan Manufacturers' association, and its passage is a signal victory for Governor Green, who supported it at the public hearing, and who promised it his support during the primary campaign. It is claimed that it was principally against John Lovett that the Governor insisted on both houses harring lobbylsts from the floor during sessions, and which was heartily supported by some of the legislators because it also nutomatically banished Roy Holsaple to the galleries.

The Cummings bill providing for the registration of musie teachers was passed by the senate Thursday afternoon and goes to the house.

One measure which was passed by the senate Wednesday and now goes to the house will interest every town in the state. The measure provides that the owner of a drug store shall bo a registered pharmncist, or if a stock company, that not less than 25 per cent of the stockholders shall be registered pharmacists. The bill is aimed particularly at chain drug stores which are making their appearance in many sections, and the act does not apply to present ownership.

State Treasurer Frank D. McKay will have supervision of finance corporations under the Wood bill which passed the senate Tuesday, if the

(Continued on page 7.)

J. M. HARRIS DOING GOOD WORK

LEADER IN FIGHT FOR NEW CRIMINAL CODE

Has Large Number of Friends in Northern Michigan Who Are Supporting Him

John M. Hrris, Charlevoix county's representative in the state legislature, who is now serving his second term, has come in for extended praise for his personal work in preparing the revised crime code now before the law-makers at Lansing.

A lawyer of large and successful practice, Judge Harris was named a member of the commission which drafted the proposed changes. Being the type of man who is not afraid to stand behind his convictions on the floor of the house he successfully restored to the bill several vital pnragraphs which had been stricken out by the judiciary committee.

In legislative procedure, it is not often that the action of the judiciary committee is upset. However the house members, respecting the work and judgment of the gentleman from Boyne City, placed the Hnrris amendments bnck in the bill, and, if it becomes a law, the appeals that have cluttered up the pathways of justice, will be much less in the future.

The Pontiac Daily Press compliments Representative Harris in an editorial which starts out as follows: "Thanks for Judge J. M. Harris, of Charlevoix county. Without him we are not so sure what would have happened to the crime code which has just passed the house at Lansing. It was a happy hour when he was elected and Michigan need him."

"Mac," as he is better known in his home territory, has a wide circle of friends in Northern Michigan, who are expressing satisfaction at the prominent and substantial position he is taking among the leaders at the state capitol.

MRS. GEO. FINUCAN WAS HONORED GUEST

Mrs. Robt. Bonthron Entertained For Visiting Friend

Mrs. Robert Bonthron entertained Tuesday evening at her home on Dixon avenue, in honor of Mrs. George Finucan of Grand Rapids, who is spending the week with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. George Weaver.

There were five tables of bridge in play, Mrs. Archie Livingston winning first prize nnd Mrs. Finucan, the gift prize. Later in the evening the hostess served dainty refreshments, the yellow motif being carried out in the table and room decorations.

Benefit of Pilgrim Circle

Mrs. Wm. Taylor, assisted by Mrs. N. A. Shores, gave a benefit supper for the Pilgrim Circle of the Congregational church, Tuesday evening at the Taylor home on Dixon avenue. This was followed by a social hour and old fashioned "sing." Proceeds of the supper were turned into the circle treasury.

Old papers for sale at Courier.

LOCAL INVENTOR IS RECOGNIZED

PETOSKEY BUSINESS MEN GIVE FINANCIAL BACKING

Infant Garment Invented By Mrs. Lindley Recommended By Leading Physiciaos

A nine year's struggle for recognition has finally been rewarded, according to an announcement made public by Mrs. Louise K. Lindley, well known local resident, who states that her recently-patented invention, which is in the nature of a garment for babies, will be manufactured in Petoskey and soon put on the market.

The new company, whose stockholders are A. M. Hootman, Henry Boehn, Eugene Fotchman, Tom Travis, Chas. McCarthy, Emrey Nyman, sec.-treas., Sam Smith, Al. Bremmer, Leon Miller and Mrs. Lindley, will be known as the Petoskey Layette Manufacturing company. The garment will be sold under the trade name of Wrap-up Shirts nnd Sleeping Garments, and until the Petoskey factory is placed in operation, which will be within a year's time, the garment will be mnnufactured by the Globe Knitting Works in Grand Rapids, Michigan.

In a recent interview, A. M. Hootman, stockholder in the newly formed company, stated that they expected to send a representative to New York City within a month to place the garment with a large wholesaler to be nationally advertised and put on the market both in this country and in Canada.

Petoskey business men who are backing Mrs. Lindley, are very enthusiastic over the possibilities of the company. The garments have been highly recommended by leading physicians, who claim that they are almost a necessity in hospital maternity wards and in the home. Mrs. Lindley holds the patent rights of the invention, is an equal stockholder and will receive a royalty from each garment sold. Her efforts to obtain financial backing for the invention have extended over a number of years and she is to be congratulated on her success.

PRETTY WEDDING LAST FRIDAY EVE.

Mr. and Mrs. Metz Will Make Their Home in Chicago

A very pretty wedding was solemnized at the home of Mrs. James R. Colden, Friday evening, April 15, when her eldest daughter, Inez Irene, was united in marriage to John Edwnrd Metz, son of Mrs. Levi Metz, by Reverend V. J. Hufton, pastor of the Methodist Episcopal church at East Jordan.

Promptly at nine o'clock the strains of the bridal march from Lohengrin were heard and the groom attended by his best man, James Colden, brother of the bride approached the altar, where they awaited the arrival of the brido with her maid of honor, Miss Doris Colden. The beautiful ring ceremony was performed before a bank of roses nnd ferns.

The bride was attired in a shell pink flat crepe gown and carried a lovely bouquet of Columbia roses and sweet peas. The maid of honor wore a very pretty gown of ivory georgette and ribbon. After receiving the best wishes and congratulations of their friends, the bride cut her cake and all partook of the dainty refreshments served.

The many beautiful and useful gifts received among which was a large box or orange nnd lotus blossoms from Florida, showed the high esteem in which the young couple were held. The out of town guests were: Miss Sadie Metz and Miss Annie Colden, both of Mt. Pleasant.

The happy pair left the following day amid showers of rice and old shoes for Traverse City, where they will visit the groom's sister, Mrs. Thomas Cox, and then go on to their future home in Chicago, where they will welcome their many friends.

Will Teach in Rockford

Miss Joyce Mayne of Charlevoix, who graduates from Western State Normal in June with nn early elementary life certificate has accepted a position to teach next year in Rockford near Grand Rapids.

Maple Sugar Social, April 22nd.
Come one and come all
To Barnard Grange Hall
To see Jumbo Jum
And the city rulers in the country.
Adv. 16-t1

April Showers

END LAXATIVES, MOTHER

QUICK QUAKER

Food that "Stands By" through the morning. Toasty, wonderful flavor. Cooks in 2½ to 5 minutes. Has laxative "bulk" plus important food elements.

CORRESPONDENCE

NORWOOD

Mr. and Mrs. Ed. Jones are having their cottage painted this week.

School opened Monday morning, after being closed for two weeks on account of scarlet fever.

Mr. and Mrs. Dunn of Petoskey, were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Merrill Richardson Easter Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Plenny Genett and family, spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Ben Yettaw of Charlevoix.

Fred Hull is still making trips to the hospital for treatments for a bruised hand, which is improving.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Widdgrburn of East Jordan, accompanied by a party of friends, were Norwood callers last Thursday.

Mr. and Mrs. E. W. Publow of Lansing, spent the week end with Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Richardson and family at Norwood.

Cecil Richardson, Hugh Mayne and Mr. Snunders, made a trip to Detroit last week and brought back with them each a new Ford car.

Mr. and Mrs. Pete Turket, also Mr. and Mrs. Jos. Turket of Elk Rapids, visited their sister, Mrs. Jerry Santoes, who was ill last Sunday.

George Light has erected a new rustic fence around his lawn, a new lawn seat, and some flower beds, which adds to the appearance of his place.

Mrs. Wm. Alward, Mrs. R. E. Stafford and Mrs. I. L. Dice, attended the meeting of the Atwood L. A. S. held at the home of Mrs. George Parsons last Thursday.

Mr. and Charles Dye and Mr. and Mrs. Simpson of Traverse City, also Mr. and Mrs. Paul Dye of Saginuw, were visitors at the Frank Richurdson farm home Sunday.

Mrs. Ted Pearl, accompanied by her mother, Mrs. Stafford and sister, Jessie of Charlevoix, also June Stafford of Detroit, were dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. R. E. Stafford last Wednesday.

Wm. Hull of Lansing, accompanied by his friend, Miss Robertson of Flint, motored up from Lansing bringing with them Mr. Hull's mother and brother, Joseph, who have spent the winter months in Chicago, Flint, and Lansing. Joseph expects to assist his brother, Fred, with the farm work this summer.

Miss Anna Jones and Mrs. Clarence Heise motored to Port Huron last Friday and spent Easter Sunday with their brother, Mr. and Mrs. Bert Jones. They brought home with them their nephew, little Bobbie Jones, three years old, who will make his home at present with his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Ed. Jones.

Our Soda Fountain Opens Sunday. Specials for Saturday and Sunday will be Maple Nut Ice Cream, Strawberry Ice Cream, Nut and Fruit Bricks, Bundy Pops. Fessenden, the Druggist.—Adv. 16-t1.

We are at your service on Willard batteries and Goodyear tires at a very low price. Benj. Brown.—Adv.

BARNARD

The Easter program on Sunday was enjoyed by all who attended.

Mrs. Philip Roach of Traverse City, was a business caller in our midst on Monday.

Rev. G. DeYonge of Zeeland, Mich., will preach at the South Barnard church Sunday, April 24th.

A surprise party was given on Saturday evening for Miss Clara Dougherty the occasion being her birthday anniversary. Needless to say, it was enjoyed by all.

Next Sunday the Baptist people of Charlevoix, will give their Easter Cantata in Barnard at the regular church time 2:00 p. m. Everyone come and enjoy this treat.

The Lewis barn and out buildings were destroyed by fire last Thursday. A team of horses three cows and some other stock were also burned. The high wind carried the fire through the grass thereby threatening Mrs. Bottema's house and barn, but was saved by timely help. It is believed to have originated by the children having matches in the barn.

Our aim is to please you with Willard Batteries and Goodyear tires. Benj. Brown.—Adv. 10tf.

IRONTON

Mr. and Mrs. Patterson were on the sick list last week.

Mr. and Mrs. Sam Mower have moved back to Ironton.

The Jackson children have been unable to attend school on account of sickness.

Zoe Patterson, who has been on the sick list the past week, has returned to school in Charlevoix.

Cecil Berry motored to Petoskey Thursday. She was accompanied by Henry Bridenstine and family.

Mr. and Mrs. Hugh King and son, Floyd, motored to Boyne City, Saturday. James Patterson accompanied them.

Mr. and Mrs. Raleigh J. Nelson and son, David, from Ann Arbor, spent the past week at their cottage near Ironton.

Mr. and Mrs. George Hnnsen and son, who have been spending the winter in Muskegon, spent the week-end at their farm near Ironton, returning to Muskegon Sunday.

Ross Alexander and Henry Bridenstine, the champion fishermen, landed a twelve and three quarter pound Mackinaw trout. Henry caught twenty-one and half pounds more of fish that same day. We say fishing is fine.

Our low service on Goodyead Tires will be a surprise to you. Benj. Brown.—Adv. 10tf.

Buick — Value-Id Head — Motor Cars — A 38-10

Buick is in a Value Class.

Its position of leadership is founded on value. Its constant aim is to build each Buick better than the last.

And today, despite that leadership well won and firmly held, Buick is constantly striving still further to increase the value on which its leadership is based.

Heaton & Hooper
BOYNE CITY, MICHIGAN

ATWOOD

April showers, bring May flowers, sweeter than ever.

Next Friday night at the hall—pickles and smiles free.

Ask Bill Joliffe how he lost his hub cup off his car last Sunday.

Mrs. Perces VanDerStreet Cooper was sick with the grippe last week.

Rosy May Henry, who is attending school at Charlevoix, was home over Sunday.

Maurice Henry, who has been sick during the past two weeks with quinisy and grippe is getting better. Good.

Dr. J. O. Randell, superintendent of the M. E. church of Grund Traverse district, will preach in Atwood Sunday, May first.

Several attended the Easter exercises at the Methodist Episcopal church in Ellsworth last Sunday evening. It was good, too.

We have just counted about 2,000 little chicks around Atwood, which the ladies are caring for with the intention of getting them ready for market during the resort season. No wonder the resorters like Charlevoix. Lots of good fishing and the very best of chickens.

Our Soda Fountain Opens Sunday. Specials for Saturday and Sundny will be Maple Nut Ice Cream, Strawberry Ice Cream, Nut and Fruit Bricks, Bundy Pops. Fessenden, the Druggist.—Adv. 16-t1.

BENTLEY HILL

Herman Heeres sowed his oats Wednesday.

Henry Brat had his tonsils removed Wednesday.

James Heeres called at the home of John Koster.

Gerret Rubingh received 250 chicks one dny last week.

Jack Parsons dehorned cattle for D. E. Carpenter, Thursday.

T. DeMoulpied called at the home of H. Reamsma Wednesday.

Mrs. John Parsons and Miss Maggie VanDerHeide were callers at Charlevoix, Saturday.

Hans DeYoung was a business caller at the B. DeYoung home near Central Lake, last week.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry VanDerSlick and family, visited at the home of Bert DeGroot Sunday morning.

Why buy poor tires nt a low price when you can buy a Goodyear tire at that price. Benj. Brown.—Adv. 10tf.

Yes the air in crowded cars, shows and shops is laden with countless disease germs. Good resistance is the safeguard. An occasional NR Tablet will help to build up your resistance and prevent such lufectious diseases as colds, grippe and influenza. Nature's Remedy (NR Tablets) relieves Sick headaches, Auto-intoxication, Constipation, Billousness.

NR TO-NIGHT TOMORROW ALRIGHT

SOLD BY YOUR DRUGGIST
CENTRAL DRUG STORE

More Eggs Feed Cost Less!

Blatchford's "Fill the Basket"
Egg Mash

New Special Process. The only mash that contains 18 highest quality ingredients and 5 sources of animal protein. Exactly the food elements necessary for highest egg production. That's why we recommend Blatchford's—it's better and costs less per egg than any other mash.

Come in—
Get a Trial Bag Today

ARGO MILLING COMPANY

DO IT NOW
---A---
NEW CAR
FOR YOUR OLD CAR

The Latest Finishes
Have your good car refinished with

Duco, Nitro, Egyptian — Lacquers or the High gloss Varnishes

ATCHISON AUTO SHOP
Phone 93 · 204 Mason St.

BE COURTEOUS AND GIVE SERVICE TO TOURISTS

(Editor's Note: Much has been said ubout courtesy nnd service to resorters coming to West Michigan, but some people cnn't seem to understand what these qualities are. Clurence V. Smazel, executive secretary of the Development Lengue of Western Michigan, will attempt to make the terms more definite as they apply to the tourist and resort business of Western Michigan in a series of short articles based on his own experiences while going up and down the West Michigan coast.)

Pussing through a West Michigun village of 500 population a few days ago I stopped to put water in the radiutor of my flivver. The day was fine and I had no cnuse to hate nnybody. Another fellow was using the water can belonging to the garage where I stopped and cheerfully hnnded it over to me when he had filled up. I did likewise and set the can down beside the gasoline pump, within four feet of the garage door.

"Here, you'll have to put that cun back where it belongs," pipes a runt of a fellow in charge of the place, about 50—old enough to know better—and with drooping moustaches. I had done my best; didn't know where the thing belonged; the other fellow had hunded it to me. Yet this bird spoke as though I were a criminal trying to get uway with something and he probably didn't have another thing to do in the world but put that can bnck where he insisted upon having it. I had given the place business on several previous occasions, but as I drove away his brusque, discourteous voice and mauner left me "sore" at him and I declared to myself, "I will never stop at the d——place again." That meticulous water can watcher spoiled ten miles of an otherwise very pleasant trip, because when a pleasant train of thought is derailed it takes more or less time to get it back on the trnck, no matter how small the wreck.

But supposing I had been an outside tourist—I would not only have been "sore" ut the garage, but at that town nnd West Michigan generally. I would probably have sassed the wife and spoke shurply to the klds; the whole fumily would have been sore at the town nnd West Michigan—just because that fellow was unduly particular about his water can. Even then if he had requested or suggested in n pleasant manner that I put it just inside the garage door, I would have done so cheerfully, but an order, spoken as if I had been trying to run away with the can, was just the right thing to jar loose my bad disposition. Tourists and resorters have human emotions; courtesy means being careful of their "feelings," lest you make them sore at your business, your town, West Michigan—and see that your neighbor in business is the same way or ship him out of West Michigan.

Truck, Balloon and high pressure tires at a great reduction. Benj. Brown.—Adv. 10tf.

AT THE MOVIES

Those Busy Little "B's"

Beauty Becomes Bachelor's Bride Because of Bizarre Bequest.

This string of "B's" gives a short outline of the plot of Richard Dix's new Puramount starring picture, "Paradise for Two," coming to the Place Theatre on Saturday and Sunday, April 23-24, in which nll of the three supporting players have names beginning with "B" — Beranger, Bronson and Breese.

Betty Bronson is the stage struck girl whom Dix hires to pose as his wife so he can get control of a legacy.

Edmund Breese is Dix's uncle who is trustee of the legacy and whom Dix tries to outwit by securing the "hired wife."

Andre Beranger is the theatrical producer who gets the girl for Dix and then falls in love with her when Dix does.

Gilda Gray's First Screen Effort Due

Gilda Gray has just completed her initial screen starring role in "Aloma of the South Seas," which Maurice Tourneur directed for Paramount. It comes to the Palace Theatre, Wednesday and Thursday, April 27-28. Miss Gray, who created many South Sea Island dances and brought them to the height of their popularity on Broadway and throughout America, plays the title role, that of an untutored Polynesian dancer in love with a white man.

ST. MARY'S CHURCH

Rev. Fr. Odelo, Pastor.

Sunday services 8:00 a. m. and 10:00 a. m.

Services Monday and Tuesday, 8:00 a. m.

Services Saturday 7:00 a. m.

Ladies' Altar Society meets Thursday afternoons.

Old papers for sale at Courier.

The greatest car values in each price class

CHEVROLET

$525 to $745—The quality car of the low priced field. 3-speed transmission. Fisher Bodies. Ducofinish. Fully equipped. 7 models. Also TRUCK CHASSIS: ½-ton, $395; 1-ton, $495.

PONTIAC

$775 to $975—Most powerful "six" in its price class. Fisher Bodies. Duco finish. Beautiful lines. Value proved by unprecedented sales. 5 models.

OLDSMOBILE

$875 to $1190—A fine car at moderate cost. Powerful 6-cylinder motor. Handsome Fisher Bodies. Duco finish. 4-wheel brakes. 11 models.

OAKLAND

$1095 to $1295—A "six" that is winning and holding goodwill on performance. Beautiful bodies by Fisher. Duco finish. 4-wheel brakes. 7 models.

BUICK

$1195 to $1995 — Famous valve-in-head 6-cylinder engine. New models vibrationless beyond belief. Fisher Bodies. Duco finish. 18 models.

LaSALLE

$2495 to $2685 — General Motors' new and beautiful car designed and built by Cadillac. 8-cylinder V-type engine. Bodies by Fisher. Duco finish. 6 models.

CADILLAC

$2995 to $9000—Pioneer 8-cylinder car. 50 body styles and types by Fisher and Fleetwood. 500 color and upholstery combinations. Duco finishes.

[ALL PRICES F. O. B. FACTORIES]

GENERAL MOTORS stands back of these quality cars. A double guarantee back of every one. Decide which car best suits your purse. Then clip and send the coupon. We will send you free full information about that car, together with a wonderfully interesting illustrated little book about General Motors' Proving Ground where its cars must prove their superiority before they are offered to you. Act today. Mail the coupon NOW, before you forget.

GENERAL MOTORS

CLIP THE COUPON

GENERAL MOTORS Dept. A, Detroit, Mich.

CHEVROLET ☐
PONTIAC ☐
OLDSMOBILE ☐
OAKLAND ☐
BUICK ☐
LASALLE ☐
CADILLAC ☐

Please send, without any obligation to me, illustrated literature describing the General Motors product I have checked — together with the name of the nearest dealer in case I may wish a demonstration. ALSO YOUR PROVING GROUND BOOK.

Name .....
Address .....
.....

FRIGIDAIRE ☐ Electric Refrigerators
DELCO-LIGHT ☐ Electric Plants

ALABASTER LAMPS

by Margaret Turnbull.

COPYRIGHT 1925, BY MARGARET TURNBULL W.N.U. SERVICE

(Chapter Twelve Continued)

Claude looked down at her pityingly. "Well, you're going to have her for a little while yet. Your case isn't nearly as bad as mine, Polly. Mary won't want me to help buy her trousseau, but she will want you." He paused a moment and said, diffidently, "You will help me out with that—and some other things, won't you? You've no idea, Polly, how I've been hoping you'd take charge of the money and—"

"Spend it," Polly snapped.

Claude nodded. His face, turned toward her in the faint twilight, looked strangely pleased. "By Jiminy! It would be great to see some of it go for things women like."

Polly stared out over the water and was silent for awhile.

"You're rather wonderful, Claude Dubbs. I don't know that I quite take it in."

C. M. Dubbs moved uneasily. "Oh, I've just gone along," he told her, "doing what came uppermost. It's you that are the wonder, Polly. Look what you've made of yourself and Mary. Though," he sighed, "I haven't hardly forgiven you yet for keeping Mary to yourself."

Polly rose. "Don't, Claude, you can't understand."

"Think I do," Claude told her, facing her. "I've given a lot of time to thinking that out, and it came over me with a flash, Polly, that in your place I would have done the same thing. What did you know about me?"

"Or you of me?"

"Well," said C. M., "it happened that way, and we acted each according to our natures; but if I can make Mary happy, and buy you both some pretty things now, that's something."

Polly looked at him in slow amazement. Before her his life seemed to spread out. He had toiled and grown rich, unspoiled. Claude was neither meek nor humble. He was wholly master of himself. Even while she determined never to ask the inevitable question, she heard it coming from her own lips.

"In all these years, there must have been some women—"

"You spoiled my taste for just women," Claude answered, brusquely, "and I hadn't much time then, though I own—I missed 'em. I had a whole lot to look after. Tell you about it, some day, Polly, if you care to hear."

Polly nodded. She became aware that Claude was regarding her humorously.

"You'll notice," he said, as she looked up at him inquiringly, "I haven't asked how many men?"

Polly laughed. "They didn't count. I had Mary."

Claude laughed, too. "Well, you won't have her all to yourself, Polly, now that Ned's come into the story. You'd better try to like him. He's a nice boy, though his ways are sudden."

"I don't like his sudden ways," complained Polly. "How dare he say he's engaged to Mary?"

Claude's slow smile stopped her. "I guess Mary knows."

Polly looked at him, half angrily. "Were you playing for this?"

"Oh, Jiminy, no!" Claude gave a quick look at her. "I wanted the girl to myself a little while, but I know better than to interfere with young people when their minds are made up."

Then suddenly Polly realized. "Has—has she said anything to you about—when?"

"No, but if I know Ned, it will be soon. Will you go back with her to the White house, Polly, and stand by? We can talk everything over—later."

Polly hesitated and was conscious that Claude waited anxiously. "I must talk to Mary, first," she said, and saw the keen blue eyes regard her with a curious look of disappointment.

CHAPTER XV

Mary and Claude Dubbs were climbing Winding Willow road on their way to Clover Hollow. Venice was barely three weeks behind them, but as Mary confided to her father, it seemed more like three years, or as though Venice had never been.

Claude gave her an odd little look, and immediately Mary put her head on his shoulder and told him that of course she didn't mean exactly that. Claude agreed that he thought she couldn't, possibly.

Directly behind them was Peace Valley and the grocery. In front of the grocery Polly had climbed out of Mary's car and into Ned's. She sat there waiting for him.

That was the sore spot in Mary's heart. Mother had come back rebelliously to the White house, though outwardly quiet and acquiescent.

During all the journey home she had remained secluded in her stateroom while Mary, Claude and Ned had paced the decks together and tried to arrange their lives and hers. She still called herself Mrs. Johnston. While she acknowledged Mary's engagement to Ned, and spoke to Claude when necessary, she steadfastly refused to enter Claude's store or home. He insist, and did, lavish all that money could buy on Mary, yet Mary's mother continued to live on her own slender income.

"While I refuse to enter the grocer's shop," she told Mary with finality, "I cannot accept the grocer's money."

When Mary demanded that the whole world, and especially Peace Valley, be told that this was her own father, Polly told her calmly, but determinedly, that that day would see her depart from Peace Valley, Clover Hollow and Mary. Mary must be content that Loren Rangeley knew and that there would be no divorce. That was as far as Polly Johnston was prepared to go, at present.

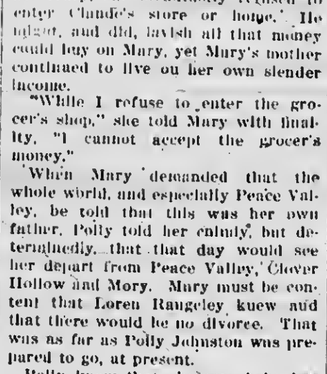
Polly knew that she was behaving abominably and ungenerously, but could not bring herself to do otherwise. She had looked so relieved at this that Mary reluctantly agreed. Ned, smiling noncommittally at Polly, had put his hand on Mary's shoulder and said:

"But Claude won't mind in the least our telling Aunt Lyddy everything, and just how we feel about it."

Then he had taken Mary away and saved Polly Johnston several awkward moments.

Mary, disappointed and unhappy that her mother could not accept Claude and his money as simply as it was offered, tried hard to make a smooth path for both of them. It was wearing work, and it told on Mary. Ned, watching her anxiously, wondered at Polly's hardness of heart toward the girl she adored.

"I'll have it out with Polly yet," he told Claude savagely, and would barely listen to his elder's counsel of patience and his sage, "She's jealous, Ned. Jealous because Mary loves us. You can't argue with a jealous woman."



"I'll Have It Out With Polly Yet," He Told Claude Savagely.

This afternoon, Mary looked paler than usual. Mary's beautiful mother had been impossible today and Mary was glad to escape with father in the car, while Ned took Polly in his.

Ned, surveyed Polly calmly as he gave her his hand. "I'll take you for a ride, Polly dear. Claude and Mary have important business at Clover Hollow, as you probably know unless you closed your ears while Mary was trying to tell you about it. After that, they're coming home here for tea and Mary and Aunt Lyddy will probably go over the family album, sorting out pictures of Claude in his youth. At such times I feel horribly in the way, don't you?"

Polly looked at him with equal calm. She could understand Ned.

"And Claude?"

"Claude will probably come back and pretend to be busy in the shop, though it's a dull day; but presently he will steal in to those two, the only women he really loves—and who adore him. Ten to one, Polly, when we come back, my Mary will be on his knee, with Aunt Lyddy feeding them chocolate cake and retailing to them anecdotes of the illustrious Dabbs family, past and present."

Polly sighed. Ned forsook the Hillsborough road and turned his car toward the open country.

At that very moment Mary said to her father: "I can't bear it, Dad. I hate to take the credit for all your ideas and work. I want to scream out that you're my own truly, honest father, and that everything's yours. I felt I would if I went to another tea with Mother and heard all those women talk about Dabbs, the grocer. I wanted to jump up and say: 'I'm Mary Dubbs.' How mother can sit there and—"

She stopped because Dabbs had put a hand on her shoulder and pulled her to him.

"I think your mother's way is far and away the best—for her. What kind of life would it be if Polly pretended? No, thank God, Polly's an honest woman when it comes to her likes and dislikes. If she ever does decide that she'll put up with a little more of my society, I'll be so flattered this town won't hold me.

"Don't you see, Polly's attitude makes it easier to keep things going smooth just now. Down there in Peace Valley there are two camps. One of them's sitting waiting to see me get my comeuppance from Clover Hollow, and the other thinks, 'Poor old Claude Dabbs is being bamboozled by that high-flying nephew. Claude's head ain't level yet, what with foreign travel and being noticed some by them two settlementers, the red-headed widow and her girl that's gonna marry Ned.'"

"But how do I look," Mary asked bitterly, "taking your money and not owning you?"

"You'll get your chance one of these days. And it'll be a lot better. If the lovely Mrs. Johnston ever does take it into her head to smile on me, my stock will go way up with the villagers. They'll think I'm clever. But they'll think the woman's crazy."

He roared with laughter at the picture he had conjured up of the village worthies discussing the affair, and Mary followed his example.

"You'll have to take your arm away, when we get round this bend," she warned him. "But, oh, Father, I do love you."

"Do you? I'd lose everything I have, rather than one hair on your little head, Mary. And now, about the plan we talked over and show me the kind of business head my girl has. Remember that you and I and Ned agreed that it's the rebels here and there that keep things from getting stale and into ruts, and we want them in our midst." He took his arm away. "I'm Dabbs the grocer now, but I'll be father all the way down home."

Mary's head was high as, accompanied by her father, she faced the entire community assembled in Mannheim's living room. As a matter of fact, the community had that moment been discussing the extraordinary Johnston engagement, in the light of "a social experiment."

One thing Mary was devoutly thankful for, and that was that Dorothy Selden had gone away. Mary felt that she could not have stood Dorothy's sneers at the grocer.

But now she was speaking, her father's eyes on her:

"I felt I should make this explanation myself, and not let it come through a lawyer. I—I am the Clover Hollow Realty company; that is, the majority shares in that company are now mine, and I want to have, as neighbors and tenants, live people—people who have views, decided views, even though they are not mine—people who will stimulate the community and set an example of honorable dealing, fairness, courage and cleverness to the whole countryside. So you can see why—I am pleased to have you—and want to retain you—as tenants.

"About Mr. Dabbs—" Mary turned in a simple, natural way and took Dubbs' hand, as though to present him to them, "I'm going to ask you to let bygones be bygones. I want to keep you both. Is it a bargain, tenants?"

Her smile won them instantly, and O'Toole with a muttered, "The darlint," led in gallantly holding out his hand to the "swatest landlord in the world."

They watched her go down the path and ride away beside her "agent," and Mrs. Mannheim had the last word.

"She may join with us now," she said a little sadly, "and she has all the earmarks of an enthusiastic worker, but what will happen after she marries Rangeley?"

They drew together to discuss that aspect.

Once out of sight, the agent became the father.

"Handled them like a born politician, Mary. I'm proud of you."

The landlord, seeing that the road was clear, hugged the agent.

On High Ridge road, where the wind swept across fields of young grain, and clover scented the air, Ned, who had been driving the silent Polly at breakneck speed, slowed down.

"It's a pity you don't really love me, Polly Johnston," he remarked, glancing at her, "for it seems to me we ought to cling together for protection. We are being cold-shouldered to a degree."

"Don't be silly, as well as disrespectful. Both Claude and Mary adore you. I am the odd number."

"Are you so sure about Mary adoring me?" he asked her.

Polly leaned toward him curiously. "Aren't you?" she asked.

Ned shook his head. He turned a face toward his prospective mother-in-law that was too honestly pained and puzzled to smile at or doubt.

"I'm in a frightful predicament, Polly. I'm mad about your daughter, and she—well, she's just engaged to me."

Polly Johnston so far forgot herself as to whistle softly.

"How long has this been going on?"

"Since the beginning. I took her then on any terms she was willing to make. Now, it hurts."

"Why did she engage herself at all?" Polly demanded, but more as though she was thinking aloud than asking a question, and in fairly unflattering question.

Ned did not answer. Polly glanced at him. Something in his face set her thinking. Presently she looked up and said, with the utmost sincerity, "If I understand you correctly, Ned, it's a pity."

"Yes, isn't it. You see, Polly, how your youthful mistake involves others."

"It wasn't entirely a mistake. Look at Mary."

"Have you said that to Claude?"

"No," admitted Polly. "You and Mary and Claude are all so clever, I thought I'd leave you to discover the fact yourselves."

Ned slowed down the machine and stopped it in a secluded spot on a deserted road.

"I just barely remember my own mother," he told Polly distantly, "and I think she must have had a rotten time with my father. But I don't believe she would act as you are acting toward Mary. I have a sneaking idea she would have stood for my marble-hearted father rather than have made it hard for me."

Polly Johnston burst into tears.

Ned stared, astonished, and then looked frightened. This was not in the least what he had expected. He put his arm about Polly, and she put her head on his shoulder and cried heartily. Ned patted her at intervals, a little distractedly.

"If this is doing you good, it's all right, but it's rather hard on me."

"I know it, Ned," Polly sniffed "I'm finishing up as fast as I can and it has done me good."

"In that case," Ned was gallantry itself, "don't mind me."

Presently Polly dried her eyes.

(Continued on page six.)

GRAHAM BROTHERS TRUCKS

$670 3/4-Ton Chassis F.O.B. Detroit

$1245 1½-Ton Chassis F.O.B. Detroit

$885 1-Ton Chassis F.O.B. Detroit

$1445 2-Ton Chassis F. O. B. Detroit
Dual Rear Wheels Optional at Same Price

Quality—
Volume—
Low Price

BENJAMIN BROWN
Charlevoix, Michigan

MICHIGAN BELL TELEPHONE CO.

Long Distance keeps costs down for Paper Salesman and Printer

SEAMAN-PATRICK PAPER COMPANY
Wholesale Paper Merchants
Detroit
December 4th-1926

Michigan Bell Telephone Co.,
1365 Cass Avenue,
Detroit, Mich.

Gentlemen:

What could we do without long distance service! Business would drop immediately.

There are thousands of rush orders in the wholesale paper business. Merchandise not in stock needed tomorrow is ordered by long distance phone today. Printers cannot afford to keep their presses waiting for paper. Idle presses, like other manufacturing machinery, are expensive. To secure paper, therefore, on time, we use long distance and thus the telephone does its duty in keeping down the production cost of printed matter.

Again, the long distance phone saves in many, many cases, several exchanges of correspondence. Business is expedited, detail work reduced, and serious delays eliminated.

Telephone selling has become a necessity. Hours are saved in this way. Selling cost reduced.

Need we say more?

Sincerely yours,
SEAMAN-PATRICK PAPER COMPANY
P. E. Milligan
Gen. Mgr. Sales

Telephone selling has become a necessity. Hours are saved this way. Selling cost reduced.

Too Much "Acid?"

Excess Uric Acid Gives Rise to Many Unpleasant Troubles.

AUTHORITIES agree that an excess of uric acid is primarily due to faulty kidney action. Retention of this toxic material often makes its presence felt by sore, painful joints, a tired, languid feeling and, sometimes, toxic backache and headache. That the kidneys are not functioning right is often shown by scanty or burning passage of secretions. Thousands assist their kidneys at such times by the use of Doan's Pills—a stimulant diuretic. Doan's are recommended by many local people. Ask your neighbor!

DOAN'S PILLS 60c
Stimulant Diuretic to the Kidneys
Foster-Milburn Co., Mfg. Chem., Buffalo, N. Y.

An Amazing Success
Feen-a-mint
The Chewing LAXATIVE
Chew It Like Chewing Gum
A pleasure to use. Very efficient. Children love it. No taste but that of sweet mint. The most popular laxative because it's a "satisfier." 15c and 25c.

Since 1857
Eagle Brand has raised more healthy babies than all other infant foods combined.
Borden's
EAGLE BRAND
CONDENSED MILK

Sales Mount As Latest Improvements Become Known

The instant Dodge Brothers latest improvements became known, sales began to climb.

Take the car out for a trial and you'll understand why!

It would require a full page to describe these improvements in detail, but here is a partial listing: new-silent-type clutch, new comfort-tilt seats, new five-bearing crankshaft, new starting system, new steering ease, smart new lines and colors, easier gear shifting, softer pedal action, new muffler, and far-reaching improvements in the vital parts and body architecture.

Test the car's new smoothness, quietness and ease of handling—then remember its enviable record for long life and low cost of up-keep!

Standard Sedan.....$ 970.00
Special Sedan.....$ 1020.00
DeLuxe Sedan .....$ 1155.00

Delivered

BENJAMIN BROWN
Charlevoix, Michigan
We Also Sell Dependable Used Cars

DODGE BROTHERS
MOTOR CARS

The CHARLEVOIX COURIER
Issued every Wednesday at
CHARLEVOIX - MICHIGAN

DuBois & Usher, Publishers
A. J. Usher, Editor and Business Mgr.
Courier Building Van Pelt Place

Entered at the Post Office in Charlevoix, Mich., as second class matter.

Member Michigan Press Ass'n

Advertising Rates

For advertising rates apply for schedule.

Notices of church or lodge socials and entertainments, where admission is charged, regular rates.

Obituary poetry, regular rates.

Card of Thanks, 25 cents.

TERMS OF SUBSCRIPTION

One copy, one year $2.00
One Copy, six months $1.00
One Copy, three months .....$ .60

ISSUE STILL LIVES

Capital punishment, thought dead for the present session of the legislature, seems to have taken on a new lease of life and now the word come out of Lansing that the measure will be reported out of committee some time this week, when members of the senate in committee of the whole will air their views before crowded galleries while the big show is going on. Added to the capital punishment measure is one establishing a whipping post for punishing criminals, but whether this would apply to the man about to be condemned to death is not stated. Some legislators are in favor of a whipping post, but can't agree upon the number of stripes that should be applied, some are in favor of hanging, but don't know whether it should be made mandatory upon the judge or the jury. In the meantime Governor Fed W. Green is insisting on the adoption of a new crime code for Michigan, one that is full of teeth for the punishment of the criminal, one that will speed up trial and sentence, while in the meantime he is helping those in the prison who belong in prison. If the legislature will provide adequate machinery for due and just process of law there will be no far-flung cry for capital punishment during the administration of Governor Green. It is about time the boys quit passing the buck and made up their minds to leave crime reduction to a man who knows how to discourage wrong doing.

NOTICE A CHANGE

A city man who recently went back to visit the farm where he grew up was disappointed in the stream that flowed across the place. It was much smaller than it used to be. Worse still, there were no fish in it. When a boy, he used to catch lots of fish there. Now though the vicinity was as rural as ever, and there was no pollution in the stream, he found no fish at all. "Were the banks wooded when you were a boys." asked n naturalist whom he had asked for an explanation. "Yes, they were. There were plenty of fine, large shade trees, and big pools where we looped suckers were well shaded. But now the trees are all gone." "Your question is answered," said he. Rains comes as usual, but there are no trees to develop the moss and vegetable mold in the soil and let the water drain gradually into the creek, as it used to. It all goes into the stream with a rush, and carries off from the creek bed the vegetation and food on which the fish used to live. In flood times, too, the fishes eggs, nests washed away. So it becomes harder and harder for them to exist there. Naturally they give up. The survivors drift down stream and never come back." Which is just one more little reason for not defgresting the land. Why not leave trees along the streams, at least, if they must be cut everywhere else?

HUMAN CONTACTS BETWEEN EMPLOYER AND EMPLOYE

A successful industrialist recently remarked that one of the reasons for his success was his knowledge of men, his sympathy with them, his understanding of his workers and his ability to help because of the knowledge which he had. No matter how small or how large a plant may be, there is a possibility of keeping in touch with the ambitions, desires and difficulties of the men who are working, and a sympathetic understanding can be easily developed by making these contacts and by practical advice and practical help. There ought to be in every shop one man who will be the human contact between the executive organization and the working organization. It should not be left for a worker to go to his union for help or to go to an outsider who may have unionistic tendencies. He should be able to regard his employer as his friend. The stimulation of this kind of friendship—practical friendship—is a great asset for every man, no matter how engaged in industry.

BANDS OF STEEL

Our national existence could not have continued without the railronds. The various parts would have fallen apart of their own weight.

The railroads have united the interests of the different sections, so that they get great benefits by adhering to one government, while the intimate communication produces unity of thought to a large degree. People realize that all sections must be given decently fair treatment, or all will suffer. Thus the railroads are bands of steel binding the country into one magnificent nation.

THE DAYS THAT A MAN SHOULD LABOR

Rep. John Holland, north country legislator, has introduced a measure which if enacted into law would prevent manufacturing firms from operating more than eight hours in any one day unless time and a half for any time in excess of this number of hours was paid employes. A few months ago a great deal of publicity was given Henry Ford's idea of "five-days-a-week" scheme for the laboring man, but with men walking the streets in search of work in most of the large industrial centers the idea seems to have died a natural death. It may be all very well to preach these doctrines of little work and much pay, but the fictitious values created must be eventually paid by somebody, so with all the rest of the world laboring under heavy burdens of reconstruction and confiscative burdens let us thank God that we live in a country where a man can work six days a week and get six days' living wage for his labors.

THE CORN BORER

With $10,000,000 for expenses, the government's fight against the corn borer is going on full force over the infected area of 60,000,000 acres, located in the states of New York, Pennsylvania, Ohio, Michigan and Indinna.

Their plan is to have a general and thorough clean-up of all corn stalks, stubble and cobs on the farm lands, in and around barns and the feeding grounds. The Extension Service of the U. S. Department, with the Extension Divisions of the state agricultural and county extension agents, will give local field demonstrations in the selection and operation of machinery effective in borer control work. The individual farmer will be compensated for extra work in connection with the extermination of the corn borer as provided by the regulations if his farm is reported as meeting all requirements to control the pest.

It is expected the voluntary cleaning up will be finished by May 1. Following May 1, all infested farms will be inspected. Where the regulations have not been complied with, the necessary clean-up will be conducted under the authority of the State Department of Agriculture and the cost will be collected on the same basis as taxes by the state authorities.

With proper co-operation on the part of the farmers, the government will probably successfully control the corn borer.

WARNS FARMERS OF FRAUD

The Business Farmer is broadcasting a notice over the state warning farmers to have nothing to do with a man, giving the name of "Evert," who claims to be representing the "Never Idle Poultry Farm," and selling "Never Idle Poultry Tone." Reports of his nefarious activities have come in from various sections of the state. The "tone" which he sells to the farmers is supposed to kill lice on poultry if put in the chicken's drinking water, and only costs $10.00 per gallon. Frequently he poses as an expert judge of poultry and takes in "cul" for his "medicine."

The U. S. Dept. of Agriculture have carried on extensive experiments which confirm the fact that internal remedies do not kill external parasites, so poultry raisers are warned to have nothing to do with this fakir.

TRAINING

I believe in the free public training of both hands and the mind of every child born of woman. I believe that by the right training of men, we add to the wealth of the world. All wealth is the creation of man and he creates it only in proportion to the trained uses of the community; and the more men we train, the more wealth everyone may create.—Theodore Roosevelt.

FRESHENING BREEZES

Naturally we'd think it strange if China were to send a gunboat up Grand River opposite Lansing to protect a Chinese laundry.

Michigan legislators are now proposing a whipping post for criminals. Quite a change from the roar the sob-sisters let out a few years ago when they found Warden Otis Fuller had paddled a few of the bad actors up at the Michigan Reformatory.

If the world rally wants a thrill why not try arranging a ten-round bout between Mussolini and Senator Jim Reed?

Judge Ben Lindsey was in Michigan last week, advocating companionate marriages. And all the while we were under the impression it was for that reason they've been trying to put King Ben in prison.

Sovietism is said to be only ten years old. Well, for a youth of that age he seems to be giving the old folks a whole lot of trouble.

Every time we pass a farm with a lot of machinery standing out in the fields we know there lives a farmer who needs relief.

At least, gold diggers are not new to Nevada—they've been going to Reno for years.

Senator Borah gives back to the government $2,500 of his $10,000 salary each year—and takes that much out in noise.

Scientists say human life has existed on this planet for 250,000 years—just about the age of the first "Pat and Mike" story.

If Senator King will promise to stay in Haiti perhaps the matter can be arranged.

Isn't it about time that everybody cheered up—spring is with us and the legislature has promised a near adjournment.

At least we know how the old fellow in Biblical times felt when he fell into a gang of thieves.

What has become of the old-fashioned taxpayer who voted for every appropriation and kicked afterwards?

And Now In Closing—

One growing business that ought to be checked is that of stealing automobiles. Owners should look well after their cars, and it may be advisable for authorities to increase forces in raising safeguards.

CURTAIN MATERIALS

White Marquisette, plain or fancy in the yard width at.....
25c, 35c and 50c a Yard

CRETONS

A large variety of new patterns, ranging in price from.....
25c to 50c a Yard

TERRY CLOTH

New patterns in stock double faced, at.....
$1.00 a Yard

SILKOLINES AND CHALLIES FOR COMFORTS

M. A. Levinson & Co.

STALEY BROS. HARDWARE
WE DELIVER

—FOR YOUR—

Hardware and Sporting Goods

Fishing Tackle - - Paints, Oils, Varnishes
Kalsomine and Brushes

Quality Merchandise Reasonable Prices
Courteous Treatment

STALEY BROS. HARDWARE
228 Bridge St. Phone No. 86

PARK AND REST ROOM RECEIVING ATTENTION

Latter Will Be Completed and Ready for Use in Short Time

Work of grading and seeding the north portion of the city park on Bridge street is progressing rapidly at this time. A layer of rich clay dirt is being used to re-surface the grounds and work of seeding will be started soon.

Hugh Brady is employed in getting the public toilets in readiness for use. Both sides are being partitioned off and painted and lavatories installed. When completed and ready for use Charlevoix will be provided with a necessity every progressive town should have. Those people who have heretofore thought it funny to make wise cracks about the new institution might use their hammers for more constructive building.

Will Grow New Varieties

Joel Johnston has returned to Charlevoix, after spending the winter with his brother, I. H. Johnston, dahlia specialist at Charleston, W. Va. While in the south Mr. Johnston made arrangements to take over the greater part of his brother's breeding and growing stock of dahlias and will bring to Charlevoix many new varieties heretofore not grown outside of West Virginia. He assures us that he will be able to supply fragrant dahlias within a year or two, something which has never been produced successfully before.

Install New Soda Fountain

The Knight Soda Fountain company of Chicago, under the personal direction of their representatives, Messrs. Eckhoff and Ross of Manistee, are installing a new mechanically refrigerated soda fountain unit in the F. S. Myers' store. The unit is a labor saving device which will greatly facilitate quick fountain service and is the only one of its kind in Charlevoix.

Held on Serious Charge

Monroe VanKamp of Boyne City, was arrested in Ionia and brought to Charlevoix last Friday to face a charge of attempted rape preferred by a 14-year-old Boyne City girl. VanKamp, who is married and has a family, is being held in the county jail for hearing.

Dr. Leahy, the Optometrist, will be at the Hotel Charlevoix, Monday, May 2. Hours from ten a. m. to four p. m.—Adv. 16-t2.

Withers'
Variety Store

FOR SATURDAY

GOLDEN BUTTER KRUNCH

per pound

21c.

Look over our Special Bargain Counter.

Withers'

THE STORE WHERE EVERY DAY IS BARGAIN DAY.

BROTHER OF LOCAL WOMAN DIED FRIDAY

Death Came After Week's Illness In Kalamazoo Hospital

Ray Hamilton, Reno Hamilton and their mother, Mrs. Sam Hamilton, were called to Kalamazoo, Michigan, last Friday by the death of Mrs. Hamilton's brother, Frank Billings.

Mr. Billings, who is survived by three sisters and one brother, died after a week's illness in a Kalamazoo hospital from a complication of diseases. Funeral services were held in Kalamazoo, Monday, with burial at Galesburg, Michigan.

Community Auction Date Set

The community auction sale, mention of which was made in a former issue, will be held on Saturday, April 30th. Those having goods to be placed on sale are requested to notify W. E. Byers, so that they may be listed in an advertisement, which will be printed in the Courier next week.

Card of Thanks

We wish to express our deepest gratitude and appreciation for the many kind and thoughful attentions of our friends and neighbors during our sad bereavement. They have been a source of great comfort to us all.

Mrs. Ida C. Sears, Miss Marion Sears, Mr. and Mrs. Franklin C. Sears, Mr. and Mrs. Wm. W. Sears. Adv. 16-t1.

They Enjoy Their Used Cars

THE FOLKS WHO DRIVE AND RIDE IN USED CARS GET JUST AS MUCH FUN OUT OF IT AS THOSE WHO BUY 'EM NEW AND PAY TWICE AS MUCH. LET US DEMONSTRATE ONE OF THESE TO YOU:

DODGE SEDAN
MAXWELL SEDAN
ESSEX COACH
CHALMERS TOURING

and several other good cars.

H. R. Fowler

113 Bridge St. Charlevoix
Telephone 54-J.

THE OLDEST BANK IN CHARLEVOIX COUNTY
FORTY-THIRD YEAR IN BUSINESS

1884 1927

Women Spend--

MORE THAN 80 PER CENT OF THE FAMILY INCOME. FOR THEY USUALLY PAY THE FAMILY BILLS.

IN THAT CASE DON'T YOU THINK THAT YOU OUGHT TO PROVIDE YOUR WIFE WITH A CHECKING ACCOUNT?

Charlevoix County Bank

CHARLEVOIX, MICHIGAN

Bridge & Company

THE BANK ON THE CORNER

LOCAL NEWS BRIEFLY TOLD

Get the Habit—Read the Courier

Mrs. Gus Sendenberg is reported quite ill at her home in this city.

L. S. See left last Friday for Grand Rapids on a short business trip.

Mrs. Lawrence Supernaw spent Monday in Petoskey, visiting relatives.

Mrs. Josephine Madill was a business caller in Traverse City, Wednesday.

James Bogart is in St. James this week, on business for the Argo Milling company.

Lloyd Curtis and Wm. Fessenden spent the week-end in Central Lake at the Curtis home.

Dr. B. G. Mattson was called to Hillsdale, Tuesday, on business. He will return Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Niver of Boyne City, were week-end guests at the Clinton Cooper home.

Dean Davenport of Grand Rapids, is a guest at the Swain Smith home on south Bridge street, for the week.

Mrs. Dora Spross of Petoskey, spent the week-end in Charlevoix at the D. S. Turner home.

Albon Smith and John Kelderhouse have signed to sail on the freighter Griffin, for the summer.

Don McHugh returned Monday from a four day business trip to Grand Rapids and Kalamazoo.

Allan Shapton, who has been spending the winter in Miami, Florida, has returned to Charlevoix.

Bert Carey, who has been spending the winter in Miami, Florida, has returned to Charlevoix for the summer.

Dr. and Mrs. W. H. Parks of Petoskey, announce the birth of a daughter, Esther, Sunday, April 17th.

Eva Scott of the Min-Eva restaurant has purchased the Harry Marshall home on Antrim street, the contract having been signed Monday.

Mr. and Mrs. Howard Bennett of Flint, spent the past week-end with Mrs. Bennett's father, Wm. T. Driggett.

Harry Porter drove an Essex coach from Grand Rapids Monday, for the local Hudson-Essex salesroom.

Clarence Hulbert and family of Maple City, spent Sunday at the home of Miss Mary Powers on State street.

Mr. and Mrs. Leo Allard returned last week from South Bend, Indiana, where they have been spending the winter.

Joel Johnson returned Sunday from Charleston, West Virginia, where he has been spending the winter.

Joe Foster, local manager of the Northern Auto company, and family have moved to their farm for the summer.

Mr. and Mrs. Harrison Bedford of Grand Rapids, arrived Friday to open the Fountain City House for the summer.

Warren Kibbe, who has been spending the winter in St. Petersburg, Florida, has returned home for the summer.

Miss Mildred Parker has returned to Grand Rapids, where she expects to remain until her dental operation is completed.

Miss Isabelle Hines, who has been spending the winter in Santa Monica, California, returned to Charlevoix Tuesday.

Edgar Smith, Harry Porter and Earl Harrington, left Monday night for Grand Rapids, returning Tuesday with new cars.

Allison Bugbee of the car staff of the U. S. Bureau of Fisheries left Friday to report for duty at Northville, Michigan.

Hugh Mayne and Clifford Saunders returned Sunday from a week's vacation spent in Grand Rapids and Detroit.

Mr. and Mrs. Robt. West and family of Horton Bay, spent Sunday at the home of their daughter, Mrs. Arthur Ranger.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Hamlin and daughter, Helen, have returned from Clearwater, Florida, where they spent the winter.

C. H. Tooley and sons, Lisle and Lewis of Boyne City, were Sunday guests at the Clarence Wood home on the north side.

Mrs. Albert O'Brien is reported quite seriously ill at her home on Route 3. Dr. McMillan is the attending phyaician.

Miss Lillian Yettaw of Flint, is visiting her sister, Mrs. Chas. Hebert. She expects to spend the summer in Charlevoix.

Mrs. M. A. Levinson returned Tuesday from Evelith, Wisconsin, where she was called by the death of her brother-in-law.

Robert Krulik and Arthur Wexstaff are in Mackinaw City this week, installing new pumps for the Standard Oil company.

The John Burns house on Mason street was sold to Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Usher last Monday. They took possession, Friday.

Every member of the degree team of the Rebekah lodge is requested to be present at the next lodge meeting, Tuesday evening, April 26th. All who wish to go to Mancelona be there.

Mrs. E. A. Ruegsegger and son, DeVere, of Bayne City, were Friday evening guests at the George Roderick home on State street.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Glassford and son, Jack, returned Thursday from Miami, Florida, where they have been spending the winter.

Wyers and Smith report the sale of a Hudson brougham to Chas. Henderickson, and an Essex coach to Dan Soule of Bellaire.

Mrs. J. P. Connelly of Milwaukee, formerly Dr. Virginia Brown of of Charlevoix, is spending two weeks in the city visiting friends.

Mr. and Mrs. Wellsheimer of Harbor Springs, spent Sunday at the home of Mrs. Wellsheimer's parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Flanders.

The Pilgrim Circle of the Congregational church will meet next Wednesday afternoon, April 27th, at the home of Mrs. N. A. Shores.

Walter Smith, who with his family, spent the winter in Muskegon, has resumed his position at the Ashdon barber shop for the summer.

Robby Gibson, wheelsman on the Grand Haven car ferry was in Charlevoix, Wednesday, enroute to Beaver Island on a business trip.

Chas. Allars, 3rd mate on the car ferry, City of Grand Haven, arrived in Charlevoix Sunday, leaving Monday for Beaver Island on business.

Mr. and Mrs. Joe Foster, Mr. and Mrs. P. R. Ross and Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Hamlin were Sunday guests at the Henry Boehn home in Petoskey.

Mrs. Cassie Hart was called to Cedar Falls, Iowa, Monday, by the death of her son-in-law, Lacy Campbell, dean of the college in that city.

Mrs. Lucy Pearl, Mrs. Benj. Yettaw, Mrs. Charles Hebert and Mrs. Frank Coatta, Sr., spent Tuesday at the Plenny Genett home in Norwood.

Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Redmon and daughter, Rene of Gaylord, were Sunday guests at the home of Mrs. Redmon's mother, Mrs. J. C. Cutler.

Mr. and Mrs. George Cook returned Sunday from St. Petersburg, Florida, where they had been making their home for the past three years.

Mr. and Mrs. Ainslee Mayne and daughters, "Gwen" and "Jack", were week-end guests at the home of Mrs. Mayne's parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Price.

Clyde Solomon and family, who have been making their home in Scottville for the past few months, have returned to Charlevoix for the summer.

Floyd Brown, who has been a student at Ferris Institute in Big Rapids, has completed his studies for the term and returned home for the summer.

Dr. C. C. Cartier returned to Grand Rapids Monday, accompanied by his mother, Mrs. Fred Cartier, after spending the week-end with his parents here.

All Odd Fellows and Rebekahs are requested to meet at the I. O. O. F. temple, Sunday morning, April 24th at 9:30, to attend services at the Baptist church.

Wm. Driggett of the Sinclair Oil station, was in St. James last week on business for the company. While there he purchased a team of horses for Chas. Edison of Ellworth.

Val Scroggie of Detroit and friend, Jack Gardner, of California, spent the past week at the home of Val's grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Scroggie, on Petoskey avenue.

A clipping from a Sarasota newspaper states that Mrs. Mason Rose has renewed her contract with the public schools in that city and will continue to serve as superintendent.

Mrs. Mary Roen returned Monday from Washington, D. C., and Norfolk, Virginia, where she and Mr. Roen have been spending the past month. Mr. Roen will return later.

A. F. Bridge, who has been spending the winter in California, returned home Monday night. Mrs. Bridge returning with her husband as far as Chicago, where she will visit for several weeks.

Mrs. Ada M. Shockley, who has been spending the winter in various points in Michigan with her children, returned to Charlevoix last Thursday and is now located in her home on State street.

Mrs. George Finucan and son, Tom, of Grand Rapids, also Mrs. D. C. Gaffney of Charlotte, motored to Charlevoix last Saturday for a visit with their parents, Mr. and Mrs. George Weaver.

Mr. and Mrs. W. S. Richardson, who have been spending the winter in Long Beach, California, returned Thursday via Grand Rapids, their son, Gerald, having driven down to that city to meet them.

The Fulmar, owned by the U. S. Bureau of Fisheries, is in dry dock, having received a broken cylinder on the last trip out. The local hatchery expect to hire a boat to finish the work of "fry" planting.

Mrs. C. M. Boyd of Chicago, is in the city visiting Mrs. Mable Russel, who is ill at the hospital. She will be accompanied on her return trip by Francis Ellen Russel, who will remain in Chicago until fall, when Mrs. Russel will also go there.

Mr. and Mrs. R. S. Shapton returned last week from Southern Pines, N. C., where they have been spending the winter, stopping off at Washington, D. C., Pittsburgh, Pa., Detroit and Grand Rapids, enroute.

George T. Allen of Detroit, spent the week-end at the Roy Ranger home on Belvedere avenue. He returned Tuesday, accompanied by Mrs. Allen and small daughter, who have been visiting her mother, Mrs. Roy Ranger.

Mrs. E. T. Kutche, accompanied by her son, William, and mother, Mrs. Tuxbury, all of Grand Rapids, are guests at the home of Miss Eva Adams while Mrs. Kutche is getting her gift shop which will be located in the Paddock building ready for the opening of the resort season.

Salt Rising Bread, Tuesdays and Saturdays. Order. Phone 731, The Cake Shoppe.—Adv. 16t2.

COURIER BARGAIN COLUMN.

Courier Want Advs. are One Cent per word per insertion. Minimum charge is 20 cents per insertion, for anything under 20 words. All Want Advs. are strictly cash in advance except to those who have ledger accounts. Please remember this when sending in your copy.

FOR SALE—MISCELLANEOUS

FOR SALE—4-wick oil burner kitchen range. Inquire 303 Mason street, Charlevoix.—14-tf.

FOR SALE—3 burner oil stove with oven in good condition. Inquire, Wm. Wallace, Sinclair Oil Station. 16t2.

FOR SALE OR RENT

FOR SALE OR RENT—Garage in East Jordan known as the Lakeside Garage. Inquire Frank Zoulek, East Jordan, Rt. 2.—14-t4pd.

FOR SALE—REAL ESTATE

FOR SALE OR TRADE—100 acre farm located 4 miles west of East Jordan or 2 miles east of Ellsworth, 60 acres clear, nearly all seeded, exceptionally well suited for dairy farm; bnsement barn 36 by 48, new chicken coop 14x40; good small house. Will sell or consider trade for Charlevoix property. Address John TerWee, East Jordan, Mich.—12-tf.

WANTED—MISCELLANEOUS

FOR SALE—X-ray incubator. Inquire, R. S. Shapton. Phone 7010F31. 16t1.

FOR SALE—Library Table as good as new. Inquire Mrs. E. J. Smith. 200 Sheridan street.—16-t1 pd.

WANTED—Heavy hens at Jeffery's Poultry Farm, 805 State St., phone 188.—15tf.

WANTED—Dressmaking. Mrs. Lizzie Powell, 406 W. Hurlbut, phone 402. 14tf.

FOR SALE—About 50 bushels of 1925 Worthy Oats. While they last $1.00 per bushel. Call evenings. Emil Nasson, East Jordan, Rt. 1.—16t1.

FOR SALE—A quantity of Cobbler potato seed and table stock, early white variety, excellent for home consumption. George Meggison, phone 7010F5, Charlevoix, Mich. —16-tf.

WANTED—REAL ESTATE

WANTED—To buy cheap lot on North side, suitable for garden. Ray W. Faulkner, Charlevoix, Mich.—16-t2 pd.

HELP WANTED.

WANTED—Married man to work on farm. House furnished. Elmer Ingalls, phone 7010F21, Charlevoix, Rt. 1. 14tf.

WANTED—Man and wife to work on farm. Year round job for right party. H. Brock, phone 7006F12. Charlevoix. 15t2 pd.

SALESMAN—for Lubricating Oil and Paint; two lines combined. Salary or commission. THE ROYCE REFINING CO. or THE ROYCE PAINT CO., Cleveland, Ohio.—16-t1pd.

Notice to Contractors

Sealed bids will received by the Board of Charlevoix County Road Commissioners, at their office in the Court House, Charlevoix, Michigan, until 10:00 o'clock standard time, April 25, 1927, for the construction of several pieces of roads as follows:

5267 feet of Class A. 12 foot gravel road on the Marion Center road in Marion township.

6965.7 feet of Class A. 12 foot gravel road on the Horton Bay north road in Bay township

6552 feet of Class A. 12 foot gravel road on the Boyne Falls east road in Hudson township.

Bids on the above work are to be made according to bidding blanks furnished by the Commission and certified check for such amount as indicated in the bidding blank, must accompany the bid on each road.

All work on above pieces of roads to be done according to plans on file in the office of the County Road Commission and in accordance with state specifications.

Plans may be seen and bidding blanks obtained at the office of the County Road Commission.

The Commission reserves the right to reject any or all bids or any part thereof.

Ernest Peoslee, Deputy Clerk. W. E. Byers, Chairman.

15t2.

1905 1927

Does Spring and Building Time

Again find you without necessary funds to build that home of your own.

The surest and quickest way of getting your home is to start a savings account here. Regular deposits plus compound interest will soon get that "down payment" for you.

START TODAY

Charlevoix State Savings Bank

Capital and Surplus over $45,000.00

CHARLEVOIX, MICHIGAN

W. S. Richardson, President.

A. D. Crimmins, Vice President.

Archie Livingston, Cashier.

G. W. Richardson, Asst. Cashier.

House-Cleaning Specials

House-cleaning time is here. To make the work easier for the busy housewife, and at the same time go easy on the family budget, we are offering the following Soap Bargains, quoting absolutely rock bottom figures. Take advantage of our money-saving bargains.

10 bars yellow Rub-No-More-Soap.....45c
10 bars white Rub-No-More Soap.....35c
10 bars P. & G. Soap.....45c

SPECIAL OFFER

13 lbs. Sugar for.....$1.00

MEAT DEPARTMENT
The best at reasonable prices

Beef Stew, per lb.....10c
Sugar-cured Corn Beef, per lb.....20c
Bologna, per lb. 15c
2 lbs. Frankforts 35c

MARTIN BLOCK

Opposite Post Office Phones 12 and 142

For Your Breakfast

The hardest meal of the day to prepare. Allow us to make a suggestion. Try some of these:

WARD'S DOUGHNUTS
per package
13c

BILLY-BOY MUSH
to fry
10c
for 2 lb. package

MIXED CANDY, 2 lbs. for
25c

Milton Block

TIME to SHIFT FROM "Heavies" to "Lights"

The last day or two of warm weather are just samples of what is to come. Too warm for heavy winter underwear, but just right for the lighter weights or the regular B. V. D.'S.

Stephenson's Underwear

Most everyone is acquainted with this well known make of garments. We have them in the light weights and the real Athletic Summer Goods. All sizes in a wide range of prices.

Spring and Summer Caps

Caps in Spring styles that are extra values. It does not pay to buy a cheap cap. You know it, the man you meet knows it. You'll be proud of the Cap you choose here.

Campus Caps $1.00 and Up

Keep in mind we are well stocked in Men's and Boys' Furnishings. We have just what you are looking for at prices that will prove satisfactory to you.

Beni. Brown

Men's and Boys' Furnishing Dept.

Compare it for

Appearance Performance Price

Only in cars much higher in price will you find such smartness of line, such beauty of design and such elegance of appointment as in the Most Beautiful Chevrolet!

New Fisher Bodies; Smart new Duco colors; Full-crown, one-piece fenders; Bullet-type headlamps; Higher, more massive radiator; Duco finished instrument panel; Cowl lamps; "Fish-tail" Modeling on 2-passenger models.

The performance of the new Chevrolet is literally amazing. Incredible smoothness at every speed . . . effortless shifting of gears . . . finger-tip steering . . . flashing acceleration that is a delight.

Valve-in-head motor; Three-point Motor Suspension; Single-plate disc clutch; Long, semi-elliptic springs; Stronger and sturdier frame; full size 17 inch steering wheel; Balloon tires; Deeply upholstered cushions; Semi-reversible steering gear; AC Air Cleaner; AC Oil Filter.

Comparison of delivered prices reveals Chevrolet's value supremacy. Delivered prices are f. o. b. prices plus charges for handling, financing, etc. The financing charges of General Motors Acceptance Corporation are the lowest available. Handling charges are in proportion. Thus, Chevrolet delivered prices are even more amazing than the f. o. b. prices.

The Coach	$595
The Touring or Roadster	$525
The Coupe	$625
The 4-Door Sedan	$695
The Sport Cabriolet	$715
The Landau	$745
½ Ton Truck (Chassis only)	$395
1-Ton Truck (Chassis only)	$495

All prices f.o.b. Flint, Mich. Balloon tires standard equipment on all models

PETOSKEY AUTO SALES, E. Mitchell St., Petoskey
Block & Simmons, Charlevoix, Local Agents,
113-15 Antrim Street

QUALITY AT LOW COST

Alabaster Lamps

By Margaret Turnbull

Copyright, 1925, by Margaret Turnbull. WNU Service.

(Continued from page 3.)

lifted her head and looked into Ned's kind eyes.

"Then you think," she said, as though continuing a conversation, "that it's because Mary is uncertain about what's to become of me that she can't decide about her own life, and if I made some definite plan for my own future, not too far removed from Peace Valley, Mary would be able to take her own happiness, and yours, into consideration."

"Any little compromise on your part would be acceptable. Say you settled down for a while in the White house so that Mary could see with her own eyes that you were not piling, and Claude could call upon you discreetly once in so often. It's your utterly detached attitude that's getting on Mary's nerves."

Then he gave her a quick, frank look as though reading her thoughts and said: "Always remembering, dear Polly, that I'm deeply interested."

Polly took out her vanity case and made the necessary repairs.

Ned watched her. "You look lovely," he volunteered. "Nobody'd know you'd been crying."

Polly turned a determined face toward him. "Before we turn back, Ned, do you think you could bring yourself to call me 'mother'?"

Ned's hand slipped from the wheel. His arms went round her.

"I'd love to—Mother."

Polly sighed. "Do you think I'm utterly selfish about Mary?"

Ned did not remove his arms. He shook his head. "No, it's just—well in the ordinary course of events, if you'd stuck to your job of being Claude's wife there might have been four or five other upstanding little Daddies, and you wouldn't be so concentrated on Mary, to the exclusion of everything else."

"Take your arms away. You are rather nasty to me, Ned."

"You wanted the truth. Have a cigarette and forget it."

Polly accepted the cigarette.

"Let me smoke this in peace and make up my mind, before we go back."

They sat, saying nothing. Ned's thoughts busy with his own future. The woman beside him was facing the long years to come, honestly, for the first time. She knew that her position was untenable. She knew also that Claude Dabbs asked only the privilege of watching over and caring for Mary, for Ned and for herself. He would ask nothing of her, grateful if she would stay near them for Mary's sake, grateful that the children loved him.

Polly's mind leaped to its fine conclusion. Here was her opportunity. It might even be that in Claude she would find the friend and companion she had missed and longed for, since Mary had gone her own way. Did not Claude face middle age, too, but with philosophy, and brushing aside its disillusions, neither grudged youth its due nor shrank from life. Claude was alive, very much so, but of life he expected little, of himself, much. Polly wondered if she would ever grasp life as serenely and as thinly as he did, taking what it gave, grudging nothing that it withheld.

Polly threw away her cigarette. "Ready to go back, Ned?"

In the library at Claude's home, Claude and Mary were turning over plans for the new factory and the proposed public library and recreation room.

"Mother and Ned take a long time on that drive," Mary observed, finally. "Oh, Dad: do you think anything's happened?"

"Not a bit of it," Claude told her tranquilly. "They've just gone a bit further than they intended. Why, daughter, what's wrong?" Mary had clutched his arm.

"Nothing, only I get so worried nowadays. I never used to. But Ned's a little reckless, don't you think?"

"No." Claude rose to Ned's defense sturdily. "Ned's a splendid driver." Then he laughed. "Is it Ned, or your mother, who's so precious that you think the Almighty may be jealous?"

"Oh hush, Father, don't say it," Mary implored, and then laughed at herself, helplessly. "See how primitive I'm growing, like the heathen who give ugly names to their best-beloved to shield them from the wrath of the gods."

"It's queer," Claude began, more to himself than his daughter, "but the old folk were so often right. My mother used to say that love made women savage and men gentle. I wonder."

"There they are!" Mary ran to the doorway leading to the garden. She stopped astonished. "Father, something must have happened. Mother's getting out."

Claude looked over her shoulder. "Let me past, Mary. If Polly's coming into my store, I must be there to wait on her."

Mary watched him go, but stood waiting. She felt a little sad and alone. Ned came into the room from the hall behind her.

"Ned," Mary said as she turned, "has anything happened?"

"Something nice. Mother's coming in."

"Mother!" Mary echoed, her lips parted to ask a question.

"And before she gets here," Ned said her hurriedly, coming very close, "I want to give you your freedom. I think what you wanted is coming about. Mother's going to be reasonable and settle down for awhile, here, and you're free to do as you like about—about that engagement of yours, Mary."

He paused, and as she remained silent, continued, slowly: "I can't go on this way. I want you to know that, and to know that I'll keep on working with Claude, no matter what happens. You see, I simply can't stick this, Mary. I'm just an ordinary able-bodied man, who wants to be married soon, and expects to be loved, not just tolerated and dodged and held off. The woman I marry will simply have to want me as much, and as near, as I want her."

Mary looked at him, her eyes on that mouth that was so like Loren Rangeley's now, so hard, so straight, so determined. She had certainly not meant to do it, but there seemed to be just one shameless thing to do. At the touch of her hand on his arm, Ned turned to her, and Mary pulled his head down and kissed him, knowing that after that she would never escape from any engagement he made. Ned held her tightly, his eager lips against her own, then hot against her pulsing throat.

Claude and Polly could be heard in the hall, coming toward them. Ned put Mary on her feet, but she clung to him still, dizzy and speechless. He put his arm about her.

"Oh Mary," he whispered. "How could you torture me so long?"

"I didn't—know. But I'll make it up to you, Ned. I'll marry you—"

"Tonight," Ned told her.

Polly Johnston, a little pale from the effort, came toward the library door. Her eyes changed as she saw Claude's own room, and read from it deeper into Claude's self. She blamed Mary that she had not been told this side of the man, forgetting how she had refused to listen. She was surprised now that Mary did not move toward her.

"Mary," she began, "I'm going to be good and stay—"

"Mary!" Claude had seen his girl's face and moved toward her.

"Mother—Father!" Ned's voice stopped them both. "Mary and I ride to town tonight—to be married. We think that will make it easier all round. You see, Mother's friends would embarrass Father's. And as for my respected parent—well, it would be awkward all round. You can have any sort of a big time you like, when we come back, but now we want no fuss, and nobody but each other."

"Sensible idea," Claude admitted, to give Polly time. "Got the license?"

Ned nodded. "Got it this morning." He smiled down into the blue eyes set in the white face against his shoulder. "Mary, you tell them it's all right."

"Yes, Father—Mother, you'll understand and let me go with Ned?"

Polly Johnston stepped forward and folded her darling in her arms: "Of course, dear," she murmured. "Your bag's in Ned's car. I packed it, at the house, while Ned waited."

Mary's eyes were as wide as Claude's.

"You must have been very sure," said Mary looked at Ned, and blushed.

"I wasn't sure," Ned told her, humbly enough.

"I was." Polly Johnston said, and kissed her daughter, released her and stood back watching her run to her father to be held close in his arms.

"That's to be my lot now," she told herself, "to stand back and watch." But evidently it was not to be so yet, for two strong young arms were about her and Ned's voice whispered in her ear: "You beautiful old darling, I'll never forget this!"

They were going, and at the last Polly had her reward, for as her girl went down the steps, radiant, she suddenly turned and left her lover to run to her mother.

"Oh Mother! I can't bear you to stay alone in that big empty White house. Promise me to telephone to—"

"Don't worry, darling. Aunt Lyddy's getting me up here, tonight."

"Mother, behind the grocery store!"

Mary gave them both such a rapturous look of pure content that Claude, meeting Polly's smile, laughed aloud and warned Ned to drive off or he would have to take along with him both father and mother.

They were gone. Polly followed Claude into the dim and shadowy library. As his head groped for the matches, she caught and held it. Through the dusk Claude could see her eyes, gleaming with mischief, as she went back twenty years and asked for the shilshalesh.

"Wait, Claude. This house of yours—Is it lit by alabaster lamps?"

Claude turned on her swiftly. In twenty years he had learned his lesson.

"No, but it will be—if you stay."

[THE END.]

BEWARE OF THIS MAN

The Bangor Avalanche warns poultry raisers of a certain slicker going about the state selling some kind of a concoction, which if placed in the drinking fountains for the chickens will rid them of lice and other vermin. The scheme is a rank fake and the sheriff should be notified if the fellow shows up in your neighborhood. He claims to be representing a certain factory, but the location of the factory is changed as often as he changes fields, so it is impossible to trace him once he leaves a community.

I have combined my battery and tire repair shop and will give all car owners the service that they are looking for. Benj. Brown.—Adv. 10tf.

LEGAL NOTICES

Mortgage Sale

Default having been made in the conditions of a certain mortgage made by Minnie Jane Smith of Charlevoix, Michigan, to Celia N. Bridge of Charlevoix, Michigan, dated the Fourteenth day of October, A. D. 1916, and recorded in the office of the Register of Deeds of the county of Charlevoix, State of Michigan, on the Sixteenth day of October, A. D. 1916, in Liber 52 of Mortgages, on page 480, whereby the power of sale contained in said mortgage has become operative, on which mortgage there is claimed to be due at the date of this notice the sum of Nine Hundred Two and Seventy-five one-hundredths Dollars as principal and interest and the further sum of One-Hundred Three and 20/100 Dollars paid in taxes on the land described in said mortgage and the further sum of Twenty dollars as an attorney fee provided for in said mortgage, and no suit or proceedings at law having been instituted to recover the moneys secured by said mortgage, or any part thereof;

Therefore, by virtue of the power of sale contained in said mortgage, and the statute in such case made and provided, notice is hereby given that on Friday, the 29th day of April, A. D. 1927, at ten o'clock in the forenoon, at the east front door of the court house in the city of Charlevoix, Michigan, that being the place where the Circuit court for said county is held, the undersigned will sell at public auction to the highest bidder, the premises described in said mortgage, or so much thereof as may be necessary to pay the amount due on said mortgage, as aforesaid, with seven per cent interest, and all legal costs, together with said attorney fee, as provided by law, the lands and premises being described in said mortgage as follows:

All that certain piece or parcel of land situate in the city of Charlevoix, county of Charlevoix, state of Michigan, described as follows: Beginning four hundred sixty and one-half feet east of a point where the north line of the Emmet and Grand Traverse State Road (now known as Petoskey Ave.) intersects the east line of Michigan Avenue, the same being the southwest corner of a lot owned by Jennie Gail Vandermade; thence east along the north line of Petoskey Avenue sixty-six feet; thence north one hundred fifty-six and three-fourths feet; thence west sixty-six feet; thence south to the place of beginning, the same being Lot number One of Block number three of Fox and Eaton's unrecorded plat to the village of Charlevoix, Michigan.

Dated, February 2nd., 1927.

Cella N. Bridge, Mortgagee.

A. L. Fitch,
Attorney for Mortgagee,
Business address: Charlevoix Michigan. 5t13.

Mortgage Sale

Default having been made in the conditions of a certain mortgage made by Edward B. Ward and Annie E. Ward of Charlevoix, Michigan to John Nicholls of Charlevoix, Michigan, dated the 3rd day of October, A. D. 1908, and recorded in the office of the Register of Deeds for the county of Charlevoix and state of Michigan, on the 3rd day of October, A. D. 1908, in Liber 44 of mortgages, on page 488, whereby the power of sale contained in said mortgage has become operative, on which mortgage there is claimed to be due at the date of this notice the sum of Four Hundred Ninety-nine Dollars for principal and interest, and an attorney's fee of Ten dollars, provided for in said mortgage, and no suit or proceedings at law having been instituted to recover the moneys secured by said mortgage or any part thereof;

Now, therefore, by virtue of the power of sale contained in said mortgage, and the statute in such case made and provided, notice is hereby given that on Friday the 29th day of April, A. D. 1927, at Ten o'clock in the forenoon, the undersigned will sell at public auction to the highest bidder, at the east front door of the court house, in the city of Charlevoix, Michigan, (that being the place where the circuit court for said county of Charlevoix is held,) the premises described in said mortgage, or so much thereof as may be necessary to pay the amount due on said mortgage, with seven per cent interest, and all legal costs, together with said attorney's fee, as provided by law, the premises being described in said mortgage as follows, to-wit:

Lot number One Hundred Thirty-five of Upright & Hurlbut addition to the city of Charlevoix, county of Charlevoix and state of Michigan.

Dated, January 31st., 1927.

Albert F. Bridge, Executor of the estate of John Nicholls, deceased, Mortgagee.

A. L. Fitch,
Attorney for Mortgagee.
Business Address; Charlevoix, Michigan. 5t13.

Mortgage Sale

Default having been made in the conditions of a mortgage made by Albert L. Johnson and Alma K. Johnson, husband and wife, to John Nicholls, of Charlevoix, Michigan, dated the second day of February, A. D. 1912, and recorded in the office of the Register of Deeds of the county of Charlevoix, state of Michigan, on the second day of February, A. D. 1912, in Liber 48 of Mortgages, on page 61, whereby the power of sale contained in said mortgage has become operative, on which mortgage there is claimed to be due at the date of this notice the sum of Four Hundred Twenty Dollars and Fifty Cents, as principal and interest, and Twenty-eight Dollars and Fifty-seven Cents, in taxes paid by the mortgagee on the lands described in said mortgage, together with an attorney fee of Fifteen Dollars provided for in said mortgage, and no suit or proceeding at law having been instituted to recover the moneys secured by said mortgage or any part thereof;

Therefore, by virtue of the power of sale contained in said mortgage, and the statute in such case made and provided, notice is hereby given that on Friday, the 29th day of April, A. D. 1927, at ten o'clock in the forenoon, at the east front door of the court house in the city of Charlevoix, county of Charlevoix, and state of Michigan, that being the place where the circuit court for said county is held, the undersigned will sell at public auction to the highest bidder, the lands and premises described in said mortgage, or so much thereof as may be necessary to pay the amount due on said mortgage, as aforesaid, with seven per cent interest, and all legal costs, together with said attorney fee, as provided by law, the lands and premises being described in said mortgage, as follows, to-wit:

All that certain piece or parcel of land situate in the Township of Marion, county of Charlevoix, and state of Michigan, and described as follows, to-wit: The southwest quarter of the southwest quarter of section twelve, township thirty-three north, range eight west.

Dated, February 2nd, 1927.

Albert F. Bridge, Executor of the estate of John Nicholls, deceased. Mortgagee.

A. L. Fitch,
Attorney for the Executor of the Estate of John Nicholls, deceased, mortgagee.
Business address: Charlevoix, Michigan. 5t13

Order for Publication

State of Michigan, the probate court for the county of Charlevoix.

At a session of said court, held at the probate office, in the city of Charlevoix, in said county, on the first day of April A. D. 1927,

Present: Hon. Servetus A. Correll, Judge of Probate.

In the matter of the estate of Mary Dougherty, Deceased.

Helen Dougherty Bruce, having filed in said court her petition praying that said court adjudicate and determine who were at the time of her death the legal heirs of said deceased and entitled to inherit the real estate of which said deceased died seized.

It is ordered, that the 27th day of April, A. D. 1927, at ten o'clock in the forenoon, at said probate office, be and is hereby appointed for hearing said petition.

It is further ordered, that public notice thereof be given by publication of a copy of this order, for three successive weeks previous to said day of hearing, in the Charlevoix Courier a newspaper printed and circulated in said county.

Servetus A. Correll,
A true copy. Judge of Probate.
Adv. 14-t3.

BUSINESS CARDS

HORACE S. HARSHA
REAL ESTATE BROKER
Also writes Fire Insurance and Surety Bonds

Farm Property — Lake Frontage
A. C. BELDING
REAL ESTATE BROKER
Charlevoix, Mich.
Game Preserves — Detroit Property

GLASSES FITTED
Consult
DR. J. LEAHY
OPTOMETRIST
Expert on Eye-Strain,
Petoskey, Mich.
Phone 443 for Appointment

BELLE LOUISE FLEWELLING
Palmer Chiropractor
Post Office Building
Phone 347
Office hours 2 to 5 daily
Monday, Wednesday and Friday
7 to 8

R. J. MADILL
Building Contractor
Ask for Estimates
Phone 121 Charlevoix, Mich.

D. T. McHUGH
General Contractor
Phone 214
CHARLEVOIX, MICHIGAN

R. B. ARMSTRONG
PHYSICIAN AND SURGEON
Special Attention to Diseases of Eye, Ear, Nose and Throat
Priest Bldg. Phone 255

DR. F. F. McMILLAN
Physician and Surgeon
Office above Postoffice
Phone 17
Charlevoix - - Michigan

A. L. FITCH
ATTORNEY AT LAW
Office in Court House
Phone 48
Charlevoix - Michigan

FLIT
DESTROYS
Moths, Roaches
Bedbugs, Flies
Other Household Insects

VALET
AutoStrop Razor

Nothing brings such comforting relief as the original Baume Bengué. It starts to drive out pain as soon as you apply it.

GET THE ORIGINAL FRENCH
BAUME BENGUÉ
(A Classique)

Babies Love It

For all stomach and intestinal troubles and disturbances due to teething, there is nothing better than a safe Infants' and Children's Laxative.

MRS. WINSLOW'S SYRUP

Raising the Family- The kid is a discriminating youngster already GID DAT CHILD IS GITTIN' TO RESEMBLE YOU EVERY DAY—
WHY, WHAT'S MAT-
BAW—
WELL AFTER DAT REMARK WOT MR BILLINGS I JUST MADE YA CAN'T BLAME THE CHILD-
BAW—
WOT DYA EXPECT AFTER A CRACK LIKE THAT!
INTERNATIONAL CARTOON CO N Y
670

UNDER THE DOME AT THE CAPITOL

(Continued from Page One)

house concurs. They are now under supervision of the state banking commissioner.

The Greene bill to have a commission appointed to codify the state banking laws has passed the senate and goes to the house. It provides for a report at the next session.

The Farrand bill, providing more severe penalties for raising a false alarm of fire, which had already passed the house, was passed Tuesday hy the senate and will become law if signed by the Governor.

The Michigan Bell Telephone company is due for a $7,000,000 increase in its assessed valuation according to the report of the state tax commission. The Michigan Central also gets a stiff raise of $2,000,000, the Pere Marquette $750,000, the Pennsylvania, Ohio and Detroit $500,000, the Detroit, Toledo and Ironton and the Wabash each $250,000. The Detroit, Monroe and Toledo, the Michigan Railroad company and the G. R. & I. each get a decrease of half a million. These changes will mean a liberal increase in the primary school funds.

The McNitt bill, barring the killing of deer in the counties of Wexford, Missaukee and Manistee for five years was passed by the house Thursday.

While it has been thought that the Leland bill, supposedly a compromise measure which sets the gas tax at 3 cents and leaves the weight tax ride as it is, would proceed regularly through both houses with the skids greased, there is apparent a movement to stir things up again. A four-cent tax is now proposed by Representative Town of Parma, and various members talk of still other things, among them a much higher weight tax for commercial trucks and highway busses, and there is no telling what the outcome of this mix-up may be. Even the permanent license plate proposition bobs its head up again, and has quite a few supporters.

The house Thursday passed a bill providing that action for libel and slander must be commenced within one year. Representative Chas. Culver claims it is a Detroit Times measure, but he voted for the bill, although he explained his vote by saying that he was now preparing to sue the Times for libel and wanted to show that he is a good sport, anyway.

The house on Wednesday defeated the Ming joint resolution advocating a constitutional amendment to apportion legislative districts according to voting strength, rather than on population. Mr. Ming says the proposition would take four representatives away from Wayne county, but admits that it would give Wayne two more senators. The vote against the proposition was 56 to 31. However, on Thursday the vote was reconsidered on motion of Representative Wm. R. Farrand, and was also on his motion, laid on the table, so that it may be brought up again later if desired. Mr. Ming frankly states that his proposition is aimed at preventing Wayne county, as its population increases, from gaining complete control of the legislature.

If you have any chicken-stealing to do, better do it right away, because the senate Friday morning passed a couple of house bills providing much more severe penalties for poultry thieves, and these bills are given immediate effect. As they will probably be signed by the Governor as soon as he gets them, it is well to lay in your supply at once.

Aside from these poultry bills the senate passed a number of routine measures and some minor bills Friday morning, and adjournment was then taken until 8 o'clock Monday evening.

In the house a number of bills awaiting passage on third reading were passed for the day because of the light attendance, a number of members having been excused for the day and some others absent without leave. Adjournment was taken until 4 o'clock Monday afternoon.

Those members who had hoped for winding up the business of the session on May 5 or 6 are probably doomed to disappointment. The general sentiment seems to be for adjournment on May 13, although others freely predict that the work cannot possibly be wound up before the 20th.

Our Soda Fountain Opens Sunday. Speciala for Saturday and Sunday will be Maple Nut Ice Cream, Strawberry Ice Cream, Nut and Fruit Bricks, Bundy Pops. Fessenden, the Druggist.—Adv. 16-t1.

GOITRE CAUSED

Choking and Nervousness. Mt. Clemens Lady Tells of Relief From Home Treatment

Mrs. Monroe Osborne, Mt. Clemens, Mich., says she will tell or write how her goitre was removed by Sorbol-Quadruple, a colorless liniment.

Get more information from Sorbol Company, Mechanicsburg, Ohio. Sold by all drug stores. Locally by F. J. Fessenden, druggist.

Dead Chicks

Baby chicks die because of wrong feeding and lack of proper care at the start. Stop this loss! BLATCHFORD'S Chick Mash raises the biggest percentage of chicks and matures them quicker. Try a bag and see for yourself.

Blatchford's Chick Mash

ARGO MILLING COMPANY

EDITORIALS

1928 CAMPAIGN VITALLY IMPORTANT TO BUSINESS

Within a year the states will select delegates for the two great national conventions which will occur in June, 1928. At that time candidates for the Presidency will be selected, issues will be framed and the active political campaign begun. No man engaged in industry can assert that he has not a vital interest in the campaign. In addition to the President, a new congress will be selected, consisting of the entire house of representatives and one-third of the senate. We are coming to a critical period in our economic situation. We had the stimulus of the war. We had the tremendous depression following the war. We have recuperated and advanced in industrial stability. We want to continue this condition and it should not be interfered with by political irritation. It is not too much to ask that, putting partisanship aside, grave study be given to both present and future problems, and to the best methods of preserving our prosperity. We are approaching a period of greater competition from other nations. They have passed through a serious condition, but they will be on their feet and will be alert and vigorous two years from now. Industry needs government aid and not political antagonism. Government, of whatever character it may be, depends entirely on the people. Industry should do its part in promoting the best government which it is possible to secure.

"I don't ask that you drive slower, Henry," observed the thoughtful wife, "but I do insist that you keep your life insurance premiums paid."

The man who leads a double life reaches the end twice as fast.

Blessed are the poor, they shall have no trouble in the courts over champagne baths.

Kissing has been found to be a dangerous custom. Never he it said of our young generation that they are errant cowards.

A San Franciscan who died last week arranged to have his horse chloroformed and buried with him. Just what the horse thought of this touch of sentiment has not been disclosed.

A Parisian has been fined 10,000 francs for kissing a young woman against her will. He paid it like a sport and said it was worth the price. So moved was the young lady by this gallantry that she kissed him before the court, and that'a that. But doesn't the young man get the 10,000 francs back, or is there no justice in the world?

It is getting along about the time of year when people who work on newspapers have to try to spell that wonderful word "baccalaureate" if that's the way you spell it.

A California judge jails the offending automobile rather than the driver. He turns the driver loose on foot for a spell to find out how it feels to be a pedestrian.

A new mountain chain, 1,000 miles in length, has been discovered in Siberia. Evidently a lot of little things have been overlooked in that country.

A famous scientist says that it is a man's brain development which shortens his life. If this is true we know some folks who ought to live to a thousand at least.

And Now In Closing—

A prominent lady lecturer whose name is a household word, but which we appear to have mislaid, objects to the phrase "beautiful but dumb," as applied to women, as being untrue. Well, of course, they ain't all beautiful.

A complete line of Fishing Tackle at Staley Bros. Hardware. Stock up now for May 1st.—Adv. 16t1.

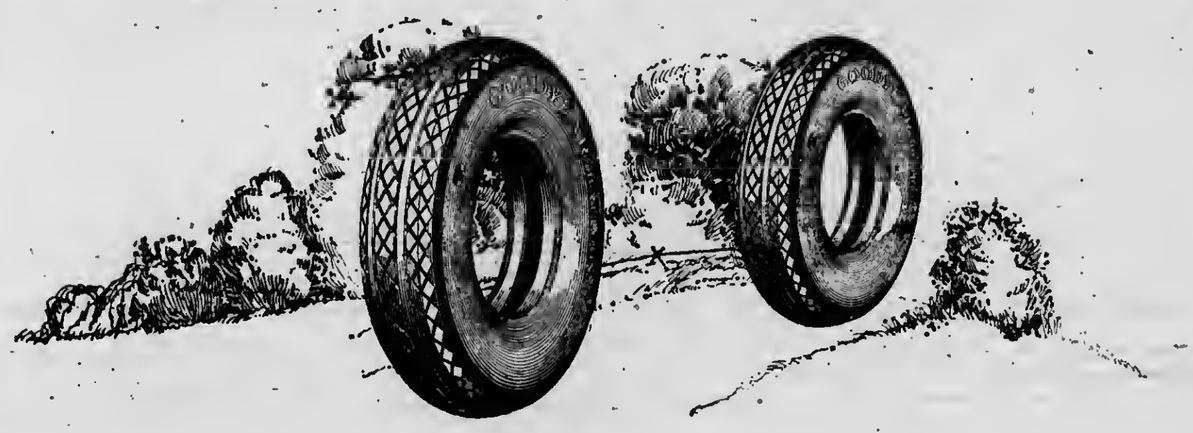
It opened our eyes
to the wonderful possibilities of Brushing Lacquer . . . . .

JUST think of it Lacquer a floor with Devoe Brushing Lacquer and dance on it an hour later. Finish a table and eat on it a half hour later. As beautiful as enamel, more durable than varnish, Devoe Lacquer is the most marvelous finish we've ever seen.

S. M. SEE & SONS
CHARLEVOIX, MICH.

Practical Tests Prove Devoe Quality

The new-type All-Weather Tread Goodyear Balloon with a tread designed specially for balloon tire wear. It has the genuine Supertwist carcass—made only by Goodyear.



TIRE TALK THAT'S "COLD TURKEY"

When a great, big company like Goodyear says this is The Greatest Tire in the World you certainly ought to listen. They are not taking chances with their good name just to be sensational.

And you know us, too? When we're willing to repeat here what Goodyear says it's because we know it's true.

This is—beyond a doubt—the greatest tire in the world, and we have seen them all.

That's talking "cold turkey."

Come in and see it—the new-type All-Weather Tread Goodyear Balloon. Then you'll know the latest thing there is to know about tires.

30x3 1-2 Pathfinder Fabric	$8.20	29x4.40 All-weather Balloon Cord	$12.85
30x3 1-2 Pathfinder Cord (oversize)	$9.85	30x3 1-2 Tubes for	$1.90
30x3 1-2 Goodyear All-weather Cord	$11.65	29x4.40 Tubes for	$2.40

Other sizes proportionally priced

BENJAMIN BROWN

Tire and Accessory Department

An authorized Goodyear Service Station, rendering the help Goodyear pledges to enable you to get every last mile out of Goodyear Tires and Tubes. More people ride on Goodyear Tires than on any other kind.

Sooner or Later Every Property Owner Will Have to Face the Paint Problem—

You may turn your back and try not to see the condition of your property. But if it needs paint, simply shutting your eyes to the fact will not solve the problem for you. Nothing but PAINT will do that. The best paint to use is

MONARCH Paint 100% Pure

Why Not Now?

If your property needs paint it will be money in your pocket to paint NOW. Every day's wind and weather does some damage that must be repaired. Paint NOW—stop the decay and save the expense of repairs. Besides adding to the beauty of your property, paint makes it worth more money should you want to sell. Come in and consult us about your paint problem — we can help you and save you money and worry

WOOD BROTHERS

For Paints

NEW MAST ARRIVED FOR BAXTER SLOOP

Occupied Two Flat Cars on Trip From Rhode Island

The sloop, Joint, owned by Howard Baxter of Grand Rapids, is undergoing a complete overhauling at Hamilton's boat yard.

A 76-foot mast arrived last week from the Herreshoff Manufacturing Co. of Bristol, Rhode Island, the big stick taking up two flat cars in transit, and will require special equipment to place it in the boat. The sloop's canvas is being changed from a gaff rig to a marconi rig. The job will require considerable time before completed.

Our Soda Fountain Opens Sunday. Specials for Saturday and Sunday will be Maple Nut Ice Cream, Strawberry Ice Cream, Nut and Fruit Bricks, Bundy Pops. Fessenden, the Druggist.—Adv. 16-t1.

WHEHE SCHOOL MONEY COMES FROM

(Continued from page one.)

law, and that case is now pending in the courts, for which reason the $810,833 for last year has not yet been apportioned.

The primary school fund is made up annually from the interest paid by the state on the 7 per cent fund, the interest on funds derived from the sale of swamp lands, at five per cent; surplus over specific taxes after the interest has been paid on the various educational funds; and money received as interest on the sale of escheated estates.

Sixty-two per cent of the cost of maintaining the public schools is paid for teachers' salaries.

The average per capita cost for all classes of the elementary and secondary schools is $77.70. For the rural schools it is $57.45; for the grade schools, $40.31; for the approved high schools it is $89.96, and for the accredited high schools it is $92.12.

Get my prices on the best grade Paint and Motor Oil, by the barrel or by the gallon. Also on Felt Shingles, Roll Roofing and SolarKote. A. C. Hansen. Phone 227.—Adv. 15-t2.

METHODIST CHURCH
C. E. Pollock, Minister

Sunday services—

Every Junior is expected for the 10:30 a. m. service. The pastor has something for them.

"Historic Atonement" is the sermon subject at 10:30 a. m. next Sunday.

Study the transfiguration at church school at its twelve o'clock session April 24.

A great feature service next Sunday evening at 7:30. The pastor's sermon subject will be, "Consternation." Special features of the evening will be, singing from the new book, instrumental music, a dramatization by several young people of a marevelous New Testament idea entitled, "The Young People Talk It Over."

Note the change of time for the evening services, Epworth League at six-thirty and evening worship at seven-thirty. The public will enjoy next Sundny in the church.

The Methodist men of the Detroit area will meet in Lansing next week, April 25-27. A great program planned. Men from all over Michigan are making great plans to attend. Some from the Charlevoix Methodist Episcopal church are expecting to go.

Read the Courier, and get the news

BIRTHDAY ANNIVERSARY WAS REMEMBERED

Mrs. Partridge Entertained In Honor of Small Daughter

Mrs. Henry Partridge entertained at her home, Tuesday afternoon, April 19th, from 3 to 5 o'clock for her small daughter, Rose Ann, the occasion being the child's 5th birthday anniversary.

The ten guests who were present, namely, Margery Edwards, Margefy Wood, Rose Mury Cooper, Eleanor Russell, Junior Simmons, Billie Ochs, Kenneth Staley, Imogene Craig, Ruth and Jimmie Levington, left Miss Rose Ann many pretty gifts to make the day one long to be remembered.

Mackinaw trout are hitting in Lake Charlevoix, We have the tackle that gets 'em. Staley Bros. Hardware.—Adv. 16-t1.

HOSPITAL NOTES

Mr. and Mrs. Fred White of Charlevoix Route 2, are the parents of a ten-pound baby boy, born at the hospital last Wednesday.

Ernest Brown of Ironton, had an operation performed on his urm last Thursday.

Born, to Mr. and Mrs. Lige O'Brien, Thursday, April 14th, a 4½ pound baby boy, who will answer to the name of Robert Parker.

Mrs. James Earl returned to her home last Friday, fully recovered from a recent operation.

Lorraine Lieger of Millersburg, was discharged from the hospital last Friday.

Lee Cork returned to his home last Thursday, after a recent confinement in the hospital.

Mrs. Henry Louisgnau of Petoskey, was admitted to the hospital Monday for medical treatment.

Mrs. Dennis Woodward of East Jordan, was admitted to the hospital Sunday for medical treatment.

Mrs. Mabel Russel is in the hospital receiving medical treatment.

Monday, May 2, is the date when Dr. Leahy, the Optometrist, will be at the Hotel Charlevoix. Hours from ten to four.—Adv. 16-t2.

Died in Battle Creek

Miss Belle Roy, for many years associated with E. N. Clink, East Jordan attorney, as secretary, died Monday in a sanitarium at Battle Creek from a complication of kidney ailments. Miss Roy, who was very well versed in the legal profession, was a familiar figure at the court house, and always accompanied Attorney Clink on his trips to court. She had a large following of friends in Charlevoix, who will greatly regret her death.

Buried Last Thursday

James Mitchell was born April 12, 1877 and died Sunday April 10, at his farm home south of the city. Deceased had been in poor health for many years, but his death occured after only a few hours severe illness. Survivors are two sisters, Mrs. Edw. McClanaghan of Charlevoix, Mrs. Gerrit Shores of Gloucester, Mass., two brothers, Robert and Peter, both of Charlevoix. Funeral services were held at the farm home last Thursday afternoon, Dr. B. G. Mattson officiating. Interment in Brookside.

To Correct Error

By error we stated in last week's issue that the next meeting of Maple Grove Grange No. 1255, would be held March 17th, which should have read May 17th. Beg pardon.

STATE POLICE ASK INCREASE FOR PATROLS

MORE MEN NEEDED TO PROTECT PUBLIC SAFETY BY CURBING RECKLESS DRIVERS

Tourist Associations are Behind Movement

Plans of the Michigan Department of Public Safety with regard to the State Police for the coming two years have been held in abeyance pending action by the Legislature on the requests for appropriations. This state has had a much smaller State Police force than other states of comparable area and population and a small increase in appropriations has been asked to permit of a moderate extension of the force.

A large part of the funds allowed for the Department of Public Safety go to the various inspection divisions, such as the Fire Marshal's office, the oil and building inspection, the transfer of prisoners, supervision of paroled prisoners, guarding of convicts employed on highway construction and similar duties so that only a portion of the appropriation is available for the fingerprint bureau, the detective bureau and the uniformed force for patrolling the highways, prohibition enforcement and other law enforcement activities.

The increase asked this year is for more uniformed men. Even such a small state as Connecticut has many more uniformed men of the State Police on its highways than Michigan.

Two New Posts

Two important new posts have been asked, one near Adrian and the other at Pruddenville. The first would cover patrol work on the Chicago-Detroit highway and the other would be of service in the northern resort section. If sufficient funds are allowed, it is proposed to continue all of the other posts which have been established durlag the past year. Michigan last summer had about one-third as many State Police detachment posts as the state of New Jersey and about the same number as Maryland.

Tourists associations and automobile clubs have both been very anxious for an increase in the number of State Police posts and a reasonable increase in the force to give better highway patrol. This is an incentive to tourist travel in the state.

Recently the state purchased 60 new motorcycles for the State Police. This means that about 50 men can be put on highway work as a certain number of machines have to be held for reserves while service machines are being given mechanical overhauling.

MANY YOUNG MEN WANT TO JOIN STATE TROOPERS

The youth of New Jersey are rarin' to go on the high roads of adventure, via the State Police organization, it was divulged by the recent examination conducted by New Jersey State Police officials at Trenton. Although there were but 26 vacancies in the whole department, 1,300 applications were received from all parts of the state, and about 400 youths appeared at the State House prepared to stay two days, in the hope of finally passing the mental, physical, medical, structural and oral examinations, that are preparatory requisites in joining the ranks of the state troopers. The future troopers are now undergoing the rigid test at the training school, and within three months will be sent out to protect the rural districts of the state.

Try my battery and tire shop for service. Benj. Brown.—Adv. 10tf.

CONGREGATIONAL CHURCH

10:30 Sunday morning church with sermon by the pastor.

12:00 Sunday school with classes for all.

2:30 p. m. Weekly service at the Ironton church.

6:30 p. m. Young people's service led by Fnida Ogden assisted by the pastor. This service is for old and young.

Christian Science Society

Sandny service 10:45 a. m.

Subject, "Probation After Death."

Sunday school at 12 o'clock.

Wednesday evening service 7:45.

Reading room open Tuesdny and Saturday, 3 to 5 p. m.

The public is cordially invited to uttend our service.

Our garage, battery and tire shop is at your service. Benj. Brown.—

The Junior class of the Charlevoix high school entertained members and their friends at the Marion Grange Hall Friday evening, with a dancing party. Refreshments were served by the class committee. Mrs. Leona McKinley acted as chaperon.

CHARLEVOIX HARDWARE CO.

HURRAH! HURRAH!

It's Spring!

A couple of days more and it's the LAWN MOWER'S turn. How about yours? We have a splendid new line. One of them will sure suit you. And there are the other YARD TOOLS. Look them up. Some new kinds out this year that are practical and useful.

Lawn Mowers $10.50 Up

This is headquarters for all of those "PAINT-UP CLEAN-UP" things that go with the "Spirit of Spring."

Charlevoix Hdw. Co.

NORTHERN MICHIGAN'S FINEST STORE

THREE DEPARTMENTS—HARDWARE, FURNITURE, ELECTRICAL

BOYNE CITY MAN TAKEN ON LIQUOR CHARGE

Plenty of "Hardware" Found When Officers Made Raid

Moxie Spangenberg, Boyne City soft drink parlor operator, was arrested last Wednesday by Sheriff Dave Vaughn and Prosecutor A. L. Fitch and is charged with having intoxicating liquors in his possession.

A raid on his place disclosed in the neighborhood of 23 gallons of alleged moonshine, a quantity of home-brew and a barrel of cider, which was said to be of the "hard" variety. Spangenberg was taken before Justice Hammond in Boyne City for hearing and was released on $300 bond for his appearance at the May term of court.

Goodyear high quality tires at the latest reduction in price will please all tire user. Benj. Brown.—Adv. 10tf.

ADDITIONAL LOCALS

John Curtis and family, accompanied by their daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Glen Rose, who had been making their home in Sarasota, Florida, for the past year and a half, have returned to their home in Charlevoix.

Marguerite Brown, Dorothy Hooker, Frieda McMillan, Gilbert Saltonstall and Raymond Faulkner returned to Ann Arbor Monday to resume their studies at the university, after spending the spring vacation with their respective parents.

Barnard Grange met in regular session last Friday evening with a good crowd in attendance. Six new members were initiated into the mysteries of the order, two members reinstated and George Parsons appointed purchasing agent for the organization.

George Bacon, operator for the Western Union Telegraph company, who has been visiting his mother for the past few weeks, has received notification of transfer from the Sarasota, Florida, to the Bay City office of the company. He left Charlevoix, Tuesday to take up his duties.

The Northern Auto company reports the sale of a Ford roadster to Cecil Richardson of Norwood, tudor sedan to Wm. Schmidt of St. James, tudor sedan to Milford Saunders, roadster to Russell Blakeslee of Detroit, roadster to Otto Nelson, tudor sedan to Emerson Price of Ironton, touring car to Levi Donaldson of Ellsworth and a coupe to Chas. Vosburgh.

We sell Heath & Milligan Paints and Varnishes because they are Dependable. Staley Bros. Hardware.—Adv. 16-t1.

Prominent Resorter Dead

A telegram received Wednesday by W. H. Miller carried the regrettable information of the death of Mrs. A. B. Scarborough, Charlevoix summer resorter, which occurred April 19th, at her home in Bonham, Texas. Mrs. Scarborough, who had made her summer home on the Belvedere Club for a great many years, was a very active worker for the Club and had a large number of local friends.

Big reduction on Goodyear tires. Benj. Brown.—Adv. 10tf.

NEW PALACE THEATRE

ATTRACTIONS FOR THE COMING WEEK

Saturday and Sunday April 23-24

Richard Dix in "PARADISE FOR TWO," with Betty Bronson. Another de luxe Dix love comedy. A smashing, crashing "fun-derbolt" by the star-director combination responsible for "Womanhandled" and Let's Get Married." Dix opens wide the gates of laughter in his latest tickling love tangle. If you own a pair of eyes and a funny bone, come and give them both a treat at "PARADISE FOR TWO." Also an Educational comedy, "OPEN SPACES."

Wednesday and Thursday, April 27-28

Gilda Grey in "ALOMA OF THE SOUTH SEAS," with Percy Marmont, Warner Baxter, Julanne Johnston and William Powell. Gilda, the Golden Girl, radiant star of the Follies. Alluring empress of the dance. Now she comes in her first starring motion picture, doing the danee that made her world-famous. Also Felix The Cat and a Fox News.

COMING—Tom Mix in "BRONCHO TWISTER."

PALACE

Theatre - Charlevoix

Monday, April 25

"The Big Drive"

The most wonderful picture ever presented, showing all armies in action, the mobilization of the German armies, deportation of Belgian women, the sinking of the Lusitania, the ruins of France and Belgium, besides hundreds of scenes taken on the battle fronts.

Presented by Leslie T. Shapton No. 226, American Legion

Admission 25 and 50c—Special for One Day Only

Zonite

For Cuts and Wounds

Prevent infection! Treat every cut, wound or scratch with this powerful non-poisonous antiseptic. Zonite actually kills germs. Helps to heal, too.

Brighten Your Home With

FRESH CUT FLOWERS

—OR—

BLOOMING PLANTS

Flowers for all ocensions

A. E. EDWARDS

FLORIST

We're as near as your telephone

CHARLEVOIX COURIER

VOLUME 32. NUMBER 17. EIGHT PAGES — COURIER, CHARLEVOIX, MICH., WEDNESDAY, APRIL 27, 1927 — PRICE $2.00 PER YEAR

DICKENS CLUB HELD BANQUET

HUSBANDS GUESTS AT HOME OF MR. AND MRS. LEWIS

Activities of Past Years Have Been Very Profitable and Interesting —Fine Program

The Dickens Club as a final social event of the year's activities, enjoyed a banquet last Tuesday night at the home of Mr. and Mrs. R. L. Lewis, at which time the husbands of the members of the club were guests.

An excellent radio program furnished entertainment during the early part of the evening. The spacious rooms and beautifully decorated banquet table resplendent in cut glass, silver and fine china where forty people were seated in a happy mood of fellowship presented a scene long to be remembered.

The club president, Mrs. Cornelia Bailey, welcomed the guests in a charming womanly manner and an after-dinner program of unusual interest was given. Mrs. Livingston led a "quiz" on Dickens' works in the form of original conundrums which were both bright and witty and Mrs. Bailey gave a most interesting discussion of the subject of re-forestation and the launching of the "Green Cross" campaign. It is an interesting co-incidence that the day set for the launching of the nation-wide drive for membership in this society which has for its object the reforestation of the waste areas in America and this event of the Dickens Club, which sponsored the first local movement in this direction, when several years ago it caused black walnut trees to be planted along several avenues of Charlevoix.

Mrs. Goddard gave an account of the work of Melvin Dewey, the organizer of the Lake Placid Resort and originator of the plan for winter sports in that place. This is the same Melvin Dewey who originated the duo-decimal system of cataloging in libraries, a system which is now used in every well organized library in our land.

Following this account, Mrs. Cooper presented stereoptican pictures of winter sports at Lake Placid and at Charlevoix and it was noted how similar were the advantageous conditions for such sports and how encouraging were the prospects for Charlevoix becoming a close rival of this famous resort. At the close of Mrs. Cooper's production she threw upon the screen pictures of groups of Dickens characters as they had been impersonated at former events of the club.

The program of work of the Dickens Club for the past year has been interesting and profitable, the subjects as outlined by the committee having lent themselves to a wide range of co-lateral reading.

Elmer Keel, the Sewing Machine Doctor, will be at S. M. See & Sons store for 10 days. Supplies for all kinds of sewing machines. Call phone 98.—Adv. 16t1 pd.

Send Mother a Gift on Mother's Day, May 8th, new hosiery, handkerchief, and silk underwear. 17t2.

GET THE SPIRIT AND DOLL UP HOME AND GROUNDS

The urge to clean up around city homes and city property seems to be growing upon the public and every day one notices worth while improvements over the entire city. Yards are being raked, shrubbery, and trees trimmed, old buildings torn down, repaired, and the paint brush is being worked over-time.

However, this work is more evident during the residential district than along the water front. Here, in many places, the present condition is a disgrace to the community. Huge piles of old boxes, crates, tin cans and other rubbish are scattered about in a confusion that simply shocks those who come in contact with it.

All should join the effort to make Charlevoix a better and sweeter place to live in, and join the "dolling-up" movement. Do not live selfishly within yourself, with no thoughts of progress, civic betterment or ambition. Environment shapes a lot of our destines. If you feel and act like your property looks, go about town and spread the gloom you contribute through your lack of public spirit. It all helps to offset all that our booster clubs can do for the public good.

Get the spirit and doll up the home and surroundings and just observe how contagious it is, and how much busier the world begins to look thereafter.

AMENDMENT WAS PASSED AT ELECTION

The State Canvassing Board Gives Results of April 4 Vote

Republican candidates in the recent election won by about four to one vote over the Democrats, the state canvassing board revealed last week.

The metropolitan district amendment to permit adjoining cities to pool their resources for mutual construction of civic betterment carried by 210,880 to 200,490. It lost at the previous election.

Justice John E. Bird led the Republican ticket with 348,483 votes. Marvin S. Pittman for school superintendent led the Democrats with 93,930. Totals of other Republicans were: Justice Sharpe, 341,074, Webster H. Pearce, superintendent school, 345,114; Regent B. S. Hunchett, 339,475; Regent L. L. Hubbard, 339,501; F. A. Jeffers, board eduention, 322,138; board of agriculture, J. R. McColl, 338,067, M. C. McPherson, 339,211.

TROUT SEASON OPENS SUNDAY

MAY 1ST WILL SEE STREAMS CROWDED WITH ANGLERS

Ideal Water and Weather Conditions Give Promise of Record Catches On Opening Day

Long before the sun peeks its head over the eastern hills next Sunday morning, Charlevoix county highways will be alive with the hum of motor cars, carrying that enthusiastic regiment of trout fishermen to their favorite streams and rivers. Months of patient waiting will have their reward. Pent-up anticipation, which has been greatly agitated by three weeks of ideal fishing weather, will let loose on that grand and glorious day, May 1st.

Abundant spring rains have put the trout streams in excellent condition. Waters are higher than in former years, but not in the flood stage. With the opening of the trout season last year all snow had not melted from the swamps, stream waters were cold and the trout sluggish. Three weeks of warm weather this spring has put the speckled beauties in fighting trim and ready to do battle on the opening day.

To our knowledge no changes in laws governing fishing in local waters have been made. The legal limit is fifteen trout of seven inches or over in one day, with twenty-five in possession at one time. Closed stream orders are still in effect and for the benefit of those who are not informed on this matter, we are listing below those streams open to fishing in Charlevoix and Antrim counties:

Charlevoix County

Hortons Creek; Monroe Creek; McGeagh; Inwood Creek; north branch of Boyne river to west line of Hudson township; south branch of Boyne river to crossing of State highway M-13 in Warner township; Spring Brook and north and south branches of same from Bear river to road running south from Cooks crossings; Warner and Collins creeks from Boyne Valley-Wilson township line roads to where they empty into Deer creek; Deer creek; Jordan river; west branch of Sturgeon river from Hoffman lake to Otsego county line; Porter creek.

Antrim County

Cedar river from its mouth to line between sections 31 and 32, T 30 N, R 6W; Green river, as it runs through Chestonia township; Jordan river from north line of Antrim county to west line of Sec. 28-T 31 N, R 5 W; Cold creek in Custer township; Intermediate river as it runs through Echo, Banks, Central Lake and Forest Home townships; Orr creek in Banks Twp.; Torch river; Elk river.

* * * * * * * * * *

* CONGREGATIONAL CHURCH *

* * * * * * * * * *

The services at the Congregational church will be as usual Sunday at 10:30 a. m. Sunday school at noon and evening meeting led by Annie Jardine at 6:30. The program to include a brief address by the pastor.

The Junior Endeavor Society also meets at 6:30.

Mother's Day, May 8th, cards and mottoes at Holley Gift Shop. 17t2.

Big reduction on Goodyear tires. Benj. Brown.—Adv. 10tf.

DISTRICT BAPTIST ASSN. MEETS HERE

FINE PROGRAM PREPARED FOR TWO-DAY SESSION

Addresses, Business Meetings and Sight Seeing Trip Listed in Lengthy Program

Thursday and Friday, May 5th and 6th, will be two big days at the local Baptist church, at which time the sixty-fifth annual meeting of the Grand Traverse Baptist Association will be held.

Programs have been arranged for morning, afternoons and evenings, throughout the two-day session, which will prove of great interest. Following is an outline of the program to be enrried out:

Thursday Morning

11:00 a. m., Call to order by the Moderator, Rev. William S. Ross.

11:05, Devotional service, Dr. Lemuel C. Barnes, topic, "The Light of the World."

11:30, Business session.

12:00, Luncheon.

Afternoon Session

1:30 p. m., Devotional service, Lemuel C. Barnes, D. D.

2:00, Business, report of nominating committee, etc.

2:20, Annual sermon, Rev. Henry A. Buell.

Women's Session

3:00, Devotional. "Intensifying the Light," Mrs. L. H. Votaw.

3:15, "Light of the World," Mrs. Henry A. Buell.

Special Music.

3:30, Business Session; Election of Officers; W. W. G. Report, Mrs. Wm. S. Ross.

4:00, Missionary address, Mrs. Selden R. McCurdy.

4:45, Missionary conference, led by Mrs. McCurdy.

5:00, Adjournment.

6:00, Supper.

Evening Session

7:15 p. m., Special Music, Charlevoix Church.

7:30, Devotional service, Lemuel C. Barnes, D. D.

8:00, Missionary Address, Selden R. McCurdy, D. D.

Friday, May 6th—Morning Session

9:00 a. m., Devotional, Lemuel C. Barnes, D. D.

9:30, Business Session.

10:30, Denominational topic, John E. Smith, D. D.

11:30, Business Session resumed. Adjournment.

12:00, Luncheon.

Afternoon Session

1:00 p. m., Automobile Sight-seeing Trip.

2:00, Devotional, Lemuel C. Barnes, D. D.

"The Light of the World"

2:30, Sunday school session, led by Mrs. Geo. M. Weeks.

2:45, Address, Rev. Charles G. Morse.

3:30, Conference, led by Mrs. Geo. M. Weeks.

4:45, Final Business.

Evening Session—B. Y. P. U.

6:00 p. m. Banquet, Toastmaster, Rev. Charles G. Morse.

7:30, Opening Session.

Special Music, Saw Solo, Rev. Henry A. Buell.

8:00, Address, "Trimming the Lamps" Rev. Charles G. Morse.

Adjournment.

Salt Rising Bread, Tuesdays and Saturdays. Order. Phone 731, The Cake Shoppe.—Adv. 16t2.

Fine line of Mother's Day Cards and Mottoes at the Holley Gift Shop. 17t2.

UNDER THE DOME AT THE CAPITOL

THREE CENT GAS TAX BILL PASSES THE SENATE

Drastic Gun-toting Bill Bars Ownership of Pistols, Guns or Revolvers of Certain Kinds

(By Len W. Feighner)

The Pulver hill, which has been dubbed almost everything, including such nicknames as "The Sniffer bill," "The Snooper bill," and the "Swill bill," which was passed by the senate last week, was passed by the house at Moudny's session, by a vote of 53 to 12. The bill permits the issuance of search warrants "on the sense of smell," but was so amended in the senate that on such a warrant no arrest may be made unless liquor in process of manufacture is discovered. The twelve who voted against the passage of the bill were Bartlett, Brake, Birk, Callahan, Deshano, Green, Hartman, Holland, Look, MacDonald, Martin and Murphy. This bill, if signed by the Governor, will provide plenty of trouble for the mukers of wines, "home brew" and other beverages, if the enforcement officers have a good sense of smell. Even a fermenting process in the family garbage can may bring the officers of the law down in hordes, and the prime requisite of an enforcement officer will be a keen nose, like a good houn' dog.

Everybody around headquarters anticipated a battle the first of the week over the well-known capital punishment bill, but as usual it failed to develop and there will be "nothing doing" before next Tuesday, if ever. Senator Arthur Wood of Detroit served written notice on the senate Tuesday that he would move Wednesday to discharge the senate judiciary committee from further consideration of the bill. This would have precipitated a battle on the floor of the senate and it was looked forward to with great interest. However, when Wednesday came, the senate had decided that they would pass up the afternoon session in order that those members who so desired might accompany Governor Green to the opening game of the baseball season at Detroit and senator Wood changed his notice to take effect next Tuesday, April 26, and if he doesn't change his mind again the fireworks may start at that time. And while the senate didn't work Wednesday afternoon, it did hold a morning session at which the day's work was shovelled out of the way.

Senator George Leland's 3-cent gas tax bill was passed by the senate Monday night, with three dissenting votes, cast by Senators Lennon, Wood and Woodruff. The bill split with the counties the additional funds received. The bill now goes to the house, where a concerted effort will be made to secure extra apportionment of the funds for a number of the poorer counties. There is still some demand for a 4-cent gas tax and the abolishment of the weight tax, a permanent license plate, etc., but it is not likely that this can be put over at the present session, as there seems too much divergence of opinion in the house.

A real sensation was kicked up in the state house Tuesday afternoon when Sheriff Glenn D. Weaver of VanBuren county accompanied by a member of the state police came to the senate chamber and arrested Senator Joseph Bahorski of Detroit, on a charge of obtaining the signature of a bondsman at Paw Paw through misrepresentations. Bahorski was taken to Paw Paw, where he was released on a bond of $10,000, and returned to Lansing. The senator says it is a "hi-jacking" sort of a proposition to get money from him, and that there is nothing to it. However, the legislature was quite stirred up over it and there was a lot of big talk, but it is quieting down and the sensation is about over.

A drastic anti-gun-toting bill passed the senate by unanimous vote. It is known as the Pryer-Wojcik bill and was introduced in the senate by Senator Seth Pulver, after a similar bill introduced in the house by Representative Louis F. Wojcik has been withdrawn for the purpose of making it more severe. The bill bars ownership of all pistols, guns or revolvers of less than 30 inches in length, including sawed-off shotguns, except they are registered, and they may not be carried except by proper county and police authority. It bars from circulation in Michigan all periodicals carrying advertising offering

(Continued on page six)

CHEBOYGAN WINS SCHOOL CONTEST

CAPTURES HIGH HONORS AT PETOSKEY SATURDAY

Local Entries Stand Fourth in List Same Two Schools Were High Pointers Last Year

Cheboygan won high honors at the high school typewriting and shorthand contests in Petoskey Saturday, capturing three first places, three second places for a total of 30 points. East Jordan with three first places and one second place was second. Boyne City won third place and Charlevoix won one first place, one third place and one fifth place for 9 points. Petoskey counted 5 points. Grayling and Harbor Springs also entered teams, Harbor winning a single point and Grayling none.

Elaine Nichols won the shorthand and typing contest taking five minutes of dictation and transcribing it in ten minutes. Viola Snyder of East Jordan was second. Other places were not counted. Florence Morrow and Emma Carmondy of Cheboygan took the prizes in the first year typewriting contest with five placing in the two year, hour per day practice contest: M. Webster, East Jordan; O. Thompson, Boyne City; H. Dick, Charlevoix; E. Sanders, Petoskey and D. Armsrong, Harbor Springs.

A. Lamb, Boyne City won the second year typing contest with Garnet Nichols, Cheboygan; W. Hoppe, Boyne City, I. Litner, East Jordan and John Bennett, Cheboygan, as the other winners. Garnet Nichols and Mildred Smith of Cheboygan took the 100 word per minute shorthand contest while these were the winners in the advanced typing contest; M. Staley, East Jordan; H. Crow, Boyne City; V. Snyder, East Jordan, and V. Poole, Boyne City. East Jordan won the team typewriting contest with Boyne City second, Petoskey third, Cheboygan fourth and Charlevoix fifth.

Cheboygan and East Jordan were the two high teams last year.

FORMER SEE BLOCK IS NOW BEING REMODELED

South Portion of First Floor Leased For New Bakery

According to Theodore H. Birnkrant, Detroit attorney, who is one of the owners of the former See block, corner Bridge street and Park avenue, work on remodeling and repairing that building will be started at once.

Plans call for two store spaces approximately 28x80 on the first floor. The building front above the first floor is to be built of pressed brick to conform with the Odd Fellow building. The second floor, which was badly damaged by fire some time ago, will be divided into office suites and living apartments. The work is under the supervision of Edward Wallace, Detroit contractor, who is employed by the Birnkrant firm.

The south store space of the lower floor has been leased to R. C. Volleaur of Muncelona, who will open a bakery and delicatessen store. New and modern machinery will be installed and the owner expects to be open for business some time during the early part of June.

Old papers for sale at Courier.

SPRING HIGHWAY WORK OUTLINED

WILL CONSTRUCT FOUR PIECES IN COUNTY

About $45,000 Will Be Used for State and County Maintenance; $22,000 for Construction

With this year's advanced spring, every prospect points toward early start on road construction and maintenance work in the county.

The amounts appropriated and specifications for the work to be done on the trunk lines have been received from the state highway department, the total alloted to this work amounting to $28,887.00. A total of around $65,887.00 will be spent on road work in Charlevoix county this year, of which $22,000.00 will be used for construction on county roads, $15,000.00 for maintenance on county roads to which will be added this county's share of the weight tax, and $28,887.00 specified by the state to be used for maintenance on trunk lines.

Last year M-11 was divided into four divisions, known as 11-1, 11-2, 11-3 and 11-4, and amounts to be expended and work to be done was divided accordingly. This year it has been divided into two divisions with the following appropriations set forth:

11-1, from the concrete south of Charlevoix to Eastport, also the stretches between the concrete north and south of the city, 19.5 miles, $11,833.50. 10.3 miles of this distance will be re-surfaced.

11-2, concrete roads north and south of Charlevoix, 13-3 miles, $1,352.50.

13-3, from Boyne Falls north to county line, 9.5 miles, $11,510.50. Antrim county will maintain 3.4 miles of this piece of road this year, which last season was contained in Charlevoix county's contract, thus bringing Charlevoix's portion to 9.5 miles instead of 12.9 miles.

57-1, from Boyne City to Boyne Falls, 6.2 miles, $2,378.00.

57-5, from Boyne City through Clarion to M-13, 7.5 miles, $1,812.50.

All of this work, although paid by the state, will be done under county supervision, in addition to a program of considerable proportion covering various county roads. Charlevoix county has $22,000.00 for new construction, which will be expended on four different jobs as follows:

$6,000 for construction of approximately 1 mile of Class A 12-foot gravel on Marion Center road.

$6,000 for construction of approximately 1 1-4 miles Class A 12-foot gravel on Horton Bay road.

$4,000 for construction of 1 mile of Class A 12-foot gravel on Boyne Falls East road.

$6,000 for construction of 1 mile Class A 12-foot gravel on Ironton South road.

In addition to the above program, maintenance work on all county roads comes for attention.

Benefit Bridge Party

A committee of Pythian Sisters under the leadership of Mrs. George Glados, entertained with a benefit bridge party Monday evening at the local Pythian temple. Mrs. Robert Bonthron won first prize and Mrs. Grover Gemeit second. Following card playing, refreshments were served by the committee.

The ways and means committee of the P. T. A. will have a musical program May 18th, in the high school assembly room. The proceeds will go towards purchasing uniforms for the high school band.

CLEAN-UP-DAY PROCLAMATION BY THE MAYOR

Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday, May 2, 3 and 4, have been designated as Civic Improvement Days for the City of Charlevoix. All owners or occupants of lands and premises in the city are requested to devote these days as far as possible to the improvement of the appearance of their property.

The city will make provisions to carry away all rubbish that is placed in a convenient place for removal, excepting leaves, ashes and brush.

Let all of our citizens co-operate in improving the appearance of our city and aid in maintaining our position as one of the clean and progressive communities of our state.

Dated April 26, 1927.

Arthur Bergeon, Mayor.

Signs of Spring

Newly Seeded Keep Off
FRESH EGGS FOR SALE
FOR RENT TO WRENS ONLY APPLY TO Martha Smith
DO NOT TRESPASS AUTOISTS TAKE NOTICE
WET PAINT DETOUR
FARM HELP WANTED

CORRESPONDENCE

NORWOOD

Jack Parsons of Ellsworth, spent the week-end with Chas. Greeley, Jr.

Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Hallett of Charlevoix, visited at the Plenny Genett home Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Albert Parsons and family of Ellsworth, spent Sunday with Sam Alward.

Dick Kirby was called to Eastport last Friday on account of the illness of his mother, Mrs. Kirby.

Mrs. Thayer, her two children and a friend of Traverse City, were callers at the Frank Richardson home Sunday evening.

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Holecheck, also Mr. and Mrs. Fred Hull and their mother, spent Sunday at the Frank Chvatil home.

Myron Brown, who has spent the past four months on the farm with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Brown, left for Jackson last week.

Several families from Norwood attended the program and supper at the Grange hall at Barnard last Thursday evening and report a fine time.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Santoes and son, Robert, Jr., of Detroit, Ed. Santoes of Chicago, also Charles Santoes of Grand Rapids, were here last week on account of the illness of their mother, Mrs. Jerry Santoes.

Dr. J. O. Randall, superintendent of the M. E. church of Grand Traverse district, will attend church services at Norwood next Sunday and no doubt will be the speaker; communion services will also be held. Everyone welcome.

Mrs. Jack McCall and three children of Traverse City, enjoyed a visit with her parents and other relatives from Tuesday until Saturday of last week. Her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Richardson, accompanied her to Traverse City, returning Sunday.

We are at your service on Willard batteries and Goodyear tires at a very low price. Benj. Brown. Adv.

BARNARD

Dorothy Gornell spent Sunday at home.

Bobby Ashton of Charlevoix, spent the week-end with his friends, Jamie and John Block.

Albert Klooster had the misfortune to lose a good cow recently as also did Winfield Sholemberger lose a horse.

Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Heise and Raymond Nowland and families were visitors at the James Block home on Sunday.

We are glad to report that Lee Cork is at home after his long illness at the hospital, and is improving very much in health.

A large crowd attended the church service on Sunday and enjoyed the cantata given by the Baptist choir, also music by the Ellsworth orchestra.

The maple sugar social and entertainment at the Grange hall was attended by a crowd of about 200. The program, which consisted of two plays and other dialogues, songs and recitations, was well rendered and much enjoyed. Proceeds of the evening were over $80.00, which will be used for the improvement of the grange property.

No Increasing or Continued dosing necessary with NATURE'S REMEDY (NR Tablets). There is no griping, sickening or weakening sensations, for Nature's Remedy produces a natural action without perturbing or stirring up the intestinal content before elimination, preventing the absorption of the toxins by the circulation—that is the reason why you feel stronger, brighter, animated and rejuvenated.

¶ PROVE IT—Make the Test Tonight—take one NR, drink a full glass of water. Tomorrow you will know what it means to be free from Constipation, Biliousness, Sick headache.

NR TO-NIGHT TOMORROW ALRIGHT

SOLD BY YOUR DRUGGIST CENTRAL DRUG STORE

Since 1857

Eagle Brand has raised more healthy babies than all other infant foods combined.

Borden's EAGLE BRAND CONDENSED MILK

An Amazing Success

Feen-a-mint

The Chewing LAXATIVE

Chew It Like Chewing Gum

A pleasure to use. Very efficient. Children love it. No taste but that of sweet mint. The most popular laxative because it's a "satisfier." 15c and 25c.

Better Mornings via Breakfasts That "Stand By" You

Quaker Oats Urged Widely by Authorities

FOREMOST educators, editors as well as leading business institutions like General Electric Company, now are widely urging breakfasts that "stand by" as an important aid to success.

That's because it is now known that over 70% of the day's important work, in offices, stores, etc. falls into the four morning hours—the hours from 8:30 to 12:30.

In most American schools, including Princeton, Yale, many State Universities and some 2,000 grade schools throughout the country, 86% of the important classes are held before luncheon.

Thus, largely on expert advice, millions now start days with Quaker Oats—food that "stands by" one through the morning.

Excellently balanced in protein, carbohydrates, minerals and the important Vitamine B, this delicious food is ideal for banishing listless mornings.

Today get Quick Quaker that cooks in 2½ to 5 minutes or regular Quaker Oats at grocer's.

Quick Quaker

Our low service on Goodyead Tires will be a surprise to you. Benj. Brown.—Adv. 10tf.

BENTLEY HILL

Miss Doris J. Dewey spent the week end with her parents.

Mr. and Mrs. Hans DeYoung visited Jmes Heeres Sunday.

Miss Marie Sitzema took supper at the D. H. Brat home Sunday.

Jake Drenth is very busy building the wall for Herman Heeres' barn.

Miss Henrietta Senneker was a caller at the Bert DeGroot's home Sunday.

A number of people from here attended the program given by the Ellsworth school last week.

Henry Reamsma purchased a International McCormick tractor from the Ellworth Hardware recently.

A number of people gathered at the home of Ralph Sitzema one night last week, the occasion being Marie Marian's birthday. The evening was spent in playing games, after which a dainty lunch was served, all went home reporting a good time.

Truck, Balloon and high pressure tires at a great reduction. Benj. Brown.—Adv. 10tf.

CLARION

Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Palmer spent Saturday in Traverse City.

Dan Moreau and family, spent Sunday with friends at Topinabee.

J. W. Scott and family of Dryburg, have moved on to the D Schleintz farm.

Mrs. W. D. Padgett, who underwent an operation at Petoskey hospital last week, is improving rapidly.

E. R. Everts and wife, attended the meeting held by the rural carriers at Boyne City, on Saturday evening.

Mr. and Mrs. George Everts drove up from Detroit on Thursday, to be the guests of their son, E. R. Everts and family.

The Ladies' Aid met at the home of Mrs. Kate Hull on Thursdny. Tickets were drawn for a pretty quilted-quilt, Mrs. Sarah Ecker being the holder of the lucky number.

Our aim is to please you with Willard Batteries and Goodyear tires. Benj. Brown.—Adv. 10tf.

EAST CHANDLER

Mrs. Cora Willis spent the week-end at her home at Horton Bay.

Mrs. W. Maudeville, who has been failing fast for some time, isn't any better.

Several of the neighbors attended the sale at Boyne City Saturday afternoon.

John Eastwood was taken seriously ill last Wednesday night, and is not improved any at this writing.

Mr. and Mrs. James Smithingell returned home last Saturday from Flint, where they have spent the winter.

Mrs. Ernest Metz of West Chandler, is seriously ill. Dr. Mast of Petoskey, was called and she is a little improved at this writing.

Monday, May 2, is the date when Dr. Leahy, the Optometrist, will be at the Hotel Charlevoix. Hours from ten to four.—Adv. 16-t2.

OF INTEREST TO FARMERS
By B. C. Mellencamp

Soils, Fertilizer, Alfalfa Campaign in Charlevoix County.

During the period of May 9-13, specialists from the Michigan State College will be in Charlevoix county co-operating with County Agent B. C. Mellencamp, in putting on an intensive soils and legume campaign. The meetings in this campaign will be held in barns and will be informal discussions in which tried and proven methods in soil improvement and alfalfa growing will be emphasized.

Over 56 counties have already conducted campaigns of a similar nature, and all of them have resulted in a remarkable increase in profitable alfalfa growing, to the point that Michigan today, is the leading state east of the Mississippi river. The average acre of alfalfa in 1926, figured solely on its cash crop value, has been worth fully $25 more than an average acre of other hay. 15,000 acres of alfalfa, a very reasonable goal in a county like Charlevoix, would in a year such as 1926, add nearly one-half million dollars to the agricultural income of the county.

The foundation of all successful agriculture lies in the fertility of her soils.—Unfortunately, our soils today are not as fertile as many years ago, due to continuous cropping and insufficient consideration to the matter of maintaining soil fertility. During this campaign, special emphasis will be placed on ways and means of improving the soil. The importance of lime will be discussed. Lime is used every year by many farmers, who have noted the wonderful results. It is far cheaper than other plant food to buy, and here in Charlevoix county we have unlimited supplies available in the form of marl. No other county in the state has a higher quality of marl, and few, if any, any larger quantities. The use of fertilizer will be discussed in detail, especially the amounts and analysis to be used for various crops.

These many subjects that will be considered in the big campaign are by far the most important that you as a farmer come in contact with, and so plan on attending one of these meetings the week of May 9th. Schedule of meetings will appear in next week's issue, so please watch for same.

Goodyear high quality tires at the latest reduction in price will please all tire user. Benj. Brown.—Adv. 10tf.

AT THE MOVIES

Tom Mix Gives Cast Real Thrills While Filmieg Scenes

Actors who appear in the final scenes of "The Broncho Twister," Fox films new production starring Tom Mix, escape death by the jingle of the spurs on their boot heels. These striking scenes will be shown at the Palace Theatre, Saturday and Sunday, April 30th, and May 1st.

The closing sequence pictures a desperate gun battle at a ranch house. The desperadoes have Tom surrounded and his fortess is shot full of boles. He finds a barrel of powder to which he attaches a lighted fuse. Then he rolls the barrel from a higher tower over the roofs of several lower structures. It hits the ground and explodes just as the desperadoes are dashing from one structure to another. The side of the house is ripped off by the blast just as the last of the gang dive through the doorway.

In filming these scenes many old troopers in the cast had the thrill of their lives, as they later told Mix.

The Cat's Jajamas," The Cats Pajamas!

Hailed by critics as "the ideal Betty Bronson picture," Paramount's "The Cat's Pajamas," which comes to the Palace Theatre, Tuesday and Wednesday, May 3-4, might also be called the "ideal Ricardi Cortez picture."

Never has this popular young actor appeared to better advantage than in this film, in which he is co-starred with Miss Bronson. It is a delightful tale of love, humor and adventure which was especially written for the screen by Ernest Vajda.

FARMERS, ATTENTION

How much of your farm yields $80 to $125 per acre? Join the ranks of those who receive healthy checks on cucumber contracts. You receive a definite, specified amount per pound for your cucumbers throughout the season. We are having seed sent in from Colorado grown on land free from disease, and treated to resist disease that might exist in the local soil. No cucumbers accepted unless grown under contract and from this seed.

Get your contract now of us, or at the Co-op. Association. Or, phone us (No. 25-J) and we will then call and deliver your seed.

CHARLEVOIX PICKLE & PRODUCE CO.

DO IT NOW

---A---

NEW CAR FOR YOUR OLD CAR

The Latest Finishes

Have your good car refinished with

Duco — Lacquers or
Nitro — the High gloss
Egyptian — Varnishes

ATCHISON AUTO SHOP

Phone 93 - 204 Mason St.

BE COURTEOUS AND GIVE SERVICE TO TOURISTS

Article No. 2—Courtesy and Service in West Michigan. By Clarence V. Smazel, executive secretary, Development League of Western Michigan.

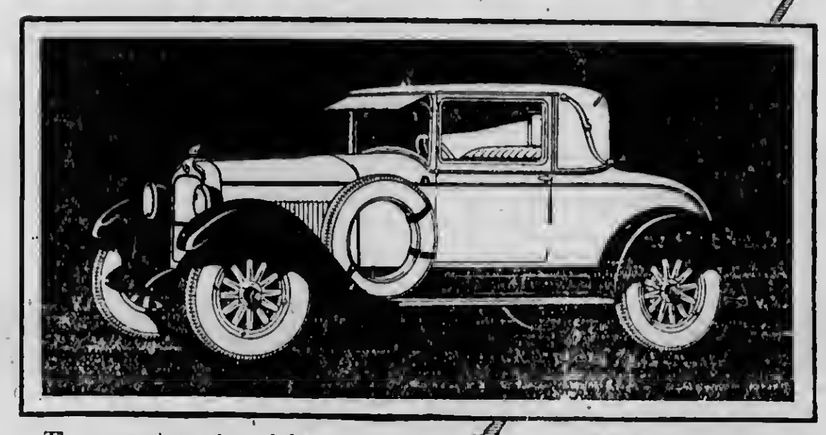
Service is used so often these days it is getting to be merely a word, but let's not let it be just that in West Michigan, although it has been in the past and often is yet.

Reminds me of a trip to a railway station, carrying three pieces of heavy baggage in a blizzard. The regular taxi came to the botel late. It drew up just as I had hiked the first of a dozen blocks to the railway station. I turned back to catch it. When I was half a block away, the driver started, looked at me as if wondering if I wanted his services—he knew by the time of day and my baggage that I must be bound for the train—but he drove past me without stopping to inquire if I wanted a taxi!

If that had been in Chicago the driver would have stopped, hopped out, opened the door, bowed and invited me to seek shelter from the storm. That is true of other large cities; though they may be cold-hearted they have learned that service to the traveler pays immediate cash and long-run dividends. It's a lesson West Michigan needs to study. Be thoughtful of the needs of the tourist and resorter; he is willing to pay for your thoughtfulness and time, and feel friendly toward you too boot for needed services rendered.

Dr. Leahy, the Optometrist, will be at the Hotel Charlevoix, Monday, Mny 2. Hours from ten a. m. to four p. m.—Adv. 16-t2.

Features that only General Motors Could Provide at the Price



The surpassing value of the New and Finer Pontiac Six is the direct result of those General Motors resources and abilities available to Oakland.

That great General Motors institution, the Fisher Body Corporation, created new and roomier bodies of surpassing beauty.

The economies of General Motors' vast purchasing power, made possible exceptional new features.

Only on the General Motors Proving Ground could such stamina, speed and comfort be developed in a six so low in price.

COUPE $775

Yet despite all these extraordinary examples of extraordinary quality in design and construction—the New and Finer Pontiac Six is offered at new low prices!

Come in! See and drive this history-making car—an achievement whose importance is only surpassed by the never-to-be-forgotten introduction of the original Pontiac Six!

NEW LOW PRICES

Sedan	$775	Sport Cabriolet (4-pass.)	$835
Coupe	775	De Luxe Landau Sedan	975
Sport Roadster (4-pass.)	775	De Luxe Panel Delivery	770
Landau Sedan	895	De Luxe Screen Delivery	760

Oakland Six, $820 to $1295. Bodies by Fisher. All prices at factory. Easy to buy on the General Motors Time Payment Plan

BLOCK & SIMMONS, 113-15 Antrim Street
Charlevoix, Mich

The New and Finer

PONTIAC SIX

MICHIGAN BELL TELEPHONE CO.

Long Distance Gets Results for the Corduroy Tire Company

CORDUROY TIRE COMPANY
Corduroy Cords
December 13, 1926
Michigan Bell Telephone Co.,
Grand Rapids, Mich.
Gentlemen:- Attention Mr. Barton.
With the approach of the new year and the checking up of the present one, we want you to know that we are more than pleased with the results which we have obtained thru the cooperation of the Michigan Bell Telephone Company of this city and the great net work of cooperating stations throughout the United States.
In going over the many sources from which we derive our business, we find that the telephone has played an important part.
Seldom a day passes but what we are on intimate touch with several of our retail outlets scattered over this great country by the use of the long distance telephone.
We find this method of contact exceptionally satisfactory.
Every indication is that next year we will be even a larger user of your long distance service than in the past.
Very truly yours,
CORDUROY TIRE COMPANY
Advertising & Publicity Manager.

We find this method of contact exceptionally satisfactory. Every indication is that next year we will be even a larger user of Long Distance service.

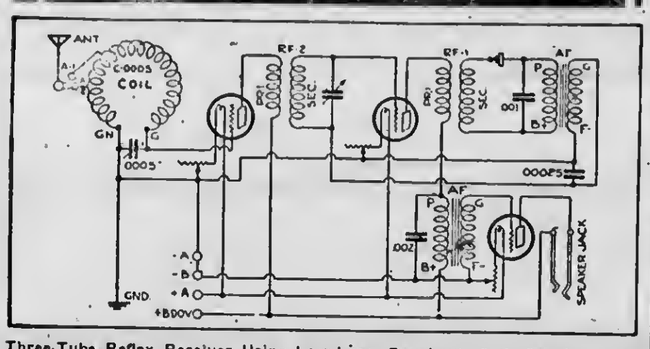
Built to Fit Your Business

GRAHAM BROTHERS TRUCKS

¾ 1 1½ 2-Ton

Let The COURIER Sell IT for YOU

RADIO



Three-Tube Reflex Receiver Using Low-Loss Doughnut Coil Coupler and Tuned Radio Frequency Transformer. Second Tube Is Reflexed So That It Amplifies Current at Both Radio and Audio Frequencies.

By FRANK REICHMANN, B. S., E. M.

The perfection of the low-loss doughnut type of inductance has made possible the increase in efficiency of many circuits. Due to the fact that losses are lower than in any other type of coil available at the present time, substitution of the doughnut coil for the conventional type of variocoupler in the reflex receiver makes a good circuit much better.

Tuning is sharpened and stability improved considerably as the radio frequency resistance of this form of winding is at a minimum and the magnetic field is confined to the inside of the coil winding, eliminating intercoupling and its consequent effects. The coil is singger-wound to reduce distributed capacity losses to a point seldom reached with other types of inductances.

Uses Reflex Principle.

Pickup of energy from local stations is practically eliminated in the receiver described in this article, due to the fact that the coil shape is such that energy picked up on one side is neutralized by the energy picked up on the other side. This fact makes it possible to tune in distant stations without the background of local stations interfering.

In this connection it is advisable to keep the leads from the batteries and the set wiring as short as possible to avoid the additional pickup that might offset the good effects of the low-loss doughnut coil, which are truly remarkable when properly utilized.

The receiver here described makes use of the reflex principle which further increases the value of the set for the number of tubes that are used. Although but three tubes are used, the current is passed through five stages, being amplified twice in the form of radio frequency, rectified by the crystal detector, and then amplified twice in the form of audio frequency, reflexing taking place in the second tube.

The set can be made very compact, with two tuning controls, and equaling, or out-performing, other receivers using five tubes in a straight circuit. Reception is clear and undistorted, lacking the characteristic regenerative distortion noticed in so many circuits where the tubes are operated near their oscillation point.

Material Needed.

To build the receiver you will need the following list of material:

One low-loss doughnut coupler.

Two reflex radio frequency transformers. (Low-loss doughnut coils, of the transformer type may be used here in the first stage.)

Two .0005 mfd. variable condensers, preferably straight-line-frequency type.

One fixed mica condenser each of the following sizes: .001 mfd., .002 mfd., and .00025 mfd.

Low ratio audio frequency transformers, suitable for reflex.

One fixed or adjustable crystal detector.

Three tube sockets and rheostats for the type of tube to be used. Twenty-five-ohm with the UV 201-A or C 301-A type, is recommended.

One single-circuit telephone jack.

One 7 by 18-inch panel with a 7 by 17-inch baseboard of ½-inch soft wood.

Binding posts, wire screws, etc.

No grid leak and condenser is required for this type of receiver as a crystal detector is used. Mount the apparatus so that short leads and wiring between the various parts can be made.

Better Service Over Your Friendly Crystal

Increased power output of many broadcasting stations now makes it possible to obtain good reception with a simple crystal set if within a 25-mile radius of a broadcaster. This particular circuit tunes sharp because of a combination tuner and wave trap. Coil "A" consists of 50 turns of No

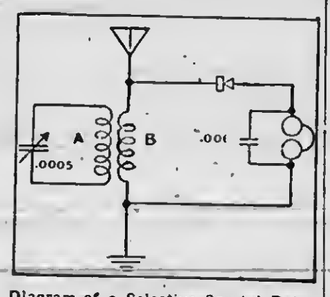


Diagram of a Selective Crystal Detector Circuit.

22 double cotton covered wire wound on a tube 3½ inches in diameter. Coil "B" is 12 turns of the same size wire wound on top of Coil "A" but insulated from the windings by a layer of paper.

Effect of Increasing Wave of the Antenna

Two simple principles applied to the average receiving set will enable the operator to keep in tune with all waves from 200 to 600 meters. If a coil of wire is placed in series with the antenna, it has virtually the same effect as increasing the wave of the antenna, thereby making it possible to pick up higher wave lengths. The larger the coil the greater will be the increase in wave length. If a variable condenser is placed in series with the antenna or ground wire, the wave length range of the set is reduced. The smaller the capacity of the condenser the greater will be the cut in wave length. To place a coil in series with the antenna, connect the lead-in wire to one end of the coil and run a wire from the other terminal of the coil to the antenna binding post on the set. A series condenser is connected the same way.

Enamel Aerial Wire

Enameled wire has been proven by many tests to be the best for use in building aerials. Bare wire becomes coated with soot, which causes certain electrical losses, and fabric covered wires absorb moisture that also causes losses. The wire used should be of the best grade copper. Stranded wire of the same size as ordinary round wire is theoretically better, but in actual receiving practice it is hard to tell its superiority.

A Word With the Old Folks

Elderly People Are Learning Importance of Good Elimination.

IN the later years of life there is apt to be a slowing up of the bodily functions. Good elimination, however, is just as essential to the old as to the young. Many old folks have learned the value of Doan's Pills when a stimulant diuretic to the kidneys is required. Scanty or burning passages of kidney secretions are often signs of improper kidney function. In most every community are scores of users and endorsers who acclaim the merit of Doan's. Ask your neighbor!

DOAN'S PILLS 60c

Stimulant Diuretic to the Kidneys

Foster-Milburn Co., Mfg. Chem., Buffalo, N. Y.

Live Stock Notes

Never punish a horse for something he cannot help.

• • •

Neglect of proper ventilation is very common where hogs are confined.

• • •

Experimental work has shown that ground soy beans fed in self-feeders alone with corn and a simple mineral mixture made of ten parts acid phosphate, ten parts wood ashes and one part salt make a good mineral mixture for swine.

• • •

A horse weighing 1,200 pounds will consume from 30 to 80 pounds of water a day.

• • •

The fertilizer problem is becoming a big one and could be greatly reduced by keeping more live stock and selling less hay and straw.

• • •

Imagine a good palatable dinner without salt and think of the farm animals that never get any. Salt whets the appetite, stimulates the digestive glands and prevents stomach troubles. All farm animals need salt.

"In order to git gemline, practical results," said Uncle Eben, "a speaker wants to be mighty accomplished in recognizin' de occasions that calls foh absolute silence."—Washington Star.

On Backs and Heads

Due to the absence of transportation facilities, thousands of tons of African produce are still carried on the backs of natives.

Joseph and Seme Cohen were recently arrested in Detroit by the prohibition squad of the Michigan State Police on a charge of arson committed in Massachusetts. Police of all states [illegible] on account for

TOMMY-RADIO

By ROBERT SUTLIFFE

I WENT into a barber's shop to have him cut my hair,
The barber said "Just come right in, be seated over there."
Three other men were seated and the last one winked his eye,
"'Twill take too long, I'll take a sneak," unto myself said I.

Oh, it's radio this and radio that,
It's radio night and day,
The barber plugged into a set and a band began to play,
All thoughts of going from the place were soon gone from my head,
"I thought that that would hold you, boy," the radio barber said.

I took my girl one night with me, we thought we'd have a dance;
We like to wiggle round a bit and twist, and bunch and prance.
We waited there, there was no band, I said, "Come, let us go."
But pretty soon the crowd began to dance by radio.

Oh, it's radio this and radio that, it's radio night and day.
You hear a band a thousand miles from where the spielers play,
You hear a man in Canada that talks in Tennessee,
And a fellow out in No Man's Land your neighbor's got to be.

On Sunday morn you stay at home, you needn't miss your psalms,
For through the air comes plain the Word, perhaps some chap sings "Palms."
You needn't even odss the plate when time comes to chip in,
A lot of folks are sending checks to kill long-distance sin.

Oh, it's radio this and radio that, it's on the land and o'er the lakes,
It climbs the mountains, makes the deep, o'er all the land good cheer it takes,
A million things lost yesterday, today you've come to know,
A rain of radios everywhere, we'll soon have radio snow.

(© Science and Invention.)

Brook Trout Driven Into Prepared Trap

Trout fishermen of today who go forth to fill their hampers by the use of the latest thing in equipment are wondering what would be the result of a fishing expedition along lines recounted by S. V. Rehart, pioneer of the Lakeview (Ore.) section, who had the experience in 1871, says the San Francisco Chronicle.

In the year in question, Rehart, then twenty-one years old, journeyed with his parents from California to Oregon. One day, on what is known as Hat creek, some Indians came into camp and said they were going fishing. Having an appetite for trout, young Rehart went along and was initiated into the first and only fish drive he ever saw.

Reaching the selected spot on the creek, three of the Indians stripped, supplied themselves with short poles and waded into the stream, making much noise and threshing the water with the poles.

Eventually along came the wading Indians and ahead of them leaped frightened trout, to be diverted into the trap, from which they were captured by hand and tossed on the bank.

Stars at Distances That Stagger Mind

There are stars so remote that if the news of the victory of Wellington at Waterloo had been flashed to them in 1815 on the celestial telegraph system it would not have reached them yet, even if the message had sped at the rate of 180,000 miles a second, and had been traveling all the time; that if, when William the Conqueror landed in England in 1066, the news of his conquest had been dispatched to them, and if the signal flew over the wire at a pace which would carry it seven times around the earth in a second of time, the news would not have reached them yet.

Even if the glad tidings of that first Christmas in Bethlehem, nineteen centuries ago, had thus been disseminated through the universe, there are yet stars of which astronomers could tell us, plunged into space in depths so appalling that even the years which have elapsed since would not have been long enough for the news to reach them, though it traveled 180,000 miles every second!—Montreal Family Herald.

Humidity Softens Varnish

Measurements of the hardness of varnish have been made by the bureau of standards on samples received for test in the bureau's laboratory.

The marked effect of humidity on the measurements was revealed on a very humid day in the laboratory, the bureau reports. To illustrate, a spar varnish with a drying period of two days showed a hardness factor of .333, the relative humidity being 50 per cent. At four days, with a humidity of 60 per cent, the hardness factor was .387. At six days, with a humidity of 50 per cent, the hardness factor was only 230, and at seven days, with a humidity of 50 per cent, the hardness factor was 447. The marked decrease in the hardness factor on the sixth day, when the humidity was 80 per cent, is significant.—Nation's Business Magazine.

Saving Little Pigs

More of the little pigs can be saved by equipping the farrowing pen with fenders and by giving better rations to the sows. Over half of the 34 per cent usually lost will be saved by these precautions alone.

It costs $12.57 to feed a sow from breeding to weaning time of her pigs. Why feed ten sows to get 50 pigs when by a little extra care six or seven will produce as many with a saving of $50 besides the labor?

Masterful Power

Over the Top – – with plenty to spare

Hills that have been the traditional test for motordom's most powerful cars are topped by the Hudson Super-Six on a rising speedometer.

HUDSON SUPER-SIX

Standard Models

Coach - - - $1285
Sedan - - - 1385

Custom Built Models

Roadster - - $1500
Phaeton - - 1600
Brougham - - 1575
5-Pass. Sedan - 1750
7-Pass. Sedan - 1850

All prices f. o. b. Detroit, plus war excise tax

HUDSON Super-Six

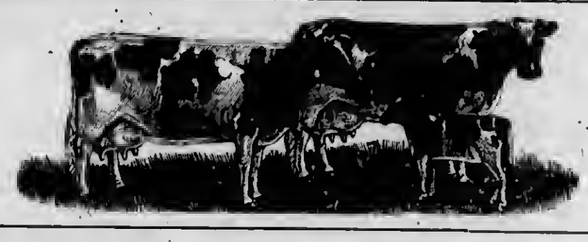
WYERS & SMITH, Charlevoix, Michigan

AUCTION SALE

The undersigned will sell at Public Auction at his farm 2 miles east and 2 miles north of Ellsworth, on

Monday, May 2

Commencing at 1:00 p. m., fast time, the following described property:



Horse, 8 years old, wt. 1400
Horse, 11 yrs. old, wt. 1450
Grade Jersey Cow, 7 yrs. old, fresh
Grade Jersey Cow, 3 yrs. old, fresh
Fauvie Lads Dot, Registered Jersey Heifer, year and half old
Majestic Lorenas Rex, Registered Jersey Heifer, year old
Polos Donnas Beauty, Registered Jersey Heifer, year old
Grade Jersey Heifer, 1½ yrs. old
Fauvie Lads Jean, Jersey Bull, year old
One Registered Jersey Heifer Calf, 3 weeks old
One Registered Jersey Bull Calf, Ten weeks old
Two Grade Jersey Heifer Calves, 4 weeks old
Six Ewes, 5and 6 years old
Seven Lambs
Forty Plymouth Rock Hens, two Roosters
McCormick Deering Mowing Machine, nearly new Hay Rake Plow Drag
Heavy Wagon, good shape
Wagon Hay Rack
Light Wagon or Truck, Wagon Box
Cultivators Heavy Work Harness
One Horse Driving Harness
Collars Horse Blanket, nearly new
DeLaval Separator No. 15, power attachment, good shape
Buzz Saw and Frame
Wheel Barrow, Steel, nearly new
Heavy Sleighs, Wood Rack
Buggy Butter Worker Pump Jack
30 Gallon Churn Cream Cans
Milk Scales Grind Stone
Emery Wheel Roll new woven Wire
Roll barb Wire Roll Top Desk
Ice Box Oil Stove
Perfection Heater Lamps
Shovels, etc. Several Oil Barrels
Eight Barrel Steel Tank
Several loads of Silage
Washing Machine, power or hand
Two Heating Stoves
6 inch Heavy Belt, 20ft 3 inch Belting
Other articles too nuemerous to mention

TERMS OF SALE

All sums of $10.00 or under, cash; all sums over $10.00, eight months time on good, approved, endorsed, bankable paper bearing interest at 7 per cent, payable at the State Bank of East Jordan. Five per cent off for cash on all sums over $10.00. No property to be removed until terms of sale are complied with and all settlements must be made at time of sale.

Hubert Bearss, Prop.

ROBT. CAMPBELL, Clerk. W. E. BYERS, Auctioneer.

W. E. Byers John Boss

BYERS & BOSS

Auctioneers

We will cry your sales and clerk them. Furnish cuts for all day sales.

Book sales at Courier Office

or call us by phone. All dates are made at The Courier office, phone 2-J. Phone any one of us and we will take care of your sale.

EGGS for Hatching

GET THE BEST
WHITE WYANDOTTES
15 Eggs for $1.00
WHITE PEKIN DUCKS
11 Eggs for $1.00
ARTHUR L. GUILD
Phone 7014F11 Charlevoix

The CHARLEVOIX COURIER
Issued every Wednesday at
CHARLEVOIX - MICHIGAN

DuBois & Usher, Publishers
A. J. Usher, Editor and Business Mgr.
Courier Building Van Pelt Place

Entered at the Post Office in Charlevoix, Mich., as second class matter.

Member Michigan Press Ass'n

Advertising Rates

For advertising rates apply for schedule.

Notices of church or lodge socials and entertainments, where admission is charged, regular rates.

Obituary poetry, regular rates.

Card of Thanks, 25 cents.

TERMS OF SUBSCRIPTION

One copy, one yeor $2.00
One Copy, six months $1.00
One Copy, three months .....$ .60

LOCAL B. Y. P. U. HAS ARRANGED PROGRAM

To Be Presented Afternoon and Evening May 6th

In conjunction with the annual meeting of the Grand Traverse Baptist Association, which will be held Mny 5 and 6 at the Baptist church, the B. Y. P. U. has prepnred a special program to be carried out Friday afternoon and evening during the meeting. Starting at 4:30 o'clock the following program has been arranged:

Social hour, 4:30-5:30; Banquet, 6:00; Dr. Burns, toastmaster; Toasts from each Union; (a) Welcome, Charlevoix; (b) How the Light Has Been Shining Through Past Decades and Centuries, Petoskey; (c) How the Light Ought to Shine Through Me, Gaylord; (d) The Main Youth Lamps for Service, Traverse City; (e) Shining Today in Preparation for Tomorrow, Kingsley.

Evening Rally 7:30

Opening Song, Congregation; devotional; offering; special music, Charlevoix; "The Reflector," Rev. E. G. Leisman; special music, Traverse City; Address, Rev. W. S. Ross, "Let Your Light So Shine;" special music, Charlevoix; "Our Assembly," Rev. Morgan L. Williams; closing song, congregation; benediction, Dr. Burns.

LARGE ATTENDANCE AT LEGION PICTURE

Attention Called to Special Meeting Next Tuesday Evening

Members of the local American Legion Post are very appreciative of the fine public support and large attendance at the Palace Theatre Monday evening, when "The Big Drive," authentic picture of the World War, was presented. The show was a very decisive success, both from a financial and entertainment standpoint. They also desire to express their thanks to the band members and their leader and members of the orchestra who donated their services.

Special attention of Legion members is called to a meeting to be held next Tuesday evening. Business of importance will be transacted and reports of various committees will be made at this time, after which a social hour is planned. Three boxing bouts have been arranged and a buffet luncheon will be served. All ex-service men are urged to nttend and become affiliated with the local Post.

TWENTY-TWO PRESENT AT ALUMNI BANQUET

Heard Fine Address By Dr. Pittman of Normal College

The Alumni of the Michigan State Normal College, who are located in this community, held a banquet at the Hotel Charlevoix last Friday night, at which time Dr. Pittman of the department of Rural Education at Ypsilanti gave an address.

This social affair wns a part of a state wide movement of the Ypsilanti alumni to launch a campaign for the raising of funds for the erection of $500,000 building on the campus of their Almo Mater to be known as the Union. The purpose of the union is to serve as a social center not only for the student body, but as a convenience for the alumni when they return and for the thousands of visitors who go there every year to investigate the work of the Normal College. This institution has had a record of seventy-five years of constructive work, shaping the educational standards not only in our own state but throughout the nation.

Dr. Pittman is an inspiring speaker and a man of superior intellectual nttainment. These qualities, coupled with a practical application of principals and a magnetic leadership make him an outstanding figure in the educational field and the local alumni were very fortunate in having him present.

Twenty-two members were present at the banquet and the interest was so great that it is purposed to make this an annual feature.

GRAND RAPIDS WHOLESALERS VISIT CITY

On Their Annual Trade Extension Tour in May.

Ray L. Byerly, Assistant Secretary of the Grand Rapids Association of Commerce, was a visitor here Monday in the interest of the Grand Rapids wholesalers, who are preparing the itinerary for their 21st Annual Trade Extension Tour.

Their next tour will include a visit to this community, will bring about one hundred representatives of Grand Rapids wholesale houses, who come to meet their friends, the business people of this community. They will have with them the celebrated Furniture City Band and the Wolverine Four, a male quartette, second to none. The trip which begins May 23rd and ends May 26th, will be made in a vestibuled train of Pullman cars.

As is customary with these tours, souvenirs will be widely distributed with especial attention given to the children in the territory visited.

MAIN HIGHWAYS CHANGE NAMES

M-13 Shifts to Federal And New State Marks on May 2

State trunk line highway M-11 will lose its identity on the evening of May 1st, becoming U. S.-31 on the morning of May 2nd. Temporary pasteboard markers will be placed on present M-11 from the Indiana line to the Straits of Mackinaw, between sunset of May 1 and sunrise of May 2nd.

Later these will be replnced with permnnent signs.

M-13 will shortly undergo a change in name, becoming U. S.-131, from Indiona state line to Fife lake corners to Harbor Springs.

The replacement signs will be posted by the parties with whom the state hns mnintenance contracts and by state highway superintendents in cases where the work is handled direct by the state.

OBSERVE SHAKESPEARE BIRTH ANNIVERSARY

Miss Eva Adams Hostess at Enjoyable Affair Tuesday Evening

The annual observance of Shakespeares' birthdny was held Tuesday, April 26th, at the home of Miss Eva Adams on Michigan avenue. Guests of honor included the husbands of members, Miss Helen Armstrong of Chicago, Miss Anne Shanweis of Californin, Mrs. Dudley, mother of Mrs. Bernard G. Mattson and Miss Isabel Mitchell.

The house was decorated profusely with spring flowers, carrying out the club colors of purple and gold. After the delicious four course English dinner, the entertainment committee furnished a burlesque of Hamlet. The evening was a very enjoynble one.

ENTERTAINED WITH BIRTHDAY PARTY

Miss Kling Hostess at Farm Home Tuesday Evening

Miss Edith Kling entertained at the home of her parents, Mr. nnd Mrs. John Kling, nt Loeb Farms, Tuesday evening, the occosion being her birthday anniversary.

Guests were the Misses Edith Neilsun, Esther Case, Alice Orvis, Doris Soloman, Kntherine Walgren, Lena Kopkau, Edna Neff, Eva, Anna nnd Rose Kercheck, Messrs. Wm. Foster, Adolph Kopkau, Wilbur Nelson, Otto Nelson, Hnrold Towsley, Walter Kopkau, and John Loos, Wilbur and Bert Gould of Boyne City.

ST. MARY'S CHURCH

Rev. Fr. Odelo, Pastor.

Sundny services 8:00 a. m. and 10:00 a. m.

Services Monday and Tuesday, 8:00 a. m.

Services Saturday 7:00 a. m.

Ladies' Altar Society meets Thursday afternoons.

Christian Science Society

Sundoy service 10:45 a. m.

Subject, "Everlasting Punishment."

Sunday school at 12 o'clock.

Wednesday evening service 7:45.

Reading room open Tuesday and Saturday, 3 to 5 p. m.

The public is cordially invited to nttend our service.

Old newspapers for sale at this office. 5c per package.

VOTE TO BOND FOR $40,000 SCHOOL HOUSE

Election to Build Modern School Building Carries By Big Majority

The special election held in Central Lake on Tuesday night of this week to vote on bonding for $40,000 to erect a school building carried by a overwhelming majority. The vote was, yes, 123; no, 28.

That Central Lake citizens want a modern school was manifested in the election Tuesday. For several years our village hns maintained a school that we were proud of and the number of graduates that have gone from here nre making a mark in the world.

The Centrol Loke board of education will be getting into action immediately to make plons so that building operation will be started as soon after the first of June ns possible.

The bonds will have to be issued and sold and the specifications nnd plans approved by the state before the contract can be let.—Central Lnke Torch.

Salt Rising Bread, Tuesdays and Saturdays. Order, Phone 731, The Cake Shoppe.—Adv. 17t2.

THREE CONTRACTS AWARDED MONDAY

East Jordan Bidders Low On Gravel Road Projects

Contracts for approximately 3½ miles of Class A 12-foot gravel road were awarded to two different bidders at the road commissioner's office Monday.

The new roads are divided into three different jobs, two of them, nppronimately 1 mile on the Marion Center road and a mile on the Boyne Falls East road, going to Kit Carson of East Jordan. The other contract, for 1 mile on the Horton Bay North rond, was awarded to Matt Sommerville, nlso of East Jordan.

ORCHARD GLEANINGS

GRAPE GRAFTING DIFFICULT TASK

There has been considerable interest shown in the last few years nbout the grafting of the grapevines and, regardless of the fact that men of science have taken the lead, there seems to be a lack-of-knowledge all along the line. In the first place the work belongs to professionals or well-trained nmateurs, writes Charles Boykin of Indiana in the Rural New Yorker. The business man or common farmer cannot make it go. Any of the common methods of graftage is practical, but it takes a fundamental knowledge of the plant to make a success. The graft will grow from the common split graft made about the first of April, just below the ground level without any wax or tying material. The care of the vine consists in keeping the roots off the scion, and not letting any sprouts from the roots grow. The main point in consideration is to protect the union from freezes in the winter. To do so, clear the soil from union about the first of September. A process of hardening then follows, which protects the vine during the winter. When winter sets in, just before Thanksgiving, cover the plant with about eight inches of soil. The first year is the fundamental point to consider. Afterward, if it is an American grape, there is no extra care. But if you are grafting the Vinifera (California grape) the plant must be protected each winter in the eastern states.

There are several methods of graftnge. The split graft is good on plants one or more years old. On younger vines inarching is one of the best methods, but the whip graft or wire graft on cuttings of the right stock will prove to be, in the long run, the most successful. Stocks most adaptable to most soils are the Ripatria X. Rupestries 3309 and 3306 and Rupestries St. George. The adaptability of the stock must be understood. Your soil will govern that. Therefore, I say that a professional should take care of the graftage, just the same as the man who propagates your other fruit. An American grape grafted on the proper root will produce from one-third to one-half more grapes than on its own roots.

The Vinifera (California grape) will not grow well in the eastern states because of the phylloxera, an insect that infests the roots of the Vinifera grape. To protect it the grape must be grafted. In the near future I believe that the Vinifera will be grown in eastern America the same as other grapes.

State Police of Rhode Island have begun an active campaign to curb the annual flare of spring forest fires. Circulars being distributed by troopers point out the perils and ask cooperation from motorists, hunters and campers. Last year the State Police, working with an old and almost forgotten law, were able to gain convictions in four cases where carelessness caused serious fires. Particular attention is given this year to the menaces of discarded cigars and cigarettes, and persons are especially warned of the danger.

CURTAIN MATERIALS

White Marquisette, plain or fancy in the yard width at.....
25c, 35c and 50c a Yard

CRETONS

A large variety of new patterns, ranging in price from.....
25c to 50c a Yard

TERRY CLOTH

New patterns in stock double faced, at.....
$1.00 a Yard

SILKOLINES AND CHALLIES FOR COMFORTS

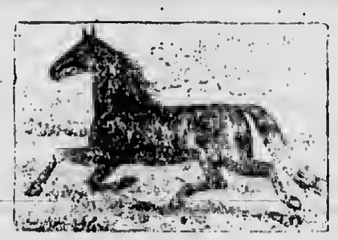
M. A. Levinson & Co.

AUCTION SALE

The undersigned will sell at Public Auction at his farm, located 6 miles southwest of Charlevoix, near Barnard church, on

Tuesday, May 3

Beginning at 1:00 p. m. Fast Time, the following described property:



Gray Mare, 9 yrs. old, wt. 1500
Black Cow, 12 yrs. old, been fresh 3 months
Black Cow, 12 yrs. old, been fresh two weeks
Black Cow, 3 yrs. old, been fresh 2 months
Black and White Cow, 2½ yrs. old, fresh in August
Black and White Cow, 4 yrs. old, fresh in September
Red and White Cow, 6 yrs. old, been fresh 2 weeks
2 Heifer Calves, 2 weeks old
2 small Cultivators
Fanning Mill
Syracuse Walking Plow
Disc Bean Picker
Riding Cultivator
Deering Mower
One-horse Rake Buggy
Spike-tooth Drag
Double Sleigh
Renown Kitchen Range
Some Fruit Cans
18 Swarms Honey Bees
Some extra Hives and Supers
Many other articles too numerous to mention.

TERMS OF SALE

All sums of $10.00 or under, cash; on all sums over $10.00, 8 months time will be given on good, approved, bankable paper, bearing interest at 7 per cent, payable at the Charlevoix County Bank. Five per cent off for cash on all sums over $10.00. No goods may be removed until terms of sale are complied with and all settlements must be made on day of sale.

CHAS. CORK, Prop.

EARL SHAPTON, Clerk
ROBT. BRIDGE, Note Clerk.

W. E. BYERS,
Auctioneer.

Seventh and Eighth Grade Examinations for Charlevoix County

WHEN? All seventh grade subjects, Thursday, May 12th. All eighth grade subjects, Friday, May 13th.

WHERE? Boyne City library building. East Jordan high school building. Charlevoix (to be arronged.) St. James high school building.

WHO? All students who are prepared according to rules made by the Department of Public Instruction. (For rules, inquire of any public school teacher.)

WHAT? All students should bring pencils, pens and ink. Paper will be furnished.

BEGINS? Promptly at eight in the morning, central time. Be on time.

WHY? To pass the seventh grade test, makes the work of eighth year much easier. To pass the eighth grade test, entitles the pupil to free tuition in the high school of his choice. This is equal to a money value of two hundred and forty dollars. No student can afford not to try to pass these grades.

Signed, Archie C. Belding,
17t1 Comr. of Schools.

The home-town newspaper is the loud speaker for the community and it costs but a trifling sum a year to tune in.

Europe has funded her debt of billions, but not of gratitude.

STALEY BROS. HARDWARE
WE DELIVER

AT YOUR SERVICE FOR

Oil Stoves and Ranges

Screen Doors and Window Screens
Lawn Mowers and Garden Tools
Paints, Oils and Varnishes

Quality Merchandise Reasonable Prices
Courteous Treatment

STALEY BROS. HARDWARE
228 Bridge St. Phone No. 86

THE OLDEST BANK IN CHARLEVOIX COUNTY
FORTY-THIRD YEAR IN BUSINESS

1884 1927

OUR TELLERS

DO NOT CARE HOW OFTEN YOU ASK THEM TO MAKE ENTRIES ON THE DEPOSIT SIDE OF YOUR SAVINGS PASS-BOOK.

WE HOPE YOU WILL COME IN AND HELP KEEP THEM BUSY!

Charlevoix County Bank

CHARLEVOIX, MICHIGAN

Bridge & Company

THE BANK ON THE CORNER

LOCAL NEWS BRIEFLY TOLD

Get the Habit—Read the Courier

Sunday, May 1, season opens for brook trout and rainbow trout fishing.

Mr. and Mrs. E. D. Shafer of Petoskey, were Charlevoix visitors last Sunday.

James Bracken of Traverse City, arrived the first of the week for the summer.

Kit Carson of East Jordan, was a business visitor at the court house Monday.

W. Asa Loveday of East Jordan, was at the court house Tuesday on business.

Rev. Herman Burns left Tuesday for South Bend, Indiana, on a week's business trip.

Mrs. Lee Sneathen underwent an operation at Petoskey hospital, Tuesday, April 26th.

Matt Sommerville of East Jordan, was in the city Monday on business at the court house.

B. A. Herman, who has been spending the winter in Miami, Fla., returned home Thursday.

Chas. Gallagher, Jr., of Beaver Island, is spending the week with his uncle, John Gallagher.

Clark Haire, editor of the Boyne Citizen, was at the county court house, Monday on business.

Mr. and Mrs. A. T. Jeffery and son, Theo, made a business trip to Traverse City last Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. George Roderick and Mrs. Faye Bradley were week end business visitors in Ionia.

Mr. and Mrs. Emery Gimble and family were business visitors in Big Rapids, several days last week.

James Wyers, Jr., was a business visitor in Beaver Island several days last week, returning Thursday.

Mr. and Mrs. Jone Dunnce were Sunday guests at the farm home of Mr. and Mrs. George Meggison.

Miss Ina Geneit, who has been spending the winter in Detroit, returned home Monday for the summer.

Mrs. Harold Meggison and small daughter of Grand Rapids, are in the city for a few days on business.

Fred Malvitz of Detroit, was the week-end guest at the home of his sister, Mrs. William Wallace, Jr.

George W. Weaver, local postmaster, returned Tuesday from a two-day business trip to Grand Rapids.

Fred Sendenberg of Beaver Island arrived Monday for a short visit at the home of his son, Gus Sendenburg.

Messrs. Santigle and Green and son, of Muskegon, were in Charlevoix, Monday, enroute to Sault Ste. Marie.

Benny Dudley and a party of friends from Cheboygan, were in Charlevoix Sunday visiting LaVern Heise.

Wyers & Smith report the sale of an Essex sedan to Joe Left of Beaver Island and an Essex coach to Leo Allard.

L. A. Dow, bookeeper for the White Lumber company of Boyne City, was at the court house Tuesday on business.

Born, Monday, April 25th, to Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Lamphear, at the Charlevoix hospital, a son, named John Elmer.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Sherman, who has been spending the winter in Racine, Wisconsin, returned home Saturday.

Walter Bergeon, who is attending school at Ferris Institute is visiting his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Bergeon, this week.

Al. Winnick was home for a few days last week from Flint, Michigan, where he is employed in the Chevrolet Motor company.

Miss Ida Yettaw spent the week-end in Big Rapids, where she attended the annual "spring Jolt" of the Kappa Phi fraternity.

Mrs. C. E. Bailey, who has been spending the winter in Pasadena, California, returned to Charlevoix Thursday for the summer.

Mrs. Fred Cartier, who has been the guest of her son, Dr. C. C. Cartier of Grand Rapids, for the past week, returned home Monday.

Mrs. Gerry Shores returned to her home in Gloucester, Mass., Monday having been called here by the death of her brother, James Mitchell.

J. H. Maloney, general manager of the Hub stores in Chicago, was in the city Saturday enroute to Beaver Island, where he will visit friends.

Mrs. William Poole returned Saturday from Detroit and Grand Rapids, where she had been visiting relatives for the past two weeks.

Mr. and Mrs. Ula Wakeman and small son of Reed City, were Sunday visitors at the home of Mrs. Wakeman's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Poole.

Miss Mabel Turpin, bookeeper at the Charlevoix State Savings Bank, left Tuesday for Grand Rapids where she will spend a two-week vacation.

Miss Helen Armstrong and Miss Anna Shanewise of Chicago, are spending the week with Miss Armstrong's parents, Dr. and Mrs. R. B. Armstrong.

Mrs Ella McDonald and daughter, Ray, who have been spending the winter in Detroit, were in Charlevoix Saturday, enroute to their home on Beaver Island.

Mrs. Guy Bruce of Detroit, Mrs. Charles Hipp and Mrs. Belle Natzel of Frankfort, arrived Tuesday to attend the burial of their mother, Mrs. Mary Dougherty.

Block & Simmons report the sale of a 4-door Chevrolet sedan to Phillip Howe, a Pontiac sedan to Lilas Flanders, and a 4-door Chevrolet sedan to Charles Jefferies.

The Rebekah convention will be held in Mancelona, Wednesday, May 4th. Mrs. Frank Bird and Mrs. Robert Mitchell have been elected representatives from the local order.

The L. O. T. M. will hold their initiation meeting, Tuesday, May 3rd. The business meeting will be followed by a pot-luck lunch. All members are requested to be present.

Arthur Hamlin, who has been visiting his son, L. C. Hamlin, in Elkhart, Indinna, for the past few months, returned the first of the week to spend the summer in Charlevoix.

The light house tender, Sumac, is making the local supply depot her headquarters while replacing markers and buoys in local waters in preparation for the official opening of navigation.

Fred Marsh of Glen Haven, spent the week end with relatives in the city, returning Monday, accompanied by Mrs. Marsh, who has been visiting her mother, Mrs. Nancy Plum, for the past week.

Mr. and Mrs. Will Bogart and family spent Sunday at their cottage on Torch Lake. Mr. Bogart has been working on the cottage during the spring and has just recently completed the work.

Mrs. Lisle Shanahan entertained at her home on Clinton street with a bridge party in honor of Mrs. George Finucan of Grand Rapids and Mrs. D. C. Gaffney of Charlotte, Thursday evening of last week.

Mrs. Cassie Hart returned Saturday from Cedar Falls, Iowa, where she was called by the sudden death of her son-in-law, Prof. Macy Campbell, head of the rural educational department of Iowa State College.

Fred Zittel, engineer for the Michigan Bell Telephone company, was in Charlevoix Tuesday, conferring with city officials, as to the advisability of removing telephone poles and wires from the main business street.

The fishing tug, Liberty owned by Max Frnlick and Charles Shermnn, of Racine, Wisconsin, arrived in the local port Monday. The owners expect to make Charlevoix their headquarters during the spring fishing season.

Mrs. George Finucan and son, Tom, of Grand Rapids, accompanied by Mrs. D. C. Gaffney of Charlotte, returned to their respective homes, Saturday, after a week's visit with their parents, Mr. and Mrs. George Weaver.

Word has been received by Dr. Belle Flewelling, that her aunt, Mrs. Fanny Brown, died in Benton Harbor, last Monday, at the advanced age of ninty-one years. Mrs. Brown was a sister of Simon Flewelling of Bellaire.

The Shakespeare and Dickens clubs held a joint meeting at the home of Mrs. L. S. See, Monday afternoon. This was the last regular meeting as the clubs adjourn, following the respective club banquets, until fall.

Twelve guests were invited to the home of Mr. and Mrs. William Ives on east Hurlbut avenue, Saturday evening to help them celebrate their tenth wedding anniversary. Five hundred was played after which Mrs. Ives served lunch.

Mrs. Robert Gonsolus and grand daughter, Margery Gonsolus, left Wednesday for Flint and Detroit for an extended visit with relatives. They have been spending the winter with Mrs. Gonsolus' daughter, Mrs. Frank Bird and family.

R. V. Rule, accompanied by his sister, Miss Leola Rule, of Detroit, were week-end guests at the Hotel Noble. Mr. Rule is the owner of the American Legion picture, "The Big Drive," which was shown at the Palace Theatre, Monday evening.

Next Sunday morning Rev. C. E. Pollock of the local Methodist Episcopal church will preach for the W. F. M. S. the Asbury Methodist Episcopal church in Traverse City. The pastor of that church, Rev. M. E. Hoyt, will preach in the Charlevoix church.

The Community Band at Ellsworth will put on a band concert Saturday evening, April 30th, at the Blue Hall. There will be solos and singing duos, as well as a snappy band program. This band is making real headway and is a trent for anyone to hear.

Mrs. L. B. Bartlett arrived Saturday from Grand Rapids, where she has been spending the winter, and will soon open The Bartlett for the summer season. She was accompanied by Mr. and Mrs. George Myers, who returned to their Grand Rapids home Sunday.

The music committee of the Congregational church announces the Peerless Colored Concert Company in a program exclusively of negro spirituals, to be given May 12, in the Congregational church. The company consists of a double quartette, four men and four women with highly cultivated voices, and has been widely heard in radio concerts.

BIRTH NOTICES

Charlevoix need have no worry over its mortality rate for the time being, although this problem is bothering other localities in the country at the present time. Six certificates of birth were filed with the city clerk's office Monday morning as follows:

A baby girl, Curry Emaline Orvis, born to Mr. and Mrs. Everett Orvis, Tuesday, April 12.

A son, born to Mr. and Mrs. Elijah O'Brien, Friday, April 15th.

A daughter, born to Mr. and Percy Edward, Friday, April 22.

A daughter, born to Mr. and Mrs. Milton Russell, Monday, April 25.

A daughter, Marylnnd Jean Hare, born to Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Hare of Bay Shore, Friday, April 22.

A son, John Elmer Lamphenr born to Mr. and Mrs. Charles Lamphear, Monday, April 25.

HOSPITAL NOTES

Mrs. Albert O'Brien was operated on last Thursday for an obstruction of the bowels and is doing nicely at this time.

Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Hare of Bay Shore, are the parents of a baby daughter, born last Friday.

—Born, to Mr. and Mrs. Percy Edwards of this city, Friday, April 22, a baby girl.

Mrs. R. M. Sutton submitted to an operation at the hospital Wednesday morning.

Born, to Mr. and Mrs. Charles Lamphenr, Monday morning, a son, John Elmer.

COURIER BARGAIN COLUMN.

Courier Want Advs. are One Cent per word per insertion. Minimum charge is 20 cents per insertion, for anything under 20 words. All Want Advs. are strictly cash in advance except to those who have ledger accounts. Please remember this when sending in your copy.

FOR SALE—LIVE STOCK

FOR SALE—Gray horse, weight 1,100. Christ Lyngklip, Enst Jordan, Rt. 1. 17t2.

FOR SALE OR RENT

FOR SALE OR RENT—Garage in East Jordan known as the Lakeside Garage. Inquire Frank Zoulek, East Jordan, Rt. 2.—14-t4pd.

FOR SALE—REAL ESTATE

FOR SALE OR TRADE—100 acre farm located 4 miles west of Enst Jordan or 2 miles east of Ellsworth, 60 acres clear, nearly all seeded, exceptionally well suited for dairy farm; basement barn 36 by 48, new chicken coop 14x40; good small house. Will sell or consider trade for Charlevoix property. Address John TerWee, Enst Jordan, Mich.—12-tf.

FOR SALE—MISCELLANEOUS

FOR SALE—20 foot motor boat, 8 h. p. engine. Price $30.00. Alfred Brooks, Central Lake, Mich. 17t2 pd.

FOR SALE—3 burner oil stove with oven in good condition. Inquire, Wm. Wallace, Sinclair Oil Station. 16t2.

FOR SALE—A quantity of Cobbler potato seed and table stock, early white variety, excellent for home consumption. George Meggison, phone 7010F5, Charlevoix, Mich. —16-tf.

WANTED—MISCELLANEOUS

WANTED—Heavy hens at Jeffery's Poultry Farm, 805 State St., phone 188.—15tf.

WANTED—Dressmaking. Mrs. Lizzie Powell, 406 W. Hurlbut, phone 402. 14tf.

WANTED—Old false teeth. We pay high as $10 for full sets. Don't matter if broken. We buy crowns, bridges. Western Metal Co., Bloomington, Ill. 17t2pd.

WANTED—REAL ESTATE

WANTED—To buy cheap lot on North side, suitable for garden. Ray W. Faulkner, Charlevoix, Mich.—16-t2 pd.

HELP WANTED.

WANTED—Married man to work on dairy farm. Steady job to man who makes good. Wm. Withers, phone 7004-F3. 17t2 pd.

WANTED—Married man to work on farm. House furnished. Elmer Ingalls, phone 7010F21, Charlevoix, Rt. 1.. 14tf.

WANTED: DISTRICT SALES MANAGER

Wanted—A man in this district with organizing ability to build up an agent sales force—selling 21 Jewel insured Studebaker Watches and complete line of Diamonds and Jewelry on easy payments. Backed by tremendous national advertising campaign. Fullest cooperation and an opportunity for big earnings. Write fully stating sales experience.

STUDEBAKER WATCH COMPANY
South Bend, Indiana

The Sandwich for a Hungry Man

Ham, baked or boiled, especially if it is one of our choice sugar-cured, home smoked hams, makes a sandwich that cannot be beaten as a hunger satisfier. Order one tomorrow, telling us about the weight wanted, and we will do the rest.

Milton Block

PHONE 202

1905  1927

HOW ABOUT TOMORROW?

You may be healthy, happy and prosperous today, but unless you show your appreciation for your present condition with a steadily growing savings account, you can't expect it to continue. Don't think of today only. Consider the future and prepare for it.

Charlevoix State Savings Bank

Capital and Surplus over $45,000.00

CHARLEVOIX, MICHIGAN

W. S. Richardson, President.
A. D. Crimmins, Vice President.
Archie Livingston, Cashier.
G. W. Richardson, Asst. Cashier.

WEEK-END SPECIALS

We are calling special attention to the first five articles named below in our list of week-end specials. They are from the famous Sprague-Warner brand and have our guarantee as to quality. Once used, you will call for them again and again—and the low price at which we are offering them cannot be beat anywhere.

Large can Sliced Pineapple	30c
Large bottle Catsup	20c
Large can Peaches, heavy syrup	30c
Golden Bantam Corn, per can	15c
Quart Strawberry Jam, for	50c
Genuine Spring Wheat Flour, per sack	$1.25

Meat Department

Beef Stew, per lb	10c
State Trout, per lb	7c

MARTIN BLOCK

Opposite Post Office Phones 12 and 142

FANCY SPORT SWEATERS

About the handiest garment you can add to your wardrobe these changeable days. Takes the place of a heavy coat and are warm enough to keep you comfortable. We have them in the Slip Overs and Coat patterns in powder blue, silver, tans and many different combination of colors. Moderately priced from

$3.00 and Up

Shirts With Plenty of Good Features

We guarantee the fit, tailoring, the quality of the materials and the colors. The selection of a style to please you is far from difficult, since our stock is so varied.

Priced from $1.00 Up

Now is the time to buy your spring togs. And here is a splendid place to come.

Beni Brown

Men's and Boys' Furnishing Dept.

IT PAYS

We are frequently asked if it pays to spend so much time in reconditioning and inspecting our used cars before they are offered for sale. The answer is that a great many of our used car purchasers come back when they want new cars. Doesn't that pay?

BENJ. BROWN
CHARLEVOIX, MICH

A USED CAR IS ONLY AS DEPENDABLE AS THE DEALER WHO SELLS IT

STOP, START, and STEER better!

JUST four small points of contact—four areas of only a few square inches each where tires and pavement meet—how all-important they are to the safety and comfort of driver and riders alike!

Did you ever think that you cannot stop, start, or steer your car without perfect contact of tires and pavement? Portland Cement concrete pavement affords the best surface for rubber tire contact.

Your city needs more concrete streets.

The Portland Cement Association is a national organization to improve and extend the uses of concrete, with offices in 31 cities.

PORTLAND CEMENT ASSOCIATION
Dime Bank Building
DETROIT, MICH.

PORTLAND CEMENT
CONCRETE
for permanence

UNDER THE DOME AT THE CAPITOL

(Continued from Page One)

to sell such weapons by mail. It bars the sale of silencers, or mufflers, or bombs, black-jack or sling-shot, brass or iron knuckles, billys and sandbags. These are barred absolutely and possession of them is made a felony. The measure also prohibits the carrying of knives, driks, stillettos or other dangerous weapons, either on the person or in any vehicle, without a license, except for hunting knives. Lleenses can not be granted to any person under 19 years of age. The bill will undoabtedly pass the house, as it is in line with the general campaign against thugs and gunmen which is an important part of this session. The act does not apply to private or public museum collections of weapons.

The Martin bill to set the deer-hunting season ahead was defeated in the senate.

Tho House has passed a bill appropriating $400,000 for a new state psychopathic hospital at Ann Arbor and attached a tax clause to the bill, which now goes to the senate.

A lot of time has been spent on a proposition to give Wayne county and possibly Kent county more probate judges, and the poor bill has been jaggled back and forth for the past ten days. It has been twice recalled from the Governor's office and it is yet in dispute.

The Truettner bill, which would empower any one of a number of counties bordering on an inland lake to go into court and request action to establish the legal level of the lake passed the senate and goes to the house. The bill is aimed to protect Lake Gogebic in the upper peninsula, but will also effect several lakes in the lower peninsula.

The house took another wallop at the Binning bill which came over from the senate, where it had a more or less stormy career. The bill would permit savings bnnks to invest in the bonds of public utilities companies.

Two aviation measures, both sponsored by Representative Wilbur Snow, have passed the house. One of them provides for the licensing of pilots and the other for the establishing of state, county and municipal landing fields.

The new criminal code, passed by the sennte by unanimous vote, goes back to the house for concurrence in several amendments, and this will probably be given early in the coming week. The bill will then go to the Governor, who is understood to heartily approve of it. Its provisions are expected to greatly speed up court action in criminal cases, and prevent shyster lawyers from holding back cases until the crime has been forgotten and then having them thrown out of court.

The senate gave its approval, Wednesday, to the Baxter bill, which provides for the cancellation of a driver's license in case the driver fails to satisfy judgment for damages arising from accidents. The penalty applies to minor drivers as well as adults.

The whipping post faces the culprit who is convicted of robbery armed. Senate bill No. 44, to which Representative Chas. Calver's whipping post amendment was added in the house, was passed by the senate Thursday, and gives the court authority to inflict as an added penalty the laying of not exceeding six strokes of the lash at one time. The "lash" is to consist of cow hide, 2½ feet long, two inches wide and 1-16 of an inch thick. Ouch!

Among the bills passed Thursday by the senate were appropriating bills for the boys' vocational school, Michigan reformatory, state banking department and the American Legion. The Ming joint resolution for reapportionment, several times blocked, came up and was passed, together with some minor highway measures, some fish and game bills, an act regulating pawnbrakers, and an act withdrawing from sale some Agricultural college lands in Alcona and Iosco counties, which are made a forest reserve for the ultimate benefit of State college. The Board of Agriculture was authorized to transfer certain Agricultural college lands in Algona, Alpena, Iosco, Cheboygan, Missaukee, Oscoda and Wexford counties to the federal government.

The Leland 3-cent gas tax bill was on the house calendar for Thursday, but was laid over until Friday. Then it was brought into the open and made a special order for Tuesday afternoon. Some amendments are lying in wait for it and the fight promises to be an interesting one.

The State college will get $1,100,000 from the mill tax, instead of the even million it has been getting, but an item of $52,800 for adult "Continuing education" was cut from the budget by the ways and means committee.

Appropriation bills increasing the salary of supreme court judges from $10,000 to $12,500 was passed by the senate.

The anti-fireworks bill has passed both houses and is now in the hands of the Governor, but a strenuous effort to give it immediate effect was defeated by a close vote. So as Representative Fitch says he so ardently desires, we can have one more "Glorious Fourth," with its annual accompaniment of dead and wounded.

Large corporations will pay more corporation tax if a bill introduced by Representative Joseph E. Warner of Ypsilanti goes through. He proposes to raise the limit from $50,000 to $100,000. His claim is that Ford Motor Co., General Motors, and other large companies are getting off too easy. His proposition would add approximately a million and a half to state revenues.

The state will consolidate all its Detroit branch offices in the Board of Commerce building, Wayne street and Lafayette boulevard. It will make for added efficiency in saving of time.

The house convened again at four o'clock Monday afternoon and the senate at eight o'clock Monday night. "Two weeks more" is now the popular clamor from both ends of the capitol, and that means hustle.

Why buy poor tires at a low price when you can buy a Goodyear tire at that price. Benj. Brown.—Adv. 10tf.

The knocker is a mortgage on his home town, and every other citizen is paying interest on the mortgage.

Our garage, battery and tire shop is at your service. Benj. Brown.—

EVELINE

Mr. and Mrs. R. H. Sherman spent Sandny at the Matt Saunders' home.

John Knadsen is the owner of a team of horses boaght of Louis Brown.

Vnldemar Pedersen retarned home Sunday evening from the hospital and is gaining strength.

Mr. and Mrs. Peter Larsen of Boyne City, and Mr. and Mrs. Marvin Andersen spent Sunday at Mrs. Karn Lyngklip's home.

I have combined my battery and tire repair shop and will give all car owners the service that they are looking for. Benj. Brown.—Adv. 10tf.

What we want in Charlevoix is a condition where the average citizen is a little above the average.

LEGAL NOTICES

Notice of Attachment

State of Michigan, Circuit Court for the Coanty of Charlevoix.

Paul J. Leitzell, Assignee of Edward Ropp and Marvel Motor Company, Plaintiff, vs. Charles Ferguson, Defendnnt.

Notice is hereby given that on the 16th day of March A. D. 1927 a writ of attachment was issued out of said court in favor of Paul J. Leitzell, Assignee of Edward Ropp and Marvel Motor Company, as Plaintiff and against the lands, tenements, goods, chattels, moneys, and effects of Charles Ferguson, Defendent for the sum of $990.00 which said writ was returnnble on the 15th day of April A. D. 1927.

Dated April 20, 1927.

Leon W. Miller,
Attorney for Plaintiff.
Business Address: Petoskey, Michigan. 17t6.

Mortgage Sale

Default having been made in the conditions of a certain mortgage made by Minnie Jane Smith of Charlevoix, Michigan, to Celia N. Bridge of Charlevoix, Michigan, dated the Fourteenth day of October, A. D. 1916, and recorded in the office of the Register of Deeds of the county of Charlevoix, State of Michigan, on the Sixteenth day of October, A. D. 1916, in Liber 52 of Mortgages, on page 480, whereby the power of sale contained in said mortgage has become operative, on which mortgage there is claimed to be due at the date of this notice the sum of Nine Hundred Two and Seventy-five one-hundredths Dollars as principal and interest and the farther sum of One-Hundred Three and 20/100 Dollars paid in taxes on the land described in said mortgage and the further sum of Twenty dollars as an attorney fee provided for in said mortgage, and no sait or proceedings at law having been instituted to recover the moneys secured by said mortgage, or any part thereof;

Therefore, by virtue of the power of sale contained in said mortgage, and the statute in such case made and provided, notice is hereby given that on Friday, the 29th day of April, A. D. 1927, nt ten o'clock in the forenoon, at the east front door of the court house in the city of Charlevoix, Michigan, that being the place where the Circuit court for said county is held, the undersigned will sell at public auction to the highest bidder, the premises described in said mortgage, or so much thereof as may be necessary to pny the amount due on said mortgage, as aforesaid, with seven per cent interest, and nll legal costs, together with said attorney fee, as provided by law, the lands and premises being described in said mortgage as follows:

All that certain piece or parcel of land situate in the city of Charlevoix, county of Charlevoix, state of Michigan, described as follows: Beginning four hundred sixty and one-half feet east of a point where the north line of the Emmet and Grand Traverse State Road (now known as Petoskey Ave.) intersects the east line of Michigan Avenue, the same being the southwest corner of a lot owned by Jennie Gail Vandermade; thence east along the north line of Petoskey Avenue sixty-six feet; thence north one hundred fifty-six and three-fourths feet; thence west sixty-six feet; thence south to the place of beginning, the same being lot number One of Block number three of Fox and Eaton's unrecorded plat to the villiage of Charlevoix, Michigan.

Dated, Febraary 2nd., 1927.

Cella N. Bridge,
Mortgagee.

A. L. Fitch,
Attorney for Mortgagee,
Basiness address: Charlevoix Michigan. 5t13.

Mortgage Sale

Default having been made in the conditions of a certain mortgage made by Edward B. Ward and Annie E. Ward of Charlevoix, Michigan to John Nicholls of Charlevoix, Michigan, dated the 3rd day of October, A. D. 1908, nnd recorded in the office of the Register of Deeds for the county of Charlevoix nnd stnte of Michigan, on the 3rd day of October, A. D. 1908, in Liber 44 of mortgages, on page 488, whereby the power of sale contained in said mortgage has become operative, on which mortgage there is claimed to be due at the date of this notice the sum of Four Hundred Ninety-nine Dollars for principal and interest, and an nttorney's fee of Ten dollars, provided for in said mortgage, and no suit or proceedings at law having been instituted to recover the moneys secured by said mortgage or any part thereof;

Now, therefore, by virtue of the power of sale contained in said mortgnge, and the statute in such case made and provided, notice is hereby given that on Friday the 29th day of April, A. D. 1927, at Ten o'clock in the forenoon, the undersigned will sell at public auction to the highest bidder, at the east front door of the court house, in the city of Charlevoix, Michigan, (that being the place where the circuit court for said county of Charlevoix is held,) the premises described in said mortgage, or so much thereof as may be necessary to pay the amount due on said mortgage, with seven per cent interest, and all legal costs, together with said attorney's fee, as provided by law, the premises being described in said mortgage as follows, to-wit:

Lot number One Hundred Thirty-five of Upright & Hurlbut nddition to the city of Charlevoix, county of Charlevoix and state of Michigan.

Dated, January 31st., 1927.

Albert F. Bridge, Executor of the estate of John Nicholls, deceased,
Mortgagee.

A. L. Fitch,
Attorney for Mortgagee.
Business Address: Charlevoix, Michigan. 5t13.

Mortgage Sale

Defaalt having been made in the conditions of a mortgage made by Albert L. Johnson and Alma K. Johnson, husband and wife, to John Nicholls, of Charlevoix, Michigan, dated the second day of February, A. D. 1912, and recorded in the office of the Register of Deeds of the county of Charlevoix, state of Michigan, on the second day of February, A. D. 1912, in Liber 48 of Mortgages, on page 61, whereby the power of sale contained in said mortgage has become operative, on which mortgage there is claimed to be due at the date of this notice the sum of Four Hundred Twenty Dollars and Fifty Cents as principal and interest, and Twenty-eight Dollars and Fifty-seven Cents, in taxes paid by the mortgagee on the lands described in said mortgage, together with an attorney fee of Fifteen Dollars provided for in said mortgage, and no sait or proceeding at law having been instituted to recover the moneys secured by said mortgage or any part thereof;

Therefore, by virtue of the power of sale contained in said mortgage, and the statute in such case made and provided, notice is hereby given that on Friday, the 29th day of April, A. D. 1927, at ten o'clock in the forenoon, at the east front door of the court house in the city of Charlevoix, county of Charlevoix, and state of Michigan, that being the place where the circuit court for said county is held, the undersigned will sell nt public auction to the highest bidder, the lands and premises described in said mortgage, or so much thereof as may be necessary to pay the nmount due on said mortgnge, as nforesaid, with seven per cent interest, and all legal costs, together with said attorney fee, as provided by law, the lands and premises being described in said mortgnge, as follows, to-wit:

All that certain piece or parcel of land situate in the Township of Marion, county of Charlevoix, and state of Michigan, and described as follows, to-wit: The southwest qunrter of the southwest quarter of section twelve, township thirty-three north, range eight west.

Dated, February 2nd. 1927.

Albert F. Bridge, Executor of the estate of John Nicholls, deceased.
Mortgagee.

A. L. Fitch,
Attorney for the Executor of the Estate of John Nicholls, deceased, mortgagee.
Business address: Charlevoix, Michigan. 5t13

Order for Publication

State of Michigan, the probate court for the county of Charlevoix.

At a session of said court, held at the probate office, in the city of Charlevoix, in snid county, on the first dny of April A. D. 1927.

Present: Hon. Servetus A. Correll, Judge of Probate.

In the mntter of the estate of Mary Dougherty, Deceased.

Helen Dougherty Bruce, hnving filed in said court her petition praying that said court adjudicate and determine who were at the time of her denth the legal heirs of snid deceased and entitled to inherit the real estate of which said deceased died seized.

It is ordered, that the 27th day of April, A. D. 1927, at ten o'clock in the forenoon, nt said probate office, be and is hereby appointed for hearing snid petition.

It is further ordered, that public notice thereof be given by publication of a copy of this order, for three successive weeks previous to said day of hearing, in the Charlevoix Courier a newspaper printed and circulated in said county.

Servetus A. Correll,
A true copy Judge of Probate.
Adv. 14-t3.

BUSINESS CARDS

HORACE S. HARSHA
REAL ESTATE BROKER
Also writes Fire Insurance and Surety Bonds

Farm Property. Lake Frontage
A. C. BELDING
REAL ESTATE BROKER
Charlevoix, Mich.
Game Preserves Detroit Property

GLASSES FITTED
Consult
DR. J. LEAHY
OPTOMETRIST
Expert on Eye-Strain.
Petoskey, Mich.
Phone 443 for Appointment

BELLE LOUISE FLEWELLING
Palmer Chiropractor
Post Office Building
Phone 347
Office hours 2 to 5 daily
Monday, Wednesday and Friday 7 to 8

R. J. M'ADILL
Building Contractor
Ask for Estimates
Phone 121 Charlevoix, Mich.

D. T. McHUGH
General Contractor
Phone 214
CHARLEVOIX, MICHIGAN

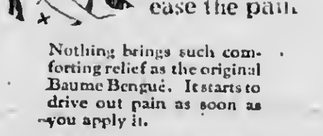
R. B. ARMSTRONG
PHYSICIAN AND SURGEON
Special Attention to Diseases of Eye, Ear, Nose and Throat
Priest Bldg. Phone 255

DR. F. F. McMILLAN
Physician and Surgeon
Office above Postoffice
Phone 17
Charlevoix - - Michigan

A. L. FITCH
ATTORNEY AT LAW
Office in Court House
Phone 48
Charlevoix - Michigan

FLIT
DESTROYS
Moths, Roaches
Bedbugs, Flies
Other Household Insects

VALET
AutoStrop Razor
sharpens itself



ease the pain

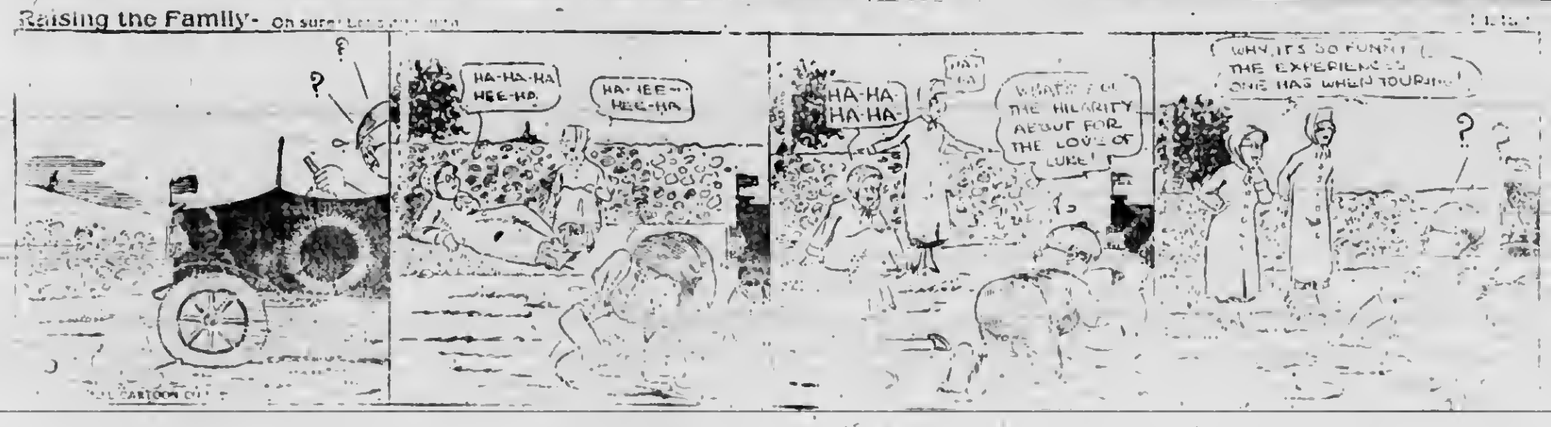
Nothing brings such comforting relief as the original Baume Bengué. It starts to drive out pain as soon as you apply it.

GET THE ORIGINAL FRENCH
BAUME BENGUÉ
(ANALGESIQUE)

Babies Love It

For all stomach and intestinal troubles and disturbances due to teething, there is nothing better than a safe Infants' and Children's Laxative.

MRS. WINSLOW'S SYRUP



Raising the Family-
HA-HA-HA HEE-HA.
HA-HEE-HEE-HA
HA-HA HA-HA
WHAT'S ALL THE HILARITY ABOUT FOR THE LOVE OF LUKE!
WHY, IT'S SO FUNNY (THE EXPERIENCES ONE HAS WHEN TOURING)

JUST KIDS— The Dictates of Fashion— By Ad Carter

SAY GRAMPA - JUS BETWEEN ME AN YOU - I CAN'T UNDERSTAND WHY SUZIE'S PRESSES IS GETTIN SHORTER AN MOLLY'S IS GETTIN' LONGER - KIN YOU UNDERSTAND?
WHATCHA LOOKIN AT SUZIE?
I'VE SPENT SIXTY YEARS TRYING TO UNDERSTAND THE FAIR SEX AND ALL I HAVE LEARNED IS TO EXPECT ANYTHING
L. CARTER
INTERNATIONAL CARTOON CO.

YOUNG FARMER IS SLAIN BY HIS BROTHER-IN-LAW

STATE POLICE UNCOVER MURDER WHERE RELATIVES BELIEVED DEATH ACCIDENTAL

Slight Clue Results in Getting A Confession

Disregarding the belief of members of the family of a young farmer that he had been accidentally killed, Michigan State Police recently, by thorough investigation, proved the murder, arrested the slayer and got from him a confession.

John Bradbury lived with his father, Elmer, in Riverton township, Mason county. The young man sat up to talk with his sister one night after the father had retired. When the sister went to bed, the young man went to the barn. His father found him, early in the morning, lying dead at the rear of a stall in the barn.

Murder Proved

Sergeant E. J. Hathaway of the Manistee detachment, was asked by the prosecuting attorney of Mason county to investigate. It seemed a plain case. The father and others who had seen the body in the barn were sure he had been kicked by a horse. There were no enemies and no motive apparently for believing the death anything but accidental.

But Sergeant Hathaway had two Ludington doctors examine the body and they discovered the young man had been shot. Then the trooper found that a shotgun had been seen standing in the barn near the body.

Brother-in-Law Arrested

Carl Christman, brother-in-law of the deceased, had left for Saginaw to seek work a short time before. The troopers checked upon him and found that he had got off the train at Baldwin. This was suspicious. When Christman returned, he was arrested. Examination of the shotgun showed the shell which had been fired was of a kind different than those which the Bradburys used in their hunting. Similar shells were found at a place where Christman had stopped.

Other evidence was found, an alibi was broken and Christman finally confessed that he had killed his brother-in-law, young Bradbury, because of threats the latter had made to "drop him in his tracks." He set out, ostensibly for Saginaw, but returned to the vicinity of the Bradbury home, ambushed John Bradbury when the latter went to the barn and then made his getaway. He had prepared an elaborate alibi but the oversight with regard to the shotgun shells was his undoing.

AIM TO SAVE DRUG ADDICTS

STATE FINDS NARCOTIC CURSE IS BECOMING WIDESPREAD AND DEMANDS CHECK

Police work in the narcotic field seems charged with some of the same fascination that binds the victim to the habit, Michigan State Police have discovered. This interest, in the flush of its novelty, has lead the Wolverine troopers into some new fields.

Their first month in the work resulted in the breaking up of one of the most powerful up-state drug rings in the history of the state. The second month's investigation in the same field turned up an alleged drug plot in one of the state institutions which came as a stunning surprise to executive officers and state legislature alike.

Michigan has discovered that narcotics are not the rare experience of squads working in the underworld of the big cities a menace in the Chinatowns of coast points. They have discovered that the vice has its fingers in little country villages, in quiet rural towns, in the cities, big and small. They have discovered dope has its chapters in a surprising number of stories of crime being written under their very noses. Dope and crime tie together as close as cause and effect, demand and supply. Of the tons of dope manufactured and sold each year, it is estimated that 1 per cent is for legitimate medicinal use. The remainder feeds the fires of crime. The rest is crime. The police organization, the police official, not posting himself on narcotics is comparable to phoohooing fingerprints as a chapter of crime only a few years ago.

Michigan has done more than put a narcotic squad into the field. It has posted its troopers, its general road men, its investigators, on appearance, use, history and effects of dope it is establishing in its bureau of criminal identification separate narcotic files aimed at becoming a complete fingerprint and record file of every narcotic addict in the state. It is a lead that every police organization can well be urged to emulate.

It will be a study that will be as fascinating as it is valuable. Some of the highlights of the information with which the state troopers of every state may well become familiar are outlined here. For this is the beginning of a movement that month by month will come into an increasing share of police attention.

CANADIAN MOUNTED FOLICE INCREASED

DOMINION GOVERNMENT NEEDS UNIFORMED FORCE FOR BORDER PATROL

The Canadian government has decided to increase the strength of the Canadian Northwest Mounted Police force to 4,000 men, from the present recruiting strength of 1,000. The object is to place with the Mounted Police the guarding of the boundary between the United States and Canada against smugglers.

Smuggling back and forth between the United States and Canada has reached very large proportions. It was shown at the Royal Customs Inquiry held at Winnipeg and Vancouver, B. C., the commission consisting of three judges with government counsel in attendance to examine witnesses. It was shown the customs men were unable to cope with the smugglers. Fierce fights were staged from time to time, between the customs men and the liquor smugglers.

The entire boundary will be patrolled by horseback and by swift moving armored cars. The mountains of British Columbia, the prairies of western Canada and the border along Quebec province will be paid special attention.

The Mounted Police, it is believed, can do much to stop the traffic. Smugglers have a greater fear of members of this body than they have of plain clothes customs men. Reciprocity in providing information will be carried on by the patrols on each side of the border.

ARMSTRONG CHIEF OF STATE BUREAU

Lieut. Fred G. Armstrong has been made chief of the detective bureau of the State Police. Lyle Morse, fingerprint expert has been made assistant chief.

The secret service division, or detective bureau, has established a special bank squad to follow up safe-blowing reports. It is the intention to give assistance to local authorities by collecting information on all crimes of this sort in the state and thus piecing together clues which would not be available to local officers dealing only with one isolated case. Results have already been obtained in one case where a gang committed a number of jobs in small towns and the various individual clues obtained in different cases were finally worked together to form a complete case.

Fred Eunis, formerly with the Negaunee detachment, has been detailed to the secret service division.

TROOPER-SLAYER TAKEN

Pennsylvania State Police again have upheld a tradition of the force that a man who kills a State Police officer never escapes.

At Denbo, Pa., Lewis A. Knapp, former member of Troop B, and Paul A. Fox, former member of Troop A, were shot and killed by rum runners. The former troopers were members of the Coal and Iron Police of a coal works there. Working on the case were Corporal Hanna and Privates Tevelin, Fontaine and Maroney, of Troop A. The former troopers had attempted to halt an automobile in which rum runners were riding. The occupants of the car fired without warning. Knapp was killed instantly and Fox lay helpless in the road. Roy and Robert Wenrich were arrested and Fox identified them as two of his assailants.

One swallow may not make a summer, but a pair of baby-blue eyes can cause a fall.—Wesleyan Wasp.

Empty Is the Cradle

Lost—Sunday morning, black bag containing baby and vanity articles.

Prodigy Died Early

Two hundred years ago, on June 27, 1725, died, if contemporary records are to be believed, a four-year-old child who surely holds the record for infant precocity, says the London Post. A few hours after Christian Heinecker (he was a little German) came into the world he spoke, and in ten months could converse on most subjects. By the time he was thirteen months old the Bible was an open book to him. At the end of two and a half years he could answer any question dealing with history and geography, and then turned his attention to languages. He learned to speak Latin and French fluently, but his feeble constitution broke down under the strain, and little Christian's "crowded hour" was at an end.

Galileo's Great Discovery

The first great astronomical discovery made by the use of the telescope was the achievement of Galileo, who, 316 years ago, discovered the satellites of Jupiter. This was known as a planet to the Chaldeans, it is said, some 3,000 years before the Christian era, but it remained for Galileo to discover its attendant satellites, four in number.

His other remarkable discoveries included Saturn's ring, the sun's spots and the starry nature of the Milky way. Galileo, who met with a great deal of opposition in upholding the truth of the Copernican system of astronomy, died January 8, 1642, on the anniversary of his great discovery.

Mail Stations

The United States air mail service is being regulated through radio stations at principal points in the country.

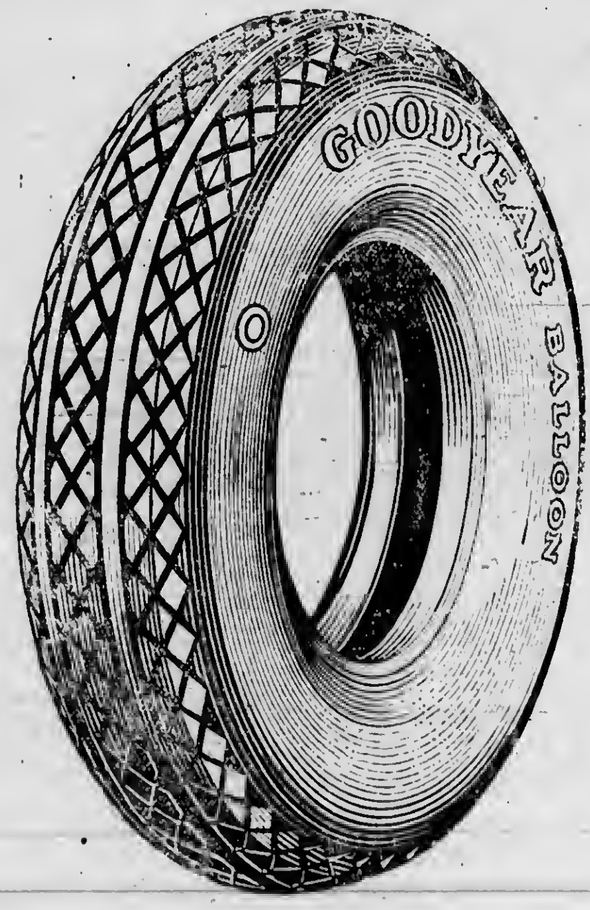
This amazing New Enamel

Now we can give you a rainbow of colors in a durable quick-drying, inexpensive finish.....

DEVOE Mirrolac Enamel is an all-purpose enamel, for both indoor and outdoor use. It is made in a remarkable new range of enamel colors—the most beautiful we have ever seen. We recommend it for walls, woodwork and furniture.

S. M. SEE & SONS
Charlevoix, Michigan

100%



100%

The Pure McCoy!

Pardon the slang; we're a bit excited.

We can't keep our enthusiasm for this New Goodyear Tire below a college cheer!

They said—when they announced it—that it's "The Greatest Tire in the World!"

That's putting it about as strong as you can in good English.

But when you see this tire—when you know what this new-type tread specially designed for balloon wear really means to you—you'll get pepped-up, too.

No more skidding, no more uneven and fast tread wear, no more of the things that have made some fellows say of other balloons, "I'd almost as soon have old-fashioned tires."

It's the pure McCoy! That's all. See it and you'll say the same.

30x3 1-2 Pathfinder Fabric..... $8.20
30x3 1-2 Pathfinder Cord (oversize)..... $9.85
30x3 1-2 Goodyear All-weather Cord $11.65
29x4.40 All-weather Balloon Cord..... $12.85
30x3 1-2 Tubes for..... $1.90
29x4.40 Tubes for..... $2.40

Other sizes proportionally priced

BENJAMIN BROWN

Tire and Accessory Department

More people ride on Goodyear Tires than on any other kind.

Sooner or Later Every Property Owner Will Have to Face the Paint Problem—

You may turn your back and try not to see the condition of your property. But if it needs paint, simply shutting your eyes to the fact will not solve the problem for you. Nothing but PAINT will do that. The best paint to use is

MONARCH Paint 100% Pure

Why Not Now?

If your property needs paint it will be money in your pocket to paint NOW. Every day's wind and weather does some damage that must be repaired. Paint NOW—stop the decay and save the expense of repairs. Besides adding to the beauty of your property, paint makes it worth more money should you want to sell. Come in and consult us about your paint problem—we can help you and save you money and worry

WOOD BROTHERS
For Paints

NEW PALACE THEATRE

ATTRACTIONS FOR THE COMING WEEK —

SATURDAY and SUNDAY, APRIL 30-MAY 1

Tom Mix in "THE BRONCHO TWISTER," with Tony, the wonder horse. "Ride 'em Cowboy"—and that's what Tom Mix does in a series of daring and amazing stunts in a smashing romance of western ranges. A picture that will make you grip your seat while the ace of stars crashes his way against terrific odds for the sake of a girl and revenge.

Also a Fox Comedy, "MATRIMONY BLUES."

TUESDAY and WEDNESDAY, MAY 3-4

Betty Bronson and Richard Cortez in "THE CAT'S PAJAMAS." Cortez, as an opera star sheik, Betty Bronsou, as a pretty model in a Fifth Avenue gown shop. And gay old Theodore Roberts back—cigar and all. A sparkling comedy-romance of 1927 New York society and theatrical life.

Also "THE YELLOW PIRATE," and Fox News.

Zonite

For Cuts and Wounds

Prevent infection! Treat every cut, wound or scratch with this powerful non-poisonous antiseptic. Zonite actually kills germs. Helps to heal, too.

Brighten Your Home With
FRESH CUT FLOWERS
—OR—
BLOOMING PLANTS
Flowers for all occasions

A. E. EDWARDS
FLORIST
We're as near as your telephone

ALL MICHIGAN WILL BENEFIT BY MEETING

Real Estate and Resort Development Subjects of Discussion

Every person in West Michigan interested in any angle of the resort business will be in Grand Rapids, April 28 and 29, for the recreational land conference sponsored by the Michigan Real Estate Association, with the participation of the Development League of Western Michigan, Michigan Tourist and Resort association, East Michigan Tourist association and Upper Peninsula Development bureau. All Michigan will be represented, giving a wide scope of experience and thought to the discussions which are to be a feature of the conference.

While the program will be largely connected with those things incident to real estate development—resort development that contemplates the use of real estate as a summer home site and a means of tax and business revenue to the community forever after—it will also touch upon the tourist phase of the business. Harry N. Burhans, executive secretary of the Denver (Col.) Tourist bureau will speak on "Recreation as a Commodity;". Burt Williams, publisher of the Wisconsin Land O'Lakes magazine, will talk about "The Growing Recreational Industry;" A. D. Taylor, Cleveland, Ohio, landscape and town planning expert, on "Our Obligations to Develop Our Waterfront and Resort Locations," and Col. John G. Emery, Grand Rapids, on "The Permanent Summer Home," covering every phase of activity that goes into the building of the summer home. Other speakers will be A. H. Landwehr head of the Hollund Furnace company, G. F. Healy of Flint, Walter Palmer, Frank Heath and Carroll F. Sweet, all of Grand Rapids.

Headquarters for the conference will be at the Pantlind hotel. The opening session will be held Thursday afternoon, April 28, and the closing session Friday afternoon.

DODGE BROTHERS ANNOUNCE NEW MOTOR

Performance Unequaled in History of Four-Cylinder Motors

According to Benj. Brown, local distributor, Dodge Brothers, Inc., announce the most outstanding and important improvement in its present line of four cylinder motor cars since the first Dodge Brothers car was built in 1914. It is a new motor. In performance—acceleration, power, speed, economy—it represents radical improvements over the former engine. Its acceleration is 20 per cent quicker. It develops 15 per cent more power. It is 20 per cent more economical in gasoline consumption. It is faster on the road and vibration has been reduced to a minimum.

The new power plant is fitted with a standard shift transmission which is more rugged in construction and easier and quieter to shift. Dodge Brothers engineers declare that the cars powered with this motor are the best the company has ever built. Everyone who has driven the new cars has expressed astonishment at the marked increase in flexibility and in the smoothness of operation throughout the entire range of speed.

Try my battery and tire shop for service. Benj. Brown.—Adv. 10tf.

LOANS ARE MADE ON BONUS PAPER

PLAN FOSTERED TO AID VETERANS OF WORLD WAR

Blanks and Full Instructions May Be Had By Calling at Charlevoix Postoffice

The Charlevoix postoffice has received blanks and instructions from the Veteran's Bureau of the government for World War men seeking loans on their bonus insurance.

The instrument which is in reality a note, secured by the adjusted compensation certificate of the ex-service man, is filled out locally and forwarded to a regional office or hospital where the loan is made. The amount so borrowed with accrued interest will be deducted from the settlement to the veteran or his estate and will be paid to the holder of the note.

The following information is given on the loans:

The maximum that can be loaned on the security of an adjusted service certificate may be ascertained by multiplying the face value of the certificate, which appears in the second line thereof, by the figure representing the loan basis per dollar as found by reference to the table of loan values which appears on the face of the certificate. Illustration: John Doe has certificate for $1,500 dated January 1, 1925 at the age of 35 years; on April 1, 1928, he desires to obtain the maximum loan on the security of his certificate; three years and three months having elapsed since issuance of the certificate, the loan value of .12024 per dollar based on the three years actually elapsed; therefore, on the certificate for $1,500 the maximum loan would be $180.36. (1,500 x 120.24.)

The rate of interest which the Bureau shall charge upon such a loan shall be 1 per centum per annum more than the rate charged at the date of the loan for the discount of 90-day commercial paper. The amount of interest shall be computed on the basis of 30-day month and a 360-day year.

Where the amount of the outstanding loan is less than the loan value of his certificate, the veteran may negotiate a new loan up to the amount of such loan value, the proceeds of the new loan to be applied first to repay the amount of the former loan with accrued interest thereon, the balance remaining to be paid to the veteran.

Should the veteran so desire he may repay the amount due on his note installments, which for interest purposes will be credited to his account as of the first day of the loan month following the date on which the payment is received. Each installment payment must be in the amount of $5 or a multiple thereof. At the end of any loan year, payment of interest may be made of the exact amount of interest due. Payment may be in the form of cash, check, draft or money order. Postage stamps will be accepted.

All transactions with reference to outstanding bonds will be conducted by and with the Regional Office, Hospital or Suboffice which made the loan.

* * * * * * * * * * *
* METHODIST CHURCH *
* C. E. Pollock, Minister *
* * * * * * * * * * *

The preacher next Sunday morning will be the Reverend Myron E. Hoyt, pastor of the Asbury Methodist Episcopal church in Traverse City. Mr. Hoyt is a scholarly church leader of tried experience and will bring a message of good cheer. The pastor of the church will deliver the Thank-offering sermon for the Asbury Missionary in Traverse City at the morning hour of worship.

"The High Points of the Great Council" will be the pastor's theme next Sunday evening at 7:30. Every interested person will want to hear this message. Interesting features will make this a service of note.

Sunday school meets at twelve o'clock each Sunday. There is a class for every person who desires to study the great book.

The Men's Area Council which meets in Lansing this week 25-27 represents the Detroit Conference, the Michigan Conference, the Central German Conference, the Northern Swedish Conference, the Norwegian-Danish Mission and the Bi-lingual Mission. Three thousand delegates from the Methodist churches of these conferences are expected to attend. Among the outstanding speakers are Ralph Connor, the author, the Honorable Pat M. Neff, former Governor of Texas, Bishop Francis J. McConnell, Bishop Thomas Nicholson, Dr. M. S. Rice of Detroit, as well as many others of less renown. Rev. C. E. Pollock left Monday morning to attend the council, and expects to return the latter part of the week.

THE TREE OF THE FOREST TO THE WAYFARER

Ye who pass by and would raise your hand against me, harken ere you harm me. I am the heat of your hearth on the cold winter nights; the friendly shade screening you from the summer sun; and my fruits are refreshing draughts quenching your thirst as you journey on.

I am the beam that holds your house, the board of your table, the bed on which you lie, and the timber that builds your boat. I am the handle of your hoe, the door of your homestead, the wood of your cradle, and the shell of your coffin.

I am the bread of kindness and the flower of beauty. Ye who pass by listen to my prayer: HARM ME NOT!—Posters Found in the Public Parks of Spain.

RESPECTED CITIZEN DIED LAST SATURDAY

Body Taken Monday to Place of Birth for Burial

Charlevoix citizens were saddened last Saturday by the death of Mrs. Mabel Reeves Russel, which occurred at the Charlevoix hospital following a serious major operation.

Deceased was born September 20, 1876 in Bloomington, Ill., and was 51 years old at the time of her death. During her childhood she spent many summers in Charlevoix, coming here with her parents, who owned a cottage and spent the resort season at their cottage on the Belvedere Club. For the past five years she had made her permanent home in this city.

Besides her daughter, Francis Ellen, Mrs. Russel is survived by three brothers living in New York city, Alabama and Honduras, Phillipine Islands, respectively, and a nephew who resides in Evanston, Illinois. She was a member of the local W. C. T. U., Baptist Missionary Society and the Methodist Episcopal church and had a large following of friends by whom she will be greatly missed.

Funeral services were held at the Baptist church last Monday forenoon at 10 o'clock, Rev. Herman Burns officiating. The body was taken to Bloomington, Illinois for interment.

Our garage, battery and tire shop is at your service. Benj. Brown.—

CHARLEVOIX HARDWARE CO.

FOR STORES, HOTELS, DANCE FLOORS and large surfaces that needs mopping, we have a new device

Mop Tank

on rubber tired wheels with the best mop-wringer we have seen yet.

No need to touch the water or any solution you may want to use with your hands and no lifting. EFFICIENT AND EASY, just what you have wanted.

Look it over and get ready for summer needs.

Charlevoix Hardware Company
Three Big Departments—Hardware, Furniture, Electrical
NORTHERN MICHIGAN'S FINEST STORE

FOR RENT

Desirable Business Site Corner Park Avenue and Bridge Street.

Corner store space, approximately 25x80 suitable for any business.

Upper floor now being remodeled into office suites and living apartments also open for rent.

Make inquiries of

P. J. MORAN

217 Clinton Street, Charlevoix Phone 127.

COMMUNITY AUCTION SALE

The undersigned will hold a Community Auction Sale on the County Lot, corner State and Hurlbut, Charlevoix, on

SATURDAY, MAY 7th

Commencing at 1:00 p. m., the following described property.

2 1920 Dodge Touring Cars
1923 Dodge Commercial Car
1922 Dodge Sedan
1918 Chevrolet Touring Car
1923 Star Touring Car
1919 Ford Coupe
1919 Ford Touring Car
1924 Ford Delivery
Republic 1-ton Truck
5-h. p. Empire Gas Engine
Steel Wheel Farm Wagon
3 3-9 skein Wagons
3 set Single Harness
DeLaval Cream Separator No. 12
American Cream Separator No. 17
2 Economy King Separators, No. 14
2 Oak Library Tables
2 Oak Dining Tables
2 Sets of 6 Dining Chairs
Swivel Office Chair
Buffet Sideboard
Large Leather Rocker
2 3-4ths Beds, gray Enamel, with Springs and Mattress
Iron Bed with Springs and Mattress
Wood Bed with Springs and Mattress
2 Sanitary Cots Sanitary Bed
Sanitary Davenport
6 Mattresses
4 Ingrain Carpets
2 Rugs, 9x12
10 gallons Maple Syrup
Some Baled Hay
New James Electric Washing Machine with Wringer
New Hand-power Washing Machine
New water-power Washing Machine
2 second-hand Water-power Washing Machines
Moore Range No. 9
No. 10 Gale Riding Plow

Above is only a part of the many articles listed and offered for sale.

TERMS OF SALE

All sums of $10.00 or under, cash; all sums over $10.00, eight months time on good, endorsed, approved, bankable paper bearing interest at 7 per cent, payable at the Charlevoix State Savings Bank. No property to be removed until terms of sale are complied with and all settlements must be made at time of sale.

BYERS & BOSS,
AUCTIONEERS

H. J. TIMMER, Clerk.
EARL SHAPTON, Cashier.

ARCHIE LIVINGSTON,
Note Clerk.

CHARLEVOIX COURIER

VOLUME 32. NUMBER 18. EIGHT PAGES COURIER, CHARLEVOIX, MICH., WEDNESDAY, MAY 4, 1927 PRICE $2.00 PER YEAR

1927 BOOKLET IS A HUMMER!

PICTURES TELL COMPLETE STORY IN 28 PAGES

Is Association's Best Advertising Effort and Will Sell Charlevoix to World

The first consignment of new 1927 booklets for the Charlevoix Association of Commerce arrived here Monday. The finished product is a great source of satisfaction to those who have been instrumental in laying out the book and is indeed a pamphlet that Charlevoix may boast and be proud of.

Both front and back cover pages are done in the four-color process. The front page spread is a view taken near The Inn pier during a regatta, showing a typical summer crowd. The foreground teems with bright colors of sport attire and melts away into the green-blue waters of Lake Charlevoix and surrounding hills in the background. The back page spread is a view taken from an entrance gate at Boulder Park, looking out over Lake Michigan, showing the steamer Manitou headed on her journey south. The view is a splendid one and carries out the original idea of depicting Lake Michigan on one cover page and Lake Charlevoix on the other.

Twenty-two inside pages are devoted entirely to view of Charlevoix and environs. The only reading matter on these pages is short captions describing the views. The present-day pleasure seeker does not take the time to read lengthy descriptions and a book full of literature. Pictures tell the story in a short and more effective manner, and for this reason the advertising committee chose this style of book. Every page tells its story to the summer tourist, with views including sailing, motor boating, bathing, tennis, golf, fishing, horseback riding—in fact, every form of pastime that calls the pleasure seeker to the north for his summer recreation.

Exterior and interior views of the city's leadings hotels occupy a conspicious part of the book and show the world our splendid accommodations to insure their comfort. Strings of bass, Mackinaw and steel head trout—enough to make any sportsman want to get up and at 'em—are shown. In fact, we believe that all there need be done is to get the booklet in the hands of prospective summer home seekers and will sell the town to them without words or argument.

The last four pages are devoted to reading matter, which in a short and concise manner, tells of our location, choice of outdoor sports, famous fishing grounds, auto camps, automobile side trips, summer camps, hotel and cottage accommodations, how to reach Charlevoix, boat and rail time tables; also a map of the drive around Lake Charlevoix and a state map showing principal highways.

Once again we state that Charlevoix can be justly proud and boast of their new booklet, which we believe to be the best effort in advertising so far attained.

ANNUAL BIRTHDAY OCCASION CELEBRATED

Mrs. Cook, Sandy Shearer and Henry Wagner Honored Guests

Mrs. George W. Cook, Sandy Shearer and Henry Wagner held a joint birthday celebration Tuesday evening at the Cook home on Nichols street. The three birthday anniversaries have been observed in this way for several years and all members of the local order of Odd Fellows and Rebekahs, of which lodges they are loyal members, are always invited.

About thirty were present at the Tuesday evening party to enjoy the social good time as well as the huge five-layer birthday cake. Andy Ross entertained the guests with some old time Scottish tunes on his violin. Mr. Ross is one of our most popular old-time dance fiddlers and his music was much appreciated by the assembly. One of the celebrants, Mr. Shearer, was unfortanately unable to attend in person, by reason of a painful injury a few days previous, but it is reported that his portion of the cake and supper was taken to his home that he might not miss entirely the party planned for his benefit.

Our garage, battery and tire shop is at your service. Benj. Brown.—

RESURFACING OF M-11 PROGRESSING RAPIDLY

Expect to Complete Work By the 25th of This Month

The job of re-surfacing M-11 south of the concrete is progressing rapidly, and it is expecting to have the work completed around the 25th of this month.

It may be of interest to those who have no technical knowledge of road building to know that the work of resurfacing this stretch of highway is in reality the continuance of two years' work. The first year the gravel is treated with a surface layer of calcium, which hardens while retaining moisture, thereby holding the road material in place. The second season the gravel receives a layer of tarvia B and stone chips, and the third year another application of tarvia A and stone chips, which finishes the work and places it in a condition that should wear for a number of years with little upkeep expense.

CAMPBELL WANTS NORMAL SCHOOL

OPENS DRIVE TO RENEW LIFE OF NEEDED FUNDS

Asks $350,000 for New Institution In Whatever City State Decides to Place It

True to his primary campaign promise that he was for a normal school in this district but would not work or advise for any specific place, Senator Calvin S. Campbell of Indian River, last week introduced senate bill 373 file 377, which if passed will renew the life of the appropriation made by the legislature of 1925, for the fifth state normal.

Under ordinary conditions, the money involved in the Pearson-Bryant bill (passed in 1925 authorizing the state normal school at a site designated by the state board of education would be used up in the two-year period following June 30, 1925. Owing to delays in reference to the site, none of the funds has been expended.

The Campbell bill, if passed, will give the appropriation of a life of two years from June 30, 1927, thus making possible the building of the normal school whenever the site matter is finally settled.

The Campbell bill makes no reference to any site but provides that $200,000 shall be available for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1928, and $150,000 available for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1929.

Although the session is well advanced, and adjournment is tentatively set for May 13, Senator Campbell is making a determined effort to get the bill passed, it having been printed and referred to the normal school committee, the first day following its introduction.

O. E. S. INSTALLED OFFICERS WEDNESDAY

Business Session Followed by Refreshments and Social Hour

Last Wednesday evening, April 27th, Charlevoix Chapter No. 72, O. E. S. held a special session for the purpose of installation and initiation. Mrs. Hattie Jefferies acted as installing officer, Mrs. Lottie Markham as Marshall and Mrs. Hattie Cooper as Chaplain.

The following elected officers were installed:

W. M., Minnie N. Bonthron.
W. P., Horace R. Fowler.
A. M., Marion Carey.
Treasurer, Louise Elston.
Secretary, Ella M. Usher.
Conductor, Laura Courier.
Asso. Conductor, Alice Ance.
Chaplain, Hattie Cooper.
Marsball, Fanny Siminow.
Organist, Pearl Partridge.

Adah, Cordelia Kelderhouse; Ruth, Laura Webster; Esther, Hazel McMillan; Martha, Hanna Collins; Electa, Elsie VanAllsburg; Warder, Hazel Bogart; Sentinel, Herman Johnson.

Refreshments consisting of wafers and ice cream were served at the close of the business session.

Gleaners Meet May 5

There will be a meeting of Gleaners at the Ironton Grange Hall, Thursday, May 5. Every member is urgently requested to be present. Light refreshments will be served and the event should prove of benefit to all who attend.

RED CROSS APPEALS FOR AID

CHARLEVOIX COUNTY'S SHARE OF FLOOD FUND IS $300

County Organizations Urged to Unite In Drive To Help Mississippi Flood Sufferers

Probably few of our citizens are unaware of the flood conditions now existing in the Mississippi River Valley. In fact the disaster is said to be the worst flood condition this country has ever known, and has left untold suffering in its wake.

The Central Committee of the American Red Cross in joint conference with cabinet members named by President Coolidge to assist the organization, estimate that a minimum of $10,000,000 is needed for relief work in the flooded area. A national campaign for funds has been launched and Charlevoix county officials of the Red Cross have been notified that this county's quota is $300. Mrs. Harris of Boyne City, chapter chairman for this county, who is at present in Lansing, is unable to lend her assistance in the matter. However, an effort is being put forth through A. F. Bridge of this city and Charles T. McCutcheon of Boyne City, to put the work in the hands of some organization in each of the three cities of the county in an effort to raise funds.

Mr. Bridge, who is treasurer of the county chapter, will receive all funds collected in the drive at the Charlevoix County Bank, and has requested us to make an appeal to the women's clubs, civic committees and all citizens of the city and county to lend their cooperation in the matter.

A telegram received by Mr. Bridge from Wm. M. Baxter, Jr., assistant to the vice chairman of the midwest branch, stated that donations of clothing and food supplies would be impractical at this time, but that all donations of money were in immediate need.

Charlevoix and all northern Michigan is fortunately free from flood, and other disasters caused by the elements. We should be very thankful for this favor and in our thankfulness do all in our power to help those in more unfortunate circumstances. All local churches have promised their aid and we all should lend our hand to the task of helping the needy of the flood district, who are all looking to us and the whole country for aid.

MRS. McNALLY DIED SATURDAY LAST WEEK

Failed to Rally After Operation Performed Friday

Mary Haggerty McNally, who resided on Charlevoix Route 3, died Saturday, April 30th, at the Petoskey hospital, following a major operation performed last Friday.

Mrs. McNally was born May 10th, 1863, in New York City, the daughter of Mr and Mrs. John Haggerty. She had made her home on Charlevoix route 3, for many years and is survived by her husband and one sister, Mrs. Wm. Smith, and brother, John Haggerty of Washington, and other relatives.

Funeral services were held Tuesday from the Catholic church, of which she was a life-long member, Rev. Father O'Dilo officiating. Interment in Undine cemetery on the Boyne City road.

Try my battery and tire shop for service. Benj. Brown.—Adv. 10tf.

At the Door

UNDER THE DOME AT THE CAPITOL

VOTE ON CAPITAL PUNISHMENT AT GENERAL ELECTION

Governor Green Looses Out on His Anti-lobbyst Bill—3 Ceot Gas Tax May Come Up Again

(By Len W. Feighner)

The toea of the erstwhile dignified senate slipped badly Thursday and something closely akin to bedlam prevailed during the discussion of the dead and alive capital punishment bill, which was finally reported out by the judiciary committee, so smeared with amendments as to be almost unrecognizable. The principal one, and one which stuck, was the referendum clause, which enables the senate to pass the buck on to the people of the state at the general election of November, 1928, and will postpone taking effect of the bill for about two years. The bill finally was made a special order for next Wednesday afternoon at 3 o'clock.

Again the senate went into a general scramble over the Binning bill, introduced by Senator Binning of Jackson, at the request of the Department of Labor. The bill had been reposing peacefully in the hands of the committee on labor, supposedly safely buried, but it came out on the floor and something broke loose. The bill was characterized by Senator Thomas Read of Shelby, former lieutenant governor, as the most vicious legislative proposition that had ever been introduced in this or any other legislature. It would place every industrial plant in the state absolutely in the hands and at the mercy of the department of labor, without recourse. One provision is that no action of the legislature shall be passed which will limit or restrict the powers of the department of labor. The bill, after a most acrid discussion, was referred to the committee on state affairs, but it was promptly reported out and placed on general orders, which means that it will come up for third reading early in the week. What will happen to it there can easily be foretold, for the legislature of Michigan lacks a mighty lot of being bolshevik.

